OUR AMERICAN PROGRAM FOR EDUCATION is still in its formative stage. Ever since the settlement of the early colonies, which eventually resulted in the establishment of the republic, emphasis has always been laid, and justly, upon the responsibility which the state owes to its future by giving the young the very best training. Consequently the common school system grew up side by side with the development of the nation. Ever since, it has been considered by the people a primary obligation that the young should receive adequate and thoroughly democratic training in the common schools. There have always been criticisms of individual church schools and organized private schools. During these later months considerable discussion has been waged about the value of private schools, with arguments hotly presented for both sides.

In the development of the common school system, however, the nation has not gone far enough forward. For when a young man or woman has completed his or her high school course, opportunities should be presented to them by the community to continue their studies in the higher schools of learning as available as the instruction in the elementary and high schools. The industrious students and the especially talented ones should be given an opportunity at the expense of the state to acquire a thorough training. This apparent necessity has been met with success in some states by the establishment of a state university. Such progressive educational changes are more easily made in the newer states where private colleges have not become richly endowed. In Massachusetts such a university would appear to be a direct and undesirable duplication of plants and of teaching forces. It should be possible, however, to establish scholarships by the state in such just ways and upon liberal foundations that would make it possible for every worthy boy and girl who wishes to continue studies to have the opportunity. Such scholarships should be generous enough to make it possible for honorable ordinary students to have an opportunity to pursue their studies in a college. It has often been proven in everyday business life that the plodding, hard-working men of ordinary ability are the ones who do the world's work. There is surely a place for the exceptional man and woman in our national life, but the school and educational system should be geared rather to train adequately a larger number of young men and women of average ability than to the training of the few of exceptional ability. It would be unwise in the older states to establish state universities, but satisfactory arrangements could be made with great advantage to the state and to the universities by means of generous scholarships whereby every young man and woman could acquire a collegiate training.

AMERICANIZATION IS NOT civilization alone; it is American civilization with loyalty to American ideals and principles.

THE PRESIDENT'S EXPECTED PROCLAMATION relative to the railroads has appeared. It has been known for a long while that the railroads would be returned at an early date. The first of January was believed to be the day upon which the railroads would be returned, but the date given, March 1, appears to be the better one in its justice to the railroad operators, to Congress and to the business men of the nation. It affords all an opportunity to cooperate in making the transition convenient.

It has long been evident that the public has not always been fair to organized railroad interests. The slogan for the future may well be, "Give the railroads a fair chance." The railroads that have been able to pay reasonable dividends upon their outstanding bonds and stocks are few. Thousands of people in limited circumstances have made investments only to see those investments deteriorate in face and selling values and in having their dividends either reduced or cut off entirely.

The railroads of America are the great arteries of the business system; business is dependent upon transportation facilities. If goods that are manufactured and raw materials that are needed are not promptly and economically transported, business will be cramped and progress prevented. It would appear that the limit of the business and social progress of the nation is directly and indirectly dependent upon the capacity of the railroads. When the railroads have reached the peak of their load, their carrying capacity, then business will be hindered. The railroads must make progress more rapidly than the manufacturing and agricultural interests, otherwise the industry and enterprise of both of these great departments of business life will be checked by the incapacity of the railroads.

The railroads have been adding materially to the wages of the employees. It is both justice and economic wisdom to afford labor a living wage. This is, however, only one side of the great problem. The business of a great carrying agent cannot violate the laws of supply and demand. To pay large and just wages, to rebuild old road beds, to furnish railroad stations, to equip the roads with adequate and modern cars for passenger and freight service requires capital. Money is capital. Money must be paid for just as wages are or it cannot be obtained.

If the railroads are to obtain money to make progress and to build new stations, increase equipment and replace the outworn cars, it must be able to assure the lenders of money that they are in a position to pay for the use of the money borrowed. Now stockholders are loaning their money to the railroads actually for absolutely nothing. That is, the cash that has been used in the past for construction purposes is not being paid for. What of the future? If the law of supply and demand operates, capital will not be attracted to railroad investments, because there are no returns. That will mean worn out roads, poor equipments, accidents and finally business chaos. The life of the railroads is the very life of business. Crush the one and you have killed the other.

It may, perhaps, be impossible for the railroads to pay dividends upon present stocks or bonds, but what of future loans that spell the business and social progress of the nation? It means merely that the railroads must be given a fair chance to recuperate, to establish such a financially solvent condition as will make it possible for these organized industries to attract capital at moderate interest rates to care for all future progress. The principle is elemental. It is a primary necessity of the hour. The railroads must be given a fair chance to pay honorable dividends to their stockholders and to assure the attractions for all the money that is necessary to make progress.

THE IMPORTANT QUESTION before the American people today is the ratification of the treaty. Already delay has been fraught with evil. The time must be redeemed. The situation is not without hope. It is apparent from the ballots cast that there are enough votes ready to be cast for the Treaty as presented and amended in some form. This indicates that the probabilities for an early decision are good. There are several possible courses: one, the return of the Treaty entirely for the presentation of a new one acceptable to America. This would entail long delays. Or, the acceptance of the Treaty just as it is, which is, of course, now impossible in view of the vote taken. And again, a compromise that will assure the acceptance of the Treaty with reservations. The compromise method is necessary and desirable. The policy must be pursued as it was used in the trying days of the adoption of the great American Constitution. There are many who would like to see the Treaty accepted as it stands, with the knowledge that it sets in operation a working plan under which the reservations could be adequately adjusted after the organization had been completed. There are those who must see the reservations in the "bond." Thus the matter stands. But something must be done. America is delaying the real peace of the world. Reservations are to be made and must be made, but the Treaty must be put into form and accepted that the irritating uncertainties of the present may be passed and the opportunities of the future seized.

THE DEMOCRATIC POWERS need not worry greatly about their next Presidential candidate. The electorate will care for the result, whoever the aspirant or leader may be.

THE FREEDOM OF THE PRESS is one of the great liberties of the American people. Upon it the republic has been formed. The public expression of opinion has proven to be desirable and valuable. In the nations overseas such liberties have been denied to the press with dire results. The press there has been essentially bound, being the agents merely of the organized government which tolerates its publication. There is no liberty of thought or of action, and there is consequently no progress worthy of the name. Many radical ideas, when actually expressed in open speech or in the printed newspapers, are challenged by the listeners or readers and immediately the propaganda meets a natural and just opposition. Repression means that the speeches are made, but guardedly, secretly, and they grow without meeting their antagonistic ideas in the open forum of public opinion.

So with this policy before the public the propaganda of the "reds" must be met. Shall their publications be suppressed, their public forums disrupted and their propaganda system destroyed? No out and out answer can be made. No two situations are alike.

On general principles, in America the suppression of free speech, the liberty of the press and the use of the printed page is not to be tolerated under normal conditions. Yet must even a republic permit the appearance of insidious literature? Evidently the American people are committed to the general principle and are willing to allow a large liberty in the interpretation of our national purpose. It cannot, however, be considered a breach of national principle to demand national loyalty and to insist upon the printed page appearing with the translation of the text which appears in a foreign language, accurately translated, in a parallel column.

This is the problem which the nation faces. How are the inherited principles of liberty to be maintained without imperilling the very life of the republic? Loyally the nation favors a free and uncontrolled press, but it would appear that the printing of radical and disloyal papers has become an evil that cannot be neglected. The problem is to devise honorable legal means to protect the nation from scurrilous, ignorant publications and yet maintain the national policy of freedom for the press. The American people will tolerate a great deal and with patience lest the great principle be denied by hasty and ill-advised legislation.

The problem is before the nation and it must be discussed and discussed again. Perhaps the free press is the best answer after all to the radical doctrines of the hour. It may be better that the ideas are subjected to the grilling of opinion and criticism. America is for liberty and freedom and not for license and unrestrained disloyalty. While the problem is a critical one, yet it will be solved rightly. The American people do not wish to sacrifice the principles of the freedom of the press and it will not tolerate disloyalty. It may be that the present policy continued will solve the problem and more efficaciously than any direct "legal persecution" of the press. Individuals may be punished for disloyalty and eventually these transgress other national laws. Legislators realize the seriousness of the problem and are depending upon a vigorous and unrestrained press to meet the insidious and sinister propaganda of the radical journals.

GERMANY MUST BE GIVEN an opportunity to recuperate in order that she may be in a position to pay her great indebtedness to the world, re-establish her industries and begin again to furnish the markets of the world with the products of her labor. Germany is thoroughly whipped. The policy of Prussia has faced the stone wall of opposition and has failed. The House of Hohenzollern can no longer maintain the tight and unprincipled hold it had upon the nation's military policy, and nation's press or upon the nation's business. The German people have wittingly or unwittingly been slaves to the imperial ideas and ideals of the statesmen of their country. They have followed like sheep and have been led astray, but there have been remonstrants.

Freedom will have its sway in any soil. It will be surprising if the doctrines of liberty and freedom do not have their result within the German nation.

The world cannot forget what Germany has done, but the world will be a harsh taskmaster, however moderate the terms of peace are. Yet if peace is to be obtained and maintained its fruits must appear very early. Oppression and tyranny have never subdued Italy, Poland, Schleswig, Alsace or Lorraine. The spirit of national life was strong in them all and the galling bitter persecutions and oppressions only strengthened their own sense of national power and determination. Germany will be able to rise, but tyranny and unjust restraint now may sow seed for future troubles.

The allies may best keep Germany whipped by maintaining the dignity of the positions which they have taken and by guarding against injustices such as Germany practiced. Germany's conduct does not merit confidence, easy terms or soft words. She has caused suffering, sorrow and trouble, but for future peace and for strengthening the lines of justice and peace the allies will temper their judgments with mercy and their punishment will be restrained by good sense and a look into the future.

Germany has sinned woefully. Every convention of civilized warfare has been violated by her leaders and military and naval men. The most malign and contemptible methods of diplomatic and military strategy were practiced and can never be forgotten. The Prussian military power has known no conscience, it has grasped a Schleswig, a Holstein, an Alsace and a Lorraine without compunction. Germany connived with Turkey through her unscrupulous leaders, and tolerated the Armenian atrocities. The world knows all this.

The terms of peace have been set with a full knowledge of Germany's sin. That Germany escapes so easily is not a sign of the weakness of the allies, but the strength of their principles. The allies are conscious of all of Germany's faults, but are determined not to be enmeshed in the same despicable snares. That Germany was enslaved by such policies and purposes are the reasons why the allies should rise above them, not in the spirit of "being too proud" to punish, but in the spirit of having the power and with the higher wish of giving the misled German people an opportunity to throw off the yoke that has restrained them, and to give them an opportunity to assert their national aims and that the real good of the nation may find an opportunity to express itself.

It will be an interesting study in the coming fifty years to see how the German states rise to their opportunity. The opportunity has been thrust upon them by the allies in the defeat of their military policy. The allies have given them liberty and opportunity. Will they appreciate the opportunity? Will they rise to it? If they appreciate coming fifty years will be the best in the history of the German people, if they do not the world must suffer with them in their failure. The allies have given them an honorable chance! What will the German people do with it?

IT IS DISCONCERTING when the government cannot give as good international exchange rates as the private bankers. It is an excellent example of the perversity of official red tape.

THE RE-ELECTION OF VICTOR BERGER is a discredit to the district and the state which he represents and an unwarranted affront to the Congress of the United States that refused to grant him his seat because of conduct unbecoming a member of the highest legislative body in America. By the constitution of the United States, the authority of determining the fitness of the members elected to that body, is vested in Congress. Congress made a careful investigation and it was satisfactorily proven that Mr. Berger had willingly and disloyally aided the enemy of our country. Not only was he refused his seat in Congress, but he had been tried and convicted by a duly constituted court and was under sentence for a term in prison. He was at liberty because of an appeal which had been made to a higher court. Consequently, with only one dissenting vote, Congress declared the man unworthy of a seat in Congress. The action by Congress was taken carefully and deliberately and had the support of the entire nation. Mr. Berger's re-election opens another phase of the situation which will undoubtedly result in this Wisconsin district being again unrepresented in Congress. It is not probable that he will be permitted to take his seat with the record of the past to overcome. Mr. Berger showed poor judgment in permitting his name to be used in the election campaign and the voters of the district demonstrated that they had not given the matter the consideration that it seriously demanded. There is a flaw in the election laws of that state that should be quickly corrected. No man with a record of disloyalty and a prison charge pending against him should be eligible for election to so important a position. A republic has the right and the responsibility of defending itself and one of the primary tasks is to prevent disloyal men from obtaining important positions of power and authority.

CONGRESSMAN LUFKIN presented a reasonable order relative to the naval awards. It is apparent now that where there was so much smoke there was fire. Secretary Daniels has yielded and the question of the awards has been reopened, and justly so. May justice be done everybody! In yielding to public opinion Secretary Daniels can do no harm to anyone in having the awards reconsidered.

HAVE THE REDS, WHO upon being deported complained of their enforced separation from their families, considered the loose and unworthy conceptions many of their ilk have held concerning family life? Or have they considered the obligations which they owed to the families of America? Or the suffering their innocuous doctrines had caused and would eventually cause?

UNJUST LAWS MAY BE the result of ignorance, but a willing people intelligently considering their laws will speedily correct injustices. This is the safeguard of a republic. Wrongs may appear, but these are corrected by the electorate. The electorate must be alert and intelligent.

IF THE FARMERS were really strong enough and willing to enforce strictly an eight-hour law what a commotion their newly acquired rights and privileges would cause in the world of affairs.

SCHLESWIG IS NOW WONDERING if it will have the opportunity to be released from the control of the German "empire." The wrong done in 1866 has never been corrected. Will it be now?

A GOVERNMENT OF LAWS knows no respecter of persons, whether it be President, Cabinet officer, Congressman or citizen. All stand upon the one level.

TURKEY HAS AT LAST SEEN Egypt slip from her grasp. England may now afford the bankrupt nation the opportunity it has long needed to recover.

SECRETARY LANGTRY'S HEART is right, but some of his utterances are the result of "heat" rather than good judgment.

JANUARY

Darkness and light reign alike. Snow is on the ground, cold is in the air. The winter is blossoming in frost-flowers. Old sounds are silent in the forest and in the air. Insects are dead, birds are gone, leaves have perished. So hath God wiped out the past; so hath he spread the earth, like an unwritten page, for a new year.—HENRY WARD BEECHER.

*Lose other things, you never seem
To come upon their track;
But lose a naughty little word,
It's always coming back.*

We sleep, but the loom of life never stops; and the pattern which was weaving when the sun went down is weaving when it comes up tomorrow.—BEECHER.

Meeting Houses

Oldest Churches of New England Described---They Were Unpainted Until About 1750---Then in Bright Colors

IN the old days, when our forefathers transferred their religion from old England to New England by way of Holland, they designated their houses of worship "meeting houses." In fact, they were distinctly opposed to the name "church." Whether it savored too much of the religion of the country they had fled from or not is unknown, but suffice it to say that when they landed on this bleak coast they built "meeting houses" and not "churches."

At first it was left to the people of each community to see that a meeting house was built, but in 1675, in order that the Devil might not have an opportunity to gain a foothold by dilatory action in this direction, a law was enacted that a meeting house should be erected in every community. If one was not built the magistrates were empowered to build one and the cost of the work should be charged to the town.

At first these houses of worship were only small, rude structures and were designed only for the temporary religious needs of the settlers. They were mostly square log houses with clay-filled chinks, surmounted by steep roofs thatched with long straw or grass, and often had only the beaten earth for a floor.

The average size may be seen when it is stated that the meeting house in Dedham was 36 feet long, 20 feet wide and 12 feet high. As time went on and the communities grew and prospered, they discarded these first meeting houses and converted them into granaries, storehouses or barns for horses. This was not considered irreligious, since the buildings had not been consecrated.

The second type of meeting house was a square wooden building, usually unpainted and crowned with a truncated, pyramidal roof with a belfry and a turret. The former usually contained a bell and the latter was used as a watch-tower, so that the approach of Indians might be noted in time to prepare the congregation before the minister got well under way with his "fifthly." The third form is typified by the Old South Meeting-house in Boston, and has replicas too numerous to mention. The fourth type is indicative of the present day.

The earliest meeting houses were built in valleys and meadow lands, much the same as the first Old First church in Springfield, for here it was that the homes were located. For a time it was enacted that all homes should be built within half a mile of the meeting house, for the most part to afford protection to the settlers, since the building did duty as a fort as well as house of worship.

As the population increased and new settlers came into the villages the half-mile radius became too crowded to permit this to continue. It was necessary to go some distance to pasture the cattle and for this reason the law was cancelled.

From one extreme to the other, or from the lowest to the highest, was the next step. Instead of putting up their meeting houses in the valleys the settlers built them on the tops of the highest and steepest hills, sometimes so steep that it was impossible to ride down on horseback. There were various reasons for this, among them being the advantage of a higher watch tower as a protection against the Indians, and to serve as a landmark to guide travelers going through the woods on narrow tree-lined bridle paths. Besides, the Puritans liked "sightful locations."

The church doors served as bulletin boards and repositories for natural history exhibits. Whenever a wolf was killed it was required that his head be nailed to the door before the hunter could claim the reward allowed for the death of these destructive beasts. Here were posted notices, orders, regulations, bills, the town by-laws, prohibitions, notices of town meetings, marriage intentions, the lists of town officials and libels, many of the latter in verse. The church also served as a powder magazine and a granary.

At one time Wm. Pynchon was given permission to place corn in the roof chamber of Old First church, but this was not to exceed 400 bushels unless he "underpropped the floor." Down through the valley here churches were used instead of the tobacco sheds in which to dry and store the leaves. Inside the buildings, where the congregation met, there were usually raftered walls, sanded floors, a few pews and more benches, spiders' webs and swallows and squirrels' nests.

For a time most of the churches were unpainted, until about the middle of the 18th century, when paint became cheaper. It was then that the edifices began to brighten up. In Pomfret one was painted a bright yellow. Other churches followed suit, until there began to be brilliant-hued landscapes that vied with the sunset. One church even went so far as to adorn itself in bright orange with chocolate-colored doors and white weatherboards.

After color blindness began to set in among the pious churchgoers they modified their taste somewhat and changed from the dashing plumage of male birds to the more sedate marking of the female and such we have today.—Springfield Republican.

Between Friends

Good Resolutions for the New Year

"Hell is paved with good intentions," quoted the man of the world.

"Take up the paving-stones, thou sluggard, and break the devil's head with them," was the retort of the wiseman.

William D. Howells, the dean of American writers, says out of a long experience, "I believe in good resolutions. . . . Even if we break them, I believe we gain a certain amount of moral strength in forming them."

On the field of Gettysburg, Abraham Lincoln appealed to those who heard "that we here highly resolve" that these heroic dead shall not have died in vain.

The New Year is the time for new resolutions. Let us not fail to take advantage of January first to sit down and honestly resolve (that is a strong word) to make this year the best ever, to be more unselfish in our demands on others, to be more charitable to others' faults, to aim at the acquisition of a finer spirit rather than more things, to be more thoughtful of others' welfare to look up and not down, to look out and not in, to look forward and not backward, and to lend a hand.—The Well-spring.

Coal Beds Were Once Jungles

Pennsylvania Was Once Torrid Swamp
Huge Reptiles Overran the Land

THE coal beds that furnish us with fuel were formed during an age when conditions on our planet were vastly different from what they are today. The crust of the earth was in a very unstable state; it was shrinking with many incidental convulsions. The atmosphere was heavily charged with water-vapor, and so loaded with carbonic acid as to be almost unbreathable.

The sun was bigger and much hotter then, and temperatures all over the world were higher than in the torrid zone at the present time. Most of this country was covered with swamps. All of these circumstances, of course, were wonderfully favorable to the development of plant life.

What is now the state of Pennsylvania was an area corresponding typically to this description. It was a flat region, devoid of mountains. The great range of the Appalachians had not yet been uplifted. Indeed, large parts of it are formed of carboniferous beds folded in long ridges which must originally have been flat.

The steaming, vaporous landscape, over which were scattered many shallow ponds, offered everywhere to view an extraordinary luxuriance of vegetation, consisting mainly of plant forms unfamiliar to us today. Extremely abundant were gigantic mosses resembling in kind our little club mosses, but vastly magnified, attaining the size of forest trees with trunks sometimes 130 feet long and 10 feet thick. These contributed more material than any other plant to the coal that was to be.

In the muddy ground, forming impenetrable thickets, stood monstrous reedlike "horsetails," delicate of foliage, with stems 20 feet or more in height, and 10 to 12 inches thick. Above them towered groups of palm-like tree-ferns, each one bearing a huge tuft of magnificent leaves at its top. Of ferns of other kinds there was enormous abundance, as may be judged from the numerous impressions of them found in the coal-bearing rocks.

One of the commonest plants in that epoch had stout branches that grew downward from a short trunk, developing long root-like processes which floated in the water or trailed in the mud. The under-clay of every coal seam is usually filled with these rootlets. But space is lacking for further description. Suffice it to say that more than 500 vegetable species that helped to make the coal have been identified. Among them were ginkgo trees, which nowadays belong exclusively to Asia, and also pines.

In the slate strata immediately overlying coal seams are commonly found impressions of twigs, leaves and even nuts. The softer beds of "cannel" coal often contain entire trees, with foliage and seeds, all transformed into the kind of fossil fuel we burn. A chunk of anthracite suggests no likeness to a plant, but, if a slice of it be cut thin enough to be translucent, a microscope will readily show its vegetable character.

With rich soil, unlimited moisture for root and leaf, a temperature more than tropical, and an atmosphere laden with carbonic acid (which is to a plant what oxygen is to an animal), no wonder that the vegetation of that ancient epoch flourished. Growing, falling and decaying, each succeeding crop made the bed richer for the plants that were to follow.

This process did not go on without interruption, however. It might continue for several centuries, and then vast areas would sink and remain for a long period covered by water. From the water sand and silt would be deposited. Then these areas would again become land, resuming their former luxuriance of vegetation, only to be re-submerged later on. Thus the coal today is found in a series of layers, with strata of rock (representing the deposits of silt and sand) between.

Bituminous coal contains about 38 percent of volatile matter; whence its smokiness. In good anthracite there is only about 3 percent of such matter; it is for this reason an almost smokeless fuel. All of the Pennsylvania anthracite was originally bituminous coal, but high heat and great pressure drove the volatile matter out of it.

In the Pottsville region of Pennsylvania the average total thickness of anthracite seams is 120 feet. This represents an original vegetable deposit at least 1200 feet thick. One can imagine the enormous length of time that must have been required for the growth of so vast a quantity of woody material.

Animal life in the carboniferous epoch was almost wholly aquatic. The waters teemed with creatures multitudinous. Insects swarmed everywhere. It was particularly the age of cockroaches. Huge reptiles crawled sluggishly over the wet sands of the seashore. As yet there were no birds and no animals. Millions of years were to pass before the world would be ready for their advent.—Philadelphia Public Ledger.

Library Notes

Manchester Public Library

A NUMBER of people may be interested to know the result of the experiment of keeping the library open evenings and Sunday afternoons for the first two weeks of December, 1919.

The library was kept open one-half hour later in the afternoon—closing at 5.30 p. m. for one hour—and was open during the evening from 6.30 to 9 p. m.

During the evening sessions some 220 books were taken out. Between forty and fifty adults visited the library in the evenings.

The children appeared to appreciate the privilege much more than the older people. The chairs around the reading table were filled most every evening by children. Several persons expressed the hope that the library would be kept open evenings, as that was the only time they could enjoy its privileges.

I think the time was too short to be considered a fair test. I feel sure that if the library was kept open evenings for one year the people would come to appreciate it to a much greater extent than they do now and would gladly bear the small addition to the tax rate made necessary by the change.

I think the matter should be brought up and discussed at the annual town meeting and let the voters decide the question. It is hoped during the year 1920 to have short reviews of at least two library books each week in the local papers.

I think a library should advertise its wares, and if people have books brought to their notice they may be induced to read them.

SOCIETY NOTES

PEOPLE along the North Shore are pleased with the victory of the Harvard football team over Oregon at Pasadena, Cal., New Year's day, by the score of 7 to 6. It was a hard fought battle in which East triumphed over West, although by a margin of a single point.

The Essex County club at Manchester has been the scene of much life the last week. Many North Shore people have taken advantage of the splendid weather and the holidays to visit the Shore for a day or two. Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Gray Foster and children, of New York, are spending a few days there. Mr. and Mrs. Wallace Goodrich were down from Boston for New Year's.

Mr. and Mrs. Richard S. Lovering, who are leaving Manchester soon for their plantation, near Pinehurst, N. C., entertained a party of twelve at the Essex County club on New Year's eve. Dinner and cards were features of the evening.

The Essex County club will be filled to capacity over the present week-end; every room has been engaged. Miss Olivia Ames, of Pride's Crossing, and some friends, will be among those who will be there; also J. Kenneth Howard and friends, and Mr. and Mrs. Richard Peabody.

Mr. and Mrs. S. Parker Bremer and their family passed part of the holidays at Poland Springs, Me.

Miss Ella Snelling, debutante daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Rodman Paul Snelling of Boston and Beverly Farms, went over to New York to attend the festivities which Mrs. Ryle Strange gave to introduce her daughter, Miss Mary Danforth Strange, early in the week. On Monday night Mrs. Strange gave a dance at the Colony club for her daughter, which was preceded by a dinner.

SOCIETY NOTES

One of the interesting biographies that have appeared this winter is that of Hon. George von L. Meyer, of Hamilton, by M. A. De Wolfe Howe, who gives an entertaining story of his life and public service. An ambassador to Italy and Russia and postmaster-general under Roosevelt and secretary of the navy for Taft, he did good work and had experiences that form the basis of an entertaining story of public duty well performed. He won the respect and esteem of everyone with whom he came in contact from the days in the common council of the city of Boston to membership in the house of representatives and in the chair of presiding officer; in the years he spent abroad and at the capitol. His was a useful life and a well kept diary furnished the foundation for the book, which contains much important matter that has never before been published.

Mrs. Edward B. Haven has gone from her home in Boston to Laurel-in-the-Pines, Lakewood, N. J., to spend part of the winter months.

The engagement of Miss Ruby McCormick, of Baltimore, and Valentine Hollingsworth, of Boston, which was lately announced, is of interest not only in both cities, where both are well-known, but on the North Shore. Miss McCormick has visited here quite frequently as the guest of her sister, Mrs. Marshall Fabyan (Eleanor McCormick), of Boston and Beverly Farms. Miss McCormick was actively engaged in war work and served for some time in France. She is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. G. McCormick, of Baltimore. Mr. Hollingsworth, who is a son of Zachary Hollingsworth, of Boston, is a Harvard man, class of 1906.

Mr. and Mrs. Leonard D. Ahl, of Hamilton, who are at Palm Beach, Fla., as usual, for the winter, were among the guests of Mr. and Mrs. David Randolph Calhoun at a Christmas party which was one of the largest given at this resort.

Mr. and Mrs. Clarence L. Hay (Alice Appleton), who spent the summer and autumn at the Hay estate on Lake Sunapee, N. H., and who were at Ipswich for an extended stay in the early fall, are at 32 East 37th st., New York city, for the winter.

Mr. and Mrs. Wm. H. Coolidge, who are spending the winter at the Somerset, Boston, opened their estate Blynman farm, at Manchester, for part of the holiday season, and entertained a house party for Miss Catherine Coolidge, who is home from school for the holidays.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert H. Reece arrived last Friday on the Rotterdam. Mr. Reece was married on Oct. 17 at St. Peter's church, London, to Miss Nancy Devereux Wilcox, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Wilcox, of Devon, England. While in London Mr. Reece received the distinguished flying cross, the investiture taking place at Buckingham Palace, the King personally presenting the cross to him. Mr. and Mrs. Reece are stopping with Mr. Reece's mother, Mrs. John B. Thomas, and later will make their home in Hamilton.

The entrance of the third generation into the international banking firm of J. P. Morgan & Co., took place on New Year's day, when Junius Spencer Morgan, son of J. P. Morgan, was admitted as a partner in his father's concern. Two other young men, Elliot Cowdin Bacon, son of Robert Bacon, a former partner, and George Whitney, nephew of Edward F. Whitney, a former partner, were also taken into the firm as partners. Morgan served in the United States navy during the war, Bacon was in the United States Artillery corps overseas, and Whitney was aide to Thomas W. Lamont, who was adviser to the American commission in Paris. The number of partners in the Morgan banking firms is now 15.

Mr. and Mrs. E. Prescott Rowe, of Brookline and Magnolia, had the latter's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Robert E. Livingston, of New York, as their guests over Christmas.

BUSINESS CHANGE

With the New Year comes a change in the business conducted on Beach st., Manchester, by Frank W. Bell, by which Mr. Bell's second son, Charles E. Bell, becomes a member of the firm, as partner, and the business will be conducted in the future as Frank W. Bell & Son.

Mr. Bell has been in the gents' furnishing and boot and shoe business in Manchester the last twenty-five years, with the exception of a short period when he turned his business over to his older son, Walter R. Bell, and tried "farming."

He came to Manchester from Beverly back in 1884—36 years ago, and for ten years drove an express team over the road between Manchester and Beverly and Salem every day. About 25 years ago he started his store, having his son, Walter R. Bell, as clerk. They dealt in boots and shoes, but gradually drifted into the gents' furnishings as well. After two years the son was admitted into the business as partner. In 1910 Mr. Bell had the "farming fever" and at that time he sold his share of the business to his son and moved to Kingston, N. H. The younger Mr. Bell had bought the boot and shoe business of the late Charles Hooper, Central sq., in the meanwhile, and he wanted his father to return to Manchester and look after the Beach st. store. After working for his son in this capacity from Sept., 1911, to July, 1913, Mr. Bell bought back the business and has been conducting it since then.

Charles E. Bell has been clerking for the father the last five years. His many friends are glad to know that he has now been admitted to partnership.

A few short months ago when so many of our boys were wearing the khaki, one of the sweetest bugle calls they heard was the one which summoned them to mess. Ask any doughboy—he knows. It said these words to the boys: "Come and get your chow, boys, come and get your chow."

Apropos of securing the new 1920 auto registration that familiar army expression could be paraphrased thusly, the "bugle call" coming from the highway commission, at Boston: "Come and get your number plates, come and get them now."

Mankind is prone to procrastinate. Together with several thousand others, the WHISPERER had delayed until Dec. 31st the matter of licensing his car. Hastily swallowing a lunch, he ran to the station, boarded the 12.16 train for Boston and in due course of time arrived at the Hub.

There he noticed that all roads were leading to the State House, and the department of motor vehicles was the goal toward which the motorists turned their faces. At the State House the WHISPERER took his place in line and prepared to "enjoy" the occasion. Everybody appeared to be in good spirits, realizing that it was their own fault which caused them this inconvenience, for had they heeded the instructions issued last October from the motor vehicle headquarters they could have spared themselves the rush and troubles usually connected with an 11th hour stampede.

It was decidedly interesting to hear the comments made by some of the people waiting their turn to receive the number plates. "I'm half a mile ahead of you, Harry," a friend would shout to an acquaintance further down the line. "Yes, but I'm in better company," the latter would re'ort! "What is the matter with that little short man near the side door? It seems to me he has stood there for half an hour as if rooted to the spot!" "Oh, dear, I don't know the number of the engine, and must I answer every question?" "How stupid of me to have made that mistake!"

And then there was the fellow who tried to push in two or three ahead of his rightful position and had to be told his proper place in the line.

Extra clerks assisted in the rush of the final days before the new year and the crowds were handled expeditiously.

When the WHISPERER received his number plates, after waiting in line some time, he made a New Year's resolve that his application for 1921 registration would be attended to before Dec. 31, 1920.

The "Letter Box" column of the Boston Post had this question and answer yesterday:

To the Editor of the Post:

Sir—Please decide a dispute as to which is considered the more formal and exclusive summer resort—the North Shore or the South Shore?

That's a matter of opinion which I do not pretend to be able to decide. Possibly life on the South Shore, on the whole, is more informal than on the North Shore. There's a saying: "On the North Shore one must dress for dinner; on the South Shore, one may."

You'll never find a provision for carrying excess baggage on the road that leads to the heights of real achievement. Many men . . . waste precious hours in loading up with things they can't carry—and that they wouldn't use if they did carry.—CROWELL.

In a New Year's greeting to YD men, Major-General Edwards expressed a sincere wish for successful establishment of the YD memorial clubhouse, now being discussed.

PEBBLES on the BEACH

OLD YEAR TO THE NEW

I give thee welcome, son,
On the threshold of thy life;
And I would give thee counsel
That may aid thee in the strife:—

You will find the pitfalls many,
And the way with briers strewn,
And I would save your young feet
From thorns that I have known.

The starting may be brighter than
The full rays of the sun,
But the closing may be darker than
The dark nights of the moon.

So look well to thy footing,
That thou may stumble not,
So at the close of lifetime
Thou may not leave a blot.

Remember, life's a shadow, or
A sunbeam, as you wish
And you can make the coming Days misery or bliss.

So start aright dear youngster, and
May your aim be high,
That you may feel a life well spent
When the end is drawing nigh.

Be just, be good, be honest!
Have love for all the earth!
And may Nineteen-Twenty's death be Brighter than its birth!

—Andy Marshall.

TO HONOR A. P. GARDNER AT STATE HOUSE

Secretary of State Albert P. Langtry will recommend to the next legislature that the large auditorium in the basement of the east wing of the State House be named Gardner hall in memory of the late Hon. Augustus Peabody Gardner, of Hamilton.

Mr. Gardner was congressman from the sixth Massachusetts district for many years. He was a strong advocate of preparedness and when the war broke out resigned from Congress to accept a commission in the army. He died in service.

Mr. Langtry, who was chairman of the State House Building commission, under whose direction the east wing was added to the main building, said Tuesday: "I believe that the suggestion to name the auditorium Gardner hall in memory of a splendid citizen, a learned statesman and a gallant soldier will meet with universal favor."

PITCH TOURNAMENT WILL START NEXT MONDAY

Much interest is being manifested in the coming pitch tournament which will be held in Manchester this winter between teams representing four local orders: the American Legion, Odd Fellows, Sons of Veterans and Red Men.

Monday evening, Jan. 5, is the date of opening. Owing to the rehearsal that evening for the minstrel show of the Manchester club, the time of beginning the playing will be 8.30. The rooms of the Manchester Launch club, over the police station, will be the battleground of the fray.

As agreed by the four orders, each team will consist of nine regular players and three substitutes. If it should happen that any order does not have its three teams or substitutes to make up three teams, they will lose 10 points for each team absent.

Monday nights have been selected for the regular meetings; ten games will be played by each team, making a total of 30 points each night for each team; playing around twice for the series.

The fact that the three teams having the lowest number of points at the finish will furnish a supper for all is an incentive to each to put forth their very best efforts to be listed among the supper guests rather than among the supper hosts!

CHRISTMAS CELEBRATION AT GRAND ARMY HALL

Following their yearly custom Allen W. R. corps, 119, provided a Christmas tree on Friday evening to the members of Allen post, 67, G. A. R.

Members of Col. H. P. Woodbury camp, 149, assisted in making the evening a success. Every member of the post received a present from the two orders. Light refreshments were served.

LOCAL SECTION

Friday, Jan. 2, 1920

MANCHESTER

There is a movement about town looking toward eliminating some of the moving picture films shown at Horticultural hall — an agitation stirred up by the sad affair on Christmas night when two Manchester boys pulled a "wild west" hold-up at the local fruit store. While people as a whole do not think the moving pictures had anything to do with the affair, there are others who think they might have been influential in warping the boys' minds somewhat. It is a well-known fact that the line of pictures put on by Manager Ansel Sanborn at Manchester are superior in general tone to those shown at the average picture house. It is understood the effort is not to cut out the pictures entirely, but to minimize the "wild west" type and serials, or eliminate this type entirely. This item is not official. It is based on the reports about town. The BREEZE is of the opinion that this is the wrong place to begin to correct Manchester boys. The first step should be made in the home, the next, in the High school. The biggest error of all is the attitude of some in having the boys think they are so important. They should be made to do something for themselves, and to realize that they are not supreme. In other words, they should be taught the good of working after school hours, instead of loafing around street corners, making a general nuisance of themselves in the bowling alley and other such places intended for older men. If "all work and no play makes Jack a dull boy," it can well be said of Manchester boys that "all play and no work makes Jack a lazy boy." No wonder Salem and Gloucester people speak of Manchester's young boys as hoodlums, and that on several occasions they have been chased from the streets of these two places by boys who knew them. When one sees the boys going to school smoking cigarettes, which they keep puffing almost to the school door, and again see them light their cigarettes the minute they leave the grounds, and hear the stories of the boys playing poker and crap, and shooting dice even on the school property, it is no wonder the town is stirred oft and on by the outbursts that demand public condemnation. The boys ought to be dealt with more sternly at home and in school.

The two Manchester boys implicated in the "hold up" at the Manchester Fruit store will go before the juvenile court at Salem on Thursday of next week—the 8th. The whole town is still talking about the sad affair, and are amazed at its details and the lack of motive for the deed. The boys themselves offer no excuse for their actions. Naturally, the sympathy of the entire town goes out to the heart-broken parents of the two boys. The parents of both boys are well and favorably known, and prominent in their respective circles. It is understood that Lawyer Sullivan, of Salem, will defend the boys in court. Charlie Brown, the victim of the assault, is still in the Beverly hospital, and will probably remain there for another week. He will recover.

The next meeting of the Parent-Teacher association will be held Wednesday evening, Jan. 21.

Miss Grace Macdonald, of Springfield, spent the school vacation with her cousin, Miss Ruth Bell, Vine st.

The annual meeting of The Manchester club will be held this evening. Officers will be elected and reports of officers and committees will be made. A collation will be served.

Archibald J. Gillis, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Gillis, Manchester, was united in marriage recently to Miss Johanna Doyle, of Boston, by the Rev. Joseph A. Brandley, of Dorchester, formerly of the parish at Manchester. The bride has many friends in Manchester, as she spent last summer here.

MANCHESTER

John J. Connors has added a third taxi to his equipment this week.

John Webb, of Rockland, was at his cottage on School st. over the last week-end.

The regular meeting of North Shore Horticultural society will be held this evening.

Miss Florence Haskell was home from her teaching duties in Ware for the holiday season.

H. Burr Eldredge, of Antrim, N. H., has joined the BREEZE force the past week, as assistant editor.

Miss Helen Johnson has been spending part of the holiday season as a guest of Miss Anna Coughlin, School st.

Abbott Foster and Stanley Beaton will have charge of the census enumeration in Manchester. The work will start today.

New Year's day was observed as a holiday yesterday, but there was little going on to make the observance of the day of moment.

The dates for the Manchester club minstrel show have been set for Thursday and Friday evenings, Feb. 12 and 13, at Horticultural hall. Rehearsals will be held next week on Monday and Friday evenings, at the club. There was a rehearsal last evening.

It may interest many of our readers to learn that the army stores at South Boston will open again now that the Christmas rush is over, and that orders for army foodstuffs and supplies will be accepted as usual at the local postoffice.

There ought to be no shortage of ice next season. The Manchester Ice Co. cut 10-inch ice on their three ponds this week and are now awaiting a second crop to fill their houses. Ayers Bros. started harvesting their crop today. Daniel Edgecomb has secured the Davis ice house and equipment at Gravelly pond for next summer's supply.

Town Accountant Austin C. Jones will be the busiest town official for the next month—preparing the data for the annual town reports. The various town officers and committees are expected to hand in their reports as early in January as possible. The books are to be printed and distributed the first few days of February, as the town meeting comes this year on Monday, Feb. 9.

TOWN OF MANCHESTER

Adopted at the

Special Town Meeting

Thursday evening, Dec. 18, 1919

and approved by the

and now published according to law.

ARTICLE I. Town Meetings.

Section 1. The annual Town Meeting shall be held on the second Monday evening in February and shall begin not earlier than seven o'clock.

The meeting shall be adjourned to the next day, Tuesday, for the election of Town Officers, and for balloting upon such matters as by law are required to be determined at such meeting.

The polls shall be opened at six o'clock in the morning and shall be closed not earlier than five o'clock in the afternoon.

The annual Town Meeting, including its adjournment, except the Tuesday devoted exclusively to the election of Town Officers and to balloting upon such matters as by law are required to be determined at such meetings, shall be held not earlier than seven o'clock in the evening.

Section 2. Voters shall be notified by posting attested copies of the warrant at the Town Hall, Post Office, Police Station, and Engine House seven days at least before the day appointed for said meeting.

Section 3. Ten per cent. of the number of registered voters shall constitute a quorum for the transaction of business at any Town Meeting except such parts of meetings as are devoted exclusively to the election of Town Officers; and to balloting upon such matters as by law are required to be determined at such meeting; but a less number may organize and adjourn to some future time.

Section 4. The first business in order at each adjourned meeting shall be the reading of the records of the previous session by the Town Clerk, and he shall be prepared at all times to report the total amount of moneys appropriated.

Section 5. Whenever a vote is doubted and a return of the number voting is ordered, all persons for or against the question, when called on by the Moderator, shall rise in their places and stand until they are counted by tellers.

Section 6. When a question is under debate, until it is disposed of, no motion shall be received but to adjourn the meeting, for the previous question, to lay on the table, to commit, to recommit, to amend, to refer, or to postpone to a day certain, or to postpone indefinitely, which several motions shall have precedence in the order in which they are herein arranged.

Section 7. No person shall speak on the same subject more than twice, nor more than twenty minutes in all without the consent of the meeting.

Section 8. Every person speaking shall rise and stand uncovered; shall respectfully address the Moderator; shall confine himself to the question under debate and avoid all personalities.

Section 9. All motions shall be put in the order in which they are moved, unless the subsequent motion is previous in its nature; provided that in cases of amendment the largest sum or longest time proposed shall be put first.

Section 10. On motions to adjourn (except when the business of balloting is unfinished), to lay on the table, to take from the table, and for the previous question, not exceeding six minutes shall be allowed for debate, and no person shall speak on the motion more than two minutes.

Section 11. The previous question shall be put in the following form: "Shall the main question be now put?" and until this question is decided, all debate on the main question shall be suspended. Immediately after taking and adopting the previous question the sense of the meeting shall be taken upon any pending amendments in the order inverse of that in which they were moved, and finally upon the main question.

Section 12. No person speaking shall be interrupted except by a call to order.

Section 13. If an article of the warrant has once been acted upon and disposed of, it shall not be again considered at that meeting, except by a two-thirds vote.

Section 14. When the report of a committee is placed in the hands of the Moderator, it shall be deemed to be properly before the meeting for its action thereon. A vote to accept the report shall discharge the committee, but shall not be equivalent to a vote to carry out its recommendations without a special vote to adopt them.

Section 15. No report of any committee shall be in order unless made under an article in the warrant which indicates the subject matter to be reported upon.

Section 16. When any Town Meeting shall be adjourned, except from day to day, by reason of the regular business of the meeting being unfinished, the Town Clerk shall cause notices of the time and place of holding such adjourned meeting to be duly posted in the public places referred to in Article 1, Section 2. These notices shall also state briefly the business to come before such adjourned meeting, and shall include any notice of proposed reconsideration.

Section 17. No motion to dissolve a Town Meeting shall be in order until every article in the warrant therefor has been duly considered and acted upon, but this shall not preclude the postponement of action on, or consideration of, any article to an adjournment of the meeting to a stated time, or to a future regular or special meeting.

erwise directed by the meeting, and it shall be the duty of the member first named promptly to call the committee together for organization.

Section 19. The conduct of all Town Meetings, except as otherwise prescribed by law, or by the foregoing rules, shall be determined by the rules of practice contained in Cushing's Manual, so far as they are adapted to Town Meetings.

ARTICLE II.

Duties of Town Officers.

Section 1. The several boards of Town Officers shall, at the close of each fiscal year, prepare a report of all their doings, with a statement in detail of all their payments and expenditures, and all liabilities incurred by them, including all outstanding orders and claims against the Town, the valuation of all property of the Town in their hands or under their care, and all debt due the Town, and submit an estimate of the probable expenses of the Town for the ensuing year in their several departments.

Section 2. No Town Officer and no salaried employee of the Town, nor any agent of any such officer or employee, shall receive any compensation or commission for work done by him for the Town except his official salary and fees allowed by law, without the permission of the Selectmen expressed in a vote, which shall appear on their records with the reason therefor.

Section 3. All Town Officers, whether elected or appointed by the Selectmen, shall pay all money belonging to the Town, received by them in their respective departments, for the sale of property or from any other source whatsoever to the Town Treasurer, on or before the fifth day of each month.

Section 4. No board, committee nor officer having charge of any work, the payment of which is in any part to be voluntarily contributed by private parties, shall perform said work until a sum estimated by such board, committee or officer, to be sufficient to cover the payment of the portion of said work chargeable to such private citizens, has been deposited with the Town Treasurer.

Section 5. All bonds of Treasurers, Collectors, Constables, or other persons shall, except as otherwise herein provided, be safely kept and retained by such officers of the Town as the Selectmen shall designate, and shall not be surrendered or cancelled until their accounts are closed by the Town.

Section 6. All reports shall be in the hands of the Selectmen for printing not later than the fifteenth of January in each year.

ARTICLE III.

Selectmen.

Section 1. Unless otherwise specially ordered by vote of the Town at a meeting called for the purpose, the Selectmen shall have full authority as agents of the Town to appear (either personally or by counsel) and defend suits brought against it. They shall consider all claims and suits made or brought against the Town, whether at law or in equity, and may settle the same; provided, however, that except as otherwise provided by law in no case shall a settlement be so made by payment of more than five hundred dollars ($500) without a vote of the Town. Except as authorized by statute or as below provided, the Selectmen shall have no authority to institute any proceedings in the name or in behalf of the Town unless authorized so to do by vote of the Town. They may institute and prosecute proceedings in equity for injunctive or similar relief, and in all such cases they shall promptly report their action to the Town at the next succeeding Town Meeting.

Section 2. All conveyances of land or interests in land which may hereafter be authorized by a vote of the Town or otherwise, except land held under tax titles, shall be signed by a majority of the Board of Selectmen, unless otherwise provided by law or by special vote of the Town and the same shall be sealed with the Town seal.

Section 3. The Selectmen after drawing a warrant for a Town Meeting shall immediately transmit a copy of the same to the Chairman of the Finance Committee.

Section 4. The Selectmen shall furnish, for the use of the voters at each Town Meeting, and at any adjournment thereof, printed copies of the warrant for the meeting.

Section 5. The Selectmen shall maintain some suitable place within a reasonable distance of the village, as a free dump, upon which the inhabitants of the Town shall have the right, under suitable regulations, to be made from time to time by the Selectmen, to deposit ashes, cinders, papers, tin cans and such other rubbish as may be permitted by the Selectmen, with the approval of the Board of Health. Said dump shall be under the care and supervision of the Selectmen.

Section 6. The Selectmen shall have the power to rent the Town Hall for any lawful purpose, provided, however, that at all times, such renting shall be subject to the use by the Town for Town purposes.

Section 7. The Selectmen may appear (either personally or by counsel) before any Court or any State or County Board or Commission, to protect the interests of the Town.

ARTICLE IV. Town Clerk.

Section 1. The Town Clerk shall furnish all boards, committees and officers with a copy of all votes affecting them.

Section 2. He shall, as soon as practicable after any election has been held by the Town, in addition to the notices he is now required to give to officers who are required to take an oath of office, also issue a written or printed notice to all persons who have been elected to any other office, or chosen to serve on any other committee, stating the office to which such person has been elected, or the duties which such committee was chosen to perform.

Section 3. He shall see that every conveyance to the Town of any interest in land is properly recorded in the Registry of Deeds and he shall keep a true copy in a book, to be kept for such purposes alone, of all deeds, or conveyances executed by the Selectmen.

ARTICLE V. Duties of the Town Treasurer and Collector.

Section 1. The Town Treasurer shall have the custody of all insurance policies belonging to the Town, and (save as otherwise ordered by the Selectmen) of all official bonds, except his own, which shall be in the custody of the Selectmen.

ARTICLE VI. Finance Committee.

Section 1. There shall be a Finance Committee, consisting of nine legal voters of the Town, no one of whom shall be a Town Officer elected by ballot, or an appointed official receiving a salary. The members of this Committee shall serve without salary.

Section 2. The Finance Committee shall be appointed in the following manner: The Moderator elected at the annual Town Meeting in the year 1919 shall, as soon as these by-laws are adopted and approved, appoint one member for a term of one year, one for a term of two years, and one for a term of three years. The Board of Selectmen shall concurrently appoint two for one year, two for two years, two for three years. The Moderator elected at the annual meeting in each year thereafter shall in February of that year appoint one member of said Committee to serve for the term of three years. The Board of Selectmen shall concurrently appoint two for a term of three years.

Said Committee shall meet at the call of the Chairman of the Board of Selectmen for the purpose of original organization and choose its chairman and clerk. The Committee shall from time to time promptly fill by appointment any vacancies which occur in its membership, and each appointee shall serve for the remainder of his predecessor's term of office.

Section 3. It shall be the duty of this Committee to consider all matters of business calling for appropriations or expenditure of money or disposing of Town property included within the articles of any warrant for a Town Meeting hereafter issued, and it shall be the duty of the Selectmen after drawing a Town warrant to transmit immediately a copy of the same to the Chairman or Clerk of the Finance Committee, and the Committee shall after due consideration of the subject matter in said articles report thereon, prior to the meeting in question, and in print, information, recommendations and estimates, with reasons therefor. The Finance Committee may employ such expert and other assistance as the Committee may deem advisable.

ARTICLE VII. Financial Matters in General.

Section 1. No bill, charge or account against the Town shall be paid without the approval in writing first being obtained of the person, board or committee authorized to contract the same.

Section 2. No contract involving the expenditure of a sum in excess of $500 shall be entered into by any board or officer of the Town, unless otherwise provided by law, until competitive bids therefor have been obtained either by invitation from at least three responsible bidders or by advertisement, and the contract awarded to the lowest responsible bidder who shall properly file the required bond. The term "responsible" shall be held to cover both the bidder's financial ability, his experience and reputation in the class of work involved, and his physical equipment properly to carry out the proposed work, and the board or officers in whose department the work is to be done and who is responsible to the Town therefor shall be the sole judge as to the bidder's responsibility hereunder.

Advertisements for such proposals shall be published in a newspaper having a circulation in Manchester and shall require that the proposals be sealed, properly addressed, and shall state the time and place of opening, which shall in all cases be public.

All such contracts shall be secured by a bond of a reputable surety company or two or more individuals resident within this Commonwealth, satisfactory to the board or officer acting for the Town, and shall be conditioned for the faithful performance of the work proposed. In lieu of filing a bond, security in form of cash, certified check or proper collateral may be accepted.

Nothing herein contained shall prevent the awarding of contracts without such advertising in cases requiring immediate attention or in the purchase of supplies, merchandise or materials of a special make or manufacture.

Section 3. All accounts of the Town shall be audited at the close of each fiscal year under the supervision of the Director of the Bureau of Statistics in accordance with the provisions of Chapter 706 of the Acts of 1913, and Acts in addition and amendment thereto.

ARTICLE VIII. Duties of the Police Department.

Section 1. The Police Department shall consist of a Chief of Police, a Police Sergeant, and such number of Police Officers as the Board of Selectmen shall deem necessary.

Section 2. The Chief of Police shall have the care of the Police Station, shall have the care and custody of all property of the Town used by the Department, and shall keep a full and complete record of the business of the Department.

Section 3. The Chief of Police shall have power to temporarily relieve from duty any of his subordinates for neglect or non-performance of his duty, for any act contrary to good order and discipline, or for the violation of any of the rules and regulations of the Department. In such case, he shall, within forty-eight hours furnish to the Board of Selectmen in writing a statement of his reasons for relieving such subordinate from duty.

Section 4. The Sergeant of Police shall be under the immediate direction of the Chief of Police, shall assist him in his duties, and in his absence shall have and exercise all the powers and duties conferred and imposed upon the Chief of Police.

Section 5. It shall be the duty of each

Police Officer patrolling a regular beat to immediately report all accidents happening on the highways patrolled by him, involving injury to persons or property. In cases which may possibly involve liability upon the Town for such accidents, said officer shall make a careful investigation, during the names and addresses of witnesses thereto and incorporate the same in his report to the Chief of Police, who, in turn, shall make full report thereof to the Board of Selectmen.

Section 6. Special officers shall be subject to the authority of the Chief of Police and shall do so much of their time to the service of the Town as he shall require. The amount of their compensation shall be fixed by the Board of Selectmen. They shall be paid by the hour for services actually rendered.

ARTICLE IX. Water Work Department.

Section 1. The Board of Water and Sewer Commissioners shall annually, on or before the first day of January, present to the Selectmen a report made up to and including the last day of December preceding the year ending on said last day of December, containing a statement of the condition of the Water Work and of land and other property devoted therewith, and any information or suggestion which they may deem important.

Section 2. The Commissioners shall semi-annually set bills to property owners for water used. These bills shall be due and payable respectively on June 1st, and December 1st, and shall be paid to the Town Treasurer, and if unpaid the same may be collected in an action brought in the name of the Town.

Section 3. The Commissioners shall ascertain if bills have not been paid when due, and upon the non-payment of water rates within fifteen days after they are payable, the Commissioners may cause notice to be served upon the defaulting property owner, that unless rates are paid within five days thereafter, the water service will be shut off; and if said charges remain unpaid at the expiration of said five days the Water Commissioners shall cause the water to be shut off, and it shall not be turned on again at the request or for the benefit of the person defaulting, except upon a new written application, nor until the full amount of the bill is paid to the Town Treasurer.

Section 4. The Commissioners may make abatements of water rates in such cases as they deem proper and they may temporarily shut off the water from any street, or notice of their intention so to do.

Section 5. Said Commissioners shall keep suitable books in which shall be entered the names of all water takers; the kind of buildings which the water is supplied, the use of the street and the number thereof, and the nature and use made of the water, which books shall be open to public inspection.

Section 6. Application for water must be made in writing to the Water Commissioners by the property owner. When an application for water has been received the Water Commissioners may then proceed to lay the necessary service pipe to the inside of the cellar wall, or other place desired supplied with a stop and waste cock and meter, provided, however, that the property owner pays for all work and material on the owner's premises (except the meter) before water is turned on, the amount so paid by the owner to be determined by the Water Commissioners.

Section 7. If any person shall open a hydrant or lift or remove the cover thereof or make any opening or connection with any pipe or reservoir, or turn on or turn off the water from any pipe, fountain, reservoir, hydrant or drinking trough, except in case of fire or by authority of the Commissioners or their agent, he shall be liable to a penalty of not more than Twenty Dollars.

Section 8. No water shall be supplied to parties who are not entitled to its use, unless by written permit of the Commissioners.

Section 9. Upon any violation of the provisions of this Article, the water shall immediately be shut off from the building or place where such violation occurred, unless the Commissioners, after investigation, decide that the interests of the Town and the accomplishment of justice do not require such action.

Section 10. All persons taking water shall keep in order the service pipe within their premises and be liable for all damages resulting from their failure to do so.

Section 11. All property owners using water must furnish internal pipes, connections and all fixtures; and must keep them in good repair and protect them from frost at their own expense, including the meter; the Town reserves the right to make all meter repairs.

The Town will not be liable for any damage resulting from the failure of the owner to keep all pipes and fixtures in repair.

The owner shall avoid all unnecessary waste; and the water must in no case be left running to prevent freezing, or for other purposes, without the permission of the Water Commissioners or their duly authorized agent.

Section 12. Stricken out as per vote at Special Town Meeting held on December 18, 1919.

Section 13. Owners of premises will be held responsible for the water rates of their tenants.

Section 14. The Water Commissioners, or their agent, shall have free access to all premises supplied with water, and to ascertain the quantity of water used; and all pipes shall be subject to rejection by said Board if considered unsuitable for the purpose.

Section 15. The Commissioners shall have the right in any or all cases to install meters for the purpose of measuring the quantity of water used; to restrict the use of hose or fountains, to shut off the water whenever it becomes necessary in order to make extensions or repairs, and to shut it off for violation of any of the rules or regulations of the Department or of any provision of these by-laws. When the supply is shut off for such violation, the water shall not be turned on again except on a new written application.

Section 16. Water will not be turned on any new service until all charges for service piping are paid.

Section 17. No person shall be allowed to disconnect or to connect a meter or to make any repairs on any meter, except the employees of the Water Department. All meters are Town property, and to be in charge of the Commissioners at all times.

ARTICLE X. Hawkers and Pedlers.

Section 1. No person shall go about from place to place within this town, carrying or exposing for sale, or barter any fruits, fish, or vegetables, or from any cart, wagon or other vehicle, or in any other manner, without a license therefor from the Board of Selectmen provided, however, that this section shall not apply to any person who sells only fruit or vegetables or other farm products raised or produced by himself or family, or fish which is obtained by his own labor or the labor of his family.

Section 2. The Board of Selectmen shall have authority to grant such license to any person of good repute for morals and integrity who is, or has, declared his intentions to become a citizen of the United States. Said licenses, unless sooner revoked by the Board of Selectmen, shall expire one year after the granting thereof, and each person so licensed shall pay therefor a fee of Eight Dollars.

Section 3. No hawker or pedler shall sell, or offer for sale, or expose for sale, any of the articles enumerated in Section 15, Chapter 65 of the Revised Laws, or in any acts in amendment thereof or in addition thereto, until he has recorded his name and residence with the Board of Health, or such other board or officer as may be designated by the Selectmen. Every person licensed under the provisions of the preceding section as a hawker or pedler of fruits and vegetables shall record his name and residence in like manner with such board or officer.

Section 4. No person hawking, peddling, or carrying or exposing for sale any of the articles enumerated in Section 15 of Chapter 65 of the Revised Laws and acts in amendment thereof and in addition thereto, shall cry his wares to the disturbance of the peace and comfort of the inhabitants of the Town, nor shall carry or convey such articles otherwise than in vehicles and receptacles which are neat and clean and do not leak.

Section 5. Every hawker and pedler licensed by the Board of Selectmen shall be assigned a number and shall be provided by the Board of Health with a badge, which shall be conspicuously worn by him; and every other such hawker and pedler as described in Section 3 shall provide himself with a badge, of such type and design as may be approved by said Board of Health which he shall wear in like manner. Whoever neglects to wear, or wears such badge without authority, shall be punished by the penalty provided in Section 10 of this by-law.

Section 6. Every vehicle or other receptacle used by a person licensed under this by-law as a conveyance for articles offered or exposed for sale by him shall have attached thereto on each side a number plate, to be furnished by the Town with his license bearing the number and date of expiration of such license.

Section 7. No person shall be registered or assigned a badge or number under the provisions of Sections 3 and 5 of these by-laws, until he presents a certificate from the Sealer of Weights and Measures stating or otherwise satisfies the Selectmen that all weighing and measuring devices intended to be used by such person have been duly inspected and sealed as required by law. The use of, or possession by such person with intent to use, any false or unsealed weighing or measuring devices shall be sufficient cause for the revocation of his license, or the cancellation of his registration.

Section 8. Nothing in these by-laws shall be construed as conflicting with any license issued under the authority of the Commonwealth.

Section 9. Any license granted under these by-laws or any by-law amendatory or additional thereto may be revoked by the Board granting the same.

Section 10. Whoever violates any provision of these by-laws shall be punished by a fine not exceeding Twenty Dollars for each offense.

ARTICLE XI. Junk Dealers.

Section 1. The Selectmen may license suitable persons to be dealers in and keepers of shops for the purchase, sale or barter of junk, old metals or second-hand articles, subject to the provisions of the laws of this Commonwealth.

ARTICLE XII. Junk Collectors.

Section 1. The Selectmen may license suitable persons as junk collectors to collect, by purchase or otherwise, junk, old metals and second-hand articles from place to place in the Town, subject to the provisions of the laws of this Commonwealth.

ARTICLE XIII. Hackney Carriages and Motor Vehicles and Traffic Rules.

Section 1. The Board of Selectmen may license suitable persons to set up and use hackney carriages for the conveyance of passengers for hire within the Town of Manchester, and may revoke said licenses at pleasure. Each person engaged in the business of conveying passengers for hire within the Town, by means of a hackney carriage as herein defined, shall take such number of hackney licenses as shall equal the greatest number of such vehicles to be used at any one time, by said person, during the year for which the license is issued. Any horse-drawn or motor vehicle regularly or commonly used for the conveyance of persons for hire within said Town (except a jitney, a trackless trolley vehicle and a motor vehicle running on tracks or rails) shall be deemed a hackney carriage. Any motor vehicle (except a trackless trolley vehicle, so-called) not running on tracks or rails, regularly or commonly used for the transportation of passengers for hire between fixed and regular termini, shall be deemed a jitney.

Section 2. No person having charge of, or driving or operating any hackney carriage shall, knowingly, receive or permit to be placed therein or convey in or upon the same, any person sick with any contagious disease without subsequently, and before the occupancy or conveyance of other persons, having such conveyance properly fumigated to the satisfaction of the Board of Health.

Section 3. When a horse drawn vehicle is backed up to the curb, the horse or horses shall be turned so as to stand parallel with the sidewalk, and headed toward the right hand.

Section 4. No person, other than the holder of a license issued under the provisions of this or the next following Article, his agents or employees, shall solicit passengers for hire in any public way or place within the Town.

Every licensee shall affix to and maintain upon each licensed vehicle set up, used or driven by or for him, a card or plate bearing in plain and conspicuous letters his name and license number.

Section 5. All licenses granted as aforesaid shall expire on the first day of May next after the date thereof, and may be revoked at the pleasure of the Board of Selectmen. No license granted under this Article shall be sold, assigned or transferred.

Section 6. The Clerk of the Board of Selectmen shall notify the Town Clerk of all licenses granted under the provisions of this Article, and the Town Clerk shall sign and issue the same on payment of the fee prescribed.

Section 7. The fee for a license under the provisions of this Article shall be Fifty Cents, payable to the Town Clerk for the use of the Town.

ARTICLE XIV.

Relative to the Operation of Jitneys

Section 1. No person, firm or corporation shall operate a jitney as defined in Section 1 of Article XIII of these by-laws for the transportation for hire of passengers within, out of or into the Town of Manchester unless the owner thereof shall first have obtained license therefor in accordance with the provisions of this Article.

Section 2. All licenses under this Article shall be issued by the Board of Selectmen, and may be revoked by the Board for a violation of any provision hereof, or for any other good cause. Said licenses shall expire on the first day of May in each year; and none shall be sold, assigned or transferred.

Section 3. No license shall be issued unless the person, partnership or corporation owning the jitney or jitneys shall have filed with the Town Clerk a petition addressed to the Board of Selectmen, setting forth the name, age and residence of the applicant (and of each of them, if more than one), and also of each person intended to be employed to drive the vehicles. In no event shall any applicant, driver or employee be less than twenty-one years of age. The petition shall also contain a statement of the experience of each applicant and of each proposed driver in the operation of motor-driven vehicles. No jitney may be driven except by persons named for the purpose in the petition and approved by the Selectmen. The petition shall state also the make, year, model and number of each jitney to be used, the seating capacity thereof, the termini between which, the time schedule of proposed service, and the routes on which the jitney or jitneys concerned are to be operated, and shall be accompanied by at least three references, each signed by one or more citizens of the Town of Manchester. All statements in a petition shall be verified by the oath of the person or persons signing the petition. In the case of a petition by a corporation, the same shall be sworn to by the President and Treasurer thereof respectively, and it shall set forth the names of all the officers and directors of the corporation.

Section 4. No driver or employee of any jitney licensed hereunder shall be less than twenty-one years of age. If the service of any driver or employee mentioned in an application under Section 3 shall terminate, the owner of the jitney before employing a successor shall notify the Selectmen directly, or through the Town Clerk, of the name, age, residence and experience of the intended successor.

Section 5. Every motor vehicle licensed under this Article shall have posted in a conspicuous place on the outside of said vehicle the name of the owner and license number, and also a sign indicating the termini and route of said vehicle and the fare to be charged therefor. There shall be kept at all times in said vehicle a copy of the schedule of service at the time in force and the license issued under the provisions of these sections which shall be shown to any police officer or other person having authority from the Board of Selectmen to examine said license on request.

Section 6. It shall be unlawful for any motor vehicle licensed hereunder to be operated on any other route, or between any other termini than those stated in the license except in cases of accident, break-down or other controlling emergency, nor to turn around before reaching the termini of the route. Nothing in this section nor elsewhere in this Article contained shall be construed to prohibit the operation, in addition to the service described in the schedule on file and in effect at the time, of special or extra trips over said route or portions thereof, and between said termini or points between the same during certain hours, or on special occasions.

Section 7. The license shall state the seating capacity of the pertinent vehicle, and no such vehicle shall carry at any time a greater number of passengers than the number so stated in said license, provided, however, that in addition to the number of passengers specified in the license the vehicle may carry children under seven years of age, in arms, or sitting on the laps of adult persons accompanying them, but no passenger with a child in arms, or sitting on the lap, shall be permitted on any front seat of the vehicle. No person owning, driving or in charge of a jitney shall suffer or permit any person to stand inside or to stand or sit upon any running board, steps, fender, dash or hood thereof, nor outside the body thereof.

Section 8. The licensee shall not reconstruct, materially modify, nor add to the body or seating arrangements of any jitney after the license therefor is issued without first applying for and receiving the consent of the Board of Selectmen.

Section 9. A licensee may change the schedule of proposed service by giving three days' prior notice in writing to the Selectmen, stating the changes and specifying the intended service thereafter to be in force.

Section 10. No person operating any jitney hereunder shall refuse to carry a person offering himself or herself at any regular stopping place for carriage unless the seats of such vehicle are fully occupied, nor unless such person is in an intoxicated condition or conducting himself in a boisterous or disorderly manner, or using profane language.

Section 11. Any jitney operated hereunder shall be adequately lighted on the inside between sunset and sunrise, and any such jitney with a seating capacity of more than seven passengers shall come to a full stop before crossing the tracks of any railroad at grade.

Section 12. Any jitney licensed hereunder shall be equipped with lights and horn, or other warning device as provided by law, also with some standard speedometer in good working order, and with a liquid fire extinguisher of some efficient type, all to be kept in satisfactory operating condition at all times. When leaving either terminus every such jitney shall be equipped with at least one extra serviceable tire in good condition. It shall at all times also carry and maintain in good working order a set of skid chains, and these shall be applied to the rear wheels when such vehicle is operated in any street or public place where there is snow or ice, or during other weather conditions when the application of such chains is necessary to prevent skidding.

Section 13. Every licensee shall immediately report fully in writing to the Selectmen the time and place and cause of any fatal accident, or any injury to a passenger or other person, or any accident which results in substantial property damage in which any jitney licensed hereunder is involved.

Section 14. For each licensed jitney the licensee shall pay a fee of five dollars to the Town Treasurer.

Section 15. No jitney license issued by the Board of Selectmen shall be operative until the licensee shall have filed a bond with the Town Treasurer in accordance with the provisions of Chapter 293 of the General Acts of 1916.

(a) For a license covering a motor vehicle or vehicles with a total seating capacity of ten passengers or less, Two Thousand Dollars.

(b) For a license covering a motor vehicle or vehicles with a total seating capacity of more than ten but not more than fifteen passengers, Three Thousand Dollars.

(c) For a license covering a motor vehicle or vehicles with a total seating capacity of more than fifteen but not more than thirty passengers, Four Thousand Dollars.

(d) For a license covering a motor vehicle or vehicles with a total seating capacity of over thirty passengers, Five Thousand Dollars.

Section 16. Vehicles must stop so as not to interfere with, or prevent the passage of pedestrians at crossings, and at all times drivers of vehicles must stop the same on signal from a police officer.

Section 17. No person having charge of any vehicle shall place the same in any public street so as to prevent or obstruct the passing of other vehicles, unless for a reasonable time, not exceeding five minutes.

Section 18. Whoever violates any provision of the preceding sections shall be liable to a fine of not more than Twenty Dollars.

ARTICLE XV. Streets and Sidewalks.

Section 1. Except as otherwise provided or permitted by law no person shall erect, set up, or maintain any permanent structure extending or projecting over or upon any sidewalk, street or highway.

Section 2. No person other than a Town agent shall place or cause to be placed on any public sidewalk, street or highway, or upon any of the common lands of the Town, any gravel, dirt, wood, lumber, buildings, carriages, boxes, barrels, stones, coal or any rubbish, or other things and suffer the same to remain thereon for more than one hour after being notified by a police officer to remove the same.

Section 3. No person by himself or his agents or servants shall distribute or place in or upon any street, square, park, common, lane, alleyway or other public places any placard, handbill, flyer, poster, advertisement or paper of any description unless having first received a permit from the Board of Selectmen or Chief of Police.

Section 4. No person shall suffer any horse or grazing beasts or swine to run at large in the Town or feed within the limits of the highway either with or without a keeper.

Section 5. No person shall throw stones, snow balls, sticks or other missiles or kick football or play at any game in which a ball is used, or fly kites or balloons, or shoot with or use an air gun, bow and arrow, slingshot or other similar devices in or across any public ways or common of the Town.

Section 6. No person shall wilfully or negligently obstruct the free passage of foot travellers on any sidewalk nor shall any person loaf upon any sidewalk or on any street or public way of the Town.

Section 7. No person shall coast upon or across any sidewalk, street or highway, except at such times and in such places as may from time to time be designated by the Selectmen.

Section 8. No person shall knowingly suffer or permit any water or other liquid substance to run or be discharged from any building owned by him or under his control onto or across any curbed or finished sidewalk, except that any person may wash, with water from hose or pipe, windows or other parts of a building, on private property, without endangering the public safety.

Section 9. No person shall fire or discharge any gun, pistol or other firearms in or across any of the streets or public places in the Town, but this section shall not prevent the use of such weapons in the lawful defence of one's person, family or property, nor in the performance of any duty required or authorized by law.

Section 10. No person shall throw or cause to be thrown or placed upon any sidewalk, street or highway of the Town any nails, spikes, screws, glass, tin cans or other similar articles.

Section 11. No person shall throw or place upon any sidewalk or street crossing any banana skin, orange skin or other slippery substance.

Section 12. No person shall suffer a platform or grate or opening to a cellar or basement in any street or sidewalk to rise above the surface of the same, and every such entrance or opening shall be at all times covered by a suitable grating or covering.

Section 13. No owner or person having the care of any building abutting upon any brick, concrete or other curbed or finished sidewalk, the roof of which building slants towards the sidewalk, shall permit the building to be without a barrier, snow guard or other device to prevent the falling of snow or ice from such roof to the sidewalk.

Section 14. No person shall ride, drive or cause to be driven any horse or vehicle over that part of any street or way which is being mended, repaired or paved, if a sign is posted prohibiting the same.

Section 15. All petitions from persons or corporations for permission to erect poles in the public ways shall state therein an accurate description of the location prayed for and be accompanied by proper plans defining the same, together with the location of all buildings adjacent to the highway, all poles then standing on the way with the ownership thereof and all shade trees and hydrants, all within a space of three hundred feet of the location desired in either direction of said way.

Section 16. Any person violating any of the provisions of this Article shall be liable to a fine of not more than Ten Dollars, unless otherwise especially provided.

Section 17. The word "vehicle" as used in this Article shall include every description of carriage or other artificial contrivance used or capable of being used as a means of transportation on land, except as otherwise provided herein or by law.

ARTICLE XVI.

Amendments and Repeal.

Section 1. These by-laws may be amended at any Town Meeting, an article or articles for that purpose having been inserted in the warrant for such meeting; and any such amendment shall become effective when approved by the Attorney General and published as required by law.

Section 2. Upon approval by the Attorney General of these by-laws, or any portion thereof, and the completion thereafter of publication as required by law of such whole or part, all previous by-laws of the Town of Manchester shall be, and the same hereby are, repealed.

I hereby certify that the foregoing By-Laws were adopted by the voters of Manchester at a Special Town Meeting held on December 18, 1919.

L. MAN W. FLOYD,
Town Clerk.

Dec. 19, 1919.

The foregoing By-Laws are hereby approved.

HENRY A. WYMAN,
Attorney General.

Dec. 26, 1919.

ENTERTAINMENT FOR BENEFIT OF PARENT-TEACHER ASSOC.

"How to Play the 'Glad Game'" was the message given by "Pollyanna"—or rather by Miss Marion Hertha Clarke, impersonator, in her reading of the play "Pollyanna," at the Manchester Town hall, Monday evening. Those who are familiar with the book or with the play know that Pollyanna was a motherless little girl, whose father had taught to seek at all times something in life to be glad about. He called it playing the "Glad Game." After her father's death Pollyanna came to live with an aunt, where she found it difficult at times to find something to be glad about in the game of life. However, she overcame the many difficulties and brought happiness to all about her simply by sticking to the "Glad Game."

The play was presented under the auspices of the Parent-Teacher association and was very well attended. Many in the audience were already familiar with Miss Clarke's work, as she appeared on an occasion several years ago.

The music was furnished by the Orpheus club. Something over $25 was realized by the sale of tickets.

A Watch-Night service was held Wednesday evening at the Baptist church in charge of Rev. H. E. Levoy, pastor. A devotional service was held in the early part of the evening, followed by a social hour, with refreshments. As midnight approached and the New Year was born, everyone present extended to 1920 a cordial Christian welcome.

MANCHESTER

Joseph Spinney was home from Amherst to spend the holiday with his sister, Miss Marion Spinney, West Manchester.

The annual stockholders' meeting of the Manchester Trust Co. will be held in the Congl. chapel on Tuesday, Jan 13, at 2 o'clock.

On Friday evening, Jan. 9, in the Town hall, there will be a joint installation of G. A. R. post, 67, W. R. C., 119, and S. of V. camp, 149.

HOME FROM OVERSEAS IN TIME FOR CHRISTMAS

The family of Edward Haraden, of Bridge st., Manchester, was tendered a very pleasant surprise on Christmas day, when their nephew, Russell W. Sargent, walked in on them. Mr. Sargent, who a number of years ago lived at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Haraden and attended school here, has just returned from overseas duty, being regimental sergeant major in the headquarters company. He had arrived from France the day before Christmas, having come over in charge of the central office records. He took advantage of a 48-hour furlough to visit here before going on to Washington with the records. From Washington he will go to his home in Minneapolis, Minn.

MANCHESTER SCOUTS HAVE MERRY CHRISTMAS CELEBRATION

Members of the Boy Scout troop at Manchester held a very enjoyable evening after the regular weekly meeting last Friday night when the presents from a Christmas tree were distributed among the boys.

Each boy had brought a present which was exchanged with another member.

Former Scout Master John O. Matthews was present and gave the boys some very interesting and thoughtful remarks. After the task of distributing the presents had been accomplished a fine collation consisting of plenty of cake, pie, ice cream and candy was served, this being a Christmas remembrance from Mr. and Mrs. Francis M. Whitehouse.

At the close of the evening's session the Scout cheer was given for Mr. and Mrs. Whitehouse by the boys as a token of their appreciation to these gracious benefactors, who have made the many comforts and pleasures of the Scouts in Manchester possible.

A good word is an easy obligation; but not to speak ill requires only our silence, which costs us nothing.—TILLOTSON.

ROBERT HART

SUBJECT OF ARTICLE IN PUBLICATION DEVOTED TO LIGGETT STORES

Robert Hart, so well known by Manchester people because of his residence here several years, while he was a clerk at Allen's Drug store, was the subject of a special article in the "Liggett Leader," a monthly publication devoted to the Liggett drug store interests, in its November issue. A picture of Mr. Hart embellished the front cover of the magazine, which found its way to the editor's desk a few days ago.

"Bob" Hart has been a big success since joining the Liggett forces about three or four years ago. He went from here to Lynn, then to Boston, and then to some of the big stores in various parts of the country. He was in Detroit last winter while the BREEZE editor was there and we can speak first hand of the important position which Mr. Hart held as head of the biggest drug store in the city at that time. The article referred to follows:

"Robert Hart, successively—and successfully—of Lynn, Mass.; Detroit, Mich.; Minneapolis, Minn.; and lastly—for the present—Des Moines, Ia., seems to have been doomed to be a wanderer on the face of the earth.

"Not through any fault.

"But quite the contrary.

"One of the rewards of doing things well is, that, just as you have done some big thing and are about to say to your soul, 'Soul, take thine ease,' and sit back and enjoy the fruit of your hard work, you find some other big job awaiting you, bigger than the first, and the hard work is there all to be done over again.

"That is one of the rewards of doing things well.

"And to the right kind of a man it is the biggest kind of a reward.

"It shows appreciation of the thing done and confidence that even bigger things can be done.

"Hart is that kind of a man.

"Lynn was Hart's first big job, and just as soon as he had straightened things out, and was about to say to his soul, 'Soul, take thine ease,' two very sick stores needed attention and he and Hygon were sent to Detroit and the hard work was all to be done over again.

"Then when the Detroit job was cleaned up, Minneapolis—Store 951—was ready for his attention.

"Now he has been chosen to open up Des Moines, Ia., the latest link in the chain,—that is, at this time of writing; new links are being added many and quick these days.

MANCHESTER CHURCHES

The union service for the district of Gloucester will take place in the Sacred Heart church, Manchester, at 2.30 p. m. Sunday, when the Rev. F. J. Kiley will deliver the sermon. The Holy Name societies from the following parishes will be in attendance: St. Ann's and Our Lady of Good Voyage, Gloucester; St. Joachim's, Rockport; and Sacred Heart, Manchester.

Congregational church, Rev. F. W. Manning, pastor. Sunday morning the subject of the sermon will be "The Newness of Life," the service to conclude with the Sacrament of the Lord's Supper. In the evening the topic of the pastor's address is "A Good Beginning." The public is cordially invited to these services.

Special music at the evening service will be furnished by M. Clayton Cunningham, violin; Miss Jessie Hoare, organist; A. Foster Collins, cello; and Roland Decker, bass soloist. These artists have all appeared favorably before audiences in Gloucester and vicinity. The public is extended a cordial welcome to attend the Sunday services.

Baptist church, Rev. H. E. Levoy, pastor. Sunday morning at 10.45 the pastor will preach a sermon from the subject "Anticipation and Realities." Sunday evening at 7 o'clock there will be a song service followed by preaching, the subject being "Andrew Carnegie's Message on Wealth."

The Seaside chapter of the World Wide Guild held a New Year's party at the Baptist parsonage Thursday afternoon, Jan. 1. There were fourteen girls present as guests. Santa Claus presented each with a gift from the tree, after which games were played, everyone taking part. Mrs. Levoy served refreshments.

NEW YEAR'S PARTY

CLASS OF 1920, S. H. S., HOLD COSTUME DANCE AT MANCHESTER TOWN HALL

The class of 1920, S. H. S., held a New Year's costume party Wednesday night at the Town hall, Manchester. It was the particular social event of the holiday season, and was well attended, there being about forty couples on the floor, nearly half of them being in costume.

The interior of the hall was prettily decorated for the occasion, the class colors of purple and gold being used. A banner with the figures 1920 in gold on a purple background was given a prominent place over the stage. Japanese lanterns were hung in various parts of the hall, adding to the attractiveness of the decorations. During the evening the merry makers showered each other with confetti and a general good time was enjoyed by everyone present.

Music for dancing was furnished by Anderson's special four-piece orchestra, of Gloucester. The proceeds from the evening's entertainment will be used by the class for expenses during their school year.

Supt. and Mrs. John C. Mackin and Principal and Mrs. John O. Matthews were chaperones. Refreshments were served at intermission and at midnight the New Year was given a cordial welcome.

The committee in charge consisted of Wm. Singleton, chairman; Mark Sinnicks, Arthur Miguel, Ruth Carroll, Ernest Lucas, Janet Height and Wm. Murray. To their efforts, largely, is due the success of the party.

The prize for the best ladies' costume was awarded Miss Natalie Cooke, who was gowned as an Irish dancer. Allen Needham won the prize for best gentleman's costume, being arrayed as an Indian brave; and to Roland Butler, dressed as a country lad, was given the booby prize.

It should be stated that the Senior class was eliminated in making the awards for prizes. The judges were Mrs. John C. Mackin, Miss Edna Parker and Prof. Matthews.

Among those in costume were: Misses Bessie Harris, queen; Grace MacDonald, country girl; Ruth Bullock, a girl of long ago; Dorothy Crombie, old fashioned girl; Janet Height, old fashioned girl; Ruth Bell, Red Riding Hood; Ruth Olsen, cocoa girl; Helen Knight, summer girl; Myrtle Lethbridge, farmerette; Alice Flaherty, Red Cross nurse; Ethel Allen, Turkish; Mary Knight, who wore her mother's graduation dress; Violet Read, 1820 girl; Ruth Scott, Chinese;

MAGNOLIA

The annual church meeting of the Village church will be held in the church next Wednesday at 7 p. m.

William Hunt, a freshman at Tufts college, and son of Mr. and Mrs. L. Hunt, is spending his vacation with his parents.

Alice Swanson, who is studying to be a nurse at the Malden City hospital, was a visitor on Christmas day at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Swanson, Magnolia ave.

The members of the Ladies' Aid society met at the home of the new president, Mrs. Fred S. Lycett, yesterday afternoon for sewing and in preparation for the annual village church fair to be held some time next summer.

Services will be held in the Village church, Sunday, at 10.45 a. m. "A Forward Look" will be the subject of the pastor's sermon. Sunday school meets at 11.45 a. m. The Sacrament of the Lord's Supper will be observed at the morning service.

Postmaster Lycett has recently made some improvements in the looks and convenience of the local post-office by causing varnish and paint to be applied to the work-work and by installing an extra writing desk for the use of the patrons of the office—just another evidence of Mr. Lycett's thoughtfulness of those whom he always so willingly and courteously serves from day to day.

Frederick W. Eaton, of Akron, O., made a hurried business trip east the last of last week and spent Sunday at the parsonage with his parents, leaving for Akron early Monday morning. Mr. Eaton thinks there are wonderful business opportunities in the middle west for young men of brains and energy. "Go West Young Man" is still good advice, especially to those living in little places like Magnolia where a summer's job is about all that one can reasonably expect to get.

Eleanor Ballou, the eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. D. C. Ballou, will leave for Pasadena, Cal., next Monday, where she will spend the rest of the winter with her aunt, Miss Katherine Ballou. Mrs. Ballou will accompany her daughter as far as Chicago. Recently Miss Eleanor received honorable mention by the Boston Traveler in the short story contest conducted by that paper—an honor that any young person may well covet. After her trip across the continent and back again, this young lady will doubtless have much material for other interesting stories.

STORY—MACLEAN

Ralph James Story, of Akron, O., and Marion Elizabeth MacLean, of Magnolia, were united in marriage Thursday, Jan. 1, at 11 a. m., at the parsonage, the ceremony being performed by the minister of the Village church, Rev. Walter S. Eaton. On the afternoon of the day of their wedding this young couple left for Akron, O., where they will make their home. Mr. Story has a good position with the Goodyear Tire and Rubber Co., as draughtsman.

LIFE INSURANCE

MANY PEOPLE DO FOOLISH THINGS WITH THEIR POLICIES

"If I were asked to select a thrift slogan to be nailed above the front door of every home in America," said a big banker the other day, "I would take two words made famous by the war—'Carry on!'"

"As a people we realize the need of saving money; most of us start to save at some time or other; but too many of us become weary in well doing and fall by the wayside."

This banker was referring to savings bank accounts. But there is another field of thrift in which "Carry on!" should be made the rallying cry. That is the field of life insurance.

The man or woman who takes out a life insurance policy has everything to gain by sticking to the payment of premiums, and a lot to lose by failing to do so. Yet in 1918 close to a billion dollars' worth of life insurance was canceled in this country because people did not keep up their policies.

This figure does not include the insurance allowed to lapse, often through carelessness, and subsequently renewed.

Many people have the impression that insurance companies make huge profits from lapsed policies. Nothing could be further from the truth. Companies do not want lapses. The cost of putting a life insurance policy on the books is high. The agent must be paid his commission, the medical examiner his fee, and there are many other expenses incidental to canvassing and issuing the policy.

In industrial insurance (the type in which premiums are met by small weekly payments) many policies are lapsed after only one week's collection. In ordinary insurance, often only the first quarterly premium is paid. In such cases, the one or two premiums paid do not even cover the initial expenses to the company.

Most lapses of insurance policies happen because the person insured is short of cash when he gets the premium notice—or else he wants to use the money for something else. Generally he thinks he will revive the policy, or else take out a new one later on.

While the problem of lapses is a serious one, it would be unfair not to state that there has been a gradual improvement in the situation for a number of years.—The American Magazine.

PROHIBITION AFFECTS NORTH SHORE INDUSTRY

To the person who is interested in out-of-the-ordinary things, there is a wealth of enjoyment in browsing around the odd nooks of our old New England towns. Particularly true is this of some of our old seaports whose glory is of a day that is gone.

'Way out on the tip of Cape Ann, where, when the day is clear and the glass good, may be seen the coast of Maine, New Hampshire, the whole North Shore of Massachusetts and the tip of Cape Cod, is the little town of Rockport, with its granite quarries, its unfinished breakwater, its surf bathing and its sleepy vacation atmosphere.

Leading out of Dock sq. is a long neck or strip of land known as Bear Skin Neck; why it is so-called has not been satisfactorily answered. On either side of the neck stand old abandoned stores, counting houses, barns, a fish wharf or two, and further up near the sea, some few cottages which have been changed over from their earlier estate of fish and boat houses, ship storage and sail lofts.

In a large open space well out on the end, was staged the passing of a peculiar industry. For many years past in this open space there has been day in, day out, a countless number of old boxes, old sewing machine stands—in fact, anything which would serve as a suitable rest, supporting frames made of scantling, upon which was stretched an expanse of chicken wire, the finished frame being perhaps five feet by three. Upon these frames stretched out in the sun were scores of white objects which gave out a decidedly fishy odor.

Those white objects were sounds, the swimming bladders of the silver hake; nothing else would do for the requirements.

And the requirements? These sounds were received wet, were split open with scissors and stretched out flat on the screens. The sounds were then put out into the sunlight, dried, packed again in bags and then shipped to the isinglass factory.

Isinglass, your dictionary will tell you, is a substance consisting chiefly of gelatin, of a firm texture and whitish color, prepared from the sounds or swimming bladders of certain fishes.

In the isinglass factory these dried sounds are again wet in a certain solution, rolled out into very thin sheets, dried again and are ready for their final use.

At a certain stage of fermentation of beer and wine, this isinglass is dissolved and poured upon the surface. It gradually settles to the bottom and in doing so it carries all sediment or particles of malt, etc., down with it, making the liquid clear.

And there is nothing else that will do the trick so well. There is a substitute made by some of the big packers which is sometimes used, but only when there is a shortage of isinglass.

With the coming of prohibition this industry has been left, like so many others, a derelict along the road of the onward march of progress.—Boston Sunday Herald.

FORD INDUSTRIES ANNOUNCE NEW BUSINESS POLICY

Henry Ford and his son, Edsel Ford, announced Wednesday the distribution of an $8,000,000 bonus among the 80,000 employees of all branches of the Ford interests and the inauguration of an investment plan whereby every worker, from the man who wields a broom to the chief executives, may participate in the profits of the business.

Bonuses, which were paid in cash, come in addition to the profit-sharing plan which was inaugurated several years ago and which will be continued. It is the intention of the Ford organization to make the distribution of these bonuses an annual event if the earnings of the company permit.

In cash and in the number of men concerned, and without counting the moral effect on industry as a whole, this act of economic justice surpasses anything in the history of labor.

A STARTLING CONDITION

WE NEED A RIGID FORESTRY POLICY THAT WILL SAVE THE LITTLE TREES

The BREEZE has frequently called attention to the need of a broader national policy regarding the forests of our fair land. When a comparison of conditions in America is made with those prevailing in other countries the comparison is decidedly unfavorable to the United States.

The American Forestry association says that of the original 850,000,000 acres of timber land in this country we have destroyed fully three-fourths, and that our increased need of timber for a vastly increased population has to be provided by the one-fourth that is left, helped out by what we can slowly make from the timber crops now growing.

That is a startling announcement. Massachusetts has been a well-timbered state, but the way the forests are going it is likely to be only a short time until our timber supply will be whittled down as seriously as that of the other forest states that have dropped out of the lumber business and become buyers instead of producers. We have wasted wonderful heritages in this country and are still wasting. We will not waste much more valuable timber, for the big requirements now will soon cut a hole in that remaining fourth. But we will not waste much of that, for we have learned to use timber now instead of wasting it.

What we are wasting in a prodigal manner is that which is not fully grown. These are the trees which should meet our future needs. We need a rigid forestry policy which will save the little trees. That would be our salvation.

It is with narrow-souled people as with narrow-necked bottles; the less they have in them, the more noise they make in pouring it out.—POPE.

FEDERAL THEATRE, SALEM

"Male and Female," the Paramount super production, has been breaking attendance records at the Federal theatre, Salem, all this week, and ends its engagement with two performances Saturday.

Next Monday the double feature bill includes Hobart Bosworth in "Behind the Door," and Charlie Chaplin in his fourth million dollar comedy, "A Day's Pleasure." In this picture Charlie is the chauffeur of a flivver and how he makes and breaks all known traffic rules is said to be a scream. Pathé News and Current Topics are included in this bill.

Next Thursday for three days comes Theda Bara in "Kathleen Mavourneen." In this Irish play Miss Bara departs from her vampire roles.

The entire week starting Jan. 12 Mary Pickford, in her latest release, "The Hoodlum," will play twice daily at the Federal.

COPLEY THEATRE, BOSTON

"The Big Drum," by Sir Arthur Wing Pinero, had been scheduled for production by the Henry Jewett Players earlier than this, but the unprecedented success of "Charley's Aunt" at the Copley theatre has necessarily caused a postponement of this English play, acclaimed by the London critics to be one of the best things that Pinero ever wrote. The story of "The Big Drum" concerns the love interests of Philip Mackworth, a young author, and Ottoline, Comtesse de Chaumié, a wealthy widow, and it is told in that convincing, entertaining way that only Pinero can do. "The Big Drum" was first produced at the St. James theatre, London by Sir Geo. Alexander, who played the role of Philip, which part at the Copley theatre will be played by Percy Carne Waram. Ottoline will be played by Miss Jessamine Newcombe.

TAX ON TAX

A very large part of the high cost of living is taxes—pure and simple. It is what we are paying for the war.

The producer of raw materials must pay a tax on his profits and adds not only the tax, but a profit on the amount paid in taxes and passes it along to the manufacturer, who in turn must pay a tax on what he makes and adds it to his cost. The manufacturer adds a profit to this; also to the amount paid for the tax part of his raw materials, and passes it along to the jobber, tax multiplied on tax.

The jobber repeats the operation and passes his tax to the retailer, who shoves it on to the ultimate consumer, collecting not only his own tax, but the taxes of the three who had a whack at it before he did.

There are many contributing causes to high costs, but one good place to begin work on them is in Congress. —Dearborn Independent.

A whale of a humpback variety yields as much as 50 barrels of oil.

For they can conquer who believe they can.—DRYDEN.

A vast amount of work now remains to be done which the intervention of war has necessarily delayed and accumulated, and the result is that * * * * very large capital expenditures ought to be made to make up for the interruptions inevitably due to the war, and to prepare the railroads to serve adequately the increased traffic throughout the country.—Walker D. Hines, Director-General of Railroads.

Work More--- Produce More--- Save More---

But we can't continue increasing our production unless we continue increasing our railroad facilities.

The farms, mines and factories cannot increase their output beyond the capacity of the railroads to haul their products.

Railroads are now near the peak of their carrying capacity.

Without railroad expansion—more engines, more cars, more tracks, more terminals—there can be little increase in production.

But this country of ours is going to keep right on growing—and the railroads must grow with it.

To command in the investment markets the flow of new capital to expand railroad facilities—and so increase production—there must be public confidence in the future earning power of railroads.

The nation's business can grow only as fast as the railroads grow.

INFORMATION FOR AMERICAN LEGION POSTS

The state headquarters of the American Legion has sent an interesting letter to all post commanders in which the matters of official banner, woman's auxiliary chapters and the proper use of the American flag are discussed.

The official post banner was adopted at the recent national convention at Minneapolis and a copyright on the emblem has been secured. The banner will be blue, trimmed on three sides with knotted yellow silk fringe, mounted on a pole, surmounted with a spread solid brass eagle, and ornamented with one pair of yellow silk tassels.

It has come to the attention of department headquarters that several posts have been placing the name and number of their post and other lettering on the state flag.

The Massachusetts statutes expressly forbid the placing of words, figures, advertisements or designs upon the flag of this Commonwealth.

Membership in the auxiliary is confined to the mothers, wives, daughters and sisters of the members of the American Legion, and to the mothers, wives, daughters and sisters of all men and women who were in the military or naval service of the United States between April 6, 1917, and November 11, 1918, and died in line of duty or after honorable discharge and prior to November 11, 1920.

SMALL TREES SACRIFICED

FORESTRY ASSOCIATION DEPLORES CUTTING OF WOODLANDS ALONG NORTH SHORE

The North Shore Horticultural society held a meeting Friday evening at their hall in Manchester, transacting routine business. The meeting was followed by a meeting of the North Shore Forestry association.

Chairman Allen S. Peabody presided and introduced the speakers for the evening. Mr. Donovan, district forestry superintendent, spoke concerning the cutting of timber in the rear of the Montserrat Golf club. He said that as he understood the matter, the timber cutting would be followed by a cord wood cutting, practically ruining the picturesqueness of this beautiful spot. It is believed many small trees are being cut. This matter was discussed by various members of the association.

Ex-Senator Bailey, secretary of the forestry department, from Boston, made the principal address. He spoke at some length concerning the work of the department, stating that the so-called "North Shore Fund," started in 1908 by towns including Manchester, Beverly and Gloucester, and assisted by funds from private individuals, had spent the sum of $500,000 to protect the woodland along the North Shore from the ravages of the gypsy moth. This large amount of work is hardly realized by the average citizen and shows in part the activities of the forestry commission in this section.

"Where $500,000 has been spent in saving the woods it may well cause heart burnings to see the woodman's axe about to destroy it," said Mr. Bailey. "The reason Massachusetts is now asked to raise and expend large sums for re-forestation is because our forefathers paid so little attention to the proper cutting of timber. Lumbermen now realize the importance of forestry." He then continued to speak of legislation already enacted and hearings on new measures which are being proposed. His address was most entertaining and at its conclusion he was given a vote of thanks.

A vote was passed authorizing Chairman Peabody to appear before the legislative committee in favor of a forestry bill which is to be presented at this session of the legislature. This bill was discussed in detail and has been drafted after receiving the careful coöperative attention of foresters from every state in New England. It is said to have the

CONSOLATION FOR THE TAXPAYERS

Income taxpayers will at least find consolation in the fact that they will be given the aid and advice of "thousands of employees of the Bureau of Internal Revenue, trained in the intricacies of the internal revenue laws and regulations" when making out their returns for 1919. Government officials like to wield the big stick, labeled "penalties," for the benefit of those who have not complied with the law in making tax income returns. It is refreshing to note that the department has at last awakened to the fact that failure to file tax returns has been due fully as much to the ignorance of the public as to how it should be done, as it has to those who wilfully design to cheat the government of its just income. Revenue officers, we are told, will be sent to every county in the United States to assist taxpayers in making out their returns.

These men, it is stated, will be thoroughly trained to give all desired information. Revenue officers have been advised to be careful of their personal appearance, and to be courteous. People won't feel so badly because their interview happens to be with an untidy or discourteous revenue officer, if the officer actually explains the law so that they may understand it and get their filing over with before becoming afflicted with brain exhaustion. Information from thoroughly trained revenue officers ought to simplify matters for the taxpayer and the government as well. The time for filing will extend to March 15, but the matter ought to be attended to as soon as possible.—Brookline Chronicle.

IT IS DIFFICULT TO LOOK BACK and try to realize that there has been so much suffering and hardship borne by the people of many nations during the last decade. It is with difficulty only that one may realize that two short years ago the fate of civilization was in the balance and no man knew the outcome. The ignorant lived their careless lives without apprehension, unappreciative of the great issues. There were many making fortunes because of war conditions who did not or could not realize the appalling peril the whole world was in. The optimists, men of vision, were realizing the seriousness of the situation and were applying all their ability and funds to the winning of the war. Everyone hoped for victory and that all would come out right. Every loyal patriot was working to that end with every faculty. No one, however, knew what the outcome would be and that the allies would be strong enough to conquer the Germans. At the beginning of that New Year two years ago the situation was serious. There was no light upon the clouds. The campaigns of 1917 had been successes for the Central powers and no gains of importance had been made by the allies. America had entered the fray, which was, of course, a great factor in final success for the allies. The Americans, however, had not had an opportunity to demonstrate the full power of their strength and the ultimate meaning of their entrance into the war. The future then appeared dark. Such hope as existed was the determined spirit of the allies that remained unconquered. Soon the light broke and the gallant work of the allies was felt. The summer days came on and the allies had every reason to take heart again, and then swiftly followed those memorable fall days and the final armistice on November 11. It was a year of surprises, encouragement and success. No one could have foreseen the great victories at the beginning of the year, but the miraculous was accomplished. With victory came the salvation of civilization, the defeat of military force and the maintenance of the international code of laws that had been developing during the last centuries. It meant that good will and law were to rule and that barbarisms and military force as an ultimate authority in governmental power was checked. The treaty is still unsigned, but the enemy is defeated and the fruits of victory will be enjoyed by generations still unborn. Upon the foundations laid they may build better than can the generation which now has the opportunity.

THE MARGIN OF VOTES—five to four—in the United States Supreme court indicates that there were reasonable doubts concerning the legality of making the so-called "near" beer. It came near being a victory for the two and three-quarter percent beer. The decision sustains the validity of the action of Congress and makes all who have sold so-called near beer liable to prosecution. It is evident now that the amendment to the constitution will not be hampered by loose interpretations of the common law. The only way that prohibition can have a real tryout is to have it protected by the law and its intent maintained. There was a larger question at stake—the rights of Congress, during the war period, to enact restrictive laws.

RADICAL SOCIALISM IS A FAILURE because it does not take into account the responsibilities which every individual owes to the commonweal. Today coöperation is the ideal toward which all great enterprises are moving, some more rapidly than others, but all are re-shaping their policies and methods, so that the "three partners" may have just returns for their labor and interest. The enterprise that is modern seeks to treat its workers as persons, with all that implies. Under such conditions employees may be expected to assume responsibilities and take a vital interest in the enterprise, for it is only when every department of an organization has a real interest that any business can be made a success financially and humanely. In such an ideal organization there can be no artificial restraints by employees or compulsions by the employers, such as limiting output or life, destroying methods of competition, or long hours. There will be a spirit of assuredness which will make it possible for workers to settle down and make a life worth while, living really, not existing, with the fears of unemployment or the lack of opportunity to make progress. The old policies of mutual antagonism and enmity are and should be brought to an end because the interests of employee and employer are mutual. When one suffers, both suffer. Progress can only be made by the mutual enterprise of worker and employer. The new ideals of business life are beginning to have their way, with marked advantage to the employer and the employed and with a decadence of old-time radical socialism which was a perversion and an unreality because it set up a dream world that was impossible because impracticable. The new age of coöperation and mutual helpfulness with friendliness and enterprise by both employer and employed will be more likely to produce greater and more successful business enterprises because they are to be more humane.

THE ECONOMIC SITUATION in America is unusual. There are two conspiring forces working simultaneously, either of which would cause high prices. Unfortunately these two forces are at work together and with the results in high prices that are an evil of magnitude. There is a shortage of manufactured and staple goods because of the war conditions, the waste of material in the war operations, the stoppage of production due to manufacturing interests in war materials and the shortage of men and women to work in the factories producing goods for the market. With this diminution of the supply there has been an increased demand, due to the prosperity of the people. Limited supplies of money compel economies and purchases are curtailed at once. The large wages paid to workers in every line have given the working classes larger amounts of money, and this, with the natural reaction from the restraints of war conditions, has resulted in an orgy of purchasing, despite the increased prices. The present prices may be lowered only in two ways, one by an increase in the surplus of goods and the other by a financial panic. The latter would compel instantly reduced purchasing. This condition, however, would not be salutary and is to be avoided if possible. Every financier of vision has his face to the future and is using his power of influence to steady financial conditions to avoid the crisis which many seem to fear. It is apparent that conservative buying and steady employment will tend to level prices. But the future holds open no great promises of relief. The former price levels were too low and it is not to be hoped that they will reach them again. There is, however, a lower level that will bring an easement to all in the high cost of living and assure everyone a reasonable living business profit.

THE CARE OF THE BLIND presents problems which cannot be met offhand, but must be solved by careful men of experience. The state of Massachusetts has made progress by the establishment of schools and workshop industries. The work is supervised by a state commission that is making a careful and efficient study of the needs of the blind people in this state. The work must be enlarged upon. Experience has shown that it is hopeless for any state to depend upon the careful and persistent work of enthusiastic volunteer charitable organizations to meet the responsibilities of the situation. The work is too great and too important. The larger work, if it is to be done well, must be taken over entirely by the state. The work already accomplished by the state shows the wisdom of the policy. The enterprises established are commendable, but there is still another forward step that can and must be taken. Appropriations must be made for and studies carefully conducted of the needs of the indigent blind. Maine makes an annual appropriation and every blind person in the state, in need, shares the appropriation. An inadequate appropriation was made this year by Massachusetts—a step in the right direction, but it must be done thoroughly to be successful. The appropriations in the future should be larger “so that in the future all persons without sight, who are in need, will receive at least a small allotment, and it will become permanent,” writes one of the officials. The appropriation should be enlarged this year so that Massachusetts, rich state as she is, leader in philanthropic enterprises, may be just as generous to these unfortunate people who are deprived of an opportunity to find durable satisfactions in life through sight and work.

WHEN THE PROPRIETORS of one baseball team purchases a player of another team for a sum of money which equals the salary of the President of the United States for a year there is something wrong about the appraisals of the worth of the respective individuals.

MR. EDWARD TUCK of the class of 1862 of Dartmouth college presented to that institution a generous gift, a portion of the securities being set apart to assure the construction of a building as a memorial to his father, Amos Tuck, of the class of 1835. The building is used as a meeting place for the School of Administration and Finance. The ethical purposes of the institution were stated in the letter making the gift. A part of the letter has been sent to the moulders and a copy in bronze made and placed upon one of the stairways of the building. The searching truths may be read every day by the students of the school. In the conduct of every business and professional man these maxims may well have their place: “In the conduct of the school which you have done my father’s memory the honor of attaching his name, I trust that certain elementary but vital principles on which he greatly dwelt in his advice to young men, whether entering upon a profession or business career, may not be lost sight of in the variety of technical subjects of which the regular curriculum is composed. Briefly, these principles or maxims are: absolute devotion to one’s superior or employers; the desire and determination to do more rather than less than one’s required duties; perfect accuracy and promptness in all undertakings, and absence from one’s vocabulary of ‘forget;’ never to vary a hair’s breadth from the truth nor from the path of strictest honesty and honor, with perfect confidence in the wisdom of doing right and the surest means of achieving success. To the maxim that honesty is the best policy must be added another: that truism is the highest and best form of egoism as a principle of conduct to be followed by those who strive for success and happiness in public life or business relations as well as those of private life.” These principles ring true to life and will prove faithful rules for life and conduct. If they are followed by the business or professional men they will inevitably yield the fruits of time and energy well spent.

THERE IS A MORAL RESPONSIBILITY which every individual owes to the government that must be met. In war the individual responds to the call of duty and the willing are called patriots and are honored and the shirkers are held accountable for their misbehavior. The responsibilities of peace times are not so serious as those of the times of war, but the responsibilities are none the less real. It is surprising how many have a dual ethical code, one for their associates and another for the government. This is quite unfortunate, but only brings contumely and punishment upon individuals because now the income returns are being carefully checked up and neglect becomes punishable with severe penalties. It appears that thorough investigations are being made by the authorized officials and that securities and stock registrations are being copied and in this way accurate lists are held of people who are receiving industrial or other security incomes. The income blanks have been issued and soon in every postoffice a list of income taxpayers is to be listed, and in this way it is expected that public opinion will drive secretive business men to file accountings. Fortunately, however, the larger number of people have been forward in their desire to aid the government. The war period taught the people of America a new meaning of the word patriotism and after the severe exactions of the war period in taxation and personal service the small demands made for tax payments upon excess incomes will be met cheerfully. There are some who will fail in their responsibilities and lose the sweet rewards of an honorable conscience if they escape the keen investigators.

THE PRISON KEEPER WHO PERMITTED the convicts to see a hanging had good intentions, but his act was a serious error in judgment. Modern civilization cannot permit public executions. The psychological effect upon the prisoners was not as wholesome as the warden expected.

THERE IS A REMARKABLE LACK OF INTEREST in the contest for the Presidential nominations of both parties in view of the great issues at stake. There are no two men who are far and away in the lead over opponents in the race for the nominations. It is impossible to determine to whom either party will look for leadership and direction. It is strange, in view of the great war just ended and the great issues at stake, that there is no outstanding character who has distinguished himself in either party and about whom the people will rally. In the democratic ranks there are numerous candidates. William McAdoo is receiving flattering endorsements from all over the country, and William Jennings Bryan is said to be picking up the reins of party control, whatever that may mean for the future. The re-election of President Wilson seems improbable, despite the fact that he has been a war President. The American people are tenacious in their opinion relative to the inadvisability of giving any man a third term, even to a war President. Mr. Wilson's health would of itself probably preclude his entry into the campaign as the democratic leader. The republican party is still seeking a man and favorite sons are being endorsed everywhere. Governor Coolidge is in a respectful and dignified waiting attitude. The resignation of a high official in the republican ranks to take up the work of caring for the Coolidge boom is significant. Governor Lowden is showing some strength, while Gen. Leonard Wood, because of his war record, his sterling worth as a man and his fidelity to the principles of Theodore Roosevelt, is having a lead today which is not without significance. Whether he can win the nomination remains to be seen. It is impossible for anyone to foresee the trend of political events. One fact, however, seems to stand out—that the war developed no martial heroes on the fields of France to whom the people are turning for the political leadership of the nation. This is in marked contrast with conditions after the Revolutionary War and the Civil War. It does not mean that the soldier-leader is not respected and admired. It merely means that the war was of such a short duration, as far as America's participation is concerned, that no one or even a few men had the great opportunity to develop or show unusual powers. The American people are not inclined to give over political leadership to the military powers.

This prejudice of the American people is one of the factors which will probably react against the Leonard Wood boom. It is noticeable that emphasis is being made by his friends upon his strength as a governor and leader in Cuba and to the fact that he has made his way up despite the West Point factions at work against him. The nation needs a strong man to care for its interests during the coming period of reconstruction. Upon whom will the mantle be thrown?

THE "REDS" WHO HAVE COME TO THIS COUNTRY to make their home and living ought not to complain of the opportunities afforded. They may leave at any time. If the American constitution is not to the liking of these "radical" thinkers they are at liberty to go. If the United States government determines that they have not been faithful to the opportunities afforded can they complain? Maudlin sentiment can have no sway in the drastic action which the situation demands. America for Americans will not degenerate to an unwholesome and reprehensible national prejudice that will not permit an honorable alien to adjust himself to the policy of the nation, but it does insist that the welcomed aliens shall make an honorable effort to learn the policies and purposes of our language and government and show undoubted evidence of loyalty and good conduct.

Women are demanding an equal representation with men on the Republican National committee. This is evidence that they are deeply interested in matters political.

"Wealthy Widow Weds Chauffeur," "Wife Divorces Husband After Receiving $1,000,000 Bequest" were headlines in a newspaper one day the past week. Who can understand the mysterious workings of the feminine mind?

As the price of sugar increases so does the available supply increase. We venture the prediction that when the price soars high enough to satisfy the producers then the consumers will be able to purchase any quantity for which they may have money to pay.

"Duke," a mongrel dog owned by one of New Hampshire's richest men, was buried in a special vault in a $30,- 000 mausoleum. If "Duke" had been a registered thoroughbred we wonder what sort of a resting place would have been deemed appropriate?

The genuine Americanism of the American Legion makes it popular everywhere except with the Reds, socialists and other radical elements who attempt to undermine and overthrow our government.

The government lost about $64,500,000 from operating the railroads of the country for the month of November, according to figures made public by the bureau of railway economies. Small wonder that Uncle Sam wishes to return the railroads to private ownership.

"Money was squandered recklessly and extravagantly because we were not prepared at the time of our entrance into the world war," said Chairman Kahn, of the House Committee on Military Affairs, Tuesday. Many a Liberty bond, issued to supply some need, failed in its purpose during this revel of spending.

During the cold wave which visited the North Shore over the weekend we presume Pollyanna would have found several reasons to be glad because of it. She could be glad because the cold weather was furnishing ice, skating for the children; glad that it arrived during January instead of next July, glad that she was on the North Shore rather than living in Greenland, and that summer will be here by and by.

There have been 57,803 divorces granted to residents of Massachusetts during the past 58 years, covered by a survey by the bureau of vital statistics and just issued by the state. The increase has been continuous regardless of how it may be reckoned. One cause for divorce, it is expected, has been removed by the adoption of the constitutional amendment enforcing prohibition, that being alleged intoxication. The importance of this cause is shown by the fact that in 1917, the last year of the survey, there were 236 divorces granted from that cause.

The first anniversary of the death of Theodore Roosevelt, the chief torch-bearer of his day and generation, finds his countrymen more than ever mindful of their irreparable loss, and his country more than ever needful of his undying light and leading. That American character which it was the dream of Washington to develop, it was the destiny of Roosevelt to incarnate. All that was mortal of the man was taken one year ago today. All that is immortal abides with his people—his words, his deeds, his shining vision of America holding in her hands "the hope of the world, the fate of the coming years."

And the wonder of the lost torch-bearer's life and work begins to dawn upon the world as both are tested with the passing years.—Boston Transcript.

SUDDEN DEATH OF HARRY K. MANSFIELD

Harry Kimball Mansfield, formerly proprietor of the Ferncroft Inn, at Middleton, died suddenly at a hotel in Providence, R. I., Monday afternoon. He was taken ill with pneumonia Saturday night.

Born in Salem, Mr. Mansfield was educated in the public schools of that city and at Technology and Harvard Medical school. He engaged in the drug business for many years, conducting wholesale and retail stores. At one time he owned considerable property. He was elected to the Salem school board in 1898.

He closed Ferncroft Inn only recently and planned to reopen it after a vacation in Providence and Florida, as a vaudeville, motion picture and dance establishment. He had no near relatives in Salem.

WOMAN'S CLUB MEETS

LECTURE ON "GEORGE ELIOT" GIVEN BY MISS HERSEY

The Manchester Woman's club held its regular meeting Tuesday afternoon at the chapel, Miss Annie L. Lane, president, in charge. Miss Lane gave a most interesting report of a district conference of woman's clubs which she attended at Peabody.

Mrs. Hattie Baker, chairman of the thrift committee, spoke of the campaign regarding household expenses which is being held during January, February and March by the savings division of the United States treasury department. The plan is for each household to keep a record of its running expenses each month and see where it may be possible to eliminate certain items of waste, in fact to make the home a model of thrift to the community.

Thrift week will be observed from Saturday, Jan. 17, to Sunday, Jan. 25. Each day will carry a special appeal as follows: Saturday, Jan. 17, National Thrift Day, or Bank Day; Sunday, Jan. 18, Share with Others' Day; Monday, Jan. 19, National Life Insurance Day; Tuesday, Jan. 20, Own Your Home Day; Wednesday, Jan. 21, Make a Will Day; Thursday, Jan. 22, Thrift in Industry Day; Friday, Jan. 23, Family Budget Day; Saturday, Jan. 24, Pay Your Bills Promptly Day.

It was announced that the next meeting would be guest night, Jan. 21. Capt. Andre Morize, a member of the French Military mission to Harvard, will be the speaker. The club is very fortunate in securing Capt. Morize as a speaker; his topic will be "Thoughts on the Morrow of Victory." Tickets can be obtained from members of the club and the invitation is general to the public to attend. In addition to the address there will be music, dancing and refreshments.

Mrs. Harry W. Purington is the new chairman of the hospitality committee taking the place made vacant by the resignation of Mrs. Catherine B. Campbell, who has removed from town.

The lecture at Tuesday afternoon's meeting was given by Miss Heloise Hersey on "George Eliot." Miss Hersey, who has visited George Eliot's birthplace in England and has made a study of the author's life, gave a most entertaining address, holding the attention of her hearers from start to finish.

Miss Hersey said, in part: "The hermit philosopher who lived in a tub and went about with a lantern looking for an honest man had this motto, 'Know thyself.' For the women of today I would change this motto so it would read 'Know other folks.' There are many people today who must say, 'One half my knowledge of my neighbors is based on prejudice and the other half on hearsay!' Novelists write so that we can profit by the mistakes and experiences of others as shown in their books.

"This is an appropriate time to study the life of George Eliot as the centenary of her birth occurred last November. Marion Evans, who used the nom de plume of George Eliot, was born in Warwickshire, England, Nov. 22, 1819. The house where she was born and the church which she attended are still standing, and I visited them two years before the war."

Miss Hersey spoke of Marian Evans as being a "high strung, intellectual girl, with the faultiest of judgment where human beings were concerned, her friends being chosen from among those who would be the least benefit to her." At the age of 20 years she refused to read a romantic novel.

In 1844-46 she made a translation of Strauss' "Leben Jesu" which brought her considerable fame. She was appointed assistant editor in 1851 of the Westminster Review, which position brought her in connection with many others who wrote for this paper. It was at this time that she met George Henry Lewes. "Burning her bridges behind her and cutting herself off from her folks," said Miss Hersey, "Miss Evans and George Henry Lewes went to Germany in 1854 to live together. All that I know of this man leads me to believe him a contemptible cur. It gives me great pleasure to say so!" Mr. Lewes was married before meeting Marian Evans, but a legal technicality prevented him from obtaining a divorce from his unfaithful wife.

"Scenes from Clerical Life," published about this time, brought George Eliot fame almost in a day. "From then her life resolved itself into the accomplishment of the publishing of her books.

"After 24 years with George Henry Lewes, he died. She was crushed, heartbroken. Her faith in immortality had been destroyed and she was inconsolable. John Walter Cross, one of her neighbors, assisted in the funeral arrangements and a friendship was then formed which within six weeks resulted in their marriage. Miss Evans was 61 years of age and Mr. Cross 26. She lived only a few months after this, being married in May, 1880, and dying in November of the same year. Surely that marriage had in it an element of pathos."

Miss Hersey read quotations from some of George Eliot's best-known books. "The magnificence and richness of her diction is wonderful," said Miss Hersey. "She was brilliant of wit and keen at satire, and had a vocabulary of about 10,000 words. There are, I think, two characteristic messages in her great volume of books. The first is that of preaching in season and out of season the religion of help to humanity. The second great keynote is that to the general good the sacrifice of the individual is essential."

In closing, Miss Hersey said, "If George Eliot's work falls into forgetfulness this twentieth century, it will be because of its lack of good cheer. If it continues in favor it will be because of the glory of self-renunciation for the common good, all the more evident as she failed to do this herself."

Miss Martha C. Knight, assisted by ladies of the neighborhood, was hostess at the meeting and served tea after the lecture. Mrs. Frank Rowe poured.

MANCHESTER CLUB ELECTS

At the annual meeting of the Manchester club held last Friday evening, the following officers were elected: President, Allan S. Peabody; vice-president, Thomas A. Lees; treasurer and secretary, Arthur E. Olson; collector, E. H. Wilcox; auditor, F. J. Merrill; music committee, Dr. Frank A. Willis, E. H. Wilcox and S. Henry Hoare; executive committee, E. L. Edmands, A. G. Stanwood, Geo. F. Cooke, Geo. Hildreth.

The reading of the financial report showed the club to be in a prosperous financial condition. A vote of thanks was extended to the retiring entertainment committee for their efficient service during the past year. The club membership had reached 99, at the last meeting, and with the several applications filed, there is now a waiting list.

After the business session, a social hour followed, when a very fine lunch was served by the committee.

SOCIETY NOTES

Allison V. Armour was on from New York the first of this week, to keep in touch with the progress being made in the construction of his houseboat at the Calderwood yard in Manchester. He was accompanied by Jordan L. Mott, of the Mott Iron Works, who will furnish all the very fine bathroom fixtures, the heating equipment, pipes, radiators, etc., for the boat, all specially made for this purpose. Mr. Armour comes on to Manchester nearly every week. He will be accompanied next week by Francis M. Whitehouse, for a few days' stay at the Essex County club.

Dr. Marshall Fabyan and family, of Boston, spent the holidays on the North Shore, opening their house at Beverly Farms for ten days. They returned to Boston Tuesday. While there was no snow, yet the skating was excellent during most of their stay.

Mr. and Mrs. George A. Dobyne, who have been at their beautiful new estate on the ocean front at Beverly Farms all fall and winter, left this week for California. They will return to the North Shore early in the spring.

Master Tucker Lindsay, who returned to England last summer with relatives who had been visiting here, has joined his mother, Mrs. E. C. Fitch, Jr., at the Essex County club, Manchester, for a short visit.

Mrs. John L. Thorndike, Miss Alice Thorndike and Mrs. N. S. Simpkins, Jr., have been among the Bostonians noticed at Beverly Farms for a brief stay the past week. Mrs. Simpkins is having a small addition built to her house.

Call Mrs. Burnham, Y^e Rogers Manse, Ipswich 85-M. Lobster and chicken dinners; also a la carte service. adv.

SOCIETY NOTES

Mr. and Mrs. Lester Leland, of Boston and West Manchester, spent the holiday season at Lakewood, N. J.

A wedding of interest to North Shore people was that of Miss Elizabeth B. Blodget, daughter of Mrs. Samuel C. Blodget, and Alexander S. Porter, Jr., which took place last week at Owl's Nest, the bride's country home in East Greenwich, R. I. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. Daniel Goodwin, D. D., of that place, and the Rev. Paul Revere Frothingham of the Arlington st. church, Boston. Mr. Porter formerly lived in Manchester, in the cottage at Singing Beach now occupied by the F. M. Boyntons.

The Essex County club at Manchester is a popular rendezvous for week-end parties this winter.

Among the members of the North Shore colony at Palm Beach, who are either there or are soon to arrive, are Mr. and Mrs. Leonard D. Ahl, who are occupying the Nautilus, their cottage on the Ocean boulevard; Dr. and Mrs. Hobart E. Warren, of Beverly Farms; Mr. and Mrs. Frank Pierce Frazier, of Manchester, and Mrs. Chas. A. Munn, who is occupying her villa on the ocean front. Mrs. Munn will have her son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Charles M. Amory, of Beverly, with her a little later. Her sons, Charles A. Munn and Gurnee Munn, are both building beautiful villas north of Mr. and Mrs. Edward T. Stotesbury's place between Wells road and the Country club, and as the work is progressing rapidly, it is hoped they will be completed for occupancy this season. Others who will be at Palm Beach are Mr. and Mrs. Walter J. Mitchell, who have a summer home at Manchester, and Mr. and Mrs. George E. Warren, who will arrive in a few weeks.

F. H. Prince, of Boston and Wenham Neck, has returned from Europe with views of conditions abroad somewhat different from those generally heard on this side. Mr. Prince lays emphasis on the changed conditions, particularly in France, wherein the former peasant class class has developed into a group with plenty of money.

"European conditions are improving," says Mr. Prince. "The French elections placed France in a strong position. There is a demand for all sorts of materials; merchants' shelves are bare of goods and need replenishing. Manufactured articles as well as raw products are needed; there is a shortage of leather and other commodities.

"Our exports of these requirements are limited only by the adverse rates of exchange. Something should be done by the government to aid this situation. The war has made the French peasant rich. He is fully cognizant of the share America bore in the war and is truly grateful. Prices are very high in France as well as in England. Land is fetching record high prices; race horses are bringing the highest prices ever known.

"Capital control has changed hands in France—from the hands of the old conservatives to a new, younger and more aggressive element. The country is bound to recover quickly and it will end in big speculation. Our opportunity is to aid our grateful ally in arranging exchange conditions so as to make trade relations possible. The French need our goods and will take them if we will make it financially possible so to do.

"As to high prices in France it is sufficient to remark that a suit of clothes now costing 850 francs is of the grade that sold five years ago for between 150 and 200 francs."

Mr. Prince was questioned on conditions in Germany and Belgium. Although not going to either during his trip abroad he received reliable information about those countries. Belgium, he says, is recovering wonderfully well. It is even difficult to find shell holes in Belgian fields, as they have very largely been covered by crops.

Miss Katharine Lane, daughter of Mrs. Gardiner M. Lane, of Boston and Manchester, who, with her mother, spent the holiday season in Baltimore, was the guest of honor at a charmingly arranged luncheon in that city Tuesday afternoon of last week, given by Miss Mary Franklin Cromwell at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. William Kennedy Cromwell. Mrs. Lane and Miss Lane, who are visiting the former's parents, Prof. and Mrs. Basil Gildersleeve, were also among the guests at the superb New Year's eve ball of the Bachelors' Cotillion club given at the Lyric on New Year's eve, where Baltimore society, augmented by a number of prominent out-of-town guests, danced the old year out and the new year in, in accordance with a time honored custom extending over a century.

Ellis Loring Dresel, of Boston and Pride's Crossing, an American member of the peace conference as expert on German affairs, left Paris this week for Berlin, where he will assume the duties of acting commissioner and charge d'affaires until peace between the United States and Germany is resumed, it is understood. The exchange of ratifications of the Treaty of Versailles took place this week at the Quai d'Orsay in Paris.

Assistant Secretary of State and Mrs. William Phillips, of Washington and North Beverly, sailed last Saturday on the Aquitania from New York for England.

John Mitchell, son of Mr. and Mrs. Walter J. Mitchell, was among those at the Essex County club, Manchester, for a brief stay this week.

It is rumored that an additional train each way is to be added to the service on the Gloucester branch in a few weeks, the morning train to leave Rockport about 6.30 o'clock, and returning leave Boston at 4.53
p. m. The morning train is said to be necessary in order to relieve the train now leaving Gloucester at 7.11

biography of Wilfred Thomason Grenfel.*" This is the fascinating life-story of the man who has done so much for the fishermen of Labrador and Newfoundland. He tells about his early life, and his education at public school and at Oxford; also of his experiences in the London hospitals and slums. Of course the larger part of the book is taken up with the description of his life work with the fishermen, of how hospitals and other institutions were founded to relieve their suffering and make life more worth living. The story of his work among these primitive people is a wonderfully interesting one. Readers of his "Labrador Days" and "Tales of Labrador" will know that the story of his life is well written.
The book is well worth reading.

Another autobiography is "My Generation," by Wm. Jewett Tucker, the president emeritus of Dartmouth college. He traces the intellectual and spiritual development of America for the past fifty years. It is a book for the thoughtful reader.

A book that both children and grown-ups will enjoy is "Theodore Roosevelt's Letters to His Children."
He was very fond of his children and was their boon companion. These letters portray a phase of his character that is not so well known as some other traits of this great American. Next week we hope to have a short note on a few of the novels recently received at the library.

MANCHESTER COMMUNICATION

TAKES EXCEPTIONS TO ASSERTIONS OF BREEZE LAST WEEK

Editor North Shore Breeze,

Dear Sir: I wish to take exception to the article in last week's issue of the BREEZE concerning the alleged conduct of the boys at the High school.

However sincere your own convictions may have been in giving the impression that loose morals and lax discipline prevail, I emphatically deny that such is the case. It is not true that the games mentioned are played on the school property, nor is it true that it is a settled habit of the boys to smoke on the way to and from school. There have been a few instances of smoking at rare intervals, but the unprejudiced observer will admit that the practice is decreasing, I feel sure. The boys have all been willing to reconsider the matter upon having the possible ill effects of their act brought to their attention.

The conduct of the boys and girls in school is excellent, and I extend a hearty invitation to all of the townspeople who are interested in their High school and its pupils to visit us at any time and prove to their own satisfaction that this is so.

—JOHN O. MATTHEWS,

Principal of Story High School.

TROUBLE LIES WITH HOME, SAYS "A READER," NOT WITH HIGH

Editor North Shore Breeze,

Dear Sir: In regard to the piece in the BREEZE last week concerning the High school. Some people in this town make a great deal of talk concerning what the High school should and should not do. I wonder if these "talkers" could do any better if they were in the principal's place. I doubt it.

Therefore, I think that everything the boys in this town do, should not be placed at the door of the High school. If the citizens of this town really think that the High school is to blame, why not suggest possible remedies to the school committee or teachers; perhaps it would help.

It is true that the boys smoke up to the doors of the school and imme-

I think that the parents should take more interest in their sons, and find out where they spend their spare time. If they do know, it is up to them to keep the boys at home.

The trouble is, I believe, that the boys have not been punished severely enough when they have done things deserving punishment. If they had been punished, possibly others would have behaved better.

MANCHESTER BOYS HELD FOR GRAND JURY

The case of the two Manchester boys charged with the serious affair of Christmas night was before Judge Sears at the juvenile court in Salem yesterday. The boys were represented by Attorney Sullivan, of Salem, who waived examination after entering a plea of guilty for the boys, and asked that the case be held for the grand jury which sits in Salem next Monday. The case probably will not be reached until Wednesday.

Charlie Brown, the young man so severely injured, was brought from Beverly hospital, but it was not necessary for him to appear on the stand.

New bail was fixed at $1000 each.

The date of the annual town meeting is Feb. 9.

MANCHESTER

As we go to press this morning there is a thin mantle of snow covering the ground.

Miss Grace Merrill returned to her college work at Smith this week after a two weeks' vacation.

Mrs. G. A. Knoerr and daughter, Dorris, arrived home Sunday from a week's visit in New York.

Patrolman Thomas Sheehan was confined to the house for several days the past week with a severe cold.

Miss Ethel Talbot, of Dorchester, is a guest at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Hooper, Lincoln ave.

Homer Sargent, of Gloucester, is the new man tending gate at the Beach st. crossing on the night shift.

Mrs. Agnes Morgan arrived Wednesday from Aberdeen, Scotland, to make her home with her daughter, Mrs. William Melvin.

Joseph Cawthorne met with an accident last Thursday, when he fell in the yard at his home on Pine st., suffering fractures of several ribs.

Miss Dorothy Diggdon, who has been enjoying a three weeks' vacation in the Provinces, resumed her duties at the office of Dr. F. A. Willis yesterday.

A movement is on foot in Manchester looking toward the organization of an auxiliary to Frank B. Amara post, A. L. More information will be given as the plans develop.

Benjamin S. Bullock, who has been so seriously ill at his home on Sea st., is reported as slowly recovering. Last week Mr. Bullock was allowed to sit up a few hours every day and one day was able to take a few steps.

The fixtures in the old Valentine market at the head of Beach st. have been removed this week, and it is expected that the Coöperative Store Co., which has rented the place, will move there from their present location on Union st. as soon as the place can be made ready for occupancy.

The fire alarm was sounded about eleven o'clock Saturday forenoon for a fire in the cottage occupied by Chas. S. Hopkinson, off Summer st. A quick response was made by the department, with a portion of the apparatus. The flames were soon under control; damage was not large. Fire probably caught from an overheated chimney and burned a part of the roof.

BY-LAWS

of the TOWN OF MANCHESTER

Adopted at the

Special Town Meeting

held on

Thursday evening, Dec. 18, 1919

and approved by the

Attorney-General, Dec. 26, 1919

and now published according to law.

ARTICLE I. Town Meetings.

Section 1. The annual Town Meeting shall be held on the second Monday evening in February and shall begin not earlier than seven o'clock.

The meeting shall be adjourned to the next day, Tuesday, for the election of Town Officers, and for balloting upon such matters as by law are required to be determined at such meeting.

The polls shall be opened at six o'clock in the morning and shall be closed not earlier than five o'clock in the afternoon.

The annual Town Meeting, including its adjournment, except the Tuesday devoted exclusively to the election of Town Officers and to balloting upon such matters as by law are required to be determined at such meetings, shall be held not earlier than seven o'clock in the evening.

Section 2. Voters shall be notified by posting attested copies of the warrant at the Town Hall, Post Office, Police Station, and Engine House seven days at least before the day appointed for said meeting.

Section 3. Ten per cent. of the number of registered voters shall constitute a quorum for the transaction of business at any Town Meeting except such parts of meetings as are devoted exclusively to the election of Town Officers; and to balloting upon such matters as by law are required to be determined at such meeting; but a less number may organize and adjourn to some future time.

Section 4. The first business in order at each adjourned meeting shall be the reading of the records of the previous session by the Town Clerk, and he shall be prepared at all times to report the total amount of moneys appropriated.

Section 5. Whenever a vote is doubted and a return of the number voting is ordered, all persons for or against the question, when called on by the Moderator, shall rise in their places and stand until they are counted by tellers.

Section 6. When a question is under debate, until it is disposed of, no motion shall be received but to adjourn the meeting, for the previous question, to lay on the table, to commit, to recommit, to amend, to refer, or to postpone to a day certain, or to postpone indefinitely, which several motions shall have precedence in the order in which they are herein arranged.

Section 7. No person shall speak on the same subject more than twice, nor more than twenty minutes in all without the consent of the meeting.

Section 8. Every person speaking shall rise and stand uncovered; shall respectfully address the Moderator; shall confine himself to the question under debate and avoid all personalities.

Section 9. All motions shall be put in the order in which they are moved, unless the subsequent motion is previous in its nature; provided that in cases of amendment the largest sum or longest time proposed shall be put first.

Section 10. On motions to adjourn (except when the business of balloting is unfinished), to lay on the table, to take from the table, and for the previous question, not exceeding six minutes shall be allowed for debate, and no person shall speak on the motion more than two minutes.

Section 11. The previous question shall be put in the following form: "Shall the main question be now put?" and until this question is decided, all debate on the main question shall be suspended. Immediately after taking and adopting the previous question the sense of the meeting shall be taken upon any pending amendments in the order inverse of that in which they were moved, and finally upon the main question.

Section 12. No person speaking shall be interrupted except by a call to order.

Section 13. If an article of the warrant has once been acted upon and disposed of, it shall not be again considered at that meeting, except by a two-thirds vote.

Section 14. When the report of a committee is placed in the hands of the Moderator, it shall be deemed to be properly before the meeting for its action thereon. A vote to accept the report shall discharge the committee, but shall not be equivalent to a vote to carry out its recommendations without a special vote to adopt them.

Section 15. No report of any committee shall be in order unless made under an article in the warrant which indicates the subject matter to be reported upon.

Section 16. When any Town Meeting shall be adjourned, except from day to day, by reason of the regular business of the meeting being unfinished, the Town Clerk shall cause notices of the time and place of holding such adjourned meeting to be duly posted in the public places referred to in Article 1, Section 2. These notices shall also state briefly the business to come before such adjourned meeting, and shall include any notice of proposed reconsideration.

Section 17. No motion to dissolve a Town Meeting shall be in order until every article in the warrant therefor has been duly considered and acted upon, but this shall not preclude the postponement of action on, or consideration of, any article to an adjournment of the meeting to a stated time, or to a future regular or special meeting.

erwise directed by the meeting, and it shall be the duty of the member first named promptly to call the committee together for organization.

Section 19. The conduct of all Town Meetings, except as otherwise prescribed by law, or by the foregoing rules, shall be determined by the rules of practice contained in Cushing's Manual, so far as they are adapted to Town Meetings.

ARTICLE II.

Duties of Town Officers.

Section 1. The several boards of Town Officers shall, at the close of each fiscal year, prepare a report of all their doings, with a statement in detail of all their payments and expenditures, and all liabilities incurred by them, including all outstanding orders and claims against the Town, the valuation of all property of the Town in their hands or under their care, and all debt due the Town, and submit an estimate of the probable expenses of the Town for the ensuing year in their several departments.

Section 2. No Town Officer and no salaried employee of the Town, nor any agent of any such officer or employee, shall receive any compensation or commission for work done by him for the Town except his official salary and fees allowed by law, without the permission of the Selectmen expressed in a vote, which shall appear on their records with the reason therefor.

Section 3. All Town Officers, whether elected or appointed by the Selectmen, shall pay all money belonging to the Town, received by them in their respective departments, for the sale of property or from any other source whatsoever to the Town Treasurer, on or before the fifth day of each month.

Section 4. No board, committee nor officer having charge of any work, the payment of which is in any part to be voluntarily contributed by private parties, shall perform said work until a sum estimated by such board, committee or officer, to be sufficient to cover the payment of the portion of said work chargeable to such private citizens, has been deposited with the Town Treasurer.

Section 5. All bonds of Treasurers, Collectors, Constables, or other persons shall, except as otherwise herein provided, be safely kept and retained by such officers of the Town as the Selectmen shall designate, and shall not be surrendered or cancelled until their accounts are closed by the Town.

Section 6. All reports shall be in the hands of the Selectmen for printing not later than the fifteenth of January in each year.

ARTICLE III. Selectmen.

Section 1. Unless otherwise specially ordered by vote of the Town at a meeting called for the purpose, the Selectmen shall have full authority as agents of the Town to appear (either personally or by counsel) and defend suits brought against it. They shall consider all claims and suits made or brought against the Town, whether at law or in equity, and may settle the same; provided, however, that except as otherwise provided by law in no case shall a settlement be so made by payment of more than five hundred dollars ($500) without a vote of the Town. Except as authorized by statute or as below provided, the Selectmen shall have no authority to institute any proceedings in the name or in behalf of the Town unless authorized so to do by vote of the Town. They may institute and prosecute proceedings in equity for injunctive or similar relief, and in all such cases they shall promptly report their action to the Town at the next succeeding Town Meeting.

Section 2. All conveyances of land or interests in land which may hereafter be authorized by a vote of the Town or otherwise, except land held under tax titles, shall be signed by a majority of the Board of Selectmen, and by special vote of the Town and the same shall be sealed with the Town seal.

Section 3. The Selectmen after drawing a warrant for a Town Meeting shall immediately transmit a copy of the same to the Chairman of the Finance Committee.

Section 4. The Selectmen shall furnish, for the use of the voters at each Town Meeting, and at any adjournment thereof, printed copies of the warrant for the meeting.

Section 5. The Selectmen shall maintain some suitable place within a reasonable distance of the village, as a free dump, upon which the inhabitants of the Town shall have the right, under suitable regulations, to be made from time to time by the Selectmen, to deposit ashes, cinders, papers, tin cans and such other rubbish as may be permitted by the Selectmen, with the approval of the Board of Health. Said dump shall be under the care and supervision of the Selectmen.

Section 6. The Selectmen shall have the power to rent the Town Hall for any lawful purpose, provided, however, that at all times, such renting shall be subject to the use by the Town for Town purposes.

Section 7. The Selectmen may appear (either personally or by counsel) before any Court or any State or County Board or Commission, to protect the interests of the Town.

ARTICLE IV.

Town Clerk.

Section 1. The Town Clerk shall furnish all boards, committees and officers with a copy of all votes affecting them.

Section 2. He shall, as soon as practicable after any election has been held by the Town, in addition to the notices he is now required to give to officers who are required to take an oath of office, also issue a written or printed notice to all persons who have been elected to any other office, or chosen to serve on any other committee, stating the office to which such person has been elected, or the duties which such committee was chosen to perform.

Section 3. He shall see that every conveyance to the Town of any interest in land is properly recorded in the Registry of Deeds and he shall keep a true copy in a book, to be kept for such purposes alone, of all deeds, or conveyances executed by the Selectmen.

ARTICLE V.

Duties of the Town Treasurer and Collector.

Section 1. The Town Treasurer shall have the custody of all insurance policies belonging to the Town, and (save as otherwise ordered by the Selectmen) of all official bonds, except his own, which shall be in the custody of the Selectmen.

ARTICLE VI.

Finance Committee.

Section 1. There shall be a Finance Committee, consisting of nine legal voters of the Town, no one of whom shall be a Town Officer elected by ballot, or an appointed official receiving a salary. The members of this Committee shall serve without salary.

Section 2. The Finance Committee shall be appointed in the following manner: The Moderator elected at the annual Town Meeting in the year 1919 shall, as soon as these by-laws are adopted and approved, appoint one member for a term of one year, one for a term of two years, and one for a term of three years. The Board of Selectmen shall concurrently appoint two for one year, two for two years, two for three years. The Moderator elected at the annual meeting in each year thereafter shall in February of that year appoint one member of said Committee to serve for the term of three years. The Board of Selectmen shall concurrently appoint two for a term of three years.

Said Committee shall meet at the call of the Chairman of the Board of Selectmen for the purpose of original organization and choose its chairman and clerk. The Committee shall from time to time promptly fill by appointment any vacancies which occur in its membership, and each appointee shall serve for the remainder of his predecessor's term of office.

Section 3. It shall be the duty of this Committee to consider all matters of business calling for appropriations or expenditure of money or disposing of Town property included within the articles of any warrant for a Town Meeting hereafter issued, and it shall be the duty of the Selectmen after drawing a Town warrant to transmit immediately a copy of the same to the Chairman or Clerk of the Finance Committee, and the Committee shall after due consideration of the subject matter in said articles report thereon, prior to the meeting in question, and in print, information, recommendations and estimates, with reasons therefor. The Finance Committee may employ such expert and other assistance as the Committee may deem advisable.

ARTICLE VII.

Financial Matters in General.

Section 1. No bill, charge or account against the Town shall be paid without the approval in writing first being obtained of the person, board or committee authorized to contract the same.

Section 2. No contract involving the expenditure of a sum in excess of $500 shall be entered into by any board or officer of the Town, unless otherwise provided by law, until competitive bids therefor have been obtained either by invitation from at least three responsible bidders or by advertisement, and the contract awarded to the lowest responsible bidder who shall properly file the required bond. The term "responsible" shall be held to cover both the bidder's financial ability, his experience and reputation in the class of work involved, and his physical equipment properly to carry out the proposed work, and the board or officers in whose department the work is to be done and who is responsible to the Town therefor shall be the sole judge as to the bidder's responsibility hereunder.

Advertisements for such proposals shall be published in a newspaper having a circulation in Manchester and shall require that the proposals be sealed, properly addressed, and shall state the time and place of opening, which shall in all cases be public.

All such contracts shall be secured by a bond of a reputable surety company or two or more individuals resident within this Commonwealth, satisfactory to the board or officer acting for the Town, and shall be conditioned for the faithful performance of the work proposed. In lieu of filing a bond, security in form of cash, certified check or proper collateral may be accepted.

Nothing herein contained shall prevent the awarding of contracts without such advertising in cases requiring immediate attention or in the purchase of supplies, merchandise or materials of a special make or manufacture.

Section 3. All accounts of the Town shall be audited at the close of each fiscal year under the supervision of the Director of the Bureau of Statistics in accordance with the provisions of Chapter 706 of the Acts of 1913, and Acts in addition and amendment thereto.

ARTICLE VIII.

Duties of the Police Department.

Section 1. The Police Department shall consist of a Chief of Police, a Police Sergeant, and such number of Police Officers as the Board of Selectmen shall deem necessary.

Section 2. The Chief of Police shall have the care of the Police Station, shall have the care and custody of all property of the Town used by the Department, and shall keep a full and complete record of the business of the Department.

Section 3. The Chief of Police shall have power to temporarily relieve from duty any of his subordinates for neglect or non-performance of his duty, for any act contrary to good order and discipline, or for the violation of any of the rules and regulations of the Department. In such case, he shall, within forty-eight hours furnish to the Board of Selectmen in writing a statement of his reasons for relieving such subordinate from duty.

Section 4. The Sergeant of Police shall be under the immediate direction of the Chief of Police, shall assist him in his duties, and in his absence shall have and exercise all the powers and duties conferred and imposed upon the Chief of Police.

Section 5. It shall be the duty of each

Police Officer to immediately report to the Chief of Police any accidents happening while he is patrolled by him, involving persons or property. He may possibly involve himself in a careless investigation of the names and addresses of persons thereto and incorporate in his report to the Chief of Police a report thereof.

Section 6. The Chief of Police and each of their time to the Town as they shall be compensated by the Board of Selectmen shall be paid by the Town actually rendered.

Water.

Section 1. Water and Sewer Commission annually, on or before the first of January, present to the Board of Selectmen a report made up to and that day of December 31st of the year ending on said date, containing a statement of the Water and Sewer Commission, and any suggestion which they report.

Section 2. The Board of Selectmen shall semi-annually to property owners for these bills shall be due respectively on June 1st and 1st, and shall be paid by the owner, and if not paid by the owner, shall be collected in and brought in the name of the owner.

Section 3. The Board of Selectmen shall have the right to make all meter repairs.

The owner shall be liable for the damage resulting from the failure of the owner to keep all pipes and fixtures in repair.

The owner shall avoid all unnecessary waste; and the water must in no case be left running to prevent freezing, or for other purposes, without the permission of the Water Commissioners or their duly authorized agent.

Section 12. Stricken out as per vote at Special Town Meeting held on December 18, 1919.

Section 13. Owners of premises will be held responsible for the water rates of their tenants.

Section 14. The Water Commissioners, or their agent, shall have free access to all premises supplied with water, and to ascertain the quantity of water used; and all pipes shall be subject to re-maintenance by said Board if considered unsuitable for the purpose.

Section 15. The Commissioners shall have the right in any or all cases to install meters for the purpose of measuring the quantity of water used; to restrict the use of hose or fountains, to shut off the water whenever it becomes necessary in order to make extensions or repairs, and to shut it off for violation of any of the rules or regulations of the Department or of any provision of these by-laws. When the supply is shut off for such violation, the water shall not be turned on again except on a new written application.

Section 16. Water will not be turned on any new service until all charges for service piping are paid.

Section 17. No person shall be allowed to disconnect or to connect a meter or to make any repairs on any meter, except the employees of the Water Department. All meters are Town property, and to be in charge of the Commissioners at all times.

Section 7. If any person shall open a hydrant or lift or remove the cover thereof or make any opening or connection with any pipe or reservoir, or turn on or turn off the water from any pipe, fountain, reservoir, hydrant or drinking trough, except in case of fire or by authority of the Commissioners or their agent, he shall be liable to a penalty of not more than Twenty Dollars.

Section 8. No water shall be supplied to parties who are not entitled to its use, unless by written permit of the Commissioners.

Section 9. Upon any violation of the provisions of this Article, the water shall immediately be shut off from the building or place where such violation occurred, unless the Commissioners, after investigation, decide that the interests of the Town and the accomplishment of justice do not require such action.

Section 10. All persons taking water shall keep in order the service pipe within their premises and be liable for all damages resulting from their failure to do so.

Section 11. All property owners using water must furnish internal pipes, connections and all fixtures; and must keep them in good repair and protect them from frost at their own expense, including the meter; the Town reserves the right to make all meter repairs.

The owner shall be liable for the damage resulting from the failure of the owner to keep all pipes and fixtures in repair.

The owner shall avoid all unnecessary waste; and the water must in no case be left running to prevent freezing, or for other purposes, without the permission of the Water Commissioners or their duly authorized agent.

Section 12. Stricken out as per vote at Special Town Meeting held on December 18, 1919.

Section 13. Owners of premises will be held responsible for the water rates of their tenants.

Section 14. The Water Commissioners, or their agent, shall have free access to all premises supplied with water, and to ascertain the quantity of water used; and all pipes shall be subject to re-maintenance by said Board if considered unsuitable for the purpose.

Section 15. The Commissioners shall have the right in any or all cases to install meters for the purpose of measuring the quantity of water used; to restrict the use of hose or fountains, to shut off the water whenever it becomes necessary in order to make extensions or repairs, and to shut it off for violation of any of the rules or regulations of the Department or of any provision of these by-laws. When the supply is shut off for such violation, the water shall not be turned on again except on a new written application.

Section 16. Water will not be turned on any new service until all charges for service piping are paid.

Section 17. No person shall be allowed to disconnect or to connect a meter or to make any repairs on any meter, except the employees of the Water Department. All meters are Town property, and to be in charge of the Commissioners at all times.

Section 16. Water will not be turned on any new service until all charges for service piping are paid.

Section 17. No person shall be allowed to disconnect or to connect a meter or to make any repairs on any meter, except the employees of the Water Department. All meters are Town property, and to be in charge of the Commissioners at all times.

ARTICLE X.

Hawkers and Peddlers.

Section 1. No person shall go about from place to place within this town, carrying or exposing for sale or barter any fruits, fish, or vegetables in or from any cart, wagon or other vehicle, or in any other manner, without a license therefor from the Board of Selectmen provided, however, that this section shall not apply to any person who sells only fruit or vegetables or other farm products raised or produced by himself or family, or fish which is obtained by his own labor or the labor of his family.

Section 2. The Board of Selectmen shall have authority to grant such license to any person of good repute for morals and integrity who is, or has, declared his intentions to become a citizen of the United States. Said licenses, unless sooner revoked by the Board of Selectmen, shall expire one year after the granting thereof, and each person so licensed shall pay therefor a fee of Eight Dollars.

Section 3. No hawker or pedler shall sell, or offer for sale, or expose for sale, any of the articles enumerated in Section 15 of Chapter 65 of the Revised Laws, or in any acts in amendment thereof or in addition thereto, until he has recorded his name and residence with the Board of Health, or such other board or officer as may be designated by the Selectmen. Every person licensed under the provisions of the preceding section as a hawker or pedler of fruits and vegetables shall record his name and residence in like manner with such board or officer.

Section 4. No person hawking, peddling, or carrying or exposing for sale any of the articles enumerated in Section 15 of Chapter 65 of the Revised Laws and acts in amendment thereof and in addition thereto, shall cry his wares to the disturbance of the peace and comfort of the inhabitants of the Town, nor shall carry or convey such articles otherwise than in vehicles and receptacles which are neat and clean and do not leak.

Section 5. Every hawker and pedler licensed by the Board of Selectmen shall be assigned a number and shall be provided by the Board of Health with a badge, which shall be conspicuously worn by him; and every other such hawker and pedler as described in Section 3 shall provide himself with a badge, of such type and design as may be approved by said Board of Health which he shall wear in like manner. Whoever neglects to wear, or wears such badge without authority, shall be punished by the penalty provided in Section 10 of this by-law.

Section 6. Every vehicle or other receptacle used by a person licensed under this by-law as a conveyance for articles offered or exposed for sale by him shall have attached thereto on each side a number plate, to be furnished by the Town with his license bearing the number and date of expiration of such license.

Section 7. No person shall be registered or assigned a badge or number under the provisions of Sections 3 and 5 of these by-laws, until he presents a certificate from the Sealer of Weights and Measures stating or otherwise satisfies the Selectmen that all weighing and measuring devices intended to be used by such person have been duly inspected and sealed as required by law. The use of, or possession by such person with intent to use, any false or unsealed weighing or measuring devices shall be sufficient cause for the revocation of his license, or the cancellation of his registration.

Section 8. Nothing in these by-laws shall be construed as conflicting with any license issued under the authority of the Commonwealth.

Section 9. Any license granted under these by-laws or any by-law amendatory or additional thereto may be revoked by the Board granting the same.

Section 10. Whoever violates any provision of these by-laws shall be punished by a fine not exceeding Twenty Dollars for each offence.

ARTICLE XI.

Junk Dealers.

Section 1. The Selectmen may license suitable persons to be dealers in and keepers of shops for the purchase, sale or barter of junk, old metals or second-hand articles, subject to the provisions of the laws of this Commonwealth.

ARTICLE XII.

Junk Collectors.

Section 1. The Selectmen may license suitable persons as junk collectors to collect, by purchase or otherwise, junk, old metals and second-hand articles from place to place in the Town, subject to the provisions of the laws of this Commonwealth.

ARTICLE XIII.

Hackney Carriages and Motor Vehicles and Traffic Rules.

Section 1. The Board of Selectmen may license suitable persons to set up and use hackney carriages for the conveyance of passengers for hire within the Town of Manchester, and may revoke said licenses at pleasure. Each person engaged in the business of conveying passengers for hire within the Town, by means of a hackney carriage as herein defined, shall take such number of hackney licenses as shall equal the greatest number of such vehicles to be used at any one time, by said person, during the year for which the license is issued. Any horse-drawn or motor vehicle regularly or commonly used for the conveyance of persons for hire within said Town (except a jitney, a trackless trolley vehicle and a motor vehicle running on tracks or rails) shall be deemed a hackney carriage. Any motor vehicle (except a trackless trolley vehicle, so-called) not running on tracks or rails, regularly or commonly used for the transportation of passengers for hire between fixed and regular termini, shall be deemed a jitney.

Section 2. No person having charge of, or driving or operating any hackney carriage shall, knowingly, receive or permit to be placed therein or convey in or upon the same, any person sick with any contagious disease without subsequently, and before the occupancy or conveyance of other persons, having such conveyance properly fumigated to the satisfaction of the Board of Health.

Section 3. When a horse drawn vehicle is backed up to the curb, the horse or horses shall be turned so as to stand parallel with the sidewalk, and headed toward the right hand.

Section 4. No person, other than the holder of a license issued under the provisions of this or the next following Article, his agents or employees, shall solicit passengers for hire in any public way or place within the Town.

Every licensee shall affix to and maintain upon each licensed vehicle set up, used or driven by or for him, a card or plate bearing in plain and conspicuous letters his name and license number.

Section 5. All licenses granted as aforesaid shall expire on the first day of May next after the date thereof, and may be revoked at the pleasure of the Board of Selectmen. No license granted under this Article shall be sold, assigned or transferred.

Section 6. The Clerk of the Board of Selectmen shall notify the Town Clerk of all licenses granted under the provisions of this Article, and the Town Clerk shall sign and issue the same on payment of the fee prescribed.

Section 7. The fee for a license under the provisions of this Article shall be Fifty Cents, payable to the Town Clerk for the use of the Town.

ARTICLE XIV.

Relative to the Operation of Jitneys

Section 1. No person, firm or corporation shall operate a jitney as defined in Section 1 of Article XIII of these by-laws for the transportation for hire of passengers within, out of or into the Town of Manchester unless the owner thereof shall first have obtained license therefor in accordance with the provisions of this Article.

Section 2. All licenses under this Article shall be issued by the Board of Selectmen, and may be revoked by the Board for a violation of any provision hereof, or for any other good cause. Said licenses shall expire on the first day of May in each year; and none shall be sold, assigned or transferred.

Section 3. No license shall be issued unless the person, partnership or corporation owning the jitney or jitneys shall have filed with the Town Clerk a petition addressed to the Board of Selectmen, setting forth the name, age and residence of the applicant (and of each of them, if more than one), and also of each person intended to be employed to drive the vehicles. In no event shall any applicant, driver or employee be less than twenty-one years of age. The petition shall also contain a statement of the experience of each applicant and of each proposed driver in the operation of motor-driven vehicles. No jitney may be driven except by persons named for the purpose in the petition and approved by the Selectmen. The petition shall state also the make, year, model and number of each jitney to be used, the seating capacity thereof, the termini between which, the time schedule of proposed service, and the routes on which the jitney or jitneys concerned are to be operated, and shall be accompanied by at least three references, each signed by one or more citizens of the Town of Manchester. All statements in a petition shall be verified by the oath of the person or persons signing the petition. In the case of a petition by a corporation, the same shall be sworn to by the President and Treasurer thereof respectively, and it shall set forth the names of all the officers and directors of the corporation.

Section 4. No driver or employee of any jitney licensed hereunder shall be less than twenty-one years of age. If the service of any driver or employee mentioned in an application under Section 3 shall terminate, the owner of the jitney before employing a successor shall notify the Selectmen directly, or through the Town Clerk, of the name, age, residence and experience of the intended successor.

Section 5. Every motor vehicle licensed under this Article shall have posted in a conspicuous place on the outside of said vehicle the name of the owner and license number, and also a sign indicating the termini and route of said vehicle and the fare to be charged therefor. There shall be kept at all times in said vehicle a copy of the schedule of service at the time in force and the license issued under the provisions of these sections which shall be shown to any police officer or other person having authority from the Board of Selectmen to examine said license on request.

Section 6. It shall be unlawful for any motor vehicle licensed hereunder to be operated on any other route, or between any other termini than those stated in the license except in cases of accident, break-down or other controlling emergency, nor to turn around before reaching the termini of the route. Nothing in this section nor elsewhere in this Article contained shall be construed to prohibit the operation, in addition to the service described in the schedule on file and in effect at the time, of special or extra trips over said route or portions thereof, and between said termini or points between the same during certain hours, or on special occasions.

Section 7. The license shall state the seating capacity of the pertinent vehicle, and no such vehicle shall carry at any time a greater number of passengers than the number so stated in said license, provided, however, that in addition to the number of passengers specified in the license the vehicle may carry children under seven years of age, in arms, or sitting on the laps of adult persons accompanying them, but no passenger with a child in arms, or sitting on the lap, shall be permitted on any front seat of the vehicle. No person owning, driving or in charge of a jitney shall suffer or permit any person to stand inside or to stand or sit upon any running board, steps, fender, dash or hood thereof, nor outside the body thereof.

Section 8. The licensee shall not reconstruct, materially modify, nor add to the body or seating arrangements of any jitney after the license therefor is issued without first applying for and receiving the consent of the Board of Selectmen.

Section 9. A licensee may change the schedule of proposed service by giving three days' prior notice in writing to the Selectmen, stating the changes and specifying the intended service thereafter to be in force.

Section 10. No person operating any jitney hereunder shall refuse to carry a person offering himself or herself at any regular stopping place for carriage unless the seats of such vehicle are fully occupied, nor unless such person is in an intoxicated condition or conducting himself in a boisterous or disorderly manner, or using profane language.

Section 11. Any jitney operated hereunder shall be adequately lighted on the inside between sunset and sunrise, and any such jitney with a seating capacity of more than seven passengers shall come to a full stop before crossing the tracks of any railroad at grade.

Section 12. Any jitney licensed hereunder shall be equipped with lights and horn, or other warning device as provided by law, also with some standard speedometer in good working order, and with a liquid fire extinguisher of some efficient type, all to be kept in satisfactory operating condition at all times. When leaving either terminus every such jitney shall be equipped with at least one extra serviceable tire in good condition. It shall at all times also carry and maintain in good working order a set of skid chains, and these shall be applied to the rear wheels when such vehicle is operated in any street or public place where there is snow or ice, or during other weather conditions when the application of such chains is necessary to prevent skidding.

Section 13. Every licensee shall immediately report fully in writing to the Selectmen the time and place and cause of any fatal accident, or any injury to a passenger or other person, or any accident which results in substantial property damage in which any jitney licensed hereunder is involved.

Section 14. For each licensed jitney the licensee shall pay a fee of five dollars to the Town Treasurer.

Section 15. No jitney license issued by the Board of Selectmen shall be operative until the licensee shall have filed a bond with the Town Treasurer in accordance with the provisions of Chapter 293 of the General Acts of 1916.

(a) For a license covering a motor vehicle or vehicles with a total seating capacity of ten passengers or less, Two Thousand Dollars.

(b) For a license covering a motor vehicle or vehicles with a total seating capacity of more than ten but not more than fifteen passengers, Three Thousand Dollars.

(c) For a license covering a motor vehicle or vehicles with a total seating capacity of more than fifteen but not more than thirty passengers, Four Thousand Dollars.

(d) For a license covering a motor vehicle or vehicles with a total seating capacity of over thirty passengers, Five Thousand Dollars.

Section 16. Vehicles must stop so as not to interfere with, or prevent the passage of pedestrians at crossings, and at all times drivers of vehicles must stop the same on signal from a police officer.

Section 17. No person having charge of any vehicle shall place the same in any public street so as to prevent or obstruct the passing of other vehicles, unless for a reasonable time, not exceeding five minutes.

Section 18. Whoever violates any provision of the preceding sections shall be liable to a fine of not more than Twenty Dollars.

ARTICLE XV.

Streets and Sidewalks.

Section 1. Except as otherwise provided or permitted by law no person shall erect, set up, or maintain any permanent structure extending or projecting over or upon any sidewalk, street or highway.

Section 2. No person other than a Town agent shall place or cause to be placed on any public sidewalk, street or highway, or upon any of the common lands of the Town, any gravel, dirt, wood, lumber, buildings, carriages, boxes, barrels, stones, coal or any rubbish, or other things and suffer the same to remain thereon for more than one hour after being notified by a police officer to remove the same.

Section 3. No person by himself or his agents or servants shall distribute or place in or upon any street, square, park, common, lane, alleyway or other public places any placard, handbill, flyer, poster, advertisement or paper of any description unless having first received a permit from the Board of Selectmen or Chief of Police.

Section 4. No person shall suffer any horse or grazing beasts or swine to run at large in the Town or feed within the limits of the highway either with or without a keeper.

Section 5. No person shall throw stones, snow balls, sticks or other missiles or kick football or play at any game in which a ball is used, or fly kites or balloons, or shoot with or use an air gun, bow and arrow, slingshot or other similar devices in or across any public ways or common of the Town.

Section 6. No person shall wilfully or negligently obstruct the free passage of foot travellers on any sidewalk nor shall any person loaf upon any sidewalk or on any street or public way of the Town.

Section 7. No person shall coast upon or across any sidewalk, street or highway, except at such times and in such places as may from time to time be designated by the Selectmen.

Section 8. No person shall knowingly suffer or permit any water or other liquid substance to run or be discharged from any building owned by him or under his control onto or across any curbed or finished sidewalk, except that any person may wash, with water from hose or pipe, windows or other parts of a building, on private property, without endangering the public safety.

Section 9. No person shall fire or discharge any gun, pistol or other fire arms in or across any of the streets or public places in the Town, but this section shall not prevent the use of such weapons in the lawful defence of one's person, family or property, nor in the performance of any duty required or authorized by law.

Section 10. No person shall throw or cause to be thrown or placed upon any sidewalk, street or highway of the Town any nails, spikes, screws, glass, tin cans or other similar articles.

Section 11. No person shall throw or place upon any sidewalk or street crossing any banana skin, orange skin or other slippery substance.

Section 12. No person shall suffer a platform or grate or opening to a cellar or basement in any street or sidewalk to rise above the surface of the same, and every such entrance or opening shall be at all times covered by a suitable grating or covering.

Section 13. No owner or person having the care of any building abutting upon any brick, concrete or other curbed or finished sidewalk, the roof of which building slants towards the sidewalk, shall permit the building to be without a barrier, snow guard or other device to prevent the falling of snow or ice from such roof to the sidewalk.

Section 14. No person shall ride, drive or cause to be driven any horse or vehicle over that part of any street or way which is being mended, repaired or paved, if a sign is posted prohibiting the same.

Section 15. All petitions from persons or corporations for permission to erect poles in the public ways shall state therein an accurate description of the location prayed for and be accompanied by proper plans defining the same, together with the location of all buildings adjacent to the highway, all poles then standing on the way with the ownership thereof and all shade trees and hydrants, all within a space of three hundred feet of the location desired in either direction of said way.

Section 16. Any person violating any of the provisions of this Article shall be liable to a fine of not more than Ten Dollars, unless otherwise especially provided.

Section 17. The word "vehicle" as used in this Article shall include every description of carriage or other artificial contrivance used or capable of being used as a means of transportation on land, except as otherwise provided herein or by law.

ARTICLE XVI.

Amendments and Repeal.

Section 1. These by-laws may be amended at any Town Meeting, an article or articles for that purpose having been inserted in the warrant for such meeting; and any such amendment shall become effective when approved by the Attorney General and published as required by law.

Section 2. Upon approval by the Attorney General of these by-laws, or any portion thereof, and the completion thereafter of publication as required by law of such whole or part, all previous by-laws of the Town of Manchester shall be, and the same hereby, are, repealed.

I hereby certify that the foregoing By-Laws were adopted by the voters of Manchester at a Special Town Meeting held on December 18, 1919.

LYMAN W. FLOYD,
Town Clerk.

Dec. 19, 1919.

The foregoing By-Laws are hereby approved.

HENRY A. WYMAN,
Attorney General.

DEATH IN VERMONT OF FORMER MANCHESTER MAN

The body of the late John Fritz was brought to Manchester Tuesday for funeral service and burial from East Dorset, Vt., where he had been for about a month. Mr. Fritz was engaged in painting scenery for a local talent entertainment to be given at East Dorset, and was taken ill with bronchial pneumonia, passing away after a brief illness.

He was born in Gloucester, Jan. 20, 1867. A large portion of his boyhood days was spent in Manchester, being brought up in the section of the town known as North Yarmouth. In early life he became interested in theatrical matters and followed that line of work. Mr. Fritz left town about 20 years ago, returning occasionally to visit relatives.

Mr. Fritz is survived by two brothers, Charles Fritz, of Manchester, and F. A. Fritz, of Hayward, Cal.; sister, Mrs. D. A. Mitchell, of Gloucester, and daughter, Florence, now starring in Boston in "The Passing Show."

Funeral services were held Wednesday afternoon from the home of his brother, Charles W. Fritz, of Summer st. Rev. H. E. Levoy, pastor of the Baptist church, officiated. The bearers were his four nephews, Lewis Fritz and Charles Fritz, of Manchester; Willard Mitchell, of Gloucester, and William Roberts, of Brooklyn, N. Y. Burial was in the family lot at Rosedale cemetery, Manchester.

The pitch tournament started in Manchester last Monday evening with considerable enthusiasm and interest. The four local orders of Odd Fellows, Red Men, Sons of Veterans and American Legion were represented by their full quotas of players and substitutes. The games were played in the rooms of the Manchester Launch club, over the police station.

Results of the first contest are as follows: Odd Fellows 18, Red Men 17, Sons of Veterans 13, American Legion 12. It will be seen that the Odd Fellows are in first place, but so narrow is the margin—only one point—that the Red Men may easily overcome that slight handicap at the next opportunity.

While first and second places are separated by a single point, so also are third and fourth. The Sons of Veterans have just a shade the better of the American Legion as shown by the first game.

The series will be continued next Monday evening at 8 o'clock, the lineup being as follows: Legion No. 1 vs. Red Men No. 1; I. O. O. F. No. 1 vs. S. of V. No. 1; Legion No. 2 vs. S. of V. No. 2; Red Men No. 2 vs. I. O. O. F. No. 2; Legion No. 3 vs. I. O. O. F. No. 3; Red Men No. 3 vs. S. of V. No. 3.

Selectman and Mrs. Samuel L. Wheaton arrived home last Friday from their trip to New York city.

George L. Knight has been confined to the house for several days with an attack of rheumatism.

Rev. Frederic W. Manning, pastor of the Congl. church, went to Boston Tuesday to the eye and ear infirmary for treatment.

Rev. A. G. Warner, a former pastor of the Baptist church in this town, and now from Lowell, was here Tuesday visiting friends.

Rev. H. E. Levoy, pastor of the Baptist church, was called to Warner, N. H., Saturday, to officiate at the funeral of a former parishioner.

In probate court this week a letter of administration was granted on estate of Joseph A. Torrey, of Manchester, Charles L. Norton, of Newton, administrator.

Albert Richardson, of Salem, was here last Friday for a farewell visit with relatives before leaving on a several months' business trip through Canada and the west.

The Arbella club will meet Tuesday, Jan. 13, at 4 o'clock. Dr. Cummings will give a talk on the care of the hair and skin. It is hoped that every member will be present.

The Board of Overseers of the Poor made their annual inventory of the almshouse Wednesday. They were treated to a fine turkey dinner by the matroness, Mrs. Paige.

Roy C. Linnekin, of the class of 1920, Phillips Exeter academy, who has been spending the holidays with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Archie Linnekin, Bennett st., has returned to school for the winter term.

Mrs. Elizabeth Meyle, who has been making her home with her son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Beaton, School st., has gone to Walnut Ridge, Arkansas, for a visit of several months with Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Murray. Mr. Murray and Mr. Beaton were constant companions during their service in the army, and each attended the other at their respective weddings since leaving the service.

At their meeting Wednesday evening of Conomo tribe of Red Men, the Chief's degree was worked on one candidate, by Chief of Degree Harry S. Tappan and suite. The local tribe has the name of having one of the best Chief's degree teams among the smaller tribes anywhere around. Mr. Tappan puts a great deal of energy into making the work above par. A supper was served after the business session. Visitors were present from Peabody.

BROTHERHOOD MEETING

A. G. CATHERON, PROBATION OFFICER, GIVES ADDRESS

The monthly meeting of the Manchester Brotherhood was held Monday evening in the vestry of the Baptist church, and was well attended by men of the town. Edwin Mulready, commissioner of labor in Massachusetts, who was to have addressed the meeting, was unable to be present. A. G. Catheron, of Beverly, probation officer for Suffolk county, was secured late in the afternoon and the meeting was held as scheduled.

Mr. Catheron gave a most interesting talk dealing with changes which have taken place in the handling of criminals within the past few hundred years. "Massachusetts is the home of the probation law," said Mr. Catheron. "The first statute was placed on the law books in 1878 and since then her example has been copied in nearly every state in the United States and also in Europe."

Interesting incidents of probationers, who were drug addicts, forgerers, or who had been taken for auto larceny, were related by the speaker. During the past year there were 150 different causes of criminals who were placed on probation.

Among other incidents he spoke of one case which had come to his attention of a woman who was to be placed on probation. In talking with Mr. Catheron the woman assured him that she had an absolutely clean court record, never having been arrested previous to the time he was mentioning. Investigation of her history proved that she had been before the court about fifty times.

"About 70 percent of probationers 'make good,' justifying the confidence placed in them by the court," said Mr. Catheron. He stated that an effort was now being made to try to understand the criminal's motives, his ideas and past life before sentence was passed by the court.

It was the opinion of the speaker that every probation officer has many more cases than he can handle to the best advantage, and he suggested that the voters should be aroused to the need of appropriating more money for this department, arguing that it is cheaper to place a man on probation than to pay his expenses while in jail. Also, it is better for the Commonwealth, for in this way a man is not branded as a criminal and has a better chance of reforming. Society is benefitted when a criminal career is checked and the life turned into channels of usefulness.

At the close of Mr. Catheron's address he was asked several questions in regard to the work of his department, and given a rising vote of thanks for his most instructive lecture.

Refreshments were served by a committee from the Brotherhood.

Mr. Mulready will probably be the speaker at the next meeting of the Brotherhood, Monday evening, Feb. 2.

Following the meeting a fine oyster stew was served by a committee from the lodge, and a general social hour was enjoyed by the members and visitors, with Henry Hoare presiding at the organ.

MANCHESTER CHURCHES

The Ladies' Social circle will meet next Wednesday with Mrs. Lyman W. Floyd, Central sq.

Prayer services are being held at the Baptist church this week. The series commenced on Tuesday night and will conclude Saturday night.

Charles H. Fleming, of Montserrat, gave a very interesting talk Sunday at the Baptist church, Manchester. Mr. Fleming spoke of his experiences while in France in the Y. M. C. A. service. Rev. Mr. Levoy had been called to Warner, N. H., and was not able to preach Sunday morning.

The service Sunday evening at the Congl. church was particularly interesting. A special musical program was presented by Clayton Cunningham, violinist; A. Foster Collins, cellist; Miss Jessie Hoare, organist, and Roland Decker, soloist. There were trios for the organ, violin and cello, solos, and vocal numbers.

Last Sunday afternoon at 2.30 o'clock, at the Sacred Heart church, Manchester, was held a union service for the district of Gloucester. Rev. F. W. Kilev delivered the sermon. Holy Name societies from the following parishes were in attendance: St. Ann's and Our Lady of Good Voyage, Gloucester; St. Joachim's, Rockport, and Sacred Heart, Manchester.

James Gray and family will move from the Lomasney house on Vine st. to the Webb cottage on School st., which Mr. Gray is buying.

VITAL STATISTICS

34 BIRTHS, 23 MARRIAGES AND 42 DEATHS IN MANCHESTER IN 1919

The vital statistics for the year 1919 are published in today's issue of the BREEZE and form an interesting study. The tables show that during the past year there were 34 births in the town of Manchester; in 1918 the total was 54, and in 1917 the number was 60. This gradual decline may be credited to H. C. L., perhaps, for lack of a better reason. Of the 34 births, 15 were males and 19 females.

Twenty-three marriages were recorded for the past year, a gain of five over the 1918 total and a loss of 14 over the 1917 record. There were eight marriages solemnized in Manchester and 15 elsewhere.

It is interesting to note that during 1919 there were 10 deaths less than in 1918 and two less than in 1917. The total number of deaths was 42, of which over half had reached the age of 70 years or over; one was 92 years of age, three near the 90 mark and three were infants. This speaks well for Manchester as being a healthy place in which to live.

PUBLIC INVITED TO LECTURE AT HORTICULTURAL HALL

On Friday evening of next week, Jan. 16, E. W. Babson, M. D. V., of Gloucester, will give a lecture on "Community Milk Problems," at Horticultural hall, Manchester, at 7.30 o'clock. This is such a vital question, it is urged that the public take advantage of the opportunity of hearing an expert's views on the question of milk, by attending the lecture. An opportunity will be given to ask questions, and obtain information from Dr. Babson.

MINSTREL SHOW ON FEB. 12-13

It has been definitely decided that the Manchester club minstrel show will be held in Horticultural hall on Thursday and Friday evenings, Feb. 12 and 13. All seats will be reserved and will go on sale at the hall on Monday, Feb. 2.

Another rehearsal will be held at the club rooms tonight.

AMERICAN LEGION NOTES

In connection with the joint installation ceremonies Friday night of the Manchester patriotic societies, there will be a presentation from the G. A. R. post and the S. of V. camp to the American Legion, of a flag.

All Legion members are invited to participate in the supper Friday evening from 5.30 to 6 o'clock at the G. A. R. hall. It is important that all members be at that hall in uniform at 6.45 o'clock to march to the Town hall.

Frank B. Amaral post, A. L., is arranging to hold a dance in the Town hall, Manchester, on Friday evening, Jan. 30. Remember the date and make plans to attend.

In order to increase the funds in the post treasury there will be a motion picture entertainment, Tuesday evening, Feb. 10, in Horticultural hall, under the auspices and for the benefit of the local post. The feature entitled "America's Answer," will be the chief attraction. Further announcement will appear later.

At the next regular meeting, Wednesday, Jan. 21, there will be a whist tournament with prizes.

The Gertrude Shop on School st. will be open only as a summer shop henceforth. A new shop, bearing the same name, is being opened at 665 Boylston st., and will be the headquarters of this unique business.

MAGNOLIA

The usual service will be held in the Village church Sunday at 10.45 a. m. Sunday school meets at 11.45 a. m.

Rose Nelson returned to Smith college Tuesday after spending the holiday vacation with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Nicholas Nelson.

Victor Nelson, a son of Mr. and Mrs. Nicholas Nelson, of Western ave., has a good position in the chemical department of the Russia Cement Co., Gloucester.

The Misses Rose Harding, of New York city, and Lillian A. Smith, of Boston, who were guests of Mr. and Mrs. D. C. Ballou last week, left for their respective homes Sunday.

Dr. Eaton occupied the pulpit of the Manchester Baptist church last Sunday evening in absence of the pastor, who was called away to officiate at the funeral of an old friend and parishioner in a former parish.

Mrs. Frank H. Davis has been quite ill at her home on Magnolia ave., since Christmas, and though somewhat better, yet she is still confined to her sick chamber, being cared for by her sister, Mrs. Ralph Gardner.

D. C. Ballou, our local contractor, is rushed with business these days, and the open winter thus far has been most favorable to him in filling his many contracts. Recently he was awarded the contract for the new vault at the Cape Ann Savings bank, Gloucester.

ANNUAL MEETING OF VILLAGE CHURCH

The annual church meeting of the Village church was held in the church Wednesday evening at 7 o'clock. After refreshments had been served by a committee of the ladies, the members were called to order by their moderator and clerk, Ernest C. Lucas. Prayer was offered by the pastor and reports of an encouraging nature were read by the clerk, treasurer, and pastor. The following officers and committees were elected for the ensuing year: Moderator and clerk, Ernest C. Lucas; treasurer, Willard R. Boyd; assistant treasurer, Mrs. Fred S. Lycett; deacon, Willard R. Boyd; assistant deacons, Charles Hoysradt; deaconess, Mrs. F. F. Story; superintendent of the Sunday school, Edna G. Symonds; assistant superintendents, Mrs. F. S. Lycett and Abbie May; standing committee, Jonathan May, Mrs. W. R. Boyd and Mrs. L. Hunt; organist, Edna G. Symonds.

In his report the pastor, among other things, spoke of the great loss that this little church has sustained during the past year in the death of Mrs. Rebecca McM. Colfelt, who, for many years, made possible, by her most generous annual gift, the "People's Forum;" and of George A. Upton, who for years has been its largest contributor and its wise advisor and cotinseleor, and whose interest in the Village church is further seen by his leaving to it $16,666.

The pastor also said that while the church has met with great losses during the past year, yet it has gained some new paying as well as praying friends among the summer people. The outlook, therefore, for the Village church is by no means as discouraging as one might imagine from the great losses it has recently had.

FREE SEEDS NOW AVAILABLE TO FARMERS

Congressman W. W. Lufkin, of the 6th Massachusetts district, announced Monday that he had been advised by the Department of Agriculture that the usual amount of Grimm Alfalfa, Field Peas and Soybean seeds has been placed at his disposal for distribution among the people of the 6th district. These seeds are for testing purposes.

Any farmer, or any person in the 6th district can secure a package of these seeds by writing to W. W. Lufkin, House of Representatives, Washington, D. C. The seeds will be distributed as long as the supply lasts.

CENTENARIES IN 1920

FLORENCE NIGHTINGALE, HERBERT SPENCER AND GEN. SHERMAN

The list of important centenaries of the coming year includes the names of a number of women who, in their lifetime, figured conspicuously in the world's annals. Among them were: Susan B. Anthoy, Jean Ingelow, Alice Cary and Florence Nightingale.

Here are some of the notables, men and women, who were born in 1820—100 years ago:

Feb. 8—Wm. T. Sherman, Union general of the Civil War.

Feb. 15 — Susan B. Anthony, suffragette.

Feb. 20—Elisha K. Kane, Arctic explorer.

Mar. 14—Victor Emmanuel I., King of Italy.

Mar. 17—Jean Ingelow, British poet.

Mar. 24—Alexandre E. Becquerel, French physicist.

Mar. 24—Fanny Crosby (von Alstyne), hymn writer.

Apr. 4—Chas. Devens, Union general in Civil War.

Apr. 26—Alice Cary, author.

Apr. 27—Herbert Spencer, British philosopher.

May 15 — Florence Nightingale, British nurse.

May 23—James B. Eads, engineer.

Aug. 2—John Tyndall, British philosopher.

Others born in 1820 were Anne Bronte, the British author (in Mar.), and Laura Keane, British actress.—Boston Globe.

Mr. and Mrs. John Connors, of the Luke estate, are rejoicing over the advent of a son, born on Tuesday of last week.

Patrick Brady and family have closed their home at Pride's Crossing for the winter. They are to live at the Greeley estate, on Ober st.

James Connolly, of Everett st., returned to school, at St. John's Danvers, last Monday. He has, because of illness, been out the past month.

The public whist parties which are being conducted by Preston W. R. corps in G. A. R. hall, for the purpose of raising money to purchase a flag for the local American Legion, are proving very popular and each week the attendance is increasing. There is to be another next Monday evening.

Miss Jane M. Watson, a former well-known Beverly Farms resident, is reported to be ill at her home in Salem. For a number of years Miss Watson has been one of the officials for the Associated Charities at Salem and her interest and good work in helping the unfortunate has made her a host of new friends.

Dr. and Mrs. Edward T. McGourty, formerly of Beverly and well-known at Beverly Farms, are now located at 1321 West 4th st., Los Angeles, Cal. Dr. McGourty, since settling at Los Angeles, has been appointed a dentist physician for one of the large public schools of that city; also for one of the large parochial schools. Besides these duties he is having some private practice.

After conducting a harness and supply store at Beverly Farms many years, James A. Culbert has closed his shop on Hale st., probably permanently. He has a store in Manchester, where he is obliged to devote most of his time. Mr. Culbert has been obliged to hire a man to stay at the Beverly Farms store. Conditions are such at present that it did not pay him sufficiently to continue the arrangement. It is Mr. Culbert's intention to look after the needs of his customers in this vicinity as in the past, but will do so from the Manchester store.

IMPORTANT SERVICE AT ST. JOHN'S CHURCH

Rev. Neilson Poe Carey, the rector of St. John's church, Beverly Farms, has sent out the following notice to the people of the church:

"I am asking every person, young and old, who is in any way interested in or connected with St. John's church, to be present at the 'Service of Lights,' next Sunday night, Jan. 11, at 7.30. We shall be glad to have you bring your friends, and especially bring the children. The service is beautiful and unusual and is to inaugurate the church in Massachusetts' part of the nation-wide campaign. This is not a drive for money, but a call to service for church, community and nation. Please do not fail to come!"

WILL ADDRESS MEN'S FORUM

Capt. Edward B. Trumbull, retired sea captain, will address the Men's Forum at the Beverly Farms Baptist church, Thursday evening, Jan. 15, at 8 o'clock. Capt. Trumbull has made three trips to China, one to Australia, and twelve to Zanzibar, and he will bring charts and pictures to illustrate his talk.

Samuel Frank Currier, aged 68 years, a well-known and respected resident of Beverly Farms, died early last Sunday morning from pneumonia. He was born at the old Currier homestead at Pride's Crossing, now owned by the Misses Loring, and was the only child of the late Samuel and Mary A. Standley Currier. His wife, who was Caroline Tucker, has been dead many years. For numerous years the deceased owned and lived on Hart st., now the Service cottage, connected with the Henry G. Clark estate. Of late years he has lived with his cousin, Mrs. Annis Larcom, on West st. In his younger days he followed the shoe-making industry and for the past dozen or more years had been employed by the Boston & Maine R. R. as crossing tender at Lee's crossing. Funeral services were held at the Beverly Farms Baptist church, Tues-

Preston W. R. corps had a most interesting meeting in G. A. R. hall last Tuesday evening when Past President Mrs. Grace Williams installed into office the elected officers for 1920. Preceding the installation exercises one new member was initiated. Following the official work there were refreshments and a joke Christmas tree which caused much merriment. Following is a list of the new officers installed: President, Mrs. Mary V. Morgan; senior vice-president, Miss M. Elizabeth Hull; junior vice-president, Mrs. Sarah Connell; treasurer, Mrs. Mary A. Wood; secretary, Mrs. Alice L. Preston; chaplain, Miss Lizzie Collamore; conductor, Mrs. Lizzie Knowlton; guard, Mrs. Lillian Standley; patriotic instructor, Miss Susie Bennett; press correspondent, Mrs. Clara Larcom; color bearers, Mrs. Hattie Hardy, Mrs. Minnie Watson, Mrs. Alice Prest and Miss Margaret Ianson.

Louis Larson, of Pride's Crossing, has been drawn to serve as a juror for the January sitting of the superior court, civil session, at Salem.

Steele and Abbott, who recently purchased the painting business of the Eli R. Hodgkins Co., are having an addition, 18 x 18 feet, built to their Beverly Farms shop.

A whist party for ladies will be held next Wednesday afternoon from 3 to 5 o'clock at the home of Mrs. George F. Wood, Hart st. This is another affair arranged by Preston W. R. corps in aid of the local American Legion flag fund.

WHY HE NEVER WON SUCCESS

He put no value on cheerfulness and the social amenities.

He never developed his character, except as a money maker.

He always postponed his happiness, and so he never found it.

He was not interested in the world, outside his own narrow circle.

When he had made enough to live on, he discovered that he did not know how to live.

Although he was rich enough to have been a benefactor of his fellow-man he helped nobody.

He had been so busy making money that he forgot how to coin enjoyment out of daily contact with life.

He bored those he met because he had no enriching experiences and no genuine sympathy with other people's problems.

He could not meet men without dropping into talk of business, because he was not interested in other matters.

There was no interrogation point in his mind, except in regard to his own affairs. He had no curiosity about the world in which he lived.

Smith College, at Northampton, is to have a drive for $4,000,000. Although only 45 years old Smith College is the largest woman's college in the world. Additional funds are needed to provide new buildings and to increase the salaries of members of the faculty. There should be a ready response to this drive, which starts about the middle of January, because of the fact that it is highly essential to furnish young women of today with the best training and education to fit them for duties of citizenship which in the future they will be assuming.

OUR LUMBER PROBLEM

CAN ONLY BE SOLVED BY REPLACING WHAT WE DESTROY

Only in one way can the timber problem of the United States be solved, we must grow as many or more trees than we cut down. Only by one method can the present wanton waste of our lumber resources be checked, we must prevent the devastation of our forests on the lands that are privately owned. The facts that warrant such statements are these:

Every year we now use three times as much timber as we grow; the figures are 100,000,000,000 feet against 35,000,000,000. Our state and national forests can furnish at best only a fifth of our timber supplies; the other four-fifths must come from lands privately owned, and private commercial timber lands now furnish 97 percent of our annual timber cut. More than 100,000,000 acres of forest lands which ought to be producing wood have been devastated and now are merely idle wastes. Had we properly conserved that vast area the cost of lumber would not have doubled.

The United States is the greatest timber consumer in the world, but we have less than half as many trees now standing as would be required to produce timber at the rate we are using it, and our needs are increasing. There are no forests in the world from which we can import lumber enough at suitable prices and of suitable kind to satisfy our requirements.

Indeed, but few of the lumber producing states can now supply their own demands. In the east, the south and the Lake states there are cut-over lands, now idle and barren, that would every year be growing as much wood as in the years of their greatest yield, if only their forests had been wisely administered, and their timber would be available at half the present rates. Every year lumber now has to be hauled longer distances. Within 10 years the Pacific coast will be supplying most of the country's lumber. The freight bill now amounts to $175,000,000, and at the rates of today the bill will be nearly quadrupled in 20 years. And, of course, the consumer pays the freight.

Europe has but a fourth of its total area in permanently productive forests, uses but 150 board feet per capita per year, and yet has to import timber in considerable quantity from us. We use more than twice as much wood in proportion to population and we have less than half as much productive forest in proportion to area. Forestry is a science in Europe. We practice all the destructive arts in dealing with our forests. We certainly cannot escape the natural result.

These figures are derived from the report of a committee, appointed by the Society of American Foresters, of which Gifford Pinchot is chairman. The report shows that while once we had about 850,000,000 acres of virgin forest we have left today only about 150,000,000, and that on some 350,000,000 acres of cut-over land there are only about 250,000,000 producing even a little new timber growth.

The committee's definite conclusion is this, that a way must be found to prevent devastation of the forests that now stand on lands privately owned in order that old trees shall not be de-

FEDERAL THEATRE, SALEM

Theda Bara is finishing a three-day engagement at the Federal theatre, Salem, the last of this week in a new vehicle much different from her customary vampire roles. She is appearing in "Kathleen Mavourneen," the picturization of the famous Irish play of the same name. She does surprisingly good work in this, a different picture than theatre-goers have been accustomed to see her in. A Mack Sennett comedy, Pathé News and Pictographs complete the bill.

The seat sale started Thursday for the entire week's engagement starting next Monday at the Federal of "The Hoodlum," Mary Pickford's latest picture. In this picture Miss Pickford duplicates her success of "Daddy Long Legs," which made such a hit at the Federal a few weeks ago. The picture will be shown twice daily all next week at 2.15 and 8 p. m. All seats are reserved.

Out of accumulated capital have arisen all the successes of industry and applied science, all the comforts and ameliorations of the common lot. Upon it the world must depend for the process of reconstruction in which all have to share.

The Successful Farmer Raises Bigger Crops and cuts down cost by investment in labor-saving machinery.

Good prices for the farmers' crops encourage new investment, more production and greater prosperity.

But the success of agriculture depends on the growth of railroads—the modern beasts of burden that haul the crops to the world's markets.

The railroads—like the farms—increase their output and cut down unit costs by the constant investment of new capital.

With fair prices for the work they do, the railroads are able to attract new capital for expanding their facilities.

Rates high enough to yield a fair return will insure railroad growth, and prevent costly traffic congestion, which invariably results in poorer service at higher cost.

National wealth can increase only as our railroads grow.

Poor railroad service is dear at any price. No growing country can long pay the price of inadequate transportation facilities.

SCHOOL AND LIFE

Boys and girls often ask why do we study this subject or that. "What's the use?" is a question continually on their lips. It really helps them if they can get a reasonable answer. Recently The Wellspring published an article on "Why Study Mathematics?"

The National Child Welfare association has issued a poster which answers the "Why" of all the principal studies in school. It says the efficient school teaches:

"How to live,"—hygiene.

"Where we live,"—geography.
 "How to reckon,"—mathematics.
 "How we think,"—psychology.
 "How we communicate,"—language.
 "How things act,"—science.
 "How others have lived,"—history.
 "How others have thought,"—literature.
 "How to do things,"—manual training.
 "How to express beauty,"—the arts.
 "How to cooperate,"—group work and play.

Here is an interpretation of school work in the terms of life and shows the relation between school and life.

How Competition Helps You

The competition that exists among the hundreds of meat distributors, large and small, means

RIVALRY IN PRICES

RIVALRY IN SERVICE

RIVALRY IN ECONOMY

RIVALRY IN QUALITY

Swift & Company sells meat at the lowest possible price, consistent with quality and service. Our profit of only a fraction of a cent a pound on all products is evidence of keen competition.

Swift & Company must provide the best service to your dealer or he will buy from our competitors. This means a supply of fine fresh meat always on hand for you at your dealer's.

Swift & Company must keep down manufacturing and selling costs, and use all by-products to avoid waste, or else lose money meeting the prices of competitors who do.

Swift & Company must make its products of the highest quality, or see you turn to others. This means better meat for you and a greater variety of appetizing, wholesome food.

We are as glad for this competition as you should be. It helps to keep us on our mettle.

MAKE CENSUS COMPLETE

ENUMERATORS DESIRE TO OBTAIN FULL INFORMATION

As the 1920 census is drawing to a close, and as it is desired to make it as complete and thorough as possible, it is requested that people conducting small agricultural enterprises make sure that the enumerators in their respective districts have made returns on agricultural schedules if they conducted farm activities, as defined for census purposes, during 1919.

Under the census act a farm is defined as an agricultural enterprise producing agricultural products amounting to two hundred and fifty dollars. There are many residents of Essex County following some other occupation who have orchards, flower gardens, bee hives, poultry yards, etc., who are not farmers, but produce enough agricultural products, such as fruit, flowers, honey, milk, eggs, garden truck and vegetables, to have their industry classed as a farm under the census act.

All persons who have small gardens, hen yards of thirty hens or more, two or three cows, for which no farm schedule has been filed, should consult Supervisor James L. McCarthy, fifth Massachusetts district, 20 Munroe st., Lynn, or the special agent in charge of their territory, or the enumerator who has made their enumeration, to make sure they have been properly enumerated.

THERE ARE ALWAYS RISKS INVOLVED in the operation of railroad trains. It is essential that the public be trained to use every faculty to assist the management of the railroads in the prevention of accidents. There have been two very fortunate escapes of late by large numbers of people on our branch because of the alertness of railroad employees. Too much credit cannot be given to these faithful men who are constantly serving the public in dangerous work, demanding the exercise of patience, skill and judgment. An automobile carrying many men passed over one of the crossings in Beverly that had no gates, merely a sounding gong, but an engineer had seen the impending disaster and despite the driving storm was able to gage the speed of the moving motor, and anticipating the intent of the chauffeur to cross the tracks stopped his engine within an incredibly short distance. Every man and the one woman in the motor vehicle owes his or her life to the skill and alertness of the engineer or the cabman on that train. If the motor had been hit many would have been injured and the heads of many families in Beverly Farms and Manchester would have been killed or seriously hurt. The blinding storm made it the more difficult for both the chauffeur in the motor vehicle and for the engineer on the train, but the fact still remains that the train crew in that cab stopped that train and averted the accident. Who can measure the suffering thrown upon the nerves of the man who threw the lever and hoped for the best and won? No one but an engineer knows the mental strain and anguish involved in the carelessness or thoughtlessness of men who take chances.

MR. HOOVER WILL BE a good running mate on either of the National tickets, but will not someone take vengeance on his name at the polls out of sheer malice for the never-to-be-forgotten food restrictions? Hoover succeeded, and great are the honors due him.

FOR THE SECOND TIME a runaway engine has broken loose and passed through the tunnel under the city of Salem without serious results. It was a peculiar combination of circumstances that operated to cause the runaway train on Monday night, but in modern railroad operations that is the very thing that has to be guarded against. That there never has been a serious accident in the Salem tunnel is a testimony to the efficiency of the working crews and the managing policy of the railroad. Only care, constant alertness and the highest type of efficiency has made it possible for the railroad to have operated the single track through the tunnel without accidents. It is a marvelous record and unstinted praise is and must be given to the management and to the personnel of the roads operating under the direction of the authorities. It is apparent, however, to the most casual observer, that the strategic thing to do is to avoid all chances of accidents by making transit through the city of Salem in some way to prevent the present necessity of using the single track.

It is to be regretted that the tunnel was not constructed originally for later widening when the two track system became a necessity. The funds which have been available for railroad construction have been limited, government ownership has involved delays, the war conditions have required economies and no progressive work could be planned by any railroad in the country; but the time must come when a careful study of the Salem situation should be made that absolutely every chance of accident involved in the single track tunnel method may be avoided. This is a constructive criticism made without malice and appreciative of every difficulty which is presented to the management of railroads the country over; but it is apparent to the layman that a single track tunnel is a thing of the past and eventually a careful study must be made of the situation and changes brought about.

THE ICEMAN SMILES when he sees his thirteen inch crystal ice. His workmen smile when they see the inflated wage envelope which the ice-cutting yields; Mr. Householder will smile, but not so pleasantly when he sees his ice bill in the summer.

THE COMING WEEK IS BEING OBSERVED the nation over by social welfare organizations as Child Labor Week, which merely means that a concerted effort is to be made by all of the social agencies to present to the people the evils of the child labor systems of America. It is certain that the evils in America are not so serious as they were some years ago when the work was first begun. The arguments are written in the hearts of the people of America. They are forever committed to the better policy of giving the children the play days of their youth and by refusing to sell the lives of the youth of the land for the material things which their wasted bodies, destroyed or impaired minds create. Fatigue, overwork, long hours, poor working conditions, inadequate pay and all the other attending factors ruin the health of boys and girls, and especially the girls. The girls are to be the mothers of the land and an impairment of the health of the mother will be revealed in the lives of the children. If there were no other arguments against child labor than the argument of economics it would be convincing, for eventually society in some way has to meet the obligations involved, in the waste and ruin that child labor involves. No organized social unit such as a state or a nation can possibly avoid the responsibilities which the waste involves. Nature is exacting and society must eventually pay the bills. Fortunately for the honor of America the spirit of the nation is against the exploiters of child life for ethical reasons and one of the blessings attending the high costs of materials is the comforting thought which goes with a purchase that there are reasonable hopes that the working producers were not children, but adults, and that the prices paid for labor were living wages. There is surely this much consolation in the higher costs for materials.

THE ADVISABILITY OF SUPPRESSING free speech still continues in America because of the activities of the so-called "Reds" and "anarchists." There are those who in order to check and suppress the activities of these irresponsible and undesirables are likely to suggest restraints of speech and public writing that will prove a menace to the commonweal and subversive of the very liberty and righteousness which they seek to maintain. The nation has been established upon the primary principle of free speech and freedom of opinion expressed in the editorial of a journal or in pamphleteering. It will be difficult to make a sharp distinction between honorable conscientious criticism when the wrong man has the power to make a judgment, and subversive acts of speech. Freedom of speech is a safety valve. Justice Oliver Wendell Holmes, of Beverly Farms and Washington, succinctly and emphatically indicates the dangers and the futility of unwholesome restraint to free speech. He made a contribution to the discussion that was justly cheered by the diners of the Harvard Liberal club on Monday. He said: "For obvious reasons I should not care to speak upon your subject except as from time to time I have to. I see no impropriety, however, in suggesting the isolated reflection that with the effervescing opinions, as with the not yet forgotten champagnes, the quickest way to let them get flat is to let them get exposed to the air." The witty punch of the sentence unites the humorous skill of his father, the poet, and the judicial insight of the judge. It leaves nothing unsaid or to be said.

THE KIDDIES ARE HAVING the time of their life. There is skating, with no thin ice, and mothers cannot worry, as all mothers must, when the ice is thin and treacherous. The snow fell upon frozen ground. It fell wet and heavy and froze solidly followed by another light fall of snow, making a good foundation for tobogganning and coasting. Heigh ho! for the coasting hill and toboggan slide.

THE PRESENT ATTITUDE OF AMERICA appears inexplicable to the European nations who have arranged for peace with Germany while America remains technically at war with Germany. America is negligent in not taking immediate action for the ratification of the treaty with or without reservations or modifications. The situation is to be regretted by both parties. The best way out of the dilemma is to ratify the treaty and dispose of it before it shall have become a political issue in the coming campaign. The President's letter throwing the issue before the people for settlement does not present the best solution of the problem. There will be a long delay, which ought not to be tolerated. On the other hand it will be a complete change in a detail at least of our method of obtaining governmental action. In the United Kingdom the ministry may be changed by a reference of the issue to the people. In America our officers are elected for a term to care for the nation's business. At the expiration of that period the records of the men are on trial. Here would be one issue, made the basis of an election wholly different from the usual procedures. It cannot be admitted yet that the present governmental arrangements are so wholly unsatisfactory that the treaty cannot be considered and disposed of. The American people do not wish the issue delayed and neither of the parties can receive the issue with pleasure. By and large the proper and most acceptable process is for the present government to make such compromises as are necessary and pass the treaty bill. Let us have technical peace as well as practical peace! Above all things the national issue should not be made a political "football." The issue is too large to be limited to partisan political activities.

THE FRANKLIN SQUARE HOUSE, in Boston, is a worthy enterprise and the management ought not to be embarrassed for funds. It affords large rooms with comfortable accommodations for young women living alone in the city. It is a practical demonstration of constructive social work.

THE CHURCHES OF AMERICA are beginning to lay emphasis upon the practical as well as the emotional and theoretical sides of religion. There have been many efforts put forth to establish settlement houses, social welfare enterprises and community centres in large sections of the cities and in some rural districts. The Salvation Army has excelled in this good work and for their pioneering and enterprise they are entitled to the unstinted praise which has been accorded to them by the social and religious workers in the home field and by the returned soldiers, who have been the beneficiaries of their good works in France. It appears practicable now for the organized churches, instead of abandoning the near down town sections of cities entirely, to establish churches that will minister to the changed conditions in the community. This has been done in some large cities, but the plan should be repeated again and again in the smaller cities where changes of population are taking place. One of the great social changes has been the consideration that has been given the rural church. It is proposed now that there be established rural demonstration centres where the needs of community life may be met and where the church organizations can maintain the old lines efficiently and successfully, and maintain a corps of workers that will care for the social and practical religious needs of the district served. Within a few years what has been so effectively accomplished in the smaller cities will be tried in the selected communities where a rural demonstration station may be maintained. The new impulse which is being given to the maintenance of all the old line endeavors of the churches, together with the new enlarged demands for social service in communities where the work requires it, will bring about great changes in the administration of certain city and rural communities.

THE AGE LIMIT for working girls and boys is placed at sixteen in any occupation, with restrictive reservations for all hazardous employments. Nine months schooling will be required for all children below that age and all over that age, and those less than eighteen should be required to work no more than eight hours per day for six working days as the maximum. These are the working and schooling conditions social workers are demanding. The appeals should be sustained by public opinion.

THE CITY OF BOSTON has always been a popular convention city because of its many hotels, its historical landmarks and places of interest, and the hospitality of the city. This week the men who are interested in the shoe industry have gathered from all over the country. The men appear prosperous, and they predict that there is a good year ahead for business. The keynote of the convention has been optimism. The speeches indicate that purchases are being made liberally and that this important industry will not immediately suffer financial depression. Then the public is confidently if not confidentially told that increases in prices may be expected, that women's shoes particularly are expensive because the women demand fancy outlined shoes, finished in the best of leather and built for style, appearance and expense rather than utility, economy and durability. The trade tells the consumer from his high tower of observation that if the public would demand the more conservative models, and accept leather of as good wearing ability, but of less high grade, but still attractive, that shoes and boots with sensible heels, conservative models and durable leather could be put upon the market for a reasonable and attractive price. It is asserted that these goods would effectively combat the high costs of living and afford the purchasers boots or shoes that would wear better than the high-priced goods now placed upon the market. The average woman is seeking such conservative models and if the manufacturers would give the matter their attention they would readily discover that the lower priced, substantial shoe built for wear and for economy would be a good seller. At present the manufacturer gears his machine, sales, publicity and selling departments to the "new" styles and with the expected results. Why not give the sensible purchasers of conservative models a chance, Mr. Manufacturer? The retailer displays what the markets produce and the consumer does the best he can!

THE ISSUE OF ADEQUATE CENSORSHIP of moving picture films is now fairly before the public. The agitation is being prosecuted with absolute good will by those who are interested in moving pictures as wholesome and desirable recreations, but who seek to have eliminated from the theatres those films which portray the seamy side of life and give details of or portray vicious activities. It is a large question that cannot be settled at once, but some censorship is absolutely essential to save the good will of the American public for the moving picture business. If present careless methods of passing pictures be continued it will be necessary to class the movies with the evil influences within a community. This is not necessary or desirable. The criticisms when made are made by those who believe that the moving picture industry itself will profit by an adequate and effective censorship. The national review board is not effective because it is financially supported by the industry. The local methods are inadequate because the work has to be done in various communities when it could be done once for all. Pennsylvania has an excellent board which serves for the entire state and has proven "ethically right and politically wise." It is proposed that such a board of unpaid representatives be appointed by the governor in our state. In that event every film presented in Massachusetts will have been passed upon by a board of scrupulous men and women. In the end it will prove a great benefit to the industry and the manufacturers. Theatre operators will be standing in their own light to oppose the proposed plan. It will make it possible for every film producer and theatre to be free from the irritating and unscrupulous competition of the film makers and theatre operators, who are only too willing to present the most unwholesome film the market sells.

WHILE THE OPTIMISTS recognize the present prosperous conditions of the country, and the pessimists are seeing in the future a coming financial storm and are flying the danger signal, the careful man, who is neither a deluded optimist nor a blind pessimist, makes hay for the present, for the sun shines, and he carefully considers the horizon for the impending storm before he lays down more hay for the making. There has been many a heavy storm blow around the North Shore and drift off to sea. The impending crisis may never come, and then again it may.

THE STATE LEGISLATURE OF 1919 appointed a very important committee on judicature, which has been considering important and necessary changes. It has met and will report to the incoming legislature a law process which will present a more prompt, "economical and just despatch of judicial business." It suggests, where cases involve less than thirty-five dollars, that the parties to the dispute may go directly to the judge of the court and have the matter considered and settled then and there, with the appeal privilege. Under the present conditions the cost of litigation is so expensive to the client and involves so much work for the attorneys, preventing low expenses, that the conditions work an injustice. Attorneys are interested in the recommendation because the small cases involve a great deal of time and difficulty without giving honorable opportunity for even a reasonable fee for the time and care that the case demands. This method will please the attorneys and satisfy the parties having small matters to adjust. The only expense involved would be the cost of postage required in notifying the witnesses. The recommendation of the commission appeals to common sense and it will prove a blessing to the parties to the dispute, relieve the attorneys of a large number of bothersome small cases and clear the dockets and save time, expense and anxiety to the courts in all their departments. There may arise small cases, as far as the money involved is concerned, but underneath which there may be large questions requiring care; such cases, in the judgment of the judge, may be transferred to the regular docket, that the course of justice may be taken honorably and without error. The commission is well founded and its report will undoubtedly be received with favor. The operation of this simple and practical plan of administering justice will be hailed as in the line of progress.

THE ORGANIZATION of the new colossal shipping trust should place the American people in a position to begin large and successful operations in shipbuilding. If the same acumen and judgment are applied to the new shipping industries as has been applied to the organized work of a certain motor company, and to our great steel and copper industries, the new corporation should prove a boom. The shipping industry in America has but just begun a new lease of life. The impetus which it has received from the war cannot be overestimated and the future decade should prove to be one of progress and profits as well as beginnings.

THERE ARE TWO CANDIDATES in Massachusetts this year who may be favorite sons, so to speak. It is possible that either one or the other may receive the nomination, and this accords Massachusetts two opportunities to place a man in the White House. Strangely enough while both of these men, Coolidge and Wood, have begun their career in the Old Bay State, both of them look to another state in New England as the place of their birth. Calvin Coolidge has made his way up through the House of Representatives, the Senate and the Lieutenant-Governorship, to hold the highest political office in the gift of the people and now has the endorsement of the political leaders for the republican nomination to the Presidency of the United States. To have thus been chosen by his colleagues is a testimony to his worth and the esteem with which he is regarded by those who know him. He will be a civil contestant and will bring to the competition the record of fearless maintenance of the principles of law and order. On the other hand General Wood is a military man. He is self-made in every sense of the word. He lived all of his early days in Pocasset, attended the little country school and church there, and against handicaps and obstacles, with unsubduable grit made his way through the Harvard Medical school. He established himself in Boston and began his great life work. For bravery he received the Congressional Medal of Honor. He was the great war governor appointed to care for Santiago, and was governor general of Cuba. Later he was sent to the Philippines. His work for preparedness and his war career are already well and fully known. He has shown discretion, judgment, firmness and tact in all the responsibilities which have been laid upon him, and has proven himself an able executor. Massachusetts may have an opportunity to support either of these gentlemen and both of them will confer honor upon the Old Bay State.

The tongue is a little member and boasteth great things. Behold how great a matter a little fire kindleth.

Memorial Town Hall for Manchester

Committee Has Carefully Investigated the Matter and Prepared a Comprehensive Report

MANCHESTER citizens are naturally very much interested in the proposed Memorial Town hall, to be erected in commemoration of the soldiers, sailors and marines of Manchester. The BREEZE is very fortunate in being permitted to print this week the report of the committee appointed at the annual Town Meeting a year ago, which report will be officially made to the citizens in the annual Town Report to be issued next month. The report follows:

To the Citizens of Manchester:

At the annual meeting of the town, held Feb. 11, 1919, the following vote was passed, acting under Article 27 of the Warrant:

"That the town appoint a committee of five to secure plans for a suitable monument, arch or memorial in commemoration of the soldiers, sailors and marines of Manchester, and appropriate the sum of $500 for the use of the committee, said committee to report at the next annual meeting."

Your committee met and organized with the choice of Edward S. Knight, chairman, and Willard L. Rust, secretary.

They have given the subject careful consideration, have received various suggestions and unanimously recommend the form of the memorial to be a new Town hall.

This structure to be built of brick or stone, suitably inscribed to contain the following:

1. A rotunda in which shall be placed tablets recording the names of all of Manchester's soldiers, sailors and marines.
2. Permanent quarters for Frank B. Amaral post of the American Legion.
3. A small hall with service rooms for all patriotic meetings, elections, etc.
4. A large hall with a minimum seating capacity of 1,000.
5. Quarters for all town officers.
6. Rooms to be used for any other purpose the town may determine.

The town owns a set of plans for a town hall prepared a few years ago by Shepley, Rutan & Coolidge, architects, of Boston. Your committee believe them to be available with alterations, but we do not deem it wise for us to present plans for such a building until the location has been determined upon.

Believe Present Site is Best

Your committee have investigated some eight or nine locations and have secured prices where possible, but in the opinion of a majority, the site of the present building is the best location. Should this decision meet with your approval it necessitates moving the present Town hall building to either a temporary or a permanent location in order that the business of the town may be carried on during the process of construction. A temporary location is available upon the town Common, a permanent one upon Elm st.

If the form of this memorial and its location meet with your approval, your committee ask for further time and an appropriation of $2,500 to investigate and prepare plans to be presented at some future meeting.

According to the provisions of Chapter 61, Acts of 1919, towns may appropriate money for memorial buildings and may issue notes or bonds within the debt limit, provided they are paid within twenty years; it may also elect trustees who are empowered to receive gifts or bequests.

Appropriations Recommended

It seems desirable if this report is adopted that an appropriation be made from the receipts of the town this year (1920), toward the expense of constructing this building. We, therefore, recommend the appropriation of $25,000 to be invested by the treasurer with the approval of the Selectmen, to be known as the Memorial Town Hall fund.

At the last annual meeting an appropriation of $500 was made for the use of this committee. Expenditures were made amounting to $12.82, leaving a balance unexpended of $487.18, as per auditor's report.

Summary of Recommendations

That the town build a memorial Town hall of brick or stone.

That its location shall be the site of the present Town hall building.

That the town appropriate the sum of $2,500 and give the committee further time to prepare and present plans to the town.

That the town appropriate the sum of $25,000 from the receipts of this year, the same to be invested by the treasurer with the approval of the Selectmen, to be known as the Memorial Town Hall fund, to be used in its construction.

LIBRARY NOTES

New Books in Manchester Public Library

A new novel by Archibald Marshall is always welcome. Readers of "The Squire's Daughter," "The Eldest Son," "Exton Manor" and "Richard Baldock" will enjoy his latest production—"Sir Harry." This is the story of a young man of high rank, who has been carefully shielded from persons beneath him; but in spite of all precautions he comes in contact with such people, and the description of their influence on his character is part of the story. Those wishing to know something about this author may read with profit, "Archibald Marshall, a Realistic Novelist," by William Lyon Phelps.

"The Black Drop" is the latest story by Alice Brown, the well-known American novelist. She has written many works of fiction. "Bromley Neighborhood," which came out some two years ago, was very popular. "The Black Drop" is a fine character study, and a real good story.

Ellen Glasgow is another American novelist, whose studies of American life—given to us in the form of fiction—always bring us enjoyment. "The Builders"—her most recent story—is no exception, and is a worthy successor to "Life and Gabriella."

"Helena," by Mrs. Humphrey Ward, is the story of a very modern girl, and a girl well worth knowing. Mrs. Ward has not lost her power to write good fiction. She is a brilliant woman and has been writing novels since 1887. She is the author of a number of works other than fiction, one of the most interesting being "Recollections of a Writer," in which pages you may become acquainted with many people well worth knowing.

"The Strong Hours," Maud Driver, is one of the best of the new novels. The author was born in India, the daughter of an army officer. She lives in England.

Patrons of the library should make more use of the card catalog. A good rule to follow is that every time you bring in a book that you have enjoyed, go to the catalog and find out if the library has other works by the same author. In that way you will obtain much information that may be helpful to you in the future. Next week mention will be made of a few of the most important additions to the library for the year 1919.

Breezy Briefs

Justice Oliver Wendell Holmes has the right idea regarding the "Reds." His opinion is that "Red" propaganda when exposed to the light of publicity will fade away as rapidly as the bubbles from a bottle of champagne when exposed to air.

The "four hour day" propaganda is the latest to come to our attention. The program doubtless provides for half time on Saturday, making 22 the total number of hours per week.

The North Shore roads readily adapt themselves to all conditions of travel. For example, this week the sleighing was fine, heavy teams with wheels were using the roads, sliding was enjoyed, and, of course, the autos continued to run, as usual.

At a conference of 1400 Protestant church leaders at Atlantic City the past week, a budget of $1,330,000,000 was approved to be expended for evangelical purposes. This is an age of big projects and the church is handling a big proposition in a big way.

Do not forget when addressing mail to the Boston postal area after Jan. 20, that the clerks will be mentally inquiring "Number, please." A new plan will be put into effect that day which is designed to expedite the mail delivery, the number of the postal station being an important part of each address.

There are two reasons why the price of bread is being advanced in Boston, according to statements of bakers at a conference this week: the increased cost of flour and the insistence on the part of the customers for "nothing but the best."

Prof. Goddard, of Clark university, is creating considerable interest in his high efficiency rocket, weighing 1274 pounds, which he believes can be shot through the air and might possibly carry to the moon. It would seem that the moon is a large enough target.

Victor Berger, the Socialist from Milwaukee, victor in being re-elected to the House of Representatives, has again been denied membership with that body. He may be a victor in Wisconsin, but not in Congress.

Brains and Money at Filmland City

Moving Enterprise in Our Own Neighborhood-- Exclusive Announcement in Today's Breeze

BY a special and exclusive correspondent we have learned that a subject of considerable interest to people all over the world, but more especially to lovers of New England historical events, is the progress that is being made by the Mastercraft Photoplay Corporation at Filmland City, Medford, in the production of a photoplay representing the principal incidents in the landing of the Pilgrims, in natural colors. A tercentenary celebration has been worked up in the public press of this and other countries for many years, and as the proper time for the event approached local public interest very naturally increased and many meetings have been called for the purpose of discussing plans for an adequate celebration. Distinguished speakers from the cities in which world's fairs have been held, addressed the meetings, but up to the present all efforts seem to have failed, and the enthusiastic meetings discontinued indefinitely.

Filmland City, however, is alert and active. The Mastercraft Photoplay Corporation has recently erected an additional building that is strictly modern. The lighting exceeds in efficiency that of any motion picture studio in the world, which means everything in the ultimate perfect success, and practical economy in production. Nature seems to have designed Filmland City and its environments especially for motion picture enterprises. The 57 acres embrace level plains, lofty cliffs, and beautiful lake with open or heavily wooded shores.

The business personnel of the Mastercraft Photoplay Corporation is George M. Colbath, president; Frank L. Jones, treasurer, and chief of the executive staff; W. H. Kunz, head color photographer and technical director; Mr. Malcolm, foreman of the cameras and film development crew. There are other prominent officers and business men whose names, possibly accompanied by photo engravings, may appear in these columns later on. The photo adorning the cap of this article is that of Miss Doris Jones, one of the daughters of Treas. Jones, who will play leading roles in photoplays produced at Filmland City.

Fine sleighing has been enjoyed along the North Shore the past week, although the number of sleighs is much less than ten years or so ago. Today the honk of the auto horn has replaced the jingle of the sleigh bells.

FOUR DAYS' MEETING OF AGRICULTURAL SOCIETIES

A meeting of Massachusetts agricultural organizations coöperating with the department of agriculture will be held at Horticultural hall, Boston, Jan. 20, 21, 22 and 23. The invitation to attend is public; admission free.

The program consists of lectures, moving pictures, demonstrations and exhibits. Anyone interested in Massachusetts agriculture will be benefited by attending this meeting.

title of the "Mysterious Mr. Smith," then there is widespread interest in his name.

"Janitor's Daughter Entertains Members of Faculty and Students" is not at all a surprising headline. In these days the janitors in many instances receive wages which quite overshadow the salaries of some professors.

WINTER IN FULL SWAY ALONG THE NORTH SHORE

The present spell of cold weather has continued during the past week. The mercury has been below the zero mark nearly each morning and during the days has scarcely risen above the freezing point. Those who believe that climatic conditions in New England are not changing will have their belief strengthened by this period of weather.

SOCIETY NOTES

The good winter weather the past week has brought a goodly number of people to the North Shore, many of whom have made the Essex County club at Manchester their rendezvous. While skating is off the program of sports for the while, because of the snow, the tobogganning and skiing have been good.

Among those at the Essex County club for the present week-end are Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Howard, of Boston, Miss Elaine Denègre, W. D. Sohler, Jr., Miss Grace Monks and Mr. and Mrs. R. S. Potter.

Mrs. E. C. Fitch, Jr., who has been spending the winter thus far at the Essex County club, Manchester, left this week for Stockbridge. Her son, Tucker Lindsay, has gone on to New York to be with his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Wm. A. Tucker, at the Plaza.

John Caswell and Miss Elizabeth Caswell entertained a large party of friends at Beverly Farms over the week-end, the young people coming down from Boston to enjoy the sleighing and snow-shoeing.

George H. Swift of the North Shore colony has bought through the executors of the estate of Abraham Shuman the property formerly occupied by Mr. Shuman at 90 Commonwealth ave., Boston, at the southeast corner of Clarendon st. Mr. Swift has plans in preparation for improvements to the house, which is a four-story and basement, brick, with an octagonal front. He will reside there upon completion of alterations.

Call Mrs. Burnham, Y^e Rogers Manse, Ipswich 85-M. Lobster and chicken dinners; also a la carte service. adv.

SOCIETY NOTES

Mrs. John R. McGinley came on from New York this week to see the progress on the extensive improvements under way at the family's summer home on Smith's Point, Manchester. She was a guest at the Essex County club during her stay here.

Mr. and Mrs. David J. Bailey, of Atlanta, Ga., announce the engagement of their daughter, Susanne Bailey, to Caleb Loring, son of Senator and Mrs. Augustus P. Loring, of Pride's Crossing. Mr. Loring is a graduate of Harvard college, class of 1910, and served in the navy as lieutenant, J. G., during the war. He is a member of the Harvard club and Tennis and Racquet club, of Boston, and of the Eastern Yacht club.

A gratifying gain in membership was shown at the annual meeting of the Eastern Yacht club, held Monday evening at the Union club, Boston, when officers for 1920 were elected as follows: Commodore, H. M. Sears; vice-commodore, C. F. Adams; rear commodore, J. S. Lawrence; secretary, Henry Taggard; treasurer, S. W. Sleeper; members of the council-at-large, F. B. McQuesten, Arthur Winslow; regatta committee, C. E. Hodges, H. A. Morss, J. S. Harrold, Caleb Loring; committee on admissions, R. A. Leeson, Augustus Hemenway, Jr., E. N. Wrightington, Bayard Tuckerman, C. P. Curtis, Jr.; house committee, F. A. Seamans, D. K. Snow, Ames Nowell, H. W. Belknap, P. H. Kemble.

Mrs. S. V. R. Crosby, of 95 Beacon st., Boston, and West Manchester, entertained a number of the debutantes, young Harvard men and others on Thursday evening of last week at a dinner dance in honor of her daughter, Miss Katherine Crosby, the secretary of the 1920 Sewing circle.

NOTICE TO VOTERS

REGISTRATION

Office of the Board of Registrars of Voters
Manchester, Mass. Jan. 5, 1920

Notice is hereby given that the Board of Registrars of Voters will be in session at the office of the Town Clerk on Wednesday evening, Jan. 21, 1920, and Wednesday evening, Jan. 28, 1920, from 7.00 to 8.00 o'clock, and Saturday, Jan. 31, 1920, from 12 m. to 10 p. m., for the purpose of receiving evidence of the qualification of persons claiming a right to vote at the election to be held on Tuesday, February 10, 1920, and of correcting the list of voters. Also to certify to the signatures on nomination papers.

See that your name is on the voting list of your town; if not there, call at the office of the Board of Registrars on the days above mentioned, and be registered, or you cannot vote. Bring with you a certificate from the assessors or a tax bill or notice from the collector of taxes, showing that you have been assessed a poll tax as a resident of the town of Manchester.

All persons whose names are stricken from the voters' lists for any lawful reason, will, before they can again have their names placed upon said lists, be required to register their names at the time hereinafter stated in like manner as new voters.

Naturalized citizens presenting themselves for registration must bring their naturalization papers with them.

If a qualified voter of this town whose name was on the voters' list last year, and who has been assessed for the current year, finds after the close of registration that his name is not placed on the voters' list of the current year, by reason of having been omitted by clerical error or mistake, he may, upon personal application, have his name placed upon the voting list, or, if application be made on the day of election, he may have a certificate to vote.

No name can be added to the voters' list (except to correct omissions made by clerical error or mistake) after ten (10) o'clock of the evening of said Saturday, at which time registration closes.

By order of the Board of Registrars of Voters.

ANNUAL MEETING OF TRUST COMPANY STOCKHOLDERS

The annual meeting of the stockholders of the Manchester Trust Co. was held Tuesday afternoon in the Congl. chapel, Manchester.

The report of the treasurer, Harry W. Purington, was read, and showed that very satisfactory progress had been made in all departments. The earnings had increased materially over the previous year and business outlook for 1920 was pleasing.

The following officers were re-elected for the coming year: Oliver T. Roberts, president; William Hoare, vice-president; Roger W. Babson, vice-president; Harry W. Purington, secretary and treasurer; Roger W. Babson, Dr. G. W. Blaisdell, Michael J. Callahan, Everett L. Edmands, Maynard B. Gilman, William Hoare, Geo. L. Knight, Edward P. Lane, F. J. Merrill, Oliver T. Roberts, George S. Sinnicks and George E. Willmont, directors.

George N. Foss, a well-known Beverly resident, died at the Beverly hospital on Friday of last week, after short illness, at the age of 54 years. He was born in Manchester and was educated in the schools of this town. He was a heelworker by trade and resided at 26 Bisson st., Beverly.

PEBBLES on the BEACH

YOUR BOY

What are you doing to save your boy,
Who is drifting with the tide?
He seems to have lost his anchorage,
And on the billows rides.

He seems to have lost the pride of home,
Of honor and of love;
And he floats along on the whirlpool of fate
To the land where sorrow comes.

Don't tell me, you who begat the boy,
That you are not to blame;
You have made some mistake whate'er it may be,
And your teachings may be lame.

Don't tell the boy what his grandfather did,
Or his cousins or aunts, or such,
But come down to earth and love your boy
And keep closely with him in touch.

Make home the dearest spot to him
In all the wide, wide world,
Where father and mother lovingly wait
For even the boy who erred.

Don't tell him of the fear of God,
That will make his heart rebel;
But tell him of the love of God
That will save his soul from hell.

Don't be ashamed to romp with your boy
Or in his sports take part,
And you may be sure that love for him
Will open up his heart.

Teach him love for all things good,
Make honor his crowning part;
Tell him of bright things in this world,
That will touch the youngster's heart.

And then when he shall pass youth's way,
Its pitfalls and its mire,
He will turn his thoughts from follies' path
And aim for something higher.

And when at last your life shall close
And you will pass beyond,
That boy of yours, with pride, will say,
"Their life's work was well done."

—Andy Marshall.

A LITTLE WHILE IN DREAMLAND

I dreamt that I was young again.
Time on its backward flight
Took me back to Dreamland
Just for a single night.

I was seated in the school room,
In my old familiar seat;
Examples on the blackboard,
The walls just seemed to speak.

There sat the teacher at his desk
As wise as any owl,

I never saw him smile but once—
He always had a scowl.

My schoolmates all looked happy,
Gay as birds upon the wing.
Their minds were pure and innocent,
They had never tasted sin.

The boys looked queer in jumpers,
With patches on their clothes;
While some of them were barefoot,
With rags tied on their toes.

For any misdeed
They were called upon the mat,
Then sandwiched in between the girls;
But they soon got used to that.

There stood the long cast iron stove
It looked just like a coffin;
Sometimes the glass was ninety-eight,
Sometimes 'twas down to nothing.

The same old maps hung on the wall,
Yellow and grim with time;
They told us where the North Pole was
And the equinoctial line.

Sands in the hour glass of time
Are running sure but slow,
While memories of sweet dreams linger
To brighten our pathway below.

BENEFIT SHOW

MOTION PICTURES FOR SENIOR CLASS,
S. H. S., WILL BE PRESENTED
TUESDAY

The motion pictures next Tuesday,
Jan. 20, at Horticultural hall, Manchester, will be presented for the benefit of the Senior class of Story High school. Mgr. Sanborn has kindly offered to help the class to this extent and has arranged for a show of twelve reels.

The feature of the program is entitled, "Twenty-three and a Half Hours' Leave," starring Douglas Mac-Lean and Doris May. The comedy is Charles Ray in "The Egg Crate Wallop." The feature is one of the best pictures produced the past year and is well worth seeing. It is a film version of Mary Roberts Rinehardt's book by the same name.

There will be a matinee at 3.30 o'clock, Tuesday afternoon, prices 25c and 17c, including war tax. The evening show at 7.30 o'clock will be 30c to all, war tax included. No reserved seats at either performance.

Tickets can be obtained from any member of the Senior class. Here is a chance to get full enjoyment for your money and at the same time help the class procure some necessary funds.

The Order of Amalgamated Snow Shovelers held their first meeting of the present winter season last Saturday. The first business demanding attention was clearing the sidewalks of snow.

A large number of members were present to assist in the day's program.
As is generally known, to belong to this popular order one has to possess a snow shovel, either by purchase or borrowing from some accommodating neighbor. Those who borrow a snow shovel in winter and a lawn mower in summer are highly honored members of this association!

The grip is as follows: Grasp the snow shovel firmly with the right hand; it is well also to use the left hand as a sort of auxiliary "in making the grip." Look the snow drift steadily in the eye and then proceed as in the charge of "the unwritten work."

Many of those who regard snow as very beautiful poetically are disqualified as members of this order because they do not see anything poetical in wielding a snow shovel.

The password, which remains the same from year to year, is "Beautiful Snow." It is always to be communicated in a loud voice, the idea being to impress everyone within hearing distance that the member really believes in the truth of what he is saying.

This order is affiliated with the Amalgamated Strap Hangers, the Consolidated Commuters, and all other fraternal societies which have for their object the betterment of living conditions among the "common peepul."

DEPUTY INCOME TAX ASSESSOR
VISITS MANCHESTER

Ray Friend, of Salem, deputy income tax assessor for Massachusetts, was in Manchester Wednesday at the Town hall for the purpose of assisting in making income tax returns.

There were about twenty Manchester people who interviewed Mr. Friend and received the benefit of his knowledge in making returns for their income during the year 1919.

Wednesday, Jan. 28, Wednesday, Feb. 4 and 18, are the next dates when Mr. Friend will be in Manchester for this same purpose. He will be at the Town hall from 1 o'clock until 5 o'clock in the afternoon.

MANCHESTER

The thermometer registered 8° below zero this morning at 6 o'clock.

Frank B. Amaral post, A. L., has arranged for a dance to be held at Town hall, on Friday evening, Jan. 30.

The Manchester Boy Scouts have a busy winter mapped out for them. On page 22 of this issue we print a list of their activities for the balance of January.

J. Harris, the Central sq. tailor, is leaving tomorrow for his customary winter visit to his former home in New York. His shop will be closed until about the first of March.

Dr. Joseph H. Carey, formerly of Manchester, has recently been appointed assistant chief surgeon at the Bethlehem Steel Corporation plant in Quincy. Dr. Carey will conduct evening office hours in Dorchester, beginning Feb. 1.

An ocean-going tug arrived from Gloucester Tuesday to break the ice in the harbor and up to the Samuel Knight Sons Co. wharf in anticipation of the arrival of a barge of coal. The coal is at Gloucester awaiting an opportune time for breaking through the ice in Manchester harbor.

WOMAN'S CLUB GUEST NIGHT NEXT WEDNESDAY EVENING

Guest night will be observed by the Manchester Woman's club on Wednesday evening, Jan. 21, at 8 o'clock, in the Town hall. Members' tickets are to be 25c, and guests 50c each. Those who are not members may purchase tickets through their friends who are members.

Capt. Andre Morize will be the speaker of the evening, and his subject, "Thoughts on the Morrow of Victory," will be most interesting.

Capt. Morize was a member of the French Military mission to Harvard, and has been enthusiastically received wherever he has spoken.

The club considers this a rare privilege to listen to such a distinguished lecturer, and hopes he will have a large audience to welcome him on this occasion. Capt. Morize will appear in uniform.

Refreshments will be served, followed by music and dancing.

Tickets must be purchased before Monday, Jan. 19, and may be secured from Miss Lena Jones, Mrs. Geo. W. Blaisdell or Mrs. Benj. L. Bullock.

WILL HOLD ANNUAL BANQUET IN FEBRUARY

After a lapse of four years—Jan. 1915—the North Shore Horticultural society will resume its annual banquet, accompanied by entertainment and dance, the affair to be held in the society's hall, Manchester, on Wednesday evening, Feb. 4.

This has always been one of the social events of the winter season in Manchester, but for the last four years, because of the war, the affair has been put over from year to year. Now, with return to normal conditions, the members and their many friends rejoice to learn of the resumption of the pleasant event. More details will be given next week.

Oliver Gilman, a former Cove resident, is reported as quite ill at the home of relatives in New Hampshire, where he has lived for some time past.

Mrs. Mary Meldrum and her daughter, Elizabeth, have returned to their School st. home after a two weeks' visit with relatives in Danvers.

MANCHESTER

Miss Grace Allen has a position at the J. W. Carter Co., as bookkeeper.

Miss Helen Burgess arrived home last Friday from the Beverly hospital, where she had been operated upon for appendicitis.

Mr. and Mrs. Russell Lucas, now residents of Beverly, are receiving congratulations on the birth of a daughter at the Beverly hospital, Monday morning.

The meeting of the Parent-Teacher association scheduled for next Wednesday has been postponed one week, and will be held Wednesday, Jan. 28. Further announcement will be made in our next issue.

Susan Roche, deputy high chief ranger, and suite, installed the officers of Father Shahan court, M. C. O. F., 220, at Odd Fellows hall, Wednesday evening. Miss Catherine McManus represented the High Standing committee.

Rev. H. E. Levoý has received word from Edwin Mulready, commissioner of labor, that he will be the speaker at the next meeting of the Manchester Brotherhood, on Monday evening, Feb. 2. Mr. Mulready was to have addressed the January meeting, but owing to a death in the family he was unable to do so.

PLANS FOR MANCHESTER CLUB MINSTREL SHOW

Don't forget the dates of the Manchester club minstrel show, Feb. 12 and 13. All seats reserved. They will be placed on sale at Horticultural hall on Feb. 2, at 7 p. m. Be sure to get in line early so you won't be disappointed in getting a seat, as this is to be one of the club's best efforts.

The program will be entertaining from start to finish and will contain songs, jokes and character sketches, all of a real minstrel show flavor. The chorus will consist of 45 voices, trained under the direction of Dr. F. A. Willis, who, also assisted by Boston artists, will construct the scenery for the stage setting.

The costumes, which will be everything that a costume should be are from the Hooper, Howe Co. in Haverhill, who have the name of being among the best in the show business in these parts.

The next rehearsal will be at Horticultural hall, Sunday afternoon, at 2.30.

BY-LAWS

of the TOWN OF MANCHESTER

Adopted at the Special Town Meeting

held on Thursday evening, Dec. 18, 1919
and approved by the Attorney-General, Dec. 26, 1919
and now published according to law.

ARTICLE I. Town Meetings.

Section 1. The annual Town Meeting shall be held on the second Monday evening in February and shall begin not earlier than seven o'clock.

The meeting shall be adjourned to the next day, Tuesday, for the election of Town Officers, and for balloting upon such matters as by law are required to be determined at such meeting.

The polls shall be opened at six o'clock in the morning and shall be closed not earlier than five o'clock in the afternoon.

The annual Town Meeting, including its adjournment, except the Tuesday devoted exclusively to the election of Town Officers and to balloting upon such matters as by law are required to be determined at such meetings, shall be held not earlier than seven o'clock in the evening.

Section 2. Voters shall be notified by posting attested copies of the warrant at the Town Hall, Post Office, Police Station, and Engine House seven days at least before the day appointed for said meeting.

Section 3. Ten per cent. of the number of registered voters shall constitute a quorum for the transaction of business at any Town Meeting except such parts of meetings as are devoted exclusively to the election of Town Officers; and to balloting upon such matters as by law are required to be determined at such meeting; but a less number may organize and adjourn to some future time.

Section 4. The first business in order at each adjourned meeting shall be the reading of the records of the previous session by the Town Clerk, and he shall be prepared at all times to report the total amount of moneys appropriated.

Section 5. Whenever a vote is doubted and a return of the number voting is ordered, all persons for or against the question, when called on by the Moderator, shall rise in their places and stand until they are counted by tellers.

Section 6. When a question is under debate, until it is disposed of, no motion shall be received but to adjourn the meeting, for the previous question, to lay on the table, to commit, to recommit, to amend, to refer, or to postpone to a day certain, or to postpone indefinitely, which several motions shall have precedence in the order in which they are herein arranged.

Section 7. No person shall speak on the same subject more than twice, nor more than twenty minutes in all without the consent of the meeting.

Section 8. Every person speaking shall rise and stand uncovered; shall respectfully address the Moderator; shall confine himself to the question under debate and avoid all personalities.

Section 9. All motions shall be put in the order in which they are moved, unless the subsequent motion is previous in its nature; provided that in cases of amendment the largest sum or longest time proposed shall be put first.

Section 10. On motions to adjourn (except when the business of balloting is unfinished), to lay on the table, to take from the table, and for the previous question, not exceeding six minutes shall be allowed for debate, and no person shall speak on the motion more than two minutes.

Section 11. The previous question shall be put in the following form: "Shall the main question be now put?" and until this question is decided, all debate on the main question shall be suspended. Immediately after taking and adopting the previous question the sense of the meeting shall be taken upon any pending amendments in the order inverse of that in which they were moved, and finally upon the main question.

Section 12. No person speaking shall be interrupted except by a call to order.

Section 13. If an article of the warrant has once been acted upon and disposed of, it shall not be again considered at that meeting, except by a two-thirds vote.

Section 14. When the report of a committee is placed in the hands of the Moderator, it shall be deemed to be properly before the meeting for its action thereon. A vote to accept the report shall discharge the committee, but shall not be equivalent to a vote to carry out its recommendations without a special vote to adopt them.

Section 15. No report of any committee shall be in order unless made under an article in the warrant which indicates the subject matter to be reported upon.

Section 16. When any Town Meeting shall be adjourned, except from day to day, by reason of the regular business of the meeting being unfinished, the Town Clerk shall cause notices of the time and place of holding such adjourned meeting to be duly posted in the public places referred to in Article 1, Section 2. These notices shall also state briefly the business to come before such adjourned meeting, and shall include any notice of proposed reconsideration.

Section 17. No motion to dissolve a Town Meeting shall be in order until every article in the warrant therefor has been duly considered and acted upon, but this shall not preclude the postponement of action on, or consideration of, any article to an adjournment of the meeting to a stated time, or to a future regular or special meeting.

Section 18. All committees shall be appointed by the Moderator, unless otherwise directed by the meeting, and it shall be the duty of the member first named promptly to call the committee together for organization.

Section 19. The conduct of all Town Meetings, except as otherwise prescribed by law, or by the foregoing rules, shall be determined by the rules of practice contained in Cushing's Manual, so far as they are adapted to Town Meetings.

ARTICLE II.

Duties of Town Officers.

Section 1. The several boards of Town Officers shall, at the close of each fiscal year, prepare a report of all their doings, with a statement in detail of all their payments and expenditures, and all liabilities incurred by them, including all outstanding orders and claims against the Town, the valuation of all property of the Town in their hands or under their care, and all debt due the Town, and submit an estimate of the probable expenses of the Town for the ensuing year in their several departments.

Section 2. No Town Officer and no salaried employee of the Town, nor any agent of any such officer or employee, shall receive any compensation or commission for work done by him for the Town except his official salary and fees allowed by law, without the permission of the Selectmen expressed in a vote, which shall appear on their records with the reason therefor.

Section 3. All Town Officers, whether elected or appointed by the Selectmen, shall pay all money belonging to the Town, received by them in their respective departments, for the sale of property or from any other source whatsoever to the Town Treasurer, on or before the fifth day of each month.

Section 4. No board, committee nor officer having charge of any work, the payment of which is in any part to be voluntarily contributed by private parties, shall perform said work until a sum estimated by such board, committee or officer, to be sufficient to cover the payment of the portion of said work chargeable to such private citizens, has been deposited with the Town Treasurer.

Section 5. All bonds of Treasurers, Collectors, Constables, or other persons shall, except as otherwise herein provided, be safely kept and retained by such officers of the Town as the Selectmen shall designate, and shall not be surrendered or cancelled until their accounts are closed by the Town.

Section 6. All reports shall be in the hands of the Selectmen for printing not later than the fifteenth of January in each year.

ARTICLE III.

Selectmen.

Section 1. Unless otherwise specially ordered by vote of the Town at a meeting called for the purpose, the Selectmen shall have full authority as agents of the Town to appear (either personally or by counsel) and defend suits brought against it. They shall consider all claims and suits made or brought against the Town, whether at law or in equity, and may settle the same; provided, however, that except as otherwise provided by law in no case shall a settlement be so made by payment of more than five hundred dollars ($500) without a vote of the Town. Except as authorized by statute or as below provided, the Selectmen shall have no authority to institute any proceedings in the name or in behalf of the Town unless authorized so to do by vote of the Town. They may institute and prosecute proceedings in equity for injunctive or similar relief, and in all such cases they shall promptly report their action to the Town at the next succeeding Town Meeting.

Section 2. All conveyances of land or interests in land which may hereafter be authorized by a vote of the Town or otherwise, except land held under tax titles, shall be signed by a majority of the Board of Selectmen, unless otherwise provided by law or by special vote of the Town and the same shall be sealed with the Town seal.

Section 3. The Selectmen after drawing a warrant for a Town Meeting shall immediately transmit a copy of the same to the Chairman of the Finance Committee.

Section 4. The Selectmen shall furnish, for the use of the voters at each Town Meeting, and at any adjournment thereof, printed copies of the warrant for the meeting.

Section 5. The Selectmen shall maintain some suitable place within a reasonable distance of the village, as a free dump, upon which the inhabitants of the Town shall have the right, under suitable regulations, to be made from time to time by the Selectmen, to deposit ashes, cinders, papers, tin cans and such other rubbish as may be permitted by the Selectmen, with the approval of the Board of Health. Said dump shall be under the care and supervision of the Selectmen.

Section 6. The Selectmen shall have the power to rent the Town Hall for any lawful purpose, provided, however, that at all times, such renting shall be subject to the use by the Town for Town purposes.

Section 7. The Selectmen may appear (either personally or by counsel) before any Court or any State or County Board or Commission, to protect the interests of the Town.

ARTICLE IV. Town Clerk.

Section 1. The Town Clerk shall furnish all boards, committees and officers with a copy of all votes affecting them.

Section 2. He shall, as soon as practicable after any election has been held by the Town, in addition to the notices he is now required to give to officers who are required to take an oath of office, also issue a written or printed notice to all persons who have been elected to any other office, or chosen to serve on any other committee, stating the office to which such person has been elected, or the duties which such committee was chosen to perform.

Section 3. He shall see that every conveyance to the Town of any interest in land is properly recorded in the Registry of Deeds and he shall keep a true copy in a book, to be kept for such purpose alone, of all deeds, or conveyances executed by the Selectmen.

ARTICLE V. Duties of the Town Treasurer and Collector.

Section 1. The Town Treasurer shall have the custody of all insurance policies belonging to the Town, and (save as otherwise ordered by the Selectmen) of all official bonds, except his own, which shall be in the custody of the Selectmen.

ARTICLE VI. Finance Committee.

Section 1. There shall be a Finance Committee, consisting of nine legal voters of the Town, no one of whom shall be a Town Officer elected by ballot, or an appointed official receiving a salary. The members of this Committee shall serve without salary.

Section 2. The Finance Committee shall be appointed in the following manner: The Moderator elected at the annual Town Meeting in the year 1919 shall, as soon as these by-laws are adopted and approved, appoint one member for a term of one year, one for a term of two years, and one for a term of three years. The Board of Selectmen shall concurrently appoint two for one year, two for two years, two for three years. The Moderator elected at the annual meeting in each year thereafter shall in February of that year appoint one member of said Committee to serve for the term of three years. The Board of Selectmen shall concurrently appoint two for a term of three years.

Said Committee shall meet at the call of the Chairman of the Board of Selectmen for the purpose of original organization and choose its chairman and clerk. The Committee shall from time to time promptly fill by appointment any vacancies which occur in its membership, and each appointee shall serve for the remainder of his predecessor's term of office.

Section 3. It shall be the duty of this Committee to consider all matters of business calling for appropriations or expenditure of money or disposing of Town property included within the articles of any warrant for a Town Meeting hereafter issued, and it shall be the duty of the Selectmen after drawing a Town warrant to transmit immediately a copy of the same to the Chairman or Clerk of the Finance Committee, and the Committee shall after due consideration of the subject matter in said articles report thereon, prior to the meeting in question, and in print, information, recommendations and estimates, with reasons therefor. The Finance Committee may employ such expert and other assistance as the Committee may deem advisable.

ARTICLE VII. Financial Matters in General.

Section 1. No bill, charge or account against the Town shall be paid without the approval in writing first being obtained of the person, board or committee authorized to contract the same.

Section 2. No contract involving the expenditure of a sum in excess of $500 shall be entered into by any board or officer of the Town, unless otherwise provided by law, until competitive bids therefor have been obtained either by invitation from at least three responsible bidders or by advertisement, and the contract awarded to the lowest responsible bidder who shall properly file the required bond. The term "responsible" shall be held to cover both the bidder's financial ability, his experience and reputation in the class of work involved, and his physical equipment properly to carry out the proposed work, and the board or officers in whose department the work is to be done and who is responsible to the Town therefor shall be the sole judge as to the bidder's responsibility hereunder.

Advertisements for such proposals shall be published in a newspaper having a circulation in Manchester and shall require that the proposals be sealed, properly addressed, and shall state the time and place of opening, which shall in all cases be public.

All such contracts shall be secured by a bond of a reputable surety company or two or more individuals resident within this Commonwealth, satisfactory to the board or officer acting for the Town, and shall be conditioned for the faithful performance of the work proposed. In lieu of filing a bond, security in form of cash, certified check or proper collateral may be accepted.

Nothing herein contained shall prevent the awarding of contracts without such advertising in cases requiring immediate attention or in the purchase of supplies, merchandise or materials of a special make or manufacture.

Section 3. All accounts of the Town shall be audited at the close of each fiscal year under the supervision of the Director of the Bureau of Statistics in accordance with the provisions of Chapter 706 of the Acts of 1913, and Acts in addition and amendment thereto.

ARTICLE VIII.

Duties of the Police Department.

Section 1. The Police Department shall consist of a Chief of Police, a Police Sergeant, and such number of Police Officers as the Board of Selectmen shall deem necessary.

Section 2. The Chief of Police shall have the care of the Police Station, shall have the care and custody of all property of the Town used by the Department, and shall keep a full and complete record of the business of the Department.

Section 3. The Chief of Police shall have power to temporarily relieve from duty any of his subordinates for neglect or non-performance of his duty, for any act contrary to good order and discipline, or for the violation of any of the rules and regulations of the Department. In such case, he shall, within forty-eight hours furnish to the Board of Selectmen in writing a statement of his reasons for relieving such subordinate from duty.

Section 4. The Sergeant of Police shall be under the immediate direction of the Chief of Police, shall assist him in his duties, and in his absence shall have and exercise all the powers and duties conferred and imposed upon the Chief of Police.

Section 5. It shall be the duty of each

Police Officer to immediately report to the Chief of Police all accidents happening on any ways patrolled by him, involving persons or property. In such cases he may possibly make a careful investigation and addresses thereto in his report to the Chief of Police, who, in turn, shall make full report thereof to the Board of Selectmen.

Section 6. Special subject to the authority of the Chief of Police and shall at all times to the same he shall receive compensation as fixed by the Board of Selectmen, which shall be paid by the Town.

ARTICLE IX.

Water Department.

Section 1. The Board of Water and Sewer Commissioners shall annually, on or before the first day of January, present to the Board of Selectmen a report made up to and including the last day of December preceding the year ending on said last day of December, containing a statement of the condition of the Water Works, of land and other property owned therewith, and any information or suggestion which they may deem important.

Section 2. The Commissioners shall semi-annually submit to property owners for water bills. These bills shall be due and payable respectively on June 1st and December 1st, and shall be paid to the Town Treasurer, and if unpaid may be collected in an action brought in the name of the Town.

Section 3. The Commissioners shall ascertain if bills have not been paid when due, and upon the non-payment of rates within fifteen days after they are payable, the Commissioners shall serve notice by registered mail upon the property owner, that unless the rates are paid within five days after the date of service will be added to the charges remaining due at the expiration of said five days.

Section 4. The Water Commissioners shall have power to temporarily relieve from duty any of his subordinates for neglect or non-performance of his duty, for any act contrary to good order and discipline, or for the violation of any of the rules and regulations of the Department. In such case, he shall, within forty-eight hours furnish to the Board of Selectmen in writing a statement of his reasons for relieving such subordinate from duty.

Section 5. The Sergeant of Police shall be under the immediate direction of the Chief of Police, shall assist him in his duties, and in his absence shall have and exercise all the powers and duties conferred and imposed upon the Chief of Police.

Section 6. It shall be the duty of each

Police Officer to immediately report to the Chief of Police all accidents happening on any ways patrolled by him, involving persons or property. In such cases he may possibly make a careful investigation and addresses thereto in his report to the Chief of Police, who, in turn, shall make full report thereof to the Board of Selectmen.

Section 7. The Commissioners shall have power to temporarily relieve from duty any of his subordinates for neglect or non-performance of his duty, for any act contrary to good order and discipline, or for the violation of any of the rules and regulations of the Department. In such case, he shall, within forty-eight hours furnish to the Board of Selectmen in writing a statement of his reasons for relieving such subordinate from duty.

Section 8. No water shall be supplied to parties who are not entitled to its use, unless by written permit of the Commissioners.

Section 9. Upon any violation of the provisions of this Article, the water shall immediately be shut off from the building or place where such violation occurred, unless the Commissioners, after investigation, decide that the interests of the Town and the accomplishment of justice do not require such action.

Section 10. All persons taking water shall keep in order the service pipe within their premises and be liable for all damages resulting from their failure to do so.

Section 11. All property owners using water must furnish internal pipes, connections and all fixtures; and must keep them in good repair and protect them from frost at their own expense, including the meter; the Town reserves the right to make all meter repairs.

The Town will not be liable for any damage resulting from the failure of the owner to keep all pipes and fixtures in repair.

The owner shall avoid all unnecessary waste; and the water must in no case be left running to prevent freezing, or for other purposes, without the permission of the Water Commissioners or their duly authorized agent.

Section 12. Stricken out as per vote at Special Town Meeting held on December 18, 1919.

Section 13. Owners of premises will be held responsible for the water rates of their tenants.

Section 14. The Water Commissioners, or their agent, shall have free access to all premises supplied with water, and to ascertain the quantity of water used; and all pipes shall be subject to rejection by said Board if considered unsuitable for the purpose.

Section 15. The Commissioners shall have the right in any or all cases to install meters for the purpose of measuring the quantity of water used; to restrict the use of hose or fountains, to shut off the water whenever it becomes necessary in order to make extensions or repairs, and to shut it off for violation of any of the rules or regulations of the Department or of any provision of these by-laws. When the supply is shut off for such violation, the water shall not be turned on again except on a new written application.

Section 16. Water will not be turned on any new service until all charges for service piping are paid.

Section 17. No person shall be allowed to disconnect or to connect a meter or to make any repairs on any meter, except the employees of the Water Department. All meters are Town property, and to be in charge of the Commissioners at all times.

Section 18. Nothing in these by-laws shall be construed as conflicting with any license issued under the authority of the Commonwealth.

Section 19. The Board of Selectmen shall have authority to grant such license to any person of good repute for morals and integrity who is, or has, declared his intentions to become a citizen of the United States. Said license, unless sooner revoked by the Board of Selectmen, shall expire one year after the granting thereof, and each person so licensed shall pay therefor a fee of Eight Dollars.

Section 20. No hawker or pedler shall sell, or offer for sale, or expose for sale, any of the articles enumerated in Section 15, Chapter 65 of the Revised Laws, or in any acts in amendment thereof or in addition thereto, until he has recorded his name and residence with the Board of Health, or such other board or officer as may be designated by the Selectmen. Every person licensed under the provisions of the preceding section as a hawker or pedler of fruits and vegetables shall record his name and residence in like manner, with such board or officer.

Section 21. No person hawking, peddling, or carrying or exposing for sale any of the articles enumerated in Section 15 of Chapter 65 of the Revised Laws and acts in amendment thereof and in addition thereto, shall cry his wares to the disturbance of the peace and comfort of the inhabitants of the Town, nor shall carry or convey such articles otherwise than in vehicles and receptacles which are neat and clean and do not leak.

Section 22. Every hawker and pedler licensed by the Board of Selectmen shall be assigned a number and shall be provided by the Board of Health with a badge, which shall be conspicuously worn by him; and every other such hawker and pedler as described in Section 3 shall provide himself with a badge, of such type and design as may be approved by said Board of Health. Whoever neglects to wear, or wears such badge without authority, shall be punished by the penalty provided in Section 10 of this by-law.

Section 23. Every vehicle or other receptacle used by a person licensed under this by-law as a conveyance for articles offered or exposed for sale by him shall have attached thereto on each side a number plate, to be furnished by the Town with his license bearing the number and date of expiration of such license.

Section 24. No person shall be registered or assigned a badge or number under the provisions of Sections 3 and 5 of these by-laws, until he presents a certificate from the Sealer of Weights and Measures stating or otherwise satisfies the Selectmen that all weighing and measuring devices intended to be used by such person have been duly inspected and sealed as required by law. The use of, or possession by such person with intent to use, any false or unsealed weighing or measuring devices shall be sufficient cause for the revocation of his license, or the cancellation of his registration.

Section 25. Nothing in these by-laws shall be construed as conflicting with any license issued under the authority of the Commonwealth.

Section 26. Any license granted under these by-laws or any by-law amendment or additional thereto may be revoked by the Board granting the same.

Section 27. Whoever violates any provision of these by-laws shall be punished by a fine not exceeding Twenty Dollars for each offense.

ARTICLE XI. Junk Dealers.

Section 1. The Selectmen may license suitable persons to be dealers in and keepers of shops for the purchase, sale or barter of junk, old metals or second-hand articles, subject to the provisions of the laws of this Commonwealth.

Section 2. The Board of Selectmen shall have authority to grant such license to any person of good repute for morals and integrity who is, or has, declared his intentions to become a citizen of the United States. Said license, unless sooner revoked by the Board of Selectmen, shall expire one year after the granting thereof, and each person so licensed shall pay therefor a fee of Eight Dollars.

Section 3. No hawker or pedler shall sell, or offer for sale, or expose for sale, any of the articles enumerated in Section 15, Chapter 65 of the Revised Laws, or in any acts in amendment thereof or in addition thereto, until he has recorded his name and residence with the Board of Health, or such other board or officer as may be designated by the Selectmen. Every person licensed under the provisions of the preceding section as a hawker or pedler of fruits and vegetables shall record his name and residence in like manner, with such board or officer.

Section 4. No person hawking, peddling, or carrying or exposing for sale any of the articles enumerated in Section 15 of Chapter 65 of the Revised Laws and acts in amendment thereof and in addition thereto, shall cry his wares to the disturbance of the peace and comfort of the inhabitants of the Town, nor shall carry or convey such articles otherwise than in vehicles and receptacles which are neat and clean and do not leak.

Section 5. Every hawker and pedler licensed by the Board of Selectmen shall be assigned a number and shall be provided by the Board of Health with a badge, which shall be conspicuously worn by him; and every other such hawker and pedler as described in Section 3 shall provide himself with a badge, of such type and design as may be approved by said Board of Health. Whoever neglects to wear, or wears such badge without authority, shall be punished by the penalty provided in Section 10 of this by-law.

Section 6. Every vehicle or other receptacle used by a person licensed under this by-law as a conveyance for articles offered or exposed for sale by him shall have attached thereto on each side a number plate, to be furnished by the Town with his license bearing the number and date of expiration of such license.

Section 7. No person shall be registered or assigned a badge or number under the provisions of Sections 3 and 5 of these by-laws, until he presents a certificate from the Sealer of Weights and Measures stating or otherwise satisfies the Selectmen that all weighing and measuring devices intended to be used by such person have been duly inspected and sealed as required by law. The use of, or possession by such person with intent to use, any false or unsealed weighing or measuring devices shall be sufficient cause for the revocation of his license, or the cancellation of his registration.

Section 8. Nothing in these by-laws shall be construed as conflicting with any license issued under the authority of the Commonwealth.

Section 9. Any license granted under these by-laws or any by-law amendment or additional thereto may be revoked by the Board granting the same.

Section 10. Whoever violates any provision of these by-laws shall be punished by a fine not exceeding Twenty Dollars for each offense.

Section 11. The Selectmen may license suitable persons to be dealers in and keepers of shops for the purchase, sale or barter of junk, old metals or second-hand articles, subject to the provisions of the laws of this Commonwealth.

Section 12. The Board of Selectmen shall have authority to grant such license to any person of good repute for morals and integrity who is, or has, declared his intentions to become a citizen of the United States. Said license, unless sooner revoked by the Board of Selectmen, shall expire one year after the granting thereof, and each person so licensed shall pay therefor a fee of Eight Dollars.

Section 13. No hawker or pedler shall sell, or offer for sale, or expose for sale, any of the articles enumerated in Section 15, Chapter 65 of the Revised Laws, or in any acts in amendment thereof or in addition thereto, until he has recorded his name and residence with the Board of Health, or such other board or officer as may be designated by the Selectmen. Every person licensed under the provisions of the preceding section as a hawker or pedler of fruits and vegetables shall record his name and residence in like manner, with such board or officer.

Section 14. No person hawking, peddling, or carrying or exposing for sale any of the articles enumerated in Section 15 of Chapter 65 of the Revised Laws and acts in amendment thereof and in addition thereto, shall cry his wares to the disturbance of the peace and comfort of the inhabitants of the Town, nor shall carry or convey such articles otherwise than in vehicles and receptacles which are neat and clean and do not leak.

Section 15. The Commissioners shall have the right in any or all cases to install meters for the purpose of measuring the quantity of water used; to restrict the use of hose or fountains, to shut off the water whenever it becomes necessary in order to make extensions or repairs, and to shut it off for violation of any of the rules or regulations of the Department or of any provision of these by-laws. When the supply is shut off for such violation, the water shall not be turned on again except on a new written application.

Section 16. Water will not be turned on any new service until all charges for service piping are paid.

Section 17. No person shall be allowed to disconnect or to connect a meter or to make any repairs on any meter, except the employees of the Water Department. All meters are Town property, and to be in charge of the Commissioners at all times.

ARTICLE XIII. Hackney Carriages and Motor Vehicles and Traffic Rules.

Section 1. The Board of Selectmen may license suitable persons to set up and use hackney carriages for the conveyance of passengers for hire within the Town of Manchester, and may revoke said licenses at pleasure. Each person engaged in the business of conveying passengers for hire within the Town, by means of a hackney carriage as herein defined, shall take such number of hackney licenses as shall equal the greatest number of such vehicles to be used at any one time, by said person, during the year for which the license is issued. Any horse-drawn or motor vehicle regularly or commonly used for the conveyance of persons for hire within said Town (except a jitney, a trackless trolley vehicle and a motor vehicle running on tracks or rails) shall be deemed a hackney carriage. Any motor vehicle (except a trackless trolley vehicle, so-called) not running on tracks or rails, regularly or commonly used for the transportation of passengers for hire between fixed and regular termini, shall be deemed a jitney.

Section 2. No person having charge of, or driving or operating any hackney carriage shall, knowingly, receive or permit to be placed therein or convey in or upon the same, any person sick with any contagious disease without subsequently, and before the occupancy or conveyance of other persons, having such conveyance properly fumigated to the satisfaction of the Board of Health.

Section 3. When a horse drawn vehicle is backed up to the curb, the horse or horses shall be turned so as to stand parallel with the sidewalk, and headed toward the right hand.

Section 4. No person, other than the holder of a license issued under the provisions of this or the next following Article, his agents or employees, shall solicit passengers for hire in any public way or place within the Town.

Every licensee shall affix to and maintain upon each licensed vehicle set up, used or driven by or for him, a card or plate bearing in plain and conspicuous letters his name and license number.

Section 5. All licenses granted as aforesaid shall expire on the first day of May next after the date thereof, and may be revoked at the pleasure of the Board of Selectmen. No license granted under this Article shall be sold, assigned or transferred.

Section 6. The Clerk of the Board of Selectmen shall notify the Town Clerk of all licenses granted under the provisions of this Article, and the Town Clerk shall sign and issue the same on payment of the fee prescribed.

Section 7. The fee for a license under the provisions of this Article shall be Fifty Cents, payable to the Town Clerk for the use of the Town.

ARTICLE XIV.

Relative to the Operation of Jitneys

Section 1. No person, firm or corporation shall operate a jitney as defined in Section 1 of Article XIII of these by-laws for the transportation for hire of passengers within, out of or into the Town of Manchester unless the owner thereof shall first have obtained license therefor in accordance with the provisions of this Article.

Section 2. All licenses under this Article shall be issued by the Board of Selectmen, and may be revoked by the Board for a violation of any provision hereof, or for any other good cause. Said licenses shall expire on the first day of May in each year; and none shall be sold, assigned or transferred.

Section 3. No license shall be issued unless the person, partnership or corporation owning the jitney or jitneys shall have filed with the Town Clerk a petition addressed to the Board of Selectmen, setting forth the name, age and residence of the applicant (and of each of them, if more than one), and also of each person intended to be employed to drive the vehicles. In no event shall any applicant, driver or employee be less than twenty-one years of age. The petition shall also contain a statement of the experience of each applicant and of each proposed driver in the operation of motor-driven vehicles. No jitney may be driven except by persons named for the purpose in the petition and approved by the Selectmen. The petition shall state also the make, year, model and number of each jitney to be used, the seating capacity thereof, the termini between which, the time schedule of proposed service, and the routes on which the jitney or jitneys concerned are to be operated, and shall be accompanied by at least three references, each signed by one or more citizens of the Town of Manchester. All statements in a petition shall be verified by the oath of the person or persons signing the petition. In the case of a petition by a corporation, the same shall be sworn to by the President and Treasurer thereof respectively, and it shall set forth the names of all the officers and directors of the corporation.

Section 4. No driver or employee of any jitney licensed hereunder shall be less than twenty-one years of age. If the service of any driver or employee mentioned in an application under Section 3 shall terminate, the owner of the jitney before employing a successor shall notify the Selectmen directly, or through the Town Clerk, of the name, age, residence and experience of the intended successor.

Section 5. Every motor vehicle licensed under this Article shall have posted in a conspicuous place on the outside of said vehicle the name of the owner and license number, and also a sign indicating the termini and route of said vehicle and the fare to be charged therefor. There shall be kept at all times in said vehicle a copy of the schedule of service at the time in force and the license issued under the provisions of these sections which shall be shown to any police officer or other person having authority from the Board of Selectmen to examine said license on request.

Section 6. It shall be unlawful for any motor vehicle licensed hereunder to be operated on any other route, or between any other termini than those stated in the license except in cases of accident, break-down or other controlling emergency, nor to turn around before reaching the termini of the route. Nothing in this section nor elsewhere in this Article contained shall be construed to prohibit the operation, in addition to the service described in the schedule on file and in effect at the time, of special or extra trips over said route or portions thereof, and between said termini or points between the same during certain hours, or on special occasions.

Section 7. The license shall state the seating capacity of the pertinent vehicle, and no such vehicle shall carry at any time a greater number of passengers than the number so stated in said license, provided, however, that in addition to the number of passengers specified in the license the vehicle may carry children under seven years of age, in arms, or sitting on the laps of adult persons accompanying them, but no passenger with a child in arms, or sitting on the lap, shall be permitted on any front seat of the vehicle. No person owning, driving or in charge of a jitney shall suffer or permit any person to stand inside or to stand or sit upon any running board, steps, fender, dash or hood thereof, nor outside the body thereof.

Section 8. The licensee shall not reconstruct, materially modify, nor add to the body or seating arrangements of any jitney after the license therefor is issued without first applying for and receiving the consent of the Board of Selectmen.

Section 9. A licensee may change the schedule of proposed service by giving three days' prior notice in writing to the Selectmen, stating the changes and specifying the intended service thereafter to be in force.

Section 10. No person operating any jitney hereunder shall refuse to carry a person offering himself or herself at any regular stopping place for carriage unless the seats of such vehicle are fully occupied, nor unless such person is in an intoxicated condition or conducting himself in a boisterous or disorderly manner, or using profane language.

Section 11. Any jitney operated hereunder shall be adequately lighted on the inside between sunset and sunrise, and any such jitney with a seating capacity of more than seven passengers shall come to a full stop before crossing the tracks of any railroad at grade.

Section 12. Any jitney licensed hereunder shall be equipped with lights and horn, or other warning device as provided by law, also with some standard speedometer in good working order, and with a liquid fire extinguisher of some efficient type, all to be kept in satisfactory operating condition at all times. When leaving either terminus every such jitney shall be equipped with at least one extra serviceable tire in good condition. It shall at all times also carry and maintain in good working order a set of skid chains, and these shall be applied to the rear wheels when such vehicle is operated in any street or public place where there is snow or ice, or during other weather conditions when the application of such chains is necessary to prevent skidding.

Section 13. Every licensee shall immediately report fully in writing to the Selectmen the time and place and cause of any fatal accident, or any injury to a passenger or other person, or any accident which results in substantial property damage in which any jitney licensed hereunder is involved.

Section 14. For each licensed jitney the licensee shall pay a fee of five dollars to the Town Treasurer.

Section 15. No jitney license issued by the Board of Selectmen shall be operative until the licensee shall have filed a bond with the Town Treasurer in accordance with the provisions of Chapter 293 of the General Acts of 1916.

(a) For a license covering a motor vehicle or vehicles with a total seating capacity of ten passengers or less, Two Thousand Dollars.

(b) For a license covering a motor vehicle or vehicles with a total seating capacity of more than ten but not more than fifteen passengers, Three Thousand Dollars.

(c) For a license covering a motor vehicle or vehicles with a total seating capacity of more than fifteen but not more than thirty passengers, Four Thousand Dollars.

(d) For a license covering a motor vehicle or vehicles with a total seating capacity of over thirty passengers, Five Thousand Dollars.

Section 16. Vehicles must stop so as not to interfere with, or prevent the passage of pedestrians at crossings, and at all times drivers of vehicles must stop the same on signal from a police officer.

Section 17. No person having charge of any vehicle shall place the same in any public street so as to prevent or obstruct the passing of other vehicles, unless for a reasonable time, not exceeding five minutes.

Section 18. Whoever violates any provision of the preceding sections shall be liable to a fine of not more than Twenty Dollars.

ARTICLE XV.

Streets and Sidewalks.

Section 1. Except as otherwise provided or permitted by law no person shall erect, set up, or maintain any permanent structure extending or projecting over or upon any sidewalk, street or highway.

Section 2. No person other than a Town agent shall place or cause to be placed on any public sidewalk, street or highway, or upon any of the common lands of the Town, any gravel, dirt, wood, lumber, buildings, carriages, boxes, barrels, stones, coal or any rubbish, or other things and suffer the same to remain thereon for more than one hour after being notified by a police officer to remove the same.

Section 3. No person by himself or his agents or servants shall distribute or place in or upon any street, square, park, common, lane, alleyway or other public places any placard, handbill, flyer, poster, advertisement or paper of any description unless having first received a permit from the Board of Selectmen or Chief of Police.

Section 4. No person shall suffer any horse or grazing beasts or swine to run at large in the Town or feed within the limits of the highway either with or without a keeper.

Section 5. No person shall throw stones, snow balls, sticks or other missiles or kick football or play at any game in which a ball is used, or fly kites or balloons, or shoot with or use an air gun, bow and arrow, slingshot or other similar devices in or across any public ways or common of the Town.

Section 6. No person shall wilfully or negligently obstruct the free passage of foot travellers on any sidewalk nor shall any person loaf upon any sidewalk or on any street or public way of the Town.

Section 7. No person shall coast upon or across any sidewalk, street or highway, except at such times and in such places as may from time to time be designated by the Selectmen.

Section 8. No person shall knowingly suffer or permit any water or other liquid substance to run or be discharged from any building owned by him or under his control onto or across any curbed or finished sidewalk, except that any person may wash, with water from hose or pipe, windows or other parts of a building, on private property, without endangering the public safety.

Section 9. No person shall fire or discharge any gun, pistol or other fire arms in or across any of the streets or public places in the Town, but this section shall not prevent the use of such weapons in the lawful defence of one's person, family or property, nor in the performance of any duty required or authorized by law.

Section 10. No person shall throw or cause to be thrown or placed upon any sidewalk, street or highway of the Town any nails, spikes, screws, glass tin cans or other similar articles.

Section 11. No person shall throw or place upon any sidewalk or street crossing any banana skin, orange skin or other slippery substance.

Section 12. No person shall suffer a platform or grate or opening to a cellar or basement in any street or sidewalk to rise above the surface of the same, and every such entrance or opening shall be at all times covered by a suitable grating or covering.

Section 13. No owner or person having the care of any building abutting upon any brick, concrete or other curbed or finished sidewalk, the roof of which building slants towards the sidewalk, shall permit the building to be without a barrier, snow guard or other device to prevent the falling of snow or ice from such roof to the sidewalk.

Section 14. No person shall ride, drive or cause to be driven any horse or vehicle over that part of any street or way which is being mended, repaired or paved, if a sign is posted prohibiting the same.

Section 15. All petitions from persons or corporations for permission to erect poles in the public ways shall state therein an accurate description of the location prayed for and be accompanied by proper plans defining the same, together with the location of all buildings adjacent to the highway, all poles then standing on the way with the ownership thereof and all shade trees and hydrants, all within a space of three hundred feet of the location desired in either direction of said way.

Section 16. Any person violating any of the provisions of this Article shall be liable to a fine of not more than Ten Dollars, unless otherwise especially provided.

Section 17. The word "vehicle" as used in this Article shall include every description of carriage or other artificial contrivance used or capable of being used as a means of transportation on land, except as otherwise provided herein or by law.

ARTICLE XVI.

Amendments and Repeal.

Section 1. These by-laws may be amended at any Town Meeting, an article or articles for that purpose having been inserted in the warrant for such meeting; and any such amendment shall become effective when approved by the Attorney General and published as required by law.

Section 2. Upon approval by the Attorney General of these by-laws, or any portion thereof, and the completion thereafter of publication as required by law of such whole or part, all previous by-laws of the Town of Manchester shall be, and the same hereby are, repealed.

I hereby certify that the foregoing By-Laws were adopted by the voters of Manchester at a Special Town Meeting held on December 18, 1919.

LYMAN W. FLOYD,
Town Clerk.

Dec. 19, 1919.

The foregoing By-Laws are hereby approved.

A common victualler's license was granted this week by the Selectmen to Mrs. William Chadwick.

Miss Abbie Floyd has been spending the week in Cambridge visiting her brother, Joseph Floyd, and family.

Rev. F. W. Manning, who has been at the Massachusetts Eye and Ear Infirmary for the past week, arrived home Monday. He will continue to take treatment there for several weeks.

Mr. and Mrs. L. R. Rowe, who have been living at the Carey cottage, Pine st., the past few months, have bought a cottage in Woburn, where they have moved. Mr. Rowe has been employed at Highwood. He will now resume his former position with the Woolworth factory in South Boston. Mr. Van Hees succeeds Mr. Rowe at Highwood, as poultry man, and with his family is occupying the Carey cottage.

MAGNOLIA LODGE TO HAVE LARGE CLASS OF CANDIDATES

At the regular meeting last night of Magnolia lodge, 149, I. O. O. F., at their hall, Manchester, two more applications for membership were received. The newly installed officers are starting the year under very auspicious circumstances.

The initiatory degree will be conferred on a large class of candidates Thursday evening, Jan. 29. The degree teams are putting in some time rehearsing, and it is planned to work the degrees on this class of candidates in fine shape.

News of the resignation of Roland C. Lincoln, of Forest Hills and Manchester, as a member of the board of library trustees in Manchester, will be received with genuine regret. Mr. Lincoln gave his resignation to the Selectmen this week to take effect at the expiration of the present year, after serving one year of a 3-year term.

For 24 years Mr. Lincoln has served the people of Manchester as library trustee; during the entire time he has been chairman of the board. He has served most efficiently, giving many hours to a careful consideration of the solution of all problems connected with the affairs of the library.

His broad experience and education have been of good avail in building up the library until it has reached the high plane where it is now. Together with his associates on the board he has striven to reduce the percentage of fiction and to increase the amount of reading of the works of masters of literature.

The Manchester library has about 14,000 volumes. It is interesting to know that these books are catalogued according to the plan in use at the Congressional library, Washington.

To have the responsibility of selecting the books for a community to read is no small task, and it is indeed hard to please everybody. The trustees pay careful attention to each book they place on the library shelves, and when a man is honored by being re-elected trustee for nearly a quarter century it is evidence that his interest is thoroughly appreciated.

Mr. Lincoln retires amid the regret of Manchester people, but with the consciousness that he has done his work well and that our town is fully aware of its importance. The reason for Mr. Lincoln's action, it is understood, is his failing eyesight.

FRATERNAL SOCIETIES TO HOLD INSTALLATION CEREMONIES

There will be a joint installation on the evening of Wednesday, Jan. 21, of the officers for Conomo tribe of Red Men and Masconomo council, Daughters of Pocahontas. LeForest Kenney, deputy, of Lynn, and Mrs. Lufkin, deputy of council, of Gloucester, will be the installing officers.

Liberty lodge of Rebekahs, I. O. O. F., will have their installation of officers tonight (Friday evening). Mrs. Lillian S. Krogh, district deputy president, of Salem, will be installing officer.

MANCHESTER CHURCHES

Baptist church, Rev. H. E. Levoy, pastor. Sunday morning at 10.45 there will be a preaching service, with sermon by the pastor. Sunday evening at 7 o'clock there will be a song service followed by preaching, the subject being "Poor in Money, but Rich in Grace."

Monday evening at 7 o'clock the Seaside chapter of the World Wide Guild will meet at the Baptist parsonage.

There will be a meeting of the Woman's Missionary society at the Baptist parsonage on Tuesday afternoon at 3 o'clock.

The Baptist church is preparing a series of special evangelistic services to be held the middle of February.

Rev. Edward P. Holton, a missionary from India, will occupy the pulpit of the Congl. church, during the illness of the pastor, Rev. F. W. Manning. Last Sunday Mr. Holton gave an interesting account of his work with the people of India. Much was brought home to us concerning these strange people and from Mr. Holton's experience we learned that religion is not taught, but "caught."

THE POLITICAL POT

MANCHESTER'S ANNUAL TOWN MEETING AND ELECTION AP-PROACHING

The time for the annual town meeting is rapidly approaching—only three weeks from next Tuesday. The date is Tuesday, Feb. 10.

o o o

The resignation of Roland C. Lincoln, who has served very efficiently for 24 years as chairman of the board of library trustees, will necessitate electing a new member of the board. There will be two trustees to elect at town meeting this year.

o o o

It is expected that the total vote this year will be somewhat larger than for the past two years due to the return to town of our men who were absent in military service.

o o o

Tomorrow, Saturday, is the last day to submit articles to the Selectmen for insertion in the warrant for town meeting. The warrant will close at 5 o'clock in the afternoon. The Selectmen have a notice to that effect in this issue.

By an adv. in another column it will be noticed that the board of registrars will be in session at the office of the town clerk, on Wednesday evening, Jan. 21, and Wednesday evening, Jan. 28, from 7 to 9 o'clock, and Saturday, Jan. 31, from 12 m. to 10 p. m., "for the purpose of receiving evidence of the qualification of persons claiming a right to vote at the election to be held on Tuesday, Feb. 10, and of correcting the list of voters. Also to certify to the signatures on nomination papers."

FORGE FROM THIRD TO FIRST PLACE IN TOURNAMENT

The second contest in the pitch tournament of the Odd Fellows, Red Men, Legion, and Sons of Veterans was held Monday evening in the rooms of the Launch club, Manchester. Each order was represented by its full quota of players.

The Sons of Veterans, who were in third place last week, were successful in gaining first position Monday night, forcing the Odd Fellows to accept the second berth. It is an odd coincidence that as the Odd Fellows led the Red Men last week by one point, so do the Sons of Veterans lead the Odd Fellows this week by the same margin—one lone point.

The Red Men, with a total of 30 points, are only a short distance from the leaders, while the Legion with 21 occupy the same position as last week. It is expected that the world war veterans will soon start an offensive which their opponents will have considerable difficulty in stopping.

Owing to the minstrel show rehearsal on Monday night the next series in the tournament will be played on Friday evening, Jan. 23. Players will take notice of the change in date.

The schedule for next Friday evening's playing is as follows: Legion No. 1 vs. I. O. O. F. No. 1; S. of V. No. 1 vs. Red Men No. 1; Legion No. 2 vs. Red Men No. 2; I. O. O. F. No. 2 vs. S. of V. No. 2; Legion No. 3 vs. S. of V. No. 3; Red Men No. 3 vs. I. O. O. F. No. 3.

JOINT INSTALLATION

G. A. R., W. R. C., AND S. OF V.
HAVE EXERCISES

A joint installation of newly elected officers of Allen post, 67, G. A. R., Allen W. R. C., 119, and Col. H. P. Woodbury camp, 149, S. of V., was held Friday evening at the Town hall, Manchester. The snow storm of that day and evening interfered somewhat with the attendance. The hall was decorated with flags and bunting for the occasion.

Supper for members of the three orders and the local post of American Legion was held from 5.30 to 7 o'clock at G. A. R. hall. The ladies of the Women's Relief corps were hostesses and served their guests with a very fine supper.

G. A. R. and W. R. C. Installed

At the Town hall the meeting was called to order by E. P. Stanley, commander of Allen post, G. A. R. The first business transacted was the installation of officers of this post. Comrade J. Horace Burnham, of Essex, was officer in charge and was assisted in installation by John L. Prest as acting officer of the day. The following are the new officers for 1920: Commander, E. P. Stanley; senior V. C., Nathaniel Morgan; junior V. C., Alfred S. Jewett; adjutant, A. S. Jewett; chaplain, D. W. Morse; surgeon, C. P. Goldsmith; quartermaster, E. P. Stanley; officer of the day, C. H. Stone; patriotic instructor, A. S. Jewett.

The W. R. C. then took charge of the meeting and the officers for the new year were installed. The installing officer was Mrs. Florence Haynes, of Salem, past department president and past national instructor. With Mrs. May Preston assisting as conductor, Mrs. Haynes installed the following officers for 1920: President, Mrs. Hannah Tappan; senior V. P., Mrs. Mary E. Smith; junior V. P., Mrs. Cleve H. Bell; treasurer, Mrs. Emily L. Silva; chaplain, Mrs. Jennie P. Dennis; conductor, Mrs. May Preston; guard, Mrs. Carrie F. Cook; secretary, Mrs. Mary M. Lane; patriotic instructor, Mrs. Helen L. Willmonton; musician, Mrs. Flora S. Hersey; press correspondent, Mrs. Julia E. Reed; assistant conductor, Mrs. Carrie Chatman; assistant guard, Miss Ruth Coombs; color bearers, Mrs. Barbara E. Cook, Mrs. Nellie Doane, Miss Elizabeth Lethbridge, and Mrs. Queenie E. Dennis.

Presentation of Gifts

At this part of the exercises, Mrs. Tappan, president of the W. R. C. for 1920 and for the past 16 years its treasurer, made a few very pleasing remarks, calling attention to the fact that the meeting enjoyed a most unusual honor, that of entertaining a past department commander, Mr. Stanley, and a past department president, Mrs. Haynes. Mrs. Tappan, in behalf of the patriotic orders represented at the installations, presented Mrs. Haynes with a gold piece and Mr. Stanley with a handsome bouquet of carnations. Both responded in a very appreciative manner.

S. of V. Installation

Officers of the S. of V. camp were inducted into office by Past Commander John L. Prest, assisted by Walter R. Bell, as guide. The new list is as follows: Commander, Wm. S. Foster; senior V. C., Rodney H. Dow; junior V. C., Frank L. Floyd; patriotic instructor, John C. Mackin; secretary, Edward W. Baker; treas., George E. Hildreth; color bearer, Curtis B. Stanley; guide, Charles E. Bell; musician, Harry E. Slade; camp council, John C. Mackin, Geo. A. McFarland and Lewis W. Hutchinson; inner guard, George A. McFarland; outer guard, Fred W. Martin.

Past Commander Lyman W. Floyd presented Mr. Prest, installing officer, and his assistant, Walter R. Bell, with French briar pipes, in behalf of the S. of V. camp members. Mr. Floyd said: "Most of us are satisfied to have that prohibited which made Milwaukee famous, but we still enjoy an occasional smoke." Mr. Prest and Mr. Bell thanked their associates for the gifts.

Amaral Post Given Flag

The final event of the evening was the presentation to Frank B. Amaral post, A. L., of a post flag, given by the G. A. R., W. R. C., and S. of V. The W. R. C. was in charge. A large number of members of the post were present in uniform and, march-

Clarence Mackin, vice-commander of the Legion post, made the speech of acceptance. He spoke of the ideals of the Legion, of how fitting it was that such a fine flag should be entrusted to their care, and closed by saying that "this flag shall continue to wave o'er the land of the free and the home of the brave, governed by law and order."

Singing of the Star Spangled Banner brought to a close an occasion which will long be a pleasant memory to all who attended.

Fine Work by Officers

Words of praise should be written for the excellent manner in which the installing officers performed their duties. Comrade Burnham, Mrs. Haynes and Mr. Prest all had their parts committed to memory and delivered them most efficiently, the various ceremonies all moving along smoothly and impressively. Mrs. Flora S. Hersey was pianist during the evening.

MACNOLIA

Mrs. Wilson B. Richardson is on the sick list.

Susie Symonds, who has been visiting friends in Boston for several weeks, returned home Sunday.

Dr. Eaton will conduct the usual service in the Village church Sunday at 10.45 a. m. Sunday school meets at 11.45 a. m.

The children of the Village church Sunday school enjoyed a party Monday evening at the Women's clubhouse, under the direction of the superintendent, Miss Edna G. Symonds.

Russell Lucas, Jr., was born at the Beverly hospital Monday morning. This little stranger is the infant son of Mr. and Mrs. Russell Lucas, of Beverly, but formerly of this place. The mother and baby are doing nicely at this writing.

Magnolia is now in the throes of winter. The ground is covered with snow and traveling by way of automobiles is neither pleasant nor easy. The air, however, is pure and the "natives" are improving this opportunity to get a good supply of wood, of which there seems to be a great plenty yet in this vicinity.

Ernest Lucas, a son of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest C. Lucas, of Magnolia ave., and a Senior in the Manchester High school, has been chosen as one of its honor pupils. Congratulations, Ernest! But we expected this of you, having known of your habits of industry and study since you were a little boy. A good example to other young men, who may be too proud or too lazy to work. There is no royal road to renown even in these days.

ENJOYABLE SUPPER AND DANCE AT MAGNOLIA

The Ladies' Aid society of the Village church held an old-fashioned baked bean supper and dance, and for its benefit, at the Women's clubhouse, last night. Supper was served from 6 to 7.30 o'clock by the following committee: Mrs. Ernest Howe, Mrs. D. C. Ballou, Mrs. George Adams, Mrs. Thomas Harvey, Mrs. Henry Butler, Jr., Mrs. Charles Hoysradt, Mrs. John May, Mrs. Edward Wilkinson, Mrs. W. R. Boyd, Mrs. Leon Foster and Mrs. Lafayette Hunt. The music for the dancing was furnished by Messrs. Anderson and Leach.

BOY SCOUT ACTIVITIES

MANCHESTER BOYS ESPECIALLY FAVORED—UNUSUALLY GOOD PROGRAM ARRANGED

An attractive program has been arranged for the members of Troop I, Boy Scouts, Manchester, for the month of January, which will consist of several talks along educational lines.

On Jan. 16, Dr. W. H. Tyler will instruct the boys in first aid work. This should prove both interesting and useful to the boys as first aid is a part of Scout work and constitutes part of the Scouts' first and second class tests.

On Jan. 23, John ("Stuff") McInnis, premier first sacker of the Boston Red Sox, will give an informal talk to the boys which no doubt will hold the attention of the Scouts, as it will be pertaining to the great national game, interspersed with accounts of his own activities on the diamond. There will be an opportunity to ask questions and possibly to get some "inside stuff" on the game.

Next on the list will be Manager Rolfe, of the N. E. T. & T. Co., who will entertain with an illustrated talk on the "Modern Telephone." This should prove one of the best of the series, both as instructive and educational and it is hoped all the boys will avail themselves of this opportunity.

The Scoutmaster and his assistants plan on making these times both social and instructive and have several other speakers in view for next month's meetings.

All of these meetings should prove intensely interesting and are not only educationally beneficial, but are of exceptional value to the boys.

Members of Troop I should indeed think themselves fortunate that they have during these winter months such excellent and commodious quarters as their Scouthouse provides, where they can enjoy not only these extra programs of interest, but the usual diversions in the shape of games of all kinds as well as their well-kept and equipped reading room, where magazines and books of current numbers are at their disposal every afternoon and evening.

The weekly manual training class under the supervision of instructor S. Henry Hoare is now in full swing and good progress is being made in the completion of many fancy and useful articles in anticipation of their coming sale next summer.

Recently an unusual opportunity has been offered the boys to secure a mess kit. Through the efforts of Harry W. Purington, of the Troop council, a number of these kits were obtained from the training camp at Andover and many of the boys have availed themselves of this opportunity to get one as they will prove most useful on their hikes in the summer.

The boys are also employing their spare moments in studying up on their Scout tests, which include for first and second class Scouts, tests in signalling, first aid, boxing the compass, tracking, cooking, Scout pace, map reading, swimming and fire building, all these being included in the daily work of the Scouts.

A drama and entertainment is being prepared by a committee from Preston W. R. corps to be presented to the public in library hall the last of this month.

Another public whist party for the benefit of the flag fund for the local American Legion will be held in G. A. R. hall next Monday evening. This affair, like the previous ones, is to be under the auspices of Preston W. R. corps.

The afternoon ladies' whist party which was to have been held at the home of Mrs. George F. Wood, Hart st., on Wednesday afternoon, and was postponed because of Mrs. Wood's illness, will be held at her home on Thursday afternoon of next week.

George S. Day, freight clerk at the Beverly Farms station, started this week at a school in Boston to learn telegraphy. His place at the depot is being filled by Sidney Larcom.

Mr. and Mrs. Fernald Machain, of Valley st., attended the annual entertainment and ball of the Boston French Benevolent club, Wednesday evening. This affair is an annual one given in Boston and is always looked forward to with much pleasure by the members and friends.

Mrs. Sarah Crowell, who has been spending the past two months visiting friends at Beverly Cove, fell and broke her arm the first of the week. She was taken to the Beverly hospital. Mrs. Crowell is over 80 years of age. Last March she fell, breaking her hip, and had not fully recovered when this later misfortune came to her.

The transfer of the two Beverly Farms policemen, Messrs. Murphy and McDonnell, from beats in the city proper to the Beverly Farms and Pride's Crossing beats, was done evidently to relieve, for the time being, the need of a police station at Beverly Farms. These officers, when it comes time for their dinner hour or when their hours of duty are over, can go home. Heretofore the police officers who covered these beats lived in Beverly and had the privilege of "enjoying" their hours off standing around in the cold.

The Beverly Farms Improvement society sent a communication to last Monday evening's meeting of the Beverly Board of Aldermen requesting that the policy of the construction of sidewalks and street cleaning, the same as last year, be continued, that Webster ave. be better lighted and that several trees be set out in the Beverly Farms section during the coming year. The society also asked for better police protection on Haskell and Hart sts. It was suggested that when the city council make its annual visit to Beverly Farms for the purpose of learning the wants of the people in this section that the women of Beverly Farms be invited and given the privilege of attending the meeting.

COMMUNICATION

COYS POND DOES NOT BELONG TO PRIVATE INDIVIDUAL

Editor North Shore Breeze,

Dear Sir: In a recent edition of the Salem News, there was an article reporting the difficulties which the public is encountering when they choose to fish or hunt in Coys Pond—a state pond situated in Wenham. Having myself had the "pleasure" of being ordered off this state pond, and my fishing gear destroyed—presumably by this same gentleman, I feel it my duty to give the general public the benefit of information I have regarding this pond, that they may know their rights and not be disconcerted when advised that they cannot fish there and must depart for home on pain of arrest.

Coys Pond is the property of the people of the Commonwealth, as well as the land about it for a distance of fifteen feet from the water's edge.

Our forefathers were far-sighted enough to cause a statute to be enacted which decrees that the public shall have the right of access and egress to and from a state or "Great" pond, over whatever land may be adjoining it. To quote from an official letter which I have in my files—"From a decision of the judge of the district court, when certain parties were on trial for trespassing, that until Mr. Prince designated a definite way, it was not trespassing to go onto the pond at any point."

A bridle path has been constructed about this state pond, part of which is on state property, and has been found of great assistance, during the summer fishing season, as it now is unnecessary to wade through the swamp underbrush.

At the time this gentleman destroyed my tackle and ordered me off, he laid claim to the entire state pond as private property. It may be of interest to note that I had no difficulty in recovering ample damages for this outrage, at a rate which would make it a business proposition were it repeated daily.

Recently, I learned that at certain times this gentleman will tolerate fishing on parts of (his) ? pond. To impress the public with his "authority" (?) he has caused a wire to be stretched across the pond. I learn from inquiry that this wire should be treated by the public as though it were found across a highway and removed at once.

Trusting that these few lines may be of interest and prove of value to the public, I beg to remain,

Very truly yours,

FRANK F. TENNEY.

FEDERAL THEATRE, SALEM

Mary Pickford is finishing a big week at the Federal theatre, Salem, in her latest picture, "The Hoodlum." It is being shown twice daily to almost capacity crowds, and everyone agrees it to be a better picture even than "Daddy Long Legs," which Pickford lovers enthused over.

Next Monday comes to the Federal "Auction of Souls," the thrilling story of the terrible Armenian massacres, with Aurora Mardiganian, the sole survivor of half a million Christian girls in the picture. She re-enacts the terrible experiences she endured and her miraculous escape from the slave market of the Turkish harem. A good surrounding bill will be included in the show the first half of the week.

Viola Dana in "The Willow Tree" is the headliner the last half of next week.

Sometimes the girl helps her bashful lover out, and sometimes it is her father.

Don't hide your light under a bushel. Use the bushel to cover your faults—if it is big enough.

A MERCHANT PRINCE

There was an old geezer and he had a lot of sense;

He started up a business on a dollar eighty cents.

The dollar for stock and the eighty for an ad,

Brought him three lovely dollars in a day, by gad;

Well, he bought more goods and a little more space

And he played that system with a smile on his face.

The customers flocked to his two-by-four And soon he had to hustle for a regular store.

Up on the square, where the people pass, He gobbled up a corner that was all plate glass.

He fixed up the windows with the best that he had

And he told 'em all about it in a half page ad.

He soon had 'em coming, and he never quit,

And he wouldn't cut down on his ads. one bit.

Well, he's kept things humming in town ever since,

And everybody calls him the Merchant Prince.

Some say its luck, but that's all bunk—

Why, he was doing business when the times were punk.

People have to purchase and the old geezer was wise—

For he knew the way to get 'em was to advertise.

MOST WASTEFUL PRINTER

UNCLE SAM PRINTED 61,000,000
DOCUMENTS LAST YEAR

In these days when so much is said and written concerning conservation, it is a deplorable fact that Uncle Sam is not practicing what he preaches. He is the world's greatest publisher. His business equals that of any half-dozen book publishers in New York or London.

The New York Evening Post recently contained the following article regarding the prodigality of government printing:

"Uncle Sam is the most wasteful publisher under the sun. The latest report of the public printer shows that last year more than 61,000,000 copies of government publications were distributed; the government mailing lists, containing more than 1,000,000 names, made a net growth of 90,000; the employees reached 5300 and the value of the product approached $13,000,000.

"Our government publishes anything and everything, sometimes in reckless quantities. Last year it issued 12 dailies, 26 weeklies and 58 monthlies, their circulations ranging from 100 to 207,000.

"Its volumes run from heavy tomes to small brochures, and the list includes monographs on Yucatan archeology, retail prices of dry goods in Walla Walla and abstruse chemical and geological treatises.

"The distribution of some copies is amazing. A million copies of 'The Small Vegetable Garden,' have been called for yearly. The official bulletin of the committee on public information started with eight pages and 80,000 copies and in six months reached some issues 48 pages and 123,000 copies.

it likes. The departments and bureaus are restricted by law, but their powers are wide and are exercised on a liberal interpretation of what constitutes the public good.

"By law, the 'depository libraries' throughout America are required to accept copies of everything of a public nature. They groan for help; or as the public printer mildly puts it, 'their shelves become loaded with publications for which they have no use, and the demand for relief continues.'

"The 'returns' from them form portentous accumulations, especially since the Public Documents division ceased to act as a clearing house.

"In seven years, according to Senator Fletcher, in 1916, an average of a million publications a year had been disposed of as junk without ever having been unwrapped, though the average document cost 50 cents before being carted away.

"In 1909 nearly one and one-half million accumulated publications, many bound in the best grades of cloth or leather, weighed 950 tons, and were sold at 8 cents a pound. Last year 2,023,500 publications were condemned and sold, but this 'gave practically no relief.'

FOUR HOURS A DAY

PLAN ADVOCATED FOR BENEFIT (?) OF WORKING MAN

The first number of a new publication entitled "The Four Hour Day" has recently been issued. The sheet sells for one cent, is to appear four times a year, and is six by nine inches in size. Several arguments in favor of the four hour day are presented for the consideration of the readers. With apologies (?) to President Wilson the matter is presented in 14 points.

This remarkable scheme to make the workingman wealthy with the least possible expenditure of labor on his part is as follows:

The 14 Points

1. It will take twice as many to do the work.

2. You will get more for four hours' work than you ever can get for eight hours. Because there won't be anybody out of work to take your job.

3. It will force the introduction of new machinery.

4. Until this middle class is removed by some process, the wage class will not conquer. The four hour day removes the middle class.

5. The four hour day will abolish the unemployed altogether and give jobs to all at increased wages.

6. Instinctively the wage class has understood that the only way to meet the advancing productivity of modern machinery was to win a corresponding reduction in working hours.

7. After paying for material and wages, no profit would be left for the capitalist "owner" of machinery.

8. The four hour day will abolish war. . . . "Imperialism" and its wars vanish when "foreign markets" and areas of investment and exploitation are no longer desirable.

9. The four hour day propaganda will turn the whole world into one vast class in economics discussing the origin and disposal of surplus "value."

10. The four hour day will divide wage workers from capitalists. . . . The final conflict will be on, and no one will doubt on which side to line up.

11. The United States is probably the most fully developed capitalist nation. It ought, therefore, to be the nearest to the coming revolution. On the contrary it seems least prepared. The American proletariat is the least evolutionary. . . . The middle class must first be disposed of.

12. The four hour day is a peaceable proposition.

13. The hosts of "industrial unrest" only need a rallying cry at this present crisis in America to rise as one mass to form a Universal League of Action.

14. The four hour day appeals to both conservatives and radicals. The conservative Socialist party in 1912 made its first "demand" in these words: "Shortening the workday in keeping with the increased productivity of machinery."

Less Work, More Pay

There seems to be an increasing tendency to shorten the working day to the least possible number of hours. This will doubtless be hailed with delight by all laborers. To be promised "more for four hours' work than you can ever get for eight hours" sounds most attractive! The principle appears to be that the less one works the more pay he will receive; that is, if he didn't work at all he would be independently rich in a short time.

Article 7 is especially interesting. After the capitalist employer has paid for material and wages he will not have any profit. With this profit which he does not have the capitalist is to continue paying his workmen who do not work. The men will pay their bills with money they do not have, probably, and the entire business of the country will receive an unprecedented boom.

"Anyhow, the discussion of it will educate the wage class in fundamental economies," states the inventor of this extraordinary proposal.

MANY PHYSICAL ILLS ARE DUE TO IGNORANCE

Ignorance lies at the bottom of our physical ills—ignorance or wilful carelessness. Many of us do what we know to be wrong, hoping some day to stop doing it before it will be too late. Many of us hide our weakness, refusing to confide even in the doctor. Many of us get advice and, having received it, throw it away unused, which is far less sensible than dropping a newly purchased garment into the gutter on the way home from the store.

It takes moral courage to reckon up our physical liabilities, and many of us shrink from the attempt, postponing it fatally.

Even in the case of minor evils, which cause only discomfort and lessen our efficiency, we go on suffering rather than take the time or the trouble to get rid of them.

These are days of business efficiency; why not practice a little personal efficiency with regard to our bodies.—STANLEY M. RINEHART, Saturday Evening Post.

POWER PROGRAM

SURVEY OF CONDITIONS REVEALS INTERESTING FACTS

Under the war demand for fuel conservation the hydraulic engineers of the United States Geological Survey, Department of the Interior, served the fuel administration in a field study of power problems.

A power survey of the United States was begun, and at the end of the war Secretary of the Interior Lane asked of Congress two appropriations, one of $50,000, for continuing this power survey over the whole United States, and the other of $200,000, for an intensive survey of the industrial zone of the east, where power requirements are most congested. At present in the central power plants of the country water power carries only about 40 percent of the load, while the total fuel requirement for steam-generated power, including that of the railroads, is not less than 800,000 tons daily.

A power program that calls for the immediate and full development of every available and feasible water power, moreover, means saving both in coal and in man power, and with this purpose of securing the double conservation, the investigation has been proposed. The first step is to get the facts for the country as a whole and particularly for the North Atlantic industrial district.

This "super-power" project, which engineers agree seems wholly practicable, but which can be regarded as now only in the vision stage, is to pool the power supply for the whole industrial area between Boston and Washington, in which is concentrated one-fourth of the power-generating capacity of the country. Such a unified power system would tie together properly located steam-electric and hydroelectric plants—old plants that are efficient as well as new plants—in a great power main from which would flow the energy to serve a score of railroads, hundreds of public-service companies, thousands of mills and factories, and millions of homes.

As stated by Secretary Lane in a letter transmitting the estimate for this appropriation: "Only by increased economy in the production and distribution of power will it be possible for our manufacturers to decrease their production expenses and compete successfully in the world's markets, maintaining at the same time the American standard of wages and living."—Annual Report, Director Geological Survey.

GRIT AND GRIN WIN

These thirteen youngsters are pulling on the right side of the rope. You can tell from their grins that victory is coming their way. Thirteen states, with physical education laws on their books, is another winning team that is steadily pulling the other states across the line.

THE prevalent unrest is not confined to the men and women of America. School children are beginning to be affected by the atmosphere in which they have found themselves since the war ended. One way in which the restlessness of our youth has shown itself has been in the reports on juvenile delinquency. Truancy, and more serious faults, have increased in number. Teachers have found it more difficult to keep their charges in hand. Parents who have always studied the welfare of their children, most conscientiously are wondering, some of them at least, whether they ought not let the boys and girls take advantage of the present scale of wages. Such a step would mean curtailing the years of instruction.

To counteract this feeling of unrest and uncertainty, educational authorities are hard put to it. They will not be able to meet the objections of youngsters and of parents unless their schools are 100 percent efficient. It follows, also, that the schools will not be functioning at their best unless they provide for the physical education of their pupils.

There never was a time when the old-fashioned principles of clean living and wholesome recreation were more valuable to the community. The principal of a school will have no difficulty with restless boys if he keeps their bodies exercised at the same time that he looks after their minds.

One way to cure bolshevism and anarchy would be to apply the scrubbing brush to the persons of the men and women who are committed, for the time being, to those noisome doctrines. One way to prevent bolshevism from getting into the schools would be to see that the bodies of the children are in good trim. Bolshevism could find no disciples among happy, healthy boys and girls.

The high cost of living is not the only cause of unrest these days, if indeed it is as important a factor as some of us want to make it out to be. Subnormal health contributes to the sum total of human misery as heavily as anything else. If you think that all American school children are healthy, you had better study the reports made by the National Physical Education Service and by a number of other committees equally well informed on the physical condition of school children. From state to state, naturally enough, the average varies considerably, but for the whole of the United States it is no exaggeration to say that fully half of the boys and girls in our schools have some physical defect. Any number of these deficiencies could be remedied. What is being done in this direction?

A few states have attacked the problem courageously and have passed compulsory physical education laws. Others are in the process of making up their minds. Popular opinion, in the long run, will determine whether or not the reform will be put through in this state, and you who read this should express your ideas so that the state legislators may understand it.

THE MILK PROBLEM

DR. E. V. BABSON - LECTURES AT HORTICULTURAL SOCIETY MEETING

The North Shore Horticultural society held its regular meeting Friday evening last at Horticultural hall, Manchester. The committee in charge of the banquet made a report to the effect that the banquet would be held on Wednesday evening, Feb. 4, in the society's hall. There will be an entertainment and dance in connection with the banquet.

The lecture of the evening was given by E. V. Babson, M. D. V., of Gloucester, who spoke on "Community Milk Problems." Dr. Babson commenced his lecture by comparing conditions in 1920 with those prevailing fifty or more years ago. He said, in part:

"Fifty years ago most people in the country towns owned their cows. Selling milk was a small part of their business and not much attention was paid to it. The nearer the consumer is to the cow, the safer is he. Cows are now kept in large herds, long distances from the cities, and the milk must necessarily be of a certain age before it is delivered. The less milk is handled the less danger there is of contamination.

Three Essentials Regarding Milk

"There are three essentials regarding milk," continued Dr. Babson. "The customer demands that the milk shall be sweet, that it shall contain a certain amount of cream and that it be sold as cheaply as possible." He spoke of the importance of properly cooling milk and cream and then took up the matter of bacteria.

"Bacteria are everywhere, and the more often milk is handled the greater the chances of contamination. They will enter milk in every instance unless great care is taken in sterilization. It's a saying that 'good milk is no stronger than the weakest link in its production.' The best of care must be taken at all times to safeguard its purity."

The Bacteria Count

In Massachusetts the limit of bacteria, or the "bacteria count" as it is called, is 500,000 to 153 drops. This

THE NORTH SHORE IS NOW a fairyland of snowy whiteness. The fields and woodlands, meadows and hill-sides, houses and barns are covered with snow. The ground upon which it fell was thoroughly frozen, and if the weather remains cold the snow will remain for a long while. The conditions are right. Last year the Shore enjoyed a mild winter. Householders were able to conserve fuel, enjoy outdoor weather and wear lighter clothing. This year winter came early. December and January have been wintry. Now the snow-covered ground gives an old New England winter aspect to the countryside. Despite the fall of heavy snow the breakage of forest limbs is slight. The inclement weather has brought its toll of suffering and expense. Transportation has been difficult for electric railroads, steam railroads and for automobiles. Old Dobbin has had a new day, for punting parties have been frequently held and the quiet evening hours have been broken by the merry peals of laughter, the ringing of sleigh bells with monotonous but pleasing melodies, and the songs of the merry sleigh parties. The woodland birds have been driven into the open in quest of food and have gathered where Good Samaritan hands have spread grain, suet and crumbs. There is a satisfaction at least in thinking that the weather conditions are more healthful than when the ground is bare. The air we breathe is fresh, if cold, clean surely, and invigorating without a doubt. The winter is with us; such a winter must have been one of terror and suffering to the early settlers of New England; such a winter still brings care and suffering.

TWO GREAT EVENTS in the history of nations will date from the same day, by a fluke of fate—the inauguration of the League of Nations and the establishment of prohibition as the law of the United States.

AN UNFORTUNATE DIFFICULTY has arisen along some portions of the North Shore concerning the operation of motor "busses" and the trolley systems. The difficulties have at last reached a crisis. The increased cost for labor, materials and all the necessities for operating trolley systems has made it impossible for the electric street railroads to operate with a profit. The coming of the so-called "jitneys" have added another burden. Now trolley systems are being operated with a loss. The communities appear to desire both trolleys and "jitneys." The trolley companies have thrown down the gauntlet and have refused to meet what they call unfair competition. The results have been unfortunate both for the traveling public and for city officials, who have been obliged to find some solution for the difficulty. Appeals naturally have been made to state authorities. The situation is to be regretted and how the problem is to be solved remains to be seen. There are many factors to be considered, the least of which is not the question of fairness to the trolley systems. There is no question but what the operation of the roads involve responsibilities which the "jitneys" have not had to meet. The refusal to permit any "jitney" service would work a distinct hardship to many districts which cannot be served by the trolleys and which never will be served in the future, for transportation corporations are not constructing trolley lines. Some permanent solution of the problem must be provided that will make it possible for trolley lines to have a fair chance to make ends meet, allow "jitneys" to serve districts not accommodated by the trolleys and permit progress to be made by both enterprises. Some solution of the question should be made possible whereby the community may have the service of the "jitney" where needed and without unfairness to trolley lines.

THIS IS THRIFT WEEK, wherein one may plan economies, start a savings account in the bank or buy thrift stamps. Thrift won the war and thrift and thrift alone will carry the nation carefully through the trying period of the reconstruction days and prevent the financial panic which so many men fear.

THE HUMAN BODY is a machine which requires care. If it be not given the attention which its delicate construction demands, it will register that neglect in sickness that weakens and may eventually destroy the body. The best physique will not endure all the strain which is put upon it. All human beings have the care of the body, which must not be neglected. "All flesh, indeed, is as grass which groweth up; in the evening it is cut down and withereth," as it was written by David of old. Modern industry has recognized this law, and requires that every workman in specific lines of labor be examined at regular intervals as a preventative measure to reduce the loss of man-power in the productive work of the manufactory and to reduce the probable expense of sick or injury insurance. What is profitable to the great industries should be the more advantageous to the individual who does not have the opportunity which organized industry affords? Every man and woman should be cautious in the ways of life. The dread of the physician is sheer ignorance or neglect. The number of cases of disease which are reported too late for aid to the physicians of the nation is appalling. Physicians must have a fighting chance to use their knowledge in fighting the enemies of the human body, and in that fight the time element is an important factor. Every man over fifty should consult his physician at frequent intervals, and the advice which his doctor gives will be valuable even though the results of the examinations reveal nothing requiring attention. The young should be taught to seek the counsel of the physician. When prejudice, false economy and ignorance are set aside the physician will have a better opportunity to do his work. It is a wise plan to call the doctor in early. The expense may be unnecessary many times, but in the end the policy will pay. Have a family physician and go to him.

THE MIRACLES OF MODERN SURGERY have been made possible by the use of efficient anesthetics. Of these, ether still is the most efficient, despite the disadvantages of the nausea which it produces. There has been a search for anesthetics ever since medicine has been experimented in by man. For the development of surgery an effective anesthetic was essential and all of the progress of modern surgery dates back practically to the date when ether was demonstrated to be a practical anesthetic. Primitive methods of producing anesthetic effects were known to Herodotus and Homer, who refer to the anesthetic effects of the vapor of a particular specie of hemp when burned. Diocorides and Pliny knew of the anesthetic value of mandagora, and Shakespeare makes frequent reference to anesthetized draughts which may or may not have been the record of his knowledge of such medicines. None of these, however, have been of very great aid to physicians and surgeons, but the discovery of ether was the beginning of the new and modern era of surgery. The quality which ether possesses of producing unconsciousness is a merit in many cases, for it places the patient entirely in the hands of the physician or surgeon so that he can work to advantage accurately and quickly. The effects of nausea are, of course, still a problem, and it would be of marked advantage to have an ether which did not produce nausea. It is announced that such an ether has been developed and that the patient will not be unconscious. The former quality is desirable. The latter also will be of value, especially in minor cases and in dentistry. Despite the nausea that ether produces its other qualities undoubtedly will make it still the one great anesthetic for general use.

HOLLAND OR NO HOLLAND, the Kaiser stands condemned—a fugitive from justice.

THE RECENT REVIVAL of spiritualism has been due undoubtedly to the abnormal war and post-war conditions. The terrible anguish and suffering caused by the war have made many people, who would not otherwise have given the subject a thought, susceptible to the inclination to seek comfort by endeavoring to establish communications with the hero dead. Sir Oliver Lodge and Maeterlink are both avowed explorers in the new field. Sir Oliver Lodge, however, objects to the word spiritualism, undoubtedly because of its associations in America. Mr. Lodge is a scientific operator in his own field, but can he claim to be a scientist exploring the field of the communications with the dead? He has never established communications directly! These have always been established through mediums. The reader of his book cannot but feel after laying it down that he has arrived nowhere and has nothing to contribute to the problem's solution. If the loving son were really to establish a communication would it not be directly to or through the mother or father who knew and loved him best? Why the medium? There are incongruities in the findings and in the answers from the spirit world that are absurd and disturb the entire findings of the medium. For argument be it granted that Mr. Lodge's premise is right and communications are established, they give no help or real comfort; the communications add nothing to the world's definite knowledge of the future life. It were better, indeed, to leave the great truths concerning eternal life where they rightly belong—as the great tenet of faith, the hope of the Christian world. To drag the lofty and inspiring hope of the life after death to the low plane that the spiritualistic mediums have placed it is a distinct loss and not a gain.

THOSE WHO KNOW THE HISTORY of a certain Massachusetts colony of spiritualistic leaders know the results of the belief upon the life of the community. If Sir Oliver Lodge has never known a bad medium in old England, they have been known in New England. It is better, far better for all, to attend to the honorable business of living. The task of the present generation is to make the world, during which the present generation is to live, the better for one having lived in it. It is doubtful good that accrues from the energies and interests mis-spent in trying to ferret out the mystery of the ages when there is so much good and necessary work for men to do. The world's work must be done. The spirit life may be left to the guardian care of the Supreme Spirit of the Universe, who evidently has not made yet a clear revelation to the living of the life beyond. Here is man's world. He will find the true life for his spirit in meeting the obligations and responsibilities of life to the living. More good will be wrought by sane and wholesome endeavor to serve mankind now than in endeavoring to communicate with spirit world. The Roman Catholic Church has very strongly denounced the new spiritualistic adventures, and quite sanely. The history of the movement in Massachusetts indicates the fruitlessness and the dangers of spiritualism upon nerves, temperaments and the moral attitude toward life of the so-called explorers or mediums. One must put one's hands to the plough of human endeavor in the now. There is work to do; there is no call to look back, or beyond!

THE DRIVE FOR FUNDS for the work in the Near East will soon begin, and everyone will have the opportunity to make a contribution to aid in the relief work that is so much needed. It will be a long while before the machinery can be brought to work out the mandatory plan of Armenia by the United States, but meantime the American people may help with their funds.

Breezy Briefs

Thrift week is nearly over. Today is known as "Family Budget Day" and tomorrow as "Pay Your Bills Promptly Day." If you did not make a New Year's resolution to be thrifty during 1920, now is a good time to do so.

There is strength in numbers. Bostonians will now have the number of their postal district to remember, in addition to the number of their auto registration, place of business, phone, club and home.

Only four divisions received more awards in the world war than the YD, according to a recent statement from General March, chief of staff. New England has every reason to be proud of the record made by her division. Yankee patriotism is of the same brand now as it was in 1776.

And now it is the navy which is being investigated. Next?

A statistician states that 70 percent of American men who shave themselves, do so daily. Let's try to persuade the Bolsheviki to adopt the practice. With the loss of their whiskers might also go their lawless ideas.

Sir Oliver Lodge doubtless knows as much concerning the next world as anyone does who has not been there.

Do you agree with the Worcester Telegram in their explanation that the price of bread is advanced because "the bakers knead the dough?"

Nine hundred and thirty-seven dollars is said to be the average annual salary of the American minister. No chance there for Uncle Sam to collect an income tax.

A man in Portland, Me., who recently broke his neck and had it repaired by grafting in a section of shin bone, has been awarded $8,682 against the company with whom he was working when the accident occurred. However, we do not think there are many who would care to take this means of obtaining money.

The business of taking the census cost Uncle Sam approximately $22,000,000. It cost nearly a half million dollars to count the people of Massachusetts. Unofficial estimates place the population of the United States at close to the 120,000,000 mark.

Gov. Lowden says he does not believe the government's propaganda in favor of thrift and economy among the people will get very far till the officials at Washington begin to practice what they are preaching.

In his annual address to the Kansas legislature, Gov. Allen recommended a law prohibiting strikes where the public welfare was seriously threatened. A portion of his argument follows: "There is no reason why government should not have the same power to protect society against the ruthless offenses of industrial strife as it has always had to protect it against recognized crime. Any minority which has secured control of a product upon which human life depends, and which undertakes, for the purpose of affecting wages or profits, to withhold that product from the public until the public shall freeze or starve, has in effect superseded government and has arrogated to itself the control of the destinies of human life which government alone may have the power to safeguard."

Governor Coolidge: "High taxes make high prices. So long as the cost of government is high the cost of living will be high. The duty of government now owes the people is to reduce their burdens rather than imposing additional burdens for the support of new projects."

Merton L. Emerson, chairman of the M. I. T. endowment committee, says it is easy to keep a secret. "Tell it to no man and to very few women" is his advice, thereby placing more trust in women as confidantes than in men.

Mme. Maeterlinck says that American women are not extreme in dress, but that when prettily attired they are usually better natured. This should be a valuable pointer for husbands.

Secretary of War Baker has stated that he believes the Cabinet members should be seated either in the House of Representatives or in the Senate. Hasn't Congress troubles enough without adding any more?

The Democrats have selected San Francisco as their convention city. The idea is, we suppose, to get as far as possible from the headquarters of the League of Nations, at Washington, D. C.

In view of the fact that W. J. Bryan wrote the Democratic platform in 1912, pledging Mr. Wilson to one term, he can hardly be expected to support the President for a third term. If Mr. Wilson should be a candidate again he would doubtless have to make his campaign without the assistance of Mr. Bryan.

Certain well meaning people are attempting to influence various state legislatures into passing laws restricting the sale of firearms. This is proper to a certain extent; but when the restrictions serve to act against the adequate protection of life and property then a halt should be called.

In commemoration of her world war heroes Winthrop is contemplating erecting a memorial building to cost approximately $250,000. The building will serve as a town hall and civic centre.

We heard a fellow tell the other day of a "Union" stove which bothers him some. It appears that he can keep a fire in this stove only eight hours at a time!

NEW SUPERINTENDENT AT THE BEVERLY HOSPITAL

Miss Jessie Johnson, who was in the service during the war as a nurse and who served overseas in France, has been appointed superintendent of the Beverly hospital, assuming her new duties recently. She succeeds Miss Alice C. S. Cushman, who retires because of poor health. Miss Cushman has been superintendent since the new building was occupied.

Miss Johnson received her training in London, Eng., hospitals, and has been assistant superintendent at the Lynn hospital. She is admirably qualified for the work at the Beverly hospital.

Forestry Situation in the United States

350,000,000 Acres of Valuable Timber Land Have Been Lost; Forestry Commission Suggested

"Within less than fifty years our present timber shortage will have become a blighting famine." Who says so? Some new sensation monger? Haven't we heard something of this sort off and on for the last twenty-five years, and yet anyone can see that trees are still growing by the square mile, and that the lumber yards are full of boards? Is this more of that commodity known as propaganda, perhaps put out to bolster up the present soaring price of lumber and pulp, and incidentally of everything that is made of wood?

Anyone who has had occasion to buy timber products lately knows that prices are phenomenally high. But so is the price of almost everything else. Perchance there is a degree of unreasonable inflation in some of these commodity prices, as many suspect. Possibly it is so with lumber. . . . It will have to be admitted this time, at all events, that the hue and cry is not "mere newspaper talk," and it is also certain that it is not lumber trade propaganda. That warning of a prospective timber famine has been issued over the signature of Gifford Pinchot, formerly chief forester of the United States, and with him there have signed twelve other men, all of whom have a nation-wide knowledge of forest conditions. These men were some time since appointed as an investigation committee by the Society of American Foresters. Whatever bears its imprint carries a significance equivalent to that from any other engineering society. . . .

This Matter Concerns Everybody

As this is a matter that concerns not the timberland owners and the lumbermen alone, but every member of the community, it is desirable that some of the cold and inescapable facts, as marshalled in the report, should be put under the eyes of the voters. . . .

At present the total area of the nation's forest lands is, in round numbers, about 500,000,000 acres. Note, however, that this is not all bearing forest. It is land that once bore forest, some of it still is in forest, and four-fifths of it is regarded as good for nothing else than growing timber. The committee inclines to the expectation that within another fifty or a hundred years perhaps one-fifth of this area will have become arable

Much favorable comment has been heard on the action of the Manchester Board of Selectmen in taking out the road scraper last Saturday and levelling off the streets of the central portion of the town, following the snow storm. The machine did effective work and the result was really appreciated. With so many autos in use this winter, despite the snow and zero weather, the question of snow removal, or snow-levelling, is one that interests many people and to have made the streets passable so close to the curb meant much to everybody concerned.

During the past week or two there has been a large amount of timber cut on the Tappan lot, which is located along by the railroad, off Sea st., Manchester. It is said that this lot will be closely cut, practically every tree of any appreciable size being sacrificed to the insatiable thirst of the woodman's axe.

To those of our year-round residents and also all of our summer residents who are interested in Manchester and the North Shore, it is a source of keen regret to see the woodlands despoiled of their beauty.

One of the chief attractions of the North Shore is the fact that it is so heavily wooded. To have the attractions of forest land, with its shade trees, added to the beauties of the ocean, with its bathing and water sports, is a distinction which the North Shore has long enjoyed. This is doubtless responsible in a large degree for the increasing popularity of our section as a summer resort.

A large amount of money has been spent by the state, in coöperation with private individuals and towns, in suppressing the ravages of the gypsy moth and other ills which from time to time beset growing trees. It is understood by most people that the picturesqueness and beauty of the scenery along the North Shore has an actual intrinsic value. It may also be said that it has a value as a trade commodity, since it brings to the North Shore a large amount of money every season.

To purposely destroy the beauty and attractive qualities of the North Shore is a deplorable mistake. Every property owner should think twice before having his timber cut. If it is absolutely necessary to cut the trees, then the art of forestry should be practiced and only certain trees should be taken. In this way the picturesqueness of the scenery could be maintained, timber could be secured, the land would not have the appearance of a desert waste and, instead of ruining the beauty of nature, we would continue to keep it in condition to furnish joy and pleasure to all who live here or who come here to spend a portion of their time in our midst.

The weather observer at Concord, N. H., reports that his records show no appreciable change of climate in 50 years. To which the Boston Herald adds, pessimistically, "what is half a century compared to the time since the polar ice cap was scrunching over the Presidential range and Monadnock?"

x—x—x

It will be remembered that a Boston paper recently published an article on how one Vermont woman forecasts the number of snow storms which each winter will have. Her plan is to notice the date on which the first snow storm comes. She then adds the month of the year to the day of the month and this to the day of the week. That is, if the first snow fell on Wednesday, Nov. 10, the number of storms for the year would be four plus 11 plus 10, or 25.

Her forecast for this winter is 28 storms. Some of our Manchester people are keeping a record of the snow storms along the North Shore, with the idea of seeing how the system will apply to this section.

The fact that up to Jan. 10 more than 100,000 automobile licenses had been issued shows that next spring and summer are going to be busy on the highways, for the number is likely to reach 200,000 by that time, since the high mark for 1919 was 177,578 for pleasure vehicles alone. Business cars numbered 41,088. The total cash receipts for licenses and registration reached $2,667,853 in 1919.

POLITICAL POT

A meeting of the Board of Registrars was held Wednesday evening at the office of Town Clerk Lyman W. Floyd. The name of John C. Chatman was added to the list of voters. The board will meet again next Wednesday evening from 7 to 9 o'clock.

Friends of William Till are circulating his nomination papers for his re-election as a member of the park board. Mr. Till's present term of three years expires next month.

The many friends of Edward S. Knight are pleased to learn that he is running for the Board of Selectmen again this year. Mr. Knight served the town faithfully as a member of the board for a number of years, until two years ago, and much of that time as its chairman. He has been urged to be a candidate again this year and his papers have been in circulation this last week. Mr. Knight is also a candidate for re-election as a member of the board of assessors. The only other candidates for the board of selectmen, that we have heard of, are Samuel L. Wheaton, George R. Dean and William W. Hoare, the present board.

Nomination papers are out for Lee W. Marshall for the board of trustees of the public library, to succeed Roland C. Lincoln, whose resignation was announced in last week's BREEZE.

o o o

There seems to be but little political activity connected with the coming town meeting, in Manchester. It will be a case of "the office seeking the man" in most instances this year rather than "the man seeking the office." It is suggested that inasmuch as the average voter is expending his every energy to procure the wherewithal to live, he has but little time for political aspirations. Salaries of many of the offices are very small and pay poorly for time they consume.

o o o

The last day in which nomination papers can be filed is Friday, Jan. 30, at 5 o'clock in the afternoon. Section 203, Chapter 835, relating to this matter, provides as follows: "In towns, certificates of nomination for town offices shall be filed on or before the second Wednesday, and nomination papers, on or before the second Thursday preceding the day of election. . . . Certificates of nomination and nomination papers shall be filed before 5 o'clock in the afternoon of the last day fixed for the filing thereof."

LIBRARY NOTES

New Books in Manchester Public Library

Among the important books added to the library in 1919 there are several that have to do with the war. There are two books on America's part in the war. One by the American historian, John Bach McMaster, author of "A History of the People of the United States," the other by Major Frederick Palmer, the great American war correspondent. McMaster in "The United States in the World War" gives a historical sketch of our relations to it. The titles of a few of the chapters will convey the idea of his method of treating the subject of the war. "Pro-German Propaganda—Belgian Relief," "Submarine Frightfulness," "The Lusitania Notes," "The Peace Notes" and the "Call to the Colors" are some of the most interesting chapters. Major Palmer was with our boys in France and was an eye-witness of the good work done by the American soldiers. His book, "America in France," tells you much that you are glad to know, in a very entertaining manner. This work, with the author's other two works on the war, "My Year of the Great War," and "My Second Year of the War" give you a complete story of this great triumph of right over might. "Ambassador Morgenthau's Story," by Henry Morgenthau, formerly American ambassador to Turkey, is a wonderful revelation of German schemes in Turkey. The book is full of information about the "Sick Man of Europe" and the part he played in the great war.

Of books other than fiction, very few if any have been read as much during the year 1919 as "The Education of Henry Adams." A good title for this book would be "The Autobiography of a Disappointed Man." It is a meaty book and will well repay the time spent in reading it. To give an idea of its popularity it may be stated that a year after publication in December 1919 it heads the list of the six general books most in demand in public libraries throughout the United States. A list of important books put into the library during the past year will be found in the annual report of the library for 1919. A number of these reports are bound up in pamphlet form and may be had from the librarian at the library. Next week there will be a short note on a few books added to the library in 1919 that have not been taken out.

MANCHESTER CHURCHES

Baptist church, Rev. H. E. Levoy, pastor. Sunday morning at 10.45 there will be preaching by the pastor. Sunday evening at 7 o'clock there will be a song service followed by preaching, the subject being "The Church the Devil Likes."

The Baptist church is preparing a series of special evangelistic services to be held from Feb. 10 to 22.

The Church Aid society will meet Tuesday evening, Jan. 27, at 7.45 o'clock, with Mrs. Edward Baker, School st.

Next Sunday evening at 6 o'clock at the Baptist church the Christian Endeavor society will have a stereopticon lecture on "Porto Rico." The views are most interesting and instructive. Everyone cordially invited to be present.

The Friendship circle of the Baptist church will meet in the church vestry next Monday evening. A covered dish supper will be served, followed by roll call. Each member is requested to respond with a verse. Supper will be served at 7.30 o'clock.

Rev. Edward P. Holton, a missionary from India, will occupy the pulpit next Sunday morning and evening at the Congregational church. The public is cordially invited to attend these services.

Harmony Guild will meet Monday evening at 8 o'clock with Mrs. Harry W. Purington.

There will be a social in the Congl. chapel Thursday, Jan. 29, under the social service committee and the January committee of the Ladies' Social circle. All of the church and congregation over 16 are cordially invited. All strangers are especially urged to come and become better acquainted. Ladies please remember to bring the little aprons. No admittance fee. A good old-fashioned social.

POLLYANNA THE GLAD GIRL AT TREMONT TEMPLE, BOSTON

Not only parents, but most everybody likes a glad girl, and Polly is one that would make you glad to see, if not arouse pleasurable emotions way down in your heart.

One of the delightful features of this famous photoplay entertainment is a real live girl, vividly resembling Miss Pickford, who sings to the audience in a charmingly childish manner, and the orchestra that accompanies her is one that contributes very largely to the entire performance.

EXIT LUCIA, ENTRE AIDA, AT ARLINGTON THEATRE, BOSTON

Dear old Lucia, having had her week's run at the Arlington, in Boston, is on the wane and will disappear after tomorrow evening's performance, but the lovers of good music will undoubtedly have the pleasure of listening to the "Sextet" and other soul stirring strains later on. Let us hope so, for Lucia is one of the best operas in all the musical world.

Aida swells the breeze around the Arlington next Monday evening. Our exclusive Boston correspondent informs us that the company and orchestra presenting Aida will be augmented considerably, which is nearly always done in high-class houses, whenever Aida is to be presented. Most of our North Shore readers are familiar with the story. They are also devoted to the Verdian compositions. The company and management at the Arlington have gained a lasting reputation during its twelve weeks' run, which will terminate a week from tomorrow night.

SOCIETY NOTES

Reginald De Koven, American operatic composer and conductor, for several summers a resident of the North Shore colony, died last Friday at Chicago. Mr. De Koven had been in Chicago several weeks superintending the production of his opera "Rip Van Winkle"; was taken suddenly ill while attending a dinner at the home of Mrs. Joseph Fish, and died within a few minutes. He was founder and conductor of the Washington Symphony orchestra. Among De Koven's best known operas are "Rip Van Winkle," said to have been the first all-American opera ever produced, "Robin Hood," "The Mandarin," "Her Little Highness," "The Wedding Trip," and others. He had also written music for orchestra and piano, among his songs being "Oh, Promise Me," and "A Recessional." De Koven was born in Middletown, Ct., graduated from Oxford in 1880, studied music at Stuttgart, Florence, Paris and Vienna. Mrs. De Koven had been with her husband until three days before his death, when she returned to their home in New York. A daughter, Mrs. H. K. Hudson, lives in New York.

The wedding of Mrs. Forbes Conant (Elizabeth B. MacNichol), and Robert Treat Paine, Harvard '88, took place very quietly at Mrs. Conant's winter home, 17 Arlington st., Boston, on January 14th. As Mrs. Conant is in mourning, the guests included members of the two families only. Both were unattended. Mr. Paine has two children, a daughter, Mrs. Robert Treat Paine Storer (Dorothy Paine), now living at Woodmere, L. I., and Robert Treat Paine, Jr., Harvard '22. Mrs. Conant has no children. A brother is Dr. George P. MacNichol, of Toledo, O. Her summer home is at Nahant. Mr. Paine has a beautiful country estate at Waltham. His town residence is 55 Commonwealth ave., Boston.

SOCIETY NOTES

The funeral of Mrs. Harriet Lowell Putnam, widow of George Putnam, was held from her home at 191 Commonwealth ave., Boston, Thursday afternoon. Mrs. Putnam was 83 years of age and for many years she had been a summer resident of Manchester. She was a member of the Massachusetts Society of Colonial Dames, and of the Mayflower club. She is survived by five children. Mrs. Putnam was a sister of Col. Charles Russell Lowell, a distinguished officer of the Civil War.

Miss Ruth Wigglesworth, of Milton, accompanied by a young lady friend, spent the week-end at Manchester.

The Boston Social Register has made its appearance for the year. This year, a star is affixed opposite those who have been honorably discharged from service in the defense of their country in the late war. Seven hundred and fifty-nine stars appear in the Boston Social Register, which would seem to indicate that Boston families have certainly contributed their quota to the defense of their country.

During the year, 183 persons have married, as compared to 153 last year and 225 the year before, and there are noted the deaths of 77 women as compared with 52 last year and 90 men as compared to 75 last year.

The Social Register records the full names and addresses of members of prominent families grouped together with the prominent clubs and societies to which they belong. The children, Misses from 14 to 17 and Mr. from 17 to 20, are indicated as juniors. Where it is desired to seek the name of a married woman who may be only remembered by her maiden name, the Married Matrons' column in the back of the Social Register reveals the present married name.

Among the engagements recently announced, of immediate interest to North Shore folk, is that of Miss Lydia Lyman Storer, the youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John H. Storer, of 222 Beacon st., Boston, to Henry Snow Hall, Jr., of Boston. Miss Storer is a member of the 1917-18 Sewing circle, of which her cousin, Mrs. Henry Simonds (Julia Lyman), was president, and another cousin, Mrs. Robert T. P. Storer (Dorothy Paine), was secretary. She is also a member of the Vincent club. She was engaged in social service work at the Massachusetts General hospital during the war and also in different forms of war relief work. Her sisters are Miss Emily L. Storer, who is now in social service work in Kentucky, and Miss Edith Storer. Her brothers are John H. Storer, Jr., who married Miss Elizabeth Claxton; Major Robert T. P. Storer, who married Miss Dorothy Paine, and Theodore L. Storer. Mr. Hall, who lives with his parents at 472 Beacon st., was at the first Plattsburg camp, received the rank of lieutenant, and during the war served with the depot brigade at Camp Devens. He will be given a war degree at Harvard in June. His mother, before her marriage, was Miss Ellen N. Wood. Mrs. Philip Dexter (Edith Wood) is an aunt of Mr. Hall. No date is set for the wedding.

One of the most dreary spots in this vicinity at the present time is Marblehead Neck, which is practically a deserted village, for with the exception of a few caretakers who remain at the Shore the year-round, and the lighthouse keeper, there are just a series of closed houses. This does not mean that the place is entirely deserted, for even with the summer residents gone, the police keep an unusually strict watch of this headland both night and day.

With the snow piling up this winter and the heavy winds, many of the roads are quite badly drifted and passage with automobiles is none too easy over roads that even in summer are pretty bumpy.

It will not be long before the signs of returning life show at the Neck, for with the coming of the spring thaws, carpenters and plumbers and other workmen will be on hand to open up the houses and make them ready for what already promises to be a good season. Many of the cottagers come as early as April and by June the Neck is once more the scene of activities.—Salem News.

MANCHESTER

The Manchester Ice Co. is harvesting their second crop of ice this week.

Mr. and Mrs. H. B. Martin, of Willimantic, Ct., are visiting at the home of Mr. and Mrs. E. F. Preston, School st.

Congratulations are being extended to Mr. and Mrs. Waldo H. Peart on the birth of a son, last Friday, at the Salem hospital.

Mrs. James Reed, who has been quite ill with a severe grippe cold at her School st. home, is reported as slowly improving.

Fletcher R. MacCollom and members of his basketball team, at Gloucester, are on a three-day tour through northern New Hampshire and Vermont.

Mrs. Alice Lee and staff, accompanied by a delegation from Liberty lodge, 78, D. of R., installed the officers of Priscilla lodge, D. of R., at Rockport, Wednesday evening.

Alex Carter has a position as gardener and caretaker with a family at West Gloucester—formerly the Lowe farm—and he plans to move there with his family the first of February. He will rent his house on Pine st., either furnished or unfurnished.

Gordon Crafts was home over the week-end, from Amherst. Mr. Crafts is captain of the Mass. "Aggie" hockey team, which played in Boston Friday and Saturday evenings. He is considered one of the fastest players in collegiate circles in the state.

Allan P. Dennis mistook the cellar door for one opening outdoors while engaged with the Scouts at the Food Centre Wednesday evening and received a fall down stairs, fortunately escaping with nothing worse than a shaking up and an injured knee.

Efforts of the Samuel Knight's Sons Co. to free the inner harbor of ice by the use of dynamite and an ice-breaking tug last week were continued up to the first of this week without any lasting results. The wind seemed to be in a quarter that would drive the ice back into the harbor instead of letting it go out with the tide. Early in the week it was decided to wait for a change in the weather. Meanwhile the barge of coal is waiting in Gloucester harbor.

MANCHESTER

Dr. F. A. Willis entertained his sister, Miss Bessie Willis, of Roxbury, over Sunday.

Benjamin L. Bullock, of Bullock Bros., has been confined to the house for several days with a severe cold.

Rev. H. E. Levoy, pastor of the Baptist church, has been confined to the parsonage the past few days with tonsillitis.

Daniel Edgecomb & Sons have leased the Davis ice plant at Gravelly pond and have already harvested a splendid crop of 11-in. ice. This is the pond from which the Manchester water supply is obtained, which tells its own story as to quality of ice.

Past Commanders John L. Prest and Hollis A. Bell, of Col. H. P. Woodbury camp, 149, S. of V., were in Beverly Farms last Friday evening and installed the officers of Andrew Standley camp, 117, S. of V. Other members from the local camp also attended the affair.

The Manchester Brotherhood will hold its February meeting on Monday evening, Feb. 2. Edwin Mulready, commissioner of labor, will be the speaker, and it is hoped that a large number of our men will avail themselves of this privilege of hearing Mr. Mulready.

The mustering out of Comrade Nathaniel Morgan the past week brings the membership of Allen post, 67, G. A. R., to nine members. At the funeral, because of the severe weather, infirmities and sickness, only four of the G. A. R. members were able to pay last respects to their departed comrade. The duties usually performed by them on such occasions were attended to by the S. of V. camp.

Mrs. Trafton and Miss Doris Trafton will open a shop at 665 Boylston st., Boston, which will henceforth be their headquarters, and which will be known as The Gertrude Shop. The shop at Manchester will be continued as a summer shop only. This change has been made as the result of the growth of the unique shop opened a few years ago, making a specialty of dressed dolls, and dolls' clothing. There has been so much demand for the work, the Boston store has been made necessary.

Notice is hereby given that the Board of Registrars of Voters will be in session at the office of the Town Clerk on Wednesday evening, Jan. 21, 1920, and Wednesday evening, Jan. 28, 1920, from 7.00 to 8.00 o'clock, and Saturday, Jan. 31, 1920, from 12 m. to 10 p. m., for the purpose of receiving evidence of the qualification of persons claiming a right to vote at the election to be held on Tuesday, February 10, 1920, and of correcting the list of voters. Also to certify to the signatures on nomination papers.

See that your name is on the voting list of your town; if not there, call at the office of the Board of Registrars on the days above mentioned, and be registered, or you cannot vote. Bring with you a certificate from the assessors or a tax bill or notice from the collector of taxes, showing that you have been assessed a poll tax as a resident of the town of Manchester.

All persons whose names are stricken from the voters' lists for any lawful reason, will, before they can again have their names placed upon said lists, be required to register their names at the time hereinbefore stated in like manner as new voters.

Naturalized citizens presenting themselves for registration must bring their naturalization papers with them.

If a qualified voter of this town whose name was on the voters' list last year, and who has been assessed for the current year, finds after the close of registration that his name is not placed on the voters' list of the current year, by reason of having been omitted by clerical error or mistake, he may, upon personal application, have his name placed upon the voting list, or, if application be made on the day of election, he may have a certificate to vote.

No name can be added to the voters' list (except to correct omissions made by

AFFAIR

"Victory in the World War was entirely impossible without the spirit of coöperation. France did not win the war, Great Britain did not win the war, and if you will pardon me for saying so, the United States did not win the war, but with all together victory was possible. For our common victory to continue for our common good I feel we ought to continue as nations together." So spoke Capt. Andre Morize in the course of his lecture Wednesday evening at the Town hall, addressing the members of the Manchester Woman's club and guests

Leading Social Event

The occasion was the observance of the 12th annual guest night, and was the leading social event of the season

The hall was filled with members of the club and their invited guests, and the affair was one of the most successful ever held.

Miss Annie L. Lane, president of the Manchester Woman's club, gave the address of welcome and introduced Capt. Andre Morize as the speaker of the evening. Capt. Morize was a member of the French Military mission to Harvard. He was in the uniform of a French army captain.

Capt. Morize the Speaker

Taking for his subject "Thoughts on the Morrow of Victory" Capt Morize delivered a most entertaining and highly instructive lecture. He is a pleasing speaker, very well educated, and during the world war spent his every effort in behalf of France, his beloved patrie.

Referring to the emotions of the people on armistice day, Capt. Morize said, in part: "The day of our great victory seems quite a while past, but we must keep in mind now some of the thoughts we had on that day. As our great French leader, Clemenceau, said, 'Let us have the mind of conquerors.'

"On Nov. 11, 1918, we read the big headlines in the daily papers, 'War Is Over.' This fact has been used as a sort of excuse to forget and not to do that which we ought. The last Red Cross drive was made difficult by this, as so many people said, 'The war is over, why should we help any more?' But no, even now we must keep in our hearts some of the great lessons brought about by our common victory.

"A Debt of Gratitude"

"Our victory is a great debt of gratitude. Gratitude to our leaders, to the men who fought and died, and to all those who sacrificed. If we remember what we owe our allies, our fighters and our statesmen, we have a thought which is essential to be cherished."

Of special interest were incidents of Capt. Morize's military career, which he related during the progress of his lecture. Speaking of morale he said: "I recall those trying days in October and November, 1914, when we were in Belgium. We were camping in the mud, it rained nearly every day, we were short of supplies and there was not one blanket for the entire company. Our men were practically exhausted. I shall never forget the morning when each officer received and read to his men those memorable words from Foch: 'An army is never beaten so long as it believes itself unbeaten.' These words cheered us and renewed our morale. Such a power shall not be lost forever. It helps us now to remember those days, and gives us strength for present needs."

Memorials to Heroes

The matter of erecting memorials, tablets, monuments or markers, was mentioned by the speaker. "It is not sufficient," said he, "to erect these memorials. We should also keep in our hearts the spirit of our men who sacrificed.

"At Verdun during those days when everything was so hard I remember the example of those who fought and died. Gen. Petain told us to 'think of the dead. They are urging us to avenge and conquer.' This proved an inspiration and showed us the debt of gratitude we owed to those who had made the supreme sacrifice."

The usual custom in speaking of the war is to refer to the devastation, churches and buildings destroyed, fields laid waste and factories burned, but Capt. Morize said that "War has its constructive side as well as its destructive side. Among the thoughts on the morrow of victory I wish you to consider the following:

New Love for Country

"First: One essential, important idea is a new sort of love for our country. Men who fought loved our country as never before. Previous to the outbreak of the war I was a professor in a French college. For some years I had attempted to build a theory instilling patriotism, but when I was on the field of battle I then realized as never before what love for la patrie really means.

"When we had to recapture our fair land foot by foot, yard by yard from the invading Hun, then we knew love for country. Something was born in our hearts which was deeper, fuller, richer than we had previously known. Even in this country something new was born during the war.

"Solidarity and Coöperation"

"Another idea is that of solidarity and coöperation. In France, team work was not practiced before the war. We were self-centered. Not only for local and limited action, but for the whole activities of the war all was impossible without the spirit of coöperation. The spirit of allons furnished the incentive for team work.

"Catholics and Protestants, men of all political faiths worked together. When in Toulons recently I found this same idea being carried along. Committees are now formed of members of all political and religious sects. The spirit fostered by the war has not been lost.

"Discipline"

"A third idea is that of discipline. The war demonstrated to us that discipline in the life of the individual is necessary to success. We had some trouble to impress on our men the importance of discipline, but they soon realized that by obeying a leader completely and entirely they could gain the objects for which they were striving.

"Discipline means carrying out orders received. There is a right and a wrong way of doing this. The wrong way is to do only enough so as to escape punishment, but the right way is to carry out orders and execute the mission with the intention of filling its spirit as well as wording.

"We all can find great lessons brought forth by the war. Its discipline and its experiences have been of value to us. Our mission now is to carry on our life work. The man in college who 'gets by' as easily as possible has a very poor idea of carrying out the mission entrusted to him, but he who does his best has the right plan for success.

Love, Honor and Patriotism

"The war has brought to us new meanings for the words love, honor and patriotism. To save her honor Belgium suffered what she did, for honor Great Britain endured hardships, for honor the United States entered the war. For honor our men accepted death in the trenches. Honor, liberty, freedom are not empty words. They have been sanctified by the war and the experiences through which we have passed.

"It is for us to think of the splendid moral treasures of thought which the war has brought us and apply them to present day needs."

Capt. Morize was listened to with the closest attention. His remarks were frequently interrupted with applause.

Refreshments and Dancing

Refreshments of ice cream, assorted cakes and demi tasse were served in charge of a committee consisting of Mrs. Audrey Purington, chairman, Mrs. Mary Cooke and Mrs. Mary Connors. They were assisted in serving by Mrs. Edith Roberts, Mrs. Lois Matthews, Mrs. Edna Floyd, Mrs. Ida Bullock, Mrs. Bertha Knoerr, Mrs. Kate Cleveland, Mrs. Ada Olson, Mrs. Eva Rand, Mrs. Anna Hooper, Mrs. Blanche Floyd, Mrs. Dorothy Knight, Mrs. Emma Swett and Mrs. Harriet Hooper.

Music during the evening was furnished by Long's orchestra of four pieces. Dancing was enjoyed after the lecture, and at a seasonable hour the guests left for their homes with the memory of a most pleasant occasion, and the Manchester Woman's club had once again sustained its reputation for being royal entertainers.

MANCHESTER CLUB MINSTRELS

Tuesday evening, Feb. 2, at 7 o'clock, at the Horticultural hall, tickets will go on sale for the Manchester club minstrel show.

The show will be given two evenings—Thursday and Friday, Feb. 12 and 13, and tickets for both nights will be on sale at the same time.

All seats will be reserved and prices will be 75 and 50 cents, with no one person being allowed to purchase more than ten seats for either evening. Club members must take the same chance as anyone else, and get in line for their seats.

After the advance sale the plan and tickets will be at B. L. Allen's Drug store.

CAPT. STROPLE DISBURSES $7,000 IN BONUS CHECKS

Capt. George E. B. Strople, commanding Co. M., 15th Inf., M. S. G., Rockport, on Tuesday evening of this week disbursed over $7,000 in bonus checks to members of his company as extra pay for police duty at Boston recently.

Co. M. is the senior company of the regiment and consists of 103 men and three officers. Seventeen members of the company are residents of Manchester, having been transferred last June from Co. I, of Rockport.

When the riot call was sounded on Sept. 10 at 3.50 o'clock this company immediately responded and was the first on duty in Boston, being fully equipped, including ball ammunition. The men were assigned to duty at station 2, Scollay sq., at 6.30 o'clock, and went into action at once.

Town meeting is only two weeks from next Tuesday. Feb. 10 is the date.

The next rehearsal of the Manchester club minstrels will be Sunday afternoon, at 2.30, at Horticultural hall.

Miss Grace McGregor has been transferred to the Beverly office of the Marshall, Moulton express company, and Miss Mildred Foster is at the Manchester office (Smith's Express).

Arthur Widger, a former Manchester boy, resident of the Cove, and who has been living in Boston since his marriage two years ago, now has a taxi stand on Beacon st., in the Audubon circle section of Brookline.

Cards were received in Manchester this morning announcing the marriage at Bangor, yesterday, of Francesca Walker Hatch and Ruel Sanford Kimball. The bride is well-known here, being the former wife of Rev. Chas. A. Hatch.

The S. of V. members are arranging for a pitch tournament to be held Tuesday evenings at the close of their business meetings. It is hoped that a large attendance of the Sons will be present next Tuesday night to start the games.

The Woman's Relief corps will conduct a food sale in G. A. R. hall, Manchester, next week Thursday afternoon, from 3 to 5 o'clock. At the close of the regular corps meeting in the evening there will be exercises in memory of William McKinley, to which members of the post are invited.

Miss Marion Parker, of this town and the Beverly Health Centre, will deliver an address next Tuesday afternoon at the annual meeting of the Beverly Hospital Aid association, to be held in the Washington st. chapel, Beverly. Miss Parker will speak on the work of the Boston Dietetics Bureau.

The wedding of Miss Triantopele (Rqsie), sister of Peter A. Brown, proprietor of the Manchester Fruit store, and a young man from Lynn, will take place next Sunday afternoon, Jan. 25, at Horticultural hall, Manchester. This event will be celebrated in true Greek fashion, with an entertainment and general good time. There will be relatives and guests present from Lynn, Boston, Gloucester and Winthrop.

MUSKRAT TRAPPING

SEVERAL MANCHESTER BOYS ENGAGED IN THIS BUSINESS

Pelts of muskrats such as formerly sold for 25c or 30c are now bringing over $5 apiece. Never before were there so many "fur-bearing human beings" as now, and prices on furs all along the line have increased rapidly, until now the pelt of this once despised muskrat is worth almost its weight in silver.

With the idea of obtaining their share of this prosperity, Manchester boys are engaged in the muskrat trapping business. Nearby streams and marshes are being trapped with very good success.

Among the successful Manchester boys who are trapping are Douglas Foster and partner, John Ferguson. These enterprising young fellows have obtained about 25 first-class pelts which they have sent to Chicago and for which they have received the top price from a large fur dealing house.

Others who are engaged in the business are Henry Porter, who has a total of nearly twenty to his credit; Ezra Crombie and Harold Haskell with a somewhat smaller number.

The best prices which our young traders have received are from $5 to $6 per skin. This is very adequate compensation for the labor and time involved. Anyone who has trapped muskrats knows that there is hard work connected with it and the proceeds can scarcely be called "easy money."

To arise in the early morning, tramp a long distance through the snow, in woods or fields, with the mercury hovering around the zero mark, and then arrive at the traps to find perhaps that Br'er Muskrat has been there, but has left only a paw in the traps, is a part of this business.

It is said that trappers in some sections of the country are earning from $25 to $35 a day on muskrat marshes and the rental of the marshes for trapping purposes has also risen, for the owner must realize a share of the increased profits. Some states have a closed season when trapping is prohibited, but so popular has the muskrat become that muskrat farming will doubtless be the next development.

The increase in price for the pelts is partly due to the scarcity of foreign furs. Muskrat also masquerades as beaver, so great is the modern demand for furs.

There is no substitute for thoroughgoing, ardent and sincere earnestness.—DICKENS.

THIRD GAME OF PITCH TOURNAMENT TO BE PLAYED TONIGHT

Owing to the minstrel show rehearsal on Monday evening of this week the third contest in the pitch tournament of the four fraternal orders in Manchester was postponed to Friday evening. It will take place this evening (Friday) and the schedule for playing is as follows:

Legion No. 1 vs. I. O. O. F. No. 1; S. of V. No. 1 vs. Red Men No. 1; Legion No. 2 vs. Red Men No. 2; I. O. O. F. No. 2 vs. S. of V. No. 2; Legion No. 3 vs. S. of V. No. 3; Red Men No. 3 vs. I. O. O. F. No. 3.

The fourth game will be played next Monday night, Jan. 26. Following is the schedule for this contest: S. of V. No. 1 vs. Legion No. 2; S. of V. No. 2 vs. I. O. O. F. No. 3; S. of V. No. 3 vs. Red Men No. 1; I. O. O. F. No. 1 vs. Legion No. 3; I. O. O. F. No. 2 vs. Red Men No. 3; Red Men No. 2 vs. Legion No. 1.

With these two games to be played before our next issue it is expected that next Friday's BREEZE will contain developments of a startling nature. This tournament is creating considerable interest and is being closely followed by many enthusiastic devotees of this variety of amusement.

The winning team will be hosts at a supper given by the other teams and each order is eager to have their team head the list when the final result is declared.

Mrs. Mary Trowt remains under the doctor's care and Mrs. James Wolfe is still ministering to her every need.

Robert McGaughey recently left for New York city on business that will keep him there for several weeks.

Roy Hunt and Master Franklin Dunbar, who were operated upon for appendicitis many weeks ago, are now seen on our streets.

Services will be held in the Village church Sunday at 10.45 a. m., with preaching by the pastor. Sunday school meets at 11.45 a. m.

Abbott and Ernest Howe are confined to the house with chicken pox. Other children in the village already have symptoms of the same disease.

Mrs. Charles Brown is quite ill at her home in the Mallard House. Her granddaughter, Mrs. Wm. Knowles, of Ipswich, came over to see her Wednesday.

Arthur Doucette of Akron, O., recently called upon old friends in this village. Young Doucette has a good position with the Goodrich Rubber Tire Co., of that city.

P. S. Lycett is now one of Magnolia's "shut-ins." A hard cold that settled in his back may keep him from being able to attend to his grocery business for some time to come.

Mrs. Walter S. Eaton, who has been ill for over a year, and confined to her home all these long and weary months, is now beginning to gain in strength and health quite rapidly, and her physician gives her every assurance that in time she will be a well woman again.

FEDERAL THEATRE, SALEM

Viola Dana in "The Willow Tree" is finishing a three-day run with the three Saturday performances, at the Federal theatre, Salem. This, the latest of Miss Dana's pictures, is a quaint fantasy of old Japan and a story of a miracle wrought by love. Viola makes a most charming Nipponese maiden. The pictures of allied vessels sunk by the German submarine, U-35, are interesting big features at the Federal. The films are official and were seized from this submarine, being taken by the crew of the sub for the German official records. But, unhappily for them, the pictures, together with the U-boat, fell into the hands of the American navy, which accounts for the fact that the public is able to witness these thrilling pictures taken on the high seas.

All next week "Everywoman," in its picturized form will be the Federal attraction. This film is truly a spectacle and its cast is headed by three favorites, Violet Heming, Theodore Roberts and Wanda Hawley. Everyone knows what a spectacular success "Everywoman" was on the dramatic stage and it is equally so in pictures. It will be shown twice daily, at 2.15 and 8.15, at special prices, all next week, starting with a matinee on Monday.

GOVERNMENT LIFE INSURANCE MADE MUCH MORE LIBERAL

Congress has just passed a law, which has been signed by the President, making more liberal the provisions under all government life insurance policies. Army and navy men may reinstate their insurance that has lapsed any time, within 18 months after discharge or release from the service.

There is no necessity, in renewing a lapsed policy, of paying the monthly term insurance for all the months since separation from the service. To reinstate term insurance without converting, the applicants pay two monthly premiums. To reinstate and convert the applicant pays one monthly premium on the term insurance for the amount of the insurance retained and the first payment on the converted policy.

By far the most important provision of the changes in the insurance is the provision that in converted insurance, the full amount of the policy is payable at once upon death. This removes the great objection to government insurance which has been that upon death, payments are deferred over a long period of installments.

ENGAGEMENT ANNOUNCED

Mr. and Mrs. Edward Warren, of Breezy Bend farm, Leicester, announce the engagement of their daughter, Mary Whittemore Warren, to George Stearns Day, of Beverly Farms.

Miss Warren is a popular young lady of Leicester and returned a few months ago from overseas work in France, where she had been an army secretary in the Ordnance department. Previously, for several years, she had been a librarian in one of the government departments in Washington.

Mr. Day is one of Beverly Farms' best-known young men and has been employed for the past 15 years by the Boston & Maine Railroad, principally as freight clerk at the local station. He was in the army during the war, received the appointment of sergeant and was connected with the Quartermaster's department.

MISS ELEANOR PIERCE BRIDE OF CARL WINTERGREE

A pretty home wedding took place last Sunday at Melrose, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Forrester H. Pierce, when their daughter, Eleanor, became the bride of Carl Wintergree, of Melrose.

The bride was one of the popular young ladies of that town and was a graduate of the Melrose High school, and later attended the Posse Gymnasium. She was most proficient in athletics, was a fine swimmer and a leader in the girls' basketball and baseball teams of the Melrose High school when attending.

The groom has made his mark as a marine machinist and has an excellent position as machinist on one of the big ocean liners.

After a short vacation trip ashore the couple will leave for an ocean trip, which will take them away for several months and a visit to numerous foreign ports.

Mrs. Wintergree was born at Beverly Farms and lived here until a few years ago.

DEATH OF CLARENCE H. POOR, AGED 51

Clarence H. Poor, one of the best-known real estate men of Boston and Cambridge, died suddenly at his home at Beverly Farms Tuesday, following a stroke of apoplexy. He was born in Boston 51 years ago, son of Charles Carroll and Harriet R. Poor. He was a direct descendant of Daniel Poor, who came to this country on the Arbella in 1630. On leaving Chauncy Hall school, Mr. Poor prepared for Harvard. He decided to enter business, however, and started with his grandfather, Henry Poor, a sole leather merchant, then doing business on Congress st. In 1893 he turned his attention to real estate and for a long time had offices at 45 Bromfield st.

Mr. Poor had been treasurer of the trustees of the Episcopal church in the diocese, of the diocesan board of missions, and of the Massachusetts branch of the Free Church association. He was also a member of the Cambridge Historical society. He is survived by his widow, who was Mary Adelaide Sargent, of Boston, and four children, Clarence H. Poor, Jr., Mrs. George H. May, of Lancaster, and the Misses Adelaide S. and Mary B. Poor.

The deceased recently purchased the estate on Hart st. formerly owned by the Otis H. Luke family and occupied numerous years by Mr. and Mrs. Gerard Bement.

INSTALLATION OF OFFICERS OF STANDLEY CAMP, S. OF V.

The newly elected officers of Andrew Standley camp, 117, S. of V., were installed into office last Friday evening by Past Commander John L. Prest, of Camp 149, Manchester, assisted by Past Commander Hollis A. Bell and members of the same camp. There were also present members from Preston post, G. A. R., and brothers from the Rockport camp. After the official work there were speeches and a number of entertaining features, followed by the serving of a fine collation. The officers for 1920 are as follows: Commander, J. Sewell Day; sen. vice-com., J. Millett Younger; jun. vice-com., Harry C. Hannable; camp council, J. Millett Younger, Charles F. Day, Clarence N. Preston; secretary, Sidney Larcom; treasurer, George W. Larcom; patriotic instructor, Geo. S. Williams; chaplain, Rev. Clarence S. Pond.

Alfred Bunce is another Beverly Farms young man who has secured a good position at the Beverly plant of the U. S. Machinery Co.

At the close of the war he married Miss Eveline Roberts, of West Manchester. For about 30 years he was gardener and caretaker of the Cunningham estate at West Manchester. Of late years the deceased had enjoyed life at his home on Bennett st.

As a member of Allen post, 67, G. A. R., he was especially interested and was one of its most active members. Mr. Morgan was the last surviving charter member of Magnolia lodge, I. O. O. F., of Manchester.

He is survived by his wife, three children—Miss Mary E. Morgan and Frank A. Morgan, of Manchester, and Howard E. Morgan, of Beverly Farms; also two grandchildren.

At the Crowell Memorial chapel on Sunday afternoon a large gathering of friends testified in part to the esteem in which Mr. Morgan was held. Rev. F. W. Manning, pastor of the Congl. church, conducted the service, which was followed by the ritual services of the G. A. R., S. of V., and I. O. O. F. Samuel Bell, of Beverly, sang. At the conclusion of the service taps was sounded. The bearers were from the S. of V., I. O. O. F., and American Legion. Interment was in the family lot at Rosedale cemetery.

bacteria count serves as a check against unscrupulous milk dealers. There is also a score card system of points relating to conditions in milk production.

To show that when extreme care is taken milk can be kept sweet for a long time, Dr. Babson related the incident which took place in 1904 when milk was carried from Chicago to Paris and was sweet on arrival in Paris.

Sick Rate Reduced

At the time the government was buying milk in the open market for use at Annapolis the sick rate was 120. It was decided to build a stable there and purchase cows so that the cadets could be supplied with milk produced at the training station. When this was put into effect the sick rate was reduced 80 percent.

"Sterilization of all milk containers is of prime importance," said Dr. Babson. "Washing with hot water is not sufficient.

"Bacteria germs are of three kinds, disease producing, non-disease producing, and inert. The public is protected by the inspections by the Board of Health, who guard against any milk being sold which contains more bacteria than is allowed by the 'bacteria count.'"

Pasteurized and Certified Milk

Of interest to many people was the lecturer's explanation regarding pasteurized and certified milk. "Pasteurization improves milk so that it remains sweet a longer time than it otherwise would. Certified milk can only be so designated when certified by a board of competent people who have a charter for so doing."

The present tendency of labor to work only eight or nine hours per day may compel the farmer to hire two sets of men in order to handle his work. As usual, the consumer will have to pay for this increased expense.

In the quiz which followed the lecture, Dr. Babson was asked how our grandparents lived so long, knowing but little of modern methods of handling milk. He admitted the truth of the query, but added that "our grandparents also buried many people who died from unknown causes."

A vote of thanks was passed by the society for the instructive address delivered by Dr. Babson.

through settlement. Today, of that 500,000,000 acres, only 150,000,000 is old forest. That timber is immensely valuable where it can be taken out economically, but vast areas of it lie far back in the mountains of the west, much of it in the National Forests, where it is not commercially accessible at the present time. Moreover, that timber is mature, some of it over-mature and deteriorating, and little of it is increasing in bulk. It is dead capital. It is not earning anything for the future. Another 250,000,000 acres is rated by the report as cut-over land that has been more or less damaged by fire, but that, nevertheless, is producing small amounts of new timber after the slow manner of nature. Under skilled management those acres would become important producers for our future supply. Finally there are something more than 100,000,000 acres that are almost entirely unproductive. These are the lands once magnificent in their superb forest garb, that were stripped of their timber and subsequently laid waste by the uncontrolled fires that swept across them. Those lands, now reduced to a condition scarcely better than desert, represent an area more than three times the size of Pennsylvania. And this kind of "forest" is unfortunately increasing constantly. Such is the well-nigh unavoidable consequence of modern forest exploitation.

Four-fifths of the 500,000,000 acres total is privately owned, and is managed according to the unrestrained desires of the possessors. Some small part of it is handled, no doubt, after a fashion, with a view to the future. A total disregard of anything beyond present gains governs in the majority of cases. The remaining fifth is chiefly in National Forests (State Forests as yet cut no figure), which nominally are fifty percent larger than this average, but at least a third of their area is not timbered, a good deal of land being above timber-line or otherwise unfit for tree growth of importance.

The Squanderer's Thrift

On those 500,000,000 acres of forest land it is figured that there are standing today 2,500,000,000,000 board feet of timber that is mature and over-mature, accessible and inaccessible. Out of this store of native timber we are cutting each year 100,000,000,000 board feet, but only about half of this is big enough to run through the saw mills, the rest being small stuff of various kinds. Any schoolboy can produce the figures to show where we will "get off" at that pace. But this does not take into account the new growth that some of our forests are putting on each year.

Any sane person of average business intelligence can appreciate that the annual growth of the trees represents the income of the property, and would not expect to strike other than a red ink balance at the end of twelve months if more than that had been used. It is high time for the public to audit the books. On the credit side stands the annual growth in figures representing 35,000,000,000 board feet. Just glance over to the debit column and catch that 100,000,000,000 board feet of annual expenditure mentioned above. That is bad enough in all conscience. It spells bankruptcy. But that credit figure is not even net. There are discounts to apply, for much of it is poor stuff. Only about twenty-five percent of it will make saw-timber, and as yet we have not been able to prevent something like 9,000,000,000 board feet from being lost every year, on the average, by fire. Our net income then is found to be only about twenty percent of our expenditures! Comment Small Chance of Importing Someone will probably think of the possibility of importing from foreign countries. Where will we turn abroad? Not to Europe, for those countries were not able to supply themselves before the war, and their normal annual consumption has amounted to considerably less than half of our own. The committee names the important timber regions of the world as Siberia, adding that there is no evidence that the supply of soft woods there is great; the Amazon and Congo hardwood forests, which yield little that is suited to our uses; the East Indies, which may be counted upon to trade first with Europe because of political affiliations. Being habitually optimistic, many will be inclined to believe that we will adapt ourselves to the shortage in timber, through developing substitutes which would reduce the per capita consumption to something like the European standard. The committee points out, however, that our population increases faster than the shrinking in per capita consumption, and that the adoption of substitutes will inevitably involve a serious dislocation of the industries, to say nothing of an inconvenient disturbance of our habits of life.

Shall We Try Substitutes?

And supposing that we do try to fall back on substitutes, what will we do with the four or five hundred million acres of land that is fit only for timber growing? Will we invent some new crop to fit those conditions, or just agree to let other kinds of property carry it by paying the taxes that it should share? What will we do with the forest industries, and those dependent upon the forests for supplies? Those industries now represent an investment of $3,000,000,000. And what provision will be made for the wage earners now drawing their livelihood from those industries? Perhaps they can be absorbed by the new industries that will be expected to produce something "just as good" as timber. But if that is to be the solution for them will it also take care of those communities that have grown up in and around the forest regions, many of whose people make their living by producing and selling the food and other things that the forest workers require? It is not as simple a problem as some might at first think.

The committee advise creating a commission consisting of the Secretary of Agriculture, the Secretary of Labor, and the chairman of the Federal Trade commission. In this body they would vest the power to make such rules and regulations and decisions as may be requisite for the administration of the law.—Boston Transcript.

KNOW YOUR JOB, HAVE WINNING PERSONALITY, SUCCESS SURE

To be able to rub shoulders successfully you must be worth rubbing shoulders with.

All business, all social intercourse, is a matter of reciprocity.

In order to get, you must be able to give.

We all like to rub shoulders with anyone who makes us feel better or enlightens us or "does us good" in any way—in short, with anybody who rubs us the right way.

There is no trick about it.

You can tell instinctively the difference between the superficial glad-hand artist and the man who rings true through and through, the man who is what he appears to be, the man who is not wearing a sweet smile in an attempt to disguise his bitter feelings.

In making one's way in the world it is important, first, to qualify as a master of your job, and, second, to be able to get along well with other people, to have a winning personality, to attract rather than repel, to rub others the right way and not the wrong way.—Forbes Magazine.

Bedding and Hardy Plants

It is nearing Spring and time to think of planting. Orders should be placed with your florist in advance this season as the demand will exceed the supply. We are growing thousands of bedding plants such as geraniums, heliotrope, petunias, fuchsias, periwinkle, begonias and quite a number of other kinds that are used mostly for outdoor planting and window boxes.

We also offer hardy plants such as larkspur, canturbury bells, iris, paeonies, lupin, foxglove and pansies. Tubs of hydrangeas and box trees to sell or let for the season.

At all times our ideas and experience are at your service, either in helping you in choosing, or in taking entire charge of your landscape planting.

Swift & Company's 1919 Earnings

How They Affected You

During the twelve months ended November 1, 1919 (its fiscal year), SWIFT & COMPANY transacted its large volume of business on the smallest margin of profit in its history.

Sales over $1,200,000,000.00

Net earnings $13,870,181.34

Our shipments were in excess of 5,500,000,000 lbs.

This means that our earnings were less than 1-6 cents on each dollar of sales, or a quarter of a cent on each pound shipped.

Consumer---

The average consumer eats about 1-2 lb. of meat per day—180 lbs. per year. If he purchased only SWIFT & COMPANY products he would have contributed only 45 cents (180 lbs. @ 1-4 cent a pound)—a year profit to SWIFT & COMPANY for its investment and service, less than one cent per week.

Our earnings were so small as to have practically no effect on the family meat bill.

Live Stock Raiser---

SWIFT & COMPANY handled in 1919 over 16,000,000 head of live stock. You can figure for yourself that our earnings of 1-6 cents on each dollar of sales are too small to affect the price you received for your stock.

We paid all it was humanly possible to pay considering what the meat and by-products could be sold for.

REINSTATEMENT WITHIN 18 MONTHS STILL HOLDS GOOD

To relieve any confusion that may exist in the minds of former service men on account of the special provision of lapsed War Term Insurance which authorized reinstatement up to Dec. 31, 1919, regardless of date of discharge, announcement is made by Director R. G. Cholmeley-Jones, of the Bureau of War Risk Insurance, that the provisions for reinstatement of lapsed or canceled insurance, within 18 months from date of discharge, upon payment of only two months' premiums on the amount of insurance to be reinstated, provided the insured is in as good health as at the date of discharge or expiration of the grace period whichever is the later date, and so states in his application, still holds good.

THE WEEK HAS SHOWN SOME marked changes in the contest for delegates for the Presidential nomination. A week ago it appeared that practically the entire Republican machine within the state was committed to the candidacy of Calvin Coolidge for the Presidency. A working field secretary of political ability had arrived upon the scene. Few leaders in the party had declared themselves for any candidate other than Coolidge. It was apparent that all of the Republican leaders and voters did not view with favor, altogether, the skillful leadership of certain Republican powers to make the election of delegates in Massachusetts a purely Coolidge affair. The people of Massachusetts appreciate the merits of the present governor, and never questioned his spirit of public service. Voters everywhere were disturbed by the marked efforts being made to corral the Massachusetts delegation to be pledged to Coolidge and carefully selected in order that they might be used to support any candidate when the second ballot came. In the week there came three sharp and incisive activities which dispelled the fear. First, George von L. Meyer, of Hamilton, president of the Essex Republican club, and with him Colonel Root, of Haverhill, came out for Wood, indicating that there was not a unity of feeling among state leaders. Then followed the announcement of Congressman Lufkin, who also put a shot through the smoke screen. He announced himself for General Leonard Wood. Then followed the remarkable state paper by Calvin Coolidge. It was a straight-forward, level-headed, honorable action. It does not harm his candidacy, but helps. If Coolidge ever has a real chance for the nomination the announcement of this week will go a long way in winning the second choice votes. Who can understand the flukes of a Presidential nomination convention? Governor Coolidge has taken an honorable course that wins respect. It is fair also to countless Republican voters, who have marked Presidential preferences and who believe in party solidarity, and who would dislike to break lines with the party within the state. Theoretically at least the governor of the state is the leader of the party within the state. Meanwhile no one who has his ear to the ground can fail to notice the strength which Leonard Wood is showing in Massachusetts, especially in Barnstable, Suffolk and Essex counties. The announced preferences of Lufkin and Meyer indicate clearly which way the wind is blowing in the national capital. It is a well-established thought that if Roosevelt was alive he would receive the nomination. Is the Wood boom increasing because of his well-known sympathy with Roosevelt's ideals?

THE PEOPLE OF THE NATION will watch the nomination of President this year with unusual interest. There is already a discontent concerning the rules of the last Republican convention and some of the rulings made. It would not be surprising if there were marked changes in the methods of nominating the candidates.

THERE CAN BE NO COMPLAINT about the absence of winter weather this year. All sorts and every variety of weather has been given—wind, cold, mild days, rain, and last of all, mist and rain with thawing and freezing. All of these have had their turn to try the patience of man. The grocers and butchers, the candlestick makers and the electricians have all had their troubles in getting about. There is no adjective that can adequately describe the predicament of the car owner on a bitter cold morning with a glass "still going down" and snow banked in drifts over driveways and roads when there is work to do. The snowy whiteness had a charm when it fell so softly and so beautifully, but when the warm roof and a still warmer sun began to work and gutters ceased to function there was trouble for all. Never have the houses on the Shore been subjected to so severe a test. The master builders were in constant demand to repair leaks. Public buildings, churches, private homes and stores have been invaded by leaking walls and obstructed gutters. Mr. Householder has had a weary time trying to outwit Jack Frost with all the odds in favor of the latter. The warmer days brought trouble of a different nature. The year has been a severe one with more snow than in the previous four years. Now, the backbone of winter has been broken. February is a short month, and then comes March with the good fortune perhaps, that March 15 may bring April weather and the possible fear that it may keep up its winter weather. There has been much snow, but within the last fifteen years there has been a year, may it be added, when a milkman on the North Shore delivered his milk on runners for over ninety days.

THERE IS NO POETIC SENTIMENT about a winter snow storm and a January thaw in the city streets.

ONE OF THE MOST PROMISING FACTORS in the religious world today is the union of practically all of the churches of protestantism in an alliance based upon the principles of Christian unity, purpose and belief. For all practical purposes the uniting of the protestant churches in an organized movement serves every opportunity for co-operative work. It would be folly for any of the denominations to abandon their inheritances from the past, to sacrifice the particular tenets which unite them in their organization. It is advisable for the churches of similar faith and practices to coördinate their work and to establish a vital coöperative unity. This is the meaning of the great Inter-Church World movement. It is the determination of the leaders of the great denominations to get together to work out a large general plan for world-wide religious effort and then work the plan together. To this end surveys of every evangelical field in America are being made. When these are complete it will be known where the strong points and the weak points of the religious work in America are and the leaders of the movement will sit in council and deliberately plan to place churches, hospitals, schools and colleges in places where they are needed and where they never could be placed if it were not for the coöperative efforts of all the churches working together. A survey has been nearly completed of the state of Massachusetts and will undoubtedly be completed in the coming month. These efforts are intelligent and are to be commended; they terminate the old haphazard, helterskelter, aimless efforts of a half a dozen strong denominations. Now there is to be unity of action and endeavor as there has always been a unity of purpose. Actual organic unity of the protestant churches has never been possible or even desirable, but the practical unity of coöperative work has ever been desirable.

HOOVER IS THE UNUSUAL MAN of the times. Clean, strong, efficient and able, a candidate worthy of the nomination of either party, and yet neither party will take the initiative. Hoover may be a Republican or a Democrat! No one knows but himself. Whichever party nominates him will surely be able to count upon the old-fashioned "mugwumps" or, as now called, the "independent voters." The brothers envied Joseph's coat. Will the politicians envy Hoover his mantle?

ADMIRAL SIMMS HAS MADE a serious statement involving a high official of the United States government. There is also involved a point of honor in which the United States government and the United Kingdom are interested. This is no time to consider the wisdom of making such a statement. Admiral Simms should have considered before he spoke, but now that he has spoken, condemnation of his utterance is hardly in order until the truth has been established and the responsibility has been laid where it belongs. No harm can come in our relations with the United Kingdom, for it is a well-established diplomatic purpose of the two English-speaking nations to keep the peace and to establish the most cordial relations. It is true that America broke away from the sovereignty of the United Kingdom, but it is also true that the spirit that animated the colonists was purely English, the continuation of the great movement for self-government, liberty and justice. The movement was continued in the homeland; the results of the Puritan movement there were marked and permanent. The United States has had differences of opinion with Great Britain concerning the fisheries, the boundary line of Alaska and Venezuela, but the spirit of both countries has been cordial, with the constant determination to seek a settlement, even if there were vexatious delays in the boundary adjustments. There could never have been an idea of war between the nations. Someone higher up has blundered or Simms has misquoted, inadvertently, a remark made to him. No harm can come from the incident, for the United States remained loyally by the allies and her conduct is above reproach. The United Kingdom's international policy has in it an unwritten law concerning friendly relations with America. The American people wish to know, however, upon whom the blame should be placed for Simm's statement!

THE RAILROAD CORPORATIONS have had a difficult time during the last week in fighting the weather and all it entailed, but all things considered any schedule was a triumph in transportation. The commonplace comforts of modern transportation were unthinkable but a few years ago.

CAPTAIN MORIZE CHARMED, entertained, enlightened, rebuked quietly and convinced. Sure enough, why should America cease to aid the needy, who are just as needy now though the war is ended? Indeed the true memorials of our men are the spirit of service and sacrifice which impelled them to serve their nation in the hour of great need. If Captain Morize left only those words of Foch with his Manchester audience his visit was worth while: "An army is never beaten so long as it believes itself unbeaten."

IS THERE ANY REASON why the love, honor and patriotism of Americans should be reserved for war and wartime activities?

HENRY FORD IS TO ENTER into competition with his own well-known product. The Ford jitney trolley ought to prove to be a success.

THE WAR IS NOW OVER and the stubborn determination of the Prussian Kaiser to rule the world and to establish his pan-Germanic culture in every land has been curbed. He is a fugitive from justice. There were days before the war, however, when his cunning intrigue was not known and when he was industriously at work upon his hellish plot. It is doubtful, however, whether the statesmen of the world fully realized the ends to which the Kaiser was willing to go to win his aims. It is certain now that Theodore Roosevelt, not realizing the ultimate dangers of the German schemes, was able more than once to thwart their plans. Roosevelt, as assistant secretary, had put the American fleet under Dewey in order for battle, so that the American admiral was ready to meet the Spaniards. The German fleet also was in the harbor. No American will ever forget the manoeuvres of the German commander, no more than he can forget the heroic and friendly operation of the commander of the English fleet. Germany was plainly seeking difficulties with America. Only the wisdom of Roosevelt and the loyalty of the English government to America would have averted a war with Spain and Germany. It may have been that at that very moment the world war would have begun had not England prevented and the Germans retired. Germany was unready for the world war. It is hardly necessary to recall Theodore Roosevelt's blocking of the plans for ports on the Pacific, the operations of the Colombians against the Panamanians to frustrate the French and American plans relative to the Isthmian canal, nor the Venezuela plot hatched to gain a foothold on American soil within striking distance of the Panama canal, and later the efforts to gain an island off the coast near the entrance to the canal. The Kaiser had sought to curb the American republic in ways that are now unmistakably evident. Theodore Roosevelt may not have been able to penetrate the utmost schemes of the plotters (who of all public men dreamed of such chaos as followed in the world war?), and to have frustrated their schemes. In the Venezuelan incident, England and Italy indicated early their desires to arbitrate, but that was farthest from the desires of Germany. The Huns wanted land and a foothold on the American continent. It was England again that aided the United States. The Spanish war, however, indicates the perspective of Roosevelt and the friendliness of England to the United States. It was the Kaiser who sought an alliance with England, but Balfour, the mighty man, comptroller of the British Foreign office, gave the answer, "No, if the British fleet takes any part in this war, it will be to put itself between the American fleet and those of your coalition." The dear Kaiser was thoughtful enough to remark, "If I had had ships enough, I would have taken the Americans by the scruff of the neck." It was fortunate for this country that for those completed years of the McKinley administration and in the four years which he had by right of his own election, the American people had an aggressive President of Roosevelt's stamp in the White House. It is probably true that Roosevelt never ferreted out the secret world war plan of the Kaiser, but it is certain that he effectively and vigorously thwarted the purpose and plan of the Hun ruler. That he was assisted in his policy by the English government will ever be remembered.

HOLLAND AND BELGIUM are small countries peculiarly placed. Holland is particularly embarrassed with a Kaiser on her hands and neutrality to maintain. Can the Kaiser be said to be in Dutch exactly? It would appear that Holland was struggling not to get "in Dutch" with either the allies or Germany, with the possibility of offending all.

THE CONDITIONS which develop the "flu" are with us—poorly ventilated and super-heated homes, stores and cars and all the varying conditions of a New England climate. The ounce of precaution is the better part of wisdom.

THE NORTH SIDE OF A TREE exposed to the storms and blighting winds has a heavier bark than the southern side. The heart of a man, by its very nature, is the warmer and sympathetic because of the burdens and difficulties of life's experiences.

THE SEAMY SIDE OF LIFE reveals itself from time to time, but with no more marked contumely than when that brave young Essex County policeman was foully murdered in Boston in the performance of his duty. The generous fund that awaits the wife coming overseas is all too small to requite her loss. The suffering of heart and spirit can never be assuaged.

THE ABILITY TO WIN is not a gift, it is an acquirement. Stubborn hard work is more effective with the limitations of a small endowment of brains than a brilliant mind without the will or power of application.

AMERICA MAY RECOGNIZE the new Armenian republic, but that will not restore to happiness the great uncounted horde that has been robbed, brutally misused and abused by the Turks and their henchmen. Poor Armenia, land of death, sorrow and suffering! The land of a terrible, forgotten past; the land with a great future!

Breezy Briefs

The severity of last Saturday's blizzard caused us to wonder if the early Pilgrim settlers enjoyed (?) that sort of New England weather as much as we do.

An important step in the conservation of news print paper is the consolidation of the New York Sun and the New York Herald. Frank A. Munsey, owner, has announced that the consolidation will take place Feb. 1 and the paper will be known as the Sun and New York Herald.

Lady Astor, member of Parliament for Plymouth, speaking recently in support of state purchase and control of the liquor trade, said: "I hate the word 'prohibition,' and have just devil enough in me that if anyone prohibits anything it becomes the one thing I want." It is evident that Lady Astor has a keen insight of human nature.

NEW COVER DESIGN

THIS WEEK'S ISSUE OF THE BREEZE PRESENTS NICE APPEARANCE

Following our constant purpose of keeping the BREEZE up to a standard above that maintained by the average weekly magazine, we are presenting a new design for our winter cover this week.

The host of subscribers to the BREEZE will welcome this change, we are sure, as it is an additional proof that we are striving at all times to improve the magazine.

From time to time we receive nice letters complimenting us on our various departments. Sometimes we receive criticisms. All are welcome as it is partly by this manner that we know how much our efforts are appreciated.

SOCIETY NOTES

Mr. and Mrs. Francis M. Whitehouse are sailing from New York Saturday for the West Indies, to be gone until the latter part of March.

Richard S. Lovering and family plan to leave Manchester next week for their newly-acquired peach plantation in the close vicinity of Pinehurst, N. C. They will remain there a greater part of the year, coming north for the hot weather months only. Their house in Manchester will be occupied until July by Mrs. Lovering's brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Burnham.

Col. Wm. D. Sohler, of Beverly Cove, for eight years chairman and eleven years a member of the old Massachusetts Highway commission, prior to its recent merging in the State Department of Public works, last week finished the last annual report of the old board and completed his work as a state official. In recognition of the severance of ties, which bound the chairman and the organization of the old commission, very closely, and to show their appreciation of his devoted service to his office, the associate commissioners and employees of the commission presented Colonel Sohler a beautiful silver loving cup. The presentation was made by Commissioner James W. Synan.

General Chas. Lawrence Peirson, of Boston and Pride's Crossing, died last Friday at his Boston residence, 191 Commonwealth ave., at the age of 86 years. Funeral services were held at the First church, Boston, at noon, Tuesday. Col. Peirson, who commanded the 39th Mass. Inf. during the Civil war, was a native of Salem and a graduate of the Lawrence Scientific school and of Harvard college, class of '53. He was given the degree of M. A. by Harvard in 1918. At the outbreak of the Civil war he was commissioned a first lieutenant in the 20th Mass. Regt., was captured and put in Libby prison. After his release he was made lieutenant colonel of the 39th Mass. Inf. and breveted colonel for meritorious and gallant conduct at the battle of the Wilderness and Spotsylvania and later as a brigadier general for gallantry at the battle of Weldon railroad. For many years he was a member of the Boston firm of Stevenson & Peirson, later C. L. Peirson & Co., wholesale pig iron and coke dealers. He was prominent in all activities of the Loyal Legion and of the Unitarian church. General Peirson was one of the oldest summer residents at Pride's Crossing and always took much interest in the affairs of the North Shore.

Chas. M. Amory is maintaining his skill as golfer during his sojourn at Palm Beach this winter. In the opening round of the Lake Worth Golf tournament, Tuesday, he was first man. Henry Cannon Clark, of Beverly Farms, also a member of Myopia and the Essex County clubs, was another player.

Friends of Gurnee A. Munn, of the North Shore, who is spending the winter in Florida, read in yesterday's papers of his thrilling escape from death when the navy seaplane in which he was flying between the Bahama Islands and Palm Beach was forced to land on the ocean north of Miami. There were five other Florida winter residents with him at the time—Rodman Wanamaker, 2d, of Philadelphia; Jack Rutherford, Caleb Bragg and Philip Boyer, of New York, and Commander David H. McCulloch, pilot of the plane and member of the crew of the trans-Atlantic seaplane NC-2.

The Cercle Français will repeat the play, "Prime-rose," which met with such great success in November, on the afternoon of Feb. 11, at the Copley theatre, Boston, for the benefit of Polish relief.

Miss Margaret Rantoul and Miss Edith Rantoul returned to their home on Winter st., Salem, this week, after three months in Europe visiting the battlefields of France and Belgium. They had a very stormy passage home.

North Shore people are much interested in the engagement, announced by Mr. and Mrs. George Uriel Crocker, of 378 Marlboro st., Boston, of their daughter, Marjorie, to Sydney van Kleeck Fairbanks, of Cambridge. Mr. Fairbanks is the son of Robert Noyes Fairbanks, of London, England, and is a nephew of Arthur Fairbanks, director of the Boston Museum of Fine Arts.

Members of the New England division of the American committee for devastated France are planning a unique bazaar to be held in their workrooms at 415 Boylston st., Boston, on March 18 and 19. A French street will be arranged with little shops on each side, and at the end flower booths, such as they have in Paris at Marche de la Madeleine.

During the prevalence of illness at this time of the year it is highly important that every person do his or her best to remain in perfect health. That oft repeated phrase, "An ounce of prevention is worth a pound of cure" cannot be over-emphasized.

A considerable portion of illness is due to carelessness or ignorance. A person may know that he should not overtax his energies and "burn the candle at both ends," but nevertheless, he continues to violate nature's laws and consequently is obliged to pay the penalty.

Avoid crowds. If near a person who coughs or sneezes, leave him at once. Treat the habitual cougher as a person to be avoided and under no circumstances allow him a chance to cough or sneeze in your face.

In order for the physician to have a fair, fighting chance, do not delay too long before summoning him in case of illness. It is as shortsighted to delay calling a doctor in case of serious illness, as it is shortsighted to delay summoning the fire department in event of a fire.

In this week's issue of the BREEZE the Manchester Board of Health is publishing a set of instructions regarding checking the spread of influenza. Read what they have to say along this line and profit by their suggestions.

There is no one who cares to repeat the experiences of the flu epidemic of last year. The memory of its ravages is still fresh in our minds. Let us do our best to prevent a recurrence of last year's epidemic.

ANNUAL HORTICULTURAL BANQUET A PUBLIC AFFAIR

The committee in charge of the arrangements for the 16th annual banquet, entertainment and dance to be given by the North Shore Horticultural society at Horticultural hall, Manchester, on Wednesday evening, Feb. 4th, announces that this event will be a most enjoyable affair. The committee wishes it distinctly understood that the public is invited to attend; not only is the occasion given for the members of the society, but anyone who wishes may attend.

The entertainment program is as follows: Marche Militaire Opus 51, Malden trio; cello solo, Lawrence Rose; reading, Miss Ruth Guthrie; serenade, Malden trio; violin solo, Godfrey Wetterlow; reading, Miss Ruth Guthrie; Andante Sonate Opus 53, Malden trio. Mrs. Frank Mehafey will be the pianist.

It is hoped that friends in Manchester of this society will take an interest in this banquet and entertainment and support it by their patronage. A liberal response is necessary in order that the society may make this a success, as considerable expense is being involved.

Tickets for the entertainment and dance only can be purchased at Allen's Drug store next Monday at 50c each. The banquet will be held in the lower hall at 6.30 o'clock, entertainment in upper hall at 8 o'clock, dancing from 9.30 until midnight or later. Music for dancing will be furnished by Long's orchestra.

The banquet will be served by Schlehuber, caterer, of Lynn. The menu includes grape fruit cup, chicken bouillon, wafers, radishes, queen olives, escalloped oysters, cold roast sugar cured ham, delmonico potatoes, rolls and butter, banana fritters, wine sauce, chicken salad, frozen pudding, harlequin ice cream, country club ice cream, raspberry bombs, assorted cake and coffee.

Shall We Loan Millions to Europe?

No Reason for Huge Government Loan, But Increased Production Between Nations Will Solve the Problem

A MATTER of national interest at present is whether the United States should loan the European nations large sums of money to be used in the process of reconstruction. James J. Phelan, a summer resident of Manchester, had the following article in a recent issue of Current Affairs, the Boston Chamber of Commerce publication.

In this article Mr. Phelan takes a somewhat different viewpoint from the general opinions expressed in regard to the European financial situation. Admitting the moral debt which the United States owes to Europe and the necessity of bending every effort to assist our allies during the reconstruction era, Mr. Phelan is quite sanguine as to the present situation and the outlook for the future. He urges particularly that the government refrain from taking action in the form of loans, but that this responsibility be left to the business men of the several allied nations.

Believing that this is a matter of general news interest to our readers, the BREEZE is publishing the entire article as follows:

"Regarding the recent suggestion of a thirty-five billion dollar loan to the various countries of Europe, such a loan to be on a league of nations plan, and the intimation from those advocating it that half of this loan should be provided and guaranteed by the United States, I do not believe that there exists any occasion for such a huge loan, and I feel certain in my own mind that we should, as a government, in no way participate in this kind of loan.

"Of course, it was necessary during the period of the war for the government to go into the banking business, and to do anything else necessary for the successful conclusion of the war, but now that the war is over, I believe that as quickly as possible the government should withdraw from all such activities.

"Personally, I believe that the propagandists have overdone the thing by picturing in a most distressing way conditions caused by the war in Europe. While, admittedly, there is distress and considerable need of assistance in order to save certain peoples from starving this winter, and much need of financial assistance to secure the rehabilitation and rejuvenation of European industries, I can see no obligation on the part of our government to assist beyond the point of preventing actual starvation.

No Reason for Guarantee

"I can see no good reason why our government should guarantee to me as a manufacturer or shipper my bill of sale to Europe any more than it should guarantee my bill of sale in this country, and this it would practically be doing in making a loan to European countries for purchases here. Certainly, we should expect that in the event of such a loan, the money would be spent here to the extent that we could furnish the goods needed, and that, in my judgment, would be 100 percent.

"In other words, I do not think that it is a governmental function, now that the war is over, to finance Europe. This does not mean that we should not extend from time to time foreign obligations now due us, including interest, incurred during the period of the war, until such time as the various principals find it fairly comfortable to pay.

"Nor do I feel that we have no moral obligation to assist Europe. In fact, I feel decidedly the opposite way, but I do not think it should take governmental form. The peoples of Europe bought during the various stages of our own development, prior to and up to the war, some six billions of securities. Remember, I say the peoples of Europe, not the governments of Europe.

"In most part, we have bought back those securities during the last five years, and, at the close of the war, we find the world owing us in excess of twelve billions of dollars. When these securities of the United States were first bought by the peoples of Europe we were a young prospective nation, and were hardly on what could be called a firm, or absolutely sound basis. In other words, the buyers took some chances.

A Strong Moral Obligation

"For this and for the burden they carried for two years after the war started, and prior to our going in, there is some moral obligation. In fact, I think there is considerable moral obligation resting upon the people of the United States to pitch in now and help Europe. To my way of thinking this should be rendered by the people of the United States through the purchase of national, municipal and other good securities of such countries as England, France, Italy, Holland, Denmark, Sweden, etc.

"There has never been a question in my mind of the solvency of England and France. Their aggregate wealth is large in comparison with their total debt, external and internal. Furthermore, they are two nations that have gone through all sorts of vicissitudes, not for generations alone, but for centuries, and they have always come through paying one hundred cents on the dollar.

"Three years ago they both admitted their backs were against the wall, but they were going to fight it through to a finish and successfully. Does anybody suppose that with such a spirit in both nations, neither of which would lay down before machine guns, that either would think of surrendering their honor to dollars? The securities of these nations are safe and absolutely sound, and so are the securities of the large percentage of their industrial enterprises, and, on the present exchange basis, will show very handsome returns for purchasers.

No Material Aid

"The purchase of these securities on the part of our corporations, business men, and individuals, to the extent that they will roll up into the hundreds of millions, will not only go far in aiding Europe in the proper way, and in a way that will all the quicker get her back to a peace basis along natural lines, but it will be of tremendous importance in the extension of our foreign trade.

"If we are to be a big factor in foreign trade or the business of the world, we must first learn to have confidence in the people with whom we do business, and be willing to accept their paper; first, the paper of their national government, and their municipalities in the form of bonds and notes; and then of their industries through the purchase of their bonds and other securities that may be well protected by substantial assets and proper earnings; and then of the individuals.

Business Men vs. Business Men

"In other words, we, as business men in this country, if we wish to do business with business men of other countries we must extend to them the necessary credits and for the period of time, as do other nations with whom we shall compete in business. But, again, this is not governmental responsibility as I see it. It is the responsibility of the business men—the people, if I may say so, of this country, and, to repeat, to the extent that we give such credit, to that extent will our foreign trade grow.

"No, Europe, in my judgment, does not need thirty-five billion dollars, or any part of such enormous sum, and personally I believe that it would not be for her own good to get a sum larger than is absolutely necessary to take care of her immediate wants, and this I would advocate giving her only through the natural channels of trade and not by governmental action.

"What she does need is a display of confidence on the part of our people toward her people, commercially and otherwise, and a disposition on her own part to go to work and hustle to the limit that she may all the quicker get her industrial activities back to normal.

"When I stop to think that it is just a little more than 12 months since the closing of the war, or the signing of the armistice, I marvel that things generally throughout the world are as pacific and so near even keeled as they are. I have confidence in the countries of Europe generally, and in their ability to pull through. Recent happenings, including elections, labor disputes, etc., indicate this."

ANNUAL MEETING OF PURITAN FARM LOAN ASSOCIATION

The Puritan Farm Loan association, of Haverhill, which is the Essex County branch of the Federal Land bank, held its annual meeting at the office of the Haverhill Chamber of Commerce on Tuesday, Jan. 13, 1920. The regular business was attended to and the following officers elected:

President, L. G. Dodge, West Newbury; vice-president, Chauncey Gleason, Haverhill; secretary-treasurer, E. M. Folger, Lynn; assistant secretary, R. H. Gaskill, Hathorne; directors, John MacDonald, West Newbury; Chauncey Gleason, Haverhill; J. L. Stewart, Amesbury; L. G. Dodge, West Newbury; Mrs. Thomas Downs, Boxford; Mrs. M. S. J. A. Lodge, the BREEZE editor, has been among those housed the past week with a severe cold.

It is reported that James Read and family are to move into one of the tenements in Lee's block, so-called, about the first of March.

Mrs. Harry Lowell (Alice Latons) of Allston has been spending the week at the home of her mother, Mrs. E. M. Latons, who has been quite ill at her home on Union st.

The Town Report is off the press and is now in the hands of the binder. It is hoped the volume will be ready to deliver to the voters toward the middle of next week.

Miss Helen Webber, for a number of years nurse at the Beverly hospital, and who has many friends in Manchester, has tendered her resignation at that institution to take effect Feb. 7th. Miss Webber will take up private nursing.

The Manchester Woman's club is looking forward with pleasure to its next regular meeting on Tuesday afternoon, Feb. 3, when Arthur Fisher will give a monologue, "The Tailor-Made Man." Mrs. Grace S. Bell will be the hostess of the afternoon.

Among the victims of the grippe have been Mr. and Mrs. Harry F. Hooper, Lincoln ave., and Mr. and Mrs. Charles Hooper, Desmond ave. The latter have improved so as to be able to get out again the last few days, but Mr. and Mrs. Harry Hooper are more serious, and Mr. Hooper's case has developed into pneumonia. His life was despaired of yesterday for a while, but his condition is somewhat improved this morning.

At the national prize dancing contest in Central hall, Lynn, Monday evening, with 100 couples on the floor, a Manchester young man, Charles Hannibal, and partner, Miss Elizabeth Bryce, captured first prize money. There were 100 couples on the floor when the prize dance started and when at the end of more than an hour they were thinned down to 10 couples, Mr. Hannibal and his partner were still in the game. They were unusually clever and won the final verdict of the judges for their fine showing of the latest steps and not a few of their own make.

Patrolman Robert Stoops and daughter, Gertrude, have been confined to the house with illness during the past week.

John ("Cuppie") Gillis has gone to Warrenton, Va., where he has a position on the extensive building job under the charge of Connolly Bros.

Miss Thelma, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Chester Dennis, of Lincoln st., celebrated her fourth birthday last Monday. Thirteen little guests were present.

Mrs. Roy Wilfong (Mabelle Lodge) arrived from Elkins, West Va., Tuesday, for a visit with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Chas. A. Lodge, Bennett st.

The Arbella club meeting was postponed this week on account of the prevailing sicknesses. Dr. Thos. Ode-Neal was to speak on the eyes, ears, nose and throat.

Miss Elizabeth Wilson, of Maplehurst poultry farm, Summer st., bought a Chevrolet touring car this week through the agency of Frank P. Wonson, Gloucester.

Miss Elizabeth Richardson, of Ashland ave., observed her 74th birthday anniversary Monday of this week. Miss Richardson was a guest at the home of Mr. and Mrs. B. L. Allen on that day.

Rev. Albert G. Warner, a former well-remembered pastor of the Manchester Baptist church, who has been located in Lowell for some time, has accepted a call to the Baptist church in Marblehead, to take effect Mar. 1.

Patrick H. Boyle, of Manchester, was elected a member of the election committee of the Republican club of Massachusetts at its annual meeting in Boston, Monday. Four other communities are represented on the committee.

In the superior criminal court, Tuesday, E. Stanley Baker pleaded guilty of robbery and carrying a revolver without a license, while Duncan Baker, a juvenile, pleaded guilty to being a delinquent. The case will be finally disposed of next Monday. This is the case of Christmas night. Charlie Psallidas (Brown), the victim of the assault, was able to work at the fruit store again this week for the first time since the affair.

MANCHESTER CLUB MINSTRELS—TICKETS ON SALE NEXT MONDAY

The advance sale of tickets for the Manchester club minstrels on the evenings of Thursday and Friday, Feb. 12 and 13, will go on at Horticultural hall, next Monday evening, Feb. 2. Box office will open at 7 p. m. Be sure to get your place in line early so as not to be disappointed in getting your choice of seats, as this promises to be one of the best efforts of the club in this direction. New songs, snappy chorus work, dancing, feature sketches and up-to-date local jokes will be but a small part of the show.

The chorus, trained under the direction of Dr. F. A. Willis, will be composed of 40 male voices. The soloists, 10 in number, have been picked from among the best talent of the club.

Do not forget the dates of the performances—Feb. 12 and 13—and get in line early Monday, Feb. 2, for your seat. All seats reserved—75 and 50c. No favoritism shown in doling out seats—first come, first served.

CARD OF THANKS

Frank Silva and family wish to express their sincere appreciation and gratitude for the many acts of kindness shown their departed wife and mother, Mary Elizabeth Silva, in her illness; and also extend their sincere thanks for the beautiful floral tributes sent to her funeral.

THREE ADDRESSESPARENT-TEACHER ASSOCIATION HAVE A MOST HELPFUL MEETING

The Parent-Teacher association held its postponed meeting Wednesday evening in the Price school hall, Manchester. This meeting was to have been held a week ago, but owing to the annual guest night of the Manchester Woman's club it was decided to postpone for one week.

Three topics of general interest were discussed: Health, Dr. George W. Blaisdell; Thrift, H. W. Purington; Loyalty, W. F. Eldridge, superintendent of the Rockport schools.

Dr. Blaisdell spoke of the importance of properly caring for the teeth. He said that if food is allowed to remain between the teeth it will ferment and ultimately lead to disease. He spoke of the American tendency to over-eat and stated that there ought never to be "second helpings" of anything. Speaking of cleanliness he emphasized several points and said that "cleanliness should be practiced from the cradle to the grave."

Mr. Purington spoke of the present wave of extravagance which is sweeping across our land, and predicted that the time would come when want instead of plenty would prevail. In regard to practicing thrift, Mr. Purington spoke of the Christmas clubs which many banks operate for the convenience of their customers, assisting them to be systematic in their savings.

Supt. Eldridge had a topic which carried a popular appeal. Loyalty to self, to home and to country was his theme and he presented many ideas along this line which were well received by his audience.

Music during the evening was furnished by Francis Andrews, tenor soloist.

Following the presentation of the evening's program, a social hour was enjoyed and refreshments served.

REV. U. S. MILBURN WILL LECTURE TONIGHT IN MANCHESTER

At the meeting this (Friday) evening of the Manchester club, Rev. Ulysses Sumner Milburn, of Salem, will deliver a lecture on "Rural England."

Rev. Mr. Milburn will illustrate his lecture with stereopticon views of England's villages, great cities, cathedrals; art, etc.

Lunch will be served.

MANCHESTER BOY SCOUTS

"STUFFY" MCINNIS TELLS BOYS OF
HIS EXPERIENCES — AN INTERESTING MEETING

The Manchester Boy Scouts enjoyed an unusual treat last Friday evening in the shape of a talk by John "Stuffy" McInnis, star first sacker of the Boston American League team.

In telling of some of his experiences on the baseball diamond Mr. McInnis started with his own career. His first playing was with the Gloucester High team and from there he went to Haverhill, where he played one season. While here he came under the watchful eye of one of the scouts of Connie Mack's team and was forthwith signed up as a Philadelphia American player, receiving his training under the watchful care of Connie himself, as did the other players who made up that wonderful $100,000 infield of the team.

In passing, he paid a great tribute to Mack, as a manager who was always willing to let his men think and act for themselves rather than to direct every play from the bench, as managers do.

His review of his work while on the Philadelphia team was very interesting and included many sidelights concerning many prominent players of both leagues, including such men as Ty Cobb, Walter Johnson, Christie Mathewson and Bennie Kauff.

Babe Ruth, the famous home run hitter, came in for a full share of praise, he being the longest hitter Stuffy had ever seen, and absolutely indifferent to what kind of a pitcher he was batting against.

He told the boys that straight living was one of the principle assets of a successful ballplayer and he said: "When you play the game play it for all you are worth all the time."

After the talk the boys had a chance to ask all sorts of questions—an opportunity which they employed to the utmost.

Previous to the talk a supper was served by a scout patrol under the leadership of Scout Robert Foster.

This evening, at the Price school hall, the Scouts are to be entertained by Manager Rolfe, of the N. E. T. & T. Co., who, with the aid of stereopticon slides, will tell of the development of the telephone from its inauguration up to the present time. Scouts may invite friends.

MRS. FRANK SILVA

Mrs. Ida Silva, wife of Frank Silva, died at her late home on Forest st., Manchester, Monday, after a long illness.

She was a native of Nova Scotia, being born in Guysborough, where she has a sister living.

Her age was 47 years and she is survived by an immediate family consisting of her husband, Frank Silva, and one son, James.

Funeral services with requiem high mass were held at 9.30 Wednesday morning at the Sacred Heart church, Manchester. Burial was at Rosedale cemetery.

FORMER MANCHESTER WOMAN DIES
IN LOS ANGELES

The many Manchester friends and acquaintances of Mrs. Emma Smyth Mylin and her daughter, Florence Mylin Hamrick, will be grieved to learn of the death of Mrs. Mylin in California on the 27th of December, following a serious operation a few days previous—on Dec. 22. Mrs. Mylin's death leaves Mrs. Hamrick, the only daughter, quite alone, although it was some comfort to know that she had finished her three years' training, and that she is now a graduate trained nurse, practicing her profession in Los Angeles. Mrs. Hamrick's home address is 711 S. Figueroa st., Los Angeles, Cal.

SECRETARY DANIELS GIVES DEFINITIONS OF AMERICANISM

Secretary of the Navy Daniels yesterday told the graduating class of Pierce school, Philadelphia, that loyalty to the United States means "hatred of the red flag and the flag of profiteering." He gave seven definitions of Americanism. It means, he said, a government of law and order, equal rights to all and special privileges to none, and whole-hearted and single-minded devotion to this country by those born here or elsewhere.

"Americanism" also means," the Secretary said, "opposition to hyphenated politics by which politicians appeal to the hyphenated vote and organize it so it may hold the balance of power in politics, to be thrown for the candidate or party deemed most in sympathy with some policy which some country over the seas wishes adopted."

Americanism, he continued, means teaching every child in America to talk and read the English language, and, he added, "guarantees freedom of religion and freedom of the press and the right of public assemblage. Americanism does not shut all doors and does not keep out from our coun-

MANCHESTER

When the Bay State Automobile association held its annual meeting at the Hotel Victoria, Boston, Monday, it elected Fred K. Swett its first vice-president. Mr. Swett is spending the winter in California.

The BREEZE was nearly a full day late in reaching its readers last week, due to an accident to one of its machines. The paper went to mail late Friday, instead of early in the forenoon as it usually does.

Miss Abbie Floyd spent part of last week at the home of her brother, Joseph, in Cambridge, assisting in the care of her nephew, Joseph Rabardy Floyd, who has been quite ill with an attack of pneumonia.

At the regular meeting of Magnolia lodge, I. O. O. F., held in their hall, Manchester, last night, the initiatory degree was conferred on a class of nine candidates. Lunch was served after the working of the degree.

A daughter, Nathalie Mabelle, was born at Beverly hospital early this morning to Mr. and Mrs. E. Russell Lloyd, of Palermo, Cal. Mrs. Lloyd was formerly Miss Annabel Lodge, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Chas. A. Lodge, Bennett st., and is making her home here this winter.

George Brooks met with an accident last week while driving one of Perkins & Corliss' taxis down Lobster Cove hill. The machine became unmanageable owing to a break in the steering gear. The car tipped over on its side, throwing the driver out and doing considerable damage to the machine.

Following the lead taken by physicians in all the surrounding towns and cities, the Manchester doctors are increasing their rates for office and house calls. Beginning Feb. 10 all office calls will be $1.00; house visits between 7 a. m. and 10 p. m. will be $2.00; between 10 p. m. and 7 a. m., $3; telephone consultation, $1; obstetric cases, $20.

RESULTS OF PROHIBITION

JAILS ARE CLOSING, BREAD LINES HAVE DISAPPEARED

There is a great volume of fact showing the moral and material advantage accruing from the prohibition of the liquor traffic. The evidence presented here touches war-time prohibition only. Reports of decrease, not only of drunkenness, but of crimes of all sorts, reports of emptied jails and workhouses, or greatly reduced number of inmates, of advancing real estate values, of increased business activity, and of improvement in the employment situation are numerous.

Much was done to thwart the benign operation of the Federal edict. Yet police chiefs and justices of police courts have borne emphatic testimony to the diminution of crime. In ten Massachusetts cities there were 4962 arrests in June, 1919. In the succeeding month, the first dry month, there were only 895—a decrease of more than 80 percent. Springfield, Ill., enjoyed a diminution of 85 percent in its crime docket in the first 18 days under prohibition. Similar statistics come from Cincinnati, Baltimore, Chicago and New York.

The decrease in the number of accidental and self-inflicted deaths is noticeable. The prophesied increase in the number of drug addicts has not appeared. Before a month of this prohibition had passed public officials began to talk of reducing the number of jail attendants and policemen. After two months of this war-time prohibition it was found best to close the jail in Lowell, discharging 20 employees. It is said that the jail will be turned into a school house, as the Fall River jail was converted into the City Home. On Aug. 9 the city prison of Columbus, O., for the first time in its history, had no inmates. Various houses of correction are being closed as no longer needed.

In hospitals and infirmaries the result of the banishment of booze is apparent. The inebriate ward of the Philadelphia General hospital, which had 3481 cases in 1917 and 2326 in 1918, closed its doors last July. The department caring for drunks at our state farm has a very great scarcity of inmates and therefore of farm workers. The Connecticut state farm for drunkards has been abandoned. The New York Tribune published a page showing how prohibition had boosted property values in that city. The same story comes from other cities.

The hotel business was never so prosperous. New hotel facilities are being provided in many cities. Nearly all American hotels are banishing the bars, as is of course necessary now. Great increases in savings bank depots in 1919 are noted in all parts of the country. It is estimated that the American people will save six billion dollars annually on booze.

The bread lines in New York have practically disappeared. Applications for free lodging on the Bowery have been very few indeed in comparison with other years. Wholesale drunkenness and resulting poverty have disappeared to a remarkable degree. This is largely attributable to the dry law, though the active labor demand is also a cause. The New York Times said that the Christmas season just passed was the happiest for the greatest number ever known.

This was the result, and much more of the same, in a few months of the war-time prohibition. Much more is it to be expected that the same benign result will attend nation-wide and permanent prohibition.—Fall River News.

EASIER TO WEAR THEM THAN ARGUE WITH WIFE

How to elude your wife when she insists that you positively must wear your rubbers when you go out:

First: Tell her you positively will not do it. This will produce in her an attitude of resignation, and she will almost forgive you for not wearing them for giving her a chance to act the role of a martyr.

Second: Say that you never wore rubbers before you were married. She will then tell you that you were always sick, and will work herself into a jovial glow by thinking what good care she is taking of you.

Third: Wear the rubbers to keep peace in the family.—Judge.

SOME PRECAUTIONS TO GUARD AGAINST INFLUENZA

Two state health experts and the city of Salem health commissioner yesterday recommended precautions against contracting influenza.

While differing slightly in detail, the three practically concurred on certain elemental rules: to avoid persons with coughs or colds; to get plenty of rest in bed—and that with the windows open; to keep clean, especially to wash the hands before eating; to avoid public drinking cups and towels; eat regularly and sufficiently, and in general to avoid weakening the bodily resistance by lack of food or sleep, or by excessive or prolonged exertion.

Dr. Stanley H. Osborne, epidemiologist (epidemic expert), of the state department of public health, based his advice on his studies in this country and his experience in the influenza-pneumonia epidemics among the British and American forces abroad. He said:

"Influenza germs are present in the nose and mouth. Influenza is spread from one person to another only by germs present in the saliva of the mouth and in the nasal discharges. This material is conveyed by coughing, sneezing and kissing, and on handkerchiefs, towels and clothing coming in contact with the mouth and nose.

"To avoid the disease: You must keep clean; avoid people who cough and sneeze; do not visit persons sick with colds; dress warmly; wash your hands before eating; avoid crowded places; take daily exercise—walk to work; sleep with your window open; avoid worry and excesses; avoid common drinking cups and towels."

Dr. Bernard Carey, head of the division of preventable diseases of the state department, advised the following precautions: "Get plenty of rest in bed; keep the windows of your room wide open at night; eat meals regularly and do not curtail on quantity; keep the general standard of your health up to par."

HORN WAS O. K.

Possibly the apex of sarcasm or something was reached the other day when Jones took his flivver to a repair shop and asked the man there what was the best thing to do with it.

The repair man looked the car over in silence for several minutes, after which he grasped the horn and tooted it. "You've a good horn there," he remarked, quietly. "Suppose you jack it up and run a new car under it?"—Boston Transcript.

FEDERAL THEATRE, SALEM
"Everywoman," the spectacular morality play, is finishing a successful week's run at the Federal theatre, Salem, and with the concluding performances Saturday a near record for attendance has been established. A really wonderful picture cast is seen in this picture, headed by Violet Heming, Wanda Hawley, Theodore Roberts and Bebe Daniels. It is being shown twice daily at 2.15 and 8 p. m.

Next Monday Nazimova's latest picture, "Stronger Than Death," comes to the Federal for three days, and Thursday, Henry Walthall in "The Confession," the much talked of picture. This picture is taken from the wonderful stage play of the same name, written by Hal Reid. It has the trick of bringing tears to the eyes only to be driven away by laughter and there is plenty of excitement and a happy ending.

GREEK WEDDING

DEMAKES-BROWN MARRIAGE SOLEMNIZED IN MANCHESTER

The marriage of Peter Demakes, of Lynn, and Miss Triantopele (Rosie) Brown, of Manchester, took place Sunday afternoon at the Horticultural hall, Manchester. Rev. P. Marinakis, of Lynn, performed the ceremony. Peter Moutis, of Lynn, was best man, and Miss Demakes, of Lynn, was bridesmaid.

The entire ceremony was observed in true Greek form. Guests and relatives from Lynn, Boston, Ipswich and Gloucester assembled about noon and from then until late in the evening the merrymaking and jollification continued. There were Greek wedding dances, marches and games in which old and young joined. Refreshments of various confections were served during the afternoon and after the ceremony a supper was enjoyed.

The bride is a sister of Peter A. Brown, proprietor of the Manchester Fruit store. The groom has been employed in a factory in Lynn. Mr. and Mrs. Demakes were the recipients of many wedding gifts of silverware and china.

The newlyweds are on a week's trip along the North Shore visiting relatives. On their return they will make their home in Manchester, where Mr. Demakes will assist Mr. Brown in conducting the latter's bowling alley business.

MANCHESTER

The comment on new books in Manchester public library is printed on page 23 this week.

The engagement is announced of John Singleton, of this town, to Miss Helen Walsh, of Boston.

Fred Dale arrived from New York last Friday and since then has been ill at Miss Swanson's, Washington st.

F. Forster Tenney has recently purchased the property at 48 Central st., formerly a part of the Brown estate.

Town Treasurer E. P. Stanley received a check yesterday from the county treasurer for $6000, being the final payment on the Pine st. improvements, and marks the close of the transaction as far as the county is concerned.

Manchester men should remember the date of the next Brotherhood meeting—Monday evening, Feb. 2, in the vestry of the Baptist church. Edwin Mulready, commissioner of labor, is to be the speaker. The Brotherhood welcomes all men to this meeting and it is hoped that a large gathering will be present to give Mr. Mulready the audience which he deserves.

MANCHESTER CHURCHES

Baptist church, Rev. H. E. Levoy, pastor. Sunday morning at 10.45 there will be preaching by the pastor. Sunday evening at 7 o'clock there will be a song service followed by preaching, the subject being "A Church the Devil Likes."

Remember the series of special evangelistic services which the Baptist church is planning to hold from Feb. 10 to 22. Rev. P. W. Back, the singing evangelist, will assist.

Harmony Guild has planned a sleigh ride for next Monday evening, Feb. 2, to the home of Miss Olla Woodbury, in Beverly. Sleighs will leave Central sq. at 6.30 o'clock.

The Rev. H. P. Holton, a missionary from India, who has occupied the pulpit of the Congl. church during the illness of the pastor, Rev. F. W. Manning, will preach for the last time before the return of the pastor, next Sunday. Mr. Holton is a remarkable preacher and worthy of a larger attendance.

The Ladies' Social circle will meet next Thursday evening with Mrs. Alice Wheaton, Norwood ave. The meeting is held on Thursday, instead of Wednesday, because of the Horticultural society banquet on the latter date.

Politics in Manchester seems to be at a standstill for a period so close to town meeting and the annual election. There seems to be no competition for any of the offices except that of selectmen. In addition to the old board—Wheaton, Dean and Hoare, Edward S. Samuel Emerson, who enlisted in the U. S. navy last June, is spending his five-day furlough with his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Jabeth W. Dunbar.

Mrs. Effie Foster has been shut in since last Friday. Nicholas Nelson and Gordon Dunbar are taking her place in carrying the U. S. mail to and from the railroad station.

Owing to the deep snow and impassable roads there was no service at the Village church last Sunday. Six horses, competent men and a road scraper from Manchester, however, made Raymond st. passable even before it was time for the morning service. As yet Gloucester officials have done nothing about ploughing out the streets of Magnolia. Thanks and many of them to the Gloucester and Manchester bus line for clearing these streets in part, at least, of the deep snow! Even now it is with difficulty that one can drive a Ford car through Magnolia ave., to say nothing of other streets in this ward of Gloucester.

WILKINSON HOUSE DESTROYED

Clarence G. Wilkinson's house off Western ave., Magnolia, burned to the ground last Saturday morning. As the nearest hydrant is at the Stanley cottage, and as there was not sufficient hose to reach from that hydrant to the burning house, the firemen were helpless in any effort they might have made to extinguish the flames. A piano and most of the furniture was saved. The cause of the fire is unknown. The house and furniture were insured for $10,000. For the present the Wilkinsons are living in Mrs. Frank Story's cottage on Western ave.

SIGNS OF THE TIMES

POLITICIANS REALIZE THAT NEW ERA HAS BEGUN

Even at this early date the seasoned political campaigner sees many a sign that causes him to realize that the new era really has begun and that electioneering in 1920 will be decidedly different from what it used to be. Now that it is a question of only a short time before women everywhere in the United States will have the franchise, college girls are manifesting a great interest in partisan questions and they are holding meetings that may mean much in the future.

At Bryn Mawr recently Mrs. Geo. Bass, chairman of the Woman's bureau, National Democratic committee, addressed an audience composed of the undergraduate body of students. Previous to the meeting at which a Republican as well as a Democrat presented party principles Mrs. Bass was guest of honor at dinner and had a seat at the seniors' table. In the beautiful dining-hall, panelled in the dark oak, the girls who were attired in light evening gowns presented a picture not at all suggestive of future voters and office-holders. Now and then they stopped their gay conversation long enough to sing college songs with a dash that gave assurance that the students will be invaluable aids when they cheer for favorite candidates by and by.

This audience of girls proved to be well versed in current issues and after the speeches many questions revealing keen understanding and wide reading were asked.—Boston Herald.

WANT NEW STATION ON THE GLOUCESTER BRANCH

The large number of people living along the North Shore, who work at the United Shoe Machinery Co. plant in Beverly are responsible for the petition to establish a station at Gloucester crossing, so-called, in Beverly. The Beverly Times had this to say last night:

"More than a thousand residents of Beverly have signed a petition to the officials of the Boston & Maine railroad asking that a station be established at City sq., on the Gloucester branch of the road.

"The city council has already taken favorable action on the project. The establishment of a station, or even making a stop at City sq. would be a move appreciated by hundreds. There is a good-sized city full of people residing in and around City sq. and the Prospect Hill district, who would appreciate a stop near the square. It would also accommodate hundreds of employees of the United Shoe Machinery Co. living at Pride's Crossing, Beverly Farms, Manchester, Gloucester and Rockport. The petitioners do not ask for an elaborate station, merely a place where they can board or alight from the train."

"Few people appreciate the growth of City sq. Today it is a miniature city with its stores in practically every line of trade and a little sidelight on the growth of Beverly. The station at the square would save a long walk to the present depot on Park st."

The Chinese divide the day into 12 parts of two hours each.

Mrs. Mary Lee left the latter part of last week for a stay at North Conway, N. H.

Patrick Cannon, of Haskell St., has been reported among those on this week's sick list.

Among the inventories filed during the past week at the probate court is that of the late Samuel F. Currier, $990.38.

Mr. and Mrs. J. Millett Younger have spent the past week on a vacation trip to New York city. While in that city Mr. Younger attended the poultry show.

Mr. O'Brien and family, who have lived in the Linehan house on West st. a number of years, have leased the Moriarity cottage on High st., and will move there shortly.

Foreman George F. Wood, of the street department, has had a force of men at work part of this week clearing up the snow, and later opening up the gutters and catch basins.

It is planned to hold a joint observance of Lincoln's and Washington's birthdays under the auspices of the local patriotic orders—the G. A. R., W. R. corps, S. of V. and the American Legion. The program has not yet been arranged, but the idea seems to be to have one or two speakers and some songs, also instrumental music, and to have the observance in the school assembly hall, to which all will be invited.

John A. Morrison, a former well-known Beverly Farms young man, has been at Beverly Farms this week visiting friends. He is now located for the winter at Cambridge. Mr. Morrison has just completed the superintending of the grading, landscape work and planting of the newly built village near Portsmouth, Va., for the U. S. Housing corporation. He is considering accepting one of several similar propositions which is to be open in the spring.

Mrs. Alice P. Callamore and daughter, Miss Lizzie Callamore, of Greenwood ave., were among the guests present at the informal observance of the passing of the 50th wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. John H. Preston, of 19 Wallis st., Beverly, on Tuesday evening. Mr. Preston was born at Beverly Farms, the son of Deacon Joseph K. and Mary (Marshall) Preston, and spent his early life here. Mrs. Callamore, his sister, was in attendance at her brother's wedding 50 years ago.

Sleighride parties have proved popular diversions among Beverly Farms young people the past week. Judging from the merriment, laughter, songs, etc., they all were pleasant occasions.

A public whist party and dance in aid of St. Margaret's church will be held in Marshall's hall on Wednesday evening, Feb. 4. The affair is being conducted by some of the young ladies of the parish.

Miss Margaret Lee, West st., last Saturday entertained at her home a party of girl friends, classmates at the Salem Normal school. Although the day was a stormy one, the girls all had a good time and enjoyed the day at Beverly Farms very much.

It is a common thing to hear Beverly Farms people complain of the numerous leaks which have been showing up in houses, more or less injuring or destroying wall paper and ceilings. The leaks are caused by the frozen gutters and conductors which will not allow the water to run properly.

Tickets and posters are out for the Beverly High school opera, "The Chimes of Normandy," to be given by the pupils of the High school on Feb. 12 and 13. Roy K. Patch, of Beverly Farms, the well-known tenor singer, will assist, and a number of Beverly Farms students will take part.

At the election of officers of the Republic City committee held at headquarters in Beverly. Saturday evening, five Beverly Farms men were given prominent positions. On the finance committee at large, Augustus P. Loring, Jr., was elected; on the executive committee, Robert E. Hodgkins and Howard E. Morgan; finance committee, Augustus P. Loring, Jr., chairman, and E. Fred Day; naturalization committee, William R. Brooks and Howard E. Morgan.

School Committeeman James B. Dow has been among those at Beverly Farms the past week who have been kept indoors on account of a severe cold.

BISHOP LAWRENCE TONIGHT

Bishop Lawrence is announced to appear at St. John's church, Beverly Farms, this evening—Friday—Jan. 30. at 7.30 o'clock.

Neilson Poe Carey urges a large attendance to greet the bishop on this occasion.

DEATH OF JOHN F. MORGAN, WELL-KNOWN RESIDENT

John F. Morgan, one of the best known citizens of Beverly and for many years engaged in the horse selling trade, died at his home, 451 Essex st., last Friday afternoon, after a long illness, at the age of 77 years. He was born in Beverly and always made this place his home. Mr. Morgan, during his years in business, sold many horses to the city, which were assigned to the fire department and always gave the best of service. Mr. Morgan leaves three sons, Charles, Benjamin and John F. Morgan, Jr., and one daughter, Mrs. Warren A. Cole.

The funeral was held Monday afternoon from his late home, 451 Essex st., and attended by a large number of relatives and friends of the deceased. Rev. Rial Benjamin, pastor of the Centerville church, officiated. There were a number of flowers. The interment was in the Central cemetery on Hale st.

IMPROVEMENT SOCIETY HOLDS IMPORTANT SPECIAL MEETING

The Beverly Farms Improvement society held a special meeting last Friday afternoon at the home of Rev. Neilson Poe Carey to make arrangements for the annual open meeting of the organization. Mrs. Howard A. Doane, the president of the organization, was in the chair.

The subject of the meeting was the advisability of state regulations of the moving picture films. There is a movement on foot to have a commission appointed by the state of Mass. to examine all films to be presented in any moving picture theatre in the state. The proposed bill is endorsed by leading social workers everywhere.

Miss Amy Woods, who is an authority on the new movement to regulate moving picture films, has been invited to address the society and their friends at the annual open meeting to be held in the Beverly Farms public library on Tuesday, Feb. 5, at 7.30 p. m.

The committee on publicity consists of the secretary, Mrs. Samuel Vaughan; Mrs. T. Jefferson Newbold, Rev. Neilson Poe Carey and Rev. Clarence Strong Pond. The refreshment committee appointed for the evening is Mrs. Lamasney, Mrs. Raymond, Mrs. Alvin F. Sortwell; committee on arrangements, T. Jefferson Newbold, Howard A. Doane, F. I. Lamasney, J. M. Publicover.

It was voted to have the meeting an open meeting, with an invitation for everyone to attend.

COPLEY THEATRE, BOSTON

"Buntz Pulls the Strings," which is the next play to be presented by Henry Jewett's Company at the Copley theatre, is a quaint Scotch comedy of life and manners of the period of 1860. It was written by Graham Moffat, who knew intimately the place where the scenes were laid and who was acquainted equally well with the originals of the various characters which he has introduced into his play. In fact, many of his people were members or friends of his own household.

the third game of the pitch tournament which is being played by the four fraternal orders of Manchester. As predicted in last week's BREEZE the standing of the teams is considerably changed this week.

Friday night the Red Men started with a score of 30 points and succeeded in passing the Odd Fellows and pushing the Sons of Veterans from their position as leaders in the race. The final scores were: Red Men, 53; I. O. O. F., 50; S. of V., 45; American Legion, 32.

The Odd Fellows "came back" with a vim Monday evening of this week in the fourth game and regained the lead, which they held in the opening contest. Their total of one point more than the Red Men was sufficient to oust the braves, although the latter are by no means vanquished! The Legion also strengthened their teams and the players are making a good showing. The Sons of Veterans retained third place. The total scores to date are: Odd Fellows, 68; Red Men, 67; Sons of Veterans, 55; American Legion, 50.

The fifth game will be played next Monday night, the schedule being as follows: S. of V. No. 1 vs. I. O. O. F. No. 2; S. of V. No. 2 vs. Red Men No. 3; S. of V. No. 3 vs. Legion No. 1; I. O. O. F. No. 1 vs. Legion No. 2; I. O. O. F. No. 3 vs. Red Men No. 2; Red Men No. 1 vs. Legion No. 3.

PRESERVE FORESTS

N. H. FOREST EXPERIMENT STATION
SUGGESTED

The American Forestry association has started a campaign for establishing a forest experiment station on the White Mountain national forest. A bill providing for the expenditure of $50,000 for such a station has been drawn up and the association is urging its members throughout New England to get behind the measure by writing to Senator Henry W. Keyes and Representative Edward H. Wason, of New Hampshire.

The forestry situation in New England is outlined in the letter to the members by P. S. Ridsdale, the secretary, who says:

"As recently as 1907 New England produced as much lumber as it used. At the present time, however, a little more than ten years later, New England is dependent upon outside sources for 70 percent of its lumber and 30 percent of its pulpwood. It is self-evident that every region in the United States should be as nearly self-supporting in timber production as possible.

"It is probable that not more than 30 percent of the timberland in New England is producing what it might, and it is also probable that at least 20 percent of such land is producing little or nothing. It will aid greatly to increase the timber production of New England if through forest investigations we can secure the technical information necessary for the practice of forestry. The best way to secure such information is through a forest experiment station."

GEN. WOOD THE FAVORITE

BIGGEST PRESIDENTIAL TIMBER BEFORE THE VOTERS THUS FAR

Congressman Lufkin has this to say regarding the coming convention to nominate a candidate for President, on the Republican ticket:

"I am for Gen. Wood for President, and shall support candidates for delegates to the Republican national convention at Chicago who publicly announce themselves in favor of his nomination.

"I have been in favor of Gen. Wood's nomination since his name was first suggested nearly a year ago. I was willing to join in a movement in Massachusetts to compliment our splendid governor by sending a delegation who would present his name at Chicago and support him so long as the convention seriously considered his candidacy.

"I am now convinced, however, that the Coolidge managers want only hand-picked delegates from our state, men who must have no second choice regardless of what the situation in the convention may develop, men whose allegiance can be manipulated and transferred at will.

"I do not believe that the Republicans of Massachusetts want to be represented by that kind of delegates. I am quite confident that the congressional district which I represent does not.

"I believe that the people should have the same voice in nominating a President as they now have in electing one."

George von L. Meyer, of Hamilton, chairman of the finance committee of the Republican State committee, and president of the Essex Republican club, has this to say:

"Colonel Root, of Haverhill, and I are candidates from the sixth district, favoring Leonard Wood. Mr. Felton (of Salem) mentions no other candidate except Mr. Coolidge. I do not believe this represents the sentiment of the voters. Pride in a governor should not blind us to the fact that in order to assure a victory for the Republican party next November, we must concentrate our energies on the nomination of a national figure. If I am elected to represent the sixth district, after casting a ballot for Mr. Coolidge, if that is the wish of the people, my vote will be for Leonard Wood. He has all the qualifications; he is the strongest national figure and is internationally respected."

LIBRARY NOTES

New Books in Manchester Public Library

The selection of books for a small library like ours is quite a problem. Where the library can only purchase one good book out of several it is not always easy to make a choice. Most all the fiction put in is read, but some works other than fiction do not seem to be in demand.

I wish to call attention to a few such books. When books are not taken out the question naturally arises why have they not been called for? There may be a number of reasons; the selection may not have been a good one, or the public may not know that such and such a book is in the library.

The editors of the two local papers have very kindly offered to give space for notices of a few new books each week. It is hoped in this way to let the people know of some of the good books to be found in our library.

"Medical Research and Human Welfare," by W. W. Keen, M. D., is one of the books which has not been taken out. In this book Dr. Keen tells a wonderful story of the development of medical practice during the past fifty years. A reading of this volume will give some idea how much we owe to the men who through medical research have removed some of the dread from diseases such as diphtheria, typhoid fever, malaria, small pox and tuberculosis. The author is a noted Philadelphia surgeon.

A few years ago under the direction of Dr. Philip B. Hawk a series of investigations were made at Jefferson Medical college to find out what happened to food when it reached the stomach. What they discovered by these experiments is told in a very attractive manner in "What We Eat and What Happens to It." Some of the chapter headings are: "Should we drink water at our meals?"; "Is it harmful to drink coffee, tea and cocoa?"; "The meals we eat and what our stomach does with them"; "Do our stomachs like ice cream and cold drinks?"; and "What our stomachs really say to candies."

How many of us were thrilled a few years ago by reading those vivid letters of Mildred Aldrich published under the title "A Hilltop on the Marne," a wonderful description of the first battle of the Marne by one who was there. Another little volume by the same author, "When Johnny Comes Marching Home," may be found at the library.

Who does not love a sea yarn?

LEGAL ONLY IN ORIGINAL FORM

The rearrangement of the constitution and its amendments since 1780, as submitted by the constitutional convention last year, and ratified at the last state election, is not "the constitution or form of government for the Commonwealth of Massachusetts."

The constitution or form of government for the state is the old constitution and its amendments, including those amendments submitted by the constitutional convention and ratified by the voters.

This is the unanimous decision of the justices of the supreme court, as made in an opinion submitted to Gov. Coolidge and the executive council in response to a request for an opinion as to which is the constitution.

The supreme court opinion of interest principally to judges and lawyers, means, in effect, that while the arrangement is of value as a convenient reference, all legal questions affected are dependent for settlement upon the constitution and its amendments without rearrangement and they continue to be the fundamental law.

A special committee of the constitutional convention worked out a rearrangement of the constitution and amendments for the purpose of group related matter and presenting the provisions in unified form in sequence.

This rearrangement was adopted by the convention, substantially as drawn up, submitted to the voters and ratified. The rearrangement made certain changes, however, and these raised the question as to whether it could be legally "the constitution." The supreme court answers in the negative.

If you want a good one get "Seven Legs Across the Seas, A Printer's Impressions of Many Lands," by Samuel Murray. It was thought when this book was put into the library that it would be very popular, but it has never been taken from the shelf. The reading of this book will give you a number of hours of real enjoyment and at the same time add much to your knowledge of many strange places.

Next week there will be a notice of a few new books.

It is nearing Spring and time to think of planting. Orders should be placed with your florist in advance this season as the demand will exceed the supply. We are growing thousands of bedding plants such as geraniums, heliotrope, petunias, fuchsias, perriwinkle, begonias and quite a number of other kinds that are used mostly for outdoor planting and window boxes.

We also offer hardy plants such as larkspur, canterbury bells, iris, peonies, lupin, foxglove and pansies. Tubs of hydrangeas and box trees to sell or let for the season.

At all times our ideas and experience are at your service, either in helping you in choosing, or in taking entire charge of your landscape planting.

Call or telephone; we are always pleased to be of assistance to you, and to give you the benefit of our suggestions.

The Railroad Station in Beverly is not conveniently situated. Those who use the station and whose destination may be in the retail district or the residential district have a long walk to take. This is particularly true for all who have business interests in or about the new centre at City square because of the rapid development of the United Shoe Machinery Company. The workers who enter Beverly by the railroad have a long walk from either the Beverly station or from the station at Montserrat. It is not surprising that there has been circulated a petition requesting the Boston & Maine Railroad to establish a new station at City sq. The petition respectfully requests only a modest station to accommodate the patrons of the railroad. It is apparent that the petition is not without merit and that it will be given the honorable hearing which its merits impose. There are difficulties involved in the new plan that will require careful consideration of all the factors involved. The proximity of the Beverly and Montserrat stations makes the new stop a more difficult one than would first appear. From either station a train will have hardly gathered momentum before it is necessary to shut down steam and prepare for a stop. The petition nevertheless is an honest one and presents a problem that must be favorably considered. Will it mean that the centre of the city of Beverly will be about the new station? That will be unlikely for a long while to come. It is apparent, however, that the new centre around City sq. is entitled to more convenient railroad service. It may be that the railroad authorities at first will not dare to make the station more than a two-stop station—morning and evening. In that event, eventually, the service which the station renders will soon indicate the advantage of opening it all day.

An Interesting Meeting was held by the Improvement society at Beverly Farms this week in which the growing problem of the regulation of motion pictures was considered. The attitude was markedly in favor of the new recreational enterprise. The spirit of the meeting appeared to be that the motion picture had come to stay and that to do its best work and to prevent the presentation of objectional pictures some form of regulation should be made. The meeting was ader with a re-appropriation of the unexpended balance from 1919 of $185.50 for the completion of Allen Avenue Sewer.

Article 34. To see what action the Town will take in regard to purchasing land for Cemeteries and appropriate money therefor.

Recreation

Article 35. To see if the Town will appropriate the following sums of money for the maintenance of the several departments: Park Maintenance, $4,000; Tuck's Point, $2,250 and interest on fund.

Article 36. To see what sums of money the Town will appropriate for the maintenance of the Playground on Brook Street.

Article 37. To see if the Town will appropriate the sum of $3,000 for improvements at Masconomo Park.

Article 38. To see if the Town will appropriate the sum of $1,000 to be used as a contingent fund by the Park Commissioners.

Article 39. To see if the Town will appropriate the following sums of money for the purposes mentioned herewith: Band Concerts, $500; Fourth of July $500; Memorial Day Observance, $200; Ringing of Bells, $8.

Unclassified

Article 40. To see if the Town will appropriate the following sums of money for unclassified accounts: Reserve Fund, $3,000; Maintenance Memorial Library Building, $1,200; Town Reports, $700; Care of Clocks, $50; Care of Floats, $200; Care of Central Pond Dam, $25.

Article 41. To see what action, if any, the Town will take to compensate Frank P. Knight and George L. Knight and R. L. Cheever, or either of them, for damage to their property resulting from the taking, July 3d, 1914, by the Town, of easements therein for sewer purposes, it being submitted, that while no legal obligation obtains for such compensation, a moral obligation therefor may be found to exist. As per petition of John Jaffray and others.

Article 42. To see what action, if any, the Town will take to reimburse Thomas B. Dunn for grading his premises during the years 1915 and 1916 to correspond with the change of grade made by the Town in the reconstruction of Pine Street; it being submitted that while no legal obligation obtains for such reimbursement, a moral obligation therefor may be found to exist.

Article 43. To see what action, if any, the Town will take in relation to a claim of Daniel Edgecomb and Sons in connection with the construction of a sewer in Allen Avenue, as per petition of Daniel Edgecomb and others.

Article 44. To see if the Town will appropriate the sum of $2,500 for a committee on Soldiers' Memorial; also the sum of $25,000 for a new hall as recommended by the committee in its report or take any other action relating thereto.

Article 45. To see what action the Town will take in relation to salaries of Town Officials and employees for the ensuing year.

Article 46. To see what regulations the Town will make for the Common and wharf.

Article 47. To see if the Town will authorize the Treasurer, with the approval of a majority of the Selectmen, to borrow during the current financial year, beginning January 1, 1920, in anticipation of revenue for said financial year, such sums of money as may be necessary to meet the current expenses of the Town, giving the note or notes of the Town therefor.

Article 48. To see what action the Town will take with reference to Town Beaches and Landings; also to see what regulations it will make as to the placing of Bath Houses, and the taking of sand and muck from the beaches.

And you are directed to serve this Warrant by posting attested copies thereof, one at the Town Hall Building, one at the Post Office, one at the Fire Engine House, and one at the Police Station, seven days at least before the time of holding said meeting.

Hereof fail not to make due return of this Warrant, with your doings thereon, to the Town Clerk, three days at least before the day of this meeting.

dressed by Miss Amy Woods, and her plea was for state regulation by Massachusetts. The so-called censor bureau now at work is supported and regulated by a group of motion picture producing corporations. There is already a widespread interest in local censoring—local option so to speak. There are those also who favor national as opposed to state regulation. The local regulation is professedly undesirable because of the unfair competition which may ensue because of the varying regulations in contiguous towns. It would appear, of course, that national regulation would be the most effective. For a beginning state regulation will be a desirable unit. It is plainly evident as well that the movement is endorsed by the operators of first-class motion picture houses. These operators would welcome the new arrangement as it would spare many hours of toil and friction, not to speak of expense. It is unquestioned that the motion picture has come to stay and that it can be made a most valuable agent for educational and recreational purposes. The present unlicensed and regrettable conduct of the business in some places is bringing a reproach upon the business that is unfair to the companies endeavoring to produce and to present clean, wholesome and instructive motion pictures. The establishment of standards by a commission meeting once a month will decide the rules by which the employees of the board can judge all films presented. Massachusetts has a right to regulate the films produced. Honorable and successful theatre owners are advocating the plan, churches and social welfare organizations are endorsing it and it would appear that it would prove advisable and desirable. In the beginning it may injure a certain class of motion picture companies, but in the end it will prove a great advantage to all. It is not unreasonable to think that the clientele of the motion picture theatres will be increased rather than diminished by the proposed regulation.

Great Britain is patiently endeavoring to prevent any schism with America. One thing the war has taught Americans and Britains is that the English-speaking nations must understand each other.

The League of Nations has been accomplished and the work has commenced. The outstanding task at the present is the organization of the new supreme court for the settlement of international questions. The plan for the court is to be launched by a group of seven jurists who are to serve as an organizing committee to arrange all the details of the launching of the new court. The constitution of this permanent court to administer international justice, is the greatest contribution in all time to the problem of maintaining justice in the relations of nations with nations. There will undoubtedly be difficulty in adjusting the differences of opinion concerning the organization of the court. The smaller nations are determined in their claim that there be an equality of the states with equal voting power. The larger nations, the powers, so-called, are chary about surrendering any of their prerogatives. So there are difficulties to adjust and differences of opinion to be met. It is planned that only the world's most efficient jurists should be selected; that so far as possible there shall not be more than two and preferably only one jurist on the list from any one nation. The disqualification of any judge to decide any question in which his country is involved appears of primary importance. Finally the findings could be safeguarded by the right of challenge of any judge by any nation. It will be a difficult task to adjust the differences involved, but eventually the problem will be satisfactorily solved. One of the regrettable factors in the establishment of the permanent court is the absence of the United States, officially; it is, of course, understood that eventually America will enter. It is the more regrettable because it was the United States that most strongly urged the establishment of the court. It is well-known that Elihu Root was to have been selected, but how can he be tendered a position in advance of the entrance to the League of the United States whom he would represent? The establishment of the permanent court, however, is assured and it is only a matter of time before the United States government will be officially represented. The new court will administer justice internationally and should prove to be a great factor in the future in the maintenance of peace.

The Retirement of the governor leaves Leonard Wood as the favorite son in Massachusetts. As a physician, soldier, presidential advisor and civil administrator he has had an enviable preparation for the larger work.

The Sons of Veterans is a powerful organization in this state and the nation over. Membership in its organization is limited to sons and grandsons of veterans of the Civil War. There are few patriotic organizations that wield the influence which this organization has in the interests of our national entity. There is a permanent officer in every camp called the patriotic instructor, whose duty it is to inculcate the principles of loyal devotion to the country in whatever field of influence the camp may be at work. Through these camps a great deal of quiet, but effective patriotic work has been done. The organization has been sponsoring a bill which will be reported, it is believed, by the committee of the legislature before which it has been given a hearing. The bill requires that every school teacher shall be obliged before being engaged by a community or a school organization to subscribe to an oath of allegiance to the United States. The primary intent of the bill is to prevent the admission of any teacher in the schools or colleges of the state who will refuse to take the oath of allegiance. The private and parochial schools of the state are also prohibited to engage any teacher who refuses to take the oath. The protection of our teaching force is essential if the boys and girls of America are to be one hundred percent American. The teachers of the land must be one hundred percent American. True teachers for our children will not refuse to take the oath of allegiance. No other teachers are worthy of a place on the teaching force of any public or private school.

The Munroe Doctrine leaves the decisions of authority and judgment concerning an American dispute to the judgment of the American people. If the settlement of opinion is to be made by the League of Nations, there is essentially a surrender of the real and vital principle of the Munroe Doctrine.

The Bolshevik Troubles and those associated with the so-called "reds" and "radicals" are regrettable and condemnable forms of propaganda. While it is essential that the government should not permit actions that transgress the common law to pass unprosecuted, it is equally true that to offset completely the work done by these "social reformers," their unfair, unjust and undemocratic propaganda must be nullified by loyalist propaganda. There is nothing compared to light. "The truth shall make you free" were the words of Christ relative to the power of spiritual impulses over all that is base in human living. It is equally true in the field of politics, "ye shall know the truth and the truth shall make you free." The open propaganda carried on by these workers of iniquity gain much of their power through their misuse of facts and the abuse of the truth. It is necessary that more light be let into their minds. Prosecution is essential. It is required by the disobedience of law. Yet it must be recognized that prosecution and the persecution of "radicals and bolshevics" has a natural tendency to solidify their ranks. The opposition drives them together. They gain thus. On the other hand every effort which is made to meet the arguments of the bolshevics and the radicals in the open forum of public opinion turns the tables and places them upon the defensive, and by their inability to cope with the truth, automatically the radical captains lead their groups to defeat. Law breakers must be punished. Plotters must be searched out, but bolshevik and radical propaganda must be met with propaganda based upon honor, virtue, the maintenance of righteousness, respect for law, property, persons, life and institutions. The inheritances of the American nation may only be saved as the radicals are taught the vital doctrines of fidelity to the nation.

The Churches have a league or alliance for the extension of their work the world over. They have called it the Inter Church World Movement. The New World is already with us. Why not a New World with increased powers for all of the vital forces at work for the good of the world.

One of the Present World Problems is the adjustment of the Adriatic question. Fiume and four other districts are claimed by both Italy and the Jugo Slavs. Italy claims that the city of Fiume is Italian in sympathies and population and consequently by the rights of self-determination belongs with the Italian territory. At a recent Hungarian census in the district there were thirty thousand Italians and sixteen thousand Jugo Slavs. A plebiscite of the city was taken after the armistice and the people declared themselves favorable to unity with Italy. On the other hand the Jugo Slavs claim that the plebiscite does not adequately express the feeling and inclinations of the people. They further claim that Fiume naturally belongs to the Jugo Slavs and that it affords the way to the sea which is absolutely essential to the nation. Serbia has made a similar issue recently. The Italians have in rejoinder claimed that there are other available Adriatic ports. Unfortunately these are not immediately available and would cost time and money to place them at the disposal of the Jugo Slavs. It is apparent that there is confusion of issues and a distinct difficulty in making a decision that is just. The rights of self-determination are recognized as honorable and yet there is the marked injustice involved in the Fiume situation in denying to the Jugo Slavs the rights to the sea. The problem is to determine a course of action that will assure justice to both parties. It has been suggested that it would be a politic as well as a just settlement of the problem if the city and its municipal administration were granted to the Italians while the railroads and port facilities were placed in the hands of the League of Nations, thus placing the port facilities of the railroads and the water front on equal terms to all nations. This would recognize the pronounced Italian sympathies of the residents of Fiume and at the same time accord to the Jugo Slavs the rights to the sea. In Dalmatia the Italian claim does not appear to be so well founded. There is an inclination to base an adjustment of the Adriatic situation upon the Fiume question. If this be the issue the result will probably be in the nature of a compromise, with Italy caring for the municipal control of Fiume and with the League of Nations controlling the port and railroads. The work of the reconstruction period will prove to be one fraught with anxieties and difficulties, but if there be a disposition to readjust world conditions along the lines of justice the future is secure and the war has achieved one end.

This Is the Most trying month in the year, financially, to the business men on the North Shore. When those bills are sent out by them they should respect attention.

to thoroughly enjoy the horticultural banquet, held in Manchester Wednesday night.

It has developed that the spirit of hoodlumism is not confined to Manchester boys. Oh, no! The members of Harmony Guild, of Manchester, went on a sleigh ride Monday evening this week. While going through Beverly Farms they were bombarded with icy snowballs by some young boys who doubtless thought they were doing a "smart" thing. Several of the young ladies were hit, and one, at least, received a severe headache, considerably lessening her enjoyment of the evening's party. When a similar incident occurred in Manchester last year the boys were punished; why should Beverly Farms boys be allowed to escape with nothing done about this deed?

One of our young men went into a store in Manchester Monday night and purchased a daily paper. He picked up a paper from the counter and without glancing at the date paid for it and went on his way. A little later in the evening when he had opportunity to read the news he searched first for the weather report and was surprised to read: "Fair and warmer Saturday!" The memory of last Saturday's cold blasts was still fresh in his mind, and glancing at the date of the paper he read "Friday, Jan. 30." Needless to say he did not read any more from that paper, but declared he would interview the news dealer and request a rebate for the money he had expended.

x—x—x

It is interesting to notice some of the various covers which autoists are using to protect their motors from the cold weather. Among the articles observed are bathrobe with the arms torn out, an old army blanket, fur overcoat, section of a woolen carpet, lap robes, and the regulation hood covers which are rubberized.

x—x—x

"It's an ill wind, etc." During the blizzard yesterday, which delayed traffic and impeded business, the school children of Manchester found reason for rejoicing, as they were given a holiday.

THE MODERN TELEPHONE

SUBJECT OF TALK BEFORE MANCHESTER BOY SCOUTS

Last Friday evening at the Price school hall, Manchester, members of the Boy Scouts and a number of their friends gathered to listen to an illustrated lecture on "The Modern Telephone," by Manager Irving W. Rolfe, of the N. E. T. & T. Co.

Mr. Rolfe, with the aid of pictures, explained to the boys the method of receiving a call and the process it goes through from the time one takes the receiver from the hook, when a red light shows on the board of the local exchange, until the call is finished.

When the red light shows, the operator immediately says, "number, please," and at the same time inserts the plug for the busy test. From that the call goes through the local exchange to the board of the receiving switch board, from which one gets a reply to a toll call.

The work of the operators at the board was fully explained, and the many wonderful inventions used in making and answering calls were interestingly pictured out.

Mr. Rolfe explained that most people are unaware of the fact that when, as is frequently the case, one answers the telephone and is greeted with a pleasant "excuse me, wrong number," the fault lies, not with the operator, but in a majority of cases with the subscriber. The subscriber has given the wrong number and in many cases has realized the error before the call is completed. He has hung up the receiver, leaving the party on the other end to wonder who was calling and also to shift the blame for the mistake on the operator.

There are only certain questions and phrases which an operator can answer; all others are referred to the "Information Desk," or to the Chief Operator, who handle this end of the business.

Various pictures of some of the big Boston exchanges were shown, where one could get an idea of the methods used by the operators in handling the many business calls incident to a city.

An interesting picture was shown of a telephone exchange of 40 years ago, as well as one of a modern exchange with its multiple contrivances and improvements.

The first bank in Boston to install a telephone, after a short time ordered it taken out as it was thought to be a hindrance to business and that banking business could not be done with it; but today it is considered one of the vital necessities of every business, both large and small.

The rest rooms and lunch rooms provided for the operators were shown—each one a model in itself, with all modern conveniences for maintaining the health of the employees of the company.

The slogan of the N. E. T. & T. Co. is "Service First" and with that in mind a chart is kept in each office showing the number of calls received at every hour of the day and night and how many of these calls each operator handles so that at all times there will be a competent force on hand and at no time will there be more operators at work than are needed, to continue a satisfactory service.

The work of the private branch exchanges, which are installed in many of the large industrial plants, was fully explained.

The system of handling toll calls was very interesting, as was the method of stamping the time slips on an automatic clock which shows the time the call was received, where the call was to and how long the party talked.

In the Manchester exchange something like 3000 calls in winter and 7000 calls in summer are handled daily.

The business is so much larger in summer than in winter that the local operators have this unusual factor to contend with.

RED MEN IN LEAD

GAIN FIRST PLACE IN MANCHESTER PITCH TOURNAMENT

The Odd Fellows are discovering that it is a difficult matter to keep the Red Men from the first place in the pitch tournament being played by the four Manchester fraternal orders. The Red Men won the fifth contest Monday night and now lead in the race, being ahead of the Odd Fellows two points.

The largest gain for the evening was made by the teams representing the Legion. They increased their points by 18 and nearly succeeded in gaining third place.

The total scores to date, including the results of games played on Monday evening of this week, are as follows: Red Men 82, Odd Fellows 80, Sons of Veterans 70, American Legion 68.

The sixth contest will be staged Monday evening, Feb. 16. There will not be a game on Monday evening next, Feb. 9, because of town meeting. Members of the opposing teams will take notice of this change in the schedule. A lunch will be served when the teams meet again, Feb. 16.

*Every Evening at 7.30 o'clockRev. P. W. Back, "The Singing Evangelist" will preach and sing. COME Bring Someone With you!*MONOLOG ENJOYED*ARTHUR J. FISHER ENTERTAINS
MANCHESTER WOMAN'S CLUB

"The Tailor-Made Man," a monolog by Arthur J. Fisher, of Boston, was enjoyed at the regular meeting of the Manchester Woman's club, held Tuesday afternoon at the chapel, Manchester, and attended by a large number of members and guests.

Mr. Fisher showed his versatility by cleverly impersonating the several characters in this popular play. His versions of their characteristics met with the unanimous approval of his hearers, as evidenced by frequent applause and many smiles which greeted his portrayals.

From the fellow who attained success by "borrowing the suit of one man and the brains of another," to the girl who "should never trust a man who has a shifty expression of the eyes," Mr. Fisher delighted the club members and their friends for an hour and a half.

The meeting was called to order by Miss Annie L. Lane, president. The recording secretary, Mrs. Leonardo W. Carter, read the records of the past two meetings, after which Miss Lane called the attention of the members to the state federation meeting of woman's clubs to be held at Revere, next Wednesday, Feb. 11. As this session is to be held so near Manchester it is hoped that several members of the Manchester Woman's club will attend.

It was announced that the local club had been given special notice in the selection of its president, Miss Lane, to serve at the state meeting as page to the state president.

It was voted by the club to have the president appoint two delegates to represent the Manchester Woman's club at the state meeting. Mrs. Ellery Rogers and Mrs. William Follett were appointed.

Three bills relating to maternity care, health, education and censorship of films were read. The state federation will consider these bills at its meeting and they are read at each club in order to give the members an opportunity of deciding as to their merits before being called on to vote concerning them. Recommendations will then be made to the legislature, through the proper channels.

At the next meeting of the club there will be held a bread sale. Club

MASSACHUSETTS STATE DEPARTMENT OF HEALTH

To keep well, keep clean.

Wash your hands before each meal.

Don't go to crowded places.

Avoid the person who sneezes.

Smother your cough in your handkerchief.

Keep out of dirty restaurants.

Warmth is necessary. Be well clothed.

Soda is unnecessary. Why run the risk of infection from a dirty glass?

Safety lies in boiled dishes.

A common towel is only for filthy people.

You wouldn't use my tooth brush.

Why use my drinking cup?

Sleep well. Eat well. Play well.

DON'T WORRY.Instructions to Nurses

Practise what you preach—keep clean. Isolate your patients.

When in attendance upon patients, wear a mask which will cover both the nose and mouth. When the mask is once in place do not handle it.

Change the mask every two hours. Owing to the scarcity of gauze, boil for one-half hour and rinse, then use the gauze again.

Wash your hands each time you come in contact with the patient. Use bichloride of mercury, 1-1,000, or Liquor Cresol compound, 1-100, for hand disinfection.

Obtain at least seven hours' sleep in each twenty-four hours. Eat plenty of good, clean food.

Walk in the fresh air and sunshine daily, if possible.

Sleep with your windows open in all weather.

Insist that the patient cough, sneeze or expectorate into cloths that may be disinfected or burned.

Boil all dishes.

Keep patients warm.

Instructions to Householders

Keep out of the sick room unless attendance is necessary.

Do not handle articles coming from the sick room until they are boiled.

Allow no visitors, and do not go visiting.

Call a doctor for all inmates who show signs of beginning sickness.

The usual symptoms are inflamed and watery eyes, discharging nose, backache, headache, muscular pain, and fever.

Keep away from crowded places such as "movies," theatres, street cars.

See to it that your children are kept warm and dry both night and day.

Have sufficient fire in your home to disperse the dampness.

Open your windows at night. If cool weather prevails, add extra bed clothing.

Instructions for Workers

Walk to work if possible.

Avoid the person who coughs or sneezes.

Wash your hands before eating.

Make full use of all available sunshine.

Do not use a common towel. It spreads disease.

Should you cough or sneeze, cover nose and mouth with a handkerchief.

Keep out of crowded places. Walk in the open air rather than go to crowded places of amusement.

Sleep is necessary for well-being—avoid over-exertion. Eat good, clean food.

Keep away from houses where there are cases of influenza.

If sick, no matter how slightly, see a physician.

If you have had influenza, stay in bed until your doctor says you can safely get up.

LOCAL SECTION

Friday, February 6, 1920

MANCHESTER

The regular meeting of the S. of V. camp on next Tuesday evening, Feb. 10, will be omitted because of town meeting.

An account of the Brotherhood meeting and the interesting talk by Commissioner of Labor Mulready, is printed on pages 22 and 23 of this issue of the BREEZE.

There will be an Arbella club meeting Tuesday, Feb. 10, in the chapel at 4 o'clock in the afternoon. The subject will be "Opportunities in Employment for Girls."

The Frank B. Amaral post, A. L., held a dance at the Manchester Town hall Friday evening. Music was furnished by Long's orchestra. The proceeds were for the benefit of the Legion treasury.

In speaking of the success last week of Charles Hannibal in winning the $50 prize in the dancing contest at Lynn last week, we said Mr. Hannibal's partner was Miss Elizabeth Brice. As a matter of fact, Miss Brice was the dancing partner of Frank Woods, of Portsmouth, who won second honors. Mrs. Hannibal danced with her husband, and the BREEZE has heard many complimentary remarks since last issue, of the exhibition of general and fancy dancing exhibited by these young Manchester people.

MAGNOLIA LODGE WILL ENTERTAIN GRAND MASTER DOLLOFF

Magnolia lodge, I. O. O. F., conferred the first degree last night on four candidates, in spite of the severity of the storm. The attendance of members was good considering the weather conditions.

It is planned to obtain a special dispensation to hold a special meeting next week Saturday evening, Feb. 14, for the purpose of conferring the first degree on the balance of the class of candidates.

Thursday evening, Feb. 19, Magnolia lodge will have the honor of entertaining George L. Dolloff, Grand Master of the Grand Lodge of Massachusetts. Mr. Dolloff will be accompanied by members of his official suite. A banquet will be served by Hicks, the caterer, and the second degree will be worked.

IN GRIP OF BLIZZARD

KING WINTER REIGNS SUPREME ALONG THE NORTH SHORE

The North Shore, in common with other sections of New England, was in the grip of a blizzard yesterday and today which is said to be the most severe for the past 22 years. Highways were filled with snow, paralyzing traffic and business. Schools and factories were forced to close their doors and suspend operations for the day.

Railroad traffic was badly affected. The North Shore trains could not begin to run on schedule. The 10.45 train from Boston, reaching Manchester at 11.48, did not arrive Thursday until 2.58, and the 1.40 arrived at the same time. The trains reaching Manchester at 3.19 and 4.13 did not pull in until 5.21. The train arriving at 5.05 was cut out altogether and the 5.23 reached here at 7.18. The 6.04 arrived at 8.01.

Trouble at Magnolia, which held the trains arriving at 5.21 held back the two trains that reached Manchester at 7.18 and 8.01, with the result that these two trains did not leave here until 1.37. They reached Gloucester after 2 o'clock. No more trains came down the branch, and no trains had attempted to go Boston-ward after 5.30.

On Friday the first train to go toward Boston left Manchester at 10.40. The first train from Boston arrived at 11.02.

The wheel railroad system, apparently, was badly crippled—especially as far as the Gloucester branch was concerned.

Of course all mails are practically at a standstill.

Manchester schools were closed yesterday and again today. The snow plow was over a portion of the route yesterday afternoon, but so rapidly was the snow blown in by the gale that the tracks were soon filled in.

This is an unusually heavy winter for the North Shore. Everyone seems agreed that this is one of the "old fashioned" variety.

GARAGES FOR PUPILS

SCHOOL STUDENTS IN KANSAS DRIVE
OWN CARS

Garages for pupils who drive their own autos to school is the latest in Kansas! How soon such a movement will invade every state we dare not predict. The Brockton Times recently contained the following information which we publish herewith:

"And it has come to this! Kansas school teachers are reported to be voting bonds on increasing tax levies to provide funds for the building of school garages. These garages are not a part of the machine shop equipment of the modern technical high school. They are not a part of the educational equipment at all. They are wanted to house the automobiles in which Kansas children drive daily to the seats of learning.

"In the old days churches all had sheds in the rear to house the horses and vehicles which brought the devout to Sunday worship or the socially inclined to week-night entertainments. Country churches still have these sheds in some localities. And country schools have needed such shelters. Not every community suffers from the lack of school garages as the Kansas school districts seem to suffer. Nevertheless it is surprising to observe the large number of big automobiles in the streets

One of the most successful affairs in its history was the 17th annual banquet, entertainment and dance given by the North Shore Horticultural society at its hall in Manchester, Wednesday evening of this week. Not only was the evening's enjoyment liberally supported by members of the society and their wives, but many friends of this organization also purchased tickets and attended, doing their best to make the occasion a success.

The committee in charge, aided by many volunteers, has reason to feel gratified at the response of the people of Manchester and vicinity. Over two hundred were present at the banquet and there were others who attended the entertainment and dance which followed the banquet. As there was considerable expense involved, it was necessary that a large number of tickets be sold. The society does not hold this annual event with the idea of making any money on it, but solely for the purpose of a general get-together and social time. Because of the war these affairs were not held in 1916, 1917, 1918 and 1919.

The banquet was served in the lower hall at 6.30 by Schlehuber, caterer, of Lynn. The tables were prettily decorated with begonias, paper-white narcissus and ferns. Rev. F. W. Manning, pastor of the Congl. church, offered the invocation. The menu included grape fruit cup, chicken bouillon, wafers, queen olives, escalloped oysters, cold roast sugar-cured ham, delmonico potatoes, rolls and butter, banana fritters with wine sauce, chicken salad, frozen pudding, harlequin ice cream, country club ice cream, assorted cake, raspberry bombs, coffee.

Post-prandial exercises were in charge of Frank P. Knight, of Manchester, president of the society. In extending greetings to members of the society and their friends Mr. Knight spoke of the prevalence of illness in this section and expressed his gratification that so many people were present. He spoke of the fact that this society had not held a banquet since 1915 and said that although he knew many of the guests were anxious to hear the entertainment and enjoy the dancing which was to conclude the evening's program, nevertheless he wished to hold them together for a few minutes while remarks were made relative to the activities of the society. Mr. Knight said:

"The coming summer promises to

MANCHESTER YOUNG WOMEN GO ON PUNG-RIDE TO BEVERLY

Members of Harmony Guild to the number of 32 enjoyed a pung-ride to Beverly Monday evening, where they were guests at the home of Miss Orla Woodbury, a teacher here. A royal good time was enjoyed by all. The evening was spent in a pleasant manner, music being one of the attractions. A collation was served by the hostess, assisted by members of the Guild.

The only event to mar the pleasure of the evening was the injury sustained by some of the members of the party when they were snowballed while passing through Beverly Farms by a number of boys who evidently were not over-careful in picking the ammunition, as several pieces of ice were included in their missiles. Several of the ladies received painful injuries.

RURAL ENGLAND SUBJECT OF STERE-OPTICON LECTURE

The Manchester club members were entertained last Friday evening by the Rev. Mr. Milburn, of Salem, who gave a stereopticon lecture on "Rural England."

Mr. Milburn spoke in a most interesting way of his personal observations of some of England's villages, and he particularly dwelt upon the numerous elegant churches, and cathedrales.

After the lecture an oyster stew, prepared by Chef Stanwood, was enjoyed by the members, bring many people to Manchester. The Garden club of America will hold its annual session here and we must show our western friends that we, too, can raise many articles." The Garden club of America held its meeting last year at Lake Forest, Ill.

President Knight read letters from F. A. Smith, director of the Essex County Agricultural school, and Wm. N. Craig, secretary of the Gardeners' and Florists' club, of Boston, on matters connected with the work of these societies. He then introduced P. J. Baarda, of Boston, who spoke very briefly.

Rev. W. George Mullin, rector of the Sacred Heart church, of Manchester, spoke of the natural advantages of Manchester and the North Shore. "You have here," he said, "on one side the woods and forests, heavily timbered, and on the other the beauties of the ocean. Manchester is one of the garden spots of the North Shore, and we should strive to make the entire town beautiful rather than to beautify it in certain places. There are many picturesque drives as one approaches Manchester and it has seemed to me, sometimes, as if the leaves fairly roll over themselves in eagerness to bid everybody welcome to our fair town."

Rev. H. E. Levoy, pastor of the Baptist church, pronounced the benediction.

The entertainment and dance were held in the upper hall. Mrs. Frank Mehaffey was pianist, and the several selections on the program were finely rendered and received well deserved applause, the artists generously responding with encores.

The program was as follows: Marche Militaire Opus 51, Malden Trio; 'cello solo, Laurence Rose; reading, Miss Ruth Guthrie; serenade, Malden trio; violin solo, Godfrey H. Wetterlow; reading, Miss Ruth Guthrie; Andante Sonate Opus 53, Malden Trio.

The stage was transformed by the liberal use of everygreen trees, lilies, flowers and ferns. Against the green background, bunting and flags made a striking contrast.

Music during the banquet and for dancing was furnished by Long's orchestra. The dance order included a two-step, Portland fancy, one-step, quadrille, waltz, Virginia reel, waltz, one-step and several extras.

while Mr. Davis was loading coal on the pung at the Samuel Knight's Sons Co. coal wharf, and dashing out of the yard, continued his mad flight through Bridge st. until nearly opposite the house of I. M. Marshall. Here he attempted to take his load onto the sidewalk, with the result that the pung was overthrown. With only the front runners behind him the animal continued his flight until he reached the yard of Mr. Davis at the Farms.

When the horse started on his flight from the coal wharf, Mr. Davis gave chase in an automobile and headed the runaway while going through West Manchester, but could do nothing to arrest his mad flight. He managed to keep ahead of the horse, however, until he arrived home.

Mr. Nailor, of Beverly Farms, figured in a lively runaway Wednesday afternoon when his horse, attached to a light sleigh, became frightened when going down the hill near the Tenney estate. Taking the bit in his teeth, the animal dashed madly away, upsetting the sleigh and throwing out Mr. Nailor.

The latter struck on his side and shoulder, sustaining several bruises. Fortunately, however, he escaped without any broken bones.

The horse freed himself from the sleigh and continued his flight to Beverly Farms.

LIBRARY NOTES

New Books in Manchester Public Library

A new book by W. W. Jacobs is always welcome. You are always sure to find good clean humor in his sailor yarns. His latest volume consists of an even dozen short stories, all of them entertaining.

For a number of years, Wm. Stanley Braithwaite has brought out an anthology of magazine verse. It is a selection of the best poetry published in the magazines during the year. His "Anthology of Magazine Verse for 1919" has just been received at the library. In it you will also find a list of all books of American poetry published during the year and an index of articles and reviews of poets and poetry published during 1918-1919.

Some of you may remember reading "A Minstrel in France," by Harry Lauder. If you liked it you will want to get his new work, "Between You and Me." It is very readable. It is not a war story and is very different from his "Minstrel in France."

Do you want to have a good laugh? If you do get "From Mud to Mufti," by Bruce Bairnsfather, the English artist and cartoonist. Anyone who has read his "Fragments from France" or his "Bullets and Billets," will want to see his latest story of the war. The illustrations add much to the humor of the book.

Do you care about books or gossip about books? A new work, "A Golden age of Authors," by William W. Ellsworth, tells you the story of the development of American literature for the past fifty years. The author was with the Century Company for over forty years.

You may learn much about Mark Twain, Frank Stockton, John Hay, Richard Watson Gilder, Joseph Jefferson, Bret Harte, Wm. Dean Howells and many others. He knew most all the famous men and women of his time. It is very seldom one has the opportunity to increase one's knowledge in such a pleasant manner.

"Mince Pie," a book of humorous and witty essays by Christopher Marley, author of "The Haunted Book Shop," has just been put into the library. I can assure you that this "mince pie" is full of meat, well flavored, very palatable and will not cause you indigestion.

You may gain much information about our American navy and pass a number of pleasant hours in the company of a very likeable man by reading "From Midshipman to Rear-Admiral," by Bradley A. Fiske, Rear-Admiral of the United States navy.

Next week mention will be made of a few of the best novels of 1919.

Theatres

THE ED WYNN CARNIVAL

With an expectation of receiving something new and funny in the line of musical entertainment the Boston public awaited the coming of the Ed Wynn Carnival with the inimitable comedian, Ed Wynn, himself, which opened at the Tremont theatre, Boston, last Monday evening. But it is a fact that there was no preparation for the extremely happy surprise that first night audience received. They saw a show which compared with and excelled any of the best and most opulently produced of that line of theatrical entertainment. And the emphatic declarations voiced with happy unanimity proclaimed that the Carnival was the best show seen in this most prodigal of theatrical seasons. The result has been that the succeeding performances have had absolutely capacity audiences.

A musical revue without a beautiful chorus would not be a revue, and it is sufficient to say that Mr. Wynn has a company of beautiful show girls that sets a high mark for any other producer. There are a number of colorful and rich scenes, and the costumes are lavish in magnificence.

COPLEY THEATRE, BOSTON

"Buntz Pulls the Strings," already announced to have been the attraction at the Copley theatre was necessarily postponed owing to the pronounced success of G. Bernard Shaw's "Man and Superman," which Henry Jewett's company has been playing so excellently. This Scotch play of Graham Moffat's was one of the successes at the Copley last season where it enjoyed a prosperous run. In the present revival six of the characters will be played by the same people into whose hands they were entrusted at the previous production.

POLITICAL POT

Town meeting in Manchester will be held next Monday, Feb. 9, commencing at 7 o'clock in the evening for the purposes of acting upon the articles of the warrant. The warrant for the annual town meeting is published in this issue of the BREEZE. It is lawful to pass votes regarding appropriations at Monday night's meeting and to transact such other business as may legally come before the meeting.

For the purpose of balloting for town officers, the polls will open at 6 o'clock Tuesday morning, Feb. 10, and may be closed at 5 o'clock in the afternoon.

Tuesday evening the voters will again assemble to continue action on warrant articles not disposed of Monday evening.

Town Clerk Lyman W. Floyd has had the specimen ballots prepared and they will be duly posted. The list of candidates for the several offices is as follows: Raymond C. Allen, moderator; Edward S. Knight, assessor; George R. Dean, William W. Hoare, Edward S. Knight, Samuel L. Wheaton, selectmen and overseers of the poor; Lyman W. Floyd, town clerk; Edwin P. Stanley, collector of taxes; Edwin P. Stanley, town treasurer; Raymond C. Allen, school committee; James Hoare, water and sewer commissioner; Lee W. Marshall, trustee of public library for two years; Alfred C. Needham, trustee of public library for three years; William Hoare, trustee of Memorial Library building fund; George L. Knight, trustee of the cemeteries; William Till, park commissioner; Peter A. Sheahan, Everett O. Smothers, tree warden; Leonard Andrews, Louis O. Latons, Joseph P. Leary, constables.

The only contests appearing are for the offices of selectmen and overseers of the poor, and tree warden. The present board of selectmen, comprising George R. Dean, Wm. W. Hoare and Samuel L. Wheaton are running for re-election, and their friends predict that the voters will return the old board for the coming year. Edward S. Knight, who served the town faithfully for many years as chairman of the board of selectmen, is a candidate this year and it is certain that Mr. Knight will be given a handsome vote. A large number of friends are forecasting his election this year. The other contest is between Peter A. Sheahan and Everett O. Smothers for the office of tree warden. Mr. Sheahan holds the office at present.

The voters will also be called on to register their opinion on the following question: "Shall licenses be granted for the sale of intoxicating liquors in the town of Manchester the ensuing year?" Town Clerk Floyd characterizes this vote as of about the same importance and value as a fifth wheel to a coach!

The board of registrars held its final meeting last Saturday for the purpose of revising the list of voters. There is a net gain of six voters this year, the number now being 665.

The report of the finance committee is always awaited with keen anticipation by the voters. By this time the printed report is probably in the hands of the voters, as they were ready for distribution Thursday morning, but because of the blizzard they could not be distributed. The committee, we note, recommend total appropriations of $219,597.73. It makes its first deviation from what is asked for, in the article calling for appropriation for fire department. It recommends that no increase be made in the pay of the engineers or call men. The moth department calls for an increase of $500. The committee does not recommend it, though it does consent to the $500 increase in the tree warden's department.

The committee recommends that no dredging be done this year. On the question of purchasing land for cemeteries it recommends that no action be taken at this time. For improvements at Masconomo Park, the committee does not recommend.

On the matter of new Town hall, the committee recommends that no action be taken until after the report of committee has been acted upon.

Summarizing, the committee recommends:

Interest and maturing debt	$25,640
General government	16,551
Protection of property and persons	29,500
Health and sanitation	6,950
Highways, bridges and sidewalks	43,173
Charities and soldiers' benefits	6,925
Schools and libraries	49,500
Public service enterprises	26,124
Recreation	10,058
Unclassified	5,175
Total	$219,597

ANNUAL TOWN REPORT DELIVERED TO SELECTMEN THIS WEEK

The annual report of the town of Manchester for the year ending Dec. 31, 1919, was delivered to the Selectmen on Wednesday of this week. The books were printed in the BREEZE office, and considering illness, shortage of help and other difficulties, the work was done in a comparatively short time and the finished result a creditable product.

The town report is always an interesting book to the taxpayer. Records of receipts and expenditures of each department of town activities, together with reports from committees and recommendations, form an array of facts and figures to which townspeople look forward each year.

The recommendations of the finance committee regarding appropriations for the ensuing year were printed this week and are being circulated among the voters today. This committee has made careful study of town needs and it is believed that its recommendations will receive the approval of the citizens of Manchester.

MANCHESTER CHURCHES

Baptist church, Rev. H. E. Levoy, pastor. Sunday morning at 10.45 there will be preaching by the pastor from the subject, "The Ideal Church." Sunday evening at 7 o'clock there will be a song service followed by preaching, the subject being "A Church That Quailed Before a Wicked Woman."

The special series of evangelistic services will commence at the Baptist church next Tuesday evening, Feb. 10, at 7.30 o'clock. Rev. P. W. Back, the singing evangelist, comes to Manchester highly recommended and it is hoped that he will be greeted with large audiences, which he deserves.

The service at the Baptist church next Wednesday evening will be patriotic, and all the local patriotic organizations are cordially invited to attend. Rev. P. W. Back, the singing evangelist, will speak.

The Woman's Missionary society will meet at the Baptist parsonage next Tuesday afternoon at 3 o'clock. The topic to be considered is "The Immigrant."

Ladies of the Church Aid society met Wednesday in the vestry of the Baptist church and worked on a quilt. This quilt was started by Mrs. Nancy McPherson on her 94th birthday anniversary, the 17th of last July, and Mrs. McPherson met with the ladies Wednesday and actively assisted in the work. The ladies were at the church all day, lunch being served at noon.

Blessing of St. Blase services were held at the Sacred Heart church, Tuesday evening, and were well attended.

At the Congl. church next Sunday morning the pastor, Rev. Frederic W. Manning, will preach. Evening services will be discontinued from Sunday, Feb. 8, until after Sunday, Feb. 22. Everybody is cordially invited to the revival meetings to be held in the Baptist church.

The following communication has been sent out to the various branches of the Essex County chapter, by Miss Bessie A. Baker, chairman of the Chapter Supplies, from the Supply Station at 5 Hale st., Beverly:

"I have received word from the New England Division that when the quota of garments, on which we are now working, is finished, there will be no more quotas unless something special arises.

"There is still a great need for knitted garments. Therefore, will you have as much of your wool knitted into useful garments as is possible.

"The reports received from abroad are still full of the need of clothing, and the Division is shipping as rapidly as they can all the finished garments, as well as materials for the foreign women to make into garments.

"A letter dated Oct. 2, told of the peace plan of work for the branches.

Under this plan the division warehouse and our chapter will have a supply of hospital garments and surgical dressings for emergencies, and each branch should have a certain number of garments and surgical dressings, supplied by itself for local relief work.

"In our sample room, we have pajamas, American layettes, etc., and a combination of dressings which we will loan to any branch wishing them for patterns. We will also send paper patterns for garments. There is a possibility that the Division supply of hospital garments and surgical dressings will have to be replenished from time to time, in which case they would ask the branches to help them and they would supply the necessary material.

"The letter from the Division closes with the following paragraph: 'I cannot close this letter without expressing the deepest gratitude and admiration for the splendid, unselfish service the women of New England have given to our foreign work. They have never failed to answer every call and we feel confident that if unforeseen emergencies arise which require more work, that the women will be ready again to take up the burden, and that in the meantime, they will aid us in keeping alive in the minds of all the people the fact that the Red Cross is always ready for service.'

"BESSIE A. BAKER,

There is still a large supply of wool on hand at the Manchester branch. Mrs. Charles E. Bell has been appointed chairman of the knitting department and asks all who will help along this part of the work to knit men's and children's socks. She has a supply of wool on hand at her home on Lincoln st., and people near the centre of town may obtain wool at the home of Dr. Tyler.

OBITUARY

MRS. MARY A. WILSON

Mrs. Mary A. Wilson, of Rockport, Me., passed away at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Walter B. Calderwood, Elm st., Manchester, last Friday, Jan. 30, at the age of 73 years 9 months, 11 days. Mrs. Wilson had been an invalid for several years, and had been confined to her bed for the 10 months previous to her death.

Funeral services were held Monday, at 2 o'clock, at her late home. The Rev. Herbert E. Levoy, pastor of the Baptist church, officiated, assisted by Rev. Albert G. Warner, of Lowell. The remains were taken to Rockport, Me., for burial.

Besides Mrs. Calderwood, Mrs. Wilson is survived also by another daughter, Mrs. A. M. Heath, who makes her home in Manchester, and by a son, Harry D. Wilson, and one grandson, Harold J. Wilson, of Camden, Me.

CHARLES G. BELL

Charles G. Bell, a former Boston young man, passed away Tuesday at Detroit, Mich., where he had recently gone to enter into business. Mr. Bell was the husband of a Manchester young woman—formerly Miss May James—who survives him, together with two babies, one only a few months old. They have been in Manchester of late, with Mrs. Bell's parents, Union st.

Mr. Bell was a young man with a bright future ahead of him, and he was just embarking upon the business sea, when he was taken down with influenza. He was ill only a short while.

MRS. ABIGAIL D. CROMBIE

At the home of Mr. and Mrs. Benj. Merrill, North st., Manchester, last Friday, Mrs. Abigail D., widow of Enoch W. Crombie, passed away, at the age of 89 years, 9 months, 20 days.

MINSTREL SHOW AT MANCHESTER
NEXT WEEK

The Manchester club minstrel show on Thursday and Friday evenings of next week continues to be the chief topic of talk throughout the town these days.

The advance sale of seats at Horticultural hall last Monday evening fully came up to the expectations of the committee in charge and has shown most conclusively the belief of the public that this is to be one of the big events of the season.

No expense has been spared in the endeavor to make this the "best ever" and no one will go away feeling that they have not received full value for their money.

The stage setting will be something well worth seeing and the chorus of 40 voices have been trained until they have reached that point as near perfection as can be reached by an aggregation of this kind.

The soloists all have their parts and will endeavor to do their best towards making it a huge success.

The costumes from the Hooker, Howe Co., of Haverhill, are the best that can be produced and are the last word in costumes.

The jokes and feature sketches will

Mrs. Wm. Waddy, who has been a great sufferer for many months, is now very weak and her physician has little hopes of her recovery.

Mr. and Mrs. Clarence G. Wilkinson and family will move very soon into a little cottage on the Shore rd. The Wilkinsons were recently burned out of house and home, and since the fire they have been occupying the little summer cottage on Western ave., owned by Mrs. Frank Story.

The "grippe" or "flu" or something is visiting several homes in this village just now. Among those who are afflicted by this malady are Oscar P. Story, his daughter, Dorothy, and son, Donald; Mr. and Mrs. Fred S. Lycett and their little daughter, Elizabeth; William and Mildred Comerford; and Mrs. John MacKay.

Between thirty and forty men are working this week on the pond off Magnolia ave., cutting and housing ice which is about 15 inches thick. Thus far no serious accident has occurred. John Troy and Lee Wolfe, however, were slightly injured recently, the former's hand being cut by a spike and the latter's foot bruised by the falling of a cake of ice upon it.

MAGNOLIA SUMMER RESIDENT GENEROUSLY REMEMBERED RELATIVES IN HIS WILL

The readers of the BREEZE may be interested in the will of the late Jas. Harrington Walker, of Detroit and Magnolia. The total of all benefactions in the instrument to relatives, friends and organizations of various kinds approaches $1,000,000 in cash and railroad bonds.

The will was drawn in Boston, June 24, 1914. The National Trust Co., of Toronto, and the three sons of the testator, Harrington Edward Walker, Hiram Holcomb Walker and Franklin Calwell Walker are made executors and trustees. Among the beneficiaries, chief of whom is the widow, Mrs. Margaret Talman Walker, who is given a cash income of $50,000 a year, the summer home in Magnolia, property rentals and $150,000 in bonds, are Mr. Walker's daughters, daughters-in-law, sons-in-law and grandchildren.

Cash bequests and railroad bonds are left to other relatives and friends in the following amounts: Mrs. Mary Talman Sterling, Ivy Close, N. Y., $2500 cash and $5000 in bonds; Mrs. Albert V. Moon, Jr., also to Ivy Close $2500 and $5000 in bonds; Mrs. Clement Talman Kross, Detroit, $2500 cash and $5000 in bonds; Clement Talman Kross $500 cash and $2000 in bonds, which type of legacy is also given to William Whitney Talman, Jr., Detroit; James Barber Talman, Adèle Grose Claude, and Fred Grose Claude, all of Bridgeport, Ct.; Mrs. Julia Bacon, Utica, N. Y.; Mrs. Helen Marr and Mrs. Grace Hunn, Racine, Wis.; Harold Dotten, New Haven Ct.; Mrs. Florence Curtis, Flatbush, Brooklyn, N. Y.; Mrs. Gertrude Godfrey, Wallingford, Ct.; Mrs. Grace Glennie, Hartford, Ct.

Cash bequests of $1000 and $2000 in bonds go to Dorothy Kross, of Detroit, a godchild, and Frederick Harrington Kross, a namesake, and to Dotten Grose Claude and Eleanor Grose Claude, both of Bridgeport, Ct.

Jenney M. Williams, Detroit, an aunt, is given $10,000 in railroad bonds; Rev. Godfrey M. Brinsley, St. Paul's school, Concord, N. H., $5,000 cash; Dr. John Hoedle, of Detroit, $1000 cash.

Continuous wear of a shoe takes the life out of the leather. The heat of the foot also causes perspiration, which, if it does not have time to dry, rots the lining. When the lining is gone, the perspiration comes in contact with the leather and begins to affect this in the same way it did the lining.

A shoe that is worn all day and through the evening cannot properly dry out and be ready for wear the next morning. Therefore, there should be another pair of shoes to put on, so that this pair that has been worn can be thoroughly dried before it is worn again.—Exchange.

TO A FIVE-DOLLAR BILL

Crinkle, crinkle, little bill;
Goodness gracious, you look ill!
Are you losing all your power?
You seem weaker hour by hour.

"Now that prices are so high,
I'm so tired that I could die.
I just circulate all day;
No one dares put me away.

"When the evening board is set
With the fruits of father's sweat,
My small voice is hushed and still—
I am in the butcher's till.

"And no matter where I go,
People disregard me so;
I don't seem to count for much
'Mongst the profiteers and such."

Bill, take heart, your luck may change,
I'll admit the times are strange,
Though you're weak, I love you still—

Another public whist party in aid of the American Legion flag fund will be given Monday evening in G. A. R. hall.

Patrick F. Hewitt, of Waterbury, Ct., has been spending the past week at Beverly Farms, renewing acquaintances.

Preston W. R. corps will give an entertainment next Tuesday evening for women only, in G. A. R. hall. Tickets 10c each.

The Beverly Farms firemen held their regular monthly business meeting at the fire station last Monday evening. Following the business session a collation was served.

A ladies' whist party was held Wednesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Edmund L. Knowlton, Oak st. This was one of the series planned by Preston W. R. corps to secure funds for the American Legion flag.

At the library hall last evening there was a large attendance to listen to the address given by Miss Amy Woods, secretary of the state committee on motion pictures. Her subject was "The Proposed Regulation of Motion Pictures in Massachusetts." Following the lecture there was a social half hour, during which refreshments were served. The affair was under the direction of the Beverly Farms branch of the Improvement society.

Among this week's real estate transfers recorded at the Registry of Deeds, Salem, is that of George A. Bennett, Ashland, et al., conveying to Francis W. Fabyan, of Boston, one acre of land and buildings, on Hart st., Beverly Farms. This is known as the Bennett property. During the past few years the buildings have been leased to an Italian, who has conducted a shoe repairing establishment there. This property adjoins that now owned by Mr. Fabyan and will give the purchaser a good frontage on Hart st.

In the reorganization and expansion campaign of the Beverly Chamber of Commerce, which is a movement to reorganize that body and make it a real representative one for all community interests, the following from Beverly Farms are named on various committees: Herman A. Macdonald, executive; Herman A. Macdonald, Fred W. Varney, quota; Mrs. Howard A. Doane, woman's; Rev. N. P. Carey, Rev. N. R. Walsh, Rev. C. S. Pond, civic Sunday; S. John Connolly, Frank I. A surprise miscellaneous shower was tendered Miss Mollie Davis, who is soon to become a bride, at the home of Miss Irene F. Blanchard, Hart st., Beverly Farms, Saturday evening. Miss Davis, with her fiancé, J. Sewell Day, were invited to supper, and on going into the living room were confronted by a large gathering of friends. Congratulations were showered on the young couple and Miss Davis was remembered with a wide variety of gifts. She responded very happily. Music, refreshments and dancing helped to make the evening a most enjoyable one.

IN HONOR OF MAJOR A. P. GARDNER

Secretary Baker has ordered that the 12-inch long-range barrette battery at Nahant, be named Battery Augustus P. Gardner, in honor of Major Augustus P. Gardner, a former member of Congress from this district, who died at Camp Wheeler, Ga., on Jan. 14, 1918, while serving with the 121st infantry. The late Congressman Gardner was a very active advocate of military preparedness long before we entered the war, and the battery is being named after him in recognition of his services in that respect. When war was declared against Germany Mr. Gardner resigned from Congress and was commissioned in the army.

Mr. and Mrs. Warren F. Harris, of Houlton, Me., spent the past week visiting friends at Beverly Farms.

In the budget for the year 1920 the sum of $2000 appears for sidewalk improvements at Beverly Farms. This is a continuation of the policy which the city of Beverly has pursued for the past few years.

A public whist party and dance in aid of St. Margaret's church was held in Marshall's hall Wednesday evening. It was well attended and was a most successful affair. Several young ladies of the parish were in charge.

A whist party for ladies will be held next, Wednesday afternoon from 3 to 5 o'clock, at the home of Mrs. Margaret Iansen, Haskell st. This is another event arranged by Preston W. R. corps entertainment committee for funds.

Member of steamer company No. 3, Beverly Farms fire department, and a number of invited guests, are planning for their annual "night off" on Saturday evening, Feb. 14. The program includes a trip to Boston, dinner at one of the hotels, and then attend the theatre.

Franklin W. Martin has gone to Philadelphia, where he has secured a good position with the Pennsylvania railroad.

Mrs. Addie Sutherland, Oak st., is reported among those at Beverly Farms this week who are suffering from severe colds.

Mr. and Mrs. James F. Davey are rejoicing over the arrival of a son (their fourth), who came to their home on Sunday last.

Mrs. Albert F. Dix, of Pride's Crossing, is reported as much improved from her illness of the early part of the week.

Miss Louise Linehan has been appointed to fill the vacancy at Beverly City hall in the auditor's office caused by the resignation of Mrs. Bertha Hayward.

Capt. A. P. Loring, Jr., Lieut. W. B. Publicover, Sergts. J. M. Publicover and Robert E. Hodgkins were the Beverly Farms members of Co. F, State Guards, who enjoyed a spread at one of the Chinese restaurants, Salem, Tuesday evening previous to their drill at the state armory.

WILL IT COME TO THIS?

MARRIAGE CEREMONY HALTED BY A UNION TECHNICALITY

The spirit of unionism and organization is so rapidly gaining ground that we wonder where it will be stopped. Labor locals are springing up everywhere and the situation has developed until the New York Globe wonders if we will soon be confronted with a situation like the following, which they published in a recent issue:

Minister: "What is your full name?"

Bride: "Arabella Cynthia Smithers."

Minister to groom: "And yours."

Groom: "George Elmer Tomkins."

Minister: "Are you both members of the American Federation of Betrothed Couples, in good standing?"

Both, in unison: "You said it."

Minister: "Do you, Arabella Cynthia Smithers, take this man, George Elmer Tomkins, a loyal member of Bridegrooms' Local No. 234, and a strictly union husband, to be your lawful better half?"

Bride: "Yes, indeed."

Minister: "And do you, George Elmer Tomkins, take this woman, Arabella Cynthia Smithers, affiliated with the Amalgamated Association of Blushing Brides, to be your lawfully wedded wife?"

Groom: "I'll tell the world."

Minister to both: "And do you promise to love, honor and obey the constitution of the A. F. L., ob-

Mrs. George D. Batchelder and daughter, Mrs. Violet McShane, have again opened their home on Hart st., after visiting friends at Jamaica Plain the past six weeks.

Thomas Rourke, Jr., clerk in charge of the Beverly Farms branch of the Beverly Trust Co., will soon conclude his duties at the bank. He has a position as traveling salesman for a Boston business firm.

The observance of the birthdays of Lincoln and Washington will be held in the schoolhouse assembly hall on Monday evening, Feb. 23. A program is being arranged in charge of the local patriotic organizations. Everybody is cordially invited to attend.

Howard E. Morgan, Jr., attended the first reunion of his former classmates of the Naval Radio school, last Saturday evening, at Cambridge. These men were in training during the war, at the Newport training station. The reunion gathering, however, included only those who reside in New England. The class, which was a large one, was made up of members from all over the country.

serving strictly the eight-hour day, the right of collective bargaining, the settlement of all scraps by arbitration, the closed shop, etc., etc., till death doth you part?"

Both: "We do."

Minister: "If anyone knoweth any good reason why this union should not be allowed as a perfectly good union, let him speak now or forever hold his tongue."

Voice: "Hold! This marriage cannot be."

Minister: "What's the idea?"

Voice: "You have no right to perform the ceremony. At a meeting of the Pastors' Local last night complaints were filed that you employ a non-union tenor in the choir, and that last Sunday you violated the clause relative to one-hour sermons."

Minister: "But it is false. May I not finish this ceremony?"

Voice: "Nope; the union has voted to suspend you. Sorry, Jack, but—"

Minister: "Don't call me Jack."

Groom, in alarm: "This is a fine mess."

Bride: "How about getting a justice of the peace?"

Minister: "It can't be done. They went on a strike yesterday."

Groom: "You finish the ceremony and we'll take the consequences."

Minister: "All right. I pronounce you man and wife."

Groom, consolingly, to bride: "Well, we're only 2.75 percent non-union. I'll have it ratified by Sam Gompers. Let's go." (Curtain with great speed.)

In addition to this, Scouts are taught not to injure trees or allow others to do so. Because of this education in forest protection, some of the western states have placed the Scouts to patrol mountain trails and forest areas for fires during the summer months and a number have been placed as lookouts in the United States Forest Reservations.

Oregon is proposing to organize "Scout Fire Wardens" and to issue to Boy Scouts certificates and badges on passing a prescribed examination in forest preservation.

REAL ESTATE TRANSFERS

Through the agency of George E. Willmont, the following sales of real estate have been made in Manchester the past week:

The George Lee property at 38 Pleasant street, consisting of a 7-room cottage and about a quarter acre of land, to Edmund J. White. Mr. White is employed by R. & L. Baker, milk dealers.

The Mitchell house, so-called, on Forest street, to Frederick W. Forward. This was at one time occupied by five or six families. It is understood Mr. Forward will improve, and will then rent part of the house and occupy the balance himself.

BOY SCOUTS SERVE AS PROTECTORS OF THE FORESTS

The most effective volunteer agency in the United States today for the protection of the forests is the Boy Scouts of America, says an article in the last number of The Forest Patrolman, published by the Western Forestry and Conservation association at Portland, Ore. Boy Scouts of Portland have a week-end camp and a summer camp located in the forests and a knowledge of trees is easily obtained; they are taught how to build fires properly and how to put out all fires.

BROTHERHOOD MEETING

FEBRUARY MEETING

"Labor and capital get along pretty well together, after all. An occasional fight is a good thing, serving to clear away the differences of opinions! I do not advocate strikes, so do not misunderstand me on that matter." The labor and capital situation was discussed somewhat by Edwin Mulready, commissioner of labor in Massachusetts, at the February meeting of the Manchester Brotherhood, held Monday evening in the vestry of the Baptist church, Manchester.

Mr. Mulready delivered a most interesting address, being thoroughly acquainted with his subject. Incidents which had come to his attention during the several years he has been connected with the labor department, were related during the course of his lecture. A rising vote of thanks was extended by the men to Mr. Mulready at the conclusion of his remarks.

Mr. Mulready said, in part, "The so-called 'self-made man' thinks he did a pretty good job, but as a matter of fact he usually made a botch of the whole business. He may have done fairly well in the direction he was going, but not many were headed the same way that he was.

"We need a universal application of the Golden Rule; I mean in its original meaning and not the modern application, which makes it read 'Do others before they do you.' I have a notion that God puts obstacles in our pathway to give us a chance to prove our mettle. We must work out our salvation and solve the problems which confront us."

A portion of Mr. Mulready's talk dealt with problems of today. One of these, he said, was connected with the large amount of publicity devoted by the daily papers in Boston to the divorce cases now before the courts. He deplored the fact that the papers are publishing so many columns on these cases and protested against their being allowed to place some of this so-called "news" before the children in the homes. "The divorce trials in Boston now being paraded in the dailies cannot mean any good to us," he said.

"Problems affect us in proportion to our attitude to them. Shall we shoot the Bolshevik? No! No! You may kill the man that way, but you cannot destroy the idea by that means. I may be considered a 'crank,' but I back up my statements with facts.

"We cannot expect a settlement in

New York of our national problems, as people are too busy to stop and consider them. The same is true of Boston, but it is in such small gatherings as ours tonight that these questions will be discussed and settled.

"If you hear some of your neighbors subscribing to the doctrine of Bolshevism, talk to them and show them the fallacy of their ideas. You will have a big job and 'don't you forget it.' I repeat it, gentlemen, 'don't you forget it.'"

The platform of Bolshevism was explained at some length by the lecturer. The Bolsheviks would do away with any inheritance of property. If a man slaves his life away in order to leave a few thousand or more dollars to his children, the Bolsheviks would take that amount and divide it among the common people. They also treat marriage as a light matter, it being easily cancelled by either party without the introduction of any evidence or legal tangle.

"In a recent address I was quoted as saying that I favored deporting all of the lawless Bolsheviks. What I said was that if there are men in this country whose sole object is the dissemination of propaganda to destroy our government, those men should be deported.

"On McKinley's monument you will find words which in substance say, 'He reached out his hand to grasp the hand of a friend and was shot by an assassin.' What did we do with the assassin? He was caught, convicted of his crime, executed and his body burned; but the woman who taught him his first lesson in English was allowed to go free throughout our land, and it took an international war before we finally deported Emma from the United States. She obtained the services of a lawyer and in our courts told us that the United States is the best country in the world and that she wanted to remain here."

Speaking of child labor in Massachusetts Mr. Mulready said: "We have in Massachusetts the best child labor law in the United States, and possibly the best in the world. How does it work? The foundation of this law is the certificate plan whereby it is stated that the child is qualified to do the kind of work required. Now what happens? During the past year there were 1500 accidents to children in our mills. There were 15,600 children employed in our industries the past year. Children should be taught to work; it's a good thing for them to know and I do not want you men to think that I am opposed to it. It is necessary, however, for the children to be properly safeguarded while at work."

He then related incidents concerning accidents which had befallen children while engaged in work for which they were not qualified. While these horrible examples exist it is not surprising that some people should say that all the manufacturers care about their help is the work they can get out of them, said the speaker, and he continued along the same line by saying that manufacturers have many problems with which workers are not familiar.

"We must build up in our communities a sentiment to protect the children. They are far too precious to be spending their young lives in our industries.

"Our biggest job just now is the proper running of our government. Men, in speaking of our legislators, do not say, 'Let them do it, they will do this or that.' They won't do it all, we must do our part."

At the conclusion of Mr. Mulready's address a social hour was enjoyed, during which refreshments of cocoa, crackers and cheese were served.

FEDERAL THEATRE, SALEM

Hal Reid's stage masterpiece, "The Confession," with Henry Walthall as the star of its picturized version, is finishing a big three-day run at the Federal theatre, Salem. It is a play full of pathos, thrills and a pretty love story. On the same bill is Mack Sennett's new prohibition comedy, "The Speak Easy," Pathe News, Bray's Pictographs and an organ recital by A. Stanley Williams.

Next Monday Clara Kimball Young's latest picture, "Eyes of Youth," will be the feature. That is followed next Thursday by Lionel Barrymore in "The Copperhead." In this is a remarkably fine characterization of Abraham Lincoln, portrayed by a man who looks identically like the martyred President when in his youth.

Mary Pickford in "Pollyanna" is booked for an early presentation at the Federal in March.

COURTESY IS ALWAYS A PAYING PROPOSITION

Courtesy is the springs of business.

The roads are rocky, and filled with ruts, but any business house that is swung on the springs of courtesy will ride smoothly.

Courtesy is a time saver, a money saver, yes, a life saver, for no business can live long if it permits discourtesy.

A business is like an automobile.

The fastest going cars, and the cars that last longest, have the best springs.

The trucks, without springs, and without pneumatic tires wear out first and travel the slowest.

I have in mind a business where courtesy is so deeply ingrained in the organization that it is positively a pleasure to call—even though one sells nothing.

I never enter the office of this company without feeling the better for it. A smile and a pleasant word are accorded every visitor by every employee with whom he comes in contact.

Does it pay? I never asked, but the business is so obviously successful that the question is not necessary.—Exchange.

In business there are two classes; the knowers and the guessers. The guessers are always sticking their heads over the shoulders of the knowers, trying to get a line on what they are going to do.

Do you remember the good old days when two could live cheaper than one?

Manchester's Annual Town Meeting

New Town Hall to be Built—Town Labor Increased—No Change in Town Officials—Total Appropriations of $224,597.72—Tax Rate Will be More Than $10

MANCHESTER'S annual Town Meeting, held this week, in accordance with the newly adopted by-laws, on Monday and Tuesday—instead of in March—was one of the mildest Town Meetings on record. There was an unusually small amount of discussion, the major portion of the 48 articles in the warrant being acted upon without a word of debate.

The big business of the meeting was the decision to erect a new Town hall—of granite or stone—as a soldiers' memorial.

This is to be erected on the site of present Town hall—or approximately so. No money was appropriated at this meeting, but the committee was instructed to go ahead and have definite plans prepared.

The matter of next importance was the vote to increase town labor to 60c an hour—an increase of 15c an hour. This means a total increase of about $5,500 a year for employees on the Street Department.

The firemen and engineers will also receive an increase in pay beginning the new year—May 1, 1920, the former $75 a year, instead of $50, and the engineers an increase of $50 each.

The chairman of the Board of Selectmen will receive an increase of $500 a year—making a total of $1,500—while the other two members will receive an increase of $250 each—making a total of $500 each.

Total appropriations of $224,597.72 were made. The complete list of appropriations will be found in another column.

The meeting opened Monday evening and the election was held on Tuesday all day, with the town meeting continuing Tuesday evening.

Very little change was made in the town officials—the only change being in Tree Warden, in fact, Everett O. Smothers won out in this contest over Peter A. Sheahan. The result of the election will be found in another column.

Lyman W. Floyd polled the largest number of votes of any candidate on the ticket. His total was 322, re-electing him to the office of Town Clerk. James Hoare, elected as a Sewer and Water Commissioner, was second with a total of 317; and Geo. L. Knight third with a total of 304 for election as Trustee of Cemeteries.

It will be noticed that the town voters placed themselves on record as favoring the sale of intoxicating liquors in Manchester the ensuing year. This is the first time the "wets" have carried the town in the past 25 years.

WHAT WAS SAID AND DONE AT MANCHESTER TOWN MEETING

Manchester's annual town meeting was called to order at 7.20 o'clock Monday evening by Moderator Raymond C. Allen, it being necessary to wait 20 minutes until a quorum of voters was present. Town Clerk Lyman W. Floyd read the warrant of 48 articles.

The following ballot clerks were appointed by the Selectmen: Walter N. Smith, Theodore C. Rowe, Richard J. Baker; tellers: Gustav A. Knoerr, Lewis A. Leach, Oscar B. Wing. The Moderator appointed Joseph N. Lipman, John F. Scott as tellers, Harry L. Slade and Walter R. Bennett, ballot clerks.

All of the reports contained in the town report were taken up separately and were accepted with the exception of the report of the Committee on Memorial to Soldiers, Sailors and Marines, which was assigned to Tuesday evening at 8 o'clock.

To Improve Bridge st.

In accepting the Selectmen's report, it was also voted that the recommendation be adopted which provides for petitioning the County Commissioners to widen and improve Bridge st., near the property of B. W. Tappan and T. W. Long.

Regarding the committee appointed at last year's meeting to investigate the advisability of Manchester having a town manager, G. S. Sinnicks moved that the committee be discharged. It was so voted.

Saurel L. Whealon inquired for the report of the committee appointed in 1917 to see about the town carrying its own insurance. Edward S. Knight reported for this committee that progress had been made and he

For two years during the war period the nation was working under a daylight savings plan that was popular with the workers in the cities and factories in the rural as well as the urban districts. The farmers have always opposed the measure with many reasonable arguments on their side. Whatever one's personal view may be of the daylight savings plan it must be admitted that the protests made by the agricultural workers is valid. The question becomes then one of expediency. The farmers were strong enough to secure the votes for the daylight law repeal. Those who favor the daylight savings plan, however, are unwilling to accept the decision and various efforts are being made to accomplish daylight savings. Some have advocated local return to the daylight savings plan and many cities have thus expressed their will. Such methods are confusing and no permanent good can be obtained. Confusion is certain to reign where there is a difference in city local time and real time as used by the railroads. Efforts are being made to repeal the law that put an end to daylight savings by the enactment of a new daylight savings law. This contest is now on. It is proposed that Massachusetts declare by resolution her opposition to the repeal of the daylight savings law. This is now being discussed at the State House before the committee on international affairs. The Massachusetts farmers are opposing this resolution; the Boston Chamber of Commerce favors it; the Massachusetts Federation of Farm Bureaus opposes it. The method pursued is the proper one, for if the new daylight savings campaign is successful it must be a nation-wide arrangement. Local changes of time would be confusing and undesirable. If a daylight savings law be enacted it should be a national and not a local law.

Along with a strange and unaccountable old-fashioned winter comes a February with five Sundays. Some one will start a legend, beware the winter with a five-Sunday February.

The amendment to the Constitution of the United States prohibiting the manufacture and sale of intoxicating liquors, has become effective, but the contest is not over. The interests that have been identified with the liquor business are continuing the contest with the hopes of effectively defeating the provisions of the law. In Massachusetts they are particularly alert and are working for the call of a national constitutional convention to repeal the amendment. An effort will be made as well to rescind the ratification of the amendment by Massachusetts in the usual way. It is proposed that the Secretary of State send the resolution back by which Massachusetts ratified the prohibition amendment. An effort is being made to send the Attorney-General of Massachusetts to appear before the Supreme Court of the United States to argue that the prohibition amendment is unconstitutional. The legislature is now giving hearings to consider the pros and cons of the questions. The fight for prohibition evidently is not ended yet. The prohibitionists have gone over the top and carried their objective, but the opposition does not propose to accept the defeat. The repeal of the Volstead Bill appears to have some opponents who are lifting it up for ridicule. There is no doubt but what there are corrections of the bill which experience will indicate.

Whether a germ or an exposure "disease," colds and influenza present no real reasons for being.

There is no stimulus that can equal that of ownership or part ownership in a business enterprise. The individual then feels that the interests of the business are his and he will apply himself with more enthusiasm and success than could be possible if he were merely a wage-earner rather than an owner. In small business organizations personal ownership is possible and the increased efficiency is always marked. The problem comes in interesting a large number of employees in the work and success of a corporation. Fortunately there is an efficacious way of achieving this sort of co-operation,—by the sale of stock of the corporation to the employees. Thus it may be possible for every employee to obtain by successive small investments a real interest in the work of the great corporation because he becomes a part owner as well as a wage-earner. This method, however, is practical only when the stock is available at small prices per share of stock. When the prices are high the wage-earner is deterred from investing because of the difficulty of accumulating large sums for investments. When the price of the stock is placed at reasonably small par values employees are enabled to purchase in small lots and are thus encouraged to buy and become owners in the organization. This method gives the employees an incentive to save, provides safe and sound investments and prevents in a large measure unsound investments in wildcat schemes that make no returns. Senator A. P. Loring, of our district, has introduced a bill in the Massachusetts Senate which is now before the committee on mercantile affairs, that makes adequate and commendable provision for this method of participation in the organized industries by the employees. In Chicago this method has been tried by Sears Roebuck Company and with results that have been in every way commendable. The bill has been carefully drawn and is the result of long experience and careful thought. The bill has merits that are apparent to everyone. It is worthy of consideration and should be favorably reported by the committee, and eventually passed to become law. The enactment will make it possible for the industries within the state to make provision to permit the employees to become partners. Unless all signs fail the plan would tend to create a better spirit of co-operation between employers of labor in large corporations and their employees.

It would now appear that Mr. Hoover is unlikely to be called as a candidate by the Republican party. That leaves the Democratic party with a strong candidate to select. But will the Democrats united on a strong man be able to overcome the handicap of the war administration? Who kept us in the war?

It has been erroneously reported in some of the news journals of the county that Hon. David I. Robinson, treasurer of the county, intends to resign his position. A man's name has been indicated as being slated for the position to be vacated. The rumors are false and have been denied by Mr. Robinson. Where do such erroneous reports arise and how do they gain a hearing? Fortunately this rumor has been effectively denied, and early. The county is very fortunate in having so efficient a man in the important position which Mr. Robinson holds. His resignation would be a distinct loss to the entire district. Mr. Robinson resides in Gloucester and has made his home there for many years, but he is a native of Manchester. Manchester is always interested in the success of her sons in the world of men and affairs. A prophet it is claimed is not without honor save in his own home. This may pass for a general truth, but there are marked exceptions to the general rule. True worth is recognized by a man's own friends. The Republican and Democratic parties have united many times in placing Mr. Robinson's nomination upon the ballot, a tribute which speaks for itself. The work of the important office has been efficiently maintained and it is hoped by Mr. Robinson's many friends that his business plans and health will permit him to care for the work of the county for many years to come.

The young women who have purchased fur coats, with criticism on every hand, have had the weather man helping them out with counter arguments. The weather has been cold enough for the best of furs.

Automobiles are valuable property and their ease of operation makes them attractive to thieves, and the success of the operations have been markedly productive; so successful that it is apparent that some means must be taken to stop the organized robberies which are conducted in America. It is said that every year as many automobiles have been stolen as to equal one in five of every one manufactured. Many devices are recommended for preventing the theft of cars, but expert thieves in the operating organizations are not easily deceived. Locks of all sorts are placed upon the market that have given some measure of protection from amateur thieves. The professional thief is usually able to accomplish his purpose if he has made up his mind. The insurance companies recognize the effectiveness of certain types of locks, especially those upon the ignition system. The evil has become so great that local and state laws are inadequate. Only national regulation will adequately meet the situation. It has been advanced that titles for automobiles should be registered as real estate is registered and in this way the record of every car may be traced. A small fee for registration would make the governmental department self-supporting and assure every purchaser of a car that his car is not a stolen car and that his title to the machine is clear. It will add quite a little red tape to the sale of a car, but the red tape appears advisable and would prove an efficacious check. If the possessor of the stolen car cannot transfer the property without recording it upon the books of the government it will be seen that the lucrative impulse for the conduct of the business will have been eliminated automatically. It is certain now that the evil has reached such a proportion that it must be dealt with summarily.

Germany's reluctance in turning over to the Allies the culprits whom they wish to try indicates that the people of the empire have not had a change of heart. They have merely been whipped.

The United States government has honorably agreed to care for the removal and the transportation of the bodies of the young men killed in the war and who are buried in France. There has been a great deal of discussion upon the merits of the question, but eventually it becomes a personal question to be decided upon by the members of the families who are afflicted. Many will, upon high grounds of sentiment, desire to leave the frame of the men in the sacred soil of France. It was thus that Roosevelt and his family felt concerning their honored son. Others have strong sentimental feelings concerning the bodies of their dead and desire to have them removed to America for burial in the family burial lots. This sentiment is also well understood by every loyal American. The government, however, does not undertake to decide this question of sentiment and family wishes. The national government stands ready to care for the honorable removal of the soldier dead from France to America without expense to the family. This the government should do if the family of the deceased for sentimental reasons wishes the body brought home to America. The work has already begun and soon the relatives in America will be planning for military committal services for the soldier dead. When these are brought home America will have an experience of the losses caused by the war that will bring suffering and pain. If relatives wish the return of their dead their wishes should be respected. Those who, like Roosevelt and his family, have taken an opposite view, see in the resting place of their dead in old France sentimental association which they do not desire to disturb.

The present prices which Liberty bonds are bringing and the current rates of international money exchange, indicate the unsettled financial conditions which post-war operations have caused. It will be a long while before the effects of the war are past.

The theatre managers of Philadelphia, Harrisburg and Pittsburg testify that the state censorship has been a distinct advantage to them because it has assured a patronage that desired to see films that are wholesome and clean, and because they have been safeguarded from the competition which the lower-grade theatres formerly have presented. Concerning the Pennsylvania plan of censoring moving picture films the Harrisburg Chamber of Commerce writes "the law has worked well, and on the whole the industry has worked in harmony with the board." In Ohio people are giving the same testimony when Max Stern, one of the leading exhibitors, says "you will have to show me something better than state censorship before I will work to have the law repealed." In Pennsylvania the board has adopted twenty-four standard rules or regulations. The first prohibits references to the so-called white slave traffic. The second is on a similar theme. The fourth prohibits information concerning drugs and their administration. The sixth deals with extended whipping or fighting scenes and aims to eliminate scenes of cruelty. Another prohibits descriptions of criminal acts and methods in pictures. Another, reference to marital infidelity. On the whole the 28 rules do not present an over-puritanical restraint upon operators, nor does it in any way prevent good wholesome adventure and clean sport. The Massachusetts board is made up, or will be made up of nine people who are unpaid. There will be a paid group to execute the will of the commission. The board very likely will be self-supporting, for it has been found that the one-dollar fee charged for censoring films has been sufficient to meet all the financial obligations of the board in Pennsylvania. There is every reason to believe that this will obtain also in Massachusetts. The proposed bill is strongly endorsed and should pass.

The enthusiastic propagandists who sought to use the high schools as a source of material by creating an interest by prize methods in the army, overlooked the fact that the American people, loyal to the nation, object to any department using the school system for propaganda of any sort. One of the great evils of the old world has been that of militarism. America is hardly willing to give propagandists an open door in the schools, especially for militaristic ends. That is not the way nor the place for such activities.

The month of January and February thus far have been unusual months even for winter. It is particularly offensive after the enjoyable open winter last year. There have been all the evil variations of winter weather. Cold days have been severe and terrible, with temperatures falling far below zero. The snow has stayed upon the ground. Succeeding storms have made traffic conditions difficult. The family motors have been housed. The conditions have been such that only business motors have ventured out. In Concord, N. H., records have been kept and the average temperature for the month was the lowest in the last fifty years. The snows of the winter have been numerous. The severe weather has been reflected in the health conditions; so-called "colds" have been prevalent. There have been many cases of real influenza and many cases that were called such which were not. Nurses have been hard to obtain and many families have had difficult times in maintaining the regular routines of domestic life. Business houses have been handicapped. The conditions along the Shore have not been more serious than elsewhere and no such epidemic conditions have prevailed

The government has sold large quantities of cartridge silk, no longer needed for the making of cartridges. The silk is in colors, including lavender, ocean green, pearl, pink, Copenhagen blue, and morocco; it will be used for making a variety of garments, draperies and even summer shoes. The government sold this silk at 72 cents per yard, it is said, and the buyers are now offering it to the public at prices from $1.67 to $3 per yard. Profits, above a small percentage, will be shared with the government. Is this another instance of profiteering?

The Mint turned out a total of 79,839,000 coins during the month of January, and still the demand for small coins is far from satisfied. The average person can understand this by noticing how short a time he retains his change after breaking a dollar bill.

A Boston car inspector recently found a large hen safely perched on the brake rod of a train from Albany. The biddy was in fine shape, although it is thought she rode all the way from Albany, where the train was made up. In payment for her passage we presume she has, by this time, presented the railroad with a few eggs.

In a report made public the past week, the Federal Reserve board says of New England: "Never in the history of the mercantile life of New England was the Christmas trade so enormous, and never was purchasing power exercised to such extravagance. Yet, in spite of the orgy of spending, the people of New England have put into savings institutions during the past year approximately $190,000,000. There is no reason to become pessimistic with respect to existing conditions."

The American Federation of Labor is planning an aggressive general political campaign. It is estimated that the labor vote is about 4,000,000. One of the first principles set forth at Chicago, is the abolition of the United States Senate.

Prof. Wm. T. Sedgwick, of the Massachusetts Institute of Technology, suggests an increased use of as last year; but the conditions have been disconcerting and annoying. Good clear weather will be a great help in creating wholesome conditions. The physicians by their systematic campaigns of information during the first epidemic and since, have aided much by giving information concerning effective and prompt treatment of "simple colds." "Simple colds" demand attention and should be treated without delay. Consult the physician. It does not pay to experiment in an amateur way with the human body.

E. Gerry Brown may not be far wrong concerning the foreign propaganda in America and a necessity for registration of operators. The unfortunate thing is that operators are likely to come on their own account and, if necessary, they will evade the law. The thief that robs the hostelry does not register his intent upon the day book of the hotel he is to operate in.

The Lynn High School was unsatisfactorily heated, not because the plant was inadequate, but because willing engineers and faithful firemen were prevented by rules and regulations from working more than forty-eight hours a week. Modern efficiency!

Great Britain is doing everything possible to aid America in solving the tangle concerning the League of Nations and meanwhile propagandists are doing everything they can to hinder Great Britain in the administration of her government in one of her departments.

Thrift is not the subtle art of holding onto every dollar that is earned or gained, but exists, in truth, when it becomes the generous art which gives all things their relative place. Time, money, recreation and labor are subject to the productive laws of thrift.

In addition to inquiring of autoists as to the quantity of gasoline or oil which they have in their car, garage men are now asking if the car is supplied with a snow shovel.

It is reported that the Curtiss mail plane which dropped into a clump of trees near Swarthmore, Pa., came to grief through the desire of the pilot to throw kisses with both hands to a group of co-eds. Another case of a pretty face causing the downfall of man.

The Senator who suggested that newspapers could save space by omitting altogether the pages now devoted to sporting events evidently cares nothing for athletics. It is a fact, however, that "the baseball score commands a great deal more attention than the Senate score," as an exchange remarks.

SOCIETY NOTES

Mrs. Richard T. Crane, Jr., of the Ipswich colony, is a patroness of a dance given this Saturday night in Chicago to celebrate the twenty-fifth anniversary of the founding of the Chicago Lying-In hospital and dispensary.

Mr. and Mrs. Edwin A. Shuman are soon to leave Boston for an extended visit to the Pacific coast.

Mrs. Grafton Winthrop Minot, of Pride's Crossing, daughter of the late Representative Augustus P. Gardner, has taken the house at 1708 H. st. in Washington, for the season. Mrs. Minot had an active part in the "Hullo Washington" performance in aid of the Children's hospital given this week.

The engagement of Miss Flora Payne Whitney, a descendant of Commodore Cornelius Vanderbilt, and one of the widest known young women of society, both in New York and Newport, to Roderick Tower, of Philadelphia, Pa., prominent clubman, has just been announced by Miss Whitney's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Payne Whitney, who are well-known in Beverly summer colony. The marriage, the date for which has not yet been fixed, will unite two of society's best-known families.

Choiceest orchids in variety and numbering about 100 were exhibited in Horticultural hall, Boston, last Saturday afternoon despite all the obstacles and disheartening weather conditions encountered on their journey from Albert C. Burrage's greenhouses at Beverly Farms. The exhibition is the first of a series which Mr. Burrage is to furnish. It was to have started a week previous, but the intense cold made it impossible to subject the delicate plants to transportation. This time the moving of the exhibits was started on Thursday. A van load of rug-swarthed orchids was started on its way, but the storm increased and finally the van got stuck in the drifts somewhere between Cliftondale and Revere. Orchids, chauffeurs and all had to spend the night in a nearby dwelling. By Friday the way was cleared enough so the van could get through. Other specimens were sent up on the train Saturday and the choicest exhibits personally conducted to Horticultural hall. J. T. Butterworth, of Framingham, added three rare specimens to the exhibit, which the exhibition committee of the Horticultural society judged as follows: A first-class certificate of merit for cypripedium, Archie Neil; first-class cultural certificate for cymbidium gottianum variety; a silver medal for superior cultivation of the exhibit cypripedium Vandyke.

Mr. and Mrs. James J. Phelan, of Brookline and Manchester, left Boston on Wednesday for a two months' trip to the south, the greater portion of which will be at Palm Beach.

LIBRARY NOTES

New Books in Manchester Public Library

A few weeks ago attention was called to some of the best novels of the year, mention being made of "Helena," by Mrs. Humphrey Ward; "The Strong Hours," by Maud Diver; "The Black Drop," by Alice Brown; and "The Builders," by Ellen Glasgow. They are all worth reading. "Java Head," by Joseph Hergesheimer, is a fine study of Puritan Salem, when her sea captains were known the world over. A Salem man marries a Chinese lady of high degree and brings her home. The consequences are well portrayed by the author.

Western stories like "The Desert of Wheat," by Zane Grey, are very popular with library readers. Another favorite writer of western stories is Ridgwell Cullum, whose "Night Riders," "The Triumph of John Kars," and "The Watchers of the Plain" are out all the time.

The novels of E. P. Oppenheim are always in great demand. Four of his novels were added to the library during 1919: "The Box with the Broken Seals," "The Curious Quest," "The Wicked Marquis" and "The Zeppelin's Passenger." "Love in Picardy," by W. A. Lathrop, is a strong story, having to do with the treatment of French women by the Germans during the war.

Mystery and detective stories are much called for, such as "The Diamond Pin," "The Man Who Fell Through the Earth," and "The Room with the Tassels," by Carolyn Wells, and the Fu Manchu series by Sax Rohmer. Another good story is "The Sage Brushes," by Emerson Hough. It is needless to say that "The Re-Creation of Brian Kent," by Harold Bell Wright is much read. Two more of the novels of Wilkie Collins, author of "The Woman in White," may now be had at the library. They are "Man and Wife" and "Poor Miss Finch." "Man and Wife" is considered by many to be this author's best novel.

Another favorite writer is E. M. Dell. Her "Lamp in the Desert" was one of last year's books.

The town, at its annual town meeting held this week, voted the extra appropriation asked for keeping the library open evenings. We hope to have the library open evenings as soon after the first of March as arrangements can be made for so doing.

Next week I hope to call attention to a few books that may be found in the bookcase near the door, especially books on biography and auto-biography.

FEDERAL THEATRE, SALEM

Lionel Barrymore in "The Cop-perhead," a Mack Sennett comedy, Pathe News, and Bray's Pictograph comprise the week-end show at the Federal theatre, Salem, closing Saturday. Next Monday a picturization of Rupert Hughes' novel, "The Cup of Fury," will be the feature. Beautiful Helene Chadwick is the heroine. This is one of the really great American novels of today and its thrilling story woven around the American merchant marine is finely carried out in this picture, which is by Goldwyn.

WHY HE LIKES THE U. S.

CHILEAN RECOUNTS GOOD POINTS OF THIS COUNTRY

"Why I am a Yankophile," is the subject of an article contributed to Ultimas Noticias by a Chilean who had visited the United States. Some of the reasons he gives for liking the United States are:

Because when a person falls down nobody laughs.

When, in the street, a person steps on another's toes, they do not insult each other.

The shopkeepers can leave their deliveries on the doorsteps.

People keep in line at ticket offices and have respect for each other's place in the line.

Everybody takes a bath.

People have only one surname.

There is profound respect for the police. The public fear the police and not the police the public.

The people know how to walk in the streets, always passing to the right, and they do not stop to talk.

There is only "first class" on railroad trains and special cars for smokers.

Drunkards in that country are an extinct species.

The name doesn't make the man, but the man the name.

It is a sign of ill breeding not to respect the opinions of others. There are 200 religions in that country.

Youths of 18 are in universities and not on the stock exchange or saloons.

Democracy co-exists with the government.

The men know how to sing and are not bashful about it. — Santiago, Chile, correspondence in New York Times.

Armed with the strength of conviction you struck
 Before and all around where wrong prevailed.
 Right triumphed because you to duty stuck
 As no one else, e'en when you were assailed.
 Highly many regarded you the while
 A Civil War was raging through the land;
 Men knew you as a leader with a smile

Lighting the way. For you no pomp and band
 In splendor passed the White House in review.
 Not until you had gone did mem'ry
 Call back your deeds, motives, your heart so true.
 Offer they now their homage, and humbly
 Lay tributes at your grave with reverence:
 No man e'er lived whose life was so intense.

WHISPERINGS

Of the Breezes

"Twixt optimist and pessimist
 The difference is droll;
 The optimist the doughnut sees,
 The pessimist the hole."

What a difference there is in people! After the storm of last week we met two acquaintances of ours on the street. Both had a comment to make on the weather; but what a difference in their point of view!

One said: "Well, isn't this weather the limit? Snow for three days, accompanied by sleet and high winds. Mails are delayed, trains running late or not at all, electric lights shut off, and the towns and cities under a heavy expense to clear the streets so that traffic can be restored to normal. I tell you it is not necessary to go to Alaska for winter weather; New England will furnish all you want."

The other gentleman is an optimist. He spoke somewhat as follows: "Isn't this glorious? I always enjoy a heavy snow storm, it seems to clear the atmosphere like a thunder shower in summer. Just for the sheer joy of battling with the elements I walked home to dinner this noon, plowing through the drifts with a pleasure which I always enjoyed when a boy. The North Shore can certainly supply all varieties of weather and as 'variety is the spice of life,' I'm sure we all should appreciate this evidence of Nature's boisterousness. Who cares to live where the climate is even and quiet from one month to another?"

x—x—x

The men who purposely refrained from shoveling snow last Saturday forenoon until the time and a half rate went into effect in the afternoon, are practicing the same thing which they have so often berated others for doing. Profiteering is not confined to any one class of people.

x—x—x

At the Manchester town meeting a vote was taken to pay town laborers 60c per hour "for each hour they work." Anyone who watches some of the men while shoveling snow will wonder how to figure the hours they work. When men, and boys, waste a large portion of the day by leaning on the handles of their shovels, telling stories, or engaging in the pastime of throwing snow balls at each other or at the passersby, will they expect to receive pay "for the hours they work?"

COPLEY THEATRE, BOSTON

"The Liars" by Henry Arthur Jones will be the play which Henry Jewett's Repertory Company is to revive at the Copley theatre the coming week. This comedy, written by Mr. Jones in 1897, is in four acts and has stood the test of time as few plays have. It belongs in a class that is bound to live because of its many admirable qualities. The story of "The Liars," which was given by the Jewett Company several seasons ago,

OBITUARY

John B. Corn

Born B. C., Died Jan 16, 1920

Let him rest with the dead,
 With no mourners to weep;
 His last fight is over.
 He has met his defeat.

For years he fought Republicans
 And Prohibition, too;
 But when he battled with the right
 He met his Waterloo.

His death made many changes
 In the country and the home;
 It made better men of many
 Who worshipped at his throne.

The sideboard in the corner,
 Its earthly mission o'er;
 No cut glass on the upper shelf,
 The key gone from the door.

The hinges are quite rusty,
 And cobwebs hang galore—
 Only a relic of the past
 For some old antique store.

The punch bowl, cold and empty,
 With its glasses up-side down,
 The music of their jingle hushed
 While being passed around.

The long necks in the cellar,
 The lemon squeezer, too;
 The corkscrew and the cocktail glass—
 To them we bid adieu.

Some are glad and some are sorry,
 Some take it like a man,
 While others take it as a joke
 And sing "How dry I am."

But his long career is ended,
 His wicked race is run—
 No sympathy, no flowers—
 Unhonored and unsung.

When we gather at the roll-call
 On the resurrection day,
 He'll not be there to greet us,
 For he's gone the other way.

concerns the infatuation of an enthusiastic, credulous, whole-souled man, the better part of whose life has been spent in the wilds of Africa, for the wife of a man who is unappreciative of the kind of woman he possesses. The woman gets herself into a harmless scrape and the comedy of the play is at its height when her fashionable friends, by combining in a series of lies, try to help her in keeping her husband from knowing the truth. The lover finally goes back to Africa and the husband, whose eyes have been opened, decides that it will pay him to be more attentive to his wife in the future.

The Seaside chapter of the World-wide Guild will meet at the Baptist parsonage Monday evening.

OBITUARYMRS. JAMES MURRAY

Mrs. James Murray died at her home in Beverly on Wednesday of last week, after a long illness. She was a native of West Manchester and was nearly 70 years of age.

Mrs. Murray was a daughter of the late Henry S. and Elizabeth (Elldridge) Tappan. She is survived by her husband; one son, Nelson H. Murray, of Concord, N. H.; daughter, Mrs. Luella Goodwin, of Beverly, with whom she made her home; two brothers, Benj. Tappan, of Manchester, and James Tappan, of Beverly; and a sister, Mrs. Nellie A. Dunn, of Manchester.

MRS. SARAH A. CARTER

Mrs. Sarah A. Carter, wife of Alexander Carter, of Manchester, passed away at their home in Gloucester, on Monday of this week. Mrs. Carter's age was 48 years and 9 months. She

To keep well, keep clean.
 Wash your hands before each meal.
 Don't go to crowded places.
 Avoid the person who sneezes.
 Smother your cough in your handkerchief.

Keep out of dirty restaurants.
 Warmth is necessary. Be well clothed.

Soda is unnecessary. Why run the risk of infection from a dirty glass?
 Safety lies in boiled dishes.

A common towel is only for filthy people.

You wouldn't use my tooth brush.
 Why use my drinking cup?
 Sleep well. Eat well. Play well.
 DON'T WORRY.

Instructions to Nurses

Practise what you preach—keep clean. Isolate your patients.

When in attendance upon patients, wear a mask which will cover both the nose and mouth. When the mask is once in place do not handle it.

Change the mask every two hours. Owing to the scarcity of gauze, boil for one-half hour and rinse, then use the gauze again.

Wash your hands each time you come in contact with the patient. Use bichloride of mercury, 1-1,000, or Liquor Cresol compound, 1-100, for hand disinfection.

Obtain at least seven hours' sleep in each twenty-four hours. Eat plenty of good, clean food.

Walk in the fresh air and sunshine daily, if possible.

Sleep with your windows open in all weather.

Insist that the patient cough, sneeze or expectorate into cloths that may be disinfected or burned.

Boil all dishes.

Keep patients warm.

INFLUENZA BULLETIN

issued by the

MASSACHUSETTS STATE DEPARTMENT OF HEALTHInstructions to Householders

Keep out of the sick room unless attendance is necessary.

Do not handle articles coming from the sick room until they are boiled.

Allow no visitors, and do not go visiting.

Call a doctor for all inmates who show signs of beginning sickness.

The usual symptoms are inflamed and watery eyes, discharging nose, backache, headache, muscular pain, and fever.

Keep away from crowded places such as "movies," theatres, street cars.

See to it that your children are kept warm and dry both night and day.

Have sufficient fire in your home to disperse the dampness.

Open your windows at night. If cool weather prevails, add extra bed clothing.

Instructions for Workers

Walk to work if possible.

Avoid the person who coughs or sneezes.

Wash your hands before eating.

Make full use of all available sunshine.

Do not use a common towel. It spreads disease.

Should you cough or sneeze, cover nose and mouth with a handkerchief.

Keep out of crowded places. Walk in the open air rather than go to crowded places of amusement.

Sleep is necessary for well-being—avoid over-exertion. Eat good, clean food.

Keep away from houses where there are cases of influenza.

If sick, no matter how slightly, see a physician.

If you have had influenza, stay in bed until your doctor says you can safely get up.

MANCHESTER

Edward Crowell is confined to his home on Lincoln st., with an attack of the prevailing illness.

H. B. Eldredge, assistant editor of the BREEZE, has been called to his home in Antrim, N. H., and will probably be away about two weeks.

Editor Isaac M. Marshall of the Cricket was recently honored by the Massachusetts Press association by being elected its president.

At the annual meeting of the North Shore Master Builders' association in Salem this week Geo. S. Sinnicks was elected one of the vice-presidents.

Harry Purington and Charles E. Smith have recovered from their recent illness sufficiently to resume their positions at the Manchester Trust Co.

Harmony Guild held its meeting last Monday evening at the home of Mrs. Benjamin L. Bullock, School st. An evening of vocal and instrumental music was much enjoyed. A light collation was served.

Some of Manchester's commuters who were caught in the storm of last Thursday were obliged to spend the night in Salem. Among places thrown open to the many storm-bound travelers was the Tabernacle church, where shelter and warmth were provided for the night.

Members of the Arbella club listened to an address Monday afternoon at the Food Centre, by Miss Curtis, of Boston, a representative from the information bureau of educational opportunities for girls. Commencing in March classes are to begin in manicuring and shampooing.

There will be a preliminary meeting, without fee, on Wednesday, Feb. 18, at 2.30, at the Food Centre for all those who are interested in the spring millinery course. Shapes and materials will be on exhibition. Anyone who wishes to join, but cannot come to this meeting, will please send in her name to the Food Centre.

"With an Irishman in Africa" is the subject of Dr. Gabriel Maguire's lecture to be given on Tuesday, Feb. 17, at the Manchester Woman's club. Mrs. Bessie K. Needham will be the hostess of the afternoon. The bread sale which was to have been held at this meeting, has been postponed until a later date. Mrs. Edith Roberts is chairman of the committee having this in charge.

The whole family, of Jas. F. Noyes, Ashland ave., is housed with the prevailing gripe epidemic. A trained nurse has been in attendance most of the week.

Manager Connors of the Manchester Laundry, and Mrs. Connors, have been seriously ill the past week, being threatened with pneumonia. Both are on the road to recovery now, we are pleased to say.

The storm upset business generally, food supplies being well used up before transportation was resumed, but the shortage of milk threatened to be the most acute of any, as the milk men were unable to make their rounds. Through the kindness and thoughtfulness of Mrs. Wm. Hooper, a supply of milk sufficient to care for the babies was made available at the Food Centre for those desiring it.

The electric power went out of commission last Friday evening owing to a short circuit on the overhead line coming from Beverly. The voltage was reduced so as to give some light the early part of the evening. The power went off altogether about 11 o'clock. Supt. Lees was out hunting the trouble Saturday and after almost super-human effort on his part, assisted by linemen from Beverly, several trouble spots were located and cleared during the day so that service was resumed late in the afternoon for the evening. The wires were not finally cleared until Sunday noon. The trouble was not in Manchester, where all the wires are underground, but between the Manchester line and Beverly, where the wires run overhead.

Frank P. Knight left last week for a business trip to the Iron Cap-Copper Co. properties at Globe, Arizona.

Miss Gladys Hildreth has been unable to attend to her duties at the Trust Co. for several days this week owing to illness.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Crombie, who have been with their daughter at Belchertown on the usual winter visit, arrived home Monday.

The horse has come into his own again this week. Though fast diminishing in numbers, what few there are have been much in evidence. The doctors have had difficulty in getting about. Dr. Johnson was called from Beverly Sunday. He made the trip on horseback. Dr. Blaisdell has been sick, but is able to get about again.

M. J. Callahan's well-known collie "Bruno" passed away this week at Salem, where Mr. Callahan is passing the winter. The remains were brought to Manchester.

Edward L. Wheaton, who has a position with the Chase National bank in New York city, has been spending a few days this week with his parents, on North st. He came home to attend town meeting.

Both of the local papers were unable to get their last week's issues to their subscribers on time, the BREEZE owing to the lack of power and the Cricket, owing to the poor express conditions, which kept them in Boston until Editor Marshall was obliged to make a special trip to Boston on Monday to get them.

The case of the two Manchester boys implicated in the assault at the Manchester Fruit store on Christmas evening came up for disposition at Lawrence Wednesday. Judge Callahan held the matter over for decision until the May sitting of the court. A number of citizens were at the court, including Rev. H. E. Levoy and Rev. A. G. Warner, the latter now of Lowell. Principal Matthews of the High school, Selectman W. W. Hoare—all testifying as to the standing of the two boys in Manchester. Judge Callahan said he was somewhat perplexed, that in spite of the fact the boys had admitted their guilt, he would withhold decision on the case and hold it over for disposition in May.

THE BIG BLIZZARD OF 1920

NORTH SHORE PEOPLE WILL LONG REMEMBER ITS SEVERITY

The big storm which visited the North Shore the latter part of last week caused considerable inconvenience to travelers, and the ice storm did quite a little damage to trees.

Trains were late, and in some instances failed to run at all. Arrival and departure of mails occurred at uncertain times, and the mail carriers were unable to make their usual trips because of deep drifts and non-arrival of mail.

Some concern was felt in Manchester last Saturday when the supply of meats, canned goods, provisions, bread, etc., commenced to show signs of disappearing altogether and nobody knew when the freight trains would be running again and bring a new supply.

An auto truck en route for Gloucester was forced to remain in Manchester. This truck carried a load of 400 loaves of bread and during Saturday afternoon this entire amount was sold to Manchester dealers, thereby relieving a temporary bread famine. Many a Manchester housewife was spared the labor of baking bread on Sunday, as these 400 loaves arrived most opportunely.

Schools were closed Thursday and Friday. Users of electric current as power were forced to shut down as the storm put the electric system out of commission. The BREEZE, which ordinarily appears on the news stands Friday noon went on sale Monday morning, lack of electric power being responsible for the delay. Stores reverted to primitive lighting methods, candles being used in several instances, while other business places were illuminated with kerosene lamps.

Supt. of Streets Crombie has had a large gang of men and double teams on the highways every day the past week. The task before these laborers was a stupendous one, but at this writing much progress has been made and traffic will soon move in a normal manner, it is hoped.

The busses from Beverly and Gloucester have appeared infrequently. Very few autos have been on the roads the past week and it has been a case of using the horse or going on foot.

A bit of soft weather would be greatly appreciated, but general thaw of long duration would turn the streets into rivers of water, and many cellars would be flooded.

This storm will doubtless go down in history as the blizzard of 1920. It is certain that the memory of it will linger long in the minds of everyone along the North Shore.

Bert MacDonald

As our last pages go to press this morning at 10.30 o'clock we receive news of the sudden death of Bert MacDonald, in Boston, this morning.

Mr. MacDonald was the only son of Mr. and Mrs. Stuart M. MacDonald, of Manchester, and spent last Sunday here with his parents. The news comes as a great shock to them and to the community, where he was generally known and well liked. He was a veteran of the world war, serving with the Canadian forces.

Further particulars will appear next week. It is not known whether Mr. MacDonald had been ill with influenza, grippe or whether he was suddenly stricken and died before help could be summoned.

PARENT-TEACHER MEETING NEXT WEDNESDAY EVENING

Next Wednesday evening, at 7.45 o'clock, exactly, the Manchester Parent-Teacher association will meet in Price school hall. The child welfare committee has procured as speaker, Mrs. Ernest Curtis, of Gloucester, whose subject will be "The Development of the Child."

It is hoped that Mrs. Blatchford may also be present to explain the new health education bill.

ONLY ONE PICTURE SHOW A WEEK

Beginning next week there will be only one picture show a week at Horticultural hall, Manchester, according to the announcement by A. N. Sanborn, read at the show Tuesday evening. Mr. Sanborn is forced to curtail to this extent because of the greatly increased prices all along the line—for the balance of the winter at least.

There will be two shows on Tuesday instead of one evening show—a matinee at 3.30 and the regular evening show at 7.30. The prices will also be slightly increased.

A GOOD EVENING WASTED

To the Editor of the Breeze:

Being interested in the American Legion and wishing them all the success in the world, I attended the movie show run for their benefit in Horticultural hall, Tuesday evening, Feb. 10. I am sorry to say that the show was anything but pleasing to me. Having seen the picture before I looked forward to a very enjoyable evening. The show, starting late, had to be run off in record time, so, as I understand it, to allow the operator to "get home early." It caused a picture strongly recommended to be spoiled by poor operating. And, may I ask, was the last reel of this picture lost, as it ended very abruptly?

Also one advertised picture was not shown. Why, we do not know. And methinks the Legion should have some redress to be able to square themselves with a very disappointed public. The dissatisfaction was plainly shown and expressed by the patrons on leaving the hall. I hope that this show will not reflect in any way on future entertainments run by the Legion.

Very truly yours,
A FRIEND OF THE LEGION.
Manchester, Feb. 10, 1920.

BLIZZARD RESPONSIBLE FOR POOR FILMS BEING SHOWN

Members of Frank B. Amaral post, A. L., regret the dissatisfaction which patrons experienced at its motion picture entertainment Tuesday evening blamed for the condition of the films of this week.

Of course the Legion is not to be shown. Mgr. Sanborn cannot be held responsible either; nor was it any fault of the operator. The fault seems to be due to the blizzard which delayed the arrival of the new print that was to have been shown. The film exchange at Boston substituted a worn print and it was practically impossible for the operator to exhibit it, as the film was worn beyond repair.

MAGNOLIA LODGE TO CONFER DEGREE AND HAVE BANQUET

Members of Magnolia lodge, I. O. O. F., are planning for a big time on next Thursday night at their regular meeting, Feb. 19. Grand Master George L. Dolloff, of the Massachusetts Grand Lodge, accompanied by some of the members of his official suite, will be entertained at this time.

The degree team will confer the second degree on a class of nine candidates, after which a banquet will be served by Schlehuber, the caterer from Lynn, who furnished the ban-

A special meeting of the lodge is scheduled for tomorrow evening, Saturday, for the purpose of conferring the first degree on the candidates who were unable to be present at the regular meeting, Feb. 5, because of the storm that night, or due to illness.

Indications are that this meeting will be largely attended by members of the order, as the combination of the second degree and a banquet will attract many.

WHY PRICES ON CLOTHING REMAIN AT A HIGH MARK

"If our people would consent to wear good and durable clothes made of coarse wool, clothing could be purchased at considerably lower prices. Too many Americans want the best, when material not so excellent would serve their purpose as well, and this is a good deal of the cause of the high prices of suits." This quotation is from the president of the American Woolen Company, who is in a position to know what he is talking about.

The town meeting and minstrel show have occupied the time and attention of many Manchester people this week. These, and the after-effects of the storm last week, have tended to lessen activity in other directions all the week.

Miss Lucy Dennett, who has a number of talented pupils in Manchester, will be the violin soloist at the vesper service in the Tabernacle church, Salem, on Sunday afternoon. These services, under the direction of Margaret Millea Henry, have proved so popular that many people have been turned away.

THE MANCHESTER CLUB MINSTRELS

SHOW IN HORTICULTURAL HALL LAST NIGHT CROWDED — AGAIN TONIGHT

Horticultural hall, Manchester, was crowded last night for the first appearance of the Manchester club minstrels. The show will be repeated tonight.

The program of song—both solos and choruses—was most enthusiastically received, most of the soloists being forced to respond to two or three encores. The program follows:

Prelude

a. "Hand in Hand"
b. "Take Me to That Land of Jazz"
Entrance of Ends
"Wait Till We Get Them Up in the Air Boys"

Opening Chorus, Entire Company

a. "Dixie Is Dixie Once More"
b. "Carolina Sunshine"
(F. M. Andrews, Jr., Soloist)
c. "Bring Back Those Wonderful Days"

d. "The Vamp"
"You Cannot Make Your Shimmie Shake on Tea" George Rust
"Nobody Knows and Nobody Seems to Care" Abbott Hoare
"Lullaby Land"

Roland Knight, assisted by
F. M. Andrews, Jr.
"I Ain't Goin' to Give Nobody None of This Jelly Roll"
Lewis Hooper
"God Gave Us One Mother, That's All" Archie Cool

"You'd be Surprised"
E. H. Wileox
"Say it with Flowers"
F. M. Andrews, Jr.
??? DARK DOINGS ???
F. C. Rand and L. W. Carter
"Sahara"
George Beaton

Trio—"Golden Gate"
R. Knight, A. Hoare, F. M. Andrews, Jr.
"Sipping Cider"
G. A. Knoerr
Topical Song
Harry Tappan
Closing Chorus

a. "Madelon"
b. "Oh! What a Pal was Mary"
c. "Good-Bye, Dixie, Good-Bye"

To make mention of any one number would not be fair to the others. All were good. Perhaps the specialty numbers by Lewis Hooper, George Beaton and Gus Knoerr will remain longest in the minds of the audience, yet the songs by Eddie Wilcox and Francis Andrews, and the trio can hardly pass without special notice.

The dialog of F. C. Rand and L. W. Carter was amusing throughout. They caused no little surprise when they made their appearance from the back of the hall, and finally found their way to the stage.

The jokes were intended for the most part to be confined to club members. To print any of them would not be fair to the 400 people who have not yet seen the show, but who will go tonight.

The hall was packed and everybody seemed to enjoy the show from start to finish.

The ends were H. S. Tappan, E. H. Wilcox, A. Cool, G. A. Knoerr, George Beaton and Lewis Hooper.

J. A. Lodge was the interlocutor, and the circle was composed of L. W. Carter, H. T. Swett, W. R. Bell, W. McDiarmid, C. E. Smith, Geo. Rust, A. Hoare, Roland Knight, J. O. Matthews, S. H. Hoare, Alfred Wahlen and F. C. Rand.

The chorus: J. Hoare, J. N. Lipman, C. Williams, B. Bullock, A. P. Dennis, M. T. Hoare, C. Hooper, C. Standley, E. Valentine, Rodney Dow, A. Rogers, G. Hildreth, H. W. Purington, F. J. Merrill, A. W. James, George Cooke, E. L. Edmands, A. E. Hersey, A. G. T. Smith, T. A. Lees, M. Miguel and C. W. Francis.

All were in black face and fancy costumes except the interlocutor. The ends had special fancy costumes.

Full credit is due to Dr. Frank A. Willis for his direction of the rehearsals and training the chorus. The work was started in December, and despite the difficulties encountered due to sickness and bad weather the rehearsals have been kept up persistently.

The music for the show was furnished by Long's orchestra. Frank Jones was at the piano, and much of the success of the undertaking is due to him, as he has been at the rehearsals from the start.

The stage was most artistically arranged. The special setting of black and orange was designed by H. J. O'Brien, of Boston, and some of the Manchester young women had charge of putting the setting in place.

The flowers used by Francis Andrews in his song, "Say It With Flowers," were kindly donated for the occasion by Axel Magnuson. To each flower—three dozen of them—was attached a card with the legend "compliments of The Manchester club." These were thrown into the Magnolia is still very much shut-in by the heavy fall of snow. Street Commissioner James Wolfe, however, is doing what he can to make the sidewalks and streets passable, but the end of his task is not yet in sight. A sleighing party from Gloucester came over here last Sunday to see, doubtless, how deep the snowbanks are in this shut-in place.

Mrs. Alice M. Lycett is ill at home and under the care of her physician and a nurse.

MAGNOLIA MOURNS

PROMINENT MAGNOLIA CITIZEN
PASSES AWAY

Suddenly this little hamlet has changed. Nothing seems as it did a few hours ago. There are tears in many eyes and sorrow in every home. Strong men look sad. Both old and young look serious and sorrowful. There is only one topic of conversation among the village folk—the sudden death of the late Fred S. Lycett.

Mr. Lycett died of pneumonia, at his late residence, Tuesday, Feb. 10, 1920, at about 8.10 a. m., having been ill about one week.

Services will be held in the Village church, Saturday, Feb. 14, at 2 p. m.

The late Fred S. Lycett, the only child of Arthur and Mary A. Lycett, was born in Magnolia, September 3, 1884. He was educated in the public schools of Magnolia and Gloucester and in the Bryant & Stratton Commercial school, of Boston. For some time he was associated with his father in the drug business, which is now owned by Leon T. Foster, and at the time of his death he was the popular postmaster of this village.

About eleven years ago he married Alice M. Sanborn, who, with a little daughter, Elizabeth, about six years old, his father, uncles, aunts, cousins and many friends, survive him.

From the Gloucester Times we reprint the following account of Mr. Lycett's death:

"Fred S. Lycett, clerk in charge of the Magnolia postoffice, passed away at his home in Magnolia, this morning (Tuesday) about 8 o'clock, following an illness of a week, from the effects of pneumonia.

The death of Mr. Lycett was received with profound regret not only in the Magnolia district, but in Gloucester as well, where he had a host of friends.

He was educated in the public schools, graduating from the Gloucester High school. His age was 35 yrs., 5 months and 7 days at the time of his death.

Mr. Lycett was a pharmacist by profession and a graduate of the Boston pharmaceutical school. However, it was his mother's wish that he continue the postal service so long conducted by her at Magnolia. Mrs. Lycett was postmistress there before Magnolia became a part of Gloucester postal district. During his mother's administration, he served as acting assistant postmaster.

On July 1, 1907, he was appointed a postal clerk and when the Magnolia office became a station of the Gloucester postoffice, he was made clerk in charge. He served in that capacity until Sept. 1, 1917, when he was promoted to superintendent of the Magnolia station. He was a man who liked his work and was an associate whom everybody loved. His death came as a great shock to the officials and employees at the main office. His daily visits to the local office were always a pleasure to the officials and to all with whom he came in contact.

Mr. Lycett was a member of Tyrrian lodge of Masons, Wm. Ferson chapter Royal Arch Masons, Bethlehem commandery, K. T., of Gloucester, and Aleppo Temple, Nobles of the Mystic Shrine, of Boston. He was also a member of the Magnolia Congl. church.

ONE AUTOMOBILE TO EVERY TWO FAMILIES IN UNITED STATES

According to the predictions of statistical experts there'll be one automobile to every two families in the United States by January, 1921. Statisticians of the B. F. Goodrich Rubber Co., who have just completed a count of the motor vehicles of America, are looking forward conservatively to 10,000,000 cars in 1921. This means approximately one car to every ten persons, or figuring three and one-half persons to a family, one car to every two households.

The Goodrich count on automobiles and trucks now in operation is based on official figures from every state in the Union. The registration of motor vehicles for 1919 was 7,555,269 and for the year 1918 was 6,023,605—an increase of 1,531,664—a gain of 26 percent. The increase of 1918 over 1917 was 23 percent.

New England passed the 500,000 mark in 1919 by 6,365. New York, with 600,000, and Ohio, with 511,000 have more than all six of our states. Here are the 1918-1919 figures for our section:

NOTICE

A high mass of requiem will be held at St. Margaret's church, Beverly Farms, on Tuesday, February 17, 1920, at 9 o'clock in the morning for the Repose of the Soul of Private Francis J. Callahan, who died in France. Relatives and friends are kindly invited.

Miss Margaret Hersey arrived home last Saturday, after spending the past four months in Daytona, Fla.

An entertainment entitled "Illustrated Songs," for women only, will be presented Saturday evening of this week by Preston W. R. corps.

A statistical table prepared by the superintendent of schools in Beverly, shows that the Beverly Farms school had an average membership of 172 pupils for the year 1919.

Henry Wright is making week-end trips from Boston to visit his father at Beverly Farms. Mr. Wright is employed at Jordan Marsh's, Boston.

The horse came into his own the past week. Business men secured horses for delivery work as much as possible. The use of autos on the streets was practically out of the question.

The tie-up of transportation last week-end resulted in many out of town Beverly Farms people being prevented from reaching their homes until Saturday night. Many had experiences which they do not care to repeat.

Mr. and Mrs. Gregory P. Connolly, 2d, are spending a week or ten days at Beverly Farms with Mr. Connolly's parents, Mr. and Mrs. S. J. Connolly, Everett and Haskell sts.

This week all the available men have been employed in shoveling snow and breaking out the highways. It has been years since the roads were in such an impassable condition. Geo. F. Wood, foreman, together with men and horses, did good work, and traffic was resumed as soon as could be expected. The electric street lighting system also suffered and Beverly Farms was without street lights until Tuesday night.

HOW ABOUT IT NOW?

Do you remember summer time,
When you wished you could go
And sit upon a cake of ice,
With both feet in the snow?
When it was ninety in the shade,
And when you mopped your brow,
And longed to dwell in Arctic zone—
How do you like it now?

Do you remember summer time,
With old humidity,
When wilted collar 'round your neck
Brought you great misery?
When you longed for an ice-cold bath
And in the surf to plow,
And drank the water-cooler dry?
How do you like it now?

NEW CORPORATION

The following corporation charter has just been issued: Who's Who Along the North Shore, Inc., Manchester; capital, $25,000; publishing; incorporators, J. Alexander Lodge, of Manchester, Gerald G. Richardson, of Cambridge, and Fred D. Follard, of Waverly.

This means that the new home of Who's Who Along the North Shore will be Manchester. J. A. Lodge, the BREEZE editor, came in possession of the publication in December, following the death of Albert W. Dennis, of Peabody, in the fall. A corporation, separate from the BREEZE, has been formed, and the publication will be issued from Manchester, being printed at the BREEZE plant and handled through the BREEZE equipment and office force.

requested that the committee be continued. He said a written report would probably be handed in before the close of this meeting.

Appropriations

Under article 4 it was voted to appropriate the following sums of money for interest and maturing debt: Interest on temporary loans, $3,000; interest on water bonds, $1,560; interest on sewer bonds, $7,080; redemption of water bonds, $6,000; redemption of sewer bonds, $8,000.

The following sums of money were appropriated under article 5 for the maintenance of the several departments: Legislative, $200; Selectmen's, $3,100; Accounting, $1,550; Treasurer and Collector's, $2,850; Assessors', $2,200; Town Clerk's, $650; law department, $2,000; election and registration, $500; Town hall and Common, $3,200; certification of notes, $26.

New By-Laws to be Circulated

Edward S. Knight moved an amendment to article 6 to have the article read: "To see if the town will appropriate the sum of $275 for advertising, printing and mailing to each inhabited dwelling in Manchester a copy of the new by-laws in pamphlet form." The article as amended was then voted.

It was while considering article 7 that the gathering first took on the semblance of an old-time town meeting. Without any opposition the following appropriations were passed: Police Department, $13,400; Moth, $4,500; Forest Fire, $1,000; Tree Warden's, $1,000; Weights and Measures, $150; for special moth work along the North Shore, $2,500, contingent upon $5,000 being subscribed by private citizens, and $2,500 by city of Beverly, the whole amount to be expended under the direction of the State Forester.

Increase Proposed for Fire Dept.

Article 7 called for an appropriation of $9,500 and credits for the Fire Department. The Finance Committee recommended the sum of $8,500. G. S. Sinnicks, chairman of the Finance Committee, explained the committee had willingly recommended the increase of $1,400 over last year's appropriation, but that the committee thought it would be unlawful to have the other $1,000 increase granted this year to pay the firemen. He thought it was certainly unlawful to have the increase retroactive. He was willing to vote to have the firemen's pay increased with the new year starting May 1, 1920.

Value of Dollar Now 50c

Clarence W. Morgan moved the appropriation of $9,500 and credits for the Fire Department, saying that, as he understood it, the firemen were paid at the present rate to May 1 of this year and that an increase could go into effect this May and the men would receive their increase then and not be obliged to wait until May, 1921. "The value of a dollar now, as you all know, is cut right in half. I believe the men should receive an increase of $25 and the engineers an increase of $200."

E. P. Stanley inquired if the raise would go into effect May 1, 1920, or 1921, if this motion was passed.

Moderator Allen called the attention of the voters to the fact that the town in 1919 appropriated certain sums for the fiscal year of 1919 and therefore, no department, including the Fire Department, could expend in any other year, money appropriated for 1919.

Mr. Sinnicks amended the motion of Mr. Morgan to make the appropriation $8,500. By a vote of 33 to 23 the motion as amended failed to pass.

Mr. Sinnicks then cautioned the voters not to pass any illegal vote and stated that he would fight any action taken which he believed to be contrary to law.

Mr. Morgan "May be Thick"

Mr. Morgan: "I may be thick, but I fail to understand, if the men are paid from May to May, why their compensation cannot be increased for the year from May 1, 1920, to May 1, 1921. I do not want the town to take any action that is not lawful, but is there not some way in which the firemen can be granted an increase effective this year? The Police Department go to the town for more money, the Selectmen are asking the town for an increase in salaries, why should the firemen be refused more money?"

Mr. Sinnicks: "For twenty years I served as a fire engineer. We were not paid in advance, but for services rendered. As I understand it, we cannot vote this proposed increase to take effect previous to May, 1921."

D. T. Beaton raised the question whether the same personnel of the Fire Department would receive the increase if the firemen are paid from year to year and the same members did not join the department year after year.

E. P. Stanley: "I believe in this increase, but think it is unlawful to have it retroactive."

Increase Expected at Once

George Hildreth, clerk of the engine company, said: "The firemen are expecting $50 to May, 1920. They thought the increase would be effective

George E. Willmonton stated that he thought no voter would object to the firemen receiving extra pay, but that it would be contrary to law to make this added amount retroactive.

The motion of $9,500 and credits failed to prevail, and Mr. Sinnicks then moved that $8,500 and credits be appropriated. Moderator Allen called to his attention the fact that the meeting had previously voted against this amount and he suggested that the motion should be made to include the sum of $8,499.99. This sum of money was voted.

Appropriations for Trees

Acting under article 8, on motion of Saml. L. Wheaton, the town appropriated $500 for the bolting of trees, and under article 9, $450 was appropriated for new trees.

Article 10. The following sums of money were appropriated for the maintenance of the several departments: Health Department, $3,400; medical inspection, $200; district nurse fund, $800; dental clinic, $2,300.

The sum of $250 for the purchase of an electric engine for the use of the dental clinic was appropriated under article 11.

On motion of Mr. Wheaton the sum of $27,000 was appropriated for repairs and improvements of highways, bridges and sidewalks as called for in articles 12, 14, 15, 16, 18 and 19.

Article 13, appropriating $2,500 to install an electric motor for drilling at the stone crushing plant, received favorable action.

Construction of Sidewalks

Construction of sidewalks as proposed in articles 14, 15 and 16, was voted, same to be cared for by the appropriation of article 12. These walks include: Concrete sidewalk on Elm st., from the corner of Central st. to the end of land owned by the estate of John W. Marshall; tar sidewalk on the southerly side of Summer st. between the house of Mrs. Annie Crombie and the estate of Nathaniel Andrews; concrete sidewalk on the northerly side of Friend st.

Article 17 regarding a curbing on Raymond st., was passed over.

Article 18. The town voted to consider the matter of laying a drain or drains for the purpose of removing surface water from the southerly side of Rosedale ave., same to be cared for by appropriation under article 12.

Curtis B. Stanley moved that the word "macadam" be struck out of article 19 and the word "concrete" substituted. As passed, by vote, the article provides an appropriation of $350 for a concrete sidewalk on the northerly side of Vine st. from Norwood ave. to Lincoln st.

Appropriation for Street Lights

Chairman Wheaton moved that $10,600 be appropriated for the maintenance of street lights for the ensuing year, as recommended by the Finance Committee, article 20, and the amount was voted.

Article 21. It was voted to place two street lights on Allen ave., one near the boundary line of the estate of Luke A. Morgan and one opposite the residence of John R. Allen.

Article 22. Voted to place a street light on Essex Old rd. between Pleasant st. and the present light situated thereon.

Article 23. The sum of $3,023.78 (the same being an unexpended balance) was voted for the completion of Pine st.

Article 24. Without any opposition the sum of $50 was appropriated for the Harbor Master's Department.

Improving the Harbor

The matter of dredging the harbor, article 25, caused considerable oratory. E. P. Stanley moved to pass over the article. Walter B. Calderwood opposed this action and expressed the hope that something would be done this year to improve the harbor.

Mr. Beaton spoke in favor of harbor dredging, stating that "it seems to me a good harbor is an advantage. Dredging our harbor is just as important as improving our highways, erecting new buildings and keeping them in condition."

Mr. Stanley: "I have always advocated the dredging of the harbor when necessary, but I believe it is not called for this year inasmuch as we had it done last year."

Mr. Calderwood: "I honestly believe that keeping our harbor in good condition is a benefit to the town and I trust that money will be appropriated this year for that purpose."

Must Ask for What We Get

Mr. Willmonton: "We get but little in this world without asking for it, and I would move that $3,500 be appropriated contingent on the state putting in $7,000."

Mr. Sinnicks, in behalf of the Finance Committee, said that the committee had recommended that no dredging be done this year because no citizen had asked for any dredging.

Mr. Beaton was of the opinion that it was not necessary for any citizen to request that the harbor be dredged, that it was the business of the Selectmen to have sufficient interest to bring the matter before the town, and that they were lax in their duties if they failed to do this.

After those who wished had aired their views, it was voted to have the Selectmen get what information they could as to the state helping out as usual, and report at an adjourned meeting.

Town Accepts Lot of Land

It was voted under article 26, that the town accept the lot of land at the corner of School and Pleasant sts., deeded to the town on July 19, 1919, by Lewis Morgan and recorded in the Essex Registry of Deeds, South District, on Sept. 4, 1919.

Article 27. Mr. Wheaton moved that the following sums be appropriated for the maintenance of the several departments: Poor-in, $3,400; Poor-Out, $2,200; state and military aid, $1,000; Overseers of the Poor, $75; Soldier's relief, $100; Soldiers' relief, payable to Quartermaster of Allen post, 67, G. A. R., $150.

Mr. Willmonton moved the appropriation of $39,000 for the support of public schools, article 28.

Article 29. The amount of $8,000 was moved by Mr. Willmonton for repairs in the several school buildings.

Without any opposition it was voted, under article 30, to authorize the town to sell the small boiler at the John Price school. This boiler has not been in use for some years, it being too small for the requirements of the building where it is located.

Library to be Open Evenings

Mr. Sinnicks explained, under article 31, that the library trustees requested $1,000 additional this year for the purpose of keeping the library open evenings, and that the Finance Committee recommended this increase. It was voted that the sum of $2,500 and dog tax be appropriated for the maintenance of the library.

At this point in the proceedings it was voted to adjourn until 6.00 Tuesday morning when the polls would be open for the purpose of balloting for town officers.

TUESDAY EVENING MEETING

Moderator Allen called the meeting to order at 7.33 o'clock. Town Clerk Floyd administered the oath of office to the Moderator, after which the Moderator swore in the Town Clerk. The Selectmen and Assessor were also sworn in.

G. S. Sinnicks was appointed a member of the Finance Committee, but refused to serve again. He stated that he had given his time and efforts in this capacity for six years and that he did not care to serve any longer.

Chester L. Crafts addressed the voters at this time, calling to their attention Mr. Sinnicks' record, mentioning his long period of service to the town and praising the work he had accomplished. Mr. Crafts expressed the hope that Mr. Sinnicks would reconsider his resignation. Mr. Sinnicks did this, and won the hearty applause of the meeting by giving his consent to serve on this important committee for another term.

Under article 2 the following officers were elected;

Pound Keeper—Alfred Walen.
Measurers of Lumber—George L. Knight, Hugh J. Burke, Fred. J.

Increased Pay

Curtis B. Stanley moved to take up article 45, and it was so voted. Acting under this article, George Hildreth moved that each call member of the Fire Department receive $75 for the year beginning May 3, 1920. It was so voted. Mr. Hildreth moved that the Board of Engineers receive $500 for the year beginning May 3, 1920, and this was also voted.

On motion of Curtis B. Stanley it was voted that the town pay its laborers 60c per hour for each hour they work during the ensuing year.

Chester L. Crafts moved that the salary of the Selectmen be as follows: Chairman, $1,500 per year; other members, $500 each per year.

All other town officers will receive the same pay as for the past year.

New Town Hall

In accordance with the vote taken on Monday evening the report of the Committee on Memorial to Soldiers, Sailors and Marines was discussed at this period of the meeting. It was at this time that a great amount of interest was manifested by the voters, as the recommendations of the committee required discussion and action by the meeting. The article was read by the Moderator and Edward S. Knight, chairman of the committee, presented as motions, the recommendations included in the report. The first of these was as follows: "That the town build a memorial Town hall of brick or stone."

Mr. Knight said, in part: "We have had several suggestions from townspeople and others regarding this matter of the proposed memorial to our soldiers, sailors and marines, and the committee has finally decided that the most appropriate form the memorial could take was that of a Town hall to be built of either brick or stone."

"The matter of location was the next subject to be considered. We investigated several possible sites, among them being Pine st., Town hill, School st., one near the Horticultural hall, and lastly the site of the Town hall where it now stands. We felt that the site should be definitely decided before plans for the building were considered.

"The committee believe in going slow on this matter. The country is passing through a reconstruction period. It appears probable that within two years the building could be erected at a cheaper price than at present. We favor appropriating $25,000 from this year's receipts to serve as a nucleus for the permanent fund to be used in this project."

E. P. Stanley: "I am in favor of having the memorial hall built on the site of the present Town hall. There is another location which I would favor. I refer to the plot of land occupied by the Manchester House, but due to the excessive cost that site is not so advantageous." Mr. Stanley referred to the probability that the new hall will contain a room for the use of the patriotic organizations of the town, and in that event the G. A. R. would not retain their room in the library building. He said that this would give the library increased space which could be used to advantage.

Dr. R. T. Glendenning: "There is a need for a new Town hall. Manchester may have to build one within a few years to properly meet prevailing conditions. I am in favor of the present site being used for the new memorial hall."

John F. Scott: "I am in favor of this kind of a memorial, but not in favor of this site. Has the committee considered that an absolutely water-proof basement in this present site is a difficult thing to attain? The basement floor would have to be built at such an elevation that the balance of the building would be out of proportion to adjoining buildings."

The voters being ready for the question, Moderator Allen stated the motion and it was unanimously voted "that the town build a memorial Town hall of brick or stone."

"That its location shall be the site of the present Town hall building" was the second recommendation of the committee. Alexander Robertson amended this to read "approximate" rather than "exact" site of present building and the amendment was carried.

Mr. Robertson: "I was not in favor of this site at first, but the prices of real estate which we have looked at, have changed my mind. The present building can be moved elsewhere, used for community purposes, fitted to a new location and all within a sum which is less than another lot would cost us. I believe it can be moved and fitted up on another site for the sum of $2,500. Eventually something must be done to relieve the traffic congestion through the centre of the town, and we have had this necessity in mind while making our plans."

Will Build on Common

Mr. Knight offered the following amendment to the recommendation of the committee: "That the town common be selected as the location for the new Town hall, and that the subject matter be referred back to the committee to prepare plans and estimates of the cost of construction of enlarging said location, also to take necessary steps to have a suitable highway approach to the new building."

Mr. Knight: "For the proper development of this site the committee has in mind the building of a roadway from the police station, past the residence of Mr. Jewett and thence to Beach st. This roadway would relieve traffic on Union and Washington sts., and would furnish a more direct route to the beach and to Smith's Point. We are a rich town and can afford to erect a building which will be an honor to the town and one in which our soldiers, sailors and marines will take great pride. I think the building should be so designed as to face the Manchester House."

Mr. Stanley: "All things are possible in this world and the committee thinks that the basement floor of the new hall could be built higher than in the present building, and that it would be dry."

Mr. Scott: "Water is a hard thing to 'buck against' as all contractors know. I doubt very much whether these so-called waterproof cellars are really waterproof." Without mentioning any names, Mr. Scott spoke of some property owners in Manchester who are obliged to pay large sums every year in order to keep water out of their cellars.

The second recommendation when put to a vote was carried.

"That the town appropriate the sum of $2,500 and give the committee further time to prepare and present plans to the town," was the third recommendation of the memorial committee.

Plans to be Prepared

Mr. Knight, asked that the sum be changed to $3,500, but Mr. Sinnicks objected to this and his motion, as follows, was carried: "That the sum of $2,500 be appropriated for the use of the committee in preparing plans of site and proposed Memorial Town hall, in accordance with the foregoing motion."

The fourth recommendation: "That the town appropriate the sum of $25,000 from the receipts of this year, the same to be invested by the Treasurer with the approval of the Selectmen, to be known as the Memorial Town Hall fund, to be used in its construction."

Mr. Sinnicks: "It seems to me that it would be wise to have this matter postponed to our adjourned meeting in April, at which time we can see how much money we will have to spend. The Finance Committee does not object to this amount, but thinks we should wait until the adjourned meeting before taking action."

Mr. Stanley: "Our tax rate is bound to be higher. As Town Treasurer I have some knowledge regarding the funds of the town, and we cannot expect to always keep the tax rate at $10. It must be higher, and should increase this year."

It was voted to defer action on this fourth recommendation until the April meeting.

Chairman Wheaton moved to take up article 12, and it was so voted. He then said that the vote passed, increasing the pay of the town laborers, would make necessary an increased appropriation under this article, and that the Selectmen would need $5,500 additional to pay the laborers. The matter was referred to the Finance Committee.

Art. 32. The following amounts were appropriated: Water Department, $19,500, and receipts from services and sales; Sewer Maintenance, $3,600; Sewer Construction, $150; Cemetery Maintenance, $2,500.

Art. 33. It was voted, on motion of George Hildreth, that "the town appropriate the sum of $189.45, together with a re-appropriation of the unexpended balance from 1919 of $185.50, for the completion of the Allen ave. sewer."

Article 34 regarding purchase of land for cemeteries was passed over.

Park Maintenance

Art. 35. $4,000 was appropriated for park maintenance; $2,250 and interest on fund for Tuck's Point.

Art. 36. It was voted to maintain the playground on Brook st., and the sum of $1,600 was appropriated for this work.

Art. 37. Jeffrey S. Reed, chairman of the Park Commissioners moved that the sum of $3,000 be appropriated for improvements on Masconomo Park, explaining that certain repairs should be made and that a corner of the land is constantly being washed away by the ocean and should receive attention. Mr. Sinnicks moved to amend by passing over this article, and it was so voted.

It was voted, on motion of Mr. Sinnicks, under article 38, "that the town appropriate the sum of $1,000 to be used as a contingent fund by the Park Commissioners."

Mr. Reed: "Very much obliged to the chairman of the Finance Committee!"

Band Concerts, etc.

Arts. 39 and 40. On motions of Mr. Wheaton the following amounts were voted: Band concerts, $500; Fourth of July, $500; Memorial Day observance, $200; ringing of bells, $8; reserve fund, $3,000; maintenance Memorial Library building, $1,200; town reports, $700; care of clocks, $50; care of floats, $200; care of Central Pond dam, $25.

Art. 41. For compensating Frank P. Knight, George L. Knight and Richard L. Cheever for easements in sewer construction the recommendation of the Finance Committee was adopted, "to refer this matter to the Board of Water and Sewer Commissioners and they to report at a later date."

Art. 42, for reimbursing Thomas B. Dunn, for grading his premises, owing to change of grade in street during the years 1915 and 1916. Voted to indefinitely postpone.

Art. 43. For taking action to a claim of Daniel Edgecomb & Sons in connection with the construction of sewer on Allen ave. It was voted, on Mr. Dean's motion, "that the subject matter of this article be laid on the table until the adjourned meeting."

Common and Wharf Regulations

Arts. 44 and 45 having been previously disposed of, it was voted, on motion of Town Clerk Floyd, under article 46, "that the town make the same regulations as last year for the Common and wharf."

Art. 47. Voted to authorize the Treasurer, with the approval of a majority of the Selectmen, to borrow money for current expenses this year in anticipation of revenue.

Art. 48. Mr. Floyd moved that the town take the same action as last year regarding town beaches and landings, regulations as to the placing of bathhouses, and taking of sand and muck from the beaches. It was so voted.

Adjournment to March 29

Mr. Wheaton's motion to adjourn to Monday, March 29, at 7.30 o'clock in the evening, was passed.

This completed the business of the evening and adjournment was declared at 9.12 o'clock.

The total appropriations were $224,597.72.

Carrying a ton a mile for less than a cent

Freight rates have played a very small part in the rising cost of living.

Other causes—the waste of war, under-production, credit inflation—have added dollars to the cost of the necessities of life, while freight charges have added only cents.

The average charge for hauling a ton of freight a mile is less than a cent.

A suit of clothing that sold for $30 before the war was carried 2,265 miles by rail from Chicago to Los Angeles for 16½ cents.

Now the freight charge is 22 cents and the suit sells for $50.

The cost of the suit has increased 20 dollars.

The freight on it has increased only 5½ cents.

Other transportation charges enter into the cost of the finished article—carrying the wool to the mills and the cloth to the tailors—but these other charges amount to but a few cents more.

The $10 pair of shoes that used to sell for $5 goes from the New England factory to the Florida dealer for a freight charge of 5½ cents—only one cent more than the pre-war rate.

Beef pays only two-thirds of a cent a pound freight from Chicago to New York.

American freight rates are the lowest in the world.

The beauty of the North Shore is its great and only asset. The wonderful beaches, the beautiful hills covered with woods, the open meadows and good roads contribute to make the North Shore as it is the most attractive watering place in the state of Massachusetts. The attractive Shore has transformed the district from a manufacturing centre to a popular shore resort. Denude the hills, cutting down trees and shrubs, and the charm of the Shore will be lost. The district is famous for its wooded places, and rarely can anyone find a shore where the trees grow, literally, in many places, to the water's edge. Careless or unscrupulous owners of North Shore woodlands, however, do not appreciate the harm that their individual wilfulness causes in cutting trees which have long been standing. High prices which are demanded make it impossible in many incidences for neighboring owners to purchase real estate that is wooded and thus save the woodland threatened and all the woodland around and about which would be injured thereby. It is well that there is such a strong public opinion in favor of maintaining our woodland and such a strong opinion against the wanton abuse of one's proprietorship in a beautiful piece of timberland. At various times in the history of this section private owners have been unwilling to heed public opinion and have pursued their own destructive way. It is fortunate now that everyone appreciates the great value of the woodlands and the necessity that exists for protecting them. An association has been formed with the expressed purpose of preserving North Shore woodland and to associate North Shore residents in a protective association that will make it possible for all lovers of the natural beauties of the North Shore to unite in preventing wanton destruction of North Shore woodlands.

Manchester's Town hall will be a commendable memorial to the men who served the nations in the great hour of need, to make the world safe for democracy. How much better it is to have some durable and useful memorial than a cheap, inexpressive and possibly crude monument!

There are some State papers signed early in the communications with Germany by Robert Lansing that the American people would have desired to have been drafted differently, but Wilson and not Lansing was the power then behind the written documents. If the earlier communications had been the gloved mailed fist it would have undoubtedly brought the war to an earlier and more effective ending. There are those who vainly or otherwise think that perhaps the war could have been averted entirely by a strong American paper and protest at the time of the entrance of Great Britain and the violation of the neutrality of Belgium.

The rampant and reckless speculation that has been going on in America, especially since the war, and particularly in oil stocks, has at last commanded the attention of the United States government. A sub-committee has been appointed by the Senate Interstate Commerce committee to consider the operations of the wild-cat stock manipulators. It is well that such consideration is being made of the condemnable manipulations which have been in many cases nothing short of open-handed robbery. The large number of Liberty bonds in the hands of the people of the United States have made it possible for unscrupulous men to prey upon a larger number of people than was ever possible before. The results have been that many million dollars' worth of Liberty and other government bonds have been exchanged for worthless gambling stocks, in coal, oil, iron and other issues. In many companies there have been bonafide risks, but most of them have been "salted" for public sale and the stock worth only what it would bring as old paper. It is said that less than one percent of all the oil, for example, that has been available since January, 1919, has come from wells driven from funds raised by advertised oil stocks. The argument is apparent, and yet wilful men will exchange good money and valuable bonds for worthless speculative stocks. The time has come for publicity of a pitiless nature for all such concerns. There ought to be devised means of preventing unscrupulous men from advertising spurious stocks. Until such time an intelligent public opinion should be developed against such operations. Liberty bonds should be kept, not sold. When one needs to purchase stocks and bonds it is advisable always to seek a competent broker and abide by his advice. The state banks, both the savings banks and the co-operative banks, are valuable agencies. These are the proper channels through which to invest small amounts of money, that the capital be preserved. Many trust companies have interest departments that are returning good dividends to their depositors. These adequate facilities ought to deter anyone in Massachusetts from being led astray by wily salesmen or seductive advertisements.

Despite the high prices which are demanded for all things, Lincoln probably paid a very much higher price for his walnut juice dyed jean trousers when he cut and split four hundred rails for every yard of cloth in his jeans, than one would have to pay today.

Eamon de Valera, of Ireland, has been making a tour of the United States in the direct interest of the struggling "rights" of the people of Ireland. He has been elected by a faction of the Irish people as the "President of the Irish Republic." The republic of Ireland has not yet been acceded by the United Kingdom of Great Britain, nor recognized by the United States. Mr. Valera is receiving a very warm welcome by his fellow countrymen; he is being received by the representative officials of many cities in America. He has Boston on his itinerary and will be received by Mayor Peters. Mr. Peters makes it clear, however, that he is receiving Mr. Valera as a citizen of Ireland as he would receive any distinguished private citizen of any other country. The United States government has not recognized the claims of the aspiring people of the Emerald Isle. Until such time no executive of a state or of a city can accord Mr. Valera any other greeting than that which is due him as a man of prominence and honor among the Irish people. Mayor Peters' position is a frank and manly one that will command the respect of all of Mr. Valera's friends in America. "I will, as I have done to other Irishmen who have been here recently, give him my cordial personal greeting."

With a delegation from Ulster in Ireland and another from the "Republic," America ought to have an opportunity to hear the truth about old Ireland from both sides of the fence.

The League of Nations provides for the calling of an International Labor congress by the President of the United States of America. The National Women's Trade Union league, of America, is issuing a call for an International Congress of Working Women to be held the week preceding the week in which the International congress convenes, and at Washington, also. There is every reason to believe that the plans arranged will be carried out. This will be the first congress ever convened of working women from all nations to consider the problems in which they are interested. They have an ambitious program that is worthy of execution. The topics are large and will involve careful research. The congress will have ten representatives from each country and each representative will have one vote in the deliberations of the congress. The convention will grapple with large questions, such as the present law and practice concerning the employment of women before and after child birth, regulations concerning night work, the employment of women in unhealthy processes and the restrictions imposed by law in all the countries represented concerning industries in which lead, mercury, phosphorus and arsenic are used. The employment of children will also be considered with the view of determining the attitude of governments relative to the age limits, night work, hours of service, industrial risks and to harmful processes. The large problem of the 48-hour working week will be exhaustively considered and the findings of the congress will be available for the National Labor congress to be held the following week. These two congress sessions will be of great value. The calling of both of these conventions is the outstanding event of the labor calendar; they will be epochal in their character and will be the beginning of concerted international action along lines that cannot fail to mean much, both to working women and to men the world over. The world will do well to consider carefully their deliberation.

With the fate of the treaty resting upon Article 10 it is fervently hoped by all that the two leading parties may be able to come to an amicable agreement. With a reservation written by Taft and one offered by the Democratic conference it would appear that an agreement should not have been as difficult as it was.

What the war accomplished by its dread demands the weather now is imposing upon the people of the New England states. Between the war shortage and the shortage of coal because of the weather conditions there is no choice. There is one satisfaction in the impending poverty, the people are not trying to exist on the crusts of loaves of doubtful content. There is bread and meat. Be it hoped that the weather bondage will soon be broken and the skill of the Governor's council of New England executives will be evident in changed conditions.

The President is still a very sick man. How feeble he is and what the exact state of his health is no one knows save the immediate members of his family, his secretary and his physicians. It is evident, however, that he has not rallied from his illness and is still a recluse in the White House. He meets no one and does such business as comes to him through his secretary, Mr. Tumulty. Ever since his breakdown, while on a trip through the west in the interests of the League of Nations, his friends have been anxious for definite assurance of his gradual recovery. But he has not appeared in public, and consequently fears have been entertained by his well-wishers as to the real state of his health. Why are there no more definite statements of the President's health available? Wm. Roscoe Thayer in a recent communication to the Boston Transcript directly raises the question of the President's competency to execute the duties of his office. Mr. Thayer calls the attention of the readers of the paper to the disability clause relative to the President, in our Constitution, whereby Congress is empowered to care for filling the office until a President shall have been elected by the people, the presidency first falling to the vice-president. Does the physical ability of the President unfit him for his duties? Mr. Thayer raises the question not that the President shall be forced to withdraw in favor of the vice-president, but that the public is entitled to know the truth concerning the physical condition of their elected leader, the President. Mr. Thayer has raised the question and it will be answered. The truth should be made known. Mr. Wilson's well-wishers desire to know the truth concerning his condition.

Of Washington it was said, "First in war, first in peace and first in the hearts of his countrymen." Of another, last in war, and last in peace.

Co-operation is the basis for success in every enterprise. No business organization can hope to succeed unless all of the members of the concern work together harmoniously, with a spirit of good will and determination. Any other spirit means discord and failure. Failure means a disruption of the organization and all lose financially in the end. During the last storm all of the railroads were hampered by the weather conditions. They were able to overcome the obstacles set by nature by the willing and faithful co-operation of all of the employees. In a remarkably short while the roads were cleared of snow and the train service that had been interrupted was operating fairly regularly, so that commuters were able to reach their homes; and freight and express service, while severely handicapped, was continued over the main lines, though on the North Shore branch no freight and only little express has come through. Co-operation and fidelity alone made the work, so successfully accomplished, possible.

Now a strike—held off temporarily—is threatened by men in the employ of the railroads for increases which perhaps are defensible. Without discussing the merits of any employees' demands, it is of primary importance that the principle of the strike be settled. Strikes are destructive, unreasonable and work harm to all concerned. It is nothing more nor less than a modified form of industrial "bolshevism." Workmen have the right to make organized demands for the amelioration of harsh and unjust working conditions. These demands should be carefully considered, formally presented and the issues discussed and decisions reached and honest contracts made. The terms of these contracts should be manfully lived up to by both partners. Strikes should not occur. They imperil the just rights and profits of the strikers themselves and guarantee no good to anyone. War is condemned. Force never settles anything.

As there is a determined spirit growing among the peoples of all nations that war should be forever prevented and all international matters should be adjusted by judicial proceedings and arbitration methods, so is there a growing conviction that neither organized capital, so-called, nor organized labor have a right to precipitate a lockout or a strike involving inconvenience to the public, because of an organized interference with a great enterprise such as the railroads or coal mines of the nation. The time will come when such obstructionist and anarchistic methods will be seen to be unwise. Not because society or capital by force shall put down organized strikes and walkouts, but because in the progress of economic thought employers, employees and the so-called "public" shall have, by the experiences of life, arrived at the conclusion which is inevitable,—that strikes are economically indefensible and are morally wrong, working harm to all concerned. It is the strong Samson pulling down the pillars of the temple crushing himself as well as the oppressing rulers who hold him captive. It will take time and experience to work the sweet works of righteousness, but it is inevitable. Public opinion in all walks of life will see the folly of the situations precipitated by strikes. Just as the slave question, the liquor question and other great moral and economic issues have after long years of agitation been finally settled, so will the serious and threatening economic wrongs of a general strike be corrected by enlightened people who refuse to make wasteful and wanton acts to correct wrongs. Two wrongs never yet have made a right.

The decreased price of the pound sterling is raising havoc with the exchange with Great Britain. It is an example of the injustices which the war has brought about. There is no reason for great fears; there will be no panic. The money market is in straits, but the gale must be weathered.

Ten thousand men and boys volunteered to shovel snow in Worcester Saturday. They were fed during the day by hundreds of women, who supplied sandwiches and hot drinks. Music was provided by several bands and drum corps. Majors, who fought the Germans, were in command, and the army of shovelers included a host of veterans of the World War. The snow shoveling problem has assumed gigantic proportions this year.

We understand a large reward has been offered for the person who first wrote those words: "Beautiful snow!"

The man who does not enjoy his work, but to whom it is a grind, says his birthstone is a grindstone.

The winter carnival at Dartmouth college in 1919 suffered somewhat from a lack of snow. We have not heard a complaint of that sort this year.

And now a Kansas man comes forward with the information that rats and mice are weather prophets. He says that when the rodents are numerous in the town houses it is a sign of a warm winter. We would like to inquire if this method is applicable to the North Shore?

Women of Nebraska to the number of 350,000 are pledged to fight sky-high prices. Their "platform" includes purchasing nothing offered at excessive prices; planning a careful budget and keeping a record of the year's expenditures; not to follow the whims of the hour, but to buy what and when necessary.

H. B. Endicott had the spirit of public service. As the needs presented themselves he rallied to meet the emergencies. Having a natural talent for organization, an enviable opportunity to show his powers and a spirit of service, he has left an enviable record of community service. The world can little spare such men of merit and power.

The divisions in the President's Cabinet and the recurrence of Lincoln's birthday brings to mind forcefully the masterly ability and tact, not to mention patience, which Lincoln showed in mastering the men who served in his cabinet. Holding strong men in hand with strength and ability requires tact, judgment and a loveable spirit.

There have been profiteers who have striven to take advantage of the demands for tenements to line their purses with gold. On the other hand there are legitimate reasons for higher rents where the interest rates have been increased by banks and the increased costs for repairing are not inconsiderable factors.

"Pussy Foot" Johnson, who lost an eye, is a real American sport with a love of fair play, but with all his genial good spirit the English people were hardly prepared for his counter thrust that the liquor traffic had put out more than sixty thousand eyes in one year.

The demands of skilled labor and the high prices being paid are making inroads upon the learned professions that means that these men will have sacrificed their years of professional training for the lure of the need of money for a mere living.

Despite the severe weather, the unusual snowfall and lowering temperatures the streets and sidewalks of the towns of the North Shore will compare favorably with the conditions in the cities and in the rural districts of the state.

If the Susan B. Do the women really desire the ballot?

The Massachusetts Audubon society, with secretaries from Cape Ann through the Berkshires, issues a plea to everybody to feed the birds this winter. Many birds are famishing in bleak New England.

SOCIETY NOTES

When Mr. and Mrs. James J. Phelan, of Brookline, return from the south the middle of April, the extensive changes being made to their newly purchased summer home in Manchester will be well along toward completion. Mechanics have been working on the house since fall. Mr. and Mrs. Phelan left Boston last week for Palm Beach, Fla. On their return north they will stop off at White Sulphur Springs, W. Va., for a short stay. The estate they now own at Manchester was the J. Warren Merrill homestead, owned more recently by the late John M. Graham. It is situated on Smith's Point, on an elevation overlooking the ocean, and Salem bay, as well as inland.

Mr. and Mrs. Bayard Tuckerman (Phyllis Sears), who have rented the Francis I. Amory house at 413 Commonwealth ave., Boston, for the winter, will be among the earliest of the spring arrivals on the North Shore. Their new house in the Myopia Hunt club section is one of the finest on the North Shore.

Mrs. James Marsh Jackson and her daughter, Miss Elinor Jackson, accompanied by Miss Polly Proctor and Miss Rosamond Johnson, left Boston yesterday for Fernandina, Fla., where they will visit for two or three weeks. Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Carnegie, 2d, and their daughter, Miss Nancy Carnegie, who have an extensive estate there.

One of the pleasant social events of last week in the town was a fairment given by Mrs. S. Parker Bremer at her residence, 33 Marlboro st., for the Fragrance Society. After the supper the ballroom was thrown open for a musicale by professionals, with Mrs. Bremer adding a group of her choice songs. Mrs. Waldo Richards came with her friend, Mrs. John Hamilton Rice, with whom she is staying. The guests expressed with enthusiasm the wish to have Mrs. Richards recite, and she graciously responded. The little cards of "Helpful Messages" were distributed at the close of the evening. They were requested by societies engaged in relief work to the end of more serenity of mind. The messages on them are composed by two leaders among men in the interest of humanity.

Mrs. Geo. von L. Meyer, of Hamilton and Boston, has an apartment in Wendell Mansions, Washington, for part of the winter.

Samuel Pierce Mandell, for many years a summer resident of the North Shore—until two years ago having a cottage at Beverly Cove, and since then living in the Hamilton-Wenham section near the new estate of his son, Geo. S. Mandell—died last Saturday at his Boston home, 302 Commonwealth ave., after a fortnight's illness. Mr. Mandell was president of the Boston Transcript Company, and for upward of three-quarters of a century he was associated with the dry goods house of C. F. Hovey and Co.

Mr. Mandell was born in West Bridgewater, Aug. 12, 1833, and was the son of Moses and Ann (Pierce) Mandell. When he was a boy he went to Barre, just beyond the line of which, in Hardwick, was the old family homestead. His ancestors were mostly farmers, and held commissions in the armies of their times. His father, however, was a school teacher, keeping a private school well known at that time. From him he received his education, until he came to Boston to begin his long business career. On Nov. 14, 1860, he married Miss Ann E. Dutton, of Boston, daughter of Henry Worthington Dutton and Ann Spear Dutton. Mrs. Mandell died Concerning the late Clarence Henry Poor, of Cambridge, who was a summer resident of Beverly Farms last year, a friend has written from New York to the Boston Transcript and we reprint in the Breeze because so many of our subscribers are intimately acquainted with the family. The letter follows:

"Many of your readers knew and valued the late Clarence Henry Poor. With the fine modesty which characterized his whole life, he has gone, before most of us knew of his illness. He was of that sturdy New England type which always takes care to mean at least as much as it says. All who knew him relied upon him.

"From a happy home his influence went out not only to his business associates and his fellow workmen in various institutions and committees, but into hidden places where its light for some man meant the conquest of sickness, crime or poverty. One of his chief joys was to find men just out of prison and to start them in a new and honorable life. Because these men coveted his respect and hoped to win his affection, it was not unusual for them to hold for more than twenty years the positions which he found for them. Among his papers were letters from men who had been drunkards, who by agreement wrote to him after every lapse, till at length he was sure that they had mastered themselves.

"I can imagine how the Church in Massachusetts will miss him. Among his forebears were many clergy of Colonial Massachusetts. The blood of the Phillipses and Adamses flowed in his veins; and their willingness to work hard was given to him. His was the joy of unselfish service.—C. L. S."

William Phillips, of "Ilighover," North Beverly, a native of Beverly and for several years first assistant secretary of state, was this week named by President Wilson to be United States minister to the Netherlands. The appointment of Mr. Phillips, before the end of the month, is in recognition of the excellent services he has rendered the Administration and the country during our participation in the World War. Mr. Phillips was appointed assistant secretary of state on Jan. 24, 1917, and since that time he has had direct supervision, with other duties, over the bureau of western European affairs, which, because of the war, was one of the most important branches of the department. His appointment three years ago came at a time when the Administration needed a diplomat of his ability. He served the country so well that the President decided a short time ago to reward him by making him the minister to Holland.

News has been received of the death of Mrs. Helen (Merrill), wife of Abram Piatt Andrew, of LaPorte, Ind., a summer resident of Eastern Point, Gloucester, and mother of Col. A. Piatt Andrew, Jr. Mrs. Andrew's serious condition was telegraphed to her son the first of the week, and Col. Andrew started west. Mrs. Andrew passed away on Tuesday, her death resulting from influenza. She has been in ill health previously for a long time.

Edgar J. McGill, of Montserrat, brother of Mrs. Henry W. Peabody, was killed last Saturday afternoon when snow and ice, suddenly loosened from the sloping roof of a cottage at Montserrat, swept down upon him, fracturing his skull and burying him. He was shoveling a path at one of a number of cottages owned by his sister, near her home in Montserrat. He was dead when the snow which covered his body was shovelled away. Mr. McGill was born in New York city, 47 years ago. From the New York public schools he entered Rochester University, coming thence to Boston University to complete his studies for a degree. He took a special course at Amherst College and then became connected with a Boston book publishing house. He opened a real estate office at Montserrat 11 years ago and took up his residence at the home of his sister. During the war he was engaged in Y. M. C. A. work.

Henry Clay Frick

Noted Financier Would Have Lived 10 Years Longer, Writes George Harvey, If He was not Veritable Engine Took no Time for Relaxation

WRITING of Henry Clay Frick in the North American Review, George Harvey says:

His theory of personal responsibility was unusual, to say the least, perhaps unique. He held the present corporate system faulty in this respect, that it too often deprives the real owners of control of their own properties and vests it in executives holding slight interests. Only those possessing large shares are in a position to protect the small investors. He regarded himself as in effect a trustee for hundreds of thousands and never for a moment did he relax his vigilance.

When occasionally rumors or remarks to the effect that there was never a man who kept so busy watching his money he would laugh pleasantly and say: "That is natural to think, of course. I certainly do keep busy. But I wonder why people fail to realize that it would not make a particle of difference to a man as rich as I am what became of these companies, whether they ever declared another dividend or not or even kept out of bankruptcy.

"Does it seem reasonable to suppose that I would leave this place (he was on the North Shore) and my golf and companions and keep jogging back and forth between here and New York simply to add to my fortune? Of course, anything I might say to the contrary would be misconstrued and I would not utter a word, nor permit anybody else to do so, but it happens that I must look after the interests of others not as well off as I am—and I get my great satisfaction out of doing it as well as I can."

And he kept the faith. I have no doubt that he would have lived 10 years longer if he had not. But he kept on to the last, a veritable engine, constantly going, always rushing, either in mind or body or both, and allowing practically no time at all for full relaxation.

Perhaps the most appealing tribute of Mr. Frick was his love for little children. It was as true as the steel with which his name is indissolubly associated and it was un-failing. If, moreover, at any moment proof were required of the sincerity of his feeling it appeared invariably in the instant acceptance and response which sprang from the unerring instinct of the little ones themselves. Surely no finer tribute to the character of a strong man could be desired or is conceivable.

To that just recognition I would add simply that despite the delight of his companionship recognized by all who knew him, not until he was gone did those who were closest to him realize how much they loved him.

His last words, spoken quietly after taking a glass of water, were, "I think now I can go to sleep."

When I read those words I could not but recall that majestically beautiful line from Tennyson:

"God's finger touched him and he slept."

CARNEGIE'S PHILOSOPHY

Wealth lessens rather than increases human happiness. Millionaires who laugh are rare.

To educate the people is the foundation of all true progress. They'll do the rest themselves.

I never was miserable. I don't see how any man can be, if he does what he feels to be right.

"To save and to serve, not to maim and destroy," that will be the text of the hero by and by.

There is no heritage like being born poor. The leaders and teachers of the nation came from the poor.

I would rather be a grandson to one who could teach me to make shoes than the descendant of thirty worthless dukes.

If you stand near a good thing, plunge well into it. Fear is old womanish; it has kept untold millions from making fortunes.

Poverty develops us. It makes us work our hardest. It brings out the best in us. But bravery must go hand in hand with adversity, else we are doomed.

"Didn't you shudder, Rastus, as you cut down those Germans, man after man?"

"Man after man? Yessuh, when that live man got after this man ah shuddah'd three miles!"

If we neglect to exercise any talent, power, or quality it soon falls away from us.—Henry Wood.

LIBRARY NOTES

New Books in Manchester Public Library

Any library book should provide pleasant entertainment, or convey useful information. If one can find a volume that does both he is fortunate. There are many books of biography, auto-biography and reminiscences that add to our knowledge and at the same time give us real enjoyment. I wish to call your attention to a few of these books.

"A Son of the Middle Border" is the title of a book that will well repay the time spent in reading it. We have read Hamlin Garland's stories and enjoyed them. In this little volume Mr. Garland tells us much about his life and at the same time gives us a vivid picture of the middle west.

"Luther Burbank, His Life and Work" should appeal to those interested in the development of new forms of plant life. In this book we are told of some of the wonderful things he has accomplished.

Brander Matthews in "These Many Years" relates many interesting experiences in the life of a prominent literary man. Mr. Matthews spent most of his life in New York. He is the author of many volumes of essays on literary subjects. He is one of the best American authorities on dramatic criticism. At the library may be found "John Fiske, Life and Letters" in two volumes, by John Spencer Clark. In reading these two volumes you will find out much about a well-known American philosopher and historian. He wrote much about the early history of this country. He was a great friend of the famous English philosopher, Herbert Spencer. He was a professor at Harvard. He was a firm believer in the doctrine of evolution. One of his diversions was piano playing. He became a proficient pianist and spent much of his spare time at the piano.

We have all enjoyed the novels of Richard Harding Davis, such as "Soldiers of Fortune," "The King's Jewel," "Ransom's Folly," "Captain Macklin," and "The Bar Sinister." He was a true American, and very proud of his country. In "Adventures and Letters of Richard Harding Davis" you will find true romance in real life.

"Reminiscences," by Lyman Abbott, is a very readable book. Though born in 1835, Dr. Abbott is still living. To the present generation he is probably best known as the editor of "The Outlook." He succeeded Henry Ward Beecher as pastor of Plymouth church, Brooklyn. His "Henry Ward Beecher" is one of the best of the biographies of the famous preacher. An idea of the variety of the reminiscences may be conveyed by the headings of some of the chapters: "New York City in 1850," "An American College in 1850," "A Mid-Western Parish During the Civil War," "Pastor and Preacher," "The New Journalism," and "Plymouth Church." During his busy life he has found time to write a number of volumes, some of which are "The Spirit of Democracy," "The Christian Ministry," "The Evolution of Christianity," and "The Theology of an Evolutionist."

We all should know more about the people who write our novels. Here is an opportunity to find out something about an American novelist by reading "Booth Tarkington." This short biographical sketch is written by Robert Cartes Holliday. Mr. Tarkington's "Gentleman from Indiana" brought him into prominence. This was followed by "Monsieur Beaucaire" and several other novels. His reputation has been much enhanced by his two boy stories, "Penrod" and "Seventeen."

Next week we hope to have some new books to tell you about.

—R. T. G.

Pa (roaring with rage): "Who told you to put that paper on the wall?"

Decorator: "Your wife, sir."

Pa (subsiding): "Pretty, isn't it?"

Character is in the long run the decisive factor in the life of individuals and of nations alike.—Theodore Roosevelt.

Creed

I believe in America because of her Ideals, worked out in institutions that are just.

She gives to everyone the right to rise;
To take a part in making equal laws;
To hold his neighbor equal to himself;
To speak the truth and to resent a lie;
To serve no man as master, but by toil to earn
The right to call himself a man.

I believe in the world mission of American Ideals. By them, expressed in terms of nations:

Right can be made to vanquish Force and Fraud;
Justice to reign, sustained by potent law;
The weaker states to live as live the strong.

I believe in America because she thinks in terms of justice, not of gain, and holds her noble heritage the RIGHT of all.

—R. M. McELROY.

Many Ways for Wasting Other Persons' Time

How much of other people's time do you waste in a day? There are plenty of ways of doing it. Not one that comes in contact with others but has a chance to waste their time. The clerk who takes forever to wrap up a package; the passenger who consumes half a minute in stepping aboard a street car; the street car conductor who opens the wrong door or who kills your 15 minutes of meditation by his whistling; the guest who is late or early—one is as inconsiderate as the other; the worker who quits 10 minutes too soon, so as to be ready for the street when the whistle blows; the employer who chooses a busy hour for one of those "conferences," which are usually a monolog spoken by himself; the clubwoman who defies all the parliamentarism in the world with her chatter; the traveler who holds up the line at the ticket window with a series of foolish inquiries; yourself, when others are waiting for you and you might easily have been ready—there is no end to the ways of waste, and nearly everyone is guilty of them.

This is no argument for a regardless haste. There are many tasks which cannot be done in haste. Deliberation and sound reflection are necessary in many of the biggest tasks which men and women have to do. But do try and be quick, live and decisive in the matters as to which such qualities may reasonably be expected.

You are not slow because you are clumsy or thick-headed. You are slow because you do not stop to think of other people's time and what it may be worth to them. Guide yourself by the other fellow's feelings and you can hardly go wrong. Be slow to annoy or affront him; but where you can aid him by your alacrity you have a chance to win a blessings.—Albany Knickerbocker Press.

"Yes," said the chairman sadly, "our temperance meeting last night would have been more successful if the lecturer hadn't been so absent-minded."

"What did he do?"

"He tried to blow some imaginary froth from a glass of water."

GRAND OFFICERS' VISITATION

Manchester Odd Fellows Have Gala Night, and Banquet

Though the elements were against them, Manchester Odd Fellows had a great night of it last night, when the Grand Master of Odd Fellowship in Massachusetts and members of his staff paid a fraternal visit to the lodge and witnessed the working of the Second Degree upon a class of eight candidates.

It was planned to have the evening start with a banquet in Town hall, at 6 o'clock, with Schlehuber, of Lynn, catering. The bad storm and the condition of the roads interfered somewhat with this, however, as the caterer's heavy truck bearing the food became stalled in the road at Pride's Crossing, and it was necessary to send a pung over the road to bring the food on to Manchester.

This caused a change in plans, and the banquet was not served until 9.15, after the work of the evening has been completed.

The grand officers present were: George L. Dolloff, West Somerville, grand master; Waldo S. Ford, Somerville, grand marshal; Arthur L. Derbyshire, Waltham, grand conductor; Arthur F. Douglass, Chelsea, grand guardian; Fred A. Sweet, West Somerville, grand herald.

All the grand officers spoke highly of the excellent work of the degree staff, of which Past Grand John L. Prest is master. Allen S. Dennis is the present noble grand of the lodge, and he presided at the brief after-dinner ceremonies, when the grand master and grand marshal made short, but appealing addresses to the 150 members present.

Long's orchestra played during the dinner, and there were enough of the Manchester club minstrels in the gathering to give zest to the singing of the songs made popular at the show last week.

The menu consisted of: Consomme, escalloped oysters, baked chicken pie, mashed potatoes, banana fritters, rolls, ice cream—harlequin, caramel and macaroon, orange milk sherbet, raspberry bombs, assorted fancy cake, coffee and cigars.

Mrs. J. W. Cawthorne has been substituting at Lewandos' Salem office.

MANCHESTER

It is reported that a fish store will open in the Kimball block, Union st., where the Co-operative store was formerly located.

At the probate court at Salem this week the will of Benjamin H. Corliss, late of Manchester, was proved, no executor qualifying as yet.

Several Manchester men are in the party from this vicinity making the trip to Montreal over the week end and holiday, to enjoy the winter sports.

The members of the Arbella club are reminded of the club meeting to be held Tuesday, Feb. 24, at the Food Centre, at 4 o'clock. The talk will be on "Salesmanship."

Principal J. O. Matthews, of Story High school, will act as one of the judges at a joint debate to be held between representatives of the Everett, Salem and Malden High schools at the Salem High school this evening (Friday).

George Chane, the nine-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Daniel T. Chane, was taken to the Mass. Eye and Ear Infirmary, Boston, Wednesday, where it was found he was suffering from an ear affliction which will require an operation at an early date.

The many friends of John Davis, of Salem, who comes to Manchester as representative of Cobb, Bates & Yerxa Co., regret to learn of his severe illness. Late yesterday he was reported in a serious condition, with typhoid pneumonia, when the Breeze man inquired for him at Salem.

Henry F. Bohaker has received his diploma from the Bryant and Stratton school, Boston, having been graduated from the commercial course. Mr. Bohaker has accepted a desirable position with the International Steel Casement Co., at 49 Federal st., Boston.

Miss Florence McDonald, of Manchester, acted as bridesmaid Wednesday, at the wedding in Boston of Miss Katherine Stewart and Joseph M. Reed, of Pigeon Cove. Mr. Reed is 74, a Civil War veteran; his bride is 38. The wedding was performed by Rev. Ralph W. George, of Boston University School of Theology.

OBITUARY

Albert Edgecomb

Albert, the third son of Daniel Edgecomb, of Forest st., Manchester, passed away Sunday afternoon, after a short illness with pneumonia. He had been ill only 10 days, and for only five days had he been confined to his bed.

The young man was a native of Newfoundland, but had lived in Manchester more than 27 years. He was engaged in business with his father,—as contractors and construction workers; they were also engaged in the ice business.

Two older brothers survive—Walter of Detroit, Mich., who came on for the funeral; and Mark, who has been in Montana, and who was in Manchester at the time. A younger brother, John, attends school. There are three sisters—Agnes, wife of Leone Bailey, of Manchester; Annie, wife of Robert Lundergan, of Roxbury, and Ethel, who lives at home.

Funeral services were held Wednesday at Crowell Memorial chapel, the Rev. F. W. Manning, of the Congl. church, officiating.

Mr. Edgecomb was a member of Conomo tribe, 113, I. O. R. M. His age was 31 years, 4 months.

Mrs. Mary H. Sullivan

Mrs. Mary (Holmes) Sullivan, wife of Chief of Police William H. Sullivan, of Manchester, passed away Wednesday noon at her home on Bridge st. She had been ill for over two years. A year ago she was operated upon at the Peter Bent Brigham hospital, Boston, from the effects of which she had never fully recovered.

She was 34 years of age and had lived in Manchester a number of years. She was married six years ago. Mrs. Sullivan was a native of

CARD OF THANKS

The undersigned desire to express our sincere thanks for the many expressions of sympathy and many kindnesses in the loss of our dear son; and we especially thank the members of the American Legion for their kindness at the funeral and for the many ways in which they helped us.

Grand River, N. S., where a father and mother survive her. She is also survived by three sisters and four brothers.

Funeral services will be held Saturday afternoon from her late home. Rev. F. W. Manning will officiate. Funeral private. Interment will be in Rosedale cemetery.

The sympathy of a host of friends go out to Mr. Sullivan in his great bereavement. He has been a constant attendant at Mrs. Sullivan's bedside for the last two or three months, and has done everything humanly possible for her comfort.

Bert MacDonald

The sudden death of Bert MacDonald, only son of Mr. and Mrs. Stewart MacDonald, of Manchester, as reported in last week's Breeze, was a severe shock to his many friends here.

of age, had a position with the Boston Gas Co., of West st., Boston.

The young man did not feel well Thursday, being bothered with a cold, and he did not go to work that day. Early Friday a little boy at the rooming house went to his room, to see how he was feeling, and was alarmed to find Mr. MacDonald dead. A doctor was called immediately, and the body was rushed to City hospital. The cause of death was given as gas poisoning.

Funeral services were held Sunday at Crowell Memorial chapel. The American Legion furnished pallbearers, and taps were sounded in military style by Henry Henneberry, an overseas bugler.

Odd Fellows Lead in Pitch Tournament

With the pitch tournament of the four Manchester orders fast drawing to a close, the Odd Fellows' team holds the lead by a narrow margin of two points, and with the other organizations coming strong.

Only three more nights of play remain before the finish of the match. Last Monday evening's play resulted as follows: Odd Fellows, 14, total score 94; Red Men, 10, total score 92; S. of V., 18, total score 88; Legion, 18, total score 86.

MOTHER NEVER STRIKES

The trolley men went on a strike,
 The waiters followed suit;
 The housemaids' union wants more pay,
 And six nights out to boot.
 The janitors have quit and left
 Us for ourselves to shirk,
 The railroad brotherhoods walk out,
 And make us hike to work.
 The painters drop the brush and pot
 Demanding wages high.
 The miners leave the coal unmined,
 "More money," is their cry.
 The plumbers will not mend the pipes,
 Increase of wealth they claim,
 But mother never strikes—she keeps
 On working just the same.

A PLEA FOR THE SHEEP

We oft hear the plea of trying to keep
The lambs of the flock in the fold,
And well we may, but what of the sheep?
Shall they be left out in the cold?

'Twas a sheep, not a lamb, that went stray
In the parable Jesus told.
A grown-up sheep that had wandered away
From the ninety and nine in the fold.

Out in the wilderness, out in the cold,
'Twas a sheep the Good Shepherd sought,
And back to the flock, safe in the fold,
'Twas a sheep the Good Shepherd brought.

And why for the sheep do we earnestly long,
And earnestly watch and pray?

Because there is danger if they go wrong
They will lead the lambs astray.

For the lambs will follow the sheep, you know.

Wherever the sheep will stray;
If the sheep go wrong, it will not be long Till the lambs are as wrong as they.

And so for the sheep we earnestly plead,
For the sake of the lambs today;
If the lambs are lost, what a terrible cost
Some sheep will have to pay.

PARENT-TEACHER MEETING

Mrs. Curtis, of Gloucester, Speaks at Manchester on Child Development

"A mother should give her child the same watchful attention and systematic training that is given the flowers of a hothouse by the careful florist," said Mrs. Ernest Curtis, of Gloucester, in her talk on "The Development of the Child," given before the members of the Manchester Parent-Teacher association, Wednesday evening.

"See that your child gets plenty of sleep and play. Lots of well-cooked, reasonably digestible food. Sleep, exercise and food are the fundamentals of the proper bringing up of the child," she continued.

Mrs. Curtis' subject was one of universal interest, and she held the attention of her audience until the end. She told of her work in Gloucester, where she is president of the Federation of Parent-Teacher associations, and of the great progress they had made in the health education of the children. Mrs. Curtis also touched on the benefits the school children would derive from the new health education bill.

Mrs. Blatchford, also of Gloucester, explained the new health education bill more fully, however, and she said the bill would be brought up for consideration at the State House in Boston at 10 o'clock, Thursday morning.

A group of songs were sung by Mrs. Raymond C. Allen, accompanied on the piano by Miss Adele Howe.

The president, Mrs. Frank L. Floyd, announced that there will be a lecture in the Town hall, Tuesday, March 2, at 8 o'clock. Mrs. Ruth Reed, assistant state leader of the extension service of the state department of agriculture, Amherst, will give a talk on "Clothing Efficiency."

A motion was passed to appropriate ten dollars for National Child Welfare work.

Mrs. D. T. Beaton was chairman of the meeting Wednesday evening. The meeting was held in the Price school hall, and was followed by the usual social hour.

Walter, the youngest son of Peter Diamond, Forest st., who has just recovered from a slight attack of influenza, met with a painful accident while chopping wood Wednesday afternoon. The axe slipped and made a cut in the boy's leg that required about 18 stitches to close the wound.

The regular meeting of the Friendship circle will be held Tuesday evening, Feb. 24, instead of Monday evening. A pleasant evening's enjoyment is expected, as the members will join in having a "Washington Party."

Manchester Club Minstrel Show Best Ever

Everybody in Manchester is still talking about the Manchester club minstrel show given on Thursday and Friday evenings of last week. The general opinion seems to be that the show was ahead of any ever given by the club; that it was a good clean show throughout; that the jokes and hits were not the least objectionable, and that the songs were selected with an eye and taste for up-to-date-ness,—which is another method of patting Dr. Frank A. Willis on the back for the splendid manner in which he brought the shows to a successful conclusion.

Last week's Breeze contained a full write-up of the show, as it appeared on Thursday evening. Friday night's performance was just as successful as the first night.

One number not on the printed program, but which was one of the most popular of the evening, was the presentation to Dr. Willis, on behalf of those taking part, of a beautiful Masonic charm. The presentation was made by the interlocutor, just before the closing number, Dr. Willis being invited to step upon the stage for the presentation,

A silver trophy will be awarded to the school entering the winning student, and to the student will be given a gold medal. The second prize is to be a silver medal, and the third prize a bronze medal. There will also be seven bronze medals awarded to those next in rank.

The Story High school plans to enter a team of two members. The two pupils chosen to represent the school will be those having the highest standing in first year typewriting.

Of course, we should feel very proud were a member of our High school to bring back the title of "New England School Champion."

"Patty Makes Things Hum"

The Senior class of Story High school announce that their play, "Patty Makes Things Hum," will be presented again in the Manchester Town hall, Friday evening, Feb. 27. Those who have reserved seat tickets which they could not use at the time of the last performance, may exchange them for new ones now on sale at Allen's Drug store.

MANCHESTER WOMAN'S CLUB

"With an Irishman in Africa" Subject of Entertaining Talk

"With an Irishman in Africa," last Wednesday afternoon, proved to be a very interesting, though rather "shuddery," hour spent in the heart of Africa. With a wit and humor, such as only a true Irishman possesses, Dr. Gabriel Maguire, of the Ruggles st. Baptist church, Boston, described his experiences there.

Forgotten was the fact that one was seated safely in the Congl. chapel; that this was merely a talk given before the Manchester Woman's club; and that the dark figures moving about were but the fabric of imagination—so vivid were the scenes depicted by Dr. Maguire.

First, one saw the caravan of the white man, with its procession of black guides; its leader far in advance, singing the song which meant that all was well, and that the caravan might move steadily onward. Suddenly his song ceased! A cry of warning was given! There was danger just ahead! An elephant, perhaps. In that case one's rifle would blaze away, and if one were lucky—or rather should it be laid to one's marksmanship—another elephant would be added to one's credit—or charge, for now one man is allowed to kill only four elephants during the year. The members of the little procession would forthwith feel very happy, for was there not a certainty of fresh elephant meat to accompany the monotonous bananas and beans?

There are no coins in Africa. If you gave one of the natives a dollar bill, he would probably coolly light his pipe with it, if he had one. If it were a silver piece, he would punch a hole in it, place a string through the hole, and wear the coin about his neck. In many instances his only adornment would be your silver coin dangling from his neck.

Brass Tack Buys Much Food

In Africa one can get enough food to last many days, in exchange for one brass tack (the kind the boys use in school). Apparently profiteering is a trait of civilization. Real estate in Africa is anything but high priced. In exchange for a house and ten acres of land, Dr. Maguire gave two knives worth but a few cents in American money.

Upon his first arrival in the little settlement where this house was located, however, Dr. Maguire was obliged to go through a great deal of red tape, in order that he might be received as a "brother" by the natives. They scattered to their huts, and returned armed with knives. The women had the double-edged weapon, as is usual, though in this case the "weapon" happened to be a knife, instead of the more common double-edged instrument used by the women of today; the men with larger, more pointed weapons.

Far in the distance there sounded a gong, which seemed to be drawing nearer. Dr. Maguire asked his interpreter what the fuss was about, and he was told to sit down quickly, tailor fashion, being careful to cross the left foot over the right—which meant "peace." Had he sat down with both feet out straight it would have been the high sign that he was declaring war. "Needless to say," said the doctor, "I sat down without loss of time." His attention was again drawn to the gong, which was now alarmingly near, and upon inquiry once more, he found that the chief—or prince—was approaching. A small mat was placed on the ground for the chief to sit upon. (Dr. Maguire exhibited a mat, made from the bark of certain grasses, which had been used for this purpose.) With the natives lined on either side, the women on one side and the men on the other, this august and rather terrifying (and not too clean) personage sat in state. After a few preliminary ceremonies, Dr. Maguire was invited to eat from the "peace dish."

Rats and Beans a la Africa

This dish consisted of beans, and nicely cooked and rather odorous rats! "Truly, I thought I had never been in such a mess, and was inclined to blame my head man for my predicament," said the Doctor. It was a case of eating a rat to save his life! He advanced rather gingerly and sat down before the "dish." A single spoon reposed in the dish. The chief took the spoon, and having taken a spoonful of the palatable concoction to show that there was no "poison" in the food, passed the spoon to the Doctor. Not only was he expected to eat rats, but he was also expected to use that spoon after the creature had had it in his mouth!

How far would they carry this grim joke?—if it could be called a joke. The Doctor took the spoon, and placing two or three beans in his mouth—promptly returned the spoon with a sigh of relief. But that was not all, apparently. The chief dug the spoon into the head of one of the rats (the rats were not "dressed," by the way) and with a grunt of satisfaction swallowed the spoonful of the horrible mixture, then solemnly handed the spoon back to the Doctor, inviting him to do the same. Here the Doctor balked, and he protested to his interpreter that he would be ill if he should eat that stuff—he had assured them that he came in peace—there was no evil in his heart; but he could not eat a rat to prove it. Strange to say his protest was accepted, and he was allowed to drink wine in a bamboo cup (which the Doctor also exhibited), instead. He was now accepted as a "brother," and was allowed to go on his way.

Many and varied were the experiences of Doctor Maguire in that savage land. "You can travel from one end of Africa to the other," he said, "all through it in fact, without fear of being harmed by the natives."

"By using a little common sense, conforming to their customs and habits, there is no fear of harm even to a hair of your head, as far as the natives are concerned. Another thing: If anyone tells you that elephants are dangerous, ferocious beasts, don't you believe it. The first time I saw a number of elephants together I was affected by what is known in Ireland as 'a weakness in the knees.' I shouted to the men that we were in danger, but they gave a peculiar call and the elephants ran from us. That cured me. I have never been affected by that particular disease since that time."

No Bachelors in Africa

In speaking of marriage Dr. Maguire said that every man must have a wife. If a man is disinclined to select a wife, one is selected for him. There are no bachelors. At the marriage ceremony a large, heavy ring is given the bride, as a token that as that ring is endless, so must her obedience to her husband be endless. A large stick, or cane, is given the man with the admonition that should his wife not obey him, or should she not cook his meals to his taste, or in fact, should she prove anything but a model and perfect wife, he must beat her with this cane—remembering always that he must never use it unless he brings the blood.

"The poor women of Africa," he said, "I have seen them beaten until the blood poured down their bodies! They walked with a shuffling step, their eyes on the ground. Today that is changed. The women walk with a firm step, their heads held high. They are Christians now, and they go to church. Over their naked bodies is thrown a loin cloth, as a substitute for clothing. The natives have built churches which they studiously and devotedly attend."

Dr. Maguire exhibited a few of his large collection of snake skins, the wooden gods of the natives, and the native dress. The latter, however, occupied very little space. It consisted for the most part of a belt and a cap, or perhaps, only the cap.

The Business Meeting

Reports of the Federation meeting, held at Revere on Wednesday of the previous week, were read by Mrs. Seddie Follett and Mrs. John Baker, who attended the meeting as delegates from the club.

The president, Miss Annie Lane, announced that at the next meeting of the club the speaker will be Brigadier Sheppard, of the Salvation Army. A donation will be made to assist the Salvation Army in their work.

Miss Lane also announced that the bread sale, which was postponed because of the illness of the chairman, Mrs. Edith Roberts, will be held at the next meeting.

Children's day will be held tomorrow (Saturday) at 3 o'clock. Pe-Ahm-E-Squeet will give a talk on the life of the little Indians. The children of members of the club will pay no admission fee and may bring one guest with them. To the other children there will be the usual admission fee of 25 cents. All children between five and 16 years are invited to attend. Mrs. Wm. Hooper will be hostess.

The meeting was followed by the usual social hour, with Mrs. Bessie K. Needham as hostess.

Copley Theatre, Boston

"Hobson's Choice," by Harold Brighouse, will be the next play to be produced by Henry Jewett's Repertory Company at the Copley theatre next Monday, and as Washington's Birthday is to be observed on that day there will be a special matinee. "Hobson's Choice" is a comedy of English provincial life and when it was produced in Boston four years ago it met with great success.

Mr. Brighouse, the author, has written a number of excellent plays, several of which have been given by Mr. Jewett's company at the Copley.

ber this player as the portrayer of German officer parts in many big pictures during the war, including "Hearts of the World."

Coming Monday is "The Great Air Robbery," featuring Lieut. Locklear, the well-known dare-devil army aviator, whose exploits in the air have made people gasp. His wonderful feat of leaping from a moving plane to another directly below him held people spellbound as they witnessed the feat in a news weekly a few weeks ago. The stunts he pulls off in his new film are equally as thrilling. Next Thursday one of Richard Harding Davis' stories, "Soldiers of Fortune," which has been filmed on a pretentious scale, comes to the Federal for three days.

Winning Distinction

"Our dear old friend, the colonel, acquired three medals during the war, I observe. For what reasons were they awarded?"

"Well, as near as I can make out, the third was given him because he had two, the second because he had one, and the first because he had none."—New York Evening Post.

If your whole thought is to do in the best possible way the work you start out to do, and you find it interesting, then every other question will solve itself—including that of the money return.—Vauclain.

MAGNOLIA

Arthur Lycett, the father of the late Fred S. Lycett, returned to Nova Scotia today.

William McLean is now carrying the mail to and from the Magnolia station on a sled.

Mrs. Bruce Chapman is spending a few days with her sister, Mrs. D. C. Ballou, and family.

Albert West is carrying our High school pupils to and from Gloucester with his horses and pung. This arrangement is to continue until the deep snow disappears.

Among those who attended the funeral of the late Fred S. Lycett was Rev. Markham W. Stackpole, of Andover, a former pastor of the Union Congl. church of this village.

A. B. B. McKillop, of Regina, Sask., Canada, is with his cousin, Mrs. Thomas Harvey, Blynman Farm, for a visit, after treatment at the Mayo Bros. hospital in Minnesota. He will be here and with his sister, Mrs. Whitehouse, in Dedham, for two months.

Since the death of Fred S. Lycett and during his illness John Lycett has had charge of the local postoffice and he has given great satisfaction to its patrons. Naturally enough people, who have their mail come to Magnolia, are already speculating as to who will be appointed to take the place of the late Mr. Lycett as chief clerk of this postoffice. Who could better fill the place than John Lycett—a Magnolia young man, bright, resourceful, tactful, always agreeable, willing and accommodating, well-liked by all who know him; a gentleman at all times and everywhere.

Funeral of Fred S. Lycett

The funeral service of Fred S. Lycett was held at 2 o'clock last Saturday afternoon in the Union Congl. church, being conducted by the pastor, Rev. Walter S. Eaton, and members of Bethlehem Commandery, K. T., of Gloucester. There was a large attendance and a wealth of flowers that spoke eloquently, if silently, of the high esteem and love in which the late Mr. Lycett was held. The interment was in the Magnolia cemetery, where prayer was offered by Rev. Markham W. Stackpole, of Andover, a former pastor of the Union Congl. church, of Magnolia. The address at the church was delivered by the pastor, Rev. W. S. Eaton, whose remarks are printed in another column.

In Eulogy of Fred S. Lycett

Remarks made by Rev. W. S. Eaton at Funeral of Magnolia Young Man

HOW true it is that,

"Life is short, and time is fleeting,
And our hearts, though strong and brave,
Still like muffled drums are beating
Funeral marches to the grave."

Thirty-five years! That is a short time to live!

That was the age of Mozart, one of the greatest musical composers the world has ever known, at the time of his death. Raphael, the great artist, Robertson, of Brighton, one of England's greatest preachers, and Robert Burns, the people's poet, of Scotland—each died at the early age of 37 years.

The late Fred S. Lycett was a young man. Seemingly he had many years of usefulness before him. His life's work had hardly begun before he was suddenly called to another and a better world than this.

Herein lies the cause of our grief and sorrow today. This is why the very atmosphere of our village is filled with gloom. This is why not only his loved-ones and kindred, but also his neighbors and friends, find it hard to keep back the tears. This is why we have all put on the garments of mourning.

Yes, it is but a step from the cradle to the grave, from earth to heaven, from the bondage of the flesh to the perfect freedom of the spirit, from the scenes of sorrow and suffering to the joys and delights of the New Jerusalem, that City of God, not made with hands, eternal in the heavens.

If I could consult with Fred S. Lycett just now, I wonder what he would be willing that I should say of him on this sad occasion? If out of that mysterious but real world of the spirit he should now make his will known to me, I wonder what it would be?

But while he may not speak his will to me this hour, yet he may not be far away and conscious, perhaps,—who knows?—of what I may say or do; and because of this, my respect for his memory and my thought of what might be his wish, if for no other reason, no one could tempt me to speak other than the truth. For having known the late Mr. Lycett for more than eight years, having had many a profitable and delightful talk with him when he was alone in the local postoffice, as well as on other occasions, I know very well his abhorrence for untruthfulness, shams of all sorts and humbugs.

If I can say nothing this afternoon that can comfort sorrowing hearts, surely I will not purposely offend either the dead, whose ears may be quicker to hear than ours, or the living, to whom surely at this time at least I would be a comfort and a help.

What better can I do than to speak very briefly of some of the impressions that the late Mr. Lycett has made upon me during the years of our acquaintance. We know that as we go through this life each individual makes his own impression upon others, no two of whom are impressed alike. The impression, moreover, that one makes upon another often changes as time goes on. There are not many people who have a genius for revealing to others the finer qualities of their inner natures and all that is really noblest and best in them.

The real worth and splendid qualities of some people are not always quickly seen even by those who live with them on the most friendly and intimate terms.

Few people will reveal even to those they love the best, all the secrets of their hearts and all of those finer qualities that make for noble life and character.

Hence it is little wonder that I am ignorant of many of the late Fred S. Lycett's virtues that are known, especially to his widow and his father, today. But I do know that Mr. Lycett had many noble traits of character and many virtues that are worthy of emulation.

As a citizen he was held in high esteem, being loyal always to this village in which he was born and where he lived his life; standing firm for all that was wise and best for this community; taking an interest in national and civic questions that mean either weal or woe, and showing his patriotism during the World War in every way within his power.

As a government employee he was efficient, tactful, obliging, always pleasant and agreeable, even under circumstances that would try the patience of a Job. He was never quarrelsome. He was a lover of peace. It was his policy to return good for evil. He believed that it costs more to avenge wrongs than to suffer them. As a public servant he had no favorites. "First come, first served" was his invariable rule. He was as courteous and accommodating to a child as he was to the wealthiest person with whom he had any dealings at the local postoffice.

As a neighbor he was ever thoughtful and obliging. He was always one of the very first to respond with his service as well as his money to any case of sickness or need in this community. His good deeds he did not shout from the house-tops, but they have doubtless been recorded by the angels of God in the Book of Life, and they are known to some of us who today mourn his loss.

As a friend he was loyal and true. By his genial manner, his cordial greetings, his interest in others, and his generous acts without ostentation, he won not only the respect, but also the deep affection of some at least in this community who mourn him as a brother. Since his going away I have seen tears chasing each other down the cheeks of strong men who have been his neighbors for years and have known him since he was a little boy.

As a son, husband, father, nephew and cousin, those who have the best right to speak at this time find little to criticize and much to praise.

This large audience, which doubtless would have been much larger if we had not been so shut in by the deep snow and almost impassable roads, is a silent and eloquent witness to the love and esteem in which the late Fred S. Lycett was held, and we truly honor ourselves by paying our tribute of respect to his memory, which will not soon fade away.

And now what is our comfort? The memory of a life, though short, yet well-spent; the hope of meeting loved ones in a better world than this; the faith that the Judge of all the earth does right; and the Christian's belief in the eternal justice and righteousness of Him whom we delight to call Father.

What can comfort the father of this noble young man whom he will miss more and more as time goes on? The knowledge that he never disgraced the name he bore; that he was respected and greatly beloved by those who knew him best; and the belief that the blessed fellowship enjoyed here for three decades and more between father and son will be renewed some day and continued forever.

And to the one with whom he lived in sweet and blessed companionship for more than a decade, the one who was his joy and delight from the days of his childhood until he passed beyond the shadows of earth and into the glorious sunshine of the Kingdom of Heaven, may these God-inspired lines of our good and gifted Longfellow be a comfort and a consolation:

"For life to me is as a station
Where in a port a traveler stands,
One absent long from home and nation,
In other lands.

"And I, as he who stands and listens
Amid the twilight's chill and gloom,
To hear approaching in the distance,
The train for home.

"For death shall bring another mating
Beyond the shadows of the tomb;
On yonder shore a groom is waiting Until I come."

Miss Margaret Hersey is taking a business course at the Salem Commercial school.

Preston W. R. corps is planning to hold a public supper the early part of March, in G. A. R. hall.

Mr. and Mrs. Samuel L. Evans, of Pittsfield, have spent the past week at Beverly Farms visiting friends.

Mrs. Helen Doherty, assistant at the Beverly Farms postoffice, has been ill at her home the past week.

A whist party for ladies will be held next Wednesday afternoon from 3 to 5 at the home of Mrs. Annis Larcom, West st. This is another W. R. C. event.

During Lent there will be services at St. Margaret's church on Tuesday and Friday evenings at 8 o'clock. On each Tuesday evening a sermon will be delivered by different visiting priests.

Relatives and friends on Tuesday morning last attended a high mass of requiem at St. Margaret's church for the repose of the soul of Private Francis J. Kelleher, a Beverly Farms boy, a member of Battery F, 101st Field Artillery, who died in France.

Mrs. George F. Wood, Hart st., is reported to be improving. She has been confined to her home with illness for several weeks.

The Campbell Harness and Supply store, which has been located at the Day building on Oak st., has removed to Abbott st., Beverly.

After a service of 31 years in the U. S. army, Sergeant Edward Martin has been retired to the inactive list. He is now enjoying the life of a civilian with his family at his home on Hart st.

M. J. Cadigan, caretaker at the George H. Lyman estate at Beverly Farms, reported to the police Monday that the house was broken into. Patrolman C. L. Williams investigated and reported that entrance was made by breaking into the back door and turning the lock. So far as is known nothing is missing.

The lecture given by the Beverly Farms branch of the Improvement society in the library assembly hall last Monday evening was largely attended. Miss Amy Woods spoke on the question of censoring the movies, and her talk was most interesting. After the lecture a social hour was spent and refreshments were served.

Mrs. Alice L. Preston, who has been ill at her home on Hart st., is reported to be improving.

Mrs. John Dwyer, Haskell st., has been reported to have been seriously ill at her home the past week.

Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Sullivan, of Newark, N. J., have been among the visitors at Beverly Farms the past week.

Mrs. Lucy Martin, Hart st., has been among those who have been ill the past week. She is reported to be improving.

Mr. and Mrs. Daniel W. Barnes, of Lewiston, Me., have spent the past week at Beverly Farms, the guests of friends.

The usual public whist part in aid of the American Legion flag fund will be held in G. A. R. hall next Monday evening.

Thomas Rourke, Jr., has concluded his services at the Beverly Farms branch bank and has accepted a position as traveling salesman for a Boston concern. Mr. Rourke's successor at the bank is a Beverly young man.

M. J. Cadigan post, A. L., has now a membership of 79 Beverly Farms boys, and there are still some more who are eligible. The post holds its regular meetings on Friday evenings at the Beverly Farms library assembly hall. Plans are being formulated for numerous social events. A committee is investigating the possibilities of securing some place to be utilized for a permanent home.

Last Friday evening the Girls' club of the Beverly Farms Baptist church met at the home of Miss Alice Chapman, Webster ave., when a miscellaneous shower was given to Miss Mollie Davis, who is to be a spring bride. There was an assortment of useful and pretty gifts that Miss Davis will find most useful and needed in the future. The evening was most happily spent. Refreshments were served.

Snow piled high and ice has made travel at Beverly Farms the past week a hardship. It is doubtful if ever anything like the conditions the past week were ever seen here before. Automobile travel has practically ceased and the horse and sleigh has come into his own. Those who have employment out of town have found more or less difficulty in getting to their work. The lack of freight transportation has also had the effect of keeping the food supply in the local stores at a minimum.

Mrs. Sarah E. Crowell

Mrs. Sarah E., widow of the late Andrew J. Crowell, of Beverly Farms, aged 83, passed away at the Beverly hospital last Monday night, where she had been under treatment for some time, after recovering from injuries incident to a broken hip sustained a year ago. She had another fall about six weeks ago and broke her arm. Complications set in and she gradually grew weaker.

Born in Beverly, Mrs. Crowell had always lived here. She was one of Beverly Farms' most respected residents. A member of the Beverly Farms Baptist church, she was intensely interested in its work and the work of its kindred organizations.

She was a charter member of Preston W. R. corps and was its first secretary. Her late husband, being a Civil War veteran, was an incentive for her to give her best aid and interest to the doings of the Corps, and she was always one of its valued and active members. Her kindly ways and many charitable acts made her much beloved.

Mrs. Crowell is survived by a daughter, Mrs. Joseph G. Davis, and two grandchildren.

Funeral services were held this morning (Friday) at the Beverly Farms Baptist church. Rev. Clarence Strong Pond officiating. The W. R. C. attended in a body, and the ritual service of the order was held. Interment was in the Beverly Farms cemetery.

Patriotic Meeting at School Hall
This Evening

All arrangements have been completed for the patriotic meeting to be held this evening (Friday) in the Beverly Farms school assembly hall. Two good speakers, Secretary of the Commonwealth A. P. Langtry, and Wm. H. McSweeney, of Salem, will give addresses. Beverly Farms people should show they appreciate the efforts of the patriotic organizations, under whose auspices the affair is being held, by attending this meeting and therefore showing

Special Ruling on Reinstatement of War Risk Insurance

Under a new and very liberal ruling of far-reaching importance to millions of former service men, issued by Director R. G. Cholmeley-Jones, of the Bureau of War Risk Insurance, with the approval of Secretary of the Treasury Carter Glass, War Risk (term) Insurance, regardless of how long it may have been lapsed or canceled, and regardless of how long the former service man may have been discharged, may be reinstated any time before July 1, 1920.

The only conditions are:

1. Two monthly premiums on the amount of insurance to be reinstated must accompany the application.

2. The applicant must be in as good health as at the date of discharge, or at the expiration of the grace period, whichever is the later date, and so state in the application.

TO MERIT SUCCESS

HARD WORK AND DILIGENCE ARE NECESSARY TO WIN

The diligent man, according to the Book of Books, earns and wins success while the slothful or indolent and indifferent man gets to himself poverty, and that is his rightful deserts.

No man has a right to success except through hard work and diligence, and no man can attain success in any other way. Some men may inherit a fortune, some may have a fortune thrust upon them by accident, but in neither case is there any success.

Through the sweat of his brow, perhaps the sweat of brain or perhaps of body, and perchance of both, man can merit success, and in no other way.

No man ever attained success in science or art or medicine or law or business or mechanics or farming by struggling to lessen his hours of labor.

Longs for 48-Hour Day

Every man who has ever succeeded has longed for more hours in which to work; his one cry has been, "Would that every day has forty-eight hours in it!" He sees limitless fields of work before him, and he longs with unvoiceable longing for more hours and more power for work. To him, one of the chief charms of Heaven is the hope that his power to work will be broadened and his hours of work know no end. Eternity is not too long for him as he thinks of the glories of brain and soul expansion under the quickening power work, and more work.

To such a man work is one of Heaven's supremest blessings. Whether he is painting a great picture, building a vast factory or shoeing a horse, or driving a nail, or running a plow, he feels the divine thrill of creative work. Limit his hours of work, tie him down to the deadening monotony, the soul-killing influence of the doctrine of less work and less output, and earth would soon to him be a present hell!

An old sawmaker who had made the saw which took a World's Fair prize, in describing his work on it, said: "I worked on it until I could feel my very life going into it." That is the way the diligent man works. Into his work he puts his very life, and he feels the thrill of that kind of achievement.

Slothful Man Watches Clock

On the other hand, the slothful man never works with energy or enthusiasm. He wastes time, he ever watches the clock, he has no interest in nor enthusiasm for his work. His whole aim is to get the most money for the least effort. PAPER SAVINGSUGGESTIONS OFFERED TO RELIEVE THE SHORTAGE

"How to save paper" is the question before many publishers today. With the demand exceeding the supply the problem has become a serious one. Senator Nelson, of Minnesota, comes to the rescue with the proposition that the newspapers eliminate altogether the pages now devoted to sport.

This idea might be continued by suggesting that the newspapers and magazines eliminate the pages devoted to advertisements. Why not, also, eliminate the columns devoted to reporting activities of clubs and fraternities, conventions, entertainments, banquets, etc? If a real big saving of paper is needed why not entirely omit the reports of what the Senate is doing?

Advertising Is Essential

In order that newspapers and magazines may be supplied at a moderate price to the millions of readers everywhere, it is essential that advertisements be included. It is probably a fact that many people purchase a paper, not alone for the news it contains, but because of the advertisements. Advertising has reached such a high plane of development today that it influences the spending of millions of dollars.

An enormous saving of paper would be made if the Congressional Record was no longer printed. Speeches never delivered are printed,—and never read. We wonder how many people there are who read the sporting pages of the papers and also read the Congressional Record? Can the Record be regarded as a necessity? If not, it should be discontinued immediately.

Sports Are News

The Indianapolis News recently contained the following article along this line:

"Senator Nelson, of Minnesota suggests that the newspapers could save a great deal of paper if they would eliminate altogether the pages now devoted to sport. Undoubtedly they could, and some of them might well reduce the amount of space devoted to this department. But sports are news, and news of abounding interest to many people. Life is not all politics, religion, fashion, science, literature, etc. The interest in the great yacht race next summer will be international. The press associations will carry the fullest accounts of the fight between Carpentier and Dempsey; they will do it because there will be a legitimate demand for them. Football, basketball, golf, tennis and baseball all make demands that cannot be ignored by papers that would serve their constituency.

What Do the People Want?

"The Senator is demanding the elimination of sporting news, and assumes that because he is not interested in it no one else is. The loss would not be felt by him. The problem, considered from the newspaper point of view, is not so simple. Nor is it simply a question of 'giving people what they want,' but of printing the news. There are many people who will follow with great interest the fortunes of their local ball club during the coming season. Unfortunately there are some people who read little else but the sporting page of their paper. These would gladly consent to the suppression of all

Congressional news, but that would not please the Minnesota Senator.

Baseball Score vs. Senate Score

"At the bulletin boards the baseball score commands a great deal more attention than the Senate score and who shall say, considering the number of people interested, the number that it affects directly and indirectly and considering the comparative achievements of the two activities, it is not equally important? There were no doubt sports before there were Senates and there probably will be sports after Senates have passed. The Senator may present a more impressive front, but sports represent more efficiency. The man who does not equal expectations in sports is released and disappears; a Senator is elected for six years and cannot be released and sometimes the most inefficient of them are re-elected."

Increased Wages Took 97 p.c. of Increased Rates

Increases in freight and passenger rates made during Federal control amounted to $1,835,000,000 when applied to the traffic moved up to July 31, 1919, while the increases in wages applied to the number of employees and the hours or days worked in July, 1919, amounted to $1,774,800,000, or 97 percent of the revenue from the increased rates, according to a statement compiled by the Interstate Commerce Commission at the request of Senator E. D. Smith, of South Carolina, and presented by him in the Senate on Dec. 29.

A father in America, fearing an earthquake in the region of his home, sent his two boys to distant friends until the peril should be over. A few weeks after the father received the following brief note from his friend:

"Dear Jack: Please come and take your boys home, and send me the earthquake."

BREAKING INTO THE GREAT COTTON YEAR OF 1920 WITH A COMMANDING OCCASION IN COTTON DRESS FABRICS

MANY times in the past we have read the statement, "Cotton is King!" But Cotton was only a paste-board monarch then, compared with the majestic ruler of fashion that Cotton promises to be at this opening of the year 1920!

TODAY we herald the new Reign of Cotton by presenting a large and charming assemblage of the newest Cotton Tissues for women's and children's apparel, and we double the interest of the occasion by placing on sale a number of remarkable groups of Cotton Dress Fabrics at specially low prices.

WE STRONGLY ADVISE BUYING COTTONS THIS MONTH

RECENTLY there have been several sharp advances in the price of raw cotton and many advances in the cost of production. The cottons that must be bought on the market, later on, will cost much more than we had to pay for these superb and wonderfully varied collections.

THE most exquisite Cotton Tissues are here for afternoon and evening dresses. Here are all the sturdier Cottons, too—for morning dresses, house dresses, blouses, negligees, children's dresses. Full assortments ready now—

AT FEBRUARY'S FAVORABLE PRICES

THERE has never been a time when it was so well worth your while to select Cotton Goods a little ahead of actual wear time—and now you may select from the fullest, completest and most skillfully selected new stocks that we have ever shown.

Bedding and Hardy Plants

It is nearing Spring and time to think of planting. Orders should be placed with your florist in advance this season as the demand will exceed the supply. We are growing thousands of bedding plants such as geraniums, heliotrope, petunias, fuchsias, periwinkle, begonias and quite a number of other kinds that are used mostly for outdoor planting and window boxes.

We also offer hardy plants such as larkspur, Canterbury bells, iris, paeonies, lupin, foxglove and tulips. Tubs of hydrangeas and box trees to sell for the season.

Our long experience and our service are at your service, either in helping you in choosing, or in taking entire charge of your landscape planting.

Call or telephone; we are always pleased to be of assistance to you, and to give you the benefit of our suggestions.

They couldn't be built for twice $71,000

When the talk turns from politics to railroads, and the traveler with the cocksure air breaks in with, "There's an awful lot of 'water' in the railroads," here are some hard-pan facts to give him:

American railroads have cost $80,900 a mile—roadbed, structures, stations, yards, terminals, freight and passenger trains—everything from the great city terminals to the last spike. A good concrete-and-asphalt highway costs $36,000 a mile—just a bare road, not counting the cost of culverts, bridges, etc.

Our railroads couldn't be duplicated today for $150,000 a mile.

They are capitalized for only $71,000 a mile—much less than their actual value. Seventy-one thousand dollars today will buy one locomotive.

English railways are capitalized at $274,000 a mile; the French at $155,000; German $132,000; even in Canada (still in pioneer development) they are capitalized at $67,000 a mile. The average for all foreign countries is $100,000.

Low capitalization and high operating efficiency have enabled American Railroads to pay the highest wages while charging the lowest rates.

Tremont Theatre, Boston

Hail! Hail! The gang's all here! And at the head of the gang is Elsie Janis, America's beloved comedienne and the "sweetheart of the A. E. F.," bringing her own bomb proof musical revue in two acts to the Tremont theatre, Boston, for an engagement of positively two weeks only, with the usual matinees each week. To mark her reappearance on the American stage, Miss Janis has prepared a unique offering, which she elects to call a bomb proof musical revue, adding that there are some songs, some jokes, some hoofing and some soldier jazz band. And incidentally some girls! General Pershing once remarked that Miss Janis was worth a whole division to the allied cause by reason of her entertainment work among the soldiers, and there is certainly no figure on the American stage today that holds a higher place in the affections and esteem of the theatre-going public. Among the men of the YD Division she is especially beloved and the Tremont theatre in Boston will undoubtedly see many graduates of the late unpleasantness during her stay there.

The winter has not spent its force. It began early in December and with relentless cruelty has given snow, rain, hail, sleet and cold weather. The number of days that have promised a thaw have been negligible. The result has been registered in discomfort for all. Business operations have been hindered. Churches have worked against very heavy odds and the clergymen have had heavier burdens added. The physicians have been forced to work hour after hour with little help within the homes because of the need of nurses. The transportation difficulties have forced the doctors to walk miles. In wind and storm, night and day these faithful men of the North Shore communities have been doing their work of mercy and relief for those who have been sick. There has not been what may be called in any sense an epidemic of the influenza such as was experienced last year. The usual winter health problems have made the doctors' work more burdensome because of the prevailing weather conditions. The transportation difficulties have not been seriously handicapped on the North Shore and except at the conclusion of the great storm all of the stores have been able to supply their customers with food. In other sections of the state the transportation problem has been acute. Many communities have been unable to receive from the stores the usual supplies of fresh meats and groceries. By and large the North Shore has not fared ill. The residents have been well cared for by physicians; those who have not commuted to and from Boston have been spared the weariness of train travel and transportation difficulties. Those who have been forced to seek employment every day in Beverly, Salem or Boston have been fortunate in their connections, as irregular as the service has been at times. There is no discounting the fact that the winter has been a hard one, and will go down in history for generations to come as the severe winter of 1920.

When the winter winds blow and snow falls, have a heart and study the seed catalog for the days of spring!

The extreme winter weather has caused suffering among the birds and deer in the North Shore woodlands. The snow fell and covered the forest floors, depriving the birds of their hunting grounds. Then came the crystal Sunday when every tree was cased in ice and the berries and tree foods were denied to the feathered tribes. But the brave little things sought places where the sun had thawed the icing from berries, and the fortunate observers had pleasure in seeing the little birds voraciously satisfying their appetites. Friendly hands have been providing food for these desirable neighbors. Juncos have not been as numerous as in other years, but the ubiquitous house sparrow and the more desirable tree sparrows have been seeking food.

The blackbirds and crows have been feeding nearer the shore and the residential districts than usual. The deer, too, have been seen more often. The lads who killed one last week will learn that the law protects these animals. One poor frightened creature driven by dogs made a wild leap into a tennis court wire netting on a summer place and broke its neck. The game wardens have been busy and have protected the deer, effectively. A fox, too, has been driven into the habitable areas and one was captured on the main streets of the city of Beverly. Every effort should be made by householders to provide the birds with food, and the pleasure which the feather folk will afford will more than repay the effort which is made to protect them.

The love of country should be instilled in the heart and mind of every child in America. Early in life the principle should be inculcated by instruction, patriotic exercises and by patriotic service. The responsibilities to one's country can never be over-estimated and no effort should be spared to give to each and every child of our school system, a faithful loyal American for a teacher, and instruction in national loyalty. In Chicago the Illinois Society of the Sons of the Revolution has furnished an admirable creed which has been ordered given to each child by the superintendent of the schools in that city. The children above the seventh grade are required to commit the creed to memory. The creed is an admirable presentation of the principles of loyalty and may well be learned by the children of any school: "I believe in the United States of America as a government of the people, by the people, for the people; whose just powers are derived from the consent of the governed; a democracy in a republic; a sovereign nation of many sovereign states; a perfect union, one and inseparable; established upon those principles of freedom, equality, justice and humanity for which American patriots sacrificed their lives and fortunes. I therefore believe it is my duty to my country to love it; to support its constitution; to obey its laws; to respect its flag; and to defend it against all enemies." Here is a short, clear statement of the nation's fundamental principles and may be used with great power by teachers and patriotic organizations throughout the country.

Great emphasis is being placed now on the harm caused by teeth which have ulcers upon them. In warning the public the American Dental society is doing the public a great service. Only until recently has it been known what suffering and pain apparently good teeth, with ulcers at the base, have been causing.

The American Legion, the organization which associates all of the young men who were in the service of the nation during the last war, has already begun to show its power for good in the land. With a strong platform committed to policies of national and personal righteousness, it cannot fail to be a great and growing influence in the nation. During the last month this influence has been particularly marked, not alone on the North Shore, but the state over by the patriotic celebrations arranged to commemorate the memory of Abraham Lincoln and George Washington. In Beverly and Manchester the members of the organizations gathered and went to church to worship and to commemorate the memory of these revered leaders of our nation in the dark hours of strife and trouble. In Beverly Farms the Legion, in co-operation with the members of all of the patriotic organizations of the community, arranged a strong program with two excellent speakers, William J. McSweeney, of Salem, and State Secretary Albert P. Langtry. The plan of work of the organization is thus announced by action. There is every reason to believe that the success that has attended the efforts of these young men to perpetuate the spirit and enthusiasm that carried them over the seas for the love they owed their country and the service they were rendering to the peoples of the old world, will be continued, and that in the Legion the Grand Army of the Republic will have a worthy and honorable successor. As the ranks of the one organization thin by the ravages of time, year by year the added responsibilities of the patriotic work of the American communities must and will be taken up by the organization of young men who were in the service of the nation during the late war.

A government commission has formally and solemnly conducted an investigation and has announced that the cost of living has increased more than one hundred percent. That is, prices for commodities have doubled. Well! What is to be said? Everyone has known that, without an official pronouncement. What is now needed is an opportunity to make purchases at reasonable figures that will assure reasonable profit to all and a fair price to the consumer.

Church union is undesirable and impossible among the Protestant churches of America. Each of the organizations of the modern church has associations and inheritances that must not be sacrificed and will not be by loyal communicants. It would appear that these varied organizations have a veritable and vital reason for being. It will be a distinct loss if the entity of any of the strong church organizations be sacrificed for the doubtful good to accrue from a loose union of all the churches. What is needed is not unity of organization and a surrender of vital differences which aid in the work that the churches have to do, but unity of service and work by co-operation. Church union is a vain dream as undesirable as it is impracticable. Church co-operation is not a dream, but an ideal; not an unreal and unaccomplishable hope, but a possibility that can be assured. The present movement among the churches of North America is based upon the latter principle of church co-operation, inter-church harmony and work together where no church sacrifices anything and by which all churches gain the advantages of united effort. It is a good and profitable sign of the progress of the times when all the churches of the various Protestant organizations operate together in a new world movement. The enterprise is already a success and the future work of the great organizations doing amelioration work at home and abroad deserve and should have the support of the communicants of the various organizations.

The terrible fire in Lynn brings again to mind the necessity for instruction of the children of the homes, and especially elderly people, of the necessity of always being prepared for a fire. A former chief of the fire department of Boston two winters ago, in addressing a Manchester audience, pleaded with the people who heard him to instruct every one in their families to lay over the foot or head of the bed every night a heavy bath robe or other garment that can easily be put about the body in an emergency. These words from his experience may well be repeated.

One of the most effective forces of the times for work among boys is the Boy Scout organization. The scope of the organization is simple and effective. The demands of the boy's life for a well-rounded physical, mental and spiritual life are supplied by the organization, and under the direction of a faithful and boy-loving scoutmaster great good can be accomplished. The organization is based upon the fundamental principles that a boy must train all sides of his nature to become an efficient and loyal member of society. For society life among his fellows he is required to take an oath: "On my honor I will do my best to do my duty to God and my country and to obey the Scout laws; to help other people at all times; to keep myself physically strong, mentally awake and morally straight." If a boy does all these faithfully he is a "good Scout." To do his best is the primary impulse. The impossible is not expected nor can it be required. The Scout laws are straight-forward and commendable and once they have been woven into the life and action of a boy as a Scout they cannot fail to make him a better citizen. The good Scout is a lover of his country, is obedient to instruction, courteous to his elders and to those with whom he associates. He is loyal to his home, his school, patrol and country, and seeks to maintain his self-respect. Consequently a good Scout is on his honor and may be trusted, for he is faithful, watched or unwatched. He is taught to be cheerful and patient, and kind to animals. With such a program, with indoor work for winters and outdoor work for summers, there is little wonder that the organization has grown so remarkably and has such a powerful hold and influence over the lives and minds of boys of the teen ages.

The nursing profession is today one of the most attractive for young women, giving an adequate and thorough training for life service either in the homes of the land or the many health organizations of the communities. It is to be regretted that the hospitals are having such difficulties in obtaining competent and ambitious young women for the work.

Cardinal O'Connell made a masterly address last Sunday evening in Symphony hall, on the influence and power of women for righteousness and truth. He was in the presence of a sympathetic audience of loyal Catholic women of the women's organizations of the Catholic church in Massachusetts. He was among friends who were loyal to the church and desired the success of the great cardinal principles of modesty, delicacy and the finer virtues of femininity. The wide influence and power of such organizations may not and must not be underestimated. Cardinal O'Connell dealt with fearless frankness with the prevailing evils of the times, knowing well the power and influence of the women whom he addressed in spreading the principles for which he was contending. The influence of women cannot be underestimated and the determined influence of the Catholic churches as ever has been pledged to a great cause.

The housing problem in Massachusetts is a serious one particularly in the manufacturing centres. During the war period large numbers of people changed their occupation and there was a steady trend of the population from the rural and semi-urban districts to the manufacturing centres. Many shifted their domiciles because of the high prices being paid for the war labor service. The usual number of young people have married and new homes have been required for their occupancy. The high returns made in many investment enterprises have drawn heavily upon funds ordinarily used for building operations. During the war period the law of the hour suggested economy in building operations. Since the war the high prices demanded for carpenters, builders and all household mechanics has tended to discourage building. Many who contemplated building have been deterred because of the high prices for materials and labor. The results were to be expected, because of the simultaneous operation of three causes:—shifts in the population, the high costs of materials and the diversion of capital to other purposes. In the city of Beverly alone there are over three thousand workmen employed who are obliged to seek homes elsewhere than within the city limits. The large prices for building prevent the small investor from launching out and the large operator prefers the income from other sources of investment. Leading bankers are suggesting co-operative building plans whereby the workmen of given localities may be assisted to make payments on a home. These local efforts, however, do not touch the whole problem. The housing problem is a serious one and one man's guess is as good as another's, but the unfortunate situation remains that millions of people are unhappy, restless, and seek for suitable habitations. There is no discontent comparable with it and the situation is deplorable.

The time to arrange for summer plans with contractors and builders is now. One of the great disadvantages to the employers of labor and to those requiring their service is the fact that so little planning is done by those who need work done. The man who makes his summer reconstruction plans early is the one who will have his estate and home ready for him when he arrives.

The United Machinists' Union has asked the United Shoe Machinery Company to enter into an agreement which virtually prevents the organization from engaging the service of any workman who is not a union man, and when such is engaged that he shall immediately join the machinists' union. Union of labor is desirable and honorable. It is a liberty which an employee has; but on the other hand has not an individual some liberties concerning his own life; ought he not be free to join or not to join an organization? The principles of liberty and freedom cannot be abrogated by individual workmen or employers either of a few or of many men! There is an issue at stake. If that is lost the very union will lose rather than gain. That which encroaches upon the liberties of any individual will in the end prove an error of judgment.

As the month wears on its silent work begins, though storms rage. The earth is hidden yet, but not dead. The sun is drawing near. He whispers words of deliverance into the ears of every sleeping seed and root that lies beneath the snow. Breezy Briefs

A prominent Federal tax collector states that 60 percent of the men pay their taxes honestly, and without being compelled. Does he imply that 40 percent are dishonest?

Apropos of the prevalence of psychic functions, the Boston Globe relates the following incident: "There was a telepathic seance where the lady and gentleman arranged to sit down together in perfect silence and read each others' minds. After they had gazed at each other in mute collaboration for several minutes, the lady arose and slapped the gentleman's face."

Congressional proceedings: "I want to tell you right here and now," shouts Blanton, of Texas, "that this annual distribution of Congressional garden seeds is all bunk, and that if we really mean economy in the public expenditures, we can save $300,000 by cutting them out. Will you do it?"

The vote resulted in 71 yeas, 130 nays, thereby saving free seeds for the benefit (?) of the American people.

At the 51st convention of the American National Woman Suffrage association held last week in Chicago, the Republican and Democratic leaders made their bids for the suffrage votes. Teas were given every day for the women. It must seem odd to the men to pass out cups of tea rather than "campaign" cigars.

Beauty hint: At a recent convention of photographers it was declared that if girls want to look beautiful in a photograph they must not powder their faces. Powder has a tendency to obliterate the beauty and character lines, it is said.

It is estimated that the American Federation of Labor will have a campaign fund of $1,500,000 by November, raised by assessments on members. This fund is to be used in furthering the election of candidates favorable to union principles. The farmers will demand of each candidate information concerning his stand on farming interests. The women; if they vote, will also require certain assurances from aspirants to public favor. With all of these problems to solve it can be truly said: "Uneasy lies the head which would wear the political crown."

Another instance of where Mr. Ult. Consumer will pay the bills! Somebody pays $150,000 for "Babe" Ruth and the price of bleacher seats is shoved up another notch.

"Lost—The man who collects my ashes. Suitable reward for his prompt return." This want advertisement, signed by a Boston real estate man, recently appeared in a Boston newspaper. This man must be accredited with an ample sense of humor, and also a rather remunerative business to make such a splurge over a mere witticism.—Exchange.

WASHINGTON—SOLDIER AND STATESMAN

Soldier and statesman, rarest union;
High-poised example of great duties done
Simply as breathing, a world's honor worn
As life's indifferent gifts to all men born;
Dumb for himself, unless it were to God.
But for his barefoot soldiers eloquent,
Tramping the snow to coral where they trod,
Held by his awe in hollow-eyed content;
Modest, yet firm as Nature's self; unblamed
Save by the men his nobler temper shamed;
Never seduced through show of present good
By other than unsetting lights to steer
New-trimmed in Heaven, nor than his steadfast mood
More steadfast, far from rashness as from fear;
Rigid, but with himself first, grasping still
In swerveless poise the wave-beat helm of will;
Not honored then or now because he wooed
The popular voice, but that he still withstood;
Broad-minded, higher-souled, there is but one
Who was all this and ours, and all men's.

The Swift Year Book is Out

Swift & Company was a favorite topic of conversation last year.

Committees investigated it, commissions attacked it, lawmakers threatened it, many condemned it.

Presently people began to think about it; began to realize that Swift & Company was performing a necessary service in a big, efficient way; began to wonder whether it could be done as well in any other way.

Read what Swift & Company did last year, and what it meant to you, in the Swift & Company Year Book, just issued.

It's a fascinating narrative—simple facts in simple words. There is one ready for you. Send for it.

Why He Fails

There's many an industrious man

Who never gets ahead,
Because he does not think or plan,
But trusts to luck instead.

He's not a slacker or a shirk,
This plodder in Life's grind:
But though he always minds his work

He never works his mind.

Capital and Labor Must Get Together

American People Must "Stop Discussing Whether Capital or Labor is in the Wrong"

IN THE following article Roger W. Babson, vice-president of the Manchester Trust Co., has America's undeveloped resources as his subject. This article was given a prominent position in a recent issue of Current Affairs, the Boston Chamber of Commerce publication. Mr. Babson urges the American people to "stop discussing whether capital or labor, employers or wage-workers are in the wrong," but to get together, "forget our differences and devise some change which will give men a joy in their work and a real desire to produce." The greatest of America's undeveloped resources, points out Mr. Babson, is the soul of the working man and it is to the development of this human factor in industry that he believes the attention of the present day must be directed.

The entire article is as follows:

"Three years ago, when traveling through Brazil, I came to a great undeveloped water power. It was a fall which, with little expense, would develop many thousand horsepower. At the foot of these falls was a little Indian village. These Indians were plowing with crooked sticks and grinding their corn by hand between stones. Moreover, most of this corn was imported from America and carried for a hundred miles from the seaboard on the backs of the Indians.

"With a little intelligence, capital and labor, these falls could make this poverty-stricken valley a garden of Eden. God had given them every natural resource; but these natural resources were lying dormant, while the natives were fighting among themselves over the possession of petty trinkets and other things of little account.

"Fifty years from now, our grandchildren will look back upon us with the same feelings with which I looked upon that poverty-stricken village. For here we are, in the most wonderful land, huddled together in cities which are mere dots on the map, surrounded by the greatest unused resources and yet wasting our energy in useless strife.

New England Situation

"In New England only five percent of the land is under cultivation; only 10 percent of the waterpower has been harnessed, while the great harbors are filling with sand. A little westward are the great coal mining regions. Here, while men are freezing and industries are shutting down for lack of fuel, only three percent of the total coal uncovered has been used. In the farming districts of the central west, we find equal latent undeveloped powers. Here the farmers are raising only fifteen to twenty bushels of wheat to the acre, while in some of the European countries, where they have but little land, they are raising one hundred bushels to the acre. Lumber is soaring in price every day, and yet the timber in the country is growing 24 hours each day, and if properly conserved, this growth would exceed the consumption.

More People, Less Production

"The remarkable conditions today are illustrated in the iron and steel industry. The capacity of our steel plants is probably 25 percent greater than before the war and yet the steel rails are selling for $55 a ton, compared with $28 a ton ten years ago. 'Very well,' you say, 'this is only natural because so much more iron is being used.' Statistics do not show this.

"During 1919, only 31,000,000 tons of pig iron were produced compared with 39,000,000 tons three years ago. The same is true in a general way of copper, lumber, leather, and nearly all the other basic commodities. The price is high, the demand is great, but the stuff is not being produced; yet the opportunities for production were never greater.

A Wonderful Growth

"Statistics show that this country has had a wonderful growth in population and wealth during the past few years; while our production has decreased. We are now in the position of a man who had a one-story house with a one-story foundation. Today, we have a ten-story structure on the old cellar walls meant for a one-story structure. We are now faced with the choice of one or two propositions: Either, by increasing production, we must strengthen the foundations on which our prosperity rests, or else we must see our prosperity tumble. I appeal to you today to strengthen the foundations. This can be done, not by jacking up prices, but by opening up more land, extending more equal opportunities, and arousing in all men a desire to produce and a joy in production.

"Let us stop discussing whether capital or labor, employers or wage-workers are in the wrong. I am willing to grant, for argument's sake, that either is wrong, or that both are wrong. The fact remains, however, that there is something about the present industrial system which crushes man's natural desire to produce and which tends to make men slackers instead of workers. Let us forget our differences and devise some change which will give men a joy in their work and a real desire to produce.

"Two great American captains of industry were standing on the bridge at Niagara, watching the Falls. One of them said, 'Behold the greatest source of undeveloped power in America.' 'No,' answered the other, 'you are wrong. The greatest source of undeveloped power in America is the soul of the working man.'

Two Percent Have Initiative

"It has been my pleasure to study the lives of many men. In doing so, it has been necessary to divide men into groups. There is one group—about two percent of the population—that has initiative, judgment, thrift, imagination, and the other qualities which have made America. Then there is a great big group—about 60 percent of the population—that seems to lack all these qualities and works simply from day to day to keep soul and body together.

"Then there is a large middle group of about 38 percent. People in this group seem to have a desire to make something of themselves, but lack the opportunity. If the efficiency of this first group of two percent be considered a standard, then the other two groups, making up the 98 percent, are only three percent efficient. What does this mean?

"It means that if the initiative, thrift, courage, imagination, of all the people could be brought up to the standard of the two percent, we all could have over thirty times what we get today in the good things of life. Such a development would cut the cost of living in halves and tenths, and make a dollar worth in purchasing power even thirty dollars.

No Need of Labor Problem

"We talk about labor problems. There is no more need of a labor problem than of a steam problem, or an electrical problem. We make the labor problem by not understanding it. Let us give as much thought to developing steam and electricity, and there would be no labor problem while the cost of living would be only a fraction of what it is today. We spend millions in advertising to secure the good will of customers. Let us spend more to secure the good will of our employees.

Labor vs. Capital

"We make a great mistake in thinking only of the big corporations as employers of labor. Statistics show that 95 percent of the employers today have less than one hundred men working for them. Another great fallacy is the talk that capital is getting everything and labor is getting nothing. Statistics show that 80 percent of every dollar spent in the stores of your city goes to labor. It may go to the men who shear the sheep or who mine the coal or who till the soil; it may go to the railroad employees or the shop girls or the teamsters; but 80 percent of the millions which pass through your banks every day finally drops into the hands of labor.

"These statistics show that we should not wait for more legislation to revive in labor a desire to produce. It is up to each one of us to make a start in our own office, store or factory. I do not mean that you start some revolutionary profit-sharing or other system. No mechanical plan will solve the problem.

"I mean that you look over carefully the people in your employ and select three or four who have the ambition and desire to do something. Take an interest in them; treat them as you would your own children; give them a real opportunity and note the results.

The Best Investment

"When asked what I consider the best investment for my money, this is my reply: There are times—during periods of panic—when I buy stocks; today, I am buying railroad bonds; but my great profits have been made, not gambling in securities, but rather gambling in people. The most profitable investment—either of money or time—anyone can make today is an investment in people. Become more interested in your employees—not in any wholesale way, but individually—giving them your thought, your love and your counsel. I am not talking from motives of charity or sympathy, but rather from a cold-blooded business point of view.

"The greatest undeveloped resources in this city today are the souls of your own people. The greatest opportunity for profit in this city today is in the development of these people.

Don't Follow the Crowd

"The same latent power that is lying dormant in human beings also exists in communities. We have a department in our business which studies localities. It can tell you the geographical center of consumption of the automobile business, the candy business, the clothing business, or any other business. We find that in many cases factories are located in most unnatural sections of the country. Great opportunities exist for men who have courage to locate factories where they ought to be located. Industry should be governed by statistics and not by tradition.

"The waste in production is even exceeded by the waste in distribution. Salesmen go, not where goods are needed, but where the railway and hotel accommodations are the best. Sales campaigns are based not on facts, but on custom. You send your salesmen not where they are needed, but rather to the communities where they have a surplus of such goods. We should develop new fields rather than strive to capture trade in fields already developed.

"Let us stop struggling over the division of what is already produced. Let us stop fighting for trade which already exists. Let us produce more goods; let us develop more fields; let us substitute faith for fear, and production for protection; let us subsidize the inventor rather than the politician.

"Ninety percent of our selling campaigns are directed to 10 percent of our people. Ten percent of our people are over-sold, while 90 percent of them are being neglected. The same get-along-easy spirit exists among our corporation officials, directors and department heads as exists among the wage workers. We all are like the Indians in that little village. It is easier to grind the corn today by hand than to start in to build a water wheel which it would take several weeks to complete.

Surface Only Scratched

"The same opportunities that exist in connection with the development of people and of communities may be found in connection with commodities. Great industries, like the copper, rubber, and cotton industries, are merely being scratched today. We men, controlling these industries, think first of profits. We unconsciously would just as lief make ten dollars on one ton as one dollar on each of ten tons. Many of these industries today are just as dormant as our water powers a century ago. Hundreds of additional uses could be developed for every commodity. The harvest is ripe, only intelligence, labor and capital are needed in order to reap the crop.

Three Prime Essentials

"But let us never forget that three things are needed for continued prosperity; intelligence, labor and capital. One is of no avail without the other two. The prosperity of each depends upon the protection of all and the happiness of one depends upon the happiness of all.

"Yet statistics show that none of these factors is lacking today. We have the most wonderful educational system in the world. Our literacy and order of intelligence are of the highest. Between fifteen and twenty million of our people are at school this very day. Our educational system can be greatly improved, but the need of the hour is not more education. Likewise there is no lack of labor today. Our population has increased in the last twenty-five years from 67,600,000 to 107,400,000.

"With the mechanical inventions of the last decade, these men could have a greater productive power per capita today than ever before. Certainly the latent man-power in America is today far beyond the dreams of a half-century ago. The need of the hour is not more man-power. Let us look at the financial situation. The bank deposits of the country are today 12 billion, compared with seven billion five years ago, and six billion ten years ago. Although we must develop thrift in connection with the development of intelligence, and man-power, yet the need of the hour is not more capital.

The Need of the Hour

"What is the need of the hour? What is that 'something' which seems to be lacking today? As a cold-blooded statistician, I believe that 'something' is religion. We have the resources, the intelligence, labor and capital; but we lack that motive power which drove the Pilgrim Fathers to these shores three hundred years ago and which has been the inspiration of all the great forward movements of the centuries. We are like a wonderful watch with a fine case and most perfect wheels, but without the spring. We are like an egg, fresh and clear, but without fertility. Hence, the message that I leave with you today is three-fold:

"1. We are actually drowning in undeveloped natural resources and opportunities, while the great masses of our people are only from three percent to five percent efficient.

"2. Better conditions will not be brought about by any revolutionary

MANCHESTER

Mr. and Mrs. F. J. Merrill entertained friends from out of town over Washington's birthday.

Miss Pine, of the Cove, takes charge of Lewando's office in Salem next Monday. Mrs. Jos. Cawthorne has been substituting there for two weeks.

Mrs. Ernest G. Webb (Princie Dodge) is at home on a week's vacation from her duties as a commercial teacher in the Medford High school.

Miss Ellen Long, the district nurse, has been confined to the house for the past week with the prevailing sickness. Mrs. Roy Wilfong (Mabelle Lodge) is taking her place.

The "town fathers" have organized as follows: Selectmen, Samuel L. Wheaton, chairman, George R. Dean, secretary; Overseers of the Poor, George R. Dean, chairman and secretary; Board of Health, Wm. W. Hoare, chairman and secretary.

The Manchester Brotherhood will meet next Monday evening in the vestry of the Baptist church. Maj. Simpson will be the speaker of the evening. His subject will be the rise of gas and gas masks during the war. All men are welcome to hear him.

It is understood that Byron A. Bullock, who obtained a leave of absence two months ago from his duties on the police force, desires to resume his position again. He served as a member of the force for eight years, being on day duty practically all of the time. The work which he has taken up at the United Shoe Machinery Co. in Beverly does not agree with him, and he would like to go back on the police force. He will probably make application to be returned in the near future. There is some opposition to Mr. Bullock returning to the department, it is said, mostly from the friends of Special Officer Joseph Coen, who succeeded him. Mr. Coen is an overseas veteran and he claims he has gone to considerable expense in purchasing equipment, and that it is not fair to have him relieved of duty so soon. Be these things as they may, the Selectmen will probably have the matter placed before them for action very soon.

Mr. and Mrs. Bertram Floyd spent Sunday at the home of Mrs. Floyd's mother, in Medford Hill-side.

It is understood that John L. Silva, the expressman, has bought the property of the late William Spry, off Morse court, including a cottage and greenhouse, and a good-sized lot of land, and that Mrs. Spry has bought Mr. Silva's house on Morse court, and will move there with her family at the same time Mr. Silva moves into the Spry house. Mr. Silva will sell the greenhouse, and he plans to develop the rest of the property in connection with his growing business.

In accordance with the vote at Town Meeting, the Public Library will be open every evening this year. The trustees have not yet definitely decided when the new plan will go into effect, but probably it will be the first part of March. The board has organized for the year with Dr. R. T. Glendinning as chairman, succeeding Roland C. Lincoln, who resigned last month after serving 24 years. Lee M. Marshall, the new member of the board, is secretary. The library will not be open Sundays during the winter, but it is possible that it will be open during the summer.

MANCHESTER

Mrs. Susan Ackermann, teacher at the grammar school, has been ill with an attack of the "flu."

Miss Irene Swift and Lawrence Cawthorne were down from Watertown to spend the holiday at the "Crow's Nest," the home of Mr. Cawthorne's parents, on Pine st.

One of the Thissell market trucks, from Beverly Farms, stuck in a snow drift on Summer st., late Wednesday afternoon and after repeated attempts at shoveling, the driver abandoned his machine to the mercy of the elements and continued his journey homeward via train.

At the regular meeting of the Col. H. P. Woodbury camp, S. of V., Tuesday evening, it was voted to hold a campfire on Tuesday evening, March 9, to which the Post and associates, Spanish War Veterans, Legion and eligibles are invited, as well as the camps from Beverly Farms, Gloucester and Rockport.

Funeral services were held Saturday for Mrs. Sullivan, wife of Chief of Police Wm. H. Sullivan, from her late home on Bridge st. Rev. Frederick Manning officiated. Jean McDonald rendered "Face to Face" and "Abide With Me," and was accompanied by Elizabeth and Annie Norris with violin. There was a large number of flowers. The interment was in the Manchester cemetery.

An important meeting of Frank B. Amaral post, A. L., will be held next Wednesday evening, Mar. 3, when it is hoped there will be a large attendance. The Legion is planning to run a series of ten dances in Town hall this summer—the first on Easter Monday night. It is hoped to have some particular novelty for each dance, and thus it is that the opening one will be a costume party—Monday evening, April 5. This is not the object of the meeting next Wednesday, however. The matter of running another picture show will be decided. Manager Sanborn has offered to make good for the poor quality of the show put on two weeks ago—through no fault of his—and the Legion may put on another show at much reduced prices. Whist will be played next Wednesday evening, and a collation will be served.

Talked at Manchester on Political Parties and Americanism

Hon. William S. Felton, of Salem, gave a most interesting talk last Friday evening before the members of the Manchester club. His talk was on the political parties and conventions throughout the history of our republic and on the necessity of true Americanism today.

Mr. Felton handled his subject in a manner most pleasing to his hearers, taking them from the time of the inception of political parties through their various vicissitudes down to the leading parties of the present day. Following the talk a lunch was served by the entertainment committee.

Lane—Cross

Henry Levi Lane, of Manchester, and Miss Ruth May Cross, of South Hamilton, were united in marriage Thursday afternoon, Feb. 26, at the Baptist parsonage, Manchester, by Rev. Herbert E. Levoy.

The bride is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George F. Cross, of Walnut st., South Hamilton. She has been employed by Daniel Low & Co., Salem, in the bookkeeping department.

Mr. and Mrs. Lane have gone to Athol for a month's honeymoon trip, and will be with Mr. Lane's sister, Miss Bertha Lane, who makes her home there.

After April 1 they will make their home in the house on Norwood ave., owned by Mrs. Lewis Killam.

LIBRARY NOTES

New Books in Manchester Public Library

Dr. George L. Walton, author of "Why Worry" and "Those Nerves" has written a novel, "Oscar Montague—Paranoic." The hero is a "victim of a typical American error of mental hygiene" and provides plenty of excitement. The heroine in contrast is a delightful creature. The author is a Boston nerve specialist.

"Their Mutual Child" by Pelham Grenville Wodehouse is one of the new novels. It is rather an unusual book and is real bright. It pokes more or less fun at those who try to bring up their children altogether by rule; there is also a good love story. It shows the great influence the child has on the parents and turns out to be another case of "A little child shall lead them."

"The Ground Swell" by Mary Hallock Foote—who wrote "Edith Bonham" and "The Valley Road"—is a good story of an American family. The story is well told.

"Colas Breugnot Burgundian" is a new novel by Romain Rolland author of "Jean Christophe"—a novel that made its author famous. His latest work of fiction is a story of France in the time of Marie de Medici. The one who tells the story, and is its hero, is an old man. You will surely admire him for his wit, his courage and his many virtues.

It is some time since we have had a novel from the pen of L. M. Montgomery, author of "Anne of Green Gables," so that "Rainbow Valley" is more than welcome. There is the same mellow humor that is found in all her other stories. Her characters appear to be real people.

"The Starling" by Juliet Wilbor Tompkins, though not a new book, is well worth reading. It is a fine character study. You will get out of patience with the professor, but the family is well worth knowing. We hope to have some more new books for next week.

Mrs. William Chadwick is recovering from a severe attack of grippe.

Mrs. Ernest Mead of Wellesley Hills spent the week-end with relatives in town.

Mr. and Mrs. George L. Knight have been spending the past two weeks at their country home at North Sutton, N. H.

Mrs. B. J. Manion, of Tappan st., has been seriously ill the past week with pneumonia. We are pleased to say she is now past the crisis. A trained nurse is in attendance.

Mr. and Mrs. Ansel N. Sanborn and little daughter, from Sanbornville, N. H., have been spending the week in town with Mrs. Sanborn's aunt, Mrs. Chas. Scott, Beach st.

George Rogers, gardener at the Mrs. W. Scott Fitz estate, is at the Massachusetts General hospital, where he underwent an operation last week for a stomach trouble.

Miss Catherine Annette Chane, youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Chane, Summer st., will observe her birthday anniversary Sunday, Feb. 29. Although the little miss is four years old, this is her first birthday, as she was born on Feb. 29, 1916.

A good-sized delegation from Magnolia lodge, I. O. O. F., journeyed to Beverly Monday to witness the degree work by Consort and Bass River lodges of Beverly. The degree teams of these two lodges worked the First and Third degrees, and Holton lodge of Peabody worked the Second degree. Bass River lodge worked in the evening and the other lodges in the afternoon.

In true Greek fashion the engagement was announced last Sunday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Nicholas Kassanos, Central st., of the former's niece, Miss Tassia Sinadinou, and Peter A. Brown, proprietor of the Manchester Fruit store. Friends were present from Salem, Lynn and Gloucester to the number of forty. Mr. Kassanos served a fine spread in his lunch room, which was closed during the afternoon, and musical selections were rendered. The bride-to-be makes her home in Manchester, with her uncle. Mr. Brown has lived here the last six years. He was in service overseas during the war. The wedding will take place after Easter, it is announced.

Heavy Snow Caused Cave-in of Roofs in Manchester

The storm of Wednesday weighed down a number of overloaded roofs with snow. It caused the collapse of a shed in the rear of the Manchester House. The roof of the Manchester Lawn Mower Co. building on Bridge st., the roof of a shed on the town property at the stone crusher plant on Pleasant st., and that of a shed on the rear of the Arthur Dow estate, Beach st., also suffered in like manner.

Mr. Davis, of the lawn mower company, says the trouble will not interfere materially with his business. His automobile was in the building at the time.

In the shed at Mr. Dow's some bricks belonging to G. S. Sinnicks had been hauled for storage the previous week. Automobiles are stored there in summer, but none were there at the time of the collapse.

Why should anyone even suggest that the reason the party of Salem business men—including some from Manchester, Beverly and Gloucester—who went to Montreal by special coach over the last week-end went for the purpose of enjoying the whiz-skiing, all other brands of winter sports notwithstanding? There is no doubt but that this sort of skiing has become popular across the Canadian border since prohibition went into effect. It is said the participants have to be hauled to the top of Mt. Royal—and then they simply shoot off down the steep incline on their skis with a whiz. Thus the new term, whiz-ski.

Perpetual President Horace H. Atherton, Jr., of the Essex County Press club, announces that this well known organization of county journalists, editors and reporters will hold its annual midwinter lawn fete and chilblain party at some convenient place the first day next week that it snows. Representative John Thomas, of Gloucester, chaplain of the club, will recite Whittier's "Snow Bound" in long form and a well known lightning rod agent will exemplify how chilblains can be permanently cured by dancing in the snow, a la Isabelle Duncan and Ruth St. Denis.

An icicle lunch will be served, with snow pudding and slush sauce, as a dessert. The author of "Beautiful Snow" will positively attend in person and disclose his identity. Hot drinks, cambric tea and catnip flip will be poured in an adjoining ice house, where large 25-cent slabs of chilled, freshly harvested aqua pura will be found in the form of reclining chairs for those who attend.

If the weather is cold enough bathing will be indulged in. No tickets or programs will be issued, as all printing presses have recently melted and run away. To any journalist or alleged journalist, county editor or reporter to whom these presence may come, COME; "Come gentle spring, ethereal mildness, come," are the passwords.

NOT NOW

The snow keeps piling up, and riling up the folks,

And will not go away.

In far-away next summer, they may joke about

It settling down to stay.

JUST ICE

A funny old feller

He was puzzled and sat up to think.

—Betty Beeman.

H. C. L.

We are taxed in the morning
For puffed rice and quaker oats,
And that cheap, skunk-flavored coffee
That's an insult to our throats.

Then comes the tax at noon time,
No matter what we eat,
Whether cabbage, hash, fish chowder,
Spaghetti, or pig's feet.

We're taxed again at supper time
For sugar, tea and toast,
And doubly taxed if we should eat
A slice of that cold roast.

We are taxed for our shoe strings,
We are taxed for our shoes,
We are taxed for our paper
If we read the news.

We are taxed for our sugar
When it can be found;
But who wants to pay twenty
And run all over town.

Taxed at the moving pictures,
If we have a seat;
Taxed, also, by the butcher
For bone same as for meat.

We're taxed, too, at the dances,
If we love to waltz,
Taxed by the corner druggist
For a dose of his salts.

Taxed for our telephone,
Taxed extra for toll;
Cough up when the bill comes!
Or down will come your pole.

Pay the tax on your rubbers
Or it's up to you
If you die of lumbago
The grip or the flu.

Taxed for our coal
At a pretty stiff rate,
Taxed for the hauling
The rocks and the slate.

We are taxed if we read
The North Shore Breeze;
Soon we'll be taxed
When we cough or sneeze.

We are taxed for our horses,
Taxed for our cows.
We are buried in taxes
Up to our eye-brows.

The taxes are outrageous
Beyond human control;
In fact we're taxed for everything
Except our prayers and soul.

If taxes still keep coming
As they're coming now, beware!
The poor man soon will have to live
On saw dust and screened air.

But there's no tax now on whiskey.

You know the reason why:
The rich man has bought all the booze—
The poor man's going dry.

Those blood-thirsty profiteers,
Those robbers, thieves and knaves,
Would tax us if they dared to
For our monument and graves.

Now all that's left is jakey.
There's a tax on that, I think.
Now when you celebrate the Fourth
It's Father John's or ink.

There's three things taxes have forgot,
Strange and funny as it seems,
That's beating carpets in the spring,
Sawing wood and digging greens.

The rich man—he can well afford
To pay his little bit.
For he's got more than he can spend
But where does the poor man fit?

If men were taxed for lying
To meet their selfish ends,
H. C. L. would take a tumble
And U. S. would pay dividends.

Oh, could we but flee
To some isle in the sea,
And live on peaches and cream,
Wild honey and grapes
Bananas and dates
Then taxes would seem like a dream.

Important K. of C. Meeting in Pea- body Sunday

There will be a request meeting of Fr. Gabriel Druillettes assembly, fourth degree Knights of Columbus, at the Peabody council rooms, Peabody, Sunday next at 2 o'clock. This assembly consists of fourth degree knights from Lynn to Gloucester and affects all the towns and cities in this section. Officers for the ensuing year will be elected at this meeting. The guest of the day will be John E. Riley, of Newton, who recently returned from France, where he served 18 months in the K. C. service, as secretary. Mr. Riley had a wonderful experience overseas and tells the story in a very interesting manner. Many of the leading Catholic publications of New England are publishing his story in detail. All members of the Knights of Columbus, regardless of rank, may hear him, as the meeting will be open to all at 3 o'clock. A fourth degree, under Master Louis Watson, of Boston, will be exemplified at Hotel Somerset, Boston, May 23. Third degree members of the order who have been in the U. S. service may take this degree regardless of the three-year clause.

Winter Still With Us

As if to impress us with the fact that winter is still with us with all its ice and snow and hardships incident to transportation difficulties, shortage of food and coal, etc., another storm came along Wednesday, bearing another six inches of snow and sleet, instead of the much prayed-for rain.

A cold wave yesterday added to the troubles of a hard month, and railway service was put in a bad condition.

MANCHESTER CHURCHES

Rev. Edward P. Holton, who supplied the pulpit at the Congl. church, during the recent absence of the pastor, will preach Sunday, as the Rev. Mr. Manning has returned to the hospital for further treatment for his eyes.

There will be no meeting of Harmony Guild until the regular meeting, March 8.

Harmony Guild is planning for its annual guest night some time the latter part of March.

The Ladies' Social circle will meet next Wednesday evening with Mrs. Jessie Haraden, Bridge st.

The Woman's Missionary society of the Congl. church will meet with Mrs. Susan B. Knight, Brook st., Thursday, March 4, at 3 p. m. Topic: "Month."

Baptist church, Rev. H. E. Levoy, pastor. Sunday at 10.45, regular preaching service. Special music. Sunday evening Jacob Fritz, of the Merrimac Mission, Boston, will speak. Mr. Fritz is a big worker and a most interesting speaker. It is hoped a large number will be out to hear him.

The Church Aid society "All Day" quilting party, which was postponed, will be held on Wednesday, March 3, at the Baptist vestry.

Miss Helen Cheever arrived home Saturday from the Beverly hospital, where she was operated on five weeks ago for appendicitis, following which she was ill with an attack of influenza.

Miss Margaret Shaw entertained a number of her young friends at a birthday party last Saturday afternoon, at her home on Summer st. The occasion was her ninth birthday anniversary.

Charles E. Dodge, son of Mrs. Ida F. Dodge, has been a patient at St. Margaret's hospital, Dorchester, for the past two weeks. He underwent a surgical operation there a week ago Sunday.

Miss Elizabeth Norris entertained a number of her girl friends at a Washington party at her home Monday. The afternoon was spent in coasting and tobogganing, after which dinner was served, followed by a visit to the movies in the evening.

Mrs. Frank Knight and son Frank left the first of the week for Globe, Arizona, to join Mrs. Knight's husband, who is there in connection with his mining business (Iron Cap Copper Co.). The son has been obliged to give up his school work on account of a severe attack of influenza and is expected to remain in the west for some time in hopes that the change may prove beneficial to his health.

Mr. and Mrs. Roland Kitfield are receiving congratulations on the birth of a baby daughter, Dorothy May, at their home at the Cove early Friday morning of last week. Mrs. Kitfield, it will be recalled, was Miss Florence Parr, of Ballinger, Texas. She was a nurse in overseas service during the war. The romantic meeting of Mr. Kitfield and Miss Parr led to their marriage on their return to America a year ago.

Manchester Woman's Club

It will be an open meeting at the Manchester Woman's club on Tuesday, March 2, when Brigadier Shepard will speak on the "Salvation Army Overseas."

A silver collection will be taken up at the close of the meeting. Mrs. Katherine W. Cleveland will be the hostess of the afternoon. The postponed bread sale will be held at this meeting also, and it is hoped will be well patronized by all.

Children's day will be on Saturday afternoon, next, March 6, and they will be entertained by "The Little Indian." Pe-Ahm-E-Squeet. Members of the club may bring their children between the ages of 5 and Lee Wolfe is visiting friends in Concord, N. H.

Mrs. Johanna Seaberg was here the first of the week looking after her property.

Nicholas Nelson and Fred Davis are confined to their respective homes with the grippe.

Russell Lucas, of Beverly, visited his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ernest C. Lucas last Sunday and Monday.

Mrs. Wm. Waddy, who has been very ill for many months, is slowly gaining in health and strength.

Owing to another heavy fall of snow Tuesday night the public schools were closed on Wednesday.

Elena G. Symonds left Monday for Brookline, where she will remain with friends until the first of next week.

Mary Boyd, a teacher in the High school of Stowe, is spending her week's vacation with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Boyd.

Mr. and Mrs. Leighton Symonds, of Saugus, spent the week-end at the home of the former's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Symonds.

Mrs. Alice Lycett and her little daughter, Elizabeth, left Thursday for Hudson, where they will visit Mrs. Lycett's sister, Mrs. Orren Sawyer, and family.

Elizabeth Abbott who has a good position with the John Hancock Life Insurance Co., of Boston, spent the holiday with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Abbott.

Helen and Elizabeth Richardson, children of Mr. and Mrs. E. B. Richardson, of Brookline and Magnolia, spent the week-end at the home of Mr. and Mrs. B. M. Thornberg.

Arthur Lycett left for Nova Scotia Tuesday, instead of last Friday as he had planned, but owing to the wreck on the railroad he was unable to reach Boston in time to take the boat for Yarmouth.

Mona Height, who has been working since last fall in Brookline, is now quite ill with the grippe and under the physician's care in the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Sylvester Height.

Robert McGaughey, who for some weeks past has been making his headquarters in New York city, made a hurried call upon his wife and daughters last Sunday. Mr. McGaughey had an exhibit of dogs at the recent dog show in Boston.

Louis Hamberger, a well-known former Beverly Farms young man, who successfully passed the bar examinations recently, is at present employed in a well-known law office on State st., Boston.

Homer Callahan is planning to open a pool and billiard parlor at Beverly Farms. The new attraction is to be in the store formerly used as a telegraph office in Neighbor's hall block.

The Mothers' and Sons' night at the Boys' club last Saturday evening was largely attended and very much enjoyed. A similar night has been arranged for the High school boys and their fathers.

Certificates Given to Relatives Here

Wardwell post, A. L., of Beverly, on Washington's birthday presented to relatives of Beverly men who made the supreme sacrifice during the war, the French government certificates.

Typical of the artistic nature of the French people, the certificates contain a beautifully engraved group figure placed on a cenotaph on which is the signature of the President of the French Republic, Raymond Poincaré. "To the memory of ——— of the United States of America, who died for liberty during the great war, the homage of France." Above the group figure is a quotation from Victor Hugo, "The people should come to pray at the graves of those who died for their country."

The certificates were taken to the homes of the relatives by officers of the Legion.

A ladies' whist party was held on Wednesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Annis Larcom, West st. This is a W. R. C. event. Another party is planned for next week.

The Boston & Maine R. R. has had a large number of men at work all this week shovelling snow and picking ice along the tracks in the vicinity of Beverly Farms and Pride's Crossing stations.

Another public whist party under the management of Preston W. R. C. will be held in G. A. R. hall next Monday evening. Like the others, this party is for the benefit of the American Legion flag fund.

A man at the Farms one day this week with a good-sized "jag" on was looked at with wonder, and no doubt nearly everyone who saw him was thinking of the same question: "Where did he get it?" and "What has he been drinking?"

There was a large attendance at the school house assembly hall last Friday evening at the meeting to observe the birthdays of two of the greatest of Americans—Washington and Lincoln, the affair being arranged by the local patriotic organizations. Former Mayor Herman A. Macdonald presided. The splendid addresses by Wm. H. McSweeney, of Salem, and Hon. Albert P. Langtry, Secretary of the Commonwealth, were indeed most inspiring.

A public meeting arranged by the executive committee of the Chamber of Commerce for all residents of Beverly Farms, was held on Tuesday evening at the St. John's Men's club rooms in Marshall's hall, where the details of the reorganization campaign were explained and the opportunity was given to prospective members to learn definitely why they should join. Mrs. Helen Doherty is being missed from her accustomed position, that of assistant at the Beverly Farms postoffice. She is ill at her home, but is reported to be improving.

The snow and ice on the sidewalks at Beverly Farms the past week has made the walking very slippery. A picture taken anywhere of the snow and ice piled high would be most refreshing to look at some hot day next July or August.

Beverly Farms has a new police station. At least it may be called that. The small room in the rear of the postoffice, in Neighbor's hall, has been leased and turned over to the Beverly Farms officers for a headquarters. The room was at one time used for a small circulating library, has a telephone, a small table and a couple of chairs. It is heated from the postoffice.

Simple Funeral Service

A simple funeral service was conducted for Mrs. Sarah A. Crowell in the Beverly Farms Baptist church last Friday morning at 10 o'clock by the Rev. Clarence S. Pond, the minister of the church. A cribbage tournament has been started at the Beverly Farms fire station. The first evening of play was last night (Thursday). The tournament will run for five consecutive weeks and will conclude with a supper. There are several teams entered for the contest composed of members of the department and friends. The affair will no doubt be of much interest and pleasure.

The wind-up of the interesting whist tournament which has been going on at the Beverly Farms fire station for several weeks past, took place on Thursday evening of last week when a splendid supper was served, together with an informal entertainment consisting of speeches, recitations and music. The gem of the program, however, was furnished by Lieut. Gregory P. Connolly, who gave an interesting talk on his experiences overseas with the 102d Infantry. His audience was entertained for over an hour and everybody was sorry when he had concluded his talk.

She was born in Preston pl., Beverly Farms, the youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ebenezer K. Morrill, and until a few years ago always lived here. She attended the First Baptist church and was a member of the Order of Mooseheart. Besides a husband she leaves three small children. Funeral services were held yesterday afternoon at her late home and interment was made at the Beverly Farms cemetery.

OUR RESPONSIBILITIES

Only as We Shoulder Them Shall We Continue to Succeed

J. Odgen Armour believes that: "Only as we shoulder individual responsibilities shall we continue to succeed nationally." This is his message in the Armour year book for 1920.

"Unless we each recognize the other's problems," maintains Mr. Armour, "conflict is inevitable. The citizen must comprehend business, for this country's progress is built on business activity, and what injures business injures the nation as a whole.

"Investment is essential to business and investment will not be made where there is constant harassment of capital.

"Democratic principles upon which this country is founded are safe so long as we all respect them, realizing that we are bound by mutual interests and that no one group can permanently secure an unfair bargain at the expenses of others."

Referring to the high cost of living, it is held that "Everybody is responsible." Some of the reasons why prices are high as set forth in the year book are: Inflated currency, scarcity of staple goods in Europe, higher wages, reduced output due to interrupted production on account of strikes and shorter hours, price fixing by the government, thus interfering with the natural laws of supply and demand, loss of life and a colossal consumption of food, fuel, metals and other industrial material during the war, together with a wave of unprecedented buying extravagance that has given every opportunity and encouragement toward price boosting and profiteering.

Remedies suggested for the high cost of living are hard work, economical buying, more goods, greater care in consumption, less credit.

West Beach Corporation Meeting a Tame Affair

The annual meeting of the West Beach corporation was held in G. A. R. hall, Beverly Farms, Monday, Feb. 16. Unlike the meetings of old, when the people gathered together in real town meeting style and discussed the various issues that came before them in connection with the beach, and when at times the hall could not accommodate the crowd that attended,—the meeting this year was slimly attended.

The business transacted was that in connection with consideration of

TAKING PRECAUTION

May Quarantine the World in War on Corn Borer

To determine whether or not it is advisable to quarantine all foreign countries to prevent further entrance of the European corn borer into the United States, a hearing called by the Secretary of Agriculture was held in the offices of the Federal Horticultural Board on Feb. 12. The findings of the board will be announced shortly. If quarantine is found advisable, it will apply to stalks and ears of Indian corn, broom corn, sweet sorghums, grain sorghums, Sudan grass, Johnson grass, sugar cane, including the Japanese varieties, pearl millet, Napier grass, teosinte and Job's tears. It will not apply to shelled corn or to the thrashed seeds of the other plants. It will apply to any parts of those plants in the raw or unmanufactured state that may be used for packing or similar purposes.

Authority is conferred by the plant quarantine act to prohibit entirely or to restrict the importation of any plants. The European corn borer is supposed to have entered the United States in shipments of broom corn and has obtained a limited foothold in the eastern part of the country. Large sums of money are being spent in an effort to control it. The enormous value of corn, the premier crop of the nation, makes it necessary to take all possible precautions to prevent further infestation.

Horticultural Hall Pictures

Manager Sanborn announces a double attraction for the pictures at Horticultural hall, Manchester, next Tuesday afternoon and evening.

Wm. S. Hart in "John Petticoats" and Enid Bennett in "What Every Woman Learns" will be the feature pictures; and there will also be the Ford Weekly and Fox News.

There will be no show Saturday. The pictures on Washington's Birthday were very good, and a big crowd was out both afternoon and evening.

Some of the coming attractions include: Elsie Ferguson in "Counterfeit," Irene Castle in "The Invisible Bond," Wallace Reid in "Hawthorne of the U. S. A.," and Fatty Arbuckle in "The Garage."

To the credit of Manager Sanborn and the pictures shown in Manchester it is of interest to note that "Evangeline," the film shown here on Christmas Day, is being featured this week at the Bowdoin Sq. theatre, Boston, and last week it was shown at the Waldorf theatre, Lynn. "Checkers," the picture that was featured here on Thanksgiving Day, is one of the headliners advertised in connection with the opening of a new theatre in Gloucester next week.

Mr. Sanborn is giving Manchester and vicinity a good clean show, with pictures that are not old, and in many cases that have not been run in this vicinity before.

TIMBER RESOURCES

NEW ENGLAND HAS AN UNDEVELOPED WEALTH

An idea of the undeveloped wealth of New England in timber may be gained from a statement in the last number of the Waterbury, Vt., Record, a paper published in the heart of the Green Mountains—under the shadow, as it were, of both Mount Mansfield and Camel's Hump. The Record says that a manufacturer of hardwood lumber, near Waterbury, was "caught" last year with a considerable quantity of hardwood flooring on his hands, which he had been trying to dispose of. He may have regarded the incident at this time as a misfortune, but he has just sold this particular lot of flooring at a total advance of $30,000 above what he was willing to sell it for last year, the price of hardwood flooring having advanced in the meantime to $86 a thousand. The same grade of flooring sold at $30 a thousand only a few years ago, and there had been an advance from $76 a thousand to $86 within ten days. Here, therefore, there was an actual fortune, at least for a Vermont lumberman or sawyer, in the increase in value of one lot of hardwood flooring alone, in one year's time.

Hard Woods to be Cut

Naturally an incident like this raises the question whether there are as yet considerable bodies of timber, affording like profits to those who exploit it, on New England hills. And one may be sure that there is. The Waterbury Record says that in the neighborhood of that town there are thousands of acres that are well timbered in hardwoods—chiefly maple, beech and birch. No doubt it had been assumed that this hardwood is too scattered to make it very profitable to timber it. At the old rates for such timber it might have been so, but at prices which now prevail the increased cost of lumbering scattered trees may be more than met. At all events, the Green Mountains are going to be lumbered for hardwoods after this. And there are in Maine and New Hampshire great areas of equally valuable hardwoods, as well as a good deal of scattered pine which now becomes a valuable proposition.

Scrubby Timber Is Valuable

The same should be found true with regard to pulp-wood. All who have traveled much in northern New England are aware of the seemingly endless stretches of low and more or less scrubby timber, which never appeared likely, under previous conditions, to become very valuable. But all this is at least available for pulpwood, and the supply of it is boundless. To realize upon it should be merely a matter of organization. It will not harvest itself, nor is it a matter for small, furtive or timid enterprise. These more or less scattered areas will need to be handled on a large scale and with ample capital. But it appears incredible that the thousands of miles of woods within New England should not be ample for New England's hardwood and newsprint paper industries.

tion. That has to be lamented, from the æsthetic and the sentimental point of view. But those who love the beauty even of the scrub woods may rejoice that the devastation wrought by cutting is always temporary. No New England woodland ever became a desert. The woods spring up again, in our climate, like the grass of the field. In a very few years the young woods are back again in their refreshing green. Anyhow, we may be reasonably certain that the timber resources of many neglected sections in New England will be developed quite intensively in the next few years.—Boston Transcript.

A PARAGON

The man who promptly pays his bills
Will grease the wheels of trade.
And he will feel much better, too,
When all his bills are paid.
Procrastination is a vice
That debtors should avoid,
Especially if they don't like
By duns to be annoyed.

The man who promptly pays his bills
May proudly hold his head.
Collectors may chase other men,
But he need have no dread.
What, though his friends have limousines,
And cut a social dash,
If all the tradesmen say of him:
"He's just as good as cash!"

The man who promptly pays his bills
Is very much too rare:
When the millenium arrives
We'll see him everywhere.
Meanwhile, unbounded joy to him,
And may his tribe increase,
Till all of us, as he does now,
The wheels of trade shall grease!

DAYLIGHT SAVINGSThose Interested in This Measure Should Work for It

The matter of daylight savings is being agitated by Cong. Frederick W. Dallinger, of Massachusetts. This is of interest to almost everybody. The chief opposition is from the farmers, their claim being that daylight savings works an injury to their business.

The vast majority of people, including those who work in offices, factories, or stores, would appreciate daylight savings this year. The extra hour of daylight during the summer months gives the people an opportunity to do some gardening, thus furnishing a chance for them to raise their own vegetables and help decrease the cost of living.

The Boston Transcript recently published the following dispatch from Washington.

"Cong. Frederick W. Dallinger, of Massachusetts, said today that his bill providing daylight savings for the eastern zone would be enacted if persons living in the zone would impress upon Congress, by petition and otherwise, that they want such a law. Otherwise, he said, the measure would be pigeon-holed by the committee on interstate and foreign commerce, to which it has been referred.

People Must Demand Action

"As a general rule," said Mr. Dallinger today, "a bill cannot pass the House and Senate unless there is a widespread and active demand for action on it by Congress. It is not enough that the people want certain legislation in a passive sort of way. They must make known their wants. Coming under this general rule is my bill to provide daylight savings in the eastern zone of time. The people of the east, those who would be affected by this proposed legislation, want the war-time daylight savings law re-enacted for peace-time pursuits. What was found a saving of light bills, a conservator of daylight and universally a tremendous convenience in time of war, can well be applied to the time of peace. The people living in the eastern zone are almost unanimous in their belief in daylight savings; and there is just one reason why no provision has been made for it. That is—they haven't shown sufficient interest in it, they haven't actively fought for it.

Civic Organizations Endorse Bill

"Practically all of the civic organizations in the east have endorsed daylight savings. When the bill came up for the repeal of the national act, a tremendous and well-organized demand for a continuance of the law made itself felt in Washington, so much so that even many Congressmen, representing largely rural communities, voted against the repeal of the act, with the result that it was only by a small margin that the Solid South and the Solid West were able to triumph over the East. If this demand could again make itself felt, that part of Congress coming from the eastern states could be depended upon to insist on its early consideration, and since the west and south would not be affected no opposition should be expected from either.

"To guard against pigeonholing and ultimate interment of the daylight savings bill, an attempt, already partially successful, is being made to get the boards of trade and kindred organizations throughout the east to actively interest themselves in this proposed legislation."

It is estimated that New Yorkers waste food amounting in value to nearly $16,000,000 within a short space of time. This amount of money would buy food sufficient to feed the inhabitants of a city the size of Memphis, Tenn., for a year. About a third of the food wasted in New York is bread.

Don't nurse opportunity too long—take it into active partnership with you at once, lest it leave you for other company.

Bedding and Hardy Plants

It is nearing Spring and time to think of planting. Orders should be placed with your florist in advance this season as the demand will exceed the supply. We are growing thousands of bedding plants such as geraniums, heliotrope, petunias, fuchsias, periwinkle, begonias and quite a number of other kinds that are used mostly for outdoor planting and window boxes.

We also offer hardy plants such as larkspur, Canterbury bells, iris, peonies, lupin, foxglove and pansies. Tubs of hydrangeas and box trees to sell or let for the season.

At all times our ideas and experience are at your service, either in helping you in choosing, or in taking entire charge of your landscape planting.

Call or telephone; we are always pleased to be of assistance to you, and to give you the benefit of our suggestions.

Native or Foreigner, Young or Old, Male or Female—These Matters Not Considered

By MRS. RUSSELL S. CODMAN

(Reprinted from Boston Sunday Herald)

I MISSED my train by half a minute and had two hours to wait.

The station was crowded; after some difficulty I found an unoccupied seat and I sat down and watched the people surrounding me, passing to and fro.

An Italian couple with six children and an infinite variety of bundles sat opposite me and they looked as if they had already sat there for hours. The children rolled and cantered about the seats until one or two of them mercifully fell asleep. The father and mother appeared so inert and stupefied that I wondered how they would know when and where their train would start.

I then noticed an elderly woman coming down our aisle; she was dressed in a faded green suit, and carried only a little bag which she nervously clutched. She looked about in a troubled, agitated way, and seeing an empty seat next the Italians, she sank down apparently exhausted. Repeatedly she glanced at the clock, and then with trembling fingers, she drew out from her bag a pair of black cotton gloves, and a black veil badly crumpled. Unskilfully she tied the veil around her green plush hat, and it dropped in irregular folds about her worn, unhappy face. In this hasty donning of a veil of mourning, I divined a sudden call to a deathbed, a call, no doubt, that came too late; and while my pitying eyes read these signs of evident distress, I wished I could do something for her.

Cheaply Dressed, Rouged, Powdered

An unpleasantly strong perfume drew my attention to a girl sitting in one seat beyond mine. She was dressed in the latest of the most ridiculous of recent fashions. Her hat hid one eye and her hair covered both ears and the greater portion of her cheeks. While her hat and her hair concealed what might be properly shown, her coat and waist were indiscreetly open. In like manner an abbreviated skirt displayed a long length of transparent stocking whose transparency was punctured by several holes. Her heels were so high and narrow that I fancied she must be an expert equilibrist to be able to walk on them. Everything about her was of the cheapest kind; she turned towards me and I saw her lips were rouged and her cheeks powdered. I also saw a silly face, with a pleasant, good-natured expression; very young, scarcely 16, I thought. I smiled amused as I looked at her; encouraged, apparently, by this, she called out to me across the intervening empty seat.

"Say, can you tell how long lasts a movie show in the city? That guy who carried my suit case just now says there's a swell movie close by; but I says I'll miss my train home—but he says—I've plenty of time—he's gone to find out."

I remember noticing a displeasing looking man beside me, who had left his seat a minute before, so I asked hesitatingly, "Is your friend going with you?"

"Sure, but he ain't no real old friend; we kind of talked in the street car, and he carried my suit case; I've been shopping around; but he's alright, he's got a swell job with a lady's hair shop. He gave me this stuff to put on my face. How does it look? Swell, ain't it?"

She fortunately did not wait for an answer and went on:

"He says I'd better myself in the city, but I says, I must stay at home and help mother with the kids; there are eight of us, and I'm the oldest of the bunch, but it ain't no fun with all those kids about."

It was naturally not for me to advise her, yet she seemed so young and foolish that I felt worried about her going off with this man, but I could think of no way of preventing her.

Like Docile Sheep

At that moment a quietly dressed young woman came down our aisle. She stopped before the Italian family, and after a rapid inquiry, picked up one of the children who had slipped to the floor, and seizing some of their parcels, took one of the children by the hand and piloted them all out of the station. They followed her like docile sheep and I wondered who she was.

The two converging streams of people flowed through the waiting room. A long distance train must have arrived judging by the many persons laden with bags of all sorts trudging in, and who showed every sign of travel stain and weariness, while suburbanites hurrying homewards formed the current coming from the outside. It was a passing show representing every degree in the social scale, a vast concourse, a moving reel of unconscious actors where the observant spectator saw displayed in the many meetings and farewells farcical comedies and intimate tragedies.

I realized for the first time that a railroad station is the stage set for realities at play, where the usually impassive mask is lifted for a moment. These faces expressed eagerness, impatience, ill-temper, anxiety, helplessness. I noticed feverishly excited gestures, and slow, uncertain movements. It was especially the helpless, the stranger, the foreigner that arrested my attention; I felt their urgent need for guidance, but who in this surging crowd could take the traveler by the hand and lead him safely on his way?

There came a lull; every seat was filled with people looking tired and morose, when suddenly a child's voice was heard, loudly singing, and a sturdy little fellow walking between his young father and mother, plainly showing their pride in their robust offspring, came down our aisle. A smile appeared on even the most sullen faces when the child went by, as if a sunbeam had pierced the shadow of our discomfort. I also was smiling until my eyes fell on the black veiled woman opposite me. An expression of intense anguish distorted her pale lips as the merry boy went by and two tears, unheeded, fell from her mournful eyes. Her head drooped forward and she sat motionless. I knew then for a certainty for whom she was grieving and my heart was wrung with pity.

Discharged Soldier Wanted Advice

An hour had passed. I got up and went idly to the newsstand. A young soldier with the overseas cap was standing there scrutinizing a stamped paper he held in his fingers as if unable to decipher it. He stopped a colored porter who brushed past him, carrying a lady's bag, and asked him a question. The porter shook his head and went on. The young fellow evidently wanted some advice, but how could I go up and speak to him. He might think it queer; if I had been quite old I should have ventured to. He looked at me once, or rather at the left

THE OUTSTANDING POLITICAL announcements during the last fortnight in Massachusetts are the publication of General Wood's platform and the appointment of Congressman W. W. Lufkin, of Essex, to take full charge of the campaign for the Leonard Wood League in Massachusetts. The two announcements indicate that the Wood delegation in Massachusetts will probably be a strong one, not alone because of the favorite son argument, but because of the strong platform of the General and the efficient leaders in charge of his campaign. Congressman Lufkin from our district is a competent leader, a straightaway Republican and has been trained as a newspaper and political worker. His efficient service as secretary to former Congressman Gardner and the painstaking way in which he has cared for the varied interests of his constituents, indicate his qualities of leadership.

The strong following which Roosevelt had in this district and the constituency which both Congressmen Gardner and Lufkin enjoyed would indicate that the vote will run strong. It is interesting to note that General Leonard Wood comes out, not for universal military training, but for a small and an efficient army. He believes that the burden of the war expenditures should be distributed over a longer period of years than now planned, that the railroads were rightly returned to private ownership, that our international policy should be dignified and conservative, and that our consular service should be well equipped and carefully maintained as a first line of national defence. He stands squarely for an honorable administration of justice for both labor and capital, and a call for honesty in daily work and business administration. He favors a protective tariff adjusted to the changing conditions, which are inevitable. As a part of our national program "we should develop from the great fleet now in our possession, a suitable merchant marine as an aid to our commerce and as a reserve to our navy." He is against governmental extravagance and for an economical budget system of finance. He is against destructive communism or socialism and for "respect for law and order and the rights of property, the rights of the individual, for everything rests upon this." Class legislation he abhors and he calls for a "government which our fathers intended to have and which we must have if we are to preserve our liberties and be prosperous and happy at home and respected abroad."

It appears now that the Wood campaign is fairly launched in Massachusetts with efficient leadership and with a strong platform. It is interesting to note that the selection of the Essex County leader and his nearness to Senator Henry Cabot Lodge may indicate the feeling which the senior senator entertains toward the Wood candidacy. From all appearance Massachusetts will not send an unpledged delegation, but one instructed for General Leonard Wood.

As a LION as usual! Will such a March have the meekness to go out like the lamb?

IT IS FITTING THAT MANCHESTER and every other town on the Shore erect a permanent memorial to honor the memory of the men who laid down their lives in the last war and to honor officially the men who served in the army and navy. In Beverly Farms a Roll of Honor, done in bronze, is to be placed upon the walls of the public library building. Upon the Honor Roll will be the names of the men of that vicinity who served for the nations in the armies and navies. The city of Beverly is still formulating plans. Manchester has committed itself to the erection of a new town hall as a memorial. The selection of a suitable plan for a memorial is a difficult and important task. The committee appointed to consider plans and to report have worked diligently and successfully. Their recommendation was received with favor by the voters of the town in meeting assembled. The selection of a building as a permanent memorial is in keeping with the trend of the times. The town has a good library in a memorial building and no other type of building save a town hall could adequately express the will of the people. The town has long needed a new building and it now appears assured. The original building was erected in 1868. The building was thoroughly remodeled in 1893. A new building to replace the old has been needed for a long while. The decision to build the new building practically upon the site of the present structure was to have been expected. The town authorities will consider all sides of the proposition carefully and construction will be postponed or begun as the market conditions for labor and material may command. The whole plan will be carefully worked out and Manchester eventually will have a memorial that will worthily commemorate the service of the men who were in the war, and yet put the funds invested in a permanent building that will meet a need of the town. The action of the town seems to accord with the plans of many other cities and towns.

IT IS A LONG WINTER that has no ending.

A FORMER RESIDENT OF BEVERLY, and now a tourist to regions in the far west, writes to the editor of the Beverly Times, that "I have just covered by motor the coast roads of California,—San Francisco to Los Angeles and from there down to San Diego. Here often the mountains meet the sea and wonderful vistas are opened to the tourists. But give me the North Shore Drive, where you do not have to hold your automatic in one hand and where you can motor by night in security. Your North Shore is without rival." Here is a tribute to the old home by one who has wandered afar. California has its attractions, which New England is willing to concede. The North Shore, all appreciate, is the dearest spot on earth in the good summer time. Just a breath of the balmy air of a California spring would be heartening in the midst of the present visitation of storm, cold weather, sleet, snow and rain. Quebec has no attractions to offer now compared with the outdoor winter opportunities of an over snow tramp. The famous North Shore Drive is buried beneath the snows of two months with leveled snow heaps reaching from fence top to fence top and with roads that have driven only the most indefatigable business motor operator from the road. There is a crust on the snow in many places untouched by the mid-day sun that will support the weight of a man, and so hard in places that even the deer have not cut through. The North Shore has advantages for the summer and the winter, but for motoring the pleasures are with other seasons than the present one.

THE ILLNESS OF THE PRESIDENT has aroused an interest in a grave oversight in our Constitution. If the present President be not as ill as rumor would have him be, the question is still a pertinent one and should be answered. Who is to decide when incapacity exists in the presidency? The succession in office because of deaths is comparatively simple, for the vice-president automatically becomes the president. The question of incapacity is a serious and a more difficult problem, as the present unfortunate situation indicates. It is manifest that the power of determining incapacity cannot be vested in an individual such as the vice-president nor in the Cabinet, subject as they are legally to the will of the president. The fate of Lansing indicates the folly of such action. An ill-tempered and incapacitated president might have shrewdness enough to command the resignation of all his cabinet; and besides, the men who are subject to the appointment of the president would be slow to act against their chief. The vesting of authority in the Senate and House of Representatives would upset the fine balance intended between the executive and the legislative branches of the government. The power ought not to rest with the Supreme Court, which according to our Constitution initiates nothing; it reviews, considers and renders judgment. The way out appears clear: If the vote of the Senate and House of Representatives should not make the judgment because of the conflict of partisan politics, in an apparent situation of a probable incapacity in the president, a vote could present the question to the Supreme Court for due consideration and their judgment. It would be a painful task for a supreme court judge to vote against the chief who may indeed have appointed him, but the high type of men who have served on the Supreme bench and the traditions of their unimpeachable integrity, would assure that the consideration of the incapacity of the president for the conduct of his office would be dealt with upon high grounds of honor and national law and above partisan or any sinister influence. The question should be carefully considered in all its phases apart from any consideration of the physical condition of the present President of the United States. The present conditions indicate that there may come a time when the nation shall require a method of determining the incapacity of the highest officer in the land. There is a bill before Congress considering the matter and which, if it becomes law, does not go into effect until the first of the new year. This, apparently, lifts the whole question as it should above the consideration of the present illness of the President.

"As THE DAYS begin to lengthen the cold begins to strengthen," is the philosophy of an old New England "saw." Let it be hoped that the prospects are better!

THE CONSTITUTION OF MASSACHUSETTS is an old and revered instrument which is respected by all for its spirit, the purposes which it has served and the successful legislative and judicial work which has been accomplished under it. It was inevitable, however, as days and years went by that the document should need revision in order that the great work of such a modern state as Massachusetts could be more simply and effectively done. To change the Constitution required a Constitutional convention which was eventually called by the people of Massachusetts. Delegates were officially elected to seats in the convention and after two interesting and efficient sessions the convention referred to the people certain amendments for consideration and these were legally adopted by the state to be a part of the Constitution. A rearrangement of the articles of the Constitution was made. The new arrangement, however, has not stood the test of the Supreme Court of the state of Massachusetts which rules wisely, according to the premises that the originally arranged Constitution is the Constitution of the state. Here is a dilemma that is interesting as well as vexing. The expense of the two sessions of the Constitutional convention was great and the work done needed and commendable. Yet that work is not made efficiently available because of the Supreme Court ruling. What is the way out of the dilemma? Some suggest that a new Constitutional convention is necessary. Senator Augustus P. Loring, of this district, thinks that a simpler way will meet the difficulty and has introduced and defended his idea. It has now been reported by the Senate committee favorably. It would appear that his judgment in the matter is good. The amendment which he proposes would meet the objection raised by the Supreme Court. It is the obvious move to make first; it is expeditious and involves no expenditure of funds, and if it fails the call of a convention is still possible.

ALL THE CHURCHES are maintaining go-to-church campaigns, but they appear to be having no encouragement from the weather bureau.

ONE OF THE MOST REPREHENSIBLE atrocities of the recent war was the manufacture and the use of asphyxiating gas by the German army. The use of the death-dealing destruction by modern explosives was diabolical enough without the introduction of death-dealing gases. With all the recognized cruelties of war, gas should be prohibited despite the favorable recovery record which appears. No one, however, can consider the discoverer or the manufacturer of the dreadful gas a benefactor of mankind. As a work of pure science, perhaps grudgingly, the credit may be accorded the chemical worker in Germany who discovered it, but as a public benefaction it can have no place in modern recognition. The Nobel prizes for work in economics and medicine were accorded this year to two Frenchmen, who have declined to receive the awards because the chemistry award was made to the German discoverer of war gas. The protest was to have been expected and the position taken by the plucky Frenchmen is both just and patriotic. It may be that the Swedish Academy was restricted in its judgment by pre-war regulations that prevented the exclusion of destructive chemical discoveries. However that may be, the award of a Nobel prize to a worker in chemistry for a discovery that has brought suffering, blindness and death to countless thousands, must be condemned. Anyone who has seen that loyal Beverly Farms man who lost a leg because of gas infection in the clothing he wore when injured can thoroughly appreciate the attitude of the two plucky Frenchmen. The regulations for awards of prizes should have automatically eliminated the discovery or discoverer of chemical secrets that are a harm to mankind. Either the Swedish Academy or the donor of the money, or both, are wrong in the award of such a prize.

THERE HAVE BEEN open winters on the North Shore so that dandelion greens have been picked for the table as early as March 19th. The snow will still be with us on that date this year.

GENERAL PERSHING has been to Boston and has received a democratic welcome from the officials of the city and the state. The citizens sought to honor the official representative of the American Expeditionary Forces who served in France. Previous to his entry and his enjoyment of the freedom and hospitality of the city and state, rumors were evident of a feeling of enmity or at least coolness on the part of some of those who were in service overseas. It is certain that these indications of unwillingness to welcome Pershing were exaggerated somewhat by the pronounced feelings of some and the reticence of others. The situation, in the face of any criticism just or unjust which could be launched against General Pershing, demanded that the citizens of Boston give him the honorable welcome which his high position in the army and his creditable service commanded. Such Boston gave to Pershing unstintedly, with a whole heart and a good spirit. Boston could do none other than express the true spirit of hospitality for which Boston is noted; despite its reputation for New England coldness. General Pershing was the recognized and highest authority in the American army that went overseas and the worthy record that the army made and the service which it rendered to the nations of the earth should and does command respect.

THE BANE OF LIFE has been the militaristic policy of Germany. It has driven Great Britain and the United States to develop large navies, and has impelled them to look to their military preparations with a keen eye and a spirit of protection and not aggrandizement. What has been the result? Has America become militaristic? Has the martial tread of armies turned the minds of the people from the pursuits of peace? Have the young men returned from the training camps of America and the battlefields of the old world with a spirit of fire eating, high brow militarists and militant agitators? Have diplomats and statesmen, workmen and merchants been forced to change their views of life, and desires for peace? Have the preachments of priests and rectors, curates and ministers been of no avail? In truth may it be said that militarism has been its own undoing. The very tragedy of Germany's preparedness has been the undoing of militarism in the thinking of all mankind. They who advocate it see it as an evil and not as a "good," as a chosen compromise in lieu of a more desirable peace and the reign of brotherly love. Militarism as a desirable "good" and as a national policy is dead. War has killed it.

The men who went overseas and those who were in camps in America are they who hate it most and shrink from its imposing horrors. The war has taught the necessity of preparation, but it has shown the futility of militarism as a policy for the individual or for the nation. One can see this plainly in the trend of the times, but one is hardly prepared for the actual statistics of West Point recruits. One would be led to believe that the war would stimulate West Point ambitions in the minds of the young men of the nation, and yet the opposite is true. Never has it been more difficult for the nation to find men fitted and willing to undertake the severe training at the military academy. Exponents of military principles are not advocating a large army, but a small and efficient army. Returning soldiers cannot get into civilian clothing too quickly and it is difficult to get them back into their uniforms even for ceremonial occasions. It means just what every American would have it mean,—it means that militarism is hated by America. It is an undesirable and unwonted attitude of mind and life. It is a responsibility that must be impelled by high motives and purposes of peace. It means that the world is safe; that whether democracy has a long road to travel and though the way be rough and long, at heart the spirit of man loathes bloodshed, slaughter, militarism, anarchism, and yearns for peace and the pursuits of happiness.

Vitally, bolshevism and sovietism are but the symptoms of a rebellious mood of large numbers of the human family. They are rebelling against conditions and the conditions have been brought about by militarism. Prosperity, ways of peace, the pursuits of an honorable life kill rampant anarchism and mistaken bolshevism as the sunlight burns the dew from the grass in the morning hours after the dews and damp of the dark hours.

The heart of man is right. It has in it the fire of love, the joy of domesticity, the desire for the quiet walks of peace. America hates the ways of war; but will not shrink from responsibility or suffering when duty and responsibility compel. It never has, whether in 1776, 1812, 1861, 1898 or 1917. The record stands and the records read through war to peace with justice, and not war for war and the works of war. War is destructive. Militarism is the arch spirit that compels it. America will eschew the arch spirit when it goes to war for it knows the tyranny of the demon spirit. America is not and cannot be militaristic. Its policy of preparedness is to have an insurance against war and no more!

Breezy Briefs

The Sunday Plain Dealer and the Sunday News-Leader, of Cleveland, have been advanced to 10c per copy. Thus will the people of Cleveland pay extra for another necessity of life.

New York's Health department states that glue, zinc, lead, copper, and other foreign substances have been found in the ice cream there. Truly the Gothamites are a sturdy people.

We hope soon to see a friend of auld lang syne: The sidewalks of our streets which have been missing for lo! these many weeks.

Apropos of the winter conditions prevailing in one section of New England, an exchange prints the following item:

"When a man living on a rural delivery route complained to the postmaster at Augusta that he hadn't got any mail for a week or two the postmaster said that the carrier had been covering the route every day on snowshoes. Then the man went home and, according to his story, discovered some snowshoe tracks that had escaped his notice, and following them up found that the carrier had been leaving his mail day after day in the birdhouse on the ridgepole of his barn."

The possibility of a false teeth famine faced New York last week when members of the Dental Workers' Industrial union struck for shorter hours and increased pay. Hang on to your false teeth!

Smith college students are not keen for the teaching profession. A recent canvass of the graduating class revealed the following information, which was contained in a report from the department of education: "Only one-half of one percent of the class that will graduate this year intend to enter what has been called a vanishing profession."

Herbert Hoover sounded a note of warning in a recent speech in Chicago, asserting that farms are being neglected to an alarming degree in the United States. Instead of supplying a large part of the world with food we will be obliged to import if present conditions continue.

New spring hats for men will average about $10 each this year it is stated. Man has lost another prerogative. No longer can he rave about the high prices of women's hats!

The ball players of the big leagues have gone to their training camps in the south,—possibly they did not care to stay any longer in the cold northland.

The population of Boston as taken in the last census shows a decline. Labor difficulties, the H. C. L., and other reasons for this are alleged, but it might be said that perhaps the crookedness of Boston's streets is partly responsible for this falling off in population.

SOCIETY NOTES

DEMAND for rentals on the North Shore the coming summer is excellent, say real estate men. Many of the estates and cottages were leased last season, but there are yet many places in the market—somewhat later than usual, perhaps, because of the severe winter weather, thus keeping prospective tenants away from the secluded North Shore estates.

Among the real estate changes and improvements noted in the Manchester section, is that of the Morgan heirs on Proctor st., Smith's Point. The cottage occupied for so many years by Dr. and Mrs. Maynard Ladd and family is being remodelled and enlarged for Mr. and Mrs. Frederic A. Parkhurst, of Cleveland, O., who were at the R. D. Skinner cottage, Manchester Cove, last season.

The building across the street, used by Mrs. Ladd for so many years as a studio, is being remodelled and changed over for occupancy. This will be occupied by Chas. P. Curtis and family, of Beacon st., Boston. Both these buildings are being let unfurnished on long-term leases, the arrangements being made through the office of T. Dennie Boardman, Reginald and R. deB. Boardman, of Boston and Manchester. This firm has also made the following four leases, which we are able to announce this week.

Payne Whitney and family, of Fifth ave., New York, who had Herbert Sears' estate at Pride's Crossing last season, will return to the North Shore this year, and will again be at Pride's Crossing, but they will occupy a different place. What was known as the Cochrane estate, now owned by Mr. Sears, will be their place of abode this year.

The Hooper estate at West Manchester, one of the largest on the Shore, will again be occupied by John Markle and family, of New York.

Frederic R. Galacar and family, of Boston, will again occupy the Cushing cottage at Beverly Farms.

Isaac W. Jeanes and family, of Philadelphia, who spent last summer in the James Lee house at Magnolia, has leased it for another season.

For the benefit of the Beverly Health Centre a concert will be given at High school hall, Beverly, on Tuesday evening, Mar. 23, at 8 o'clock, by the well-known pianist, Guy Maier. Mr. Maier has deservedly won a high reputation in Boston, where he makes his home, and in cities of France, where he was connected with the Y. M. C. A. during the war. The press comments on his concerts in Boston last fall give him great praise. The opinions of the Paris press also speak of his wonderful talent and ability. Mr. Maier speaks briefly before each piece and in his closing number, Debussy's "Toy Box," he tells the story while he plays it.

The Misses Loring are among those who have spent the winter on the North Shore, and who have been able to partake of the over-abundant supply of severe winter weather with all its snow and ice, its continued adverse traveling conditions both by train and over the highways. They have spent the winter at Pride's Crossing, but will leave the latter part of this month for their customary visit to Aiken. Miss Louisa P. Loring has been active in Red Cross work, as usual, and has taken a live interest in the emergency work in Beverly during the trying winter weather, when the Red Cross, the Public Health and other community organizations joined hands in carrying relief where needed. Judge and Mrs. Wm. C. Loring are still at Bermuda, where the delightful climate has benefitted Judge Loring's health.

George Lee has purchased the old Lee homestead, at Beverly Farms, and will improve the house for occupancy next season. The property is located on the eastern end of West Beach. Part of the estate had previously been sold to R. P. Snelling, who has a summer home on the extreme easterly end of the estate; and another section was sold to George A. Dobyne, who has built a fine summer home within the last two years. "Villa al mare," the Italian villa where Mr. and Mrs. Lee and family summer, is located across the street from this property.

Gordon Dexter, of Beverly Farms and Boston, has purchased of ex-Senator H. F. Lippitt the 66-ft. express cruiser, Mary Ann, which will be used in North Shore waters. This boat has normal speed of 26 miles an hour and was built two years ago by Herreshoff. Power is supplied by a pair of 200-horsepower gasoline motors. Mr. Dexter's steam yacht, Admiral, and a former steam yacht, the Pawnee, are now owned by the government.

Franklin T. Pfaelzer, of Boston, who had one of the cottages at Windemere Park, off School st., Manchester, last summer, has bought the residence of Chester L. Crafts, at 117 School st., Manchester, for a summer home. This is almost adjoining the Essex County club grounds. Mr. Pfaelzer and family live at 202 Beacon st., Boston. Their son, Franklin T., Jr., is at Harvard. Mr. Pfaelzer, Sr., is a member of the Essex County club, as was his father, who for many years was a summer guest at Brownland cottages, Old Neck, Manchester.

Mr. and Mrs. Washington B. Thomas have just returned to their Boston home, 20 Gloucester st., after a visit to Bermuda. Randolph Appleton, of Ipswich, has also been a visitor to Boston this winter.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter D. Denégre and Miss Elaine Denégre, who are spending the winter in Washington, left there this week for their customary winter visit to their home in New Orleans. They will spend March in the south, coming back to the capital for the spring.

The death this week, at Calumet, Mich., of Mrs. Maria D. (Agassiz) Felton, wife of Cornelius C. Felton, brings sorrow into a large number of Boston homes. Mrs. Felton was a young woman and was one of the North Shore's popular girls in the days before her marriage. Her marriage to Mr. Felton in Hamilton in September, 1916, was one of the important social events of the early fall. Her death, Monday, resulted from an attack of influenza, followed by malignant pneumonia, after only two days' illness. Mrs. Felton was in her twenty-fifth year. She was the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Rodolphe L. Agassiz, of Boston and "Homewood," Hamilton.

Mr. and Mrs. Felton have been living since their marriage, at Calumet, where Mr. Felton is connected with the underground department of the Calumet & Hecla Mining Co. During Mr. Felton's absence in the war, Mrs. Felton came east and occupied a cottage on her father's estate in Hamilton. Mr. Felton's home was in Haverford, Pa. He was a graduate of Harvard, 1916.

Besides her husband Mrs. Felton is survived by one young son, Cornelius C. Felton, Jr., also her parents and a sister, Miss Anna Agassiz.

WELFARE OF WAYFARERS GUARDED BY TRAVELER'S AID SOCIETY

lapel of my coat, and turned away as if disappointed.

Then I noticed two children, a boy and a girl, about 6 and 7 years old, come through the swinging doors carrying between them a bundle tied up in a red shawl, which they dropped close to me, and stood still beside it. I looked to see who was accompanying them, for they were too small to be alone, but nobody came. Their faces and hands were covered with soot, the little girl had a tag pinned to her coat, and they remained there motionless while people rushed by jostling them and stumbling over their bundle. They looked so forlorn I went up and asked the boy:

"Are you two traveling alone?" He nodded.

"Is somebody coming to meet you?" Again he nodded.

"Ma is coming," volunteered the little girl.

I looked about helplessly for any women who might be their mother.

"What's your ma's name?" I asked.

"Just ma," said the boy, speaking for the first time.

"What's her other name; what do people call her?"

"Auntie calls her Lulu," said the little girl, and then nearly crying, "I want to go back to Auntie."

Go Get the Traveler's Aid

"Where do you come from?" I asked.

"Paris," said the boy.

"Paris!" I ejaculated amazed, and at a loss to know what to do I consulted the young person selling magazines at the counter. "Go get the Traveler's Aid," she said, and resumed her reading of a pictorial.

I wondered what the Traveler's Aid meant, and the soldier who had overheard my question came to my help.

"The Traveler's Aid will see to those kids alright. There she is!" and he darted towards a young woman whom I recognized as the one who had piloted the Italian family out of the station. She was bending over the sorrowing woman still occupying the same seat. I heard her say: "Come with me now, I have got everything ready." She took her gently by the arm, then seeing the soldier's evident desire to speak to her, she said to him, "Can I do anything for you?" I noticed she was much younger than I.

"It's about my furlough, Ma'am."

"Wait for me here and I'll be back in a moment."

As she passed I saw a shield as a badge on her coat.

"Let's get the kiddies to sit with us," said the soldier, and seizing their bundle he made them sit down and he took the little girl on his knee.

The foolishly dressed girl was still in the same seat talking excitedly to the man who had been with her before.

"Tell me about the Traveler's Aid," I said as we sat side by side with the two children. They had followed us so willingly that I realized how easily any one could have carried them off.

"The Traveler's Aid ladies are just great," he said, enthusiastically. "They'll do anything for folks traveling. There was my poor little mother last year, went up to Ayer to see my brother in camp, sick with the flu. He was dying, see, when they sent for her, and she stayed with him till he passed away, and when she got back to the depot at Ayer, the last train had gone, and it was after midnight. She just went to pieces; but the Traveler's Aid lady, do you know what she did? She just took my poor little mother to her own room, and put her in her own bed, and heated some milk for her, and behaved like her own daughter would have done, see, although they'd never met before. And next day she put her on the train. Aw! they're great and no mistake."

Man Answered Her Angrily

I saw the young woman with the badge coming towards us and I looked at her with a new interest. She stopped before the girl and man near me who were still arguing; the former looked excited and disturbed; she spoke to them both. I did not hear what she said, but the man answered her angrily at first until she made a remark at which he stopped short, and he suddenly slunk away. The girl seized her hand and said, half crying:

"You've been awful good to me, and, say, I guess he was a bad one. I won't forget your kindness and I'll go straight home. I've just time to catch my train. Good-by!" And she went off as fast as her high heels and narrow skirt would let her.

The Traveler's Aid lady, as the soldier called her, followed the girl with her eyes, and then turned to the soldier with a bright smile, saying:

"And now what can I do for you?"

"I want to get home to my folks, see. My furlough says Geneva alright, but the ticket they gave me is no further than Chicago, and I ain't got the money for the rest of the trip. I sent my pay home, not thinking I'd get furloughed so soon, see. My father's fixed alright, but I ain't got enough cash even for a telegram, and that's the holy truth."

She sat down beside him, looked attentively at the paper he held out to her and at his ticket, then she spoke: "You go to Chicago, and I'll telegraph to your father to send the money for your ticket to Geneva, care of Traveler's Aid, Chicago. You'll get it from our agent in the station. Give me your father's address." She wrote down the directions the soldier gave her, and after thanking her, he added: "There's this lady picked up these kiddies, guess they're lost, but I says to her you'll square them alright, so good-by, ma'am."

After a vigorous handshake, he placed the little girl, as a matter of course, in the young woman's lap, and departed cheerfully in the knowledge that his affairs were well looked after.

I explained that I had found the children, and that I had no idea what to do with them, adding: "They say they come from Paris, but I don't see how it's possible they crossed the ocean like this and arrived in this station."

My companion examined the tag on the little girl's coat and answered me, smiling: "They have come from Paris, Me., and their mother lives in Boston; she will probably turn up here soon."

"And if she doesn't, what will you do?"

"I shall take them to the Children's Home, and keep them there until we have located the mother."

"Do you mind telling me how you helped that sad looking woman, I saw you leading out of the station?"

"I was notified by our agent in Ayer, to meet the 4 o'clock train; I had a description of that poor little lady whose son had just died in camp, and that she was bringing the body home. I got an undertaker to transfer it to the South station, and I have sent her across the city with another of our agents, who will put her on board her train, in a sleeper, as she still has a long journey to take."

Provides Aid, Guidance and Protection

Greatly impressed by such efficient and intelligent helpfulness, I asked: "Please tell me what is the Traveler's Aid. I never heard of it before."

She answered with a quiet smile at my ignorance: "The Traveler's Aid society began in different towns of the U. S. A. It was formed into a national society in 1917; it provides advice, guidance, protection and aid to all travelers who need our assistance, including every age, race and creed, and the different agencies are linked together in a close chain which insures our efficiency. This year in Easton we have assisted 26,000 people. We have had an acknowledgement from Adj.-Gen. Boyer for our help to the soldiers and their families at Ayer. The railroad officials cooperate with us in every way and continually send to us travelers in distress. We are on duty at this station from 7 a. m. to 11 p. m. in two shifts, but we often are here much longer; we don't count the minutes, we love our work. I believe every person ought to be a member of the Traveler's Aid just as they are of the Red Cross. They would pay $1 a year as a sort of premium of traveling insurance with the feeling that when their children traveling would also be looked after they would be the means of helping strangers arriving in unknown places. The old folks, the young girls, and the little children; all travelers would know that a friend was awaiting them in a strange city."

At that moment the little boy exclaimed, "There's ma," and ran to a woman who had just entered the waiting room. She rushed up to us and took in her arms the little girl, who had fallen asleep.

Having Trouble with a Drunken Man

"The man at the gate told us to look for the Traveler's Aid lady," she exclaimed, out of breath, and hugging the children close she added, with tears in her eyes, "I thought I'd lost them. I don't know how to thank you for your kindness to my babies. They are too young to travel alone, but it couldn't be helped." And after renewed thanks they went off happily together.

I was just thinking it was time for me to go to my train when one of the officials came to my companion and told her two conductors were having trouble with a drunken man, who was carrying a baby. "He is going to Buffalo and has a berth on the train, but he's so full of booze that we think he may roll over the baby in the night and smother it. He's got a bottle of stuff in his pocket.

There's a fellow here knows him and will look after him, but he can't take the baby."

My companion jumped up and at once accompanied the official. I followed, with a feeling of uncomfortable curiosity.

In the corner of the baggage room I heard loud, angry voices, and a man very drunk was hitting out right and left at two or three men who were trying to control him, while he held in one arm a tiny little girl whimpering with fright.

"I'm going to keep my baby, and I'm going home to my wife," he shouted.

Took the Child Away from Him

I was standing prudently at a distance when I saw the young woman go fearlessly up to the man. "Don't be silly," she said, "give me your baby, I'll look after it." He stopped his wild gestures and stared at her half stupefied. With a deft movement she took the child away from him, and cuddled it in her arms, then in a soothing voice she spoke again to the man: "Now go off with your friend, he'll make you comfortable for the night. I'll take your baby home and wash her and you'll have her all fresh and clean to bring home to your wife tomorrow."

"You're a nice, pretty woman," he stammered drunkenly.

"Alright; now give me the bottle I see sticking out of your pocket."

"Well, ma'am, seeing you treats me so respectful, I'll let you have it, and you'll find it real strong."

With this recommendation of his gift, he fumblingly handed over the whiskey, and still incoherently, but mildly protesting, he was led off by his friend.

With a pleasant nod to me and to the grinning train men she triumphantly carried off the baby, and the booze, and I saw her throw away the bottle, which broke in the corner of the baggage room. I was just in time to catch my train.

If North Shore summer visitors who may, perchance, read this item, have any fault to find with the workings of prohibition in their section of the country, they should cheer up and look forward to the warm days of the coming summer. By a decided majority Manchester voted in favor of license at its annual town meeting last month. This week Essex, the home of Congressman Lufkin, turned from dry to wet by a vote of 87 to 78. Rockport, on the tip end of Cape Ann, fell off the wagon at the town meeting Monday—the first time since the famous "hatchet brigade" days of Civil War fame. Beverly, the garden city of the North Shore, has promise of being a fertile territory in the otherwise arid section, too, for it went in for license at the December election. Yes, the North Shore will be a very "wet" place next summer, and ought to continue to be the most popular summer resort section of America.

Of the many sad and pathetic stories that reach the WHISPERER's ears from time to time, truly the most touching is that of the young man, who, one evening recently, banking on the fact that the trains were running unusually late because of the weather conditions, lengthened his evening's call some 15 minutes or so. Sad to say—from his viewpoint—the train was on time that night, and he was forced to spend two hours in solitude at the station waiting for the theatre train, during which, no doubt, he had plenty of time to figure out whether the train being on time, was due to the fact the government ownership was a thing of the past, or just due to the uncertainty of the game of taking a chance.

A FEATHER CONCLUSION

—From an Exchange—

The codfish lays a million eggs
While the thoughtful hen lays one,
But the codfish does not cackle
To inform us what she's done.
So we forget the drowsy cod,
But the cheerful hen we prize,
Which leads to the conclusion
That it pays to advertise.

—Written for the Breeze—

The rooster lays no eggs at all,
But busy just the same;
From morn till night, he's in the fight
And shows that he is "game."
He always essays "good display"
And yet he's not a snob,
For any time throughout the day
You'll find him on the job.

Some people never recognize misfortunes—that's why they succeed. Luck is largely a matter of courage.

MANCHESTER

Miss Ruth E. Norris, of Medford Hillside, was a week-end guest of Mrs. John C. Mackin, North st.

Mrs. Arthur Huddell, of Chelsea, visited with her sister, Miss A. Dow, Norwood ave., during the week-end.

Col. Frank Perkins, of Salem, is announced as the speaker at the Manchester club "get-together" of Friday evening, Mar. 19.

Major Simpson, of Essex, gave a most interesting and instructive talk before the Manchester Brotherhood Monday evening. An account of his talk is printed on page 20.

Master Stanwood Hooper entertained a party of his young friends at his home on Washington st., last Saturday afternoon, the occasion being his fifth birthday anniversary.

At the regular meeting of Conomo tribe of Red Men, at its hall, Manchester, on Wednesday evening the adoption degree was conferred on one paleface. The hunters and warriors' degree will be worked at the next meeting.

Mrs. Geo. F. Silver is expected home this week from a three months' stay in Daytona, Fla. Her sister, Mrs. Carthy, and Mrs. Antone Silva will remain several weeks longer. They recently went from Daytona to Palm Beach for a visit.

There will be a meeting of the Arbella club, Tuesday, Mar. 9, at the Food Centre. Miss Jordan, of the Boston Public Library, will be the speaker. It is hoped that every Arbella girl will be there promptly at 4 o'clock.

Miss Lucy Dennett, who has a number of violin pupils in Manchester, will be one of the soloists at a course of musicales given by the Lynn Historical society. Next Sunday morning Miss Dennett will play at the Community church, Danvers. On Sunday afternoon, a pupil, Florian Ostrowski, will play at the Salem Y. W. A. community sing.

Miss Sara Granville, who has been at T. Jefferson Coolidge's for the past 15 years, was one of the passengers on the Bohemian, bound for Ireland. Miss Granville lost all her personal baggage when the boat went to the bottom, but was fortunate in reaching land herself at Halifax. Miss Helen Warnock, who has been at Mrs. Thomas Harvey's, was also a passenger on this ship.

MANCHESTER

We regret to report the serious illness of Mrs. Hannah Tappan, who has been confined to her bed the past week.

Do not miss the talk on "Clothing Efficiency" by Mrs. Ruth Reed, of the state extension service, at the Town hall, tonight at 8.

George Chane arrived home Saturday from the Mass. Eye & Ear Infirmary after a week's stay at that institution for an ear trouble.

Principal John O. Matthews has recovered from his recent illness sufficiently to take up his duties at the Story High school the first of the week.

The call for shovellers to dig out the railroads last Sunday met with a ready response, a goodly number turning out to shovel out the freight yard and other railroad property.

H. B. Eldredge has returned from a two weeks' visit with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. H. W. Eldredge, at Antrim, N. H., and has resumed his duties as assistant editor of the BREEZE.

Manchester members of Co. M, Rockport, will want to attend the drill at Rockport town hall next Tuesday evening, for on that evening the new bronze collar devices are to be issued and the old ones turned in. On that evening, too, the company rifle team is to be selected for the 1920 regimental shoot. Transportation is paid to these drills, so that the members are under no expense.

James Washbrook, who has been employed as coachman at the Henry L. Higginson estate, West Manchester, for many years, will continue with the family until April 1. Following Colonel Higginson's death, Mrs. Higginson had Mr. Washbrook dispose of the horses and as much of equipment as he could, and she will use automobiles during her stay on the Shore in the future.

Franklin T. Pfaelzer, of Boston, has recently purchased of Chester L. Crafts, his house and land at 117 School st., and Mr. Crafts has purchased of Edward W. Baker, his property at 95 School st., which Mr. Crafts will occupy by April 1st. Mr. Baker's plans are uncertain, but it is quite possible he may move his family to Lynn, where he is employed. The sales were made through the office of Geo. E. Willmorton.

SONS OF VETERANS WILL BE HOSTS
NEXT TUESDAY EVENING

The Sons of Veterans have arranged for a patriotic meeting to be held Tuesday evening, Mar. 9, in the G. A. R. hall, Manchester, at 8 o'clock sharp.

Hon. George P. Webster, of the Massachusetts House of Representatives, will be the speaker of the evening, and it is anticipated that his lecture will be very entertaining.

Invited guests include members of the G. A. R., Spanish War Veterans, eligible brothers of the S. of V., members of the Manchester press, all town officials, and also the camps of Rockport, Beverly Farms, Gloucester and Beverly. A light collation will be served.

LIVELY HEARING AT STATE HOUSE ON NORTH SHORE POND

A hearing was given at the State House Wednesday on the bill of Representative Joseph E. Herrick, of the Beverly-Manchester district, which seeks to authorize the state to establish a right of way through any land surrounding large ponds.

It developed that the conflict is one of long standing between Mr. Prince and the people living near Coy's pond in the towns of Wenham and Manchester. The pond is owned by the state, but Mr. Prince owns the land surrounding it. A number of townspeople said he attempts to prevent any but his personal friends from enjoying the pond.

Dr. W. H. Tyler, of Manchester, told the committee Mr. Prince has erected a fence through the middle of

FRANK B. AMARAL POST, A. L.,
HAS IMPORTANT MEETING

An important meeting of Frank B. Amaral post, A. L., Manchester, was held Wednesday evening, with a good attendance of veterans present.

It was voted to hold the first of the series of ten dances on Easter Monday evening, April 5. This event will be a costume party and the committee in charge will endeavor to make it a big success.

The matter of presenting another motion picture entertainment was discussed. Manager Sanborn, although in no way to be blamed for the poor condition of the films shown at the last Legion benefit, is anxious to do all in his power to make good. The film exchange at Boston has agreed to furnish a 5-reel feature without cost to be used in connection with other features of the program. It is planned to exhibit the YD 26th Division picture if it can be procured sometime within the next month. The Legion will charge only enough to pay expenses, as it is desired to put on an especially attractive program for the benefit of the patrons who were disappointed in the outcome of the previous program.

At the next meeting of the Legion it is hoped that an out-of-town speaker will be in attendance and address the members.

MANCHESTER

Miss Bertha Stone has gone to Aurora, Ill., for an indefinite visit to her cousin, Clyde A. Flint.

Miss Ethel Andrews resumed her duties at Lawyer Willmorton's office, Monday, after a two-week vacation.

Mrs. Barton Pelton was down from Allston for a short visit last week at the home of her mother, Mrs. Hattie Kitfield, Ashland ave.

Abbott Foster attended the 3-day convention held at Somerville last week of the Older Boys' Y. M. C. A., of Massachusetts and Rhode Island.

Charles Reed was one of the members of the Appalachian club making their annual pilgrimage to New Hampshire last week for several days' outing to enjoy the winter sports.

George L. Knight, who has been spending several weeks at his place in North Sutton, N. H., was taken with an ill turn at the railroad station there last week while on his way home and after being treated by a physician there was taken to the hospital at Franklin, N. H., where it was found necessary to perform an operation.

The coal situation last week had assumed such an alarming aspect, owing to the lack of available transportation facilities, locally, that it was no unusual sight to see men in all walks of life with sleds or pungs hauling home a few bags of coal from the Samuel Knight's Sons wharf—enough to tide over their wants for a few days.

Mrs. Sarah, widow of the late Enoch Crombie, has recently purchased of Lee Marshall the property at 80 School st., occupied by James P. Reed. Mrs. Crombie purchases for her own occupancy and will move there early in the spring. She and her late husband made their home for many years on the Rockwell (now Eliot Sumner) estate on Smith's Point. Mr. Reed has leased a tenement in the Willmorton block, formerly occupied by Mrs. Trafton in connection with The Gertrude Shop.

A large truck which arrived from Boston Saturday to move the household furniture of Mrs. Trafton, of The Gertrude Shop, encountered such hard going on their return trip that they were obliged to stop on the flats opposite the Winthrop estate all night and only after considerable shoveling could the load be moved and started on its way Sunday. Early in the week it was reported they had been able to get only as far as Beverly with the load. It is understood that The Gertrude Shop will be operated only as a summer shop in the future. The main headquarters will be in Boston.

LIBRARY NOTES

New Books in Manchester Public Library

What influence has the war had on literature?

In looking over a list of new books, one's attention is attracted by the large number of works that have to do with the future life. Some firms are bringing out at the same time as many as six books on the subject of spiritualism. By many, it is thought that the war is accountable for this increased interest in survival after death, and the possibility of communication with those who have passed on. The old question, "If a man dies shall he live again?" is still a debatable one; but the yearning to know more about those who have left us is as old as life itself.

So many millions have "gone west" during the war that it is natural to want to know where they are, and what is their condition, and are they able to view the scenes of their former life. The literature on spiritualism is abundant at the present time.

Renewed attention to the subject has been brought about in this country by the lectures in Boston of Sir Oliver Lodge, the great English scientist.

Sir Oliver lost a son in the war and he claims that he has been in constant communication with him since his death. This is all told in his book, "Raymond, or Life and Death." This work has been much discussed, and much has been written for and against it. The book is worth reading, no matter what your views on the subject may be.

Conan Doyle, author of Sherlock Holmes and many other works of fiction, has been an earnest student of the subject of spiritualism for many years. At first he was very sceptical, but continued study has changed his mind. How this was brought about is told in his "The New Revolution." It is certainly a thought-provoking book.

Anyone desiring to find out something of the history of spiritualism should read J. Arthur Hill's "Spiritualism," which traces its progress from very small beginnings to its present fascination.

The novelists were quick to see the importance of the subject from their standpoint and a number of them have stories on this theme. E. H. Benson, who wrote "The Tortoise," "An Autumn Sowing," "Michael" and "The Oakleyites," takes up one phase of the question in his "Across the Stream."

MANCHESTER

Robert Hickeys, who is best known to us through his "The Garden of Allah," has left the heated sensuous atmosphere of Africa and the islands of the sea for the scenes of his recent story, "Mrs. Marden." The place is England, and the time, during the war. He treats of the subject of communication after death. He takes a strong stand, if you want to know on which side, read the book. Basil King and Lucas Mallet are two others who have expressed their views through the medium of fiction.

If space would permit, many more books having to do with the various phases of spiritualism could be mentioned. However, it is time that we come back to earth again, and after reading of table-rappings and mediums it is a pleasure to read a book like "The Man of the Forest," by Zane Grey. It is a real good story of Arizona told in a way that only this author can tell it.

We are glad to report that the library is now open evenings and is kept open one-half hour later in the afternoon. The hours for the present are every day (Sundays and holidays excepted) from 2 to 5.30 and 6.30 to 9 p. m. It is hoped that the people will show their appreciation of these increased privileges by making more use of the library. Some new books have been ordered and we hope to tell you a little about them next week.

MANCHESTER MAN SNOW- SHOES ON HIS 92D BIRTH- DAY

Nehemiah C. Marshall, Manchester's oldest resident, celebrated his 92d birthday anniversary, Tuesday, by taking his first lesson in snowshoeing. The deep snows this winter have encouraged many of the young people in his neighborhood to appear on snowshoes, and the old gentleman, who likes to keep up with the times, thought he would like to emulate their example, which he did with indifferent success. He says he guesses the old way is good enough for him "for a spell longer."

Mr. Marshall is still quite vigorous in spite of his advanced years. Last summer he had one of the largest and best vegetable gardens in town, which he cared for himself. He reads the daily papers and occasionally attends a lodge meeting, being the oldest living member of Magnolia lodge, I. O. O. F., of which he is a past noble grand. He was its treasurer for 10 years.

Mr. Marshall was born in Marblehead. His parents moved to Essex when he was very young, living upon a farm that adjoined that which was the birthplace of the famous jurist, Rufus Choate. Of mechanical turn of mind, he came to Manchester, learning the cabinetmaker's trade and finally went into business with Alfred Jewett and later with W. C. Rust, manufacturing furniture, pianos and organs. He retired in 1888.

He has served the town as selectman and was also on the board of fire engineers. He has always lived a temperate life and to this, and a life of ceaseless activity, he ascribes his longevity.

ODD FELLOWS IN LEAD

PITCH TOURNAMENT OF MANCHESTER SOCIETIES NEARING CLOSE

The pitch tournament players are tuning up to concert "pitch" for the next two rounds of play which will finish the tournament.

The Odd Fellows' team have been able to retain their lead by a margin of a few points, but the Red Men have been following on their trail with a persistency worthy of notice.

It is always well to keep an eye out for that old fox of a leader, Curtis B. Stanley, captain of the S. of V. cohorts, who has been known in the past to shift his players around with such telling effect that from an almost tail-end finisher he has tied up the series on the last evening of play and beaten out opponents in the final play-off.

Last Monday evening's contest resulted as follows: Odd Fellows 18, Red Men 14, S. of V. 16, Legion 12.

This makes the total score to date: Odd Fellows 112, Red Men 106, S. of V. 104, Legion 98.

The schedule for the final two games is as follows: S. of V. No. 1 vs. Red Men No. 3; S. of V. No. 2 vs. Legion No. 1; S. of V. No. 3 vs. Odd Fellows No. 1; Odd Fellows No. 2 vs. Red Men No. 1; Odd Fellows No. 3 vs. Legion No. 2; Red Men No. 2 vs. Legion No. 3; S. of V. No. 1 vs. Legion No. 3; S. of V. No. 2 vs. Odd Fellows No. 1; S. of V. No. 3 vs. Red Men No. 2; Odd Fellows No. 2 vs. Legion No. 1; Odd Fellows No. 3 vs. Red Men No. 1; Red Men No. 3 vs. Legion No. 2.

The Limit

A group of workmen were lunching in a sheltered nook on the wharf. One of them went across the street for a plug of tobacco, and during his absence another substituted for his tin of pale coffee and milk his own tin of milkless black coffee. When the first workman returned to his lunch he could hardly believe his eyes. "Well," he said, "I have heard of clever thieves, but to steal the milk out of a fellow's coffee is about the limit."

OBITUARY

ELIZABETH P. JEWETT

Emily P. (Allen), wife of George W. Jewett, died suddenly on Friday, Feb. 27, at her home on Washington st., Manchester, at the age of 76 years and nearly 11 months. She had been ill only two days, with a slight attack of grippe. Like her twin sister, Miss Allen, who died four and a half years ago, she passed away suddenly, without warning. Heart failure was given as the direct cause of death.

Mrs. Jewett was born in Manchester, Apr. 2, 1843, in a house on Forest st., still standing,—in the section of the town then known as North Yarmouth. She was a direct descendant, on both her father's and mother's side, of the original settlers of Manchester. She was a daughter of Joseph and Mehitable (Allen) Allen.

Mrs. Jewett was a member of the Congl. church, which she joined in 1866. She was also a member of the Missionary society, and was always a constant attendant at the church, and actively interested in all its endeavors. She was married to Mr. Jewett 53 years ago.

Besides a husband, Mrs. Jewett is survived by one daughter, Miss Elisabeth Jewett, and one sister, Mrs. Julius F. Rabardy, of Manchester.

Funeral services were held Monday at her late home on Washington st. The Rev. Herbert E. Levoy, of the Baptist church officiated in the absence of the pastor, Rev. Mr. Manning. Burial was in Rosedale cemetery.

MARY ELLEN DWYER

Mary Ellen, wife of William Dwyer, of Haskell st., Beverly Farms, died Monday, Mar. 1, at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Martin Flaherty, Norwood ave., Manchester. Her age was 19 years, 10 months, 12 days. Death came after an attack of influenza, followed by pneumonia, from which she did not have the strength to rally.

Mrs. Dwyer's death is particularly sad from the fact she leaves a little five-month-old daughter, Gertrude. Besides her husband and infant daughter, a father and mother, she is survived by three younger sisters and a brother. She was a native of Manchester and had always lived here until her marriage.

Funeral services were held Wednesday morning, with requiem high mass at 9.30, at Sacred Heart church. Rev. Fr. Downey, of Beverly Farms, said the mass. Burial was at Rosedale cemetery.

The BREEZE $2 a year, $1 for six months.

MANCHESTER

Magnolia lodge, I. O. O. F., conferred the third degree at its regular meeting Thursday evening on a class of eight candidates.

Prin. Paul Cloues has recovered from an attack of the "flu" and was able to resume his duties at the Geo. A. Priest school Monday.

Mrs. Margaret Jenkins, who has been staying with Miss Elizabeth Richardson on Ashland ave., for several weeks, was stricken with an ill turn early yesterday forenoon, the seriousness of which is uncertain at this writing.

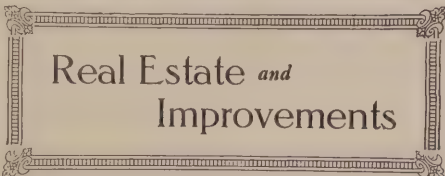

Bridget B. Parsons, Manchester, conveys to Charles A. Parsons, of Manchester, 13 square rods of land and buildings on road to Crafts' farm, Manchester; also land and buildings on old road to Wenham in Manchester, 42 feet by 6 rods.

Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Till were in Gloucester on Monday evening attending the concert and ball held in connection with the 150th anniversary of Tyrian lodge, A. F. & A. M. Mr. Till was a member of the committee in charge of the banquet held Tuesday evening.

Mrs. John Baker has returned from Shrewsbury, where she was with her son, J. Irving Baker, and family, for a few days, happy over the arrival of a grandson in the home of her son. The little chap was born Thursday, Feb. 26, and has been named Henry Leander, after his maternal uncle, who fell in the Argonne forest, in France, the day before the armistice was signed.

It is understood that Edwin Whitney, of Boston, an entertainer of merit, head of the Whitney studio, will come to Manchester early next month—probably on Friday, Apr. 2—for the closing "get-together" of the Manchester club this season. The entertainment committee of the club has provided some interesting times for the club members this winter, and they will try to make the last one a "hummer." Mr. Whitney has been coming to Gloucester, for the special entertainment night of the Cameron club the last five or six years, which speaks well for his popularity in that quarter. Mr. Whitney gives an entire play as a specialty—taking all the characters himself. He will probably give "Turn to the Right" when he comes to Manchester. It is likely the members will be privileged to invite a limited number of guests to this meeting. A charge of 50c will be made for everybody to defray expenses.

One touch of spring makes all New England akin.

Real Estate and Improvements

One of the biggest improvement jobs being put through along the Shore this winter is that of the famous old Masconomo House property near Singing Beach, Manchester. Following the death of the former owner, John B. Schofield, of Boston, the estate, including the hotel and four or five cottages, bowling alley building, etc., and a large tract of land, extending along Beach st., from Masconomo st. to the beach, came in possession of Daniel A. Sullivan, of Brookline, who has occupied the Schofield cottage, on the property, for a number of years.

The hotel will not be used as such in the future, and ultimately will be removed.

The improvements as are in progress now include the cutting out of from 30 to 40 feet of the hotel, in the center, and adding about 18 rooms onto the cottage, occupied by Mr. Sullivan. What remains of the hotel is being closed in temporarily for the present.

The cottage and its addition is being remodelled; a new hot water system heating plant is being installed; four new bath rooms, and new showers are being added; new floors and new stairways are being put in, and general improvements and repairs are being made.

The grounds will be regraded in the spring, and generally improved. The cottages on the estate, suited only to summer occupancy, will probably be rented.

Chester L. Crafts, of Manchester, is the contractor in charge of the improvements. He expects the work will be completed by early June, when the family will come down from Brookline for a long season, as usual.

Through the courtesy of Mrs. Francis L. Higginson, of Boston and Pride's Crossing, government director of savings for the First Federal Reserve district, the BREEZE is permitted to print this week a new "Happy Jack" story, "Watch Your Step, Peter Rabbit," by Thornton W. Burgess, author of the "Bedtime Stories," which has been so popular with children. This was written for Thrift Stamp Week, March 1 to 6, at the special request of Wm. Mather Lewis, director of savings division of the U. S. Treasury Department.

FEDERAL THEATRE, SALEM

The suave and debonair David Powell was never seen to better advantage than in the first George Fitzmaurice Production, "On with the Dance," in which he is featured with Mae Murray at the Federal theatre, Salem, next Monday for three days.

Mr. Powell has an intensely dramatic role as a young architect who is wooed and won by a girl whom he doesn't at all love and later nearly comes to grief.

This big special production will be shown at the Federal theatre for three days starting next Monday at regular prices. It has just finished a big run at the Park theatre, Boston.

The last three days of this week Alice Lake in "Should a Woman Tell" and Fatty Arbuckle in his latest comedy, "The Garage," are the features.

Members of an engineering class at one of our prominent institutions of learning were recently asked the following question: "How many dollar bills equal in weight one silver dollar?" It is interesting to note that their replies varied from 20,000 down to 24, the correct number being 20. The average of the estimates was 434.8. As for the student who gave 20,000 as his answer, we wonder if he has chosen his proper field of study.

HIGH SCHOOL NOTES Manchester

"Patty Makes Things Hum," the play given by the Senior class of the Story High school, was repeated Friday evening, at Manchester Town hall. The weather man has not favored "Patty," for her first appearance was greeted with a baby blizzard, and at her second appearance Jack Frost held full sway; therefore the attendance was not large. Those who ventured out, however, felt well repaid.

"Patty" (Helen Beaton) kept things humming. Mrs. Greene, her sister (Janet Height), entertained under difficulties, in which "Patty" had no small share. Then came Hyacinth, the colored maid (Dorris Knoerr), who kept everyone laughing. The other "members of the cast" took their parts very well, also, and helped make the play a success.

The entertainment was followed by a dance.

MANCHESTER WOMAN'S CLUB

"SALVATION ARMY OVERSEAS" WAS SUBJECT OF TALK AT MEETING
TUESDAY

"Salvation Army Overseas" was the subject of the talk given by Brigadier Sheppard at the open meeting of the Woman's club, Tuesday, in the Congl. chapel, Manchester.

Mrs. Sheppard's narrative was so "human" that she speedily won the hearts of her audience. Her side of the story of the great pulsing monster called War, was the dough-nut-frying, button-sewing side, as well as the more serious, spiritual side. Within two miles of the front line trenches those brave women did their bit. They had no money to begin with but the $25,000 they had borrowed. Every penny they received was given to making things more comfortable for the "boys," their only consideration. Doughnuts, pies, coffee, cocoa, lemonade—they fried, and cooked, and "rolled out," until every man had had his share of the good things, and then they would begin all over again.

With a keen sense of humor Mrs. Sheppard told of her experiences upon arriving in France. On the way over they had been chased by a "sub," which, however, was soon "settled." Her first night in France happened to be a moonlight night, which meant as a matter of course, air raids. Before retiring Mrs. Sheppard was warned that should she hear the fire siren in the night, she must dress quickly and go downstairs to a place of safety.

About twelve o'clock she was aroused by the alarm, and upon descending to the ground floor, she found that one of the German planes was flying overhead. She determined to see that plane, and so she stepped through the open window and was discovered by her hostess staring raptly upward. She was strongly advised to "bring her face in" out of the danger, and lost no time in following the admonition. She was kept in Paris several days waiting for her pass, but finally landed, after many wierd experiences, in the Toul sector, two miles from the front-line trenches.

Mrs. Sheppard told of "mothering" the boys—some of them little more than children; of the religious meetings, one of which was held only a half-mile from the front-line trenches; and of cheering the boys on their way to the trenches.

"We did no more than our duty," she said; "those boys fought and bled for all of us and it was our duty to do our best for them."

MAGNOLIA

Coal is a scarce article in many homes here and it is not easy to get teams to bring it to this village from either Gloucester or Manchester. One home, in which there is sickness, was entirely out of coal last Friday morning and since there was no immediate prospect of getting any delivered from the centers of supply, this emergency was met by some willing hands bringing, on a sled, coal from the Village church, leaving very little in its bin.

While no better use could have possibly been made of this coal and while those most interested in the church were pleased to have it go where it did, yet this means that for a few more Sundays at least there will be no services in the Village church. Until the roads are passable for auto trucks we submit that it is not right, to put it mildly, for any public institution here to burn coal when our neighbors are suffering for the want of it.

Surely the Village church has set a good example for those most interested in another institution here that is open night and day with plenty of coal to burn.

In this connection we are reminded of the spirit of helpfulness that has been so conspicuously manifested by most of the village folk during this distressingly severe and hard winter. This spirit is illustrated in the following lines written by Michael Kehoe, who has done more than his part in carrying the mail on his back to and from the Magnolia station and in lending his always ready and willing hands in times of need:

MAGNOLIA—IN WINTER

I now will take my pen in hand
And write a little tale,
About a man whom we all know,—
The man who brings the mail.

He is willing, kind and obliging,
As all his acts doth show;
He takes the mail upon his sled
And starts off through the snow.

He runs off to the depot
And puts it on the train,
And before you think that he had time,
Why, he is back again.

Not one of us can figure out
How he gets back so quick.
He really makes as good a time
As when 'twas brought by "Nick."

When no one else would take the mail,
He volunteered to go.
He said he'd do the job or die,
Let the winds blow high or low.

Not only with the mail he helps,
But every way he can;
And when you want a good turn done
Just call on little "Ben."

TYRIAN LODGE CELEBRATES ITS
150TH ANNIVERSARY

The 150th anniversary of the founding of Tyrian lodge, A. F. & A. M., at Gloucester, was appropriately observed this week by a three days' celebration attended by many Masons in this vicinity, and some of the most prominent members of the order in the Commonwealth.

The service Sunday was held in the Independent Christian church, the sermon being delivered by Rev. R. Perry Bush, D. D., grand chaplain of the Grand Lodge of Masons in Massachusetts. Special music was furnished by the Weber quartet.

The concert and ball was held Monday evening. The Lotus quartet, with a reader, furnished the program for the concert, and Sewall's orchestra played for the ball.

Dedication of Tyrian lodge's Masonic apartments was held Tuesday afternoon. Several grand officers of the Grand Lodge were present to take part in these exercises.

The celebration came to a close Tuesday evening with a banquet in Brown's hall. An elaborate menu included many things good to eat, the banquet being served by Schlehuber.

Among the many antiquities in possession of the lodge are a set of jewels, a square, level and plumb of solid silver, manufactured for the lodge by Paul Revere. His initials are stamped in silver, and the lodge has in its possession the bills of this patriot-artisan for the same.

SPECIAL RULING ON REINSTATEMENT OF WAR RISK INSURANCE

No matter how long you have been discharged or how long your insurance has been lapsed or cancelled, you may reinstate your War Risk Insurance at any time before July 1, 1920, or within 18 months after your discharge if that is a later date.

The only conditions are:

1. Two months' premiums on the amount of insurance to be reinstated must accompany the application.

2. The applicant must be in as good health as at the date of discharge, or at the expiration of the grace period, whichever is the later date, and so state in his application.

"There is no armistice with death. Keep up your insurance."

GASES AND GAS MASKS

MAJOR SIMPSON ADDRESSES MANCHESTER BROTHERHOOD

The use of death-dealing gases in the World War, and protection afforded by gas masks were the principal points discussed by Major Joseph Simpson, of Essex, at the March meeting of the Manchester Brotherhood, held Monday evening of this week in the vestry of the Baptist church, Manchester.

The attendance was not large, many Manchester men failing to avail themselves of the privilege of listening to a most interesting address delivered by one who knew his topic and who was able to present it in an entertaining manner.

Gas in Ancient Warfare

In his introductory remarks, Major Simpson spoke of the warfare of the ancient Spartans and Athenians in 400 B. C., when pitch was burned with the idea of making a smudge and thus blinding the enemy.

"Coming down to medieval times," said the speaker, "we find the Byzantine Greeks used Greek fire composed of pitch, sulphur, petroleum and other ingredients. In the Civil War it has been intimated that in the siege of Charleston, sulphur fumes were used. It remained for this last war to use gases in their most deadly forms.

"Gas was first used by the Germans in 1915 against the British. It was used so successfully that the English lost their front line trenches, a large number of guns and many men. It is thought that if the Germans had then realized the full extent of this power in their hands they would have won the war at that time."

First Effects

The principal gases in use were the chlorin, phosgen and the so-called "mustard" gas. Illustrating his talk with photos of several men who had been gassed, Major Simpson spoke first of the effects of phosgen gas. "The first effect on the soldier," said he, "is a choking sensation, followed by a desire to vomit and to cough. Within a few hours the lungs become inflamed, poisons accumulate in the system and the lungs cannot function. "Breathing becomes much more rapid, instead of taking from 18 to 20 breaths a minute the victim takes 40, the pulse jumps to 110 and the temperature increases to 100."

A picture was shown of one young fellow who was gassed during the first period of its use. By abstracting 15 ounces of the patient's blood and introducing a fresh supply of oxygen into the lungs, the physicians were able to cure him; if not a permanent cure, at least it was a temporary one, as it is possible that the effects of gas poisoning may appear some years after the victim had sustained the attack.

Tuberculosis Patients

An institution is being built at Rutland to care for the 40,000 soldiers, sailors and marines who are tuberculosis cases as a result of the war. The lungs do not recover their normal condition and in many instances the individual has an attack of tuberculosis which is a difficult problem to solve.

"There is no question but that the introduction of the poisonous gases into the system lowers the vitality of the organs and retards their development." Major Simpson related instances of cases which had come under his observation, of men who appeared to be strong and in good health, but who were unable to do any work or exercises as a result of having been gassed.

Mustard Gas

"Mustard" gas causes an inflammation of the eyes, the skin becomes red and there is a burning sensation. It is possible for a person to be in the presence of gas and not be aware of the fact, as many shell holes were full of gas and the soldiers did not know of its presence until some time after they had been exposed. It is possible, also, to sit in the presence of mustard gas for a few hours and not know it is nearby, but after a time the victim suffers many agonies.

Three Physical Properties

"In order for gas to be used successfully, it must contain at least three physical properties. First, it must be heavier than air—at least $2\frac{1}{2}$ or 3 times heavier than air. Second, it must be easily manufactured; and third, it must be sufficiently toxic, or poisonous, if not to kill outright, at least to destroy morale and inflict some injuries."

Shortly after gas had been used for the first time by the Germans the allies took specimens of gas-infected earth and water and submitted the specimens to a careful chemical examination. Within a short time the allies knew of what the German gas was composed and they then took measures to protect their troops from the harm wrought by this inhuman means of warfare.

Use of Gas Masks

Major Simpson, who saw many months of active service overseas and who was with one of the first medical detachments to enter Germany in December, 1918, demonstrated by using a United States gas mask just how our soldiers obtained protection from gas attacks. He explained the positions in which a mask was worn, showed his hearers how a mask was adjusted and in a thorough manner illustrated tests which were made to detect the presence of gas.

He also had a French gas mask with him and explained details concerning its construction.

"Did the Germans shell hospitals and hospital camps? I will tell you what a French captain told me," said the speaker, and he then related an incident of a hospital which had been bombed by the Germans. Thinking that possibly they did not know it was a hospital, the French hoisted two Red Cross flags, but that seemed only to redouble the efforts of the enemy to shell the place.

At the conclusion of the address, Major Simpson was given a rising vote of thanks by the men. Refreshments were served and a social time was enjoyed.

"FLU" EPIDEMICS IN 2332 YEARS

Medical historians, seeking traces of influenza epidemics back through the centuries, have gone back to 412 B. C., when there was an epidemic described by Hippocrates.

The next authentic record is dated 1173 A. D. In that year the illness spread over England, Germany and Italy. For 50 years the disease existed only in sporadic form or in mild epidemics, for it is not until 1239 that another severe epidemic occurred.

In the chronicles of 1510 we find the first mention of a pandemic, which spread all over Europe. It took only a mild form.

In 1557 we find the first mention of the spread of the disease to America. In 1580 there was another pandemic of especial virulence. There were several epidemics in the 16th, 17th and 18th centuries. One of them ceased in 1737, and it was currently reported that the cessation was due to earthquakes and volcanic eruptions.

In the 17th century the disease acquired the name by which it is best known, "influenza." The designation is of Italian origin and means simply "influence." The Italians ascribed the disease to the influence of certain malign stars. The French name, "la grippe," came into use in 1743, and the names "petite peste" and "petit courier" in 1762. Later, in 1780, the widespread character of the epidemic gave it the name "general."

A curious fact that is recorded in the histories of influenza is its occurrence at sea, on ships and in fleets that had no recent communication with land. In 1782 the English squadron, commanded by Admiral Richard Kempenfelt, the sailor who went down with the Royal George, had to return from the French coast to England because the influenza disabled so many members of the crews.

Probably the epidemic that is best remembered by the present generation was that of 1889-90, which spread itself all over the globe.

SOMETHING EASIER

"Nothing, Senator. I don't even know what geodetic means."

MAN'S INHUMANITY TO BEAST

I HAVE seen horses that were so weak and thin from years of toil and mistreatment—says J. Howard Moore in Our Dumb Animals—that they could hardly raise one foot after another, hitched to a load and made to drag it through the streets, while a great big semblance of a man sat on the seat with a whip in his hand and kept striking them with it every few minutes to make them go faster. Nothing, I suppose, not even hot irons, could have caused them to go faster than a walk. The years had been too long and too cruel. They were too nearly dead. All they could do was to make a feeble lurch forward at each blow, and, after a few quickened steps, lapse again into their painful trudge. And their poor old backs and sides had become so deadened by blows that these parts no longer had nerves; and the driver, instead of whipping them in the ordinary way, struck them over the face and around their ankles and legs, where the flesh was still sensitive.

Talk of vivisection! It is monstrous! But it is not all carried on behind voiceless walls and in the name of science. It goes on, on all our streets, in broad daylight every day. And much of it, I am sorry to say, is to be laid at the feet of men who are themselves crying piteously for justice.

What Mr. Moore says in the above two paragraphs is altogether too true. Unfortunately a horse cannot go on "strike." They are slaves to the will of the "human" who drives them, and oftentimes the horse is possessed of a far greater amount of intelligence than his driver.

On the street one passes horses striving desperately to find a footing on the slippery pavement, their sides heaving and their heads hung low. The spirit and fire that once was their's has been beaten and driven out of them. Is not this an opportune time for suggesting that those who have spent so much time and effort—successfully, too—in downing alcohol, should turn at least a part of their efforts to forcing the owners of horses everywhere to treat them with more kindness? To see that they are fed properly, that the stables are kept clean and that the horses are not overworked—or worked when they are sick or lamed. The owners should be made to see that by having crippled and dispirited horses they are hurting their own best interests. A well taken care of horse would naturally do twice the amount of work.

We all sympathize with the horse—why not DO something?

WATCH YOUR STEP, PETER RABBIT!By THORNTON W. BURGESS
(All rights reserved)

"WATCH your step, Peter Rabbit! Watch your step!" shouted Happy Jack Squirrel excitedly as he leaned down from a branch of a hickory tree and jerked his tail as if he were trying to break it off.

Peter Rabbit stopped short and sat up with a most surprised look on his face. "Why should I watch my step?" he demanded, and stared all about him to see what could have so excited Happy Jack. "Why should I watch my step? What ails you anyway, Happy Jack Squirrel?"

Seeing that Peter had stopped, Happy Jack gave a little sigh. "Thank goodness," said he, "you didn't do it." "Didn't do what?" demanded Peter looking more puzzled than ever.

"Didn't step on that little tree I planted for my great-great-ever-so-great grandchildren," replied Happy Jack promptly. "If you had stepped on it I'm afraid that would have been the end of it. This is a queer world. No matter how thrifty a person may be, the carelessness of someone else may make that thrift useless."

While Happy Jack was talking Peter Rabbit had continued to stare about him more puzzled than ever. "I don't see any tree that I could possibly step on," said he. "Are you crazy, Happy Jack?"

"No, I'm not crazy," retorted Happy Jack. "Look right down in front of you under your nose. Do you see that little green plant coming up through the dead leaves?"

Peter looked down and nodded. "Yes," said he, "I see it. What of it?"

"That's a young hickory tree," declared Happy Jack. "I planted a hickory nut there last fall. I planted it for my great-great-ever-so-great grandchildren. Some day, if careless people like you don't step on it, that will be a big tree like the one I am sitting in, which was planted by my own great-great-ever-so-great grandfather."

Peter turned up his wobbly little nose scornfully. "Do you mean to tell me, Happy Jack Squirrel, that you are worrying about a tree that you won't live to see grow up, and from which you won't get so much as one lone-some nut?" he demanded.

"Didn't I tell you that it is my great-great-ever-so-great grandchildren I am thinking about?" retorted Happy Jack sharply. "The trouble with you thriftless people is that you never look ahead. You think only of the present, and that is pure selfishness. You don't give a thought to those who will come after you. You think only of yourself, and your children and their children will have to scabble for a living and take what they can find. My great-great-ever-so-great grandfather planted this very tree I am sitting in and a lot of others that I and my family might be sure of having plenty to eat. My grandfather and my father planted trees, and each fall I do the same thing. That sort of thing is thrift, Peter Rabbit."

Again Peter Rabbit scratched a long ear with a long hindfoot and the puzzled look returned to his face. "I thought," said he, "that thrift is just saving things."

"That is one kind of thrift. That is, it is if the things saved are to be used later," replied Happy Jack. "But the best kind of thrift is saving a thing and then putting it where it will increase. That is an investment. I saved that nut last fall and planted it. Already it has begun to grow, and some day there will be thousands of sweet hickory nuts from just that one. That is, there will if you don't step on it."

"I won't," interrupted Peter hastily, and backed away a little farther.

"That nut was an in-vest-ment," added Happy Jack.

"In-vest-ment," repeated Peter rolling his tongue around the big word as if he enjoyed it. "In-vest-ment. I never have known the meaning of that word until now."

"Probably you never heard it before," said Happy Jack dryly.

"I have too heard it before," retorted Peter. "I heard it this very morning. Farmer Brown's boy was over by the dear Old Briar-patch and I heard him tell another boy that Thrift Stamps, whatever they are, are the best in-vest-ment in the world for boys and girls, and that he hoped that every boy and girl in the whole country would buy at least one during Thrift Week. He said they ought to for their own good and the good of their country. I don't know anything about Thrift Stamps, but if they are an in-vest-ment it must be that they grow. Anyway, Farmer Brown's boy was terribly in earnest."

Happy Jack Squirrel chuckled happily. "Of course they must grow," said he. "For myself I prefer hickory nuts, but probably that's because I am a squirrel. So there is to be a Thrift Week! That is the best news I've heard for a long time. If they keep on some day these humans will be as wise as a squirrel. Thrift Week! That's great! I hope every boy and girl will buy a Thrift Stamp. I can't stop to gossip any longer. So long, Peter. And for goodness sake do watch your step!"

Simplicity Marks the Dress Models

The distinctive dress is not designed along freakish lines. Rather do the styles tend toward simplicity, and the unusual is attained by novel materials. All frocks give a youthful appearance, along simple lines, and in some unaffected manner lifts the garment away from the ordinary. Such class of frocks you will find in our now very splendid assortment.

The Particular Woman Enjoys Philippine Embroidered Lingerie

If you were to attempt to embroider these garments, you would within a short space of time give up the task as hopeless. You would then appreciate the exceedingly reasonable price we are asking for this merchandise. The designs are most dainty--the workmanship perfect, and you cannot fail to be delighted with the modest prices.

Bedding and Hardy Plants

It is nearing Spring and time to think of planting. Orders should be placed with your florist in advance this season as the demand will exceed the supply. We are growing thousands of bedding plants such as geraniums, heliotrope, petunias, fuchsias, periwinkle, begonias and quite a number of other kinds that are used mostly for outdoor planting and window boxes.

We also offer hardy plants such as larkspur, canturbury bells, iris, paeonies, lupin, foxglove and pansies. Tubs of hydrangeas and box trees to sell or let for the season.

At all times our ideas and experience are at your service, either in helping you in choosing, or in taking entire charge of your landscape planting.

Call or telephone; we are always pleased to be of assistance to you, and to give you the benefit of our suggestions.

No Waste Motion Here

The packing business is noted for the elimination of waste in manufacturing.

Swift & Company is equally effective in saving waste in the distribution of products.

From ranch or farm to your meat dealer there is no loss of time, money, material, or motion.

Four hundred branch sales houses in large cities and towns, hundreds of regular refrigerator car routes reaching small towns, all directed by wire from a central point, bring meat products from our packing plants located in producing areas, to retailers in all parts of the country in the best possible condition, in the least possible time, at the least possible cost, and over the most direct route.

The total expense, for manufacture, freight, and selling direct to the retailer, is less than three cents per pound on all meat sold.

Our profit from all sources is only a fraction of a cent per pound.

Competition compels this close-cut saving. Large volume of business, a well-balanced, nation-wide organization, and expert attention to details by men who know, make it possible.

We are in your service—at least expense and profit.

SALVATION ARMY APPEAL NATION-WIDE CAMPAIGNS FOR FUND, MAY 10-20

"Continuance of the program of expansion and reconstruction which was inaugurated at the close of the Great War, and the maintenance of the institutions through which we aim to care for the children as well as the grown-ups who may be 'down, but never out'—these are the purposes for which the Salvation Army will go before the people of New England, May 10 to 20, in an appeal for $1,300,000 for our Home Service fund," declared Col. Adam Gifford, New England Commander in announcing the preliminaries for New England's part in the Salvation Army's nation-wide appeal.

In this connection Col. Gifford stated that Hon. Franklin K. Lane, until recently Secretary of the Interior, had accepted the national chairmanship for the campaign.

"New England folk were very generous to us last year," said Col. Gifford, "and we will render an accounting of our stewardship. We modestly hope that the way that we have expended these funds in the cause of God and humanity will merit again the kindly support of the people of New England in our effort to carry on our work during the coming year."

THE GOVERNMENT CONTROL of transportation companies terminated two weeks ago, and the railroads reverted to their original operators, the stockholders and their representatives. The experiment was a necessary one because of the conditions imposed upon the country by the war and post-war conditions. It was essential that the government should be able to direct the transportation of munitions, supplies and men with authority and not be subject to the hampering restrictions of private control. For such ends the governmental control was essential and undeniably successful. The end needed was attained. The control, however, has been a financial experiment of real value, for it has proven to the American people the impracticability and the folly of governmental ownership as the end of financial problems in transportation and the production and sale of other commodities required by the people. The experiment was a costly one, but has proven the practical uselessness of the communistic theory of other days. The railroads operating under private ownership were able to establish rules, execute restrictions and cut red tape that governmental control made impossible. The roads have been returned now to the owners, burdened with many obligations and a period of reconstruction has begun that will require patience, skill and intelligence of a high order. The new hours of labor and the higher wage scale paid to workmen are but small factors in the larger problems ahead. Ample and regular wages are an inevitable charge that is imposed upon any enterprise. There is now the great need of administrative and mechanical genius to apply their minds to the present problem. The next few years will develop some great minds in the railroad world because of the imposing obligations of the hour. The transportation problem is a primary one in modern life and it must be solved. The minds that solve or help solve the problem will of necessity find success and honor.

THE ROUGH RIDERS are now to be found among Wood's rooters. The memory of Roosevelt still survives.

THE EXPERIENCES OF THE WAR demonstrated that the Cape Cod canal was a necessary aid in the prosecution of the transportation plans of the nation. It was taken over by the government and operated by it during the war. Meanwhile independent negotiations were pending between the government and the owners of the canal for its purchase. One of the departments of the government took the canal over as a war measure and at the end of the war, by law, its authority terminated. Meanwhile another department had struck a snag in the negotiations for the purchase of the canal at a stipulated price and new difficulties ensued. The canal company found itself in an awkward and an unavoidable situation. The canal operations ceased because of the termination of the government war control and the new arrangements, and organization of the canal by purchase and operation had not been made because of the difficulties involved in the settlement of the purchase price. The Cape Cod Canal Company was in a legal difficulty, for it believed that its ownership had ceased and it naturally avoided the legal complications that might ensue by operating the canal as owners, after it had ceased to be operated by the government under the war act. Consequently, in the midst of a trying period when coal was needed for New England and barges were waiting to be towed through the canal, they were held up because of the legal tangle over the ownership of the canal. Governor Coolidge touched the only solution by prodding the national government so that the operation of the canal could be assured without jeopardizing the legal status of the Cape Cod Canal Company. The waterway, contrary to railroad control ideas, should be operated as a part of the nation's affairs in peace time as well as in war. It was a characteristic, "red tape muddle," in which Governor Coolidge scored as usual.

MILADY WHO PLANS a spring wardrobe in a blustering March is an optimist of the optimists.

THIS IS THE SCIENTIFIC AGE and the progress that has been made has far surpassed the dreams of inventors. In one branch—that of transmitting the sound of the voice over wires—there has been a field of marvels. How many realized that the "toy" of the inventors should become in so few years the one indispensable agent in business and private life? The solving of the first problem and the demonstration of the practicability of communicating sound over wire was the beginning of the great developments. It made possible the establishment of the practical experiment. There were, however, countless problems to solve in mechanics, physics, administration and development before the enterprise became a commercial success as well as a demonstrated scientific fact. These were attacked, and in a remarkably short while the local telephone service became possible; and it has now become the necessary agent of business. It seems incredible that the first bank that had installed a telephone in Boston ordered it taken out because it interfered with business operations. From successful local lines the distance of communicable conversations was extended. Innumerable petty problems had to be solved and were solved and conversation over the wire between Boston and New York became the triumph of the hour. It is now an everyday commonplace. "While for a number of years it has been possible to talk by long distance telephone between all the principal centres of the United States, it has been desirable to improve the grade of speech transmission so that many small points tributary to those centres might be more satisfactorily included in the system." An announcement is made that such "improvement has now been perfected, and is being applied to some of the most important long distance lines." When the new equipment, which is now a practical success, has been installed, "it will be possible to carry on a conversation between New York and San Francisco as clearly and distinctly and with as much ease as it may be done at present between New York and Boston." The first message sent over the telegraph was the truth, "What hath God wrought." The marvels of yesterday are as nothing compared with the accepted commonplaces today. Progress is being constantly made. With the success of a commercial telephone line across the continent one of the milestones along the road of progress is passed.

THE GULF STREAM might have a heart and come this way for a while.

THE EDUCATION OF THE WILL is a lifetime task. Efforts are put forth to educate the varied faculties of the human personality, with none more vital than the discipline of will power. It is the spring of the mechanism of human effort. It is the dynamo that drives. When the will is weakened life is robbed of the efficiency of its power plant. The strengthened will sends the earners from the home to the tasks of life in the storms of the winter and to face the storms of life, more searching even than the climatic trials of a New England winter. Inner determination made men of adamant power, as Washington, the prayer in Valley Forge; Lincoln, the Emancipator; and that fearless champion of honor and righteousness, Theodore Roosevelt. The will, with the religious vision of the Pilgrims and Puritans, steadied them undismayed on uncharted seas in the voyage to a New England shore and strengthened the later adventurers' journey overland to subdue an unknown far west. The will of man has subdued seas, defied winds and weather and brought the world's forces in subjection to his whim and purpose. Gravitation, electricity, winds and tides, and the beasts of the field have been forced to do man's work. Man lives in a world of power to be subdued and controlled by his will. Every hour of life the inherent force must be used. It is the will that makes it possible for man to meet the untoward circumstances of life with a smile, transforming an impending apparent disaster into a hard earned victory. The trained will subdues the powers of the mind, holds in check the erratic and enslaving impulses of the body and liberates man for a free life. A trained will means freedom. It allies the skill of the physician and the virile determination of the patient. Every physician knows how many victories of science in the operating room have been lost by the surrender of the patient. The will makes and destroys life. Roosevelt was weak, frail and puny physically, but with a will he transformed his asthmatic body into the powerful physique that stood the test of many trying political battles. If the will be left undeveloped, despite the fact that the heart and mind have been educated, the character of an individual becomes flabby, subject to temptation, driven by every wind of opinion and subject to every ailment of the physique and the spirit. The will must be used to maintain virility. The French troops went over the top incarnating the spirit of their heroic leader Foch, who taught them that no army was defeated until it thought so. An army or a man with such a spirit cannot fail. The indomitable will that failed them not is the same power of will that will fit everyone for the less trying experiences in life. "On ne passe pas" must be the motto of will as it was the battle cry of the famous army defending Verdun. Life is a Verdun to be defended and the will is power to win.

THERE IS MANY a private workman who wishes he had a private contract that would assure him of permanent employment, a la United Shoe Machinery Co.

THE PARENTS AND THE NEXT OF KIN have anxiously awaited word from the national government as to the purpose and plan of the nation relative to the return of the bodies of the valiant young men who laid down their lives during the war, in France. The assurances of the War Department are now being made known by the direct questions of a delegation interested in the problem. The announcement made by Secretary Baker is a welcome one to those who have relatives at rest in France. Giving out the word that the War Department plans to bear all the expense of transportation will bring comfort to those who have been in distress and unrest because of the situation. The government plans to care for the responsibilities even farther than by making an authorized payment of one hundred dollars for funeral expenses, which would permit the purchase of the cemetery lot to be considered a part of the expense. This work of love is to be cared for by the War Risk bureau. The task will be a large one, but it will be efficiently cared for. Many will prefer not to avail themselves of the provisions made by a provident government, sentimentally, preferring to leave the frames of the heroes to lie in fields of France. In cases, however, where, for sentimental reasons, the relatives request the return of the dead, the wish should be executed by the government. The announcement will please those who have been awaiting a final adjustment of the question. There have been delays because of the wish of the French government, but soon the arrangements with France will be adjusted and the work of removing the soldier dead begun. It will be a sad duty for both governments to execute for the relatives of the heroes of the American army.

THE "GET-RICH" MEN are operating in new territory. If your Liberty Bonds do not yield a large enough return for you, be patient! Small gains are better than large losses.

THE CHURCHES ARE IN THE MIDST of their annual pre-Easter services and the members of the North Shore parishes of Protestant and Roman Catholic churches are attending the services of their respective churches with the fidelity that the season commands. The Protestant churches are now being allied in an Inter-Church New World Movement that is proving to be of incalculable value to the allied organizations cooperating. The month of January was the usual devotional month for the consideration of the value of prayer in the personal religious life, and February was devoted to the consideration of the use of life and possessions as stewards of the Eternal. In this program the pre-Easter days will be given to the consideration of personal responsibility of the individual in his alliance with Christ and the Church of Christ. The coming Sunday will be observed as Go-to-Church Sunday, when it is hoped that every communicant of every parish will go to his or her church for worship sometime during the day. The winter months are always difficult for the churches of the North Shore, but this year has been unusually severe, for the combinations of snow, rain, bad walking and excessive cold weather have made it difficult for communicants to reach the churches, and many times the heating problem has been no small task. So that the last three months have been difficult for every North Shore parish financially and in attendance. The coming Go-to-Church Sunday will appeal to many who have been deterred from attending church because of weather conditions or the prevalence of the influenza and "colds." Easter Sunday will undoubtedly find a large class of young people in all of the churches formally associating themselves with the organizations in which they have been brought up. The work of the churches should be supported by the loyal attendance of the parish communicants. In the Catholic churches the usual impressive Lenten service rituals are being observed and in Beverly Farms the local clergymen are being aided by a Lenten preacher from one of the large Boston parishes.

COLONEL HIGGINSON MUST HAVE had more trouble than most people suspected in bringing soothing music out of discordant men.

THE WINTER'S COLD AND STORMS have dealt harshly with our friends of the feathered tribes of the air. They have been deprived of their usual haunts for food and have been driven in from the woodlands to find the grains thrown out by friendly hands in the villages of the North Shore. One blue bird does not make a spring, but it gives a cheerful suggestion of coming days, for they have been seen this early, hereabouts. The robin, too, has been seeking food with his cheerful if not particularly musical song. The friendly chickadees with their morning calls have been seen in numbers. The downy and the hairy woodpecker have been able to continue their arduous struggles for a living up and down tree trunks and have given cheer to house-bound folk. The tree sparrows, too, have been about constantly and have been less timid than usual. The canny and obtrusive crows have been seeking the shore grounds in quest of food. Careful watchers for new birds have been favored by seeing a pair of red poll linnets, but they have refused to return. The juncos have not been as numerous as usual, but as welcome and as friendly. The bird lover is still confused concerning the great numbers of birds that flew overhead bearing to the south in the midst of the cold and stormy spell of January. In the early morning, the starlings, for the first time, have been heard making their unique and peculiar whistle and have been seen constantly for the last week or two. The birds are still having a difficult time and will reward every lover of nature who ties a suet "chunk" to a tree in the yard or who scatters grain or other food. "Feed the birds" is the word which comes from the state offices, and cheery helpers are being rewarded.

THE GARDENERS TODAY are finding that the frost in the ground is not very deep. The nitrogen from the snow will help the roots of plants. The heavy blankets of snow have protected the roots of sensitive plants. It is an ill condition that brings no good.

THE NATIONAL GOVERNMENT has announced its purpose to cooperate with Massachusetts in its Tercentenary of the Pilgrim Fathers' adventurous voyage and settlement. It is fitting that such an arrangement has been made.

THE SPRING IS COMING and your North Shore contractors can give you better service now than you could expect later. Plan your improvements and let your contracts now.

THE NEW YORK BAKERS refused to give the people of that city their daily bread for less than an eight-dollar-a-day wage. They are having difficulty in raising their "dough."

GOVERNOR LOWDEN and General Wood are having a trial of powers in the home state of the Governor. It will be interesting to watch the "denouement."

WHAT HAS BECOME of the seer who deluded himself and amused his readers by proving that the New England climate had changed.

Sir Auckland Geddes, the new ambassador from England to the United States, will receive over $100,000 as yearly compensation. Our ambassador to London is paid $17,500. Wonder if this is where that 6-1 League of Nations vote proportion started?

The blizzard of last Saturday reminded us that it is a little early to think of consigning the fur coats to cold storage and moth balls.

New York has spent over $3,000,000 in removing snow from the city streets this winter. And the end is not yet.

A book of rules for employees of the Federal Reserve bank, of Chicago, says: "No male employee receiving less than $125 a month salary will be permitted to marry while in the service of this bank, without first taking the matter up with the chief clerk." Sort of a "safety first" proposition. Many times we have read of employees absconding with money belonging to a bank, being unable to make both ends meet.

By order of the legislature, molasses will be sold by weight. In cold weather how long will you have to wait to purchase by weight?

If one can judge by the prevalence of green next Wednesday—St. Patrick's Day—we hazard the guess that spring is on its way to the North Shore.

"Frank H. Hitchcock to Work for Wood,"—newspaper headline. Others who are not in the political class are working for wood, also for coal, and other supplies to "keep the home fires burning."

Most of us can remember that as small children we were fond of the winter, with its chance to use sleds and skates. But as we grew older and winter began to mean coal bills and frozen water pipes and short, dark days, we lost our affection for Jack Frost, and from December to April heartily envy the folks who live in tropical climates.

If Mr. Hoover persists in refusing to run for President on either the Republican or Democratic tickets, how about running him on the meal ticket?

Incredible tales as to winter conditions and the depth of snow drifts appear from both city and country. The Ananias club has a large following of disciples this winter.

March 15 is the final date for the filing of Federal income tax returns. By that time there will probably be many worn brains in the United States. It is suggested that you be careful when mailing your remittance. Everything must be exact, or later an inspector, who must do something to earn his pay, will discover that you mailed a letter bearing two one-cent stamps instead of one two-cent, and that you failed to cross your fingers at the same time.

It is estimated that there are 35,000 unnecessary government employees in Washington. Now we understand why there is an income tax.

Richard S. Jones, editor of a newspaper for soldiers and sailors, in addressing a committee at Washington regarding a suitable bonus for soldiers, said "The feeling among ex-soldiers is that they should be given at least an even break with those who worked in shipyards or munition plants." Our gallant men who wore the khaki and received $1 per day while their fellows were paid fabulous wages in war industries, are entitled to additional compensation, and Congress now has the matter under consideration.

SOCIETY NOTES

RENTAL of cottages and estates along the North Shore, for the coming season, would indicate that the North Shore is to be a busy place again this year. While the weather has been somewhat against the leasing of property this winter, real estate men say the demand is excellent. The four rentals listed here were made through the office of T. Dennie Boardman, Reginald and R. deB. Boardman, of Boston and Manchester.

Mr. and Mrs. Standish Backus, of Detroit, Mich., who had the bungalow, "Ledge-Leaf," on the Harris estate, Proctor st., Manchester, last season, will return to Manchester. They will occupy another of the Harris houses, "Alabama cottage," which Wm. M. Wood, Jr., and family had last year.

Dr. Elisha Flagg and family, of Boston, who had the Dexter house on Common lane, Pride's Crossing, last year, will return this season and will occupy the same place.

Dr. James Lincoln Huntington and family, of Marlboro st., Boston, will spend the summer at Beverly Farms. Last year they had the Hardy cottage, corner of Valley and Hale sts., Beverly Farms; but this coming season they will be at the Knowlton cottage on West st., quite near the Beverly Farms station. Mrs. Huntington was Sarah Higginson Pierce. They have two beautiful children,—Benjamin Lincoln, eight years old, and John Higginson, four.

Thomas Atterbury McGinley and family, of Sewickley, Pa., will return to the Churchman cottage on Proctor st., Manchester, again the coming season.

A Boston engagement of interest to North Shore people is that of Miss Katherine Dorr, daughter of Joseph

She was occupied in refugee and canteen work in Paris in 1916 and 1917, and on her return home she continued her war work here until the close of the war. Mr. Doane is a M. I. T. man, 1912, and is a practicing architect in Boston. He was a first lieutenant of engineers, in the army, during the war.

The many North Shore friends of Miss Eleonora R. Sears hope for a speedy and successful recovery from the serious operation performed upon her at Phillips House, Boston, several weeks ago.

Mr. and Mrs. Lyon Weyburn (Ruth Anthony), of Beverly Farms and Boston, are receiving congratulations upon the birth of a daughter on Mar. 2, at the Boston home of Mrs. Weyburn's mother, Mrs. Randolph Frothingham, 113 Commonwealth ave.

The Vincent club annual show is always a most interesting event of the spring in Boston. Rehearsals were started his week for "Satni," an operetta with an Egyptian setting, the libretto for which was written by Miss Mary Forbes Atkinson, of Brookline. As usual, the show will be given at the Wilbur theatre the latter part of April.

Mrs. Henry L. Higginson, of Boston, will come to her estate at West Manchester in the spring, as usual. Following Colonel Higginson's death last fall she disposed of her stable—horses, carriages, etc., and will be a more constant user of automobiles in the future than in the past. Col. and Mrs. Higginson always kept their horses for driving about Manchester and other delightful sections of the North Shore where the wood drives had not been destroyed. Though they had kept motors the last six or seven years they seldom used them, preferring

Miss Elizabeth Caswell and Miss Ella Snelling, of Beverly Farms and Boston, are among the young women who will give exhibitions of skating at the skating carnival which is to be held tonight at the Skating Pavilion in Cambridge for the benefit of the Ellis Memorial. Both Miss Caswell and Miss Snelling are this season's debutantes.

Allison V. Armour came on from New York over the week-end, and was at "Highwood," West Manchester, the guest of Mrs. Wm. B. Walker and Chas. C. Walker, though his stay was somewhat abbreviated by the slow train connections, due to the severe blizzard. Mr. Armour's houseboat under construction at Calderwood's boatyard, Manchester, since last fall, will be put in the water as soon as the weather permits. It is a wonderful boat, and is said to surpass anything in the line of houseboats that will be seen in North Shore waters the coming summer. The boat is splendidly equipped and furnished.

MANY MIRACLES PERFORMED WHILE WE SLEEP

Did you ever realize that the man who gets out of your bed in the morning is not the same man who went to bed the night before? When you retired, perhaps, you were disgusted with yourself and the world. Everything went wrong with you during the day; you were brain-weary, discouraged; your initiative was demoralized, your self-confidence had petered out, and you decided that you couldn't undertake what in the morning you were confident you could do.

Your standards were down, your mental faculties were dull, your brain was stale, your creative power was gone, and you felt generally down and out. But the next morning you were a different man. All you did was to get into bed. Nature did the rest. She put you under her marvelous anesthetic, sleep, and overhauled every part of your body. She freshened every brain-cell, renewed your blood, eliminated the poisons accumulated during the day in your different organs—and you awoke in the morning to a new world, refreshed, encouraged, with a new spirit and strength and confidence, a new outlook upon life, a new determination to do what you wanted to do.

Sleep is a miracle-worker. It makes heroes out of cowards, successes out of failures, strong, vigorous characters out of weaklings. And how little Previous to 1914 we owed England so much money that the annual interest was 300 million dollars. Now England is paying us 150 million dollars a year interest. Before the war we owed about four billion dollars abroad. Today the net indebtedness of Europe to America is ten billion dollars. We possess about one-third or more of the total wealth of the world. America is now the richest nation and the financial center of the world. Before the war England was the greatest ship-owning nation. After 1920 America will have twice as many ships as England.

At the dawn of the greatest era in our history every citizen of the United States should get these big facts indelibly in his mind.

Andrew Carnegie, 2d, and family, who are now at their winter home in Fernandina, Fla., will spend the summer at their estate, "Seawold," in Manchester Cove. Last year they let the estate, and passed the midsummer months at their camp at Racquet lake, in the Catskills. They will not do this the coming summer. They will be among the early comers to the North Shore this spring.

ARE YOU ONE OF THE "SOME DAY" MEN?

A salesman for a very large organization last year achieved an extraordinary record. He enrolled more new customers than were secured by any three average salesmen. In recognition of his wonderful work and its stimulating effect upon the hundreds of other salesmen, the company awarded him a substantial prize. I asked this young man—he looked to be not more than 30—how he did it, particularly what was his most successful argument in inducing people to sign their name on the dotted line.

"My favorite presentation is this," he replied. "I impress upon my prospect the fact that there are only two kinds of people in the world. There are those who have all sorts of laudable intentions, but who seldom or ever take hold of themselves and really act. They are known among successful men as 'some day' men. The others are the kind who do not procrastinate, who do not keep putting things off, who do not shilly-shally by telling themselves and others that they are going to do something really worthwhile 'some day.' They act. Then I finish up by asking whether he wants to get into the successful class. That usually gets them."

How about yourself? Are you a doer? Or are you a "some day" man?

LIBRARY NOTES

New Books in Manchester Public Library

The new books, referred to in last week's library notes, did not arrive in time to tell you about them this week. Instead, I am going to call your attention to a few books, other than fiction, that have not been taken out at all, or only a very few times.

"The American Language: A Preliminary Inquiry into the Development of English in the United States," by H. L. Mencken, is one of last year's books that I enjoyed reading very much. You obtain a great deal of information in a very attractive form. Anyone reading this book will be very much surprised at the great differences in the language as heard in the United States from that of the spoken word in England. The headings of some chapters are "The Beginnings of American," "American and English Today," "Tendencies in American," "The Common Speech," "Differences in Spelling" and "Proper Names in America."

A little volume that should appeal to the thinking woman is "The Making of Women, Oxford Essays in Femininism." It tells some plain truths in a very direct manner.

Those who have enjoyed the novels—such as "Spanish Gold" and "General John Regan"—by that witty Irishman who writes under the pen name of G. A. Birmingham, will want to read his "A Padre in France." This is a very readable book. If you once start it, you will be sure to finish it.

Should you want to know more about such writers as George Meredith, Thomas Hardy, Robert Louis Stevenson, Rudyard Kipling, H. G. Wells, John Galsworthy, Arnold Bennett, and others, take out "English Literature During the Last Half-Century," by J. W. Cunliffe, professor of English in Columbia University. A chapter is devoted to each author, and at the end of the chapter a bibliography of his works is given.

Any mother reading "Mother Love in Action," by Prudence Bradish, will receive many useful hints on the bringing up of children. Be sure to read such chapters as "Training and Breaking Wills," "Habits," "Young Liars—and Their Parents," "Punishments," "Curiosity in Children," "Obedience and Self Control," "Story Telling for the Children" and "Fretters and Whiners."

Take out "A Sample Case of Humor," by Strickland Gillilan, and have a good laugh.

"The World's Wonder Stories," by Adam Gowans Whyte, is a book that will in a very pleasing way answer many of the questions that children are constantly asking about the How? Why? When? and Where? of things. Even grownups may add to their knowledge of the world's beginnings; for it is packed full of facts about which we all should know more than we do.

Our holidays come and go, and we give very little thought to their origin, and why we have them. We may have this information conveyed to us in a very agreeable form in "The Book of Holidays," by J. W. McSpadden.

"Talks to Young People on Ethics," by Clarence Hall Wilson, is a book that has never been taken out. Much good advice is given to young people in ways that will appeal to any thinking boy or girl. At the end of each chapter, suggestions for further reading are given. It is a work that anyone having to do with the training of young minds will do well to ponder over, on account of the numerous useful suggestions that may be found between its covers.

An interesting little story is "Happy the Life of a Bee," by Walter Flavius McCaleb. The author was for many years a keeper of bees. In this book he tells many facts about these fascinating little creatures. He lets "Happy" tell the story of his own life—one that is well worth reading.

I think we may safely promise some new books for next week.

LOCAL SECTION

Friday, March 12, 1920

MANCHESTER

Mr. and Mrs. Edward P. Flynn have been visiting for the past three weeks with relatives in Marblehead.

Joseph Floyd, of Cambridge, was in town Wednesday for a short visit with relatives.

Edward Baker and family are to occupy the tenement with the J. F. McNeils on Friend's ct. for the present.

John Corley was called to Chester, S. C., his former home, last Friday, by the serious illness of his only sister.

Miss Long has gone to Worcester to rest, the balance of the month, after a most strenuous winter attending to her duties as district nurse. Mrs. Roy Wilfong (Mabelle Lodge) is substituting in Miss Long's absence.

The arrangements for the Frank B. Amaral post, A. L., costume party and dance to be held on Monday evening, April 5, are progressing satisfactorily. It is planned to make this first dance of the series of ten, a winner.

Mrs. Paul Webber and son returned to their home in Bedford last Saturday after a week's visit at the home of Mrs. Webber's sister, Mrs. Frank P. Bullock. Mrs. Bullock accompanied Mrs. Webber to Bedford for a short visit.

George E. Rogers, who recently underwent an operation at the Massachusetts General hospital, Boston, arrived home from that institution last Saturday. The weather conditions were so unfavorable, however, that he was unable to make the trip to his home on the Mrs. W. Scott Fitz estate until Sunday. The drifts were so deep on Masconomo st., that they were impassable, and the lively man had to turn back. Mr. and Mrs. Rogers remained in the village over night.

In no part of the town was last Saturday's blizzard so severe as on Smith's Point. The drifts were so deep on Proctor and Masconomo sts., that the roads were impassable. Residents on Smith's Point were unable to get to the village by horse and sleigh. In fact, some of the residents in that section have been coming to the village and the children have been going to and from school the last six weeks by walking across the harbor ice, instead of using the highway. This has been the most severe winter experienced in Manchester in the memory of most of the dwellers.

MANCHESTER

A. B. Dunn is one of the recent sufferers from an attack of grippe.

James Reed moved his family to a tenement in the Willmonton block, Central sq., last Monday.

Mrs. Bertram Floyd has been confined to her home, Norwood ave., several days the past week by illness.

Mrs. Lewis Hooper and children are leaving Sunday for a week's visit at Mrs. Hooper's former home in Somerville.

Mrs. Sarah Crombie has moved from Smith's Point to her newly-purchased property on School st. this week.

The Beverly-Salem bus made its first appearance for several weeks last Tuesday morning, but found the going so bad that only one trip was made.

A host of friends in Manchester will regret to hear of the serious illness in Boston of Dr. George H. Washburn, and will wish for him an early recovery and return to health and strength.

Manchester people will have an opportunity to contribute to another "drive" next week or the week after. The people of America are to make a big gift to France of a monument to be placed on the banks of the Marne. For this purpose a fund of $250,000 is to be raised, as a free will offering of the people. Manchester's share is only $30, but it is hoped every loyal and patriotic citizen may have a share in that $30. George S. Sinnicks, chairman of the various "drives" of war days, will be in charge of contributions here.

At their meeting Tuesday evening the board of selectmen took action on the petition of former patrolman Byron A. Bullock, who asked for re-instatement. The petition had been received the week previous, and had been laid on the table for one week. The board voted this week to lay the petition on the table until June 8. Mr. Bullock was given one year's leave of absence in December, and he obtained a position at the United Shoe Machinery plant. It is understood the work there does not agree with him and he desired to get back on the department. At the time of his leave of absence, the board made a provisional appointment for six months, of Joseph Coen, a returned soldier. This term of appointment does not expire until June 11.

ENGAGEMENTS ANNOUNCED
 At an informal tea at her home, Central sq., Manchester, Tuesday afternoon, Miss Abbie P. Floyd announced her engagement to Dr. Frank A. Willis. Miss Floyd is the only daughter of Town Clerk and Mrs. Lyman W. Floyd. Dr. Willis practices dentistry in Manchester. He was a captain in the U. S. army in France during the war.

The engagement has been announced by Mr. and Mrs. Walter Winne, of New York, formerly of Albany, of their daughter, Adelaide Terry, to Marshall H. Winchester, son of Mr. and Mrs. Howard L. Winchester, of Lincoln st., Manchester. Miss Winne is a member of the graduating class at Vassar college, and Mr. Winchester is a student at the Mass. Institute of Technology.

Mrs. Geo. F. Silver, who has been spending the winter months in Daytona, Fla., arrived home last Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. Warren Burchstead are receiving congratulations on the arrival of a baby boy at their home on Summer st., last Friday.

Byron A. Bullock has been appointed a member of the special police force at the shops of the United Shoe Machinery Co., at Beverly, for service during the strike.

A committee is now working out the details for the party, which will be printed from time to time as the plans mature.

S. OF V. "GET-TOGETHER"

HON. GEORGE P. WEBSTER DELIVERS
 ADDRESS AT MANCHESTER

"One of the chief dangers we have to fear from the German people is their willingness to get back to work.
 That is, it will contain an element of danger unless we in the United States make up our minds to do the same thing. The world is suffering from an over-demand and an under-supply."

The foregoing is the opinion of
 Hon. George Pearl Webster, member of the Massachusetts House of Representatives, who delivered an address in Manchester Tuesday evening of this week to members of the Sons of Veterans, the G. A. R., Spanish War
 Veterans, Legion, members of the Manchester press, all town officials, and representatives from camps in Rockport, Beverly Farms, Gloucester and Beverly.

Edward W. Baker, past commander of Col. H. P. Woodbury camp, S. of V., gave the address of welcome, speaking of the custom of the camp in holding each year a get-together meeting, and mentioning something of the purposes for which the S. of V. exists.

Favors 100 Percent Americanism

John C. Mackin, patriotic instructor, read a declaration of purposes adopted by the National S. of V. at its convention recently, in which this order went on record as favoring 100 percent Americanism and opposing all forms of bolshevism.

Hon. George P. Webster spoke for about an hour in a very entertaining manner. A large part of his address consisted of a talk on the life of Lincoln, and he presented this subject in a new and different light than that generally given by public men, introducing various points which carried a popular appeal to his audience.

In his opening remarks, Mr. Webster complimented the local camp of the S. of V. on having so fine a hall in which to hold its meetings. He then spoke of incidents connected with the Spanish war, of which he is a veteran.

Worth While to be a Soldier

"I often think it is worth while having been a soldier just for the fact that he is so much better able to understand so many things.

"This last war was a tremendous one. It does not detract from the glory of any one class of men to talk of any other class. Those who served in the Revolution, the Civil war, the Spanish war, and the world war all did their duty, and praise should be given to everyone. We divide history into epochs. Every period takes inspiration from a former period.

"Together with the problems of this great war we have heard much about internationalism. It takes all kinds of people to make a world or otherwise it would be a very dull place in which to live. Are we, in our pride, ever to forget the great value of the evidence of American character we contributed to the war? This character was not created in a moment, it did not spring full grown as Minerva from the forehead of Jove."

American Flag and Its Ideals

Mr. Webster mentioned the reticence of many veterans of the world war in speaking of their experiences.
 One of them said to him: "It hardly seemed as though we could do the things we were obliged to do. I recall that when a boy, members of the G. A. R. came into our schools and spoke of the American flag and its ideals. In the trenches we were encouraged to fight for the right when we thought of Webster's famous per-oration: 'Liberty and union now and forever, one and inseparable.' We fought that 'Government of the people, by the people and for the people should not perish from the earth.'
 That is what built up American character and nerved us to continue to victory."

Speaking of the life of Lincoln and applying some of his ideas to our present day needs, Mr. Webster said:
 "Lincoln came so near to the heart of everyone in America that everybody alive at the time of his assassination remembers exactly what they were doing when they received news of his death. An English historian pays us the tribute of saying he was impressed with the fact that when any American spoke of Lincoln it was as if he had known Lincoln personally.

Genesis of Genius

"The genesis of genius would make an interesting study. Happy is the man who has a good mother, and after that a good wife. Happy is he whose every act will bear the test of the most discriminating light." The speaker then mentioned Lincoln's mother and his saying that "all he was in life and all that he ever hoped to be he owed to his mother."

As an aside Mr. Webster here mentioned his "grudge against whoever was responsible for our not declaring war against the Hun the day the Lusitania was sunk. Perhaps this belongs in a political campaign speech, gentlemen, but here it is!

Lincoln a Truthful Man

"Above all men Lincoln was distinguished as a truthful man. Truth was his polar star of light. His spirit of gentleness adorned him as a flowering vine on a rock."

Reading some of Lincoln's sayings and quoting one of them, Mr. Webster continued: "'Ancient dogmas do not apply to present needs,' said Lincoln. We have engaged in a departure of late. We have been forced into it by a sinister spirit of unrest. It has come about that the United States instead of being the world's greatest importers of undesirable citizens has now commenced to be an exporter. As yet only a few have gone, but we have hopes that the balance will soon be in our favor.

"This government was good enough for our fathers, it is good enough for us and it must be good enough for any who make their homes within our borders. When we are not satisfied with our constitution it is possible to change it. Very remarkable changes can be effected within a short time.

"It is well to consider in the light of our present day problems the ideas of men like Lincoln when they, too, were confronted by conditions of doubt and peril."

Test of the Heroic

The speaker referred to conditions in certain prisons in the south during the Civil war. "Men remained in those stockades," he said, "because they would not say the one word which to speak would be treason. It is a strong test of the heroic when a man stands for the right, although he is suffering from lack of food and is starving."

Hon. Mr. Webster concluded his address by urging his hearers to ever uphold the "cause of this beautiful,

If you're tired to death
Of wash-day blues—
Get a THOR!
If you can't find help
Then here's good news—
Get a THOR!

It washes clothes
Just simply grand
And does them better
Than you can by hand—
The finest washer
In all the land

Singing of popular songs under the direction of Dr. Frank A. Willis was enjoyed, followed by a collation. The committee in charge of the entertainment was Curtis B. Stanley, E. W. Baker, H. A. Bell, Frank Floyd, W. S. Foster, Rodney S. Dow, Charles E. Bell and Harry Slade.

GIFT TO COMRADE MORSE

A pleasing feature of the patriotic "get-together" in Manchester, Tuesday evening, was the presentation of a large box of tobacco to Comrade Daron Morse, oldest member of Allen post, G. A. R., the occasion being his 85th birthday anniversary. Past Commander Lyman W. Floyd, in behalf of the S. of V., made the presentation. Mr. Floyd said, in part: "Eighty-five years ago today a son was born of good New England parents, Comrade Daron Morse. It is the custom of the Sons of Veterans' camp to present gifts to the Civil war veterans on their birthday anniversaries.

"By constitutional amendment we no longer have the cup that cheers, but we have the imported meerschaum from Missouri. In giving this box of tobacco, we hope that when summer comes and you sit out on your piazza, you will smoke your pipe, and through the wreaths of smoke see numerous years of happiness ahead."

THE WORK OF SELECTMEN

Sherman said that "War is Hell"
 And Sherman knew his stuff
 He wasn't throwing any "con"
 He didn't have to bluff!
 And yet it sometimes gives me pause
 To think over now and then
 If War Is Hell, then what about—
 The work of Selectmen?
 It's bad enough to have to keep
 A record of our Debit
 As it is always mixed up with Just where we stand on credit.
 We figure all the morning
 We figure all the night
 We dream about it—if we sleep—
 To try and get it right.
 With knowledge very limited
 And judgment growing weaker
 (A self-apparent truth is this
 If you're an office seeker)
 We have to build State Roads and know
 The price of pigs and cows
 Be Diplomats, Board of Health,
 And mixed up in all rows.
 The Tax Commission shows to us
 New systems of accounting
 To keep our cash well balanced
 While expenses keep on mounting,
 (A system that we hailed with joy
 It certainly was great
 No more accounts are overdrawn
 Except those with the State).
 Will someone kindly tell me
 Won't someone answer why
 The State spends all our money
 And leaves us thousands shy?
 We're hammered by the citizens
 Of high and low position
 They say we don't know anything
 Yet they soon show contrition—
 By electing us for another year
 And sending us on our way
 To bump the bumps and take them too
 At the pre-historic pay.
 Let others throw the stones and mud
 And public servants pan
 I pity the poor microbe
 The poor old Selectman.

—Annie Nomous.

Following the idea that "women can do a man's work as well, or even better than can a man," some of the more enterprising Manchester teachers are considering advertising for jobs as snow shovellers; and why not? —at 60 cents an hour! Truly the compensation is larger than that received for teaching school, and when one can combine the two—why not?

All "wallflowers" will appreciate the following clipping from an exchange:

"Score one for the homely girls. An eastern dancing teacher says: 'Homely girls and fat girls are apt to be the best dancers of all.' He explains it. He says that is because they feel they have to be better dancers than their more beautiful sister if they are to figure in the finals.

"That is fine. Things are evening up. And the homely wallflower now knows that at least the dancing professor says she has something 'on' her more beautiful sister. He says that some of the pretty girls are conceited and do not exert themselves in learning to dance on the theory that their beauty will carry them through. Nothing to it! 'Beauty and the shimmy' do not hang together, he declares. Fair of face and false in steps is a rule that dancing teachers are putting out to the boys as a 'hunch.' Teach your feet, homely girls, and fat ones. Prove up to the professor's estimate—our best dancers."

The maddest prohibitionist in Maine, at least they claim he professes to be a teetotaler, is gunning for a cat that destroyed a quart of old Scotch whiskey last week. This alcoholic stimulant was given to him by a friend and he was keeping it for some day when he had the grippe. The family cat, while romping around the cellar in quest of a rat, knocked the sealed quart from the shelf and it smashed into a million pieces.—Lewiston Journal.

THE POPULAR DISEASE

An ache in the back and a pain in the head—

That's the grippe!

A choke in the throat and a yearning for bed—

That's the grippe!

A river of heat, then a shiver of cold,
 A feeling of being three hundred years old,

A willingness even to do as you're told—
 That's the grippe!

An arrow of pain, now in this place, now that

That's the grippe!

A feeling of doubt to where you are at—

That's the grippe!

A stupid sensation—of course, wholly new—

That's the grippe!

A foolish depression—why should you feel blue?

A doubt as to whether this really is you—
 That's the grippe!

Strange visions at night, that deprive you of rest—

That's the grippe!

A taste in your mouth and a weight on your chest—

That's the grippe!

A tired sensation that runs through your veins,

A queer combination of aches and of pains,

A vapid admission of absence of brains—
 That's the grippe!

A marvelous weakness, come on in a day—

That's the grippe!

A petulant wonder: "How long will it stay?"—

That's the grippe!

A season of fever, a season of freeze,
 A quivering weakness that's felt at the knees—

Say, if ever there was a cussed disease,
 That's the grippe!

Miss Mary Clark, teacher of modern languages at the High school, is unable to attend to her duties because of illness.

Power Fraser, brother of Mrs. Harry Slade, was taken to the Beverly hospital Thursday, suffering from an attack of pleurisy.

The attractions at Horticultural hall next Tuesday evening will be Irene Castle in "The Invisible Bond," and Charles Ray in "Red Hot Dollars."

The motion picture entertainment to be given under the auspices of the Manchester Woman's club will be held on Saturday evening, April 10. (Mention is made of this elsewhere, but the date was not known when that item was written).

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph F. Madden, of the Chas. E. Cotting estate, West Manchester, have been among the influenza victims the last few weeks. Mrs. Madden is just recovering and was able to get out this week for the first time for several weeks.

Mrs. Julia Burke, who for a number of years has resided at the Lester Leland estate during the winter months, was taken with an ill turn last Monday. The illness assumed such a serious aspect that, despite the bad going, the ambulance was called on Tuesday to convey the unfortunate woman to Brighton, where she has relatives.

In justice to J. Fred Walker, the mover, we should state that he was able to reach Boston about 2 o'clock on Sunday, two weeks ago, with the furniture and shop equipment of Mrs. L. G. Trafton and Miss Doris Trafton. We stated last week that he was unable to get beyond Beverly Farms, because of the bad condition of the roads.

F. F. Davis, of Annisquam, has opened a fish market in Manchester, in the Kimball block on Union st. The business will be known as the Davis Fish Market, and Mr. Davis, who is well-known throughout Manchester as the fish-man who has been selling here from a fish wagon, promises a full line of fresh fish in season at lowest prices. He will cater especially to local trade, he says, which means that his prices will be consistently low. He will carry a big line of lobsters, both boiled and green, just as soon as they are on the market again. A telephone will be installed and some arrangement will be made for delivery later on. The more people that call at the store, however, the lower prices, for, as Mr. Davis says, it costs money to make deliveries.

The End of the Storm

A GREAT STORM does not come to an end instantly. After the thunders cease, and even after the winds are stilled, the waves continue to beat the shores furiously. It is so with the great conflicts of men. The thunders of the colossal war stopped on Nov. 11, 1918, but the surge of the forces it had created could not be checked by an armistice.

The year just closed has been a trying one for mankind. The normal processes of civilization had been violently disturbed. New currents had set in, creating dangerous whirlpools. The blackness of night had lifted, but heavy clouds remained. The winds still blew in uncertain and conflicting directions. Equilibrium was lost and action and reaction battled for its restoration. But every storm must have its end; every tempest must subside. Equilibrium is the normal state of nature, and whenever and however it is disturbed, the balancing forces surely rally for its re-establishment and inevitably the calm succeeds.

Slowly, gradually, but with absolute certainty, the equilibrium of mankind is being restored. It is not easy to realize this when we look abroad upon the world today, for unrest is still manifest, and we are yet bewildered by the conditions and problems that we face. But, if we look back a year we can see that progress has been made toward subsidence of the waves.

Conditions are still confused and complicated, but chaos no longer reigns. The elements and the powers of order are becoming again dominant. Definite form is beginning to emerge. Great problems are approaching solution. Anarchy is consuming itself. Physical necessities are compelling the return of stability, the increase of labor and the dissipation of hallucinations.

Work, the panacea of all ills, is applying its balm to the wounds of war. The griefs and hates are being softened by the soothing hands of time. Slowly, haltingly, with difficulty, but surely, humanity is finding the solid ground of Ararat.—St. Louis Globe-Democrat.

The Ladies' Missionary society held a meeting Tuesday afternoon at the Baptist parsonage. The theme was "A Trip to Congo Land." The home life and customs of the African women were studied. An episode entitled "The Wife Who Was Sold for 10 Cows" was given by four of the ladies of the society.

MISS JORDAN ADDRESSES MEETING OF ARBELLA CLUB

An interesting meeting of the Arbella club girls was held Tuesday afternoon of this week, at the Food Centre, Manchester. The speaker was Miss Jordan, of the Boston Public Library.

Miss Jordan gave an entertaining talk on libraries and the work of librarians. Her remarks dealt largely with the training it is necessary to have before one is qualified for the position of librarian.

KING WINTER PAYS THE NORTH SHORE ANOTHER VISIT

The worst blizzard of the winter visited the North Shore last Saturday about noon time. The snow was accompanied by a high wind and a cold wave.

Measured by its severity it was certainly the worst storm we have had during the present season, although it did not last many hours. Train service hereabouts was crippled during the day and evening, but by Sunday trains were running about normal again.

It was noticeable that the windows in stores and homes were completely covered by frost within a very short time.

S. OF V. GAIN 7 GAMES

SPRING SURPRISE IN THE PITCH TOURNAMENT

The Odd Fellows have discovered that it is indeed wise to "keep an eye out for that old fox of a leader, Curtis B. Stanley, captain of the S. of V. cohorts," as mentioned in last week's BREEZE, in reference to the pitch tournament in progress most of the winter. Mr. Stanley and his associates of the S. of V. gained a total of seven games on the Odd Fellows during the playing Monday evening of this week, at Manchester, and although the I. O. O. F. total is 125, the Sons are very close with 124.

Scores made this week are as follows: Sons of Veterans 20, Red Men 16, Odd Fellows 13, American Legion 11. The totals to date: Odd Fellows 125, Sons of Veterans 124, Red Men 122, American Legion 109.

It will readily be seen that with only one point separating the two leaders, and the Red Men only three points from first place that the closing contest to be staged next Monday evening will be a grand finale of one of the most interesting pitch tournaments ever staged in Manchester. The winning teams will be given a banquet by the members of the other three fraternal orders and it is needless to say that every effort will be made by the competing teams to be guests rather than hosts.

The schedule for next Monday is as follows: S. of V. No. 1 vs. Legion No. 3; S. of V. No. 2 vs. Odd Fellows No. 1; S. of V. No. 3 vs. Red Men No. 2; Odd Fellows No. 2 vs. Legion No. 1; Odd Fellows No. 3 vs. Red Men No. 1; Red Men No. 3 vs. Legion No. 2.

MANCHESTER

The social committee of the Parent-Teacher association will meet Saturday evening with Mrs. E. J. Semons, Pine st.

Arrangements are being made for a special moving picture show to be given immediately after Easter, under the auspices of the Manchester Woman's club. The exact date of this show has not yet been determined.

Col. Frank Perkins, of Salem, one of the directing geniuses of the famous 26th Division, will be at Manchester next Friday evening, Mar. 19, to speak at the Manchester club—at another of the club's popular "get-togethers."

Anyone wishing to purchase Red Cross yarn for their own use may get the same next Tuesday, Mar. 16, at Horticultural hall. Mrs. Chas. E. Bell, will be at the hall between 2.30 and 3.30 p. m. The price will be $2 per pound.

Next Thursday evening, March 18, the W. R. C. will celebrate its 31st anniversary with a roll call and entertainment. A collation will be served. Post associates and the S. of V. are invited to attend. Every member is requested to be present and respond to the roll call.

Spring has come! Captain Frank Blaney, of Swampscott, the genial gentleman-fisherman, was in town Tuesday,—which means that the ice will be out of the harbor soon, and the fishermen will again be out with their motorboats and fishing traps,—if signs count for anything.

MANCHESTER PARENT-TEACHERS' MEETING

The next meeting of the Manchester Parent-Teacher association will be held in Price school hall, Wednesday evening, Mar. 17, at 8 o'clock.

It is with pleasure and gratification that we announce the speaker for the occasion—Mrs. Alice Gray Teele, formerly matron of the Franklin Sq. House, Boston. Mrs. Teele has traveled through many countries and has had a wide range of interesting experiences. Added to this her ready wit, keen appreciation of human nature, and unusual charm make her always a popular lecturer. Her subject next Wednesday evening, will be "The Modern Miracle," a story of her experiences in connection with the schools of North Carolina and Alabama, and extended visits to Tuskegee college, the late Booker T. Washington's famous school for colored people.

The Orpheus club will furnish music, and a social hour will follow the regular program.

On the front cover this week is printed a "snapshot" of "Ben Butler," the man who saved Magnolia from being cut off entirely from the outside world this winter. During the period of severe winter weather, when the roads were impassable for horses and sleighs, and no means could be found of transporting the mails over the nearly three miles of road between Magnolia village and the B. & M. depot, the ever-popular "Ben Butler" stepped into the breach and agreed to haul the mails by sled. Michael Kehoe, our local contractor, is making some repairs on the Grande Maison de Blanc store on Lexington ave.

Dorothea McGaughey was in Manchester, N. H., Wednesday, going on business for her father, who is now in New York city.

One week from tomorrow will be the first day of spring. Many will welcome that day if it brings warmer weather and heat sufficient to melt the snow that is still piled high in our streets and sidewalks.

Mrs. W. R. Boyd has been confined to the house for some days with the grippe, but she is much better now. Mrs. Fred Davis and her two boys, Clarence and Forest, have also been quite ill with the grippe. It is expected that they will be out again in a few days.

Mrs. John McKay, who was considered dangerously ill the first of the week, is now gaining steadily in strength and her recovery is confidently expected, though it may take some time. At present she has two of her sisters caring for her, besides her husband and daughter.

We will not soon forget the snow-storm that struck this village last Saturday afternoon and evening. The wind swept across Magnolia Point with such force that it was with difficulty one could walk at all. Even the eagle on the top of the flagpole near the schoolhouse had not the strength or courage to withstand the wind and storm. It therefore flew to the ground and sought refuge in a neighbor's house.

COMMUNICATION

Editor North Shore Breeze.—

Dear Sir:—In your Magnolia items of last week, I was somewhat surprised to read an article on coal shortage in Magnolia,—a statement that the church had to be closed for want of coal and that a public institution had been running night and day because they had plenty of it, while families in Magnolia had been "suffering" for want of it.

As a member of that same church and also as treasurer of the Women's club, the institution referred to, I would like to correct the untruths of that article and put in a right light the activities of the Women's club in winter. In the first place, it has not run night and day. We have had no one to take care of it night and day, but early in the winter some friends of Magnolia and of the club, contributed towards its being used at least two or three evenings each week and, as treasurer of the club, this money was given me to handle. The work has been well looked after and done under good supervision, but we have not burned coal recklessly, nor had it to burn that way.

Up to the time of so much illness and trouble and such severe weather, we used the club from two to three evenings a week, sometimes for social work, sometimes by the Ladies' Aid and the Sunday School—in conjunction with church work, and sometimes for the children and young people, all simple times which were looked forward to by all and were of benefit to the community; but, as I say, after the severe storms and illness, the club has been open but little, except for the young people, on an average of one evening a week.

At present we have about three bushels of coal on hand and have never had an over-supply at any time; but, I do wish to say that had we known of anyone needing coal, we would have been glad and willing to assist at any time and trust in future we will be called upon to help, but I know the statement of actual suffering for want of coal is wrong, for in acting for a coal company, I know that coal can be obtained, not only to keep the Village church open, but for use in homes as well. Of course, trucks cannot deliver here now, but coal can be sent over in pungs or pungs can be sent from here for it, as many of us have had to do.

I know you will want the statements of your paper to be correct and not give a wrong impression about any public institution or church and that you will be glad to print this statement for me, as one interested in the club, in the church, and also interested in the comfort of every person in Magnolia and wishing them to know that the Women's club is ready and willing to share coal with them, if we have it, and they need it.

—ETHEL MAY WILKINSON.

HIGH SCHOOL STUDENTS GET TO GLOUCESTER UNDER DIFFI-CULTIES

Our young people, who attend the public schools in Gloucester, have had an exceptionally hard time this winter. This is especially true of the High school pupils for whom no conveyance has been provided for their transportation to and from Gloucester by the rulers of our city, and consequently they have been obliged to get to school the best way they could.

Sometimes they walk to the Magnolia station and there take the train for Gloucester, and at other times they walk all the way to school and back again at night. Is it any wonder that some have become discouraged and have dropped out altogether?

The marvel is that so many of them have persevered under such discouragements as they have experienced for many weeks, and if one or more of them complain of these hardships, who has a better right and a greater reason for complaining?

These young people have at least average ability, and they would make good in their studies if they were given half a chance; but this they are not having and have not had for a long time. This, however, is another story in which the readers of the BREEZE, for the most part, may have little interest.

Services will be held in the Village church Sunday at 10.45 a. m., with preaching by the pastor. The opening of the church again for worship tomorrow is made possible by the kindness of D. C. Ballou, who, on Wednesday afternoon, brought from Gloucester on his pung half a ton of coal.

BEVERLY FARMS

Miss Elizabeth Mason, of Stoughton, has spent the past week visiting friends at Beverly Farms.

An afternoon ladies' whist party was held on Wednesday at the home of Mrs. Arthur L. Standley, Oak st. This was a W. R. C. event.

At the annual business meeting of the Teachers' association, held at the Beverly High school, Tuesday evening, Miss Elizabeth Harding, one of our Farms teachers, submitted her report as chairman of the entertainment committee. Miss Harding was selected for chairman of the program committee for the coming year.

The Men's Forum, of the Beverly Farms Baptist church, held its March meeting last evening (Thursday). Rev. U. S. Milburn, of Salem, was the speaker of the evening. He gave a most interesting illustrated lecture on "Rural England." The meeting was well attended by the members and their guests. Following the lecture there was a social hour, at which time refreshments were served.

Mrs. Alice L. Preston, Hart st., has been confined to her home by illness the past week.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter L. Weston, of Bristol, Ct., have spent the past week at Beverly Farms, the guests of friends.

Miss Julia Kelley, a Beverly Farms young lady, entered the Salem hospital last Friday. On Monday an operation was performed, from which Miss Kelley is now reported to be very comfortable and improving.

The public whist parties that have proven so popular all winter will be continued for a while longer. The next will be held in G. A. R. hall next Monday evening. These are under the management of Preston W. R. C., and the receipts go toward the local American Legion flag fund.

John A. Morison, a well-known Beverly Farms young man, is at present located in Washington, D. C., where he has charge of the landscape work, planting, etc., on a new estate in that city, which is being done under the direction of Olmsted Bros., the well-known landscape architects, of Brookline.

Mrs. John E. Lee, who had a fall one day last week at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Elmer Standley, West st., and was quite badly shaken up and lamed, is reported to be quite comfortable, but she is confined to her bed. Mrs. Lee is 86 years old, and up to the time of the accident was a great reader and did a lot of sewing. Her eyesight was so good she was never obliged to wear glasses.

Preston W. R. corps has placed the order for a beautiful silk American flag, which is later to be presented to the Michael J. Cadigan post, A. L. Some time ago the W. R. corps conceived the idea and at once started to secure funds. Various contributions have been received, and entertaining features have been presented with the result that sufficient money has been secured or pledged to insure success. This being a fact, this band of patriotic women of Beverly Farms now feel that they can place the order, for Old Glory—which they did on Tuesday. The flag will not be received for three weeks.

Homer Callahan opened his new pool and billiard parlor in Neighbor's hall block Wednesday evening. The place is an attractive one and will prove popular with the young people.

Capt. A. P. Loring, Jr., of Co. F, 15th Regiment, State Guard, drilled the company, as usual, at the state armory in Salem on Tuesday evening. He expects to receive his discharge soon.

Beverly firemen and police officers will receive $5 a day for their services in the future, as the result of the increases voted at last Monday evening's meeting of the aldermen. Aldermen Marshall, Thompson and Linehan voted against the raise. The board also voted for the revised salary list as recommended by a special committee, whereby practically every city official and employee in to receive an increase in pay.

BEVERLY FARMS

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph F. Mooney of Auburn, Me., have been among the visitors at Beverly Farms the past week.

Peter F. Ward is one of the newly appointed special police officers to serve at the plant of the U. S. Machinery Co., in Beverly.

Born recently at their new home in Beverly, a son, their third child, to Dr. and Mrs. Daniel F. Murphy (Grace Quirk), formerly of Beverly Farms.

The cribbage tournament now going on at the Beverly Farms fire station is proving to be of much interest and the contest between the various teams is a close one.

At Monday evening's meeting of the Aldermen, Eben Day was confirmed as a member of the board of managers of public cemeteries. Mr. Day has held this position a number of years. It is a work in which he has taken much interest, and his services have been most satisfactory.

A surprise party was given last Friday evening to Miss Helen Publicover on the occasion of her birthday. The party was given at the home of her friend, Miss Colson, Lothrop st., Beverly, where a large party of her young friends met to congratulate her and wish her many happy returns. A pleasing feature was the presentation to her of a handsome electric lamp.

The movement for a diocesan centre for Catholic women, which is to establish a club or headquarters by acquiring and maintaining a building in Boston, has been started at Beverly Farms among the members of St. Margaret's church. A committee consisting of Mrs. Helen Dougherty, chairman; Miss Margaret Cannon, treasurer; Miss Mary Murray, secretary; and Mrs. Howard E. Morgan, Mrs. Dennis Murray, Mrs. James Fanning, Mrs. Patrick Gorman—to which others are to be added—have been selected to take charge of the movement here. An important feature will be the raising of a sum of money so that Beverly Farms may respond to the appeal to supply its quota of the amount asked, and the committee is now considering ways and means for this purpose. It is very probable that a number of entertainments will be given in order to raise the money. The work will have to be completed before April 27, at which time returns are to be made at the grand bazaar to be held commencing on the above date at Symphony hall, Boston. All who desire to aid in any way in this most worthy object should communicate with the above-named committee.

Miss Virginia Linehan has been absent from the Beverly High school the past week because of illness.

The M. J. Cadigan post, A. L., is now holding its meetings on Friday evenings, at the library hall. The Legion now has 76 members.

Mrs. William P. Day, Hart st., returned home this week. She was called to Methuen two weeks ago on account of the illness of both of her parents, who are now much improved.

Thomas D. Connolly and Stephen Connolly, Jr., have arrived home from a pleasant vacation spent in the south. Gregory P. Connolly, who went with them, remains in the south for a while longer.

Officers Calvin L. Williams, Daniel J. Murphy and Thomas J. McDonnell, Beverly Farms members of the Beverly police force, have been doing duty the past week at the U. S. Machinery Co.'s plant in Beverly. Extra police duty was called for because of the strike.

The street department, under Foreman Geo. F. Wood, has been kept very busy the past week. The storm of last Saturday practically compelled the department to do over again most of the work, such as picking ice, sanding the walks and opening the gutters and catch basins, all of which had been put in good shape previous to the latest blizzard.

POLITICAL STRAWS

WOOD IS AN ARMY OFFICER—SO WAS WASHINGTON, McKINLEY, ROOSEVELT AND GRANT

Some people object to Leonard Wood as the Republican nominee because he is a general in the United States army. George Washington was a general, McKinley was a major, Roosevelt was a colonel, Grant was a general, etc.

Leonard Wood is a graduate of the Harvard Medical school and never attended the West Point Military academy. He was a medical officer in the army until the Spanish war, when he was transferred to the line and was appointed colonel of the 1st U. S. Volunteer Cavalry (Rough Riders).

"We want an America that is ready to help a world in trouble, but it must be an America working and acting under the dictates of her own conscience, and under the mandate, and none other, of American public opinion."—LEONARD WOOD.

"My advice to them (the women) is that they go into one of the regular parties, whichever one they believe in, and go in on equal terms with the men. Do not split up into little rainbow groups. If you find your party is not all that it should be, why do your part in cleaning it up."—(LEONARD WOOD at Lansing, Mich., Mar. 3.)

A Massachusetts delegate will nominate Leonard Wood, of Massachusetts, at the Republican National Convention, and a Kansas delegate will second the nomination. Except for the first three months of his life, Wood has been a legal resident of Massachusetts, and he is an honorary citizen of Kansas by act of the legislature of that state. Cong. Lufkin, of this district, is chairman of the Wood League in Massachusetts.

the other grades ordered, he said, contained silk stripes.

"Never has there been such a craze for silks," he said. "Ten years ago we sold virtually no silk shirts. The workman now wears silk shirts, but wealthy men do not. They know the cheaper weaves will give better service."

Mr. Tim said raw silk for spring shirts recently sold at $6.50 a pound, but had now advanced to $18.30. He indicated that perhaps the silk shirt friends would be unable to indulge their craving at all, as manufacturers and retailers are justified in refusing to put money into such merchandise and are beginning to ask if there will be enough money to finance a huge trade at present prices. He declared the country was near the limit of credit resources.

Mr. Tim's announcement was a concrete example of the principle reiterated all over the country by the Savings Division of the Treasury Department that the remedy for the high cost of necessities lies with the public and that refusal to buy more than absolute necessity demands and the conserving of the money saved in government securities will reduce those prices. Also it illustrates the contention of the Savings Division that extravagance not only affects the person practicing it, but injures the entire country. With millions of dollars tied up in silk shirts, production of real necessities is hampered by exhaustion of credit resources.

INCOME TAX ABSURDITIES

SCHEDULES BECOME MORE ELABORATE YEAR BY YEAR

Year by year income tax schedules become more elaborate in their requirements and more inquisitorial in their form. There is also a growth of absurdity in the rulings and interpretations which are being developed by the Commissioner. At this period in a year, when the citizens of New York are called upon to fill out both Federal and State income tax blanks it is to be hoped that they will do more than content themselves with venting an inward irritation and that the annoyances and injustices of the processes through which a great number of the people are now passing may take form in a genuine and irresistible demand for betterment of conditions that are well nigh intolerable.

Volumes of Tax Literature

The literature of the income tax is assuming voluminous proportions and library shelves are loaded with disquisitions regarding the taxpayers' action on various disputed points. Without going into the impossible technique of the income tax, it is enough to say that as at present levied the making out of a truthful and accurate statement is practically beyond the reach of the ordinary man who is engaged in the usual human activities involving incomes and disbursements.

Even if he has only a salary for which to account, the various deductions, computations, allowances, surtaxes and complications leave in his own mind the gravest of doubt when he has finished whether he has made an accurate return and is warranted in incurring the severe penalties of the act by making the requisite sworn statement that the return is accurate. The intolerable idea of employing an "income tax expert" at additional expense is one which should never for a moment be suggested. That any citizen should be obliged to pay for expert advice in the performance of his ordinary duties is intolerable and oppressive.

Government Wins Every Time

The income tax as at present administered resolves every doubt in favor of the government, and where the law is apparently inclined to favor the taxpayer it has been refined upon in a series of decisions which sometimes seem to convert the intent to deal gently with the contributor into an effort to treat him with exceptional severity.

Question Has Many Aspects

This perhaps as much as any one thing tends to alienate the income tax contributor and to make him feel that he has been unjustly and hardly dealt with. The question of maintaining the present volume of amount of taxation is a serious one and has many aspects. The question of putting the income tax—whatever its rate—into a simple, clearly understood and equitable form is one as to which there can be no difference of opinion. TheatresGRIGGS' LECTURES

Tomorrow—Saturday—morning at 11 o'clock, Mr. Griggs has selected Hamlet, the "Mysterious Dane," for his lecture at Tremont Temple.

It is probably true that no play ever written has been more discussed from all angles than has this masterpiece of Shakespeare, and it is also probably true that no student is more competent to interpret this wonderful play than Mr. Griggs, on account of his wealth of intellectuality and dramatic instinct. -

TREMONT THEATRE, BOSTON

Next Monday at the Tremont theatre, Boston, Marc Klaw will present his big musical attraction, "Dere Mable." In a season that has brought so many brilliant musical attractions this announcement will come as most pleasing news because advance reports have proclaimed that this attraction ranks in quality with the best of the season's offerings. The hallmark of Marc Klaw is sufficient recommendation of this fact, and the further instance of its presentation at the popular Tremont theatre substantiates the degree of its quality.

"Dere Mable" has been suggested in characters by the famous letters of Edward Streeter, who made of his hero, "Bill," one of the best loved of comic personages. This was gained through his letters to his sweetheart, whom he has affectionately termed in his bad spelling, Dere Mable. The plot of the present piece, for it has a clearly defined and swiftly moving humorous story, concerns Bill's adventures once he has returned home fresh from his triumphs as a decorated hero. His honors were easily and pleasantly borne while in the service, but it is a different story when he lands home.

COPLEY THEATRE, BOSTON

Patrons of the Copley theatre will be glad to learn that Henry Jewett's Company is to revive "The Private Secretary," which is always sure of its large patronage because of its intrinsic merits as a fun producer.

The action of "The Private Secretary" takes place in London and its plot revolves around the amusing experiences of a humble clergyman by the name of Rev. Robert Spalding, who is mistaken for the new private secretary and is constantly getting himself into a tangle of difficulties.

FEDERAL THEATRE, SALEM

You'd think a boy of twelve years, who is a featured player in a big motion picture production like "Huckleberry Finn," which is the feature at the Federal theatre, Salem, the last three days of this week, would either be perfectly satisfied or else have high ambitions to rise in his profession. Young Gordon Griffith, who has the role of Tom Sawyer in this fine film version of Mark Twain's immortal story, comes under neither of these descriptions. Since the age of seven, Master Griffith has been a screen actor and a mighty successful one.

On the same bill are a Fox comedy, "Her Naughty Wife," Pathe News and Bray's Pictograph.

Next Monday for three days comes "Back to God's Country," and a Billy West comedy, "Mustered Out," as features.

"HAPPY DAYS" REACHES 30TH WEEK

Chas. Dillingham's monster pageant "Happy Days" reached the 30th week of its record run at the New York Hippodrome this week, and judging from the great patronage, the public is making the Hippodrome its amusement rendezvous during the Lenten season as well as at the other months of the calendar. A new feature prepared for this coming week will be a scene called "Somewhere in Songland," in which Henry Taylor and the Hippodrome chorus will introduce a new Burnside-Hubbell leap year song, "Somewhere There's Some Girl." The water spectacle continues to be the outstanding novelty and surprise of this year's huge spectacle, and at the very end it offers a real thrill when Dorothy Gates makes her spectacular and daring high dive from the Hippodrome ceiling.

HOW TO HAVE YOUR LOCAL ITEMS PUBLISHED

Day before yesterday a perfectly nice lady called up with tears in her voice reproving us for not mentioning the fact that she had a friend visiting her last week. We told her that she had not let us know that she had a visitor. Then she said, "Well you should have known. I thought you were running a newspaper." Wouldn't that rattle your slats?

Some people think that an editor ought to be a cross between Argus and Anna Eva Fay. They seem to think that our five senses are augmented by a sixth that lets us know everything that happens, even if we see, hear, feel, taste or smell it not.

Dear lady, editors are only human, or at least almost human. If you have a friend visiting you, if you are going away, or have returned from a visit out of town, if Johnnie falls and breaks his arm, if your husband chops his toe instead of a stick of wood, if anything happens to make you glad or sad, happy, or mad, call us up. Tell us about it. That's the way to get it in the paper.—Coat-cook (Quebec), Observer.

Bedding and Hardy Plants

It is nearing Spring and time to think of planting. Orders should be placed with your florist in advance this season as the demand will exceed the supply. We are growing thousands of bedding plants such as geraniums, heliotrope, petunias, fuchsias, perriwinkle, begonias and quite a number of other kinds that are used mostly for outdoor planting and window boxes.

We also offer hardy plants such as larkspur, cantebury bells, iris, peonies, lupin, foxglove and panies. Tubs of hydrangeas and box trees to sell or let for the season.

At all times our ideas and experience are at your service, either in helping you in choosing, or in taking entire charge of your landscape planting.

Call or telephone; we are always pleased to be of assistance to you, and to give you the benefit of our suggestions.

HOW TO READ A BOOK

CARE SHOULD BE TAKEN TO THOROUGHLY MASTER EACH VOLUME

When Bacon said, "Reading maketh a full man," he used the word "full" in a sense of "stuffed full." Bacon was pleading for discriminate reading, for he himself was a discriminating reader. Quantity reading is not essential to the making of a well-read man.

The most profitable reading of books is usually done at slow speed. There is an art of skimming that, when mastered, gives the reader cream at low cost. But this method is to be cultivated only as a means of gathering material for specific purposes. There is a reading, that if wisely pursued, gives one a general view of world facts past and present; and this kind of reading calls for a careful selection of books and deliberation in their perusal.

Books Are Now Plentiful

Our country and age is blessed with large library facilities, and with books so plentiful as to induce a habit of too rapid and thoughtless reading. Some recreation books may be read rapidly and lightly, read but once, and no harm done.

But the books that give the reader power are the books that bear close study and are worth reading again and again.

These books should, if possible, be in the reader's own library. These are books with which the reader is pleased to live. It adds to one's interest in good reading to have them at one's command and near the reading lamp. As one should take a long time to read such books, so should he take time and thought in their selection. A careful reader might find one hundred such books in a lifetime.

Make Books Your Friends

If the reader will cultivate early in life the habit of putting into condensed form in his own words as he reads the substance of each page, he will find that he masters the book as he reads it. If he will, with pen or pencil, in good neat hand, write this summary on the margin of the leaf as he goes along, he will have mastered the book for life. For after that first reading, all he need do to renew his acquaintance with the book, is to follow his marginal notes. Few other methods will put the reader on such friendly terms with his books, or give him such confidence in his own knowledge of what the book contains.

A Wellspring of Entertainment

He who has learned to read in this fashion has a wellspring of entertainment as pure and refreshing as he has a mind to make it. He can converse at his own pleasure with the greatest minds of earth at their best, which is better than having met them in the living flesh, for then they were not always at their best.

Reading may be edification or dissipation, according as one masters the art of it, or lets the practice of it overwhelm him. — Minneapolis Journal.

ONE WAY AMERICANS CAN REDUCE COST OF LIVING

One of Mr. Edison's useful acts on his seventy-third birthday was to warn against over-eating. He doesn't eat more than a pound and a half of food in a day. One ounce for each hour keeps him going—and he goes some!

Too many men eat a heavy breakfast because it is to them a sort of prehistoric ceremonial. They eat a generous luncheon for business reasons. They go in heartily for dinner because that is a social function.

If what Edison says is true, that America could reduce its food consumption two-thirds, what a drop there would be in the cost of living if all Americans decided to get along on just enough to keep the physical fires burning brightly! — New York Sun and Herald.

THE ONLY PERMANENT ADJUSTMENT that is possible in relations among men is upon the basis of right. The ethical principle has been taught the peoples of the earth by experience. Only righteousness in action will be a permanent benefit to all. The fundamental principle of the last war was, a war not for power, wealth or lands, but for right. If America was not right, the war would be unjustifiable. The American people may err in their activities often, but in purpose they demand that all action shall be right. It is an ideal that America endeavors to live for and to live by. There have been economic difficulties which have involved employers of labor, the employees who have been employed and the public who have been served by the combined efforts of the two partners, the employers and the employees. The public has seen the common activities of both encroach upon the rights of the public. When a coöperation of employer and employee multiplies the public and transgresses the laws and principles of right, the employers and employees are wrong because of their violation of the principles of right, not for their economic association. The evil purpose of the association is what makes it reprehensible. When the employer (an individual or a group of individuals, as in a company), violates the laws or principles of righteousness, in dealing with the public or with the employees of the concern, he is wrong, not because of any association of power or wealth in employing men, but in an evil use of the power gained by association. That association of power and wealth must be used for good.

So, likewise, there may be an association of labor to maintain rights and assure reasonable conditions of wages and labor. There is nothing reprehensible about such association. Such association of employees is not to be condemned. It is a right which the individual workmen have. The standard by which the association of workmen is to be judged is the standard of right. If that association of workmen violates right in its relation with its own members, with the public or with the other employees of a great concern or with the employer, individual or corporation, that association is wrong and it will suffer the penalties of wrong-doing. Oppression by associated employers, workmen or mercantile men of any group is tyranny. The violation of right is self-destructive. The violation of the laws of right will not be tolerated, in individual workmen, associated workmen, employers or mercantile associations. The real standard is the standard of right. The right of association of any group along the standards of social justice and individual righteousness is not denied. An association of men (employees, employers or others), whose purpose of organization violates the innate laws of personal liberty and righteousness, are embarking upon a perilous career which must end in failure. The laws of righteousness cannot be violated with impunity.

IT'S A FORTUNATE MAN who has had forethought to engage his home on the Shore for the summer and has arranged for summer occupancy.

LET US HAVE PEACE! The war days left everyone weary and depressed and the rejoicing of Armistice Day brought relief and comfort, but for a short while only. Peace did not come. It has been delayed by the political activities of various groups in Washington and with the responsibility resting upon all. No group is entirely without blame in the uncomfortable and reprehensible situation which America has been in for these many months. When the war history has been written one of the strangest events to record will be the carelessness and dilatoriness of the American "politician" in following up the victories of our soldiers who have been in France. That there are temperamental failings which have made the overtures of the President difficult to overcome is unquestioned. On the other hand there have been reprehensible factions within the Senate. The responsibilities for the delays may be placed upon all of the contending forces. The question of the blame for delays does not interest the people of America. America wishes peace. It wishes the constituted authorities to expeditiously and justly find a way by which the American government may declare peace and enter into friendly relations with the powers of Europe that are seeking to make a new world out of an old one and to prevent, if possible, the renewal of war or to permit conditions that will cause the continuance or the arousal of class or national injustice or hatred. It is apparent that the details concerning the authority of Congress to declare war are not negligible. Article X has caused trouble, because it would appear to take the authority to begin war out of the hands of Congress. It is well that the mooted question is now raised and adjusted. The American people do not wish to surrender any vital principle of the nation in the establishment of its liberties, nor to abrogate the sovereign rights of a free state to declare war through its regularly constituted representatives in Congress. The American people wish these rights reserved and strengthened. The American people also wish peace and some established relation with the nations of Europe for concerted action for the maintenance of peace; for a league of free nations there must be. The present isolation of any of the allied powers is impossible. The fruits of the success of the war must be maintained by friendly associations of the powers for the maintenance of peace and the promotion of civilization with the open covenants and abandonment of covert and secret diplomacy which the war condemned. The American people blame all of the contestants for their awkwardness in maintaining inter-partisan comity, and their school-boy stubbornness in being unable to come to an agreement sooner so that peace may be with us, the rights of the nation conserved and the will of the people to ally themselves in a friendly concert of endeavor with the nations of Europe for civilization executed, and the fruits of the labors of our soldiers and sailors conserved. Let us have peace! The American people call upon the authorities in Washington to get together to end this farcical period of discussion, partisanship and empty oratory, and to give the nation peace and an international association conserving the powers of our own government.

IT IS EXPECTED that there will be an immediate reduction in wheat, sugar, leather and wool because of the large harvests of the former two and the large supply of the latter two available after the British embargoes have been removed. When the loaf of bread and sugar is reduced in price and the leather for boots and wool for clothing are available the salaries of all will automatically increase.

THE AMERICAN PEOPLE LEARNED during the terrible days of the war the ability which they possessed to give of their money for large enterprises, doing direct philanthropic work, contributory to the winning of the war. The great campaigns which were carried on were a credit to the American people and indicated without a doubt their hearty and sincere spirit. Money was available and many men of financial ability were developed for the great drives which were successfully maintained. That was during the war. Everyone gave liberally, cheerfully and promptly. Since the war, however, there have been so many financial drives that the average citizen discovers himself in a very doubtful and uncomfortable spirit. The individual merits of the many drives which are launched may not be denied and yet Mr. Average Citizen, who does not desire to avoid responsibility, finds his benevolent spirit increased by the war-giving and his pocketbook depleted. The war era was followed by a great drive for large funds for many worthy philanthropies that were subjected to losses during the war. The drives are justified and should be aided. But there are warning challenges that must be thrown out that, however liberal one may be, there are numerous enterprises—perhaps of a state or of a local character—with small funds, without the ability to launch large drives, with all the economy of organization that results, that need maintenance funds. Here is a real danger that there may be a "frenzied finance" in the segregation of large funds for worthy and absolutely essential enterprises at the expense of lesser institutions without the organization to compete in the financial "drive field."

Every careful giver considers this factor and realizes the returns that ensue from financing the smaller enterprises that are absolutely essential to community life. Not that the one or the other should be done or the other left undone. Philanthropic people have discovered that in their personal giving many of the larger enterprises fail to give the returns that many a smaller enterprise has yielded. There is a danger that the hour of large financial drives will leave many worthy enterprises uncared for.

The work of the national drive of a certain organization is a case in point. The organization raised a great, an unsurpassed fund for general benevolences, and yet when the work was done the leaders discovered that three necessary and valuable unique philanthropic enterprises in the city of Boston were overlooked. None of the funds raised could be used and the financial givers had been drained; and the hospital, the home and the other institution have passed through the most critical financial year of their history. This was due to the after effects of a great and commendable financial drive. It is well to give good gifts, but the giving should be relative, intelligent and proportionate. However appealing a great drive may be, local and state organizations should not be deprived of the honorable support which their work commands.

Breezy Briefs

Spring is officially due tomorrow, March 20. It is some satisfaction to know that winter will soon be a thing of the past,—at least according to the almanac.

During the month of February, Uncle Sam paid off $240,000,000 of the public debt. However, there is still some debt left to be paid.

The superintendent of schools in Brockton recently told the High school girls of that city that they are as pretty as girls in any other school in the state, but he admonished them against powdering and painting, especially in school.

The cost of bathing will be higher this year. The Metropolitan District Commission has announced that all who use the public bathhouses will be charged a price in advance of that prevailing in former seasons.

"Men have made a mess of the world," said Mrs. Kathryn Clemmons Gould, founder of the Woman's

This is not written in condemnation of the great financial progress that has been made in public philanthropies, but to steady the movement by suggesting the dangers.

THE MAKING OF A WILL is the duty of everyone who has property interests and plans for the disposal of same. There has existed in the minds of many people an unreasonable prejudice against making a will. The superstitious fear that many have when speaking of wills is unworthy of intelligent people. Many injustices will be avoided by care in the making of a will. There are cases, of course, where an intelligent individual, who knows the law, makes no will because he knows the law accurately and what the law will provide in his case. The recent case of the multi-millionaire in the west, who left a large fortune without making a will, is a case in point. All of the estate is to be divided among relatives whom the man never knew in life. Injustices follow in the execution of the law of intestate property in the case of a man who has more than five thousand dollars and desires his wife to have the entire estate. The next of kin come in for a share, no matter how remote their kinship.

The will is an important document that must be carefully drawn. It must be signed by the maker of the will, with three witnesses, who must know that they are witnessing the last will and testament. The provisions of the will must deal justly with the children of the maker and each must be named to indicate that they have not been forgotten. These items of information indicate the errors into which well intentioned people may fall and how a will may be defeated. It is always advisable for a will to be made and it will be an investment of time and money to consult a reputable attorney and pay him the small fee which is charged for drafting a will. Reticence concerning one's wishes and possessions is prejudicial to the best interests of the individual. It is possible for your attorney to draft the will without the disclosure of itemized possessions and yet provide for the execution of the individual's will. A properly drawn will by your attorney, now, will spare your family much trouble later.

HOWEVER LONG THE SEASON may be delayed, nature has a way of catching up. Many an early crop has been caught by the early gardener who took a chance. The late spring may bring an early crop.

ASTRONOMICALLY the spring has come, but the tiller of the soil prefers the testimony of the blue birds and the grass and the genial warmth of the sun. Let the sun shine and the earth will smile!

NOT MUCH LONGER WILL Palm Beach be alluring. Singing Beach will soon have its hours of charm and pleasure.

Chamber of Commerce, in New York. She continued by saying that women "must not count on them (the men) any longer, but get right down to business alongside the men." How fortunate it is that conditions will soon be improved.

Newspaper heading: "Food and Fuel Short, Water Fills Cellars." No need for anyone to have an empty cellar this spring.

The Attorney-General has ruled that the word "veteran" as used in the legislative act regarding the employment of veterans in the public service, shall include enlisted women as well as men. The women will be given precedence in civil service positions over women who did not serve in the world war. This is a privilege which army nurses and others have earned, and it should be given them.

At headquarters of the Methodist church in New York, it is announced that movies will be used as a part of the church services. "Pictures in the pulpit mean more people in the pews," it is said. Sermon outlines will be suggested for themes which may be illustrated by motion pictures.

Daniel C. Roper, the retiring Commissioner of Internal Revenue is quoted as saying that prohibition is causing increased thrift and decreased crime. He stated that "it is not improbable that the cost of enforcement for the country as a whole may be largely offset by fines and penalties and taxes on contraband liquors."

Just think of it! It is said that there is a physician in Chicago who makes out more than 500 liquor prescriptions a day, for which there is a charge of from $2 to $7.50 per prescription. "He should worry" about the high cost of gasoline.

The internal revenue office, at Boston, has been receiving several hundred income tax returns since the time for filing closed at midnight Monday. The penalty is a fine of $5 and a 25 percent increase in total. Procrastination is expensive.

During the thaw of the past week many cellars have been flooded. It has been hinted that many people have "wet goods" in their basements.

Maj.-Gen. Leonard Wood has been granted a two months' leave of absence to conduct his campaign for the Republican nomination for President. Sec. Baker said that Gen. Wood would be permitted to wear civilian clothes if he so desired. Which will carry the greater popular appeal to the voters: The army uniform or the civilian suit?

Representatives of the coal mine operators state that any increase in wages to the miners will have to be borne by the public in paying higher prices for coal. Certainly, the public always pays for all increases.

IN THE PRINTING OFFICE

"I cannot read it, father—father, see!
I cannot read it; spell it out for me.
I thought that surely I my letters knew,
But this I find I really cannot do."
So spake a child who, at his father's side,
Walked through a printing room, and vainly tried
To read the type. The printer, smiling, laid Upon the press a sheet, and kindly said:
"Come, little one, and try to read once more
These letters; for they were reversed before.
But now they're plain." The clouds from that fair brow
Soon passed away, for he can read it now.
So with our Father's dealings; day by day
We try to read, and puzzled turn away.
We do not understand; we cannot see
Why this was done, or that allowed to be.
But in the world to come, through his clear light,
We, too, shall read the mystery aright.

LIBRARY NOTES

New Books in Manchester Public Library

You should take out the last number of the Geographic Magazine and read the interesting article on the many industries of the "Old Bay State."

"Mermaid," by Grant Overton, is one of the new novels. It is a real good love story.

"Modes and Morals," by Katharine Fullerton Gerould, is a volume of unusually bright essays by an American writer. There are twelve essays in the volume, all of them good. "The New Simplicity," "The Boundaries of Truth" and "The Remarkable Brightness of Rudyard Kipling" are among the best of them.

Whether you play golf or not you want to be sure to read that humorous story, "The Enchanted Golf Clubs," by Robert Marshall. It has eight illustrations which add to the humor of the book.

"Reynard, the Fox, on the Ghost Heath Run" is a new volume by the English poet, John Masefield. It is a vivid description of a fox hunt. You meet scores of people and they are so well portrayed that you feel you know them well. You also get a fine picture of rural England. Your interest is held to the very last page. You wonder which will win, the hounds or the fox. If the "New Poetry" were all like this volume we would take more kindly to it.

"Health Through Will-Power," by

James J. Walsh, M. D., is a book that I wish every man and woman in town would read. It is not technical, but written in language that anyone can understand. It places the will in its proper place in life, and proves conclusively the great influence the exertion of its power has upon the many ailments of life.

Those who have laughed with "The Laughing Muse," and enjoyed the music of "The Mirthful Lyre" will gladly learn history and legend by reading "Ballads of Old New York," by the same author, Arthur Guiterman.

"This Giddy Globe," by Oliver Herford, is a small, profusely illustrated volume containing much wit and humor between its covers. There is a good laugh on every page.

"The Unsolved Riddle of Social Justice" is by Stephen Leacock, professor of political economy, McGill university, Montreal, Canada. The author is best-known to us through his humorous writings, such as "Nonsense Novels" and "Frenzied Fiction." If you read his latest work you will come in contact with the thinker. One reviewer of this book says: "The chief immediate opportunities for social betterment, as the writer sees them, lie in the attempt to give every human being in childhood adequate food, clothing, education and opportunity. This will prove the beginning of many things."

There will be more new books next week.

SOCIETY NOTES

RENTALS of summer cottages and estates along the North Shore increase as the spring advances, and real estate men say the demand for rentals is big and that the coming season is to be a busy one on the North Shore. Among those who will come to Manchester the coming summer will be the Edward Hussey Alsops, of Atlanta, Ga. They were here last year and occupied one of the Harris cottages, "Arbor Vitae." This year they will have the Martin house, another of the Harris group.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Blumer, of Boston, who had a cottage on Sea st., Manchester, last year, will return this year and will occupy "Wyndhurst," one of the Harris houses, on Masconomo st.

Russell E. Sard and family, of Londonville, N. Y., a suburb of Albany, will return to Beverly Farms, and will again occupy the "Red House," owned by Mrs. Leonard Ahl.

William H. Wellington, who has been coming to the Pride's Crossing section for so many years, will return this year, and will again be at the Longworth estate, in the Mingo Beach hill section.

Martin Erdman, of New York City, will return to Coolidge's Point, Manchester, the coming summer, and will again occupy the Coolidge homestead, so-called. This and the other four rentals mentioned, have all been made through the office of T. Dennie Boardman, Reginald and R. deB. Boardman, of Boston and Manchester.

CALIFORNIA'S CLIMATE

MANCHESTER MAN PREFERS ORANGE PERFUMED BREEZES TO ICE AND SNOW

The BREEZE editor takes the privilege of reprinting portions of a personal letter from his friend, Fred K. Swett, who, with Mrs. Swett, is spending the winter in California. The letter depicts the sort of life one is able to enjoy in that delightful country—including a visit to Mexico, where the climate is not quite so "arid," and where bull fights are staged as a mere pastime—to such an extent that we venture to reprint it without Mr. Swett's authority so that people in this cold, snowbound, ice-clad region may see what our friends in warmer climes are having.

"We are now spending a week at the famous Mission Inn, at Riverside," writes Mr. Swett, "its architecture copying the type of old Spanish missions that border the California coast, and which proudly boasts a $25,000 concert organ and a million-dollar art and curio exhibit.

"When you wake up in the morning with a gentle orange blossom perfumed breeze floating in the lace curtains on the window, and a warm California sun peeking into the room, and you reach out from bed and pick up the morning paper that every landlord slides under your door—and you read of the blizzard of snow and ice sweeping over New England,—well, isn't it a grand and glorious feeling!

"I have been keeping a diary, and in nearly three months we have had only four rainy days and six cloudy ones. The rest of the time has been sunshine in plenty; too much to suit the Japanese farmers, who are complaining of their crops drying up.

"The roads are so wonderful and smooth, and reach in every direction, that I have driven my Dodge coupe nearly 5000 miles, and if there is a part of California from Frisco to the Mexican border I have not seen, the highway commission must have it camouflaged. I have even crossed the border into the Mexican town of Tiajuana, where you secure your passports with the understanding that you are to return before night. Horse-racing, Monte Carlos and saloons abound, and appear to be the only source of revenue.

"Farming or ranching is done on a large scale and we drive through miles upon miles of green peas, lettuce and other garden truck, while valleys of orange and lemon groves reach as far as the eye can see.

"Just a word about that now lost art—and the sad sight of a deserted California vineyard. We have driven through a grape plantation that, according to the painted sign, contained 7600 acres of cultivated muscatel grapes. And as I remember in my assessor days, the total size of Manchester was 4500 acres, the comparison shows the magnitude of this vineyard.

"Lower California seems to be a Mecca for tourists this winter; and as prices always increase to meet the demand, necessities are even more expensive than in the east. The only cheap article I have run across in my travels is the price of gasoline, which remains uniform at 22c a gallon, and fresh eggs at the ranches at 40c a dozen. But as we are not housekeeping, the latter desirable bargain does not interest us, and I am positive the hotels do not give their patrons the benefit.

"I could rave about California,—about its climate, its mountains that always loom above you, some snow-capped whatever way you travel, and the fertile valleys that lay between—but the object lesson to me, and one that could apply to our own town, is that in taking advantage of the environments of nature, California builds and maintains elaborate highways and byways, public buildings, schools and parks, that interest and attract the visitor, and appeal to him to build and become a 'booster' for his adopted town or city, and the one thing that has made this state a success."

MYSTERIES OF EXCHANGE

Its Essence and Purpose in Settling Claims

(Reprinted from Boston Transcript)

It is by the frequent use of things that we become familiar with them. Exchange is somewhat of a mystery to the average American, because he uses it so seldom. We have not dealt enough in foreign business to be constant users of exchange; at least this is so of the average American. Britishers are familiar with exchange by virtue of their great participation in foreign trade. Our growth of foreign business has created greater interest in this matter, while the current dislocation of exchange has set the average American to wondering what it can mean.

Henry Hazlitt feels that everyone "who is interested in business conditions in general" should not be ignorant of "so fundamental a phenomenon," and he has written an article, published in the M. & M. Journal, which gives a clear idea in the terms of common understanding of what foreign exchange means.

Foreign Trade an Affair of Barter

"The first thing to plant in the mind," he says, "is that foreign trade is normally and always ultimately an affair of barter. The goods that we send to Europe are paid for by the goods Europe sends to us. As we grow wheat to greater advantage than England, and as England can manufacture linen to greater advantage than we, the exchange is mutually profitable.

"We have got to be paid for our goods somehow. In money, you say. But in whose money? English currency cannot circulate here. 'I'm in the export business,' I hear someone say, 'and you can't tell me. I don't take other goods in exchange for my goods. I draw on my foreign customers, or they send me a remittance, and I take it to my bank and the bank gives me the cash.'" But, as Mr. Hazlitt shows, the exporter is not paid his cash by the customer abroad. Ultimately he receives his cash from some other American who has bought goods from Europe. The English buyer and seller also liquidate their transactions at home. "Foreign exchange is in essence and purpose a process of selling international claims on your own side of the water."

American Importer Pays Exporter

Using wheat and linen for demonstration, Mr. Hazlitt shows the process by which this is accomplished between this country and Great Britain. He shows that an American exporter who sells wheat gets from his customer a bill of exchange for the amount due, the English buyer purchasing this bill from the bank. The American seller of the wheat can dispose of this bill to a home bank and receive his money, minus the banker's commission. The American importer of linens wants to pay in English currency. He buys the bill of exchange on wheat from the American banker. Thus the buyer of linen from abroad pays the American exporter of wheat for his product.

In like manner the buyer of wheat abroad and the seller of linen complete the two transactions on their end. The English bank which sold the wheat buyer the bill of exchange thereby received the payment for the wheat. A linen buyer comes along who has a claim on America for the amount that the bank got for the wheat. The bank buys the claim. The English bank was enabled to buy the linen seller's claim on America because it had secured the money for the American wheat seller's product.

Cancel and Balance Ordinarily

"As sales do normally equal purchases over the long run, and as banks can utilize their own funds for certain periods," says Mr. Hazlitt, "and as they do not have to sell the same bill that they buy, because it represents a credit against which they can draw as they choose, these things all cancel and balance each other within the respective countries." The difficulties of today are that England and all the other leading European countries want a lot of our goods, and can spare few goods to sell us in return, so the situation is not normal.

Thus American merchants who have sold goods abroad keep coming to our banks to sell their claims on London. But few people here have bought goods from England and there are few payments to be made there, so there are few importers to buy the claims on London. Americans, therefore, are constantly establishing credits abroad and trying to get cash from home banks for the same, while the banks have no purchasers of the credits. American banks are loath, under the circumstances, to buy the exporters' claims on London and will not do so except at a discount. The foreign exchanges show a steadily increasing "discount" in consequence.

"When some man who has bought goods in England actually does come along to buy what he calls a sterling remittance, and what the banks think of as part of its credit in London, the bank is glad to sell it and it will offer it at practically the same discount that it has itself been able to get. Over in England, again, there is such a scarcity of American credits and such a voracious demand on the part of Englishmen who want American credits in order to pay their bills here, that the banks are able to charge a premium, and we say that the dollar is at a premium in London.

The One Remedy—Credit

"But what is the effect of all this? We know that it cannot go on indefinitely. The ordinary tendency would be to raise our imports and lower our exports. But if Europe hasn't the goods to send us, the result will be to bring our exports down to our imports. If that is allowed to happen, then our astonishing export trade, a leading source of our prosperity in 1915 and 1916 and a leading source of it now, would shrink again. Business would suffer. Unemployment would set in. And Europe would suffer more than ourselves, for it desperately needs our goods; industry has not recovered from its prostration and in many parts people are starving. The one remedy is to extend credit to Europe, so that Europe can buy our goods. We can do this by buying European stocks and bonds. Bills of exchange are drawn against these securities as they are sold just as if they were merchandise, and a credit to Europe temporarily takes the place of its own value in goods.

"And that is where you and I come in. This credit cannot be extended by banks. The banks are the biggest debtors in the world. The $260,000,000 deposits in The Mechanics & Metals National Bank is not the amount of money that it has, but the debt that it owes, and the same is true of the deposits in any other bank. Most of this debt is payable on any day or any hour of the day from ten to three that the depositors may take it into their heads to ask for it. Consequently it is not good banking practice to make loans running for more than a few months at a time. And the money that we lend to Europe will be needed for several years. So you and I, if we want to see business prosper in this country, will do what we did during the war when we took Liberty bonds. We will extend credit to Europe; we will buy European securities, as soon as the financial leaders here have worked out a plan for us that will protect us fully and will be operative on a grand scale."

MARNE MEMORIAL WEEK OBSERVED FROM MAR. 22-27

"America's Gift to France" will reciprocate the presentation of Bartholdi's "Liberty Enlightening the World" by the French people to the United States in 1884. It will take the form of a colossal memorial to mark the turning point in civilization, when, at the first battle of the Marne, in 1914, the heroic French army stopped the onslaught of militarism and saved a world from autocratic domination.

Marne Memorial Week will be Mar. 22-27, when a free-will offering by the American people will provide the $250,000 necessary to erect the memorial.

The local chairman of the campaign is Geo. S. Sinnicks, and gifts from one cent upward may be left at the Manchester Trust Co., given to the chairman or W. W. Hoare.

PONDS AND LAKES IN STATE STOCKED WITH SALMON

Massachusetts anglers have every reason to expect a record salmon catch this year in ponds and lakes that have been stocked with the first-class fighting fish.

During the fall of 1916 the Massachusetts Fish and Game Commission liberated nearly 350,000 Chinook salmon from three to five inches long in state waters and since the fish return to the parent waters at the end of four years sportsmen are marking time for the day. At the time of liberation the fish were well able to take care of themselves.

The state commission says that a fair run of salmon into the Merrimack would show the people what the great rivers will do besides furnishing power, and the commissioners believe that with the continued use of modern methods in fish culture, erection of suitable fishways and proper regulations of fishing at the mouths of the streams there is a reasonable prospect of the establishment of a valuable fishery in the state rivers.

"Surely," say the commissioners, "in the present time of high prices for meat and fish no one will say it is not worth making the effort."

FEDERAL THEATRE, SALEM

"The Westerners," with Roy Stewart and Robert McKim, is the headliner at the Federal theatre, Salem, the last three days of this week. It is a photoplay of the novel by Stewart Edward White and has all the elements of a mighty drama. On the same bill is Harold Lloyd's latest comedy, "Bumping into Broadway," Bray's Pictograph and Pathé News, together with overtures by A. Stanley Williams on the big orchestral organ.

Norma Talmadge comes back to the Federal next Monday in her latest picture, "A Daughter of Two Worlds." This is welcome news for the picture fans, for Norma is a great favorite with Greater Salem audiences. Her new picture will be shown three times daily—at 2.15, 7 and 8.30.

COPLEY THEATRE, BOSTON

Following two big weeks of "A Night Off" at the Copley theatre, Henry Jewett has decided to follow that excellent farce with another play of the same type, "The Private Secretary," which will be seen at the Copley next Monday evening. "The Private Secretary," which is widely known to the American public, has given pleasure to thousands of people. The version which will be used at this theatre is that of Charles Hawtrey, and is the same one which was used when this farce was staged at the Copley the early part of last season. This revival promises to be as successful as was the earlier performances.

LESSON IN ENGLISH

A lesson in English is the title of an amusing bit of writing sent by a reader of this column who signs by the initials R. H. V. H. It runs:

"You see a beautiful girl walking down the street. She is, of course, feminine. If she is singular, you are nominative. You walk across to her changing to verbal and then become dative. If she is not objective, you become plural. You walk home together. Her mother is accusative and you become imperative. You walk in and sit down. Her little brother is an indefinite article. You talk of the future. She changes to the object. You kiss her and she becomes masculine. Her father becomes present, things are tense and you become the past participle."—Portland Express.

MANCHESTER WOMAN'S CLUB

MUSICALE ENTERTAINMENT TUESDAY BY TRIO OF YOUNG MUSICIANS

A musicale by the Alarians was the feature of the entertainment given at the meeting of the Manchester Woman's club, Tuesday afternoon. The Alarians proved to be a trio of young musicians—Jetson Ryder, baritone; Shirley Keene, contralto; Beth Charlton, soprano and accompanist—who sang several selections charmingly, and who were recalled again and again, to the immediate danger of their missing train connections.

Before the musicale John O. Matthews, principal of the Story High school, gave a very brief talk on "The Place of Latin in Modern Education." Mr. Matthews was thoroughly acquainted with his subject and convincingly pointed out the benefits derived in after life by the pupil who has studied Latin.

At the opening of the meeting the president, Miss Annie L. Lane, announced that the next meeting of the club will be Home Day. Home Day will be under the direction of the Home Day and Art committee, on Apr. 6. "We plan to have an exhibit of 'Ye Olden Tyme,'" said Miss Lane, "including samplers, needle-work of any kind, daguerreotypes, furniture, quilts, or anything one may wish to bring.

"The 'History of Costume' will be given, illustrated by tableaux; and a 15-minute talk will be given by Miss Dickenson. A Colonial tea will be served, and members are asked to bring their work and make it a homey Home Day. The committee will be at the chapel on the forenoon of that day to receive, or things may be left at the homes of the committee."

Five dollars was appropriated for the Civics committee. Mrs. Raymond C. Allen explained briefly the work done by them.

"MODERN MIRACLE"PARENT-TEACHER ASSOCIATION HAS INTERESTING MEETING

It was easy to imagine one's self as being in the sunny southland, the Dixie of song and poetry, during the address Wednesday evening given by Mrs. Alice Gray Teele at the regular meeting of the Manchester Parent-Teacher association. Mrs. Teele, who was formerly matron of the Franklin Sq. House, Boston, has traveled through many countries and has had a wide range of most interesting experiences.

During the lecture from the subject "The Modern Miracle," Mrs. Teele, with her ready wit, keen appreciation of human nature, and unusual charm, delivered a most entertaining talk. She told many humorous incidents connected with her teaching in the schools of North Carolina and Alabama.

Mrs. Frank Floyd, president, called the meeting to order at 8.10 o'clock, there being a slight delay in starting. Records of the previous meeting were read, after which the Orpheus club furnished music. Mrs. Floyd introduced Mrs. Teele as the speaker of the evening, and for nearly an hour the large number present were privileged to enjoy Mrs. Teele's talk.

"After ten years' service as matron in the Franklin Sq. House, Boston," said the speaker, "I obtained a position as teacher in Alabama. While on the steamer from New York to Savannah a party of young people were singing on deck. They sang 'Marching Through Georgia.' One of the officers of the boat prohibited them from singing this song. Later in the evening the young folk again sang the same song and once more the officer put a stop to it.

"On my arrival at Opelika, the red clay and rain, the distance from home and the loneliness made me wish I was at home. A young man from the school was at the station to meet me. With the southern accent and drawl, he said: 'Have I the honor and privilege to address Mrs. Teele?' What could I say but 'Yes,' and go with him to the school."

Mrs. Teele spoke of the distinction which is very marked in the south between the whites and the negroes. It seems that if a white person is seen walking on the street with a black, the white immediately loses caste, that the white is lost forever, "at least on this earth."

"Our school was about 40 miles south of Tuskegee. We had a hundred men and women studying there, men and women who in early life had lacked opportunities of education. A day's work commenced at 6 o'clock in

ADJOURNED TOWN MEETING MON-DAY, MAR. 29

One week from next Monday evening, March 29, will be held at the Town hall, Manchester, the adjourned town meeting, at 7.30 o'clock. This is in accordance with a vote passed at the annual town meeting held in February.

At this time will be discussed all unfinished business from the town meeting. Among the matters to come before the voters will be a further consideration of the report of the committee on memorial to soldiers, sailors and marines of the world war. Another matter is that of dredging the harbor.

It is possible that this may prove a very interesting meeting, and the voters should be prepared to present their opinions on any matter which may come before the gathering.

FELL FROM ROOF

George Phippen fell from the roof to the staging while at work on the J. R. McGinley house, Smith's Point, Manchester, last Friday morning. While he was bruised more or less he fortunately escaped serious injury. Mr. Phippen was employed by Geo. S. Sinnicks, the mason-contractor, and was engaged in removing a piece of iron pipe from its place in the roof when unexpectedly it gave way, throwing Mr. Phippen off his balance, so that he fell to the stage below.

the morning and closed at 10 in the evening. That is the kind of a 'soft snap' I have usually had!"

The story about the girl named "36" interested Mrs. Teele's hearers and caused a hearty laugh. This girl had so much difficulty in remembering the sum of 9 times 4 that the other pupils and the teachers called her "36." One day "36," putting her arms around Mrs. Teele, said: "Mis' Teele, Ah nevah will forget no mo' what five time fo' is." "That's good, dear, how much is it?" Pulling at her kinky locks in bewilderment, "36" was obliged to confess, "Ah done forgot, Mis' Teele!"

The southern negroes speak of their farms not in terms of so many acres, but in the number of nules which it takes to do the work.

Mrs. Teele instructed her class one day in the mysteries of the world moving around the sun. Next day one of the pupils said to her: "Am it really true what you was tellin' us yesterday, that de earth moves aroun' de sun? Las' night Ah done held onto mah bed all night, fo' fear ob falling off when de earth was a-whizzing aroun'."

"The food at the school consisted of salt pork and cabbage six days out of seven. Occasionally a chicken would be missing from the hen house, and I think the pupils had something 'on the side.'"

Child labor laws in Alabama are most vicious, the speaker asserted, saying that small children six years of age were allowed to work in the mines.

A common salutation in the south is "Howdy." One day Mrs. Teele met a negro on the street and said to him: "Howdy." The black did not answer. Thinking that he had not heard, she spoke again. Then he said: "Humph! I didn't mean fer to 'howdy.'"

"You northerners sure do have funny ideas, to teach that there am three ways for to spell 'to.' " "Is there really a city of London?" "Did you ever see an auto before coming here?" These are some of the questions displaying the pitiable ignorance which exists among the southern negroes.

"Booker T. Washington at the age of ten years could neither read nor write. He realized the advantage of an education and went to Richmond to study. After completing his course he was sent to Tuskegee. What he accomplished there is hard to believe. He had the financial support of the richest men in the country, and accomplished wonders."

Mrs. Teele spoke of the spirit of hospitality which is so generously given to every visitor at Tuskegee. "Tuskegee honey made by Tuskegee bees, Tuskegee milk and butter produced by

"How is it possible to bring about a spirit of equality between the white people and the negro? I wonder. The people of the south are appealing to us in the north to help them solve the problem. Black and white should be united under the Stars and Stripes so that each can say: 'I pledge allegiance to my flag and to the Republic for which it stands, one nation indivisible with liberty and justice to all.'"

"As the bull charges the banderillero sticks the sharp fish hook ends of the bandrillas in the beast's shoulders, where they hang to torture and enrage him." So runs the explanatory note on a souvenir postal received this week from Fred K. Swett, of Manchester, who is spending the winter in California. Mr. and Mrs. Swett had crossed the border into Mexico to witness a bull-fight. "Placing the banderillas" is the more polite inscription on the postcard. Mr. Swett writes on the card: "My car is parked near the race track, and a regular wild Monte Carlo is in full blast." In another page of this week's issue we are taking the privilege of printing portions of a personal letter from Mr. Swett, telling something of his impressions of California, which, we think, will be of interest to BREEZE readers.

OBITUARY

GEORGE L. KNIGHT, MANCHESTER BUSINESS MAN, DIES IN NEW HAMPSHIRE

All Manchester was shocked this week by the death on Wednesday in Franklin, N. H., of George L. Knight, a well-known business man of the town, a member of the firm of Samuel Knight Sons' Company, coal dealers.

Mr. and Mrs. Knight had been to North Sutton, N. H., for a short visit to their summer home. They were at the railroad station three weeks ago tomorrow, on their way home, when Mr. Knight was taken with an ill-turn. He was removed to the hospital at Franklin and he remained there until his death. A slight operation was performed during his confinement, but it did not seem to remedy the difficulty. Bright's disease and other troubles incident to disease of the kidneys, were the cause of Mr. Knight's death.

Mr. Knight was a native of Manchester, the son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Samuel L. Knight. He was 51 years old the 24th of December last. He was a member of the firm of Samuel Knight Sons' Company, dealers in coal, lumber, and building material.

He was affiliated with the lodge of Masons at North Sutton, and of Magnolia lodge of Odd Fellows, of Manchester. He attended the Christian Science church in Salem.

Mr. Knight is survived by a widow, Emeleine Mears Knight, who was with him at the time of his death, and who returned to Manchester last evening. There is also a brother, Frank P. Knight, who was in Arizona when word was wired of his brother's death. Mr. Knight will probably reach Manchester Sunday. Mrs. Knight was not able to make the journey home. There is also a sister, Mrs. James Miller Ropes (Hattie Knight), of Syracuse, N. Y.

No definite arrangements had been made for the funeral up to nine o'clock this morning. The body will be brought home to Manchester today.

S. OF V. THE VICTORS

WINNERS OF MANCHESTER PITCH TOURNAMENT

Once again the Sons of Veterans teams in a pitch tournament have covered themselves with glory. Monday evening the tournament of the Sons of Veterans, Red Men, Odd Fellows and American Legion, which has been in progress in Manchester for nearly three months, came to a close, having been most successful and carrying along through each night's playing a considerable interest.

After the smoke of battle had cleared away Monday evening, Capt. Curtis B. Stanley and his associates of the Sons of Veterans were declared the victors. The scores of the Monday evening games are as follows: S. of V., 18; Red Men, 16; I. O. O. F., 13; Legion, 13. The total scores for the entire series give the S. of V. 142 games; the Odd Fellows and the Red Men are tied for second place, each having a total of 138 games; the American Legion is fourth with 122 games.

The players representing the S. of V. will be given a supper by the other teams on the evening of Wednesday, Mar. 31, at Odd Fellows hall, Manchester.

The playing has been held on nine evenings, there being 60 games per night, making a total of 540 for the series. The standing of the teams at the close of the contest is as follows: S. of V. No. 1, 53 games; Red Men No. 1, 53 games; Odd Fellows No. 2, 52; S. of V. No. 2, 45; American Legion No. 1, 45; S. of V. No. 3, 44; Odd Fellows No. 1, 44; Red Men No. 3, 43; American Legion No. 3, 43; Odd Fellows No. 3, 42; Red Men No. 2, 42; American Legion No. 2, 34.

The regular lineup of the players included the following members of the fraternal orders:

Sons of Veterans No. 1, Capt. Curtis B. Stanley, H. A. Bell, L. Nelson Cook; No. 2, E. W. Baker, John C. Mackin, George E. Hildreth; No. 3, Benjamin Stanley, F. W. Bell, Geo. McFarland; substitutes, Harry Slade, W. S. Foster, Frank Floyd.

Odd Fellows No. 1, Capt. John L. Prest, Byron Bullock, Allan Dennis; No. 2, James Kehoe, Alfred Hersey, George Beaton; No. 3, Wilbur Paige, Walter R. Bell, William Craig; substitutes, Dr. W. H. Tyler, Otis Bohaker.

Red Men No. 1, Perley Parsons, Mark Lodge, D. E. Butler; No. 2, Albert Peters, Edward Preston, Wade Brooks; No. 3, Philip Croteau, Alfred Walen, George Younger; substitutes, James W. Andrews, Leslie Mason, Charles E. Bell (captain).

Miss Babson resumed her duties as teacher in the Blynman school, Monday morning.

Services will be held in the Village church Sunday at 10.45 a. m., with preaching by the pastor. Sunday school will meet at 11.45 a. m.

Mr. and Mrs. Leighton Symonds, of Saugus, are receiving the congratulations of their Magnolia friends upon the arrival in their home of a 7-pound baby boy on Mar. 13.

The many friends of Mrs. Christine Brown, of the Mallard House, will be glad to know that she is much improved in health after being confined to her home, and a part of the time to her bed, nearly all winter.

One week ago today the bus began to run between here and Gloucester. Owing to the snow that is still deep in places the strength of the bus is being severely tested and the bus drivers are having a nerve-racking experience that they will not soon forget.

All we wish to say in reply to that "communication," appearing in the BREEZE last week concerning the coal shortage here, is that we are quite willing to let the people of Magnolia who received assistance during the coal shortage judge as to whether or not we told the truth in a former issue of the BREEZE.

Frederick W. Eaton, of Akron, O., made a flying visit to his parents, at the parsonage, Wednesday afternoon, coming here from Lynn, where he had business with the General Electric Co., and leaving Thursday morning for Connecticut, to attend to other business matters for the Goodyear Tire and Rubber Co., by whom he is employed as an electrical engineer. Mr. Eaton reports that there was little snow in Ohio when he left home Monday afternoon and not as much any time during the past winter in Akron as there is now in Magnolia. The snow here, however, is disappearing quite fast these days of rainy and warm weather.

CARL E. SWANSON IS SPENDING FURLOUGH WITH PARENTS

Mr. and Mrs. Carl O. Swanson, of this town, are entertaining their son, Carl Edgar Swanson, who arrived home Monday for the first time in three years, all of which time he has spent with the U. S. navy, practically all on foreign service. The young man enlisted on Mar. 28, 1917, about a month after diplomatic relations with Germany had been broken and a short time before war was declared. He went on foreign service almost immediately and returned home for the first time Monday.

Swanson is not yet 21. He will attain his majority on Dec. 26, 1920, and he enlisted when only 17. He has probably seen more foreign service than any other Gloucester boy who served in the world war. When he first enlisted, he became a member of the U. S. S. Georgia. He served later on the destroyers Cushing, Musketine, and Arronward; also on the cruiser Olympia and came back on the U. S. S. Haraden to Norfolk on Nov. 23. The Haraden is the destroyer launched on July 4, 1918, at the Norfolk yard, named for Jonathan Haraden, a Gloucester naval patriot during the Revolution, and christened by Miss Mabel B. Stephens, of Lanesville, a descendant of the Haraden family.

Swanson arrived in Boston recently and was transferred to the U. S. S. Worden, another destroyer, and he got a chance to get home, the first time since he enlisted. The young man rates as a second-class electrician.

On foreign service his first work was convoying on the French coast. Then he went into the Mediterranean Sea, covered the whole of it, and also went into the Adriatic and Black Seas. He was at Fiume during the last trouble when the American naval crafts put in there in the interests of the allies.

He was on the Olympia in the Black Sea and has been at Constantinople, Smyrna and Gallipoli. The crafts which he served on had two subs to their credit during the war. He did a great deal of convoying work and also in picking up torpedo victims and watching for crafts trying to sneak up the coast to land stuff for Germany, many of which were seized, although little was ever heard of this work during the war.

The young man was some glad to get home, and was really so enthused that he was able to tell but little of his experiences. He is spending his furlough here and will then rejoin his new ship, the Worden, probably at the Boston navy yard.

The cribbage tournament which has been going on the past four weeks at the Beverly Farms fire station will continue another week. The teams are all on so close a score that the winners will probably not be known till the last game is played.

At last Monday evening's session of the city council, Alderman Linehan was designated to do the drawing for seven jurors to serve at Salem in April. He didn't forget Ward 6, inasmuch as John A. Trowt was selected to serve on the civil session and Edwin F. Campbell on the criminal session.

M. E. Townsend has been awarded the contract from the city of Beverly for the collection of garbage in the city proper. He was given the contract on a three-year basis at $4,200 a year. THE AUTO SHOW

Tomorrow evening at about 10.30 the 18th annual auto show at Mechanics building, Boston, will close with the usual enthusiastic festivities and go on record as one of the most successful motor vehicle and accessories exposition in the history of the association.

Up to Thursday evening more cars have been sold than at any similar event in the country. With each year's show there seems to be a noticeable improvement.

The exhibition that closes tomorrow night has been especially brilliant, the decorations rivalling those of Old Madison Square. The Atlantic Decorating Co. had this important feature in charge, as they have had for many years; they certainly surpassed all previous efforts in their respective art.

The music rendered by five female orchestras located in different parts of the great building, could not have been more pleasing. The basement of the main building, where heavy trucks are on exhibition, proved to possess remarkable acoustic properties, enlivening the audience to the point of dancing on the smooth cement floor.

The assembling of various exhibits was noticeably symmetrical, and the floral displays of the exhibitors lent an Charles S. Fowler has been at Beverly Farms a portion of this week renewing acquaintances. He is employed at Bridgeport, Ct.

Mark A. Knowles, a former well-known Beverly Farms resident, is now residing in Lynn. He is employed at the Portsmouth navy yard.

Capt. Henry S. Parker, city auditor, has tendered his resignation because of ill health. There are numerous candidates for the berth, but none are from Beverly Farms.

A number of Beverly Farms men, who have been employed at the United Shoe Machinery Co. plant in Beverly, are taking a vacation because of the strike. Altogether there are about 50 local residents employed there, and it is understood that the greater part of them are sticking to their jobs.

The M. J. Cadigan post, A. L., will probably have its funds increased by the sum of $100. The committee of the city government on the sale of government articles reported a most successful sale and found themselves in possession of $900, which could not be turned into the city treasury. Recommendations were adopted that the money be disposed of as follows: American Legion, Beverly, $300; Beverly Farms Legion, $100; Fireman's Relief association, $150; Police Relief association, $100; G. A. R., $100; Red Cross, $50; Salvation Army, $50; Health Centre, $50.

The committee from St. Margaret's church to raise the sum of money for the Beverly Farms quota for the proposed building or home in Boston to be used for a diocesan centre for Catholic women has had several meetings and has started upon its drive for funds. Donations are being solicited and plans have been made for several entertaining features to be held the coming four or five weeks. Mrs. Joseph C. Stanwood, Mrs. Frank I. Lomasney and Mrs. James Fanning are each to hold whist parties at their homes. The general committee is: Mrs. Helen Dougherty, chairman; Miss Margaret Cannon, treasurer; Miss Mary Murray, secretary; Mrs. Howard E. Morgan, Mrs. James Fanning, Mrs. Patrick Gorman. To this numerous sub-committees have been added and all are now busy trying to make the drive a success.

Illness Costs U. S. Wage Earners Billion Dollars Every 12 Months

The annual sick bill of 30,000,000 American wage earners is $1,000,000,000.

The time clock of the nation shows that each worker, through sickness, loses an average of nine days. This means that the working time of the nation is decreased by more than 850,000 years.

Half of the billion-dollar sick bill represents wages lost—subtracted from the total of earnings expected to finance the budgets of millions of families. The other half represents the bill for doctors, nurses and medicines. And the total is twice the amount given annually in the United States for all philanthropic purposes, in normal times.

This is the problem of illness as it is presented by the survey now being made by the Inter-church World Movement.

The survey has formulated a program as a proposal for the co-operative effort of the evangelical churches. An increase in the efficiency and capacity of existing denominational hospitals is the first provision of this program.

Construction of 31 new hospitals is the second. These hospitals include 12 general hospitals for white people; twelve for negroes; one tuberculosis sanitarium for Arizona; four hospitals for incurables and two children's hospitals.

EXCHANGE OF TEMPORARY FOR PERMANENT LIBERTY BONDS

On Monday, Mar. 15, the holders of $1,000,000,000 Third Liberty Loan bonds will begin the exchange of their present temporary bonds for permanent bonds. It is expected that bonds of the first and second loans, both 4 percent and 4½ percent issues, will be exchanged for permanent bonds after April 1. In the cases where these bonds will have coupons attached holders should detach the coupons and hold them until maturity, when they can be cashed in the usual manner. Holders of the 4 percent bonds will receive in return 4½ percent bonds of the same loan with all coupons attached unless in making the exchange they specifically ask for 4 percent bonds in return.

Holders of the temporary bonds who avail themselves of the assistance of their own banks in effecting the exchanges will present and surrender their present bonds to the bank with coupons detached. The banks, in turn, make the necessary exchanges of 4½ percent bonds for permanent bonds and will receive the temporary 4 percent bonds for conversion and exchange into the permanent 4½ percent bonds. This service will be undertaken by the various banking institutions for their customers without charge.

The First Liberty Loan 3½ percent bonds and the Victory Loan 3¾ and 4¾ percent bonds were issued by the government in permanent form as were the registered bonds of all the government war loans and therefore none of these bonds need be offered for exchange.—Banker and Tradesman.

value of the system in the economic and social life of a city is no longer doubted.

The farmers of the nation opposed it because it required longer hours of labor and interfered with a routine naturally regulated by the sun rather than the clock. They succeeded in forcing the repeal of the Federal Daylight Saving law. That was within their rights. But it need not interfere with a general system of daylight saving in the cities.

With the farms and rural towns running on standard time and the cities on local daylight saving time there will be some points of friction, but they will be comparatively few. Chicago railroads are said to be willing to push the suburban schedule up an hour to serve commuters. Others involved undoubtedly will make concessions. New York, Philadelphia, Jersey City, Cleveland, Cincinnati, and Denver have already adopted the local daylight saving plan. Chicago should do as much.

To the hundreds of thousands of office and factory workers in Chicago that extra hour of daylight through the summer months is invaluable. It pays a dividend of health, happiness, contentment and efficiency to the individual and to the city.—Chicago Tribune.

TAUGHT HIS LESSON

"Does your husband expect you to obey him?"

"O, no! He's been married before."

5000 CHICAGO FIRMS INDORSE DAYLIGHT SAVING

One hundred thousand residents of Chicago and more than 5000 firms have indorsed a daylight saving plan for the city. Petitions carrying that number of names have been received by the Association of Commerce. They demonstrate a weight of public opinion which the city council cannot well ignore.

There is nothing partisan or political in the movement. It is simply a request from the workers and their employers that they be allowed an extra hour of daylight in the summer months for outdoor recreation. Un-

BUILD NOW!

Some Reasons Why—and How

By LILLIAN McCANN

"BUILD NOW—put your own key in your own front door," runs a popular advertisement. The pleasure in building one's own home, the comfort of enjoying a place planned according to one's own ideas are further enlarged upon in this particular advertisement.

"Build now for futurity," says another "ad," which is setting forth the merits of a substance, which, if you use, will be putting "artistic and economic values into your home that will last a lifetime."

Another "ad" tells the secret of the home:

"There is a lot of difference between simply a house and a home.

"Just because you have built a house and furnished it with convenient arrangements for eating and sleeping, and the other requirements of every-day life, it does not necessarily follow that you have founded a home.

"Men have spent millions on the construction of houses the magnificence of which has dwarfed even the grandest palaces of Europe. They have filled them with the finest furniture, equipped them with all the latest time-saving and luxury-serving devices, covered the floors with the rarest rugs, ransacked the art centers of the world for things of beauty for their adornment, and yet, have failed to build a home.

Cheer and Comfort

"The essence of a home is cheer and comfort, and you can no more expect to raise a strong, sturdy, affectionate family without these vital elements than you could expect to grow a beautiful garden in a dark cellar. All the art, all the money in the world cannot make a home if these are lacking."

And without being too personal we must tell this secret in the language of the "ad."

"Cheer and comfort—and the very incarnation of these is the open fireplace. None of your modern imitations or make-believes, but a real, generous, deep-chested, old-fashioned hearth."

Where shall we build? Anywhere? No, not exactly that. But just suppose for convenience sake that it is upon the North Shore. That will save a lot of writing, precious time and printers' ink. Then begin to scan the world for the best material.

We hear that "a home built with ——— cement gives you the economical advantages of permanent, fire-proof construction, requiring no painting and no repairs."

Surely we want that particular brand of stucco in our house.

But no, for "he who looks before he leaps, builds of cypress and builds 'for keeps.'" And "he who builds of cypress builds but once." So why not join the "bungalow folk" and dodge the repair bills?

Yet here comes Arkansas Soft Pine with its all 'round building values. We are admonished to "own your own home—own it now—bid landlords, janitors and 'cliff dwelling' goodbye."

"Joy to the Eye"

Then we must believe that "red gum is such a 'well behaved' wood" and we feel that we could not be exactly happy unless we had this "joy to the eye," "America's finest cabinet wood," around us, internally, at least.

Lo, here is a tile house! "You have often dreamed of the house you will some day build—how comfortable it will be, how artistic, how enduring.

"Your home to be a real home must also be safe, and the modern way to safety is by building throughout-walls and partitions of tile."

A house so built is "solid and substantial, damp proof, vermin proof, warmer in winter and cooler in summer—tile saves coal bills and repair bills and best of all it means safety from fire." Found at last! But stop, there are visions of stone and brick, the good old-fashioned standbys.

"Save the surface and you save all." "Make it weatherproof as well as even-colored, soft-toned and artistic in appearance." So it goes. Verily this thing of building a house is no small business. But the "house beautiful" we must and should have.

An architect writing in "The House Beautiful" shows us that the idea of a house in this country can be traced interestingly to the plans brought over by the early settlers. The English idea of a house was altered by them to suit their climate and local material. Their idea of a house changed to suit their special environment. He brings out the idea that the brick type of house differs from the wooden type, that the stone type also differs from the wooden house, but is more like the brick type, and that the stucco house is more like the wooden type.

While climate and materials and site characteristics are always elements to take into consideration, yet we, the builders, still have some voice in the matter of material.

As to Patent Building Material

This architect-writer, Thomas P. Robinson, says the market is flooded with all sorts of patent building material. Commenting on this, he says:

"This great number of variations of old materials is due to the strong desire in this country to emphasize and over-emphasize the personal element. A man likes to be different from his neighbor, and he falls into the error easily enough of thinking that superficial differences indicate fundamental differences. This finds expression in queer houses; but queerness is not by any means a mark of individuality. If a man wore ruffles on his trousers, any of his neighbors would know that he was queer, but for some reason or other he can wear ruffles on his house and not be put into the insane asylum. Using queer materials or a mixture of simple materials is nothing more than ruffles on trousers.

"The personal factor can have full play in all legitimate matters, and the owner will find as much opportunity in a house as he does in clothes to exercise his choice and to impress upon his house his own individuality. Styles in clothes change from season to season, whereas styles in houses alter very slowly. This means that an owner has to survey the styles in houses over a longer period of time, and this in turn means that he cannot hope to arrive at right conclusions without a good deal of care and study on his own part, or professional assistance, or better still, a mixture of the two. The more he studies his own problem, the better he will be able to recognize what is basic in the design of a house, and the less he will be willing to depart from this basic idea, but it is doubtful if any owner has the time or background to qualify himself as architect."

Right here we stop. We had forgotten that our site was the North Shore of Massachusetts. Why all this worry over exact site and choice of material? Let the Shore real estate agencies and the Shore architects and builders come to our assistance.

Let the BREEZE pages tell us where to find them. Let the BREEZE waft us gently to folk who know that the test of the home is in its setting.

A PRECARIOUS JOB

The recent merger of the New York Herald and Sun, which resulted in the closing of the old Herald office, caused no little disturbance and mental anxiety among the newspaper men affected, several of whom had spent a lifetime at the desks they then held.

An old copyreader on the Herald, who had been on the desk for a little more than forty years, threw down his blue pencil in disgust at the announcement that the old shop would go out of business.

"I knew darn well when they got me to take this job," he said, petulantly, "that it would not be permanent.—Saturday Evening Post."

Bedding and Hardy Plants

It is nearing Spring and time to think of planting. Orders should be placed with your florist in advance this season as the demand will exceed the supply. We are growing thousands of bedding plants such as geraniums, heliotrope, petunias, fuchsias, periwinkle, begonias and quite a number of other kinds that are used mostly for outdoor planting and window boxes.

We also offer hardy plants such as larkspur, cantebury bells, iris, paeonies, lupin, foxglove and pansies. Tubs of hydrangeas and box trees to sell or let for the season.

At all times our ideas and experience are at your service, either in helping you in choosing, or in taking entire charge of your landscape planting.

Call or telephone; we are always pleased to be of assistance to you, and to give you the benefit of our suggestions.

TAKING THE "JOY" OUT OF PERFUMERY AND TOILET ARTICLES

Out in Kansas, the Federal prohibition inspector has sent out notices to the druggists of the state that they must treat all toilet preparations before sale so that the articles cannot be used for beverage purposes.

"We had numerous complaints from near Camp Funston and Fort Riley that some of the soldiers were getting quite boisterous from some sort of liquor," Mr. Wilson said. "Investigation showed they were buying toilet waters, perfumes and bay rum and using these instead of whisky and brandy or other liquors.

"Many druggists do not seem to realize the requirements of the act to enforce prohibition, requiring all toilet preparations for external use shall be treated with tartar emetic before being sold. The manufacturers have been required to treat their products before shipment, but the ruling also applies to the stocks now in the hands of the druggists and department stores. The use of these articles after treatment is likely to produce entirely unexpected action upon the drinker, for there is sufficient emetic to cause real suffering for a few minutes. There is a 'kick' to toilet water and bay rum that wasn't there before."

The government prohibition officers also are looking for grocers who may be selling extracts in large quantities for beverage purposes, and it is intended to make an example of some of these as soon as the information can be gathered.

THE ATTRACTIVENESS OF THE FLORAL DISPLAY at Horticultural hall, Boston, has been due in no small degree to the interest of North Shore residents and the skill of scientific men in their employ. There are commercial presentations that are attractive and are receiving the approval of appreciative flower lovers; the exhibits made by private individuals, however, contribute most to the success of the exhibit. Among them, the display of orchids from the A. C. Burrage greenhouses, of Beverly Farms, easily outranks all other presentations. The orchids are difficult flowers to obtain and to nurture, demanding men of unusual powers and opportunities for study and the care of the valuable plants. Back of such a remarkable collection of beautiful flowers is, first of all, the creative passion of the collector, and next the remarkable administrative and selective faculty in obtaining men for the care and purchase of the orchids.

Orchids are rare in their native haunts, and then comes the skill of the master grower in the development of hybrids and the proper cultivation of the staple varieties. They are beautiful to the eye and exasperatingly difficult to maintain in health even under constant care. The governmental restrictions because of laws aimed against vermin and plant enemies have hindered all imports of orchids, and the past winter has made transportation and cultural problems in the orchid industry a difficult one at least. Despite the conditions, the orchids of North Shore greenhouses are unrivaled, a tribute to the attention of the owners and the skill of the master men whom they have been fortunate enough to secure for their care. What a bewildering plant the flowery orchid is! It has practically no commercial use, if one excepts the vanilla extracts which are drawn from a species of orchid, and yet the sale values of orchids are enormous. Single flowering plants command fabulous prices that are not incommensurate with their rarity and the expense involved in obtaining them. There are the beautiful specimens from the lady slipper orchids familiar to every North Shore child, to the rare tropical plants that live on trees, yet are not nourished by them, but derive their nourishment from solid swellings of the stem. There are aerial roots and rootlets with their microscopic fibres able to absorb water vapors from the air and possibly water.

As for the flowers, the words of the most skillful writer fail. If one is defied to describe accurately and appreciatively the charm of color, contour and texture of the simplest orchids of the American woodlands, what may one expect to do in the description of the rare and attractive varieties that have been gathered from the ends of the earth. As to their number, no man can expect to compass in one lifetime the unlimited possibilities for study and appreciation; with over five thousand varieties that are constantly being added to by the skill of workmen in hybridization and by the researches of explorers, no one man or group of men coöperatively working can hope to obtain a complete collection.

The collection of A. C. Burrage, however, is a masterly tribute to the love which he has for these flowers and to his patience and industry in making the collection. He has not only given the people of New England a rare opportunity to enjoy the exhibit of rare orchids, but he has made a notable contribution to the knowledge of the world of these new hybrids, developed under his direction and the new orchids brought from the tropical regions.

SEVERAL BILLS are before the Massachusetts legislature which are aimed to mitigate in some way the billboard nuisance. There is a body of public spirited citizens, co-operating as the Massachusetts Civic league, who have made a thorough study of the Massachusetts situation and recommend some wholesome changes in the present laws which will make it possible for the state to regulate at least the place and types of billboards that are erected by advertising companies. The industry is a prosperous one, involving large investments, and must naturally be a source of great revenues to advertisers or the advertising would not be done. It is undesirable that the rights and liberties of any mercantile house should be limited by drastic state control, but it must be evident to the most careless observer that the billboard construction according to the haphazard, laissez faire policy of this and other states, is a menace to the rights and privileges of the majority. In New York state a study of the billboard nuisance was made, with important findings, by the commission appointed by the governor. It reports that "outdoor advertising is thrust upon his attention (the observer's), whether he wills it or not." The structures are a menace, and "lend themselves to the creation of physical dangers and nuisances which do not accompany periodical or circular advertising." "Outdoor advertising so intimately affects the public welfare that its governmental regulation appears to be entirely justifiable in the interest of the greatest good to the greatest number." The commission made a thorough study of the situation and advised legislation. In Massachusetts, similarly, legislation should be urged, upon the high grounds of the good of the largest number. The North Shore has been spared many of the nuisances caused by the billboards, but it has been due to the eternal vigilance and the personal interests of the property owners, who have refused to grant or to sell billboard privileges, and have prevented the usurpation of rights by any billboard advertising company. There is every reason to believe that the state will formulate some sort of legislation that will be just to the legitimate advertisers and prevent the present ruthless havoc.

THE PRIMARY VOTE for delegates to the national convention has never called out many voters. It may be that this unusual year of all years will compel attention from careless citizens.

THIS IS A WEEK OF GIVING for the Marne Memorial fund. Open hands and open purses gave the liberty monument to New York, and now equally liberal givers will make the American monument at the Marne a possibility. Think how happy all would have been to have made such a contribution in the midst of the war when no one knew what the issue of the war would be. The battle of the Marne saved the world from the supremacy of militarism and autocracy. It is fitting that America should erect this monument in the Republic of France at the high water mark of the greatest battle in the conflict. Give to the fund! Only a small quota has been assigned to each town and city and it should be quickly in hand.

WHAT WILL THE PRESIDENT do now? The League of Free Nations and the Treaty of Peace have failed even with reservations. The Senate has failed to meet the situation and by seven votes leaves the nation in a most uncomfortable and deplorable position. The President, of course, is discredited and his work in Europe has been nullified. He was able to persuade the allies to take positions which are now refused by his own countrymen. There has never been a similar situation in the history of the nation. The question is a large one—too large to be considered on any partisan grounds; the opposition party is unwilling to bear the responsibilities. It is not at all clear that the situation is not more comfortable for all than it would be under other conditions; for it is not certain that the President would have been willing to accept the amendments and reservations of the Senate. It at least places the President in the strategic position of being in no way encumbered in his manoeuvres to re-establish relations in Europe with the arrangement of a new treaty. He is at an advantage, at least from his personal viewpoint, however unfortunate the situation may be. It is thus apparent that it were better, all things considered, for the treaty to fail in the Senate than to have it as amended, pigeon-holed in the President's office.

The failure of the Senate is, of course, a direct criticism of the President's activities by the highest legislative body of the nation. The responsibility for the present situation must be equally divided between the Senate and the President, with charity for both and a reasonable belief that both parties were actuated by honorable desires to do that which is the best for the nation. The President acted according to his principles and motives, and the Senate has acted according to its ideals. The President wished the treaty with the concert of nations, and the Senate has wrangled over reservations and the desire to prevent the nation from being involved in the difficulties of the world. The situation may not be so unfortunate, observed fifty years from now as it appears now. It is certain that however long the nation considers the present obligations, an effort must be made to procure arrangements with the allies of the late war that shall make for future peace among the peoples of the earth.

There are unfortunate factors involved in the failure of the treaty in the Senate, because it still leaves the nation at war with Germany, technically, and without a seat in the councils of the nations overseas, in this reconstruction period. The partition of Turkey, with all that is involved in it, is a representative illustration of a secondary result of the failure of the treaty. Armenia lifts up her call for help and America is powerless to persuade, and has no authority in the councils to prevent the proposed dastardly depredation of the rights and liberties of the long-suffering Armenians.

The matter is in the hands of the President. What will he do? Will he open new correspondence with the allies? Will he send a message of appeal to the Senate calling upon the force of public opinion to assist him, or will he begin a negotiation of a separate peace with Germany? The situation is tense and the next step of the President will be awaited with anxiety by the people of his own land and those overseas. The President is in a serious position and a failure to make the right move will be a great misfortune to the country, and such a misfortune as will make his own personal failure entirely negligible. What will the President do?

WHILE THE SEASON is very late considering snow and weather, gardeners are much encouraged, for they know that however late planting may be done, the seasons regulate themselves. Last year early planted gardens were blighted by late spring frosts, and late planted gardens outstripped them as to the yield and the time of maturing. The delayed balm of early spring may not be as disturbing to the professional men as would appear to amateurs.

THE EMPLOYMENT OF BOYS to do messenger work by banks is a false policy. It would appear that the managers of banks and brokerage houses should be awake to this fact. A boy should never be sent upon a man's errand. The number of young men who are ruined for life by their inability to resist the strong temptations which large sums of money present, while collecting for banks, is altogether too large. There are two sides of the problem. While it must be said that young men should have such sterling character that money would be safe in their hands, it must be apparent that the meagre sums of money paid to boys for such messenger service is reprehensible. Within twenty years young men have been on the streets of Boston making collections, involving, perhaps, the responsibility of carrying from a few dollars to thousands of dollars in cash and corresponding amounts in unconvertible paper securities; and for such service they have been paid the meagre amount of four dollars per week. The conditions are somewhat improved today, it is true, yet it is still a reprehensible practice of banks to pay small salaries to bank messengers and to entrust untried youths with large sums of currency. The responsibility should be laid upon mature men, and the remuneration they receive for the service rendered should be commensurate with the responsibility involved. Messenger boys are disappearing too frequently, and may it not be in order for banking houses to consider carefully the amounts entrusted to untried boys and to employ men and to give them reasonable wages to minimize, at least, the dangers and temptations of the position.

LESS THAN ONE WEEK to April first! Time to plan to open your summer home and give instruction to your caretakers.

THE SERIOUSNESS OF THE housing problem has been realized by the people of Massachusetts for a long while, but only recently has it been possible to determine in any degree the approximate shortage of homes. The State Chamber of Commerce and many local Chambers of Commerce have been studying the problem with astonishing results. It now appears that at least 160,000 homes are necessary to supply all the needs of the people of Massachusetts. There are many contributing reasons and no one of them can be cited as the initial or sole cause. The war and pre-war conditions, naturally, have played a very important part in the demands because of the cessation of building operations incident to the war conditions, and later the marked increases in costs of building materials and the increased wages for mechanics. There has also been an increase of the population due to the usual number of young people who are establishing new homes. There have been marked changes in population also, with increased demands for homes in the urban centres and in the industrial localities; so that the unevenness of the distribution of the population has been a factor. Many agricultural centres have abandoned farms from which the young people have removed to the cities and have found work and made new homes. The higher standards of living have also had an influence. There are houses in the city of Boston today that in the old days, at low rentals, were constantly rented and which today, despite futile efforts to modernize them, are unrentable, for people are unwilling to live under such conditions. The present prices of building materials deter builders from beginning operations with a vision of reduced values and a falling market which will make it difficult for the investor to obtain a return upon the funds invested. The constant changes in population, together with the high rates paid in legitimate investments of a different character, deter people of means from investing their funds in real estate with the annoyances of the demands of tenants and the care involved in keeping property up. The situation is acute and no one can foresee the denouement of the problem. Artificial legislative measures are hopeless in the premises because of the many factors involved. Legislation will not lower wages, regulate migrations of workmen, or business enterprises, nor lower the prices of building materials, nor compel building. Coöperative schemes will be tried to develop the building industry, but eventually it must be reduced to a business proposition. The business propositions should attract adequate capital to provide homes. It will be evident as the years go by that a group of men no matter how widely or strongly they may be associated will be unable to solve the problem.

THE NAVAL INVESTIGATIONS are somewhat disconcerting to Americans who took such pride in the activities of our men on the seas and on the land. Admiral Sims has made some remarkable disclosures. However, the war is over and has been won, and whatever mistakes have been made in the past can be recognized and the incident gracefully closed.

WILL IT BE a white Easter? Not by a strange fluke of having an Easter snow storm, but because of the presence of a remnant of a winter blanket?

LLOYD GEORGE HAS a serious problem in hand to formulate legislation for the Emerald Isle that will be satisfactory to all factions. The problem is a difficult one, but it must be worked out. It would appear now that some arrangement will be made for a reasonable working plan of government. The period of agitation is always fraught with anxiety and care, but out of it all peace should come.

"The Final Report of the Provost Marshal General to the Secretary of War on the Operations of the Selective Service System to July 15, 1919," is the title of a pamphlet which the government is sending free through the mails. Thousands and thousands of copies are being circulated, each copy having 258 pages, all but a few of which are filled with statistical tables. With paper at from 12 to 14 cents per pound and difficult to get at that price, the government has thus reduced in value an enormous amount of paper which will be sold to junk dealers at about 1c per pound.

A DOG'S LIFE

Influence You Create Yourself Is Only Kind Worth Having

The only influence worth having is the influence you yourself create.

Money can be bestowed or bequeathed by a rich man, but the things most worth while cannot.

The man who wields a wide, wholesome, helpful influence, is the man who has mastered both his job and himself, the man who has acquired wisdom by painstaking study, effort and experience, the man whose character is respected by others, the man whose personality inspires admiration, the man whose achievements testify to his worth.

The influence possessed by others cannot do much for you unless you have done something to enlist their influence on your behalf.

A letter of introduction cannot do that. An invitation to lunch or dinner in order to meet the man whose influence you court cannot do it.

You have to make your own impression upon him. You have to do something of say something or exhibit something that convinces him you are all right, that you will measure up to expectations, that you will fill the bill, that you will deliver the goods.

You have, in other words, to "sell" your worth to him.

Deliver the goods.

Part of your reward will consist of influence.—Forbes Magazine.

Nelson S. Bartlett, who has been spending the winter with his sister, Miss Mary Bartlett, 227 Commonwealth ave., Boston, will be one of the first of the summer colony to arrive at Manchester. Mr. Bartlett's youngest son, George, who is interested in a military school near Phoenix, Arizona, plans to come east in May to spend the summer. He will make the trip by automobile, as he did last year.

Mrs. Sturgis Lothrop, of Beacon st., Boston, has bought from Mrs. Hattie Lee Harris, of Manchester and Salem, and another heir, Robert S. Stevens, of Attica, N. Y., the Smith farm, so-called, on Smith's Point, Manchester, where Mrs. Lothrop spent last summer. The transfer includes about ten acres of land and the homestead. The property has a water frontage on Day's creek, so-called, in Manchester inner harbor. The sale was made through the office of T. Dennie Boardman, Reginald and R. deB. Boardman, of Boston and Manchester. Mrs. Lothrop will make some changes preparatory to occupying the place the coming season.

Mr. and Mrs. Leonard D. Ahl are among the first of the North Shore colony who have cottages in Florida, to leave for their homes in the north. Mr. and Mrs. Ahl will return to Hamilton early in April after a delightful season at Palm Beach, where they entertained as usual and took an active part in the social activities of the Boston and New York colony in that resort the last three months.

Mrs. Ellen M. Abbott, widow of Jere Abbott, died this week at her home, 406 Beacon st., Boston, at the age of 88. She is survived by her son, Gordon Abbott, of Boston and West Manchester, and three grandchildren, Miss Katherine and Miss Eleanor Abbott, and Gordon Abbott, Jr. Mrs. Abbott was born in Boston, the daughter of George Bangs, an old-time merchant. In 1858 she married Jere Abbott. For more than half a century Mrs. Abbott had been a member of the Arlington Street church. She was interested in the Children's hospital and the Convalescent home. She spent her summers at West Manchester.

A brisk demand for summer cottages along the North Shore continues. The following leases have been made through the office of T. Dennie Boardman, Reginald and R. deB. Boardman, of Boston and Manchester:

Mr. and Mrs. Conover Fitch, of Brookline, the Strong cottage, corner Masconomo and Beach sts., Manchester. This is the same place they occupied last season.

Mr. and Mrs. Allan Shelden, of Detroit, Mich., the E. L. Wood cottage, so-called, at Singing beach, Manchester.

Robert S. Potter and family, of Boston, one of the Clark cottages, on Blossom lane, Manchester.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Barbour, of Hereford st., Boston, the Dalton cottage, at Beverly Farms.

Miss Mary H. Northend, the well-known North Shore writer of books and articles pertaining especially to this section, is busy on a book which has been ordered by The Century Co., on "We Visit Old Inns." Among the inns mentioned will be Ye Rogers Manse and Ye Burnham House, at Ipswich. The book will be published in September or October. The Century Co. is also considering two more books by the same author. Miss Northend will prepare an article on gardens, including some of the North Shore gardens, that will appear in one of the summer issues of The Century. She is an authority on such subjects. The BREEZE will be favored in some of its early summer issues with a short series of articles by Miss Northend.

NEW PRINTING PLANT

BREEZE BUYS SITE FOR NEW HOME GROUND BROKEN YESTERDAY

The heirs of Nancy A. Baker have sold the estate on Summer st., Manchester, formerly the home of the family of the late Eben Baker, to the North Shore Breeze Co., the deeds being passed this week through the office of George E. Willmington. Ground was broken yesterday for a new building to be used as the printing plant. It is hoped the new plant will be ready for occupancy by the first of June.

The property has a frontage on Summer st. of 58 feet, and runs back some 173 feet, with a back line of 65 feet. A cottage is located on the front of the lot. This will be improved and fitted up for use as offices, and a new building 34x48 feet will be constructed about midway on the property. This building will be a one-story affair, of 16-foot stud, and will be built of concrete blocks, with stucco finish. It will be connected with the office building by a 12 to 15 foot runway.

The rapid growth of the BREEZE the last few years, together with the addition of another well-established North Shore publication, "Who's Who Along the North Shore," and the installation of new equipment, made necessary larger and more convenient quarters than those on Beach st. where the BREEZE has been quartered since 1906. In the present quarters the machinery is located on two floors, in a rather unsteady building for heavy machinery. The new building will be a one-floor affair, with plenty of room for present equipment, as well as any other that may be added in the next few years.

The BREEZE has just installed a new linotype machine to take the place of the machine that made possible the printing of a publication as large as the BREEZE is in the summer. The new linotype has wonderful capacity for book work of varied requirements and is a great labor-saving device for carrying on work of big scope, very seldom found in a town as small as Manchester.

A big press, especially built for the BREEZE since last fall, and suited to publication work such as the BREEZE and Who's Who, to handle the reproduction of pictures, and suited to fine-grade paper such as is used in these publications, will be ready for installation in the new building in May. This machine weighs nearly nine tons and when installed will provide one of the largest and finest printing presses in Essex county.

AURORA BOREALIS

Movement of Electrical Fireworks Across the Heavens Is Best in Many Years

THE most marvelous display of the Aurora Borealis, or "Northern Lights," witnessed in a generation, illuminated the heavens Monday evening with prismatic colors in kaleidoscopic changes, and fairly danced across the sky to the zenith arch. It was something unusual as at times there was an arch of light which ran across the heavens from east to west. This only rarely happens.

Nobody knows exactly what the aurora borealis is. Scientists say that it is of electrical origin. They are better seen in the Arctic regions. Webster's dictionary defines the lights as follows:

"A luminous, meteoric phenomenon, visible only at night, and supposed to be of electrical origin. This species of light usually appears in streams, ascending toward the zenith from a dusky line or bank, a few degrees above the northern horizon; when reaching south beyond the zenith it forms what is called the corona, about a spot in the heavens toward which the dipping needle points.

"Occasionally the aurora appears as an arch of light across the heavens from east to west. Sometimes it assumes a wavy appearance, and the streams of light are then called merry dancers. They assume a variety of colors, from a pale red to yellow to a deep red or blood color."

Every Change Noticed

It would seem as though Monday night's "performance" included every variety in its repertoire during some portion of the evening. At the earlier stages it seemed to center its starting point directly at the base, as it were, of the new moon, the brilliant shaft of light streaming clear across the heavens to the zenith, where it seemed to break and spread like an enormous fan from east to west.

Still again, the whole northern sky became a dazzling spectacle of shooting rays which at times fairly danced and "rippled" in gorgeous splendor. From the bright yellow, the lights varied to red and greens and electric blue, and in some periods showed all the prismatic colors which seemed to dissolve as in a kaleidoscope, passing with lightning rapidity from one point to another. At other times the lights seem to shoot very low, hanging apparently just overhead.

Aurora Australis

Down in the southern hemisphere, in Australia, they have these same sort of lights at certain times in the year. Then it is called the "aurora Australis," to signify the section of the world in which the phenomenon is playing. But it is the same sort of borealis—and probably meets the theory of the scientists, that the lights are the evidence of the passage of the electro-magneto current from pole to pole.

It also may interest the layman to know that the zenith, or the spot overhead where the aurora cavorted Monday night, is the place to which the dipping magnetic needle points. The magnetic needle, when suspended at its center of gravity, moves freely in a vertical plane.

The arch of light Monday night, which sheered over to the west from the east, started in fan-like streamers, which gathered in what appeared to be a vast mass at the top of the heavens. The color was inclined to be an unearthly silvery shade—but quite vivid. Not like flames, but rather the color of lights, that sometimes appear to come from marshes in the night time—a "will o' the wisp" sort of light, only apparently thousands of times magnified.

Ran in Great Banks

Monday night the streamers ran in great banks directly overhead from east to west. That is, they occupied that part of the heavens overhead, which is termed the zenith. When northern lights take this form, they are called "the corona," or translated, "the crown." The ordinary display from the far north was also seen—the same sort of shooting streamers which are frequently observed on the approach of cold weather in the fall. They were on hand Monday night, and shot their points up into the "corona." At one time the vivid banks of light overhead resembled a vast drapery of light, ready to settle down upon Manchester and turn the night into day. But, of course, there was no danger of such a thing.

Those who observed the phenomenon Monday evening may rest assured of one thing—they may never see such a sight in all their lives again, for the corona of the aurora borealis is a rare thing.

The waving streamers of light that were seen dancing from the north are in some countries called "the merry dancers." This would appear to be just the word that would fit, for the light appeared to dance.

I. E. S. Pierpont, of Cambridge, who has been a student of astronomy all his life, declared the display Monday night to be the most pronounced he had seen since 1870, the year of the siege of Paris. He recalled that people at that period were wont to connect the aurora with a portent of evil for the beleaguered city, and he remembered one Yankee farmer explaining, "By heck, they're burnin' Paris."

Superstition has centered about the aurora from earliest times. The Eskimos have almost a mythology built around the strange appearances, which are more perfectly and plainly seen in their zone than elsewhere. Even in New England today the lights are often referred as reflections of the sun on northern icebergs and are believed very generally to bring on cold weather, though the weather bureau denies this theory.

The early colonists saw a revelation of supernatural source in the lights, as indeed they did in all meteoric disturbances. A crimson light was thought to forbode a pestilence; a blazing spear or sword of flame, as the lights might easily be imagined to appear, pre-figured Indian warfare, and the colonists were quick to look to their stockades and blockhouses.

Hawthorne's Conclusions

Hawthorne, the keen student of Colonial times, doubts whether any marked event for good or evil ever befell New England from the landing of the Pilgrim Fathers to Revolutionary times, of which the inhabitants had not been previously warned by some spectacle of this nature.

The credibility for these prophecies usually rested on the faith of some lonely eye-witness, and the image took shape much more distinctly in the reflective moments after his first amazement, growing to quite respectable proportions by the time the neighbor came over to borrow a shotgun in the morning.

It was a favorite belief of the Puritan settlers that Divine Providence used the great scroll of the heavens to inform them of events. They saw in the aurora borealis a token of celestial guardianship of a peculiarly intimate nature.

A great red letter "A" appearing on the night Governor Winthrop died, in a particularly brilliant, but short lived aurora, was taken as a sign that the governor was already an angel. It is given a more sinister meaning in Hawthorne's "Scarlet Letter."

But scientists assure us they have been able to find no connection between the periodic appearances of the strange lights and any human or earthly event.

No War Tax

Wonderful display of Monday night goes to emphasize one thing—that the average human being can see something which is grander than anything else in all the world, and doesn't have to pay a war tax. There isn't any question at all but that if the professional excise men at Washington had known that the display was coming off, they would have injected a tax somewhere—the same as probably some sort of tax will be imposed ere long for the very air one breathes.

LIBRARY NOTES

New Books in Manchester Public Library

"From Place to Place" is a new work of fiction by Irving Cobb. It is a volume of short stories, nine in number. They are all humorous tales.

Mrs. Alfred Sedgwick, author of that popular story, "Salt of the Earth," has written another novel, "Iron Cousins." It is a real good story. It portrays another phase of the Teutonic character.

"The Great Impersonation" is the latest story by E. Phillips Oppenheim. It is a thrilling story. His publishers consider "The Great Impersonation" the best novel of this author.

"Poor Relations," by Compton MacKenzie, is a good novel full of bright sayings, a book that you will enjoy reading.

"The Crescent Moon," is a romantic tale, with the scene laid in East Africa. The author, F. Brett Young, wrote "Marching on Tanga," a vivid description of some of the fighting that took place in Africa during the world war.

E. F. Benson, who wrote "An Autumn Sowing," "The Tortoise," "Michael," "The Oakleyites" and "Across the Stream," has a new work of fiction—"Robin Linnet." It is a fine study of youth. There is some bright conversation. The book is well written.

A prominent American, about whom we should know more, is Leonard Wood. This knowledge may be obtained by reading "Leonard Wood, Conservator of Americanism, a Biography," by Eric Fisher Wood. He traces his life from his boyhood on Cape Cod through the Spanish war, and tells of his wonderful work as military governor of Cuba, when he banished yellow fever from the island. You are told about his work in the Philippines, and during the late war. You will know that it is well written when I tell you that the author wrote "The Note Book of an Attaché," one of the best books produced by the war.

THRIFT MOVEMENT IN PUBLIC SCHOOLS

The accompanying picture shows the thrift club drawings upon the blackboard at the William H. Lincoln school in Brookline. At the Edward Devotion, another Brookline school, which is working along the same lines, the children have purchased more than $5000 worth of Thrift and War Savings stamps in the past four months. There are about 700 pupils in this school.

The savings division is ready and anxious to coöperate with the school departments of all of the suburban cities and towns and hopes that the schools in Manchester and other North Shore communities soon will take up the thrift movement after the idea was so successfully carried out in Brookline and other places. The sales of W. S. S. securities at the postoffices are reported as being very good during the past few months.

At the Lincoln school Happy Jack Thrift club drawings on the blackboard have been attracting a great deal of attention from educators all over the state. When a pupil purchases his first Thrift stamp he is allowed to put his name on one of the squirrels which are pasted on the blackboard with the chalk drawing background representing a scene in the woods. When he buys each additional Thrift stamp he is given a chance to add to the store of nuts for the squirrel that bears his name.

All of the Brookline schools have shown a very fine spirit in aiding in the dissemination of the knowledge of thrift among the pupils in all of the grades from the high school to the primary.

The reading of a book like "Average Americans," by Theodore Roosevelt, son of the late ex-President Roosevelt, will make you glad that you are an American citizen. The author went over with the First Division and was in the first battle fought by the American troops. He pictures in a lifelike manner the doings of "our boys." The book is a strong argument for straight Americanism.

A very amusing and laugh-provoking book is "Hand-Made Fables," by George Ade. He shows up the foibles of human nature, but his sarcasm is not cruel. The reading of this book is as good as a postgraduate course in American slang. The illustrations add to the humor of the volume.

Augustus P. Gardner was our faithful representative in Congress for 15 years. When the war broke out he resigned his seat and joined the army, believing it was his duty to do so. Unfortunately his life was cut short by pneumonia. He died Jan. 14, 1918. "Some Letters of Augustus P. Gardner" is the title of a small volume which is well worth reading. The letters cover a period from the Spanish war to his death. They portray many phases of a very pleasing personality, and incidentally give us an inside view of recent American politics.

We hope to have some more new books for next week. —R. T. G.

MANCHESTER

Mr. and Mrs. G. A. Knoerr left yesterday morning for a week-end visit to Canaan, N. H.

Alfred Rogers was called to Southampton, N. Y., the first of the week, by the serious illness of his daughter.

Mrs. Edward Haraden, Bridge st., received the sad news Wednesday of the death, in Earling, Iowa, of her sister, Mrs. Daniel McCall, who formerly lived in Gloucester.

Supt. of Streets Crombie has been out this week with the road scraper and a gang of men leveling banks of snow and breaking up the ice on shaded parts of the highways.

Everett L. Edmands, a former member of the Manchester Ice Co., and who retired from active business about two years ago, has accepted a position with the Samuel Knight Sons' Co.

At the Home Day meeting of the Manchester Woman's club, Tuesday, April 6, there will be a table for showing ways of economizing in clothing goods, etc. It is hoped that each lady will bring something to this table, showing some way in which she has been thrifty.

The Davis Fish market, opened a few weeks ago in the Kimball block on Union st., reports a successful business, as is to be expected. A telephone has been installed and orders will be accepted for deliveries in Manchester on Wednesdays and Fridays, and for Magnolia on Tuesdays and Thursdays.

Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Till, of Coolidge's Point, left last Friday for a two weeks' visit in Washington with Harry E. Mueller, who has many friends in Manchester, where he lived when he was organist of the Episcopal church in Beverly Farms. Mr. Mueller is now organist in the First Congl. church in the Capital.

Billy Wang, the proprietor of the local Chinese laundry, is adding a line of Chinese novelties to his establishment on Beach st. While the line is not installed yet, Mr. Wang expects it almost any day now, and he assures us that it will be something well worth looking over. He will also carry a line of soft drinks, moxie, etc. For the convenience of patrons a telephone has been installed. Billy is a young man of breeding and intellect, unlike the usual run of men who manage the Chinese laundries. He is well educated and is progressive.

Charles Francis is now one of the tonsorial artists in Thomas Saco's barber shop, Postoffice building.

The building off Norwood ave., near Dodge's mill, owned by Chester L. Crafts and used by Bullock Bros. as a garage, is being remodelled by Mr. Crafts for use as a work-shop in connection with his business as carpenter-contractor.

William Barnett has bought the Bullock bakery establishment on Washington st., and expects to start up the business early in April. Mr. Barnett worked as head baker at this bakery for many years, and more recently conducted the place himself. He closed down last fall, however, when his lease expired, and with his wife and son paid a visit to his old home in Scotland. He returned last week and yesterday he bought from Bullock Bros. the bakery building and equipment, not including the stable in the rear of the property.

MANCHESTER

The Manchester schools will be closed next week for the annual spring vacation.

Mrs. Frank J. Reid arrived home Tuesday after spending the winter at Daytona, Fla.

Miss Grace Salter, of Danvers, visited some of her young friends of Manchester, Tuesday.

William E. Coughlin has been drawn as juror at a special session of the superior court at Salem, April 5.

Conomo tribe of Red Men will go to Beverly this evening to confer the Chiefs' degree on a class of candidates.

Mrs. Alfred C. Needham was operated upon at a Cambridge hospital the first of this week for trouble with her neck.

Mrs. Hannah Tappan is slowly recovering from her recent illness, so that she is now able to sit up a number of hours every day.

Joseph Spinney is enjoying a week's vacation from his studies at the Amherst Agricultural school, at the home of his brother, Wm. A. Spinney, Pine st.

Daniel Sheehan and his brother, William, came on from New York the first of the week, to attend the funeral of their sister, Mrs. Timothy Cronin. The former is at present connected with the detective branch of the New York police force. William Sheehan is employed by a New York construction company.

Fred Dale and William Dow will leave next Monday for Baltimore, where they will start up the construction work on the golf links of the Baltimore Country club. Mr. Dale will later go to Jamestown, N. Y., to undertake another golf course construction job, leaving Mr. Dow at Baltimore in charge of the work there.

It is expected that one of the matters to come before the voters at the adjourned town meeting next Monday evening will be the question of appropriating $25,000 for the proposed new Town hall, which it was decided to build as a memorial for the soldiers and sailors of the world war. It is expected the officials will be in a position to know whether this amount can be set aside this year as a nucleus of the fund necessary to carry forward the plan. Because of the severe winter weather nothing has been done yet in the line of preparing plans and obtaining estimates.

OVER ESTABLISHED LAUNDRY IN GLOUCESTER

"We wash everything—but the kids," said John F. Connor, the new proprietor of the Colonial Laundry, in Gloucester, and for the past five years proprietor of the laundry at Manchester; "and return everything but the dirt." And one can't expect much more. "Quick service—and good workmanship"—these are the two objects that Mr. Connor emphasizes in talking of his enlarged business, and in taking over the well-known business that has been run on Burnham st., Gloucester, the last fifteen years.

Mr. Connor came to Manchester from a successful business in Methuen. Only a few weeks ago he bought the building and land on which the Manchester laundry is located from the Connolly Bros. estate, of Beverly Farms. The plant is located off Central st., on the waterfront adjoining the Knight coal wharf property, and is a valuable piece of property.

The Manchester business has grown in leaps and bounds since Mr. Connor bought it from the Bradley estate. Gradually, by consistent management, the installation of modern machinery, straightforward business methods and honest-dealing with the people of the North Shore, he built up the Manchester business to the point where the Manchester equipment couldn't handle the work. Trucks had been added to the equipment, and the surrounding country had been canvassed as far as Ipswich, Essex, Hamilton and part of Wenham, as well as Beverly Farms and Pride's Crossing in the Beverly field. Cape Ann was one of the natural points of growth for a business located in Manchester and so the trucks gradually entered the Gloucester field.

Magnolia and then Gloucester proper, and finally the Bass Rocks and East Gloucester territory was covered, until last summer the whole of Cape Ann was included. It was by giving good service—collecting as early as Sunday night in the more urgent cases of hotels and clubs and large households, and returning the clothes in "wet-wash" form Monday and early Tuesday—that the Manchester business was developed beyond bounds.

It was then Mr. Connor began looking around for another plant, and the Colonial, one of his competitors in the field, fell under his eyes. M. J. Palson, the well-known cold storage man, had been the owner of the Colonial for a number of years, and it was from him Mr. Connor bought the business.

PITCH TOURNAMENT BANQUET NEXT WEDNESDAY EVENING

The banquet to be given the members of the Sons of Veterans teams by the players of the Odd Fellows, Red Men and American Legion will be held Wednesday evening next, Mar. 31, at the Odd Fellows hall, Manchester. This is the grand prize won by the Sons in the pitch tournament which closed last week.

The committee announces that a fine supper will be served. Anyone belonging to any of the four fraternal orders represented, who desires to attend this banquet, is requested to notify Charles E. Bell not later than Saturday of this week.

Invited guests include the head officers of each order, and representatives of the Manchester press.

It is thought that the Odd Fellows and Red Men may play off the tie that evening, both teams finishing in the pitch tournament with a total of 138 games.

Use the BREEZE columns to advertise your entertainments. Reading notices furnished free with all printing done at this office. adv.

Life cannot be played as an errorless game; but the scorecard makes a handsomer appearance if we haven't stupidly fumbled the ball.—MEREDITH NICHOLSON.

The happiness of your life depends upon the quality of your thoughts; therefore guard accordingly.—MARCUS AURELIUS.

The Colonial was closed during February, while some needed and very necessary repairs were made, the machinery was overhauled, and other new equipment was installed. It opened again last week with added help as well as most of the old, and with machinery and equipment to do better and more work than ever before.

Mr. Connor says he is prepared to give all of Cape Ann, as well as Gloucester proper, the very best that can be obtained in laundry efficiency. His trucks will be at the customers' door, take the work away and return it again, under ordinary conditions, almost as quickly as the average laundry gets started on its week's work. Promptness and good service is to be his motto.

The Ipswich territory is no small part of the new scheme. The Manchester laundry has been giving service in that section several years. An office has been opened there and the truck will make regular and almost daily trips to Ipswich. Some of the work will be handled in Manchester, other kinds of work in Gloucester. It is planned to send the trucks as far as Rowley and Georgetown this spring and summer.

"The G. M. I. Laundry Co." is the name of the newly organized concern now handling the combined businesses. The "G" stands for Gloucester, "M" for Manchester and "I" for Ipswich.

MEETING OF HORTICULTURAL SOCIETY LAST FRIDAY EVENING

F. H. Wilson, Jr., of the Independent Agricultural school, of Essex county, was the speaker at the regular meeting of the North Shore Horticultural society, held Friday evening last in the Horticultural hall, Manchester.

Mr. Wilson delivered an interesting address on "A Gardener's Interest in Soils." He spoke intelligently of various kinds of soils, its adaptability for the growing of certain kinds of crops, diseases of soils and remedies.

Following the meeting a light collation was served.

Northway, one of the few cars manufactured in New England. The concern is located in Natick and is just beginning to put cars on the market. Thus far only two-ton and three and a half-ton trucks have been manufactured, but by fall it is expected the plant will be turning out pleasure cars of the various types.

Mr. Valentine has secured 15 trucks for his share of the immediate output of the Northway Motor Corporation. He will also handle some second-hand cars.

He plans to open a salesroom in Salem, so as to be ready to serve a large field with Salem and Peabody as a center. His territory will include besides these places, Danvers, Beverly, Manchester, Gloucester and Rockport.

The truck has been one of the hits of the auto show in Boston the past week. There is a big demand for them.

Mr. Valentine's many friends are complimenting him on his move and wish him every success. There has been a big bid among the agencies in this section to secure this car, but the advantage seemed to be with Mr. Valentine from the start. He was one of the original stockholders in the corporation.

When Mr. Valentine retires from the North Shore Market, Addison G. Stanwood, who has been with Mr. Valentine, will continue as manager.

OBITUARY

BENJAMIN FRANKLIN MERRILL

Benjamin Franklin Merrill, lovingly known by all Manchester school children of the last generation as "Grandpa" Merrill, because of his position as janitor at the George A. Priest school, passed away last Saturday at his home on North st., Manchester, at the age of 71 years, 3 months, 8 days. He had been ill only a few days; the end came peacefully. One of the last things he did before being stricken by his fatal illness was to sing the Lord's Prayer.

Mr. Merrill was born in East Boston. He came to Manchester when 18 years old and learned the blacksmithing business with the late Asa Richardson. He was a first-class horse-shoer, though he did not keep at this sort of business long; the work did not agree with him. After a short period at his trade in Boston, he returned to Manchester and worked for a while in the John Knight tannery, which was a leading industry in Manchester at that time.

When the G. A. Priest school was built in the early 90's Mr. Merrill was selected as janitor. He held the position for 23 years, resigning seven years ago. He also served as janitor at the High school for a while, previous to the construction of the enlarged building in 1896. He served as janitor at the Congl. church for a short while also.

In 1871 Mr. Merrill married a Manchester young woman, Miss Lois H. Crombie, who survives him. Since the death of their son, Enoch, 21 years ago, he had been broken in spirit to some degree, as he was greatly attached to the young man.

Mr. Merrill was a man of whom it can justly be said he was loved by all who knew him. And in his case this means practically all the people of Manchester who have gone to school here the last thirty years. He was respected and loved by all. He was a man of exemplary character,—kind, gracious, generous and sympathetic, faithful and honest, merciful and gentle—a gentleman of the "old school" always.

Funeral services were held Tuesday at Crowell Memorial chapel. The Rev. H. E. Levoy, of the Baptist church, officiated in the enforced absence of Rev. F. W. Manning, pastor of the Congl. church, which Mr. Merrill joined in 1897. The floral contributions were many and beautiful. Mrs. Raymond C. Allen rendered the musical selections. Burial was in Rosedale cemetery.

ELLEN MARY (SHEEHAN) CRONIN

Ellen Mary, the wife of Timothy Cronin, of Norwood ave., Manchester, died at her home last Sunday morning after a very brief illness, as the result of a hemorrhage of the brain, with which she was taken less than 24 hours before. Her death was sudden and without warning, almost, as she had been attending to her home duties in her usual good health up to the minute she was taken with the shock.

Mrs. Cronin was a native of Manchester, the only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Sheehan. Her age was 37 years, 1 month, 20 days. She was the mother of four children, all boys, the oldest being 15 years and the youngest five. Besides these four sons—James, Edward, Timothy and Daniel—she is survived by a husband, her father and mother, and three brothers,—Daniel, who is attached to the detective division of the New York police force; James, who is employed at the Boston postoffice, and William, who is employed with a New York construction company.

Funeral services were held Tuesday, with requiem mass at Sacred Heart church at 9.30. Fr. Kiley said the mass. Burial was in the family lot in St. Mary's cemetery, Salem. The pallbearers were the three brothers, and three cousins.

GEORGE S. PARKER, MANCHESTER, DIES FROM INJURIES

George S. Parker, aged 42, of Manchester, died at the Beverly hospital, Thursday morning at 6 o'clock, from injuries received in an accident Wednesday afternoon. Mr. Parker, who was employed by the American Express Co., was driving one of the express teams in Beverly when the horse ran away, throwing him to the ground. He landed on his head and was taken to the Beverly hospital, where concussion of the brain set in. The injured man lived through the night, complications arising which caused his death in the morning.

Mr. Parker had been a resident of Manchester for five or six years, where he was generally liked and had many friends. He is survived by his wife, who was Miss Ida Warren, of Lynn; also two young daughters, Laura and Lillian.

Mr. Parker was formerly employed by Smith's Express Co. in Manchester, and later drove Jordan Marsh Co.'s delivery truck in summer.

FRANK B. AMARAL POST, A. L., TO HAVE SPEAKER

Frank B. Amaral post, A. L., of Manchester, has arranged to have George E. Wilson, department organizer of the American Legion, as speaker at its meeting on Wednesday evening, April 7. Mr. Wilson is a veteran of five campaigns beginning with the Spanish-American war. He is a very forceful speaker and will deliver an interesting message to his hearers.

The invited guests include members of the G. A. R., the S. of V., Selectmen and representatives of the Manchester press. A light collation will be served.

At last there seems to be some hope of a reduction in the cost of shoes. Read this clipping from one of the dailies: "Dutch manufacturers are going to introduce the wooden shoes to the American people. Representatives of several large factories have left for the United States, where they will try and interest wholesale and retail shoe dealers in wooden footwear."

The deer have not yet deserted the Shore. One was observed by a passenger from the window of the train one day this week. He was bounding along, in Pride's Crossing, very much startled by the train. His curiosity soon overcame his timidity, however, for he stopped in the shelter of the woods and stared in wonder at the roaring, puffing monster which seemed to glide along without effort, and apparently without feet, with many bright eyes along its sides—truly unlike anything he had ever seen before. Perhaps the monster did not notice him, for it moved along steadily, and with alarming swiftness, until it was lost to sight.

The North Shore was again visited by a snow storm last Saturday—supposed to be the first day of spring—about eight inches of snow falling to gladden the hearts of men, women and children.

All things considered, this was one of the most successful snow storms of the year. King Winter, having been in training for the past few months, was able to deliver another "punch" in spite of the fact that the almanacs decreed him to be a dead one.

The storm arrived opportunely. It was observed during the week that patches of ground had the temerity to display themselves,—the snow soon concealed them from view. Snow shovels which were rusting through neglect were again brought into use Saturday afternoon and Sunday.

We do not know the number of this storm. We lost count after the 33d.

BRILLERS

(Written for the Breeze)

I thought I would get rich some day: I knew not how nor when. At last a bug lit on my block from a prehistoric hen. So I took my hard-earned dollars that said "In God we trust," made up my mind to have a car, a coon fur-coat, or bust. I bought a few old broody hens, with no pedigree of note,—graduates from some old barn-yard, and old enough to vote. They never struck, but sut and sut like ice froze in a gutter; and when I heard the chickens yell, my gizzard gave a flutter. I could not go to sleep at night, saw feathers in the air, and when a cat came in the yard, I had plenty bricks to spare. The summer passed. Fall came at last, with frost and withered roses. I drove my flock into a box and started counting noses. Some were stunted, some were dopey, and some had crooked breast; a few were all warp-sided; the cat—she got the rest. My money sunk, my courage slumped—broke, down and out, and busted! I gave a long hen-ronious sigh, and quit the game disgusted. Now, when a guy approaches you to sell new-fangled stuff to make hens lay and brillers grow, tell him you've had enuf. Tell him you knew a feller once that went bughouse, insane, and when the doctors sized him up he had brillers on the brain.—HIRAM HECKLER, Ruberville, Vt., March 24, 1920.

That was back when we had started on our third snow shovel. All that is left of it now is the handle, and that is badly bent.

x—x—x

The Manchester sewer system is giving more or less trouble and matters will take a serious turn sooner or later if the condition is not remedied. A few nights ago a crowd of people were attracted to the manhole on Beach st. near the bowling alley. A gurgling sound was being emitted and was heard at a considerable distance from the spot. Those who pretended to know something about the matter said water from the sewer pipes was responsible for the noise and for the excessive amount of water in the opening. Yesterday afternoon a stream of water nearly a foot high was spouting out of the ground in the roadway leading from Beach st., by the BREEZE office, toward the sewer pumping station. It was directly over the sewer pipe. It lasted for nearly an hour, until the tide had receded. Cellars on Beach st., along the line where the sewer pipes run to the station further down the street, have been flooded periodically. The BREEZE building has been flooded most of the time since the connections were made with the sewer last fall. Dr. Blaisdell's block further up street is being bothered more than any other place.

No information could be obtained at the sewer station when the BREEZE man inquired as to the cause of this trouble, the man in charge referring us to his superiors. It is generally talked of on the street that most of the trouble is due to the fact the sewers are not pumped more than three or four times a week, instead of every day, and that consequently there is an overabundance of water and sewage that is backing up and running out on top of the ground.

The great reason for expending more than $250,000 to install sewers in Manchester was that the health of the town demanded it. Does the health of the town benefit by having sewage and sewer gas emitting from the roadway and from manholes in the manner referred to above?

A FEW PROBLEMS

It has always been a puzzle to me
What sailors sow when they plow the sea.
Does coffee go with the rolls of a drum,
And why is a speaking likeness dumb?

What was it that made the window blind?
Whose picture is put in a frame of mind?
When a storm is brewing what does it brew?

Does the foot of a mountain wear a shoe?

How long does it take to hatch a plot?
Has a school of herring a tutor or not?
Have you ever perused a volume of smoke?

Can butter be made from the cream of a joke?

Can you fasten a door with a lock of hair?
Did a bitter wind ever bite you, and where?

What is it that paints the signs of the times?

Does the moon change quarters for nickels and dimes?

Can money be tight when change is loose?

OVERSEAS COMMANDER

GAVE INTERESTING TALK ON EXPERIENCES, BEFORE MANCHESTER CLUB

Col. Frank Perkins, of Salem, commander of the 101st Artillery, entertained the Manchester club members last Friday evening with a recital of some of his experiences in France.

Previous to its inception as the 101st Artillery the organization was known as the Second Corps Cadets, of Salem. During the trouble with Mexico it was reorganized and sent to the Border, where four months' training in Texas was received.

On the entry of this country into the world war, the 101st was sent to Boxford for training, leaving there for France in September, 1917. They went on the line for the first time near Soissons.

The French, in building battery positions, usually built three, two of which were decoys to draw the fire of the enemy. The third was carefully built and occupied a camouflaged position. It was one of the former sort of positions that the 101st was assigned to, in the Toul sector, remaining there for two months.

Here, shortly after the first of April, the colonel of the regiment secured a piece of paper captured from the Germans, which showed that their position was to be attacked by the 14th German battalion. This was one of the best trained regiments in the German army, and was called by our boys "Hindenburg's Traveling Circus," as they were shifted from one position to another.

The colonel's instructions were to be ready, and orders were issued for every man to be in position at 4 o'clock the next morning, but nothing happened that day. The next morning the orders were the same. At 5 o'clock the Germans opened a most terrific fire, the most severe which the 101st saw during the war. This was followed by a gas attack, the idea of the enemy being to smother the battery and then conquer it.

The result of this attack was that of the 1200 Germans participating, only 16 returned alive to their lines, the remainder being caught in the wire entanglements. The fire from the American battery cut the enemy off from their own lines. Of the 1200, 75 percent were captured and the rest killed.

The 101st relieved the 2d division of marines in the Belleau woods. Here was a very serious situation, as it was thought the Germans would break through and enter Paris.

On the morning of Nov. 11, the battery was ordered to commence firing at 9 o'clock; the infantry was to advance at 9.30. Firing had just commenced when orders were received to cease at 11 o'clock. Absolute silence reigned; for the first time since Feb. 1, the men were not listening to the continual whine of shot and exploding of shell. It was impressive and oppressive, something which cannot be adequately described.

As an example of their entire indifference to hardship and danger, two doughboys passing the colonel's dug-out a few minutes after the guns had ceased firing, were overheard talking of the signing of the armistice. One of them said: "Well, Buddie, it was a pretty good war while it lasted!"

"This man's army"—of ours was made up of men from all walks of life, and during the entire war they kept up their morale, courage and lightheartedness, which was characteristic of the American soldier.

Colonel Perkins said, in closing: "I served as a commanding officer, but I cannot finish this talk without paying tribute to the men in the ranks. There are numberless privates who deserve unbounded credit who never get any."

At the close of the talk the entertainment committee served refreshments of ice cream and cake.

MAGNOLIA

Nancy Thornburg is enjoying an outing this week at Jaffrey, N. H., with friends.

Mary Boyd, a teacher in the high school of Stowe, spent the week-end with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Boyd.

John Lycett has recently been appointed chief clerk of the local post-office. Mr. Lycett always obliging and agreeable, is a worthy successor to his cousin, the late Fred S. Lycett.

Services appropriate for Palm Sunday will be held in the Village church the next Lord's Day at 10.45 a. m., with preaching by the pastor on "Peace." Sunday school meets at 11.45 a. m.

Rev. F. J. Libby, of Exeter, N. H., a former pastor of the Village church, called upon old friends here Wednesday. Mr. Libby is soon to leave for Europe, where he is to engage in reconstruction work under the auspices of the Society of Friends.

MAGNOLIA WOMAN PASSES AWAY

Mrs. John MacKay, after a long illness, died at the Addison Gilbert hospital, Gloucester, Mar 17. Funeral services were held at her late residence on Magnolia ave., Sunday, Mar. 21, at 2 p. m., being conducted by Rev. Walter S. Eaton, the minister of the Village church, of which she was a member, and assisted by Edna G. Symonds, Frank Dunbar and Michael Kehoe, who sang three appropriate selections.

Among the many and beautiful floral pieces was one of calla lilies from the Ladies' Aid society, of the Village church, and still another of calla lilies from the Boston Rubber Shoe Co., of Malden, where a brother of the deceased is employed. The interment was in the Village cemetery.

The late Mrs. MacKay was a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George T. Mullen, of Hebron, N. S., where she was born Feb. 28, 1879. During the past twenty years and more she has lived a quiet and useful life in this village.

She is survived by husband, daughter, Jennie, parents, two brothers and four sisters, besides other relatives, not a few, and many warm and trusted friends, who will miss her with the passing days. Thus a faithful wife, a loving mother, a kind and obliging neighbor, a loyal disciple of Jesus Christ and a firm believer in the Christian religion has entered into the rest that remains to the children of God.

Next to silence is the appreciation of it.—W. W. THACKERAY.

The arrangements are now completed for the benefit picture show of the Manchester Woman's club to be given at Horticultural hall, Manchester, on Saturday evening, April 10. There will be both matinee and evening shows. Special tickets are to be sold for the evening—reserved seats at 50c and regular admission 40c.

The pictures secured by Manager Sanborn are "Double Speed," featuring Wallace Reid, and "The Young Mrs. Winthrop," with Ethel Clayton.

FELL FROM STAGING

L. Nelson Cook fell from a staging while at work at Smith's Point, Manchester, Wednesday, and sustained a severe shaking-up, being fortunate in not breaking any bones. Mr. Cook felt the staging give away and he jumped to the ground, landing on a bulkhead which broke the force of his fall. Aside from internal aches and pains which will probably endure only for a few days Mr. Cook is getting along nicely. He is employed as a tinsmith by J. W. Carter Co.

REBEKAH FAIR AND ANNIVERSARY

Two important events are on the calendar for the members of Liberty lodge of Rebekahs, of Manchester, the coming month. One is the observance of the 31st anniversary of the lodge on Friday evening, the 9th, when the grand officers will be here and a banquet, with out-of-town caterer, will be served in Town hall. Tickets for the banquet will be ready for distribution at the meeting tonight.

The other is the fair to be held on Friday, the 16th, and Children's Sunlight Party on Saturday, the 17th. The feature of the fair will be a country store, where fancy articles, aprons, pies, cakes, flowers, ice cream and many other good things will be for sale.

A good entertainment is being prepared, the special features being a soprano soloist and a child dancer. A good time is also in store for the children who attend the Sunlight Party on Saturday afternoon, including entertainment.

TWO MOTION PICTURE SHOWS
WEEKLY AT HORTICULTURAL HALL

Patrons of the movies, in Manchester, will be pleased to know that beginning this week, Manager Sanborn has returned to his former schedule of two shows per week.

Tomorrow evening, Saturday, the feature will be "What's Your Husband Doing?" This is said to be the best comedy-drama of the new year. It's a scream. One the same bill is Vivian Martin in "His Official Fiancée."

The program and coming attractions are listed in the adv. on page 10.

Mrs. Mary A. Larcom has had visiting her two nieces, the Misses Mabel and Mildred Mackintosh, of Medford, this week.

Miss Julia Kelly, who was operated upon two weeks ago at the Salem hospital, is reported to be getting along very nicely.

Howard Preston is taking a three or four weeks' vacation because of ill-health, and is spending it with friends in Melrose.

Mr. and Mrs. James W. Wiggin, of Machias, Me., have spent the past week here, the guests of Beverly Farms friends.

Mrs. John E. Lee, West st., age 88, who recently fell and injured her hip, although in bed, is very comfortable and somewhat improved.

Capt. A. P. Loring, Jr., has received his honorable discharge as captain of Co. F, M. S. G., and Lieut. W. B. Publicover is now acting captain.

The Girls' club, of the local Baptist church, is to give a public entertainment this evening in the chapel. Refreshments will be on sale after the show.

The Andrew Standley camp, S. of V., is to hold a regular meeting this evening in G. A. R. hall, a part of the business on hand being to select delegates to the coming convention.

The following real estate transfer of local interest was recorded at Salem on Tuesday: J. Sewall Day, conveys to George S. Day, land and buildings, Oak and Vine sts., Beverly Farms, 76.5 by 110 feet.

Congressman Lufkin has sent to Preston post, 188, G. A. R., a large assortment of government vegetable and flower seeds, which the post would be pleased to pass out to any Beverly Farms resident on request.

At a meeting of the convention committees of the Salem C. E. Union, for the Patriots' Day convention, Albert F. Simms and J. Sewell Day, of Beverly Farms, were named representing the local Baptist church.

Last Sunday afternoon at 3.30 Mrs. John Shanahan, of Peabody, addressed a parish gathering at St. Margaret's church. Her talk was on the diocesan centre to be established in Boston by the League of Catholic Women, and showed the necessity of Beverly Farms becoming interested and doing its part toward the worthy object. Mrs. Shanahan is the district chairman in charge of the present drive for funds.

The following are the students from Beverly Farms who are members of the coming 1920 graduating class of the Beverly High school and who have been named on the various committees to take charge of the exercises of the coming event: Helen Hodgkins, Virginia Linehan, Ellen O'Brien, John Watson and Margaret Rourke.

TENDERED BEVERLY FARMS YOUNG WOMAN A MISCELLANEOUS SHOWER

A miscellaneous shower was given to Miss Muriel Publicover at her home on Hart st. last Friday evening by Preston W. R. corps, of which Miss Publicover is a member, and was for a number of years its musician. Miss Publicover was taken completely by surprise. Reaching home from Beverly on an early evening train, she was asked by a member of the family to go into the next room for some article. She snapped on the lights and found about 50 of her friends sitting around the room. Then the fun began. The gifts were arranged from a large green parasol hanging over the dining room table. They were all very nice and Miss Publicover will no doubt find each one most useful in the time to come.

The W. R. C. cannot be outclassed for entertaining features in this town, for they have among them all kinds of talent, and the entertainment they furnished on this occasion was certainly a good one, and included a musical program, instrumental and vocal, recitations and dancing features, and the serving of refreshments.

As was to be expected each member present contributed their "do's" and "don'ts" on housekeeping to the coming bride.

Theatres

TREMONT THEATRE, BOSTON

Next week will be the last of the engagement of "Dere Mable" at the Tremont theatre, Boston. This big Marc Klaw musical production has been one of the season's most emphatic hits, mainly because of the delightful admixture of high-class comedy and a charming music score that elevates it to the high standard of entertainment which has made the Tremont theatre one of Boston's most popular houses.

In its big cast of funmakers, singers and dancers, "Dere Mable" has that rare quality of having as near a perfect company as could be assembled. Louis Bennison plays Bill in masterly manner, and his Scotchman, Angus, is cleverly played by Robert Woolsey. Fern Rogers is charming as Mable.

An all-beauty chorus of pretty girls provides the ensemble, and the production is mounted in lavish manner and good taste.

On Monday evening, April 5, there will come to the Tremont theatre the most distinctive offering presented in Boston for many seasons when the Gilbert Miller great London production, "Monsieur Beaucaire," will begin a limited engagement.

COPLEY THEATRE, BOSTON

So great has been the success of "The Private Secretary" at the Copley theatre that Henry Jewett has decided to keep this farce of Charles Hawtrey's on for a second week. All this past week not only have the regular patrons of this playhouse been flocking to, see this very funny piece, but it has attracted many who perhaps had never before been in this theatre, but who recalled the one or more pleasant evenings spent in the presence of "The Private Secretary" in years gone by.

N. Y. HIPPODROME

Charles Dillingham's pageant of delight, "Happy Days," which has celebrated its 350th performance at the Hippodrome, and which has provided wholesome amusement and a world of pleasure to nearly two million happy patrons since its record run began, has been still further enlivened this coming week by the introduction of special circus features as is the Hippodrome custom each spring. "Poodles" Hanneford, the remarkable equestrian clown, is the bright particular star of the added novelties, in two scenes, "At the Circus" and "Inside the Hippodrome." The final months of "Happy Days" promise to be the gayest of the season. Matinees are given daily.

GLOBE THEATRE, N. Y.

Charles Dillingham's charming operetta, "Apple Blossoms," which is enjoying the longest run among the season's musical offerings still entertains capacity audiences at the Globe theatre, N. Y. Music lovers and playgoers combined interest in the Kreisler-Jacobi-LeBaron light opera is said to be the reason for its great vogue. While the Globe theatre has always been society's favorite headquarters, "Apple Blossoms" has attracted the regular habitue of the Metropolitan as well, and its balconies have been as popular as its orchestra and boxes during this record run.

BILL WAS BROWN'S ALRIGHT

All at once, a man in the middle of the trolley car, which held about 40 passengers, rose and said:

"Ladies and gentlemen, I claim to be an honest man. I found a bill in this car and it must belong to one of you. I could have kept it and said nothing, but it would have been a dishonest trick. Who has lost the bill?"

All the passengers craned their necks to look at him. Each one wanted to claim that bill, but was afraid he would ask the denomination of it.

"You need not be timid about it," continued the man. "People often lose bills, and they are glad to get them back. I do not say that I am the most honest man in the world, but you must see I am doing the right thing here. Who has lost the bill?"

Every one breathed hard, but not one spoke.

"Isn't there a person here by the name of William Brown?" asked the man, after a moment's silence.

"Yes, sir," responded an individual. "You are William Brown, are you?"

"Yes, sir."
"Then the bill belongs to you and I take great pleasure in handing it to you. It is not money, but a bill from your grocer—a bill for $7.50, and he has written on it that if you do not pay him in a week, he will sue you. William Brown, here is your bill, and if you can raise the money you had better pay it."

And, while the man was sitting down, and while the passengers were recovering from their astonishment, William Brown dropped off the car into the street and disappeared at a fast gait.—Anaconda Standard.

THE QUIET ROOM!

"Come for Deeper Rest to This Still Room"

By LILLIAN McCANN

And so I find it well to come
For deeper rest to this still room;
For here the habit of the soul
Feels less the outer world's control.
And from the silence, multiplied
By these still forms on every side,
The world that time and sense has known Falls off and leaves us God alone.
—Whittier.

THERE are rooms and rooms. In our "sweet childish days, that were as long as twenty days are now," according to Wordsworth, we all had our favorite rooms.

Perhaps we were born in one of the old-time houses that had such a homey atmosphere. There were never too many rooms—no useless rooms. In those old houses each room had some important part to play in the life of the family. There was the all-important kitchen in which the dining room was often combined, the living room, the parlor, the "spare" chamber and the family bedrooms. In some of the tiny cottages of our memories less rooms than these helped to round out the family existence. But, however it was, there was a charm about having the rooms related in such a way that all seemed to be a whole, or formed a "temple for the household gods."

These simple homes of the past still breathe a message for us. Of course, times have changed. We do not want our houses, though, to look like furniture store exhibits. We do not want so many rooms without a special purpose that are mere excuses to try out one's idea of style and knowledge of decoration.

As the family tastes have grown so have houses. We have expanded our musical sympathies and gifts until we have set apart a special room for music. Our reading habits require a room large enough to hold the volumes our purses can afford to buy. So we might go on showing how in this day and age we have elaborated our good habits and sometimes idle habits until there are now rooms set apart for smoking, billiards, dancing, trophies, and art; "dens" for men folk and for milady a boudoir; breakfast rooms as well as regular dining rooms for larger meals; small and great reception rooms; halls and living rooms and so on.

The Spirit of the Rooms

A recent writer says the "spirit of the rooms" or the house harmonious is shown and felt if all rooms have a reason for being and show by their appointments the exact reason and part of family life lived in them.

The personal touch would be different in everybody's house. For instance, the den in a dozen houses would have furnishings appropriate to dens in general, but the den in each house to be satisfactorily furnished must reflect some characteristic of the master.

So we see the question of interior arrangement and decoration should involve the making of a harmonious whole of useful family rooms showing the personal characteristics, in a measure, of the particular family whose home it is.

We call to mind the large library and study belonging to Dr. John C. Phillips, of "Windy Knob," Wenham. Aside from its elegant usual appointments are special trophies showing the life of a scientist and huntsman. Surely this is a room betraying the trend of its master.

So we might enumerate in countless cases along the Shore.

"Exterior Rooms"

As the season progresses we shall take our readers some day through a few of the most harmonious homes on the Shore.

The exterior rooms—the gardens will also be visited. How many little gardens there are that really can be likened to a true exterior room! Their charming shelters, walls, fences, walks, arches, bowers, pergolas, seats, tea fixtures, fountains, statuary, and last but not least, their flowers and trees and canopy of blue sky all lend a refined elegance to their function of outside room furnishings. The arbor in the garden-room is a piece of furniture with a triple purpose. It gives a support for vines, supplies shelter and a resting place—a most economical "3-in-one."

Music for the garden-room and incidentally to be enjoyed within may easily be obtained almost gratis. Bird baths, bird houses, a scarcity of cats and shrubs bearing edible berries the year round will help greatly in drawing these timid wildwood singers to our exterior rooms.

Not all houses are beautiful. Not all houses have been planned to bring out the best in looks and arrangement. But why not treat our houses as John Kendrick Bangs tells us to treat ourselves?

Some folks in looks take so much pride
They don't think much on what's inside.
Well, as for me, I know my face
Can ne'er be made a thing of grace,
And so I rather think I'll see
How I can fix th' inside o' me

SAVE MONEY ON MEAT

Here is a real thrift recipe for a tasty, nutritious dish prepared from less costly meat. It is issued by the Division of Women's Activities, Department of Justice. Use this recipe and save money on meat.

Pot Roast with Vegetables

3 or 4 pounds chuck roast
1 cup sliced carrots
1 cup sliced onions
1 cup celery cut in bits
1 cup sliced turnips
3 tablespoons fat (preferably from salt pork)

If the meat is not sold in a solid piece, skewer or tie it into shape, wipe it with damp cheesecloth, and roll in flour. Boil vegetables in salted water to barely cover until soft. Rub through a coarse strainer. Heat fat in a frying pan or Dutch oven. Put in the meat and brown on all sides. If the frying pan is used, transfer the meat, after it is brown, to a kettle, unless the pan is deep enough to hold the beef. Pour the vegetables and their liquid over the meat, together with any preferred seasoning. Cover tightly and let simmer slowly for four or five hours, turning twice. Thicken the gravy a little, and pour over the meat.

Chuck Steak with Onions

2 pounds chuck steak
5 or 6 onions
Salt
Butter or butter substitute

Slice onions in water. Drain thoroughly. Place onions in a shallow saucepan, cover closely and cook over a slow fire for 15 or 20 minutes till tender. Use no water or fat, as the onions contain both moisture and richness. When the onions are done, uncover and brown slightly if preferred, but they are more digestible without browning. Heat a frying pan smoking hot, and brown the steak quickly on both sides; reduce the heat and turn the meat frequently until it is cooked through. Season the steak and salt the onions. Serve the meat on a platter with onions around it. Add butter if desired.

Pot Roast of Mutton with Currant Mint Sauce

2½ pounds mutton (plate)
Seasoning

Wipe meat, sprinkle with salt and pepper, place on rack in dripping pan, and dredge meat and bottom of pan with flour. Bake in hot oven for 2 hours, basting frequently with butter or butter substitute. Serve with currant mint sauce.

Currant Mint Sauce.—Separate 2-3 tumbler of currant jelly in pieces, but do not beat it. Add one to two tablespoonfuls finely chopped mint leaves and shavings from an orange rind. Serve around roast.

Escaloped Corned Beef

2 cups cooked corned beef, cubed
1 cup medium white sauce
1 stalk celery, chopped fine
2 slices onion, chopped

Cook celery and onion in sauce. Put the corned beef in a shallow baking dish. Remove celery and onion from sauce. Add sauce to meat. Sprinkle with bread crumbs moistened with melted butter or butter substitute. Brown in hot oven.

Veal Cutlets and Soup water until tender. Remove as much meat as possible from the bone. Cut the pieces to resemble chops.

Take this veal and season well. Roll in crumbs, egg and crumbs again and saute in butter or butter substitute. Garnish with parsley.

For the soup take the remaining portion of the shank and put it into a kettle with 3 cups brown stock and a few peppercorns, salt, celery salt and any other seasoning desired. Add 1-2 cup each of diced potatoes, turnips, and parsley. Cook for one-half hour.

This veal shank provides a soup and outlets for a family of five.

Bedding and Hardy Plants

It is nearing Spring and time to think of planting. Orders should be placed with your florist in advance this season as the demand will exceed the supply. We are growing thousands of bedding plants such as geraniums, heliotrope, petunias, fuchsias, periwinkle, begonias and quite a number of other kinds that are used mostly for outdoor planting and window boxes.

We also offer hardy plants such as larkspur, canterbury bells, iris, paeonies, lupin, foxglove and pansies. Tubs of hydrangeas and box trees to sell or let for the season.

At all times our ideas and experience are at your service, either in helping you in choosing, or in taking entire charge of your landscape planting.

Theatres

COPLEY THEATRE, BOSTON

G. Bernard Shaw's "Pygmalion" will be the next play to be presented by Henry Jewett's Company at the Copley theatre, this to follow "The Private Secretary," which has enjoyed a very good business for two weeks. "Pygmalion" was given at this theatre earlier in the season; in fact, it was the second play of the current season; but it was so early that many of the Copley's regular patrons had not yet returned from their country and seashore homes, and, deprived of seeing this capital Shaw comedy, they have called for its revival.

"MONSIEUR BEAUCAIRE" AT TREMONT THEATRE

At the Tremont theatre in Boston Gilbert Miller's great London production of "Monsieur Beaucaire" will be seen on Monday, April 5, continuing for a limited engagement, and with Wednesday and Saturday matinees. New York and Boston are the only two cities in America in which the notable attraction will be presented this year, and the big English organization of 70 people and magnificent scenic production come direct to the Tremont theatre from the New Amsterdam theatre, New York, where "Monsieur Beaucaire" has attracted all this past season the greatest audiences in the history of this famous home of musical comedy.

For the limited engagement of "Monsieur Beaucaire" at the Tremont the orchestra will be augmented to 40 pieces, and the elaborate production will be presented exact in every detail with its London and New York performances.

FEDERAL THEATRE, SALEM

Critics everywhere assert that "Pollyanna" is one of the greatest picture-plays ever filmed. This production will be the feature at the Federal theatre, Salem, all next week, starting Monday, April 5, and shown twice daily at 2.15 and 8 p. m.

Diversion is always the paramount thing whenever amusement is considered, but at the same time people want something big and compelling—something that will drive home a few truths without preaching a sermon or spoiling the flavor of a show which is meant to entertain.

Such a story is "Pollyanna," with its cheerful philosophy of gladness.

William Farnum in "The Spoilers" is the headliner at the Federal the last three days of this week. A comedy, Pathe News, Pictograph and organ recital complete the bill.

RESUME VAUDEVILLE AT EMPIRE

Starting Easter Monday, April 5, the Empire theatre, Salem, will hold forth with a big vaudeville show of five B. F. Keith acts, together with feature pictures and a 7-piece orchestra. The bill will change Monday, Thursday and Sunday.

The Empire has been renovated thoroughly this week, two new picture machines and scenery being installed and everything made ready for the opening next Monday. Two shows daily. The new policy of vaudeville is under the management of Koen Bros., who now own and manage the Salem and Federal theatres.

THE PRESIDENT OF THE UNITED STATES, Woodrow Wilson, has chosen a Massachusetts shore residence for the summer White House. In so doing he follows a precedent that was established by antecedents. Grover Cleveland invariably sought recreation and the comfortable environment at Grey Gables. President Taft sought rest on the North Shore. They all chose well, for they knew the charm of a Massachusetts summer. Of all the summer places which attract visitors from all over the nation, the North Shore is unrivalled. Leaders such as Taft, Cleveland, Wilson and countless others have found here the satisfactions of summer life for rest and recreation. Here are wooded areas with beautiful roads that make driving a comfort. There are roads from which motor vehicles are excluded. There are broad state highways and innumerable crossroads going in every direction, affording pleasant and profitable motor riding. The rail service is convenient and the electric cars are excluded. Shopping centres are removed from the shore sections, but easily reached by motor or rail. Withal the salt breeze off the sea tempers the air, and however warm the day there is always a comfortable respite in the evening. There are recreation centres and clubs scattered along the Shore with well appointed grounds for indoor comforts and outdoor sports, tennis, and golf. There are pony polo grounds. The sea affords the sportsmen hours of pleasure, fishing or yachting. It is not surprising that the citizens of the middle west, of New York, and of Boston seek the rest and inspiration of a long summer upon the North Shore. Europe has nothing to offer this year. Tourists will see America first. No one has seen America; who has not visited the North Shore of Massachusetts.

THE WEATHER GODS were not favorable to the North Shore during the winter, but the manner in which snow and ice were removed the last few weeks was phenomenal.

THE SPRING SEASON is advancing rapidly and farmers and garden owners are discovering that despite its severity it has not been a destructive winter. The cold weather came early and the ground froze solidly and remained frozen, and this was then covered with a heavy floor coat of snow and the snow remained, with a constantly increasing depth. Consequently roots were protected and there were no injuries due to a long season of unequal temperatures when by a succession of freezing and thawing the roots of valuable plants and grass roots are likely to be seriously injured. Farmers everywhere are looking forward to a good season with a plentiful supply of grass. The valuable plants in North Shore gardens are in a wonderfully good condition. The mice have worked havoc in some places upon hedges, rose bushes and apple trees. These rodents were hard pushed by the snow blockades in their forays for food. The bark of shrubs and trees that were pleasing to their taste have suffered. Very little loss may be attributed to these, however. Where injuries have been done to apple trees skilful grafting will undoubtedly enable gardeners to save their stock. The heavily laden trees caused a great deal of breakage in the woods and on private estates, but the damages are slight and in most cases the broken limbs are nature's pruning. The only trouble given will be the added expense in trimming and clearing away. Slightly late in beginning, April has come in with its usual promise. Gardens ought to come along rapidly. The roads are all open and the motor season is on. Last Sunday over fifty thousand people left the cities and sought the pleasure afforded by the beaches of the state. The early flowers have broken ground. The crocuses and hyacinths are up in the favored spots in the sun. Summer residences are being opened and the rentable places are in great demand.

THE EXPERIENCED TOURIST realizes how beautiful the opening days of spring are in New England. The hour has struck and the homes are being opened. It is to be an early season.

MODERATELY PRICED RENTALS under two thousand dollars for the season are not available in sufficient numbers to supply the demands which are made upon brokers. The season is on. Owners are making spring inspections, small companies of workmen are arriving and leaving the coast towns, morning and evening, indicating spring preparatory work. The warm days have come to give the city dweller the signal that it is time to search for a home for the summer and to remind those who have remained on the North Shore that the best season of the year is at hand. It is a wise planner who arranges to come to the Shore early to enjoy the proverbially long North Shore season. Many a resort has two short summer months for a limited season; not so the attractive North Shore. Its residents appreciate the charms of spring and fall, and consequently every year has shown a marked tendency on the part of owners to come earlier and stay later. The easy motor distances to trading centres in the small cities near the Shore, the short ride to Boston and the advantages of the Shore, have made it attractive for all the season to Boston business men and even for those who are called to business duties as far away as New York or the more remote centres of the middle west. The North Shore has a longer season than any other part of the New England coast, for its clientele come earlier to gain the full pleasures of country life which begin with the spring days.

IT IS A RARE MARCH that the honk, honk, honk, of the geese passing to the North, and the grouchy croak of the frog from the slimy deep of his den in the spring mud is not heard, and this year was not the exception.

LEONARD WOOD'S GREATEST CLAIMS to the responsibilities of a Presidential nomination are not to be based upon his military career, but upon his broad experience, his administrative ability and the success he made as a representative of our government in the Philippines, in Cuba and as Chief of Staff in Washington, and then in his official relations with Roosevelt and Taft. Wood is a civilian who made a success in the army, but showed his great powers in the civil work which he did as a civil leader. Unbiased by army restraints and ruts he broke the lines and served broadly and wisely.

THE GROUPING OF NAMES of delegates in a primary election is indeed subversive of the principle of the open primary. This may be said without in any way considering the individual merits of the candidates for the convention in June.

THE EASTER SEASON BRINGS to mind the frailty of the human body and the limitations which are laid upon the powers of the human will. Man, in his endeavor, harnesses the powers of the universe to do his work and applies his skill to the mastery of the secrets of the world in which he dwells, and marvels at the reflected intelligence of a Creative Mind which he sees on every hand. He finds keys, unlocks the strongholds of nature and searches for the secrets of power and fruition, and his intelligent curiosity is often, yea regularly, rewarded. And there can be no end to the rewards which nature will yield to the inquisitive mind and the industrious spirit of man. Yet all of man's curious skill in conquering matter and shackling power as his slave, teaches only the short and bitter lesson that the hold of the skill and the power of man is but short lived.

At the most there is only a temporary sovereignty over these forces for "man's life passes as tale that is told" or "passes as the flood." "In the morning it groweth up and in the evening it withereth away." "If a man die shall he live again?" With all man's achievements in mastering the lower forces he finds within himself a hidden fire. He knows he is not a clod of the earth, nor yet a diamond, cold but glorious in its reflecting power, among the jewels of the earth.

The powers of faith, hope, love, aspiration and prayer are as real to the inner man as the forces of nature and much more sustaining. There is bread that nourishes the frame and there is bread that nourishes the life within, and man seeks the answer to the query of his life: "If a man die shall he live again?" The analogies of nature are inspiring, but not convincing, for the budding plant is not the same plant of the season that is gone. The life of the child is not the life of the parent. The crude efforts of the intellect to compel an answer to the question by the logician's art are lamentable.

One follows a vicious circle that leads nowhere. He who travels however far, nor however fast, over the surface of the earth, never can get away from the life upon the sphere. One may reason ever so boldly and convincingly with mind and argumentative skill and be as one who travels to the far country of reason and thought and never finds the answer. Man's answer must be sought by looking within and not down, up and away. He must rise with the wings of love, hope and faith to find the answer to his query.

The wish may indeed be the father to the thought, but whence came the eternal irresistible thought that baffled Job, exhilarated Isaiah, inspired the prophets of Israel and stirred the thoughts of philosophers of Greece and Rome? Plato reasoned well and sought his answer. The Egyptians sought to preserve the tenement of clay to insure a permanent habitation for the spirit. All the ages have sought the answer, but the answer of Christ stands out clearly as the answer to what "God and Man is" and to answer the question, "if a man die shall he live again," we read, "I am the Resurrection and Life." "I am come that ye may have Life and have it more abundantly." It is the vision, not the argument, the inspiration of a great faith that conquered the last enemy. Paul, the great apostle of the Church, under the sway of Christ, has said: "There is a natural body and there is a spiritual body."

The Easter thought means more than the mere continuity of human life, for the Easter thought and doctrine of Eternal Life is the tasting of the measures of life that are worthy of continuity. Easter is the soul's answer to the frailty of the human body and the persistence of unrighteousness. It is the vision of the spirit of life that abides, because it is lived worthily. Easter brings comfort to thousands of hearts because of the hope that its inspiring faith measures to the human soul. The Easter lily is the symbol of a true and an eternal life for man.

THE MATTER OF DAYLIGHT-SAVING is receiving a large amount of attention at this time. The BREEZE has consistently advocated the passage of such legislation as may be necessary to give the people this advantage. The majority of business men who spend their hours in an office, and after a busy day find themselves in a position to enjoy golfing, boating, bathing, fishing, tennis or other summer sports, would reap a great benefit from the extra hour of daylight.

The following editorial, entitled "Getting Rid of Confusion" is reprinted from the Monday evening Boston Transcript, and presents the problem in a clear manner:

"On Sunday a well-esteemed Boston newspaper rendered the daylight-saving cause in Massachusetts what was, as we think, an excellent service. For this was what it did: It laid every possible emphasis on the confused conditions which came to pass yesterday morning when New York state's clocks moved an hour ahead while the Bay State's remained an hour behind. It should be said, in all fairness, that our contemporary found in these confusions not an argument for, but an argument against, a daylight-saving law in Massachusetts. That, however, is precisely the point at which the logic of the paper in question escapes us. Why on earth the existence of confusion between New York and Massachusetts is an argument for doing one's best to perpetuate that confusion by opposing the passage of a law which would remove the confusion, we cannot see. In fact, we reject the idea altogether. Since serious discrepancies now exist, because New York has forged ahead where the Bay State lags behind, that is the best possible reason why we should get rid of confusion in the only way now open before us—namely, by passing a like law in Massachusetts.

"Let the case be made concrete and definite. One of the confusions which were so well pointed out by the article printed yesterday related to the newspaper business. It was declared that although three important newspaper trains now continue to leave Boston at 2.45 a. m., old time, the Associated Press, governed as so many of this country's largest enterprises are from headquarters in New York, has decided to operate on the new time, 'which,' said the paper, 'will bring its service out of adjustment with the trains on which we must distribute our product.' And so it certainly will—if Massachusetts continues to cling to a provincial schedule while the country's leading metropolis is on an advanced basis. So it most certainly will not, however, if we shake off our provincialism and adopt metropolitan time. While keeping their clocks on the old time the railroads will set the actual departure of their trains an hour ahead, and all will proceed with uniformity.

"The assurance that the railroads will be able to accomplish the desired uniformity, and accomplish it with all safety and convenience, has without doubt been strengthened by the plan to attach to the bill as it comes before the Senate tomorrow an amendment postponing the operation of the law until April 25. So much time had been lost in discussing the measure that it became clear that some such postponement would be advisable, in order to give the railroads and the public an opportunity to make all necessary arrangements in advance of the change. Just why a whole month should have been needed for this purpose may not at first sight appear understandable. The answer is made, however, and it is altogether acceptable, that this is about the time the railroads will require in order to prepare, and promulgate on their line, the changed schedules which they will desire to issue. Moreover, there are a number of cities in New England—including practically all the cities of New Hampshire—which, although simply waiting for Massachusetts to act before they adopt local ordinances, will need some fair allowance of time in order to get such ordinances written into their books. Again, there are other cities which have already adopted ordinances which will not take effect until April 25. The idea of the friends of the bill in Massachusetts is, therefore, that having missed the last Sunday in March the thing to do is to choose April 25 as the next succeeding day when the change can be accomplished with the most uniformity and with the least confusion.

"Plainly they are right in this. And as plainly it is by passing the amended bill in the Senate tomorrow that we shall get rid of the confusions which now exist as between New York and Boston, confusions which one of our contemporaries says now 'make a mess' not only in the newspaper business, but 'in nearly every other business' as well, and which we say ought to be remedied, not perpetuated."

THE METHODIST DENOMINATION is not made up of many very wealthy people, yet they raised last year a fabulous amount of money by every member contributing a mite. One other denomination is also making an effort to broaden its work and has discovered that a contribution of five cents per day from each of its members will make a hundred million dollar fund for the extension of the work of the organization in four years. Many a mickle makes a muckle.

THE UNPLEDGED DELEGATION is at the summons of the forces which may be at work to whip delegates into line and subvert the will of the people whom they represent. A pledged delegation affords the voter an opportunity to express his choice for the Presidential nomination. He has the right to that choice. The pledged delegation has its course plainly marked.

GOVERNOR COOLIDGE would have received the unqualified support of all Republicans for the Presidential nomination, but his judgment and wish in the matter must be accepted upon his decision. This leaves Leonard Wood as the only Massachusetts man before the voters.

SOCIETY NOTES

RENTALS for the week, reported through the office of T. Dennie Boardman, Reginald and R. deB. Boardman, of Boston and Manchester, include the following:

Amory S. Cahart, formerly of Tuxedo, now of Boston—a student at Harvard—has leased Mrs. Alvin S. Dexter's place, off Forest st., Manchester.

George Swift and family will occupy "Rose Ledge," Mrs. Randolph Frothingham's place at Beverly Farms, which they had last year.

Mrs. George D. Howard, of Washington, will have the Curtis yellow house, so-called, at Beverly Farms.

Frederick S. Stearns, of Detroit, Mich., will occupy "Ledge Leaf," the attractive bungalow on the Harris estate, Smith's Point, Manchester.

Mr. and Mrs. Amory Eliot, who have been spending the winter at Manchester, have gone to Lakewood, N. J., to pass the month of April.

The wedding of Caleb Loring, of Boston and Pride's Crossing, to Miss Suzanne G. Bailey, is announced to take place at St. George's church, Griffin, Ga., on Thursday, April 15.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter J. Mitchell are expected to reach Manchester Sunday from their winter's stay at Palm Beach, Fla.

Mr. and Mrs. William H. Coolidge, who have had an apartment at the Hotel Somerset, Boston, since closing "Blynman Farm," their delightful estate in the Magnolia section of Manchester, in the late fall, will be among the early arrivals at Manchester this month. Their younger daughter, Katherine, who attends Westover school, at Waterbury, Conn., has been spending the Easter holidays with her parents.

Mr. and Mrs. James J. Phelan, who have been spending the last two months in the south, are at White Sulphur Springs, W. Va., for a few weeks. They plan to return to Boston about the middle of this month. They are naturally quite interested to see the progress being made in the newly-purchased summer home in Manchester—formerly the J. Warren Merrill homestead. This has been all changed over the last winter, since purchasing from the John M. Graham estate. Many improvements are being made and a substantial addition has been built on. The house is being fitted with all of the comforts for cold-weather occupancy, which means that the new owners will spend a long season at Manchester—and, possibly, that they will follow the practice of many other families of coming to the North Shore for week-ends most of the winter.

The wedding last Saturday of Miss Ruby McCormick and Valentine Hollingsworth was of much interest to North Shore people, as both are well-known here. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Grigsby McCormick, of Baltimore, and a sister of Mrs. Marshal Fabyan, of Boston and Beverly Farms. The wedding was solemnized in St. Stephen's Episcopal church, Coconut Grove, Fla., by the Rev. W. B. Soper, rector. The bride was attended by Miss Mary G. Thom, of Baltimore. The best man was Benjamin P. P. Moseley, of Boston and Ipswich. The groom is a son of Zachary T. Hollingsworth, of Boston. The bride had been spending the winter in Florida, with her parents, who had a cottage there. It is understood Mr. and Mrs. Hollingsworth will spend the summer on the North Shore.

Mr. and Mrs. William H. Coolidge, Jr. (Eleanor Cole), who have had an apartment at 30 Littell rd., Brookline, the past winter, are in the vanguard of the season arrivals at Manchester this year. They are opening their house in the Magnolia section this week.

AN ENGAGEMENT of much interest to the North Shore is announced this week in the Philadelphia papers,—that of Miss Isabella Wadsworth, daughter of Rev. Dr. and Mrs. Charles Wadsworth, Jr., of Philadelphia and Magnolia, to John Sharman Zinsser, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frederick G. Zinsser, of "Locust Wood," Hastings-on-Hudson, New York. Miss Wadsworth, whose summer home all her life has been at Magnolia, is a graduate of Vassar college, class of 1916. Mr. Zinsser was graduated from Harvard in the class of 1915.

The engagement was announced a little while ago of Miss Meriel Olga Squires, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John P. Squires, of Brookline, who spend their summers in Beach Bluff, Swampscott, and Michael Cody, Jr., of Montgomery, Ala. The wedding will take place this spring.

Frank M. Boynton and family left Manchester Wednesday, after spending the winter here, in the Alexander Porter cottage, near Singing Beach. Mrs. Boynton and daughter, Betty, have gone to the Gedney Farm hotel, at White Plains, N. Y., to spend the spring. Mr. Boynton sails next week on a business trip to Europe.

"High Rock," the attractive bungalow owned by Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Silver, off Summer st., Manchester, has been leased for the season to Michael S. O'Riorden, of 256 St. Paul st., Brookline. Mr. O'Riorden will take occupancy the middle of this month.

Mrs. S. Fisher Corlies and her daughter, Miss Margaret L. Corlies, who have been spending the winter at their old home in Philadelphia—the Chestnut Hill section—will be among the earliest arrivals at Magnolia Point. They will leave Philadelphia this week, after a very gay and active winter, and after a short stay in New York and Boston they expect to arrive at "Att-Lea House," their place in Magnolia, about the middle of April.

Robert Means and family have arrived at Beverly Farms this week after spending the winter in Boston.

Mr. and Mrs. William Phillips will sail early this month for Holland, where Mr. Phillips goes to assume his new duties as Minister to Holland. Mr. and Mrs. Phillips and the former's mother, Mrs. John C. Phillips, were at Stockbridge last week, and were joined for a few days by Mrs. Andrew J. Peters, wife of Mayor Peters, of Boston, and sister of Mr. Phillips.

THE question asked by many thousands of visitors at the Boston Orchid Show last week was: "What becomes of these beautiful flowers after this exhibition closes?" Albert C. Burrage, owner of Orchidvale, at Beverly Farms, and Mrs. Burrage are now in California. A telegram from them to their son expressed the wish that the Burrage collection of orchids should be stripped of its blooms and the flowers distributed in the Boston hospitals. Mrs. Harry L. Chalifoux, Mr. Burrage's daughter, of Boston, was in charge of the distribution.

It has been Mr. Burrage's custom never to sell any flowers from his place, and this rule was strictly adhered to in the disposal of the rare specimens shown at the Orchid Show. These wonderful and lovely blooms would retail for at least $2 each at a florist's, and the gift to Boston hospitals of $20,000 worth of flowers is truly a magnificent one.

Mr. Burrage also expressed a desire that the school children be permitted an opportunity of viewing this greatest of orchid shows, believing that it would be of high educational value. Mayor Peters, after visiting the exhibition and seeing the display, agreed with the committee that the show be allowed to open Sunday forenoon, free to school children accompanied by their teachers.

The Children's hospital, in Longwood, is one of Boston's many institutions deserving of the support of the public, which is always forthcoming whenever the need arises. Last Monday afternoon the first of a series of teas was given at the hospital, to acquaint the public with its achievements and needs. Among those actively interested in the work of the hospital are the following, members of the North Shore colony: Mrs. Harold J. Coolidge, chairman of the committee on publicity; Mrs. Richard S. Russell, Junior league; Mrs. F. Lothrop Ames, lectures; Mrs. Gordon Abbott, garden contributions; Mrs. F. B. Crowninshield, summer entertainments; Mrs. Geo. H. Monks, working parties; Mrs. Gordon Abbott, films; Mrs. C. P. Curtis, Jr., literature.

The paragrapher of the Haverhill Gazette has pleased his readers with the following, which the WHISPERER is willingly reprinting for BREEZE readers:

"Along about this time of the year there comes a day when, following a zero snap, the north wind shifts to almost due south. It brings with it a balm and warmth that, if not the harbinger of spring, is at least a well-au-

What Are You Doing?

Are you keen on your work every minute of the working day?

Are you keeping as busy as you possibly can?

Are you alert to see things to be done around you that nobody seems to be doing—perhaps because nobody has been told to do them?

Are you doing the obvious thing, as it pops up unexpectedly in the day's work, without waiting to be told?

Are you improving your own methods of doing your routine work?

Are you making suggestions to your superior which may be of value and which may not have occurred to him because he is busy with his own immediate work?

Are you making yourself bigger than your job, or are you listlessly letting your job be bigger than you?

Are you using the brain that is above your ears for all it is worth, all the time?

If not, why? He who stands still is going behind, because others pass him.—The Three Partners.

Mme. Brambilla, wife of the counselor of the Italian Embassy at Washington, formerly Miss Julia Meyer, has had her statuette modeled in dancing pose by Mrs. Lithrow Osborne, and it is shown as one of a number now on exhibition in Mrs. Osborne's studio in Washington. One of the groups depicts the children of Mr. and Mrs. Grafton W. Minot, Billy and Nannie, at play, in a size that could be hidden under an ordinary silk hat. It is the fad in Washington to have these tiny statues. Mrs. Osborne, who has instituted it, was before her marriage, Countess Lillie Raben-Letvitzau, daughter of a Danish statesman and diplomat.

APRIL

The singing month. Many voices of many birds call for resurrection over the graves of flowers, and they come forth. Go, see what they have lost. What have ice, and snow, and storm done unto them? How did they fall into the earth, stripped and bare? How did they come forth, opening and glorified? Is it, then, so fearful a thing to lie in the grave? In its wild career, shaking and scourged of storms through its orbit, the earth has scattered away no treasures. The Hand that governs in April governed in January. You have not lost what God has only hidden. You lose nothing in struggle, in trial, in bitter distress.—HENRY WARD BEECHER.

DAFFODILS

We have short time to stay as you,
We have as short a spring;
As quick a growth, to meet decay,
As you or anything.
We die

Or as the pearls of morning's dew,
Ne'er to be found again.

—ROBERT HERRICK.

man recedes as he finds that after a day or so of that, and following a well-known law of nature, the spring-like days are again succeeded by burly winter.

"But the first breath of these gentle zephyrs tell a story to the folk of the wild which they interpret perfectly. As the sun drives the ice, wild wings bearing through the airways will follow the open water slowly up until the spring migration of feathered folk will be on. They follow the pioneering of the south wind with unerring accuracy. Watch the sky for the flight of geese. Watch the old garden trees for the first blue birds. They are coming soon."

We seek in the wood;

LIBRARY NOTES

New Books in Manchester Public Library

Have you forgotten a certain character in fiction or want to know about some plot, story or poem? You may gain this information from the "Reader's Handbook of Famous Names in Fiction, Allusions, References, Proverbs, Plots, Stories and Poems," by E. Cobham Brewer, L.L.D., author of "The Dictionary of Phrase and Fable."

You will find "Adventures in Inter-viewing" by Isaac F. Marcossan a very entertaining volume. He introduces you to some forty different characters, all prominent and well-known men, statesmen, literary men, soldiers, men big up in the financial world, and others.

"Rebels into Anarchy and Out Again," by Marie Gany and Nat J. Ferber, is a pathetic picture of the life lived in the Ghetto quarter of New York City. However, it is much more than that. A young Russian girl comes to America and tells of her struggles to keep from starving and the effect it had on her character. She became very much discouraged and joined the anarchists. The war came and through it she came to believe in America as her country. It is a wonderful story, as entertaining as any novel, and at the same time tells us some things we all ought to know.

"Snake Bite and Other Stories" is a new book of short stories by Robert Hichens, author of "The Garden of Allah," "Barberry Sheep," "Mrs. Marden" and other novels.

"The Shangers Banquet," by Donn Byrne, is a bit of good fiction. It is an American story. The principal character in the book, Derrith Keogh, is well worth knowing, and one that you cannot help liking.

Baroness Von Hutton, author of "Pam" and "Pam Decides" always writes good fiction. Her latest—"Happy House"—is no exception, for it is a real good novel. It is a study of family life.

"Walking-Stick Papers," by Robert Cortes Holliday, is a volume of essays. They are all very cleverly written, and make very attractive reading. Another volume of essays, by this author—"Broome Street Straws"—may be found in the library.

"Lulu Bett" is an American story by an American writer. It is an unusually good character study. It is considered by many as the best work of this author.

Next week mention will be made of some books that have not been taken

Remember when you are right you can afford to keep your temper, and when you are wrong you can't afford to lose it.

It Is Worth More to Live in 1920 Than in "The Good Old Days"

Today it is a poor egg that doesn't bring a nickle, and butter is worth 70 cents the pound. The old-timer looks back over the years. He sighs for the good old times. Eggs were 10 cents a dozen and butter 20 cents a pound.

In those days people had parlors and didn't use 'em. Now they have living rooms and wear 'em almost out.

They lighted their homes with kerosene "hanging" lamps.

Fellows took their girls out "buggy-riding" and knew nothing about the joy of a fleet motor car.

Men were paid a dollar a day on the section, and the other day laborers just a little above him, were paid ten dollars a week.

When a person had weak lungs they began to select a nice green spot in the "marble orchard" for him, and if your appendix got tangled up, they said you had inflammation of the bowels and they buried you deep.

And women wore bustles and long gummy skirts and had limbs instead of legs.

Houses were heated by stoves of one kind or another. And—bath tubs and toilet facilities there were none.

Yes, those were NOT the good old days. Let 'em keep their 10-cent eggs and their 20-cent butter. Living in 1920 is worth more than it costs, even if it costs more than it did.—Haverhill Gazette.

Weather Terms Illustrated

Maiden with a powder puff,
Dabbing here and there—
This, reported weather-wise

Hubby coming home at one,
Zig-zag course a-wending;
Weather signals in this case
Would be "Storm impending."

Baby climbing on a chair,
If she slips and falls,
It is not unlikely that There'll be "Sudden squalls."

Girl and lover have a spat,
She flings down his flowers;
Lover, angry, grabs his hat
And rushes off—that's "Showers."

Man sees tailor on the street,
Seems a trifle nettled;
Crosses to the other side—
That suggests "Unsettled."

GARDENING FOR ALL

The barber is now a rhubarber, they say;
The scholar drops Poe for potatoes today.
The old man drops cribs for cabbage,
I'm told;
The jeweler marks things "eighteen-carrot gold."
The dancer is learning what corn is, at length;
The housewives have banners, "In Onion There's Strength."
From cucumbers actors are taking their cue,
And asparagus-tips for the waiter must do!

MANCHESTER

The assessors started on their annual rounds yesterday.

Misses Bella Porter and Helen Knight have been spending the week at North Sutton, N. H.

Mrs. Robert Mitchell was over from Danvers this week calling on her mother, Mrs. Sarah Crombie, at her School st. home.

Mrs. B. J. Manion, of Tappan st., we are pleased to note, is able to be out and about again after a long illness brought on by an attack of the influenza.

The Arbella club cordially invites the boys and girls of 12 years and over to an illustrated talk on the "Boston Art Museum" by Miss Scales, in the Town hall, Manchester, April 13, at 4 o'clock.

The hours of the two picture shows to be given next Saturday for the benefit of the Manchester Woman's club are 3.30 and 8 o'clock. Tickets will be on sale at the meeting of the club next Tuesday, and also at Allen's Drug store all the week.

Manuel S. Miguel was in Gloucester last Thursday evening attending a celebration given by the Lodge of Elks of which he is a member. Congressman W. W. Lufkin was one of the guests of honor. In behalf of the lodge, 65 members who were in the service were given solid gold card cases, each one having his name inscribed thereon. Mr. Miguel was the only member from Manchester to be thus remembered.

MANCHESTER CLUB MEMBERS WILL HAVE RARE TREAT TONIGHT

The last get-together of the season, of the Manchester club, will be held this evening, and an entertainment has been arranged that will surpass anything attempted at the club the past winter.

Edwin M. Whitney, of Boston, will be the attraction. Mr. Whitney is an entertainer of merit, of attractive personality, power and ability to entertain. He will give his play, "Turn to the Right," and in this humorous play he takes the role of several characters.

Following the entertainment a special luncheon will be served, says the notice sent to members. "Bring a friend if you wish, and also take note that a subscription of 50 cents will be asked as this is the least assessment we can make for a $1.50 affair. Come! You can't afford to miss it."

WOMAN'S CLUB WILL OBSERVE HOME DAY—THRIFT TABLE

Mrs. Flora Hersey, assisted by the art committee, will be in charge of Home Day to be observed by the Manchester Woman's club on Tuesday, April 6. The program will include a lecture on costumes, illustrated by tableaux, an exhibition of Colonial articles, such as pictures, samplers, etc., and a colonial tea with Mrs. Audrey Purington as hostess.

A Thrift Table, in charge of the thrift committee, Mrs. Hattie Baker, chairman, will also be a feature of Home Day.

Every member is urged to bring her ideas and exhibits to this table, that she may show her friends her thrift in time, money, fuel, food, clothing, and energy. Let us all learn to save in peace as well as in war.

Articles for these tables may be left at the chapel between the hours of 9.30 and 11 a. m. on Tuesday, April 6.

Preceding the meeting Miss May Bliss Dickinson, chairman of Mothercraft committee of the Massachusetts State Federation, will give a short talk on this great and new work.

Miss Glayds Chapman, of Boston, was a week-end guest of Miss Dorris Knoerr.

The many friends of L. Nelson Cook will be glad to know that he is able to be out again after his recent accident.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles F. Semons, of Salem, were guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. E. J. Semons, Pine st., yesterday.

Harry Hooper is able to be out and about again, after a long illness with pneumonia, incident to an attack of the influenza.

Neil McEachern, of Coolidge Point, has gone to Washington to visit his uncle, Walter Sargent, chauffeur for D. C. Upson.

The third issue of Liberty bonds left at Manchester Trust Co. for exchange before March 25, are now ready for delivery. Please bring receipt. adv.

The class of 1920, S. H. S., will hold a supper in the vestry of the Baptist church on Thursday evening, April 8. The public is invited to patronize the class by attending.

TAXI RATES LAST TO FALL IN LINE WITH H. C. L.

People who ride in taxis in Manchester will have to pay more beginning next Monday. Last, but not least, the livery men have been forced to submit to the inevitable and henceforth they will charge more to take people home from the railroad station, or from one place to another in town. Needless to say, they have good cause for the action. The price of gasoline has gone up to double the price they used to pay when fares were less, and every other item has increased accordingly.

The minimum fare from now on—beginning Monday—will be 50c for one and 25c for each additional passenger. It will cost 50c to ride to West Manchester, but for those going as far as Highland ave., the fare will be 75c. To Smith's Point it will be 50c, while to Manchester Cove it will be $1; although the fare will be only 75c to places along through the Cove woods, so-called, as far as the Curtis ave.

The new rates are agreed to by P. H. Boyle, John J. Connors and the Perkins & Corliss garage, and will be found printed in full in another column.

Leone Bailey has entered the employ of the E. A. Lane Co.

Frank P. Knight, who was called home by the death of his brother, Geo. L. Knight, returned last Sunday to his interests in the west.

Miss Nellie Long arrived home last Saturday from her vacation trip to Holyoke and at once resumed her duties as district nurse.

William McCracken, formerly employed at the Smith's Express Co., has entered the employ of Bullock Bros., in charge of their stable and garage on Washington st.

Manchester men will remember that the Brotherhood meets in the Baptist church vestry next Monday evening, April 5. The speaker for the evening will be Walter R. Meins, of Boston, who will lecture on "The League of Nations."

Next Monday evening, April 5, is the date of the costume party to be given by the American Legion. This will be the first of a series of ten dances which the Legion plans to have this season. Committees in charge are making arrangements for a most pleasant affair.

A bulletin board was erected this week near the sidewalk, in front of the Memorial Library building, by the Manchester Woman's club, to be used for notices of interest and information to the people of Manchester. Permission to use this board, and key to same, may be obtained of Mrs. Frank A. Rowe.

At a meeting Tuesday evening of the Selectmen and the Board of Cemetery Trustees, George E. Willmonton was appointed to fill the vacancy caused by the death of the late George L. Knight. The Selectmen appointed Everett L. Edmands to serve as weigher of hay, grain and coal, and Benjamin M. Crombie, superintendent of streets.

GEORGE E. WILSON TO ADDRESS
AMARAL POST, A. L.

George E. Wilson, of Boston, department organizer of the American Legion, is to be the speaker at the meeting of Frank B. Amaral post, A. L., next Wednesday evening, April 7, at Manchester. Mr. Wilson is a veteran of five campaigns beginning with the Spanish-American war.

Invited guests for the evening will include comrades of the G. A. R., members of the S. of V., Selectmen, and representatives of the Manchester press. A light collation will be served.

BANQUET THE VICTORS

GRAND FINISH TO INTERESTING
PITCH TOURNAMENT

With a bright display of red fire and the beating of drums, the victorious members of the Sons of Veterans pitch tournament teams assembled on Manchester Common Wednesday evening, and after a short parade marched to the Odd Fellows hall, where they were guests of honor. A feature of the parade was a banner bearing the legend, "Never Were Beat, Now We Eat," and proudly carried by Curtis B. Stanley, captain of the triumphant Sons' teams.

A cock stew was served at 8.30 o'clock and was fully enjoyed by the members of the teams of the Sons of Veterans, Red Men, Odd Fellows and American Legion, substitute players, head officers of each order, members of the Manchester press, and others.

Capt. Stanley was called on for a few remarks after the supper. He responded by expressing appreciation in behalf of the members of his teams for the fine supper with which they had been freely served, mentioning the fact that the Sons had tried their best to have a chance to pay for the "feed," but their opponents had insisted on presenting them with the series! Mr. Stanley obtained information early in the tournament playing that members of the other teams had been consulting their ouija boards and were planning several moves designed to boost the standing of their respective teams. He called a meeting of his men, they had a heart-to-heart talk, enthusiasm increased and a policy of "keeping the leaders worried" was adopted. The result was that the Sons sustained their reputation of never being beaten and when the tournament was over it was the Sons who were the victors.

Capt. John Prest spoke of the fine showing made by the players of the Odd Fellows, mentioning some incidents connected with the games.

Capt. Charles E. Bell, of the Red Men, magnanimously gave due credit to the Sons of Veterans teams, evidently believing in "giving honor where honor is due." Mr. Bell expressed the idea that in his opinion a pitch tournament next year would be even more popular than it was this year.

Capt. John Coughlin, of the American Legion teams, spoke of the poor start made by the Legion, which proved a handicap too difficult to be overcome. However, the Legion has good courage and he said, "we are ready to go at 'em again any time."

It will be remembered that the Odd Fellows and the Red Men were tied for second place, each finishing with 138 games. This tie was played off Wednesday evening, the Odd Fellows winning 8 to the Red Men 7.

This was the final wind-up of one of the most interesting pitch tournaments ever staged in Manchester. The four orders competing were quite evenly matched and the winner was in doubt until the series closed.

TWO MANCHESTER GIRLS ACTIVE IN COLLEGE LIFE

Two Manchester girls are among the fifteen charter members of Kappa Omega, the second of half a dozen local sororities founded within a month at the College of Secretarial Science, of Boston university.

Miss Elsie Burgess has been elected vice-president of the sorority, of which Miss Charlotte Hartley is also a charter member.

Both girls are Freshmen in the day division of the College of Secretarial Science, the most recently established department of Boston university, which celebrated the laying of the corner stone of a $100,000 addition to the present structure on Garrison st., Boston, Wednesday afternoon, Mar. 24.

Miss Burgess took the part of "Mrs. Davis" in a one-act sketch, "Local and Long Distance," given at the parents' tea, Wednesday of last week by the dramatic club. The production, which followed the laying of the corner stone, was well given.

A very good picture of Miss Burgess appears in the initial issue of "The Secretarius," published last week by the class of 1923. She is shown in a group of four girls in the college rest room which she helped to decorate.

ADJOURNED TOWN MEETING

OTHER SALARY INCREASES—HOPE TO KEEP TAX RATE NOT MUCH
OVER $10

Manchester's adjourned town meeting was held in Town hall, Monday evening, with more than 80-odd voters present. In accordance with the new by-laws the records of the previous meeting were read, and such corrections as were necessary were made.

The first business was the matter of dredging. The Selectmen reported that after consultation with the state authorities, it was deemed wise to forego any appropriation for dredging this year. The article was passed over.

Art. 41—compensation for sewer damage. It was voted the town seek authority from the legislature to pay Frank P. and Geo. L. Knight $2500 for damages incident to right of way over their property off Beach st.; Frank P. Knight, $800, for running pipes through his property off Church st.; and R. L. Cheever, $291.44—a total of $3591.44.

Art. 43. Sewer construction on Allen ave. The privileges of the floor were granted to Mr. Cloutman, a Salem attorney, representing Daniel Edgecomb & Sons, who presented Mr. Edgecomb's claims for a total of $834.20 for balance due on contract and for work done in excess of what contract called for, it was claimed. It was voted to refer the whole matter again to the Sewer and Water commissioners, they to report at the next special or regular meeting.

Under Art. 32 $4000 additional was appropriated for the maintenance of Water department and $400 for Sewer department, because of increase in labor, voted at the previous meeting.

Under Art. 45 it was voted that the salary of Town Accountant be $1500—an increase of $100—and the pay for double teams be $1.25 per hour. It was also voted that the pay for assessors be: Chairman, $1500, other two members $500 each, for the municipal year ending Feb. 9, 1921. This was later complicated somewhat by the vote under Art. 5 to increase the appropriation for Assessors' department by $600, it being understood $500 of this would increase the chairman's salary $500, and the other two members

Under Art. 12, $16,800 additional was appropriated for Highway department, the increase being necessary because of increased cost of snow removal the past winter ($9500) and increased cost of labor as voted ($5500).

The sum of $25,000 was voted to be taken from this year's income to be set aside as the nucleus for the Memorial Town hall fund.

It was also voted that $100,000 be the amount raised by taxation this year—the same as last year.

William Parr has concluded his engagement at Perkins & Corliss garage and has entered the employ of the Regent garage for a few weeks, after which he intends to pay a visit to his former home in England.

The third degree was conferred on one candidate by the degree team at the regular meeting Thursday evening of Magnolia lodge, I. O. O. F. Refreshments of ice cream and fancy cookies were served.

Arrangements are progressing nicely for the fair to be given Friday, the 16th, and the Children's Sunlight Party on Saturday, the 17th, by Liberty lodge of Rebekahs. An entertainment is being prepared, and there will be a sale of fancy articles, aprons, pies, cakes, ice cream, etc.

The 31st anniversary of Liberty lodge of Rebekahs, will be appropriately observed on Friday evening of next week, April 9. It is expected that the lodge will entertain some of the grand officers at this meeting. A banquet will be served by an out-of-town caterer in the Town hall.

HIGH SCHOOL NOTES

MANCHESTER

Last Friday noon the Senior class honors were announced to the school. First in rank was Miss Janet Height; second, Miss Helen Beaton, and third, Mark Sinnicks. Consequently, Miss Height will be the valedictorian, Miss Beaton, the salutatorian, and Mr. Sinnicks will deliver an essay.

A committee appointed by the president of the Senior class is making plans for an all-day visit to Boston, which the class is planning to take soon after school opens. It will be the purpose of the class to visit and study as many of the historic buildings and landmarks as time permits and end the day with a theatre party in the evening.

MANCHESTER

At the costume party to be given by the Legion next Monday evening, April 5, there will be awarded a prize for the best lady's costume.

The wedding at Hudson, Wednesday, of Charles Cunningham, and Miss Viola Vlass, of Marlboro, was of interest to Manchester young people, as Mr. Cunningham had been employed here several years, previous to his going to war. Wm. McDiarmid acted as best man at the wedding. Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Craigg also attended the wedding.

HARRY W. PURINGTON LEAVES TRUST COMPANY AFTER LONG SERVICE

Harry W. Purington has resigned his position as treasurer of the Manchester Trust Co. after a long service with the bank, to become confidential secretary for Frank P. Knight, of Manchester, head of the Iron Cap Copper Co.

Mr. Purington has been with the Trust Company since May, 1911, for the first two years as teller, and since January, 1913, as acting treasurer and secretary. He has seen the bank through all its wonderful growth, until today it has deposits of nearly a million and does a big business with many of the wealthiest of people from all sections of the country who come here for the summer.

Mr. Purington will continue to make his home in Manchester, though some of his time will be spent in connection with Mr. Knight's mining interests in the west.

CROWDS AT RESORTS LAST SUNDAY—LIKE SUMMER DAY

The first spring-like day of the season, last Sunday, caused crowds of mid-June proportions to flock to the beaches, and covered roads and boulevards with a continuous stream of automobilists and pedestrians. Thousands took advantage of the balmy air and sunshine to take their first ride of the season or to spend the afternoon at the seashore.

More than 50,000 persons are estimated to have been at Revere beach in the afternoon, and the amusement centres, with the exception of the scenic railway, were open for business. Venders unboarded their windows and hung out their signs and reported a thriving trade. The boulevard was alive with automobiles.

A few of the cottagers ventured into the surf. The state bath house will be open later.

Authorities at Hull and Nantasket stated that the crowds at those resorts last Sunday led those of June. Automobile traffic was extremely heavy all along the shore.

COMMENT ON THE BOSTON THEATRES BY OUR SPECIAL CORRESPONDENT

Holy Week has been putting crimps and cramps in most of the Boston theatres the past few days. There have been some good shows in town, and as usual some that are quite mediocre. It seems impossible to have them all good all the time and North Shore people have to exercise wise discretion in their selection of amusements or they are likely to return home imbued with a sense of pessimism anent the entire pot-pourri.

The Shubert attractions may usually be regarded as dependable, but not always. Their shows have invariably been tried out and seasoned with palatable condiment before being presented to critical Bostonians. Some of their companies have not only been tried out, but are also tired out before reaching the so-called Hub of the Universe.

For example take Chu Chin Chow at the Boston Opera House. Everything seems tired but the orchestra and scenery. The costumes look very much fatigued and what is in them represent cases of acute lassitude or chronic inertia. It would take an old experienced physician to diagnose the various conditions accurately.

There is a thrill in hearing a circular saw cutting through a hard knot once or twice, but to sit for a couple of hours and hear Leo Braham's and Al Howson's voices cutting through their lines and trying to sing Chinese in English would make one yawn and yawn for a cold pint of Piper or Widow Cliquot.

Sincerely, there is a better show over on Tremont st. at the Waldorf—twenty or more fresher and prettier girls, good singing, dancing and snappy comedy at one fourth the price.

GREAT MOTOR BOAT SHOW NOW GOING ON

The Motor Boat and Engine Show at Mechanics Building, Boston, now being conducted under the auspices of the New England Engine and Boat Association, Inc., and the personal direction of Chester I. Campbell, embraces pretty nearly everything of interest to the motor boat enthusiast. There are seventy-six exhibitors who have come from almost as many different parts of the country—some 2000 miles, which indicates unparalleled enterprise and activity in the motor boat industry.

And why should there not be a quintessence of life in the game? Here we've been waiting six years for anti-aquatic conditions to fade away. Last year opportunities for this exhilarating sport began to improve, but it had been knocked out so long that the "thrill of life along her keel" was in a state of chronic torpidity.

The George Lawley & Son Corporation, of Neponset, are exhibiting two sister speed cruisers, one of which sold yesterday for $12,000. They are a pair of stunners, with solid red mahogany finish. When you know that a rough mahogany board one foot wide, an inch thick and ten feet long, is worth five dollars, it seems like sheathing a boat with five dollar bills. Rather expensive scenery.

Someone up here on the North Shore is bargaining for one of the airplanes, but the time was too limited to ascertain whether the party was interested in the Curtiss of Whittamore-Hamm.

The show passes out at 10.30 tomorrow evening. Director Campbell always has the best of music at his expositions, but the enjoyment of this event is augmented by twelve of the best-known orchestricians in the Boston Federation, and they play all the latest and best musical hits most of the time.

POLITICAL STRAWS

A poll of the college professors throughout the country shows them to be almost 3 to 1 in favor of the nomination of Leonard Wood for President at the Republican National Convention. Three hundred and ten voted for Wood's nomination, with Governor Lowden second with 107 votes. Wood led Senator Harding in the latter's home state, Ohio, 20 to 8; Governor Lowden led Wood in the former's home state, Illinois, by only 5 votes.

Preston W. R. C. will hold another public whist party in G. A. R. hall next Monday evening.

Miss Anna Paige, of Willimantic, Conn., has spent the past week at Beverly Farms visiting friends.

Mr. and Mrs. Roy N. Goodwin, of Pittsfield, Me., have been among the visitors at Beverly Farms the past week.

Miss Gertrude L. Fay, of Roxbury, is spending her vacation at Beverly Farms, the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Howard E. Morgan, West st.

Thomas McKenzie has given up his position as clerk at Hardy's grocery and provision store and has gone to work at his trade, that of painting.

The board of assessors have started their annual work at Beverly Farms making a canvass and getting information for use in preparing the 1920 taxes.

Miss Helen Donnelly, of Clinton, spent last week-end at Beverly Farms the guest of Mr. and Mrs. James E. McDonnelly. Miss Donnelly formerly lived here.

Police Officer Calvin L. Williams is doing police duty at the United Shoe Machinery plant in Beverly, incident to the strike. His beat here is being covered by different officers sent down from the city proper.

A whist party in aid of the bazaar for the diocesan centre has been arranged by the local committee and is to take place at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Frank I. Lamasney, on the evening of April 8, from 8 to 10.

Preston W. R. C. will be represented by a number of delegates at the department convention to take place at the Shawmut Congl. church, corner Tremont and West Brookline sts., Boston, next Tuesday and Wednesday.

An old landmark is being removed, —the old Low stables on Vine st. These have been unoccupied for several years. They are now being torn down by an out-of-town party who is disposing of the material to those who wish to buy. In years past, before the days of the automobile, this stable was one of the busy places on the North Shore.

The display of orchids by Albert C. Burrage won the gold and silver medals and first class certificates of merit for individual plants besides many first prizes at the Boston Orchid Show last week. To Douglas Eccleston and George Ianson, the orchidologists, who arranged the Burrage exhibition, unstinted praise was given by the thousands of visitors at the show.

TESTS FOR "BAD" MONEY

A COIN THAT RINGS IS NOT NECESSARILY GENUINE

"All that glitters is not gold," or, to put it truthfully, not all that glitters is gold. Likewise it may be said in the same trite way that not all that jingles is good coin.

Certain fallacies, deep-seated in the minds of the people, are the cause of considerable difficulty in handling money, according to Capt. Thomas E. Halls, of the United States Secret Service. One of these fallacies, says the captain, is the idea that good coin can be detected from bad coin by the ring that results when the coin is jingled on a counter. Another fallacy, he says, is the belief that genuine government notes or bank notes may be identified solely by the appearance of silk threads within the paper.

A coin that rings is not necessarily genuine and a note containing silk threads may be counterfeit, according to Capt. Halls, and facts given by him in proof of these assertions are facts unknown to the average person.

Genuine Coins May Lack Music

One seldom takes serious thought of counterfeiters during the busy hours, but when one does occasionally decide to test the genuineness of a coin, he flips it on a counter and if there is music in it he is satisfied. This is no test, inasmuch as counterfeiters have learned to put music in even the crudest of imitations. Furthermore, many genuine coins have lost their musical tone or never had such a tone.

The music in coins comes from the metal crystals inside the coin. This crystalline formation may be observed when a piece of metal is broken. Whatever disturbs the crystals may impair or destroy the music or ring of the metal.

Genuine vs. Counterfeit

In making genuine coins an ingot of metal is rolled into strips of the thickness of the coin and from these strips, discs or planchets, the size of the coin, are cut out. The planchets are passed under a die that cuts the engraving on the faces of the coin and the corrugation on the edge. The edges of the good coins are well defined and symmetrical, while those of the molded counterfeit coins are the opposite.

In rolling the ingots into strips the metal often does not anneal or stick together in places, and should such a place become the center of a coin, that coin will not ring. Although the planchets are inspected and the edges carefully examined for flaws, it is not uncommon for a slight flaw to be passed because it is invisible at the time of inspection. Such flaws generally will become enlarged and the coin will show a crack after much handling. Such a coin thereafter will appear to many to be counterfeit, although it is good.

A heavy blow on a good coin will rob it of any ring it might have had. Also, coins that have been in a safe that has passed through a severe fire generally will have lost their ring for the reason that the heat will have run together the crystals of the metal.

Detect Bad Coin by the Feel

The one dependable way of detecting a bad coin is by the feel. By practice one soon learns that in rubbing a silver coin the fingers stick slightly to the surface of the coin, while the spurious coin has somewhat the feel of soapstone and permits the fingers or thumb to pass over it easily.

As to the test for genuine government banknotes, it is a mistake to believe that a genuine note always contains silk threads and that a counterfeit note does not. As a matter of fact, counterfeiters usually put more silk threads in their bills than the government does, and very few counterfeit bills are found now without the silk threads or without their being cleverly simulated by ink lines. Government notes bearing a star-pointed seal and signed by F. E. Spinner as treasurer do not contain threads.

Care Must be Exercised

Care will save most persons from accepting spurious coins, for such coins are usually the crude product of ordinary molds. More careful attention is necessary to detect the counterfeit note, although no counterfeit note has yet been made in perfect semblance of the genuine. — Indianapolis News.

The mild looking man in a frock coat, and with straggling whiskers, stopped at the busy City Salesman's desk.

"I—I—er—beg your pardon," he said, "but you sell all kinds of paper here, do you not?"

"Well, then," continued the visitor, "I'd like to look at some good, stylish wall paper."

The City Salesman cleared his throat.

"Certainly," said he, "our very best brand is right in sight—glued to these walls."

CIVIC BETTERMENT AND HIGH TAXES

A few years ago a suburban town near New York undertook in the name of civic betterment to collect the ashes from the homes of its residents.

A municipal department was formed for the purpose, a superintendent was hired, the necessary equipment of wagons and horseflesh was bought and the great improvement was put in operation, the tax rate rising without a tremor.

Two men took the ash cans from the cellar doors of the townsfolk, carried them to the waiting wagon, emptied them into it and returned them work, was borne good naturedly by the population.

Today the municipal collection of ashes is a fixture in this town, but it is a much more impressive affair than it was in its earlier days.

Instead of two men calling for the ashes, six are needed to perform that important function.

One drives the horse.

Two boldly enter the back yard and escort the ash can to the sidewalk.

Two others assist in lifting the can to the wagon box and help the ashes fall into it.

Two more take the empty can back to its appointed resting place.

It is a splendid and inspiring sight to see these well trained men function in perfect unison in this notable public service. Particularly it pleases the taxpayers.

Naturally the old ladies who cannot afford men of all work in their homes still have to lug the ashes up the cellar stairs and then carry the empty cans down.—New York Sun.

OLD HOUSES

"The Glamour of Their Quaint and Stately Ways"

By LILLIAN McCANN

Colonial Days

Have you ever felt the glamour
Of the old Colonial days—
Old mahogany, old manners,
Old time folks and old time ways.
When stateliness and courtesy
Were somehow in the air,
And Chippendale—the master—
Knew how to make a chair.
When from the dusky corners
Soft light of candles beamed,
And on the ancient sideboard
Blue bowls of India gleamed.
Have you never loved the luster
Of the silks that softer face
To a dream of vanished roses
Woven in an old brocade?
Far away from rush and clamor
Lie those old Colonial days;
Still about us drifts the glamour
Of their quaint and stately ways.
—Selected.

"PATRIOTISM, when it leads to war and desolation, ceases, in my opinion, to be a virtue; but when it leads men and women to the revival and preservation of worthy traditions and institutions, and to the study of history, of folk literature and music and the industrial arts, it becomes a positive, constructive force for good in the onward march of civilization.

forefathers. In the midst of our modernism and commercialism we need an injection of that sort of patriotism and national pride which is born of ancestor worship and the backward glance. We need to cultivate a finer appreciation of our historic and artistic heritage."

So says Walter A. Dyer, in his "Early American Craftsmen."

Hardly any spot is richer than the North Shore in opportunities offered to study American antiques. Essex Institute with its complete collection of the past; the Ropes house and other old-time houses in Salem, Marblehead, Beverly, Gloucester and the inland towns, all contribute a varied and instructive atmosphere of the days of our forefathers.

Rich Collections of Antiques

No wonder that the cottages of the summer folk show rich collections, in many instances, of some of America's rarest antiques. Old silver, Paul Revere silverware, glassware, Windsor chairs, pewter, samplers, rugs, clocks, chests and hosts of other things from America as well as overseas may be seen in these summer houses.

In the old houses of the North Shore that are open for exhibition history is made more vital by seeing rooms arranged actually, as far as possible, as they were in olden times.

But in the houses of many of the Shore folk are restored mantels, dishes and the like of old design, and bits of furniture which cannot help but impress one with the thought that Shore people are turning their attention toward the collection of "Americana" as Dyer suggests in his book.

Amos A. Lawrence, of Beaver pond, North Beverly, has, perhaps, done as much as any other Shore resident, to foster the study of American antiques. We all know that Mr. Lawrence's mania for collecting has enriched the Shore with one of its prettiest shops—one where we may purchase antiques personally collected by its owner—(although it is understood the shop will not be open the coming summer).

At Home to Our Ancestors

And then the restored houses on the Shore! Our ancestors might well feel at home if by chance they should roam in them some night.

Good examples on the Shore of such dwellings are the places of H. P. McKean, Jr., and Q. A. Shaw McKean, in the Wenham Neck and Beverly sections; the Roger Sherman Warner house, Argilla rd., Ipswich; the several restored houses in Hamilton, planned by Mrs. John B. Moulton, and occupied by the Gerard Bements, A. C. Burrage, Jr., Mrs. N. S. Simpkins and others. The house of Arthur Little, the architect, in Beverly Farms, is also a good type of what can be done with the old house. About the latest restored house is that into which Mr. and Mrs. Bayard Tuckerman, Jr., moved last August, in Hamilton.

The House and the Road

The little Road says Go,
The little House says Stay:
And oh, it's bonny here at home,
But I must go away.

The little Road like me,
Would seek and turn and know;
And forth I must, to learn the things
The little Road would show!

And go I must, my dears,
And journey while I may,
Though heart be sore for the little House
That had no word but Stay.

Maybe, no other way
Your child could ever know
Why a little House would have you stay,
When a little Road says, Go.

— Josephine Preston Peabody.

"Let us learn to be content with what we have. Let us get rid of our false estimates. Set up all the higher ideals—a quiet home; vines of our own planting; a few books full of the inspiration of a genius; a few friends worthy of being loved, and able to love us in return. A hundred innocent pleasures that bring no pain or remorse; a devotion to the right that will never swerve; a simple religion empty of all bigotry, full of trust and hope and love—and to such a philosophy this world will give up all the empty joy it has."—DAVID SWING.

SAVE MONEY ON MEAT

Here is a real thrift recipe for a tasty, nutritious dish prepared from less costly meat. It is issued by the Division of Women's Activities, Department of Justice. Use this recipe and save money on meat.

Pork and Sauerkraut

2 pounds spareribs
2 cans sauerkraut

Seasoning

Wash spareribs and place in roaster. Bake in moderate oven for 1½ hours, after seasoning well with salt, pepper and any other additional seasoning desired. Heat the contents of 2 cans of sauerkraut. Arrange spareribs on platter and surround with sauerkraut.

Baked Stuffed Flank Steak

Flank steak (about two pounds)

1 cup crumbs
½ cup water or stock
1 teaspoon salt
1-4 teaspoon pepper
½ small onion chopped fine
1 small carrot, turnip
½ cup celery

Wipe steak, remove skin and lay out flat for stuffing. Make a dressing of stock, salt, pepper, onion and a small amount of celery and spread on the meat. Roll with the grain so that when cut it may be cut across the grain of the meat. Place the diced vegetables in roasting pan and on this layer of vegetables lay the meat, and add two or three cups of water, depending upon size of pan. Cover and bake three hours, or until tender. When cooked remove meat and thicken broth.

Beef Goulash

This may be made from the chuck. Cut the beef into cubes or slices and sprinkle with vinegar and a little summer savory. Add a teaspoonful of salt, and half teaspoonful of paprika; cook six onions for each two pounds of meat, slowly, in one-fourth of a cup of butter or butter substitute. Add the cooked onions to the meat, cover tightly, and cook slowly for about two hours. The liquid may be increased just before serving by the addition of a little beef stock, or either sweet or sour cream.

Savory Beef

2 pounds beef cut in size for serving (use plate, shank, rump or round)
3 large onions sliced
3 tablespoons lard
3 tablespoons flour
1 teaspoon salt
1-4 teaspoon black pepper
1 pint brown stock or boiling water and meat extract
1-4 teaspoon ground cloves and thyme or summer savory
2 tablespoons vinegar
1 tablespoon catsup

Brown onions slowly in lard. Increase the heat. Add meat and brown. Mix the flour, pepper and other seasonings. Sprinkle this mixture over the meat. Add the stock, vinegar and catsup. Cover closely. Simmer until meat is tender, allowing two hours for shank or plate and 1½ hours for rump or round.

Browned Pig's Feet

1 can beets
6 pig's feet
1 egg
½ cup crumbs

Butter or butter substitute

Crumb the pig's feet and brown in butter or butter substitute. Arrange in casserole and bake, basting with high-grade table sauce and butter. Serve in casserole, having 1 can beets, which have been heated, surrounding the pig's feet.

Brain Rissoles

2 cups brains (or 1 whole brain)
3-4 teaspoon salt
2 tablespoons chopped green pepper
½ cup thick white sauce

Put brains into a bowl of cold water with salt for 30 minutes, skin and remove fibre. Cook in water to cover 15 minutes. Drain, chop, or put through a meat grinder, add seasoning and white sauce. Form into small balls; roll sheet of pie paste or short biscuit dough quite thin. Place the balls in a row equal distances apart. Place another sheet of paste over all. Stamp out with round cutter or cut them apart and press upper and lower crusts together. Bake in a moderate oven. Brown in deep, hot vegetable frying medium.

NASHUA WOOLNAP BLANKETS

THERE'S a Nashua Woolnap Blanket for every member of the family. Nashua Woolnap Blankets are handsome and strong and moths will not touch them. Every pair is factory wrapped after rigid inspection, reaching you fresh and dainty. You will find them a comfort and delight.

THE Nashua process by which each blanket is napped to give uniform warmth and beauty is based on Nature's principle. Fur, wool or feathers have no warmth in themselves. It's the tiny air spaces between the canary's feathers, which hold in the bodily warmth. So will the deep nap of Nashua Woolnap Blankets hold in bodily heat of the sleeper and keep him in warm luxury the night long.

WOOLNAP Blankets come in all sizes to fit any bed, many dainty patterns, also tans and grays. Suitable for camps, boats and summer cottages.

Now is the time to buy Nashua Woolnap Blankets and WEBBER'S is the best place.

Bedding and Hardy Plants

It is nearing Spring and time to think of planting. Orders should be placed with your florist in advance this season as the demand will exceed the supply. We are growing thousands of bedding plants such as geraniums, heliotrope, petunias, fuchsias, perriwinkle, begonias and quite a number of other kinds that are used mostly for outdoor planting and window boxes.

We also offer hardy plants such as larkspur, canterbury bells, iris, paeonies, lupin, foxglove and pansies. Tubs of hydrangeas and box trees to sell or let for the season.

At all times our ideas and experience are at your service, either in helping you in choosing, or in taking entire charge of your landscape planting.

Call or telephone; we are always pleased to be of assistance to you, and to give you the benefit of our suggestions.

SOCIALISM IS A MENACE to the progress of our country, as are those who hold radical opinions relative to the methods of administering the economic resources of the nation and the mode of government. The fundamental impulses of the "honest" socialist to work out a beneficent economic and governmental theory that will afford the oppressed both economic and governmental liberties, may be honorable and good; but the socialist's intentions cannot justify his doctrines, nor his honesty undo the evil of his fallacious reasonings. Radical socialists ally themselves and propagate their specious doctrine, which finds justifiable opposition in the reasonings and activities of the larger part of the American people.

The American people favor the discussion of economic and governmental freedom and are jealous of the maintenance of free speech. Americans seek for the solution of the economic problems, which would alleviate suffering and establish justice and equity. Opposition to socialism is not an opposition to the desire to establish justice, economic and governmental freedom among all men.

Americans are not opposed to the honorable intentions of "honest" men who seek to right wrongs, but Americans are opposed to radical socialism, because its doctrines are based upon false standards of living, specious argument and subvert loyalty to the recognized institutions of government whereby the pursuit of happiness and the rights of opportunity are afforded to all. Radical socialism does not bring peace, but a sword; not freedom, but slavery; not release from burdens, but the laying of heavier ones upon the people whom they seek to free.

The socialist believes that all he has to do is to permit the operation of the laws, principles and doctrines which they promulgate, and the muck of oppression and injustice will be washed away as the Augean stables were cleansed by the ancient hero in the turning of the course of a river by a day's work. Opponents of socialism see the folly of the millenium claims, the injustice of the methods of operation based upon the false economic and governmental principles, and are opposed, not to the ideals for making social progress, but to the methods that will work harm to the individuals, including the socialists, and the nation. One very marked weakness of the reasoning of the group is the fostering spirit of disloyalty which is apparent everywhere.

The socialist does not make a good citizen with his obnoxious doctrines. He begins by being disloyal to those with whom he labors and ends by being disloyal to his nation. It is not surprising that the animosity aroused, in after-war times, resulted in such a drastic action by the legislature of a neighboring state. The purpose of the legislators was to express their irrepressible opposition to any suggestion of disloyalty to the nation, but there is an open question as to whether the best course was followed. The number of votes expelling the members was so large that they had no opportunity to succeed in their nefarious work. Does not opposition always tend to aid the opposition? It is advertisement which is welcomed! Oppression always commands sympathy and some progress may be made by socialists if their doctrines are sugar-coated by surface truisms covering false doctrines and if there is a vigorous opposition.

The liberty of speech much be maintained. Americans believe that the false doctrines will be punctured by the shrewd common sense of the thinking people and there is no easier or quicker way of driving the false idea out than to give it free opportunity for expression. Socialism can never succeed because of its radical and unjust program, and a full statement of the ends and means of this school will be undone the quicker by giving a full opportunity for all to see and hear. The sunlight alone can clean the filth of stagnant streams. Let the light in! Socialism will be its own undoing.

THE 19TH OF APRIL marks the real beginning of the season upon the Shore. It is a holiday which comes at the opening of the season and presents favorable opportunities for early season visits and the arrangement for summer plans. This year there is the added attraction of a long week-end with the 19th being observed upon Monday.

THE INCREASED COSTS of building material and the increased charges for labor have made it difficult for everyone to make provision for alterations in houses and buildings, whether one owns only an humble cottage or has the care of an estate. There are many who are being deceived constantly by vain prospects of changed conditions to come when the prices for stock and the expenses for labor are reduced. It is not the better part of wisdom to sacrifice property when repairs are necessary. It is difficult to readjust one's affairs to the newer scale of prices. It is evident that there is a time in the care of property when it is negligence to permit it to weather if it needs paint, or to deteriorate if it needs repair. Wise owners are carefully considering problems of thrift on every side with the result that this year needed repairs and progressive work is being done on estates along the Shore. During the war years painting, construction work and repairs were passed because of the conditions; but now the wisdom of constructive repairing is apparent to the most careless observer. The neglect of the paint on a building is a particularly unwise policy under the present conditions, for the prices for labor to painters is less than in most of the other mechanical lines and every dollar invested in paint is a contribution to the preservation of the building. The false economy of allowing deterioration of property is recognized. This year this attitude of mind accounts for the efforts being made to keep the property on the Shore well painted and in good repair.

TO THE TOIL AND EXPENSE of shoveling snow must be added the unusual expense of clearing up forest floors.

THE ATTORNEY-GENERAL'S DECISION against "circle" voting will in no wise affect the election of the leaders of the Republican party to the national convention, but it will establish a precedent that in the future will prevent the election of men, not otherwise possible by the grouping plan. The method defeats the initial right of all to make personal choices. Neither group voting nor individual voting can eliminate the evils of "bullet" voting. Against this practice, which is unwittingly indulged in by many and deliberately practiced by others there appears to be no remedy. It is a man's privilege to vote for whom he will.

THE UNITED STATES, Great Britain and France, with Italy, should unite in negotiations to liberate Armenia from all restraints which are now placed upon her national integrity. The assurance of national integrity to all nations, however small, was one of the underlying principles assured by the allied success in the late war. The rape of Schleswig Holstein and Alsace-Lorraine must not be repeated by the allied powers, by permitting an unjust decision of the Armenian question. The President's position relative to Armenia should be sustained by the American people and by the governments of Great Britain, France and Italy. There is fear, however, that the program announced will be followed, one part of Armenia going to France, a second part of Armenia to the Kurds under a British mandate, a third part to the Turks, and a final portion to the Armenians. The last part of Armenia, practically shutting off Armenia from her "littorals on both the Black and Mediterranean seas, is land-locked, and comprises only one-tenth of the Turkish Armenia and parts of Caucasus Armenia."

An arrangement was made by France and Great Britain under what was called the Sykes Picot Treaty by which part of Armenia, Cilicia and parts of Armenia Minor and Major were assigned to France. This treaty is date 1916—before America entered the war. After America entered the war a new order existed and a new spirit was evident, for on January 5, 1918, Lloyd George announced that the recognition of Armenia's claims would constitute one of Great Britain's war claims. Mr. Balfour said on July 11, in the House of Commons, that "His Majesty's government is following with earnest sympathy and admiration the gallant resistance of the Armenians in defense of their liberties and honors." M. Clemenceau on the 21st of July, 1918, said, "The spirit of self-abnegation of the Armenians, their loyalty toward the allies, their contributions to the Foreign Legion, to the Caucasus front, and the Oriental Legion have strengthened the ties that connect them with France."

It is thus apparent that the minds of the leaders of the British and French nations had set aside, at least in thought, the provisions of the earlier treaty. It is apparent that the failure of the original allies to win the war, and the entrance of America with her ideas and aims, provided a new condition that demanded recognition, which apparently was officially recognized by the British and French governments. Shall Great Britain's expressions of interest in justice for Armenia be denied, and a partition of Armenia be tolerated on the basis of the original compact?

The United States cannot approve any such arrangement and President Wilson's position should have the support of the British and French people upon the statements made by Lloyd George, Balfour and Clemenceau. The war has been won and the strong idealism that inspired the peoples of all lands then must not be allowed to perish. Great Britain and France, as well as the United States, are under a moral as well as a legal obligation to "place the Armenian nation among the people whose fate the allies intend to settle according to the supreme laws of humanity and justice." This last quotation is by M. Clemenceau. To do otherwise would betray the nations into the same guilt that ended in the undoing of Germany. The partition of Alsace and Lorraine from France must not be repeated by unjust territorial separations in Armenia.

The Armenia situation has been a terrible one for over a generation, and the nations have been powerless to stop the cruelties of the Turks. Now the opportunity has come and it must not be sacrificed to opportunism or land greed. The high principles of justice, national integrity and international honor must be operative. If not, the fatal steps made in injustice will inevitably sow the seed of new dissension, that may inevitably lead to new wars. Justice and righteousness must prevail in the settlement of all post-war problems. To the most careless thinker it must be apparent that Armenia has been sinned against and that the time has now come to place the Turk where he can no longer menace, and to establish the Armenians, safely, in their own land, protected by the powers.

THE ESTATE OWNER has found a labor problem with the coming of spring.

THE NEGLECT ON THE PART of our nation to ratify the treaty, places the nation constantly in embarrassing situations with the powers overseas. Now the investigation of the soviet operations in Russia has apparently demanded that a commission be appointed to investigate the doctrines, principles and methods of operation. The United States has been requested to cooperate in the appointment of a member of the commission. Such an appointment cannot, however, make the appointee an official member of the commission; he would be a non-participating member, an unofficial representative without power, an observer for the United States government. In an emergency or in the routine of active duties, the representative would be entirely without authority from this government or with the other members of the commission. The man appointed would find himself in uncomfortable relations at all times because of his "nondescript" capacity, a sort of official governmental reporter. Inasmuch as the non-participation of the government in the League of Nations makes it impossible for the government to appoint a full representative, the State department is sparing itself, the allies and the unfortunate appointee from much embarrassment by courteously declining to send an observer. No other action could honorably be undertaken at this time. The embarrassment under which the allies are working is very apparent. In making the tentative suggestion of appointing an observer they had gone the limit in their efforts to seek and obtain the cooperation of the American people. The situation prevents it and the United States through its State department has taken the only action that the situation could command.

GREAT BRITAIN, FRANCE and the United States may have differences of opinion, but it is one of the axioms of cooperation that the war has taught that no serious differences must be permitted to arise. The German menace is over, but there is still a sullen spirit permeating the empire. Germany would rejoice in a break between America and Great Britain.

THE OBSERVANCE OF MEMORIAL DAY will have a significance this year that it has not had for many years, for the heroes of the late war are added to the list of the loyal veterans who have served the nation. The young men that are now united with the American Legion will cooperate with the veterans of the Civil war and the lessened ranks of the army of the Civil war will be augmented by the young men of the American Legion. When the last veteran has crossed over, the loyal ministrations of the veterans of the Civil war will be cared for by the loyal members of the legion. To this policy the organization has been committed.

THE ACTION of the great metropolitan stock exchange in stopping trading in a certain "stock" because of conditions which the governors disapproved, is a step toward the elimination of unworthy trap stock manipulation.

THE THREATENED DIFFICULTIES between Japan and China over Shantung are being adjusted. All of the indirect communications have been made satisfactory to both participants. Soon the direct negotiations will be begun and the threatening difficulties in this part of the world will have been adjusted by peaceful communications and diplomacy.

PRESIDENT WILSON has scored another victory in Fiume and in the adjustment of the Adriatic question. The President's success is the success of America and every American must rejoice in his skill, however one may differ with him concerning methods and policies.

THE COAL HAS AGAIN increased in price because of increased costs. Let it be hoped that the increases have made a material increase in the comforts and hours of service of the men who break the coal in the bowels of the earth and who deliver it to our homes and industries.

Breezy Briefs

Prof. Goddard, of Clark college, Worcester, inventor of a sky rocket which he hopes will reach the moon, says he has had applications from nine men who wish to take the trip on the rocket. "The first 100 miles would be the hardest," says the professor. This is similar to the consolation offered the soldier recruit: "The first 100 years in the army are the hardest, after that you're all right."

Easterly winds are not welcome on Easter day, as was evidenced last Sunday when rain and snow interfered with the annual fashion parade.

Nearly six millions of dollars will be spent next year for the shoe bill of the army. Heads of families having several small children will be able to sympathize with the government.

The lower house of the Delaware legislature voted against equal suffrage, 23 to 9. The antis put the "Delay" in Delaware.

News from the Restaurant Men's association that "the price of food is coming down" is encouraging and comforting. Bulletins from Washington announced long ago that "the peak of high prices had been reached," but somehow or other The public has more confidence in statements from restaurateurs, shoemen clothiers, etc., because they told us the prices on everything was going up. And they were right. As prophets their record is perfect.

April showers increase the sales of rubbers and umbrellas.

The despatch from London stating that custom-made suits are selling at from $9.25 to $14.50 reads like a fairy story. Mr. Mallaby-Deeley, millionaire member of Parliament, is at the head of the concern making the clothing, and it is said that he claims to be getting a profit on each suit.

Forty-one persons were killed by automobiles on the streets of New York during the month of March, according to a report of the National Highways Protective association. This calls to mind the story of the small boy who was asked the meaning of the Scriptural phrase: "The quick and the dead." He explained that the quick were those who jumped out of the way of the automobiles and the dead were those who did not.

Saturday marked the 83d anniversary of the birth of John Burroughs, the famous naturalist. Mr. Burroughs gave the world the following message on that day: "Keep cheerful and get out more and better newspapers, that the world may be benefited."

Caproni, an Italian, inventor of an airplane which he claims will carry 500 people, is in the United States. Has he come here to try to interest that many people to take a ride in his machine?

It is said that the number of women who have immigrated to this country the past few months exceeds the number of men. During the past few weeks the women have outnumbered the men about three to one. It is reasonable to suppose that the possibility of equal suffrage is attracting the women from across the ocean.

SUGGESTIONS ABOUT WILD FLOWERS

Flower Observation, Planting and Picking

If you care for wild flowers it is worth while to know what flowers and flowering shrubs grow in your own neighborhood and to learn their habits. This means going to see them much as one goes to see one's friends. If you visit and record a wild flower spot in the wood, pasture or bog you can watch the progress of particular plants and keep a calendar of their time of blossoming.

You can see what plants are likely to grow near each other; which plants grow in full sunshine; which in shade and which in half-shade. In such a wild flower spot you can make drawings of flowers that are very beautiful where they grow and quickly fade after picking. If you cannot draw the flowers perhaps you can photograph them and you can make a ground plan of the little area with the different plants and their dates of blossoming marked on it.

Soon you will learn to know by the look of a place what you may expect to find growing and blossoming there and what sort of soil they are springing from.

You can watch, year by year, the increase or decrease of especially interesting or rare plants, and you can collect seeds from some of them to plant in other appropriate places, but to do this you must know the plant and its habits well.

A very few seed vessels will usually supply enough seeds for such an experiment. If this is to be successful the seeds should be carefully dried in the house before planting and the place should be very carefully chosen to be as nearly as possible like the place where the plants grew. Then the place should be watched and protected, taking special care to weed out witchgrass and coarser growth.

Different plants need different picking. Some may be picked freely and will last in the house and are decorative; others, very lovely while growing, fade quickly when picked and at best are ineffective for decoration. Most garden flowers have been cultivated because they are good for decoration and do not soon fade. But let us remember

(a) That what we have picked and carried away can no longer be enjoyed by anyone else in the place which they made beautiful.

(b) That although it is tempting and easy to pick a place clean of every wild flower growing there and thus make a good bunch to carry away, we shall probably have a great many withered flowers by the time we reach home.

(c) That, most of all, there will not be enough flowers left in that place to go to seed and make it beautiful again next year.

THE FIRE PLACE

Quiets Jangled Nerves—Banishes Unpleasant Memories

By LILLIAN McCANN

His wee bit ingle blinkin bonilie,
His clean hearthstane, his thrifty
wifie's smile,
The lisping infant prattling on his knee,
Does a' his weary cark and care beguile
And makes him quite forget his labor and his toil.

—Robert Burns.

THE fireplace is the "heart of the house." Nothing about the house can give more joy and comfort than a good fireplace. Of course we are thinking of house furnishings when we make such a statement.

A fireplace helps change a house into a home. It helps give cheer and comfort, the vital part of any home. To do this the best it must be one of the old-fashioned, deep-seated kind. Of this kind it is said:

"There is a real magic—good magic—in the right kind of a fireplace. There is power in its leaping flames to soothe the most tired spirit, to quiet the most jangled nerves, to banish unpleasant memories and the petty irritations of every-day life. And the dreams, the memories, the ambitions in its glowing embers.

"The fireplace is the very spirit of hospitality. It is the heart of the home, a priceless possession, and the most powerful inanimate factor in home building. And from a healthful point of view an open fireplace is invaluable. It furnishes the most perfect ventilation possible to obtain when the windows are closed during cold weather."

One writer says: "No light is more becoming to pretty women, and yet how seldom is the pretty American woman seen in it. I'll lay a wager that most British wooing is done before the open fire."

Can one ever forget that matchless description of a New England fireside scene painted by Whittier? With him we sit:

"Shut in from all the world without,
We sat the clean-winged hearth about,
Content to let the north-wind roar
In baffled rage at pane and door,
While the red logs before us beat
The frost-line back with tropic heat;
And ever, when a louder blast
Shook beam and rafter as it passed
The merrier up its roaring draught
The great throat of the chimney laughed;
The house-dog on his paws outspread
Laid to the fire his drowsy head,
The cat's dark silhouette on the wall
A couchant tiger's seemed to fall;
And, for the winter fireside meet,
Between the andirons' straddling feet,
The mug of cider simmered slow,
The apples sputtered in a row,
And, close at hand, the basket stood
With nuts from brown October's wood."

"Hearth and home!" How much sweetness and joy in these simple words! To us the hearth signifies fireplaces and chimneypieces. Not necessarily to the ancients, however. They were a chimneyless lot and for their best rooms used brasiers for heating. The hot coals from great outside fires were placed within the brasier. It was then brought into the center of a room and the group gathered around it for work or talk.

The general way of warming their rooms was by means of a wood or charcoal fire placed on a stone or in a slight depression, in the center of the rooms. The smoke passed out through an opening in the roof or else through doors and windows. Occasionally these hearths were placed next a wall.

A study of the evolution of the "hearth" from the Indian fires, methods of semi-nomadic tribes, hut dwellers, mound-like enclosed stoves or fires of various countries, Roman and Greek brasier and open, chimneyless hearth method, down to the present would be of much interest.

From the building of a fire on a flat, open stone it was seen that better results could be obtained by making it in a receptacle formed by a back wall and two side wings. Less danger of the fire spreading was found in this method. Hence evolved after a long process the fireplace and chimney as we know them.

In early English days we read of the fire in the central chamber or hall, built on a hearthstone in the middle of the room, usually, and underneath an opening in the roof. The pretty custom of ringing the curfew bell at eight o'clock as an intimation that fires and lights were to be put out is of interest at this point. The political side of the curfew law made it easy to detect secret meetings and gatherings if the law was not obeyed. But the common-sense side of the law showed that it was well to cover all fires as night came on, to avoid unattended ones from spreading and to conserve the heat under the ashes. The curfew was abolished by Henry I in 1100, "when the chimney, with all that it implied, was beginning to make its appearance. Which, at all events, demonstrates how political benefits may result from progress in the arts of peace. Certainly the change of an open hearth into the fireplace was an immense step towards comfort and a great artistic gain."

It is said that the chimney corner as a thing of actual use was at its heyday in the Middle Ages. Then the hearth was raised a few steps from the floor, the wing walls projected into the room and were often turned so as to make a recess or cosy place for a seat by the hearthstone, and the hood or smoke collector was placed high enough to enable a man to stand upright within it.

The chimney corner as it had emerged from the center of the room to a side wall became more and more a place of seclusion. We can imagine the great hall or principal room in the old-time mansion. The chimney corner was where the elders liked to sit and entertain guests or discuss private matters. It was a refuge or sacred place away from the general life of a house. The French have a phrase, Sous le manteau de la cheminée, to designate a friendly counsel in the family, or among close friends.

A meeting place like this was even greater than the festal table. It lent itself to greater decoration. So the "heart of the house" from the jambs, lintels, hords, down to the smallest detail became the subjects of artistic thought. And it is still so. The beautiful fireplaces and inglenooks illustrating various periods of architecture are nowhere seen to more advantage than in North Shore homes. "The Ingle-Nook" is one of the delightful books put out by the Stokes Company.

With Pipe and Book

With pipe and book at close of day,
Oh, what is sweeter, mortal, say?
It matters not what book on knee—
Old Izaak or the Odyssey,
It matters not meerschaum or clay.

And though one's eyes will dream astray,
And lips forget to sue or sway,
It is "enough to merely be"
With pipe and book.

As bards aver—I will not pray
For "Soothing Death" to succor me,
But ask this much, O Fate, of thee:
A little longer yet to stay
With pipe and book.

ORDER OF QUARANTINE NO. 11 RELATIVE TO EUROPEAN CORN BORER

Whereas, a dangerously injurious insect, the European corn borer (Pyrausta nubilalis hubner), has been found in the following cities and towns in Massachusetts, namely:

Abington, Amesbury, Andover, Arlington, Avon, Barnstable, Bedford, Belmont, Beverly, Billerica, Bourne, Boxford, Braintree, Brewster, Boston, Brockton, Brookline, Burlington, Cambridge, Carlisle, Chelmsford, Chelsea, Cohasset, Concord, Danvers, Dennis, Dracut, Duxbury, Eastham, Essex, Everett, Falmouth, Framingham, Georgetown, Gloucester, Groveland, Hamilton, Hanover, Hanson, Harwich, Haverhill, Hingham, Holbrook, Hull, Ipswich, Kingston, Lawrence, Lexington, Lincoln, Lowell, Lynn, Lynnfield, Malden, Manchester, Marblehead, Marshfield, Medford, Melrose, Merrimac, Methuen, Middleboro, Middleton, Milton, Nahant, Natick, Newbury, Newburyport, Newton, North Andover, North Reading, Norwell, Orleans, Peabody, Pembroke, Plymouth, Provincetown, Quincy, Randolph, Reading, Revere, Rockland, Rockport, Rowley, Salem, Salisbury, Sandwich, Saugus, Scituate, Somerville, Stoneham, Sudbury, Swampscott, Tewksbury, Topsfield, Truro, Tyngsboro, Wakefield, Waltham, Watertown, Wayland, Wellesley, Wellfleet, Wenham, West Newbury, Weston, Weymouth, Wilmington, Winchester, Winthrop, Woburn, Yarmouth.

And whereas, this insect has been found to infest certain plants and plant products, hereinafter named, so that it is likely to spread to other portions of this state and other states through the movement of such plants and plant products, now, therefore, I, R. Harold Allen, Director, Division of Plant Pest Control, with the approval of the Commissioner of Agriculture, by authority of and under the provisions of Chapter 95 of the General Acts of 1919, and after a duly advertised public hearing held at 136 State House, Boston, on April 5, 1920, prohibit the movement from any points within the above mentioned cities and towns, constituting the area known to be infested, to any points outside of this area, of any of the following plants and plant products, namely, corn and broom corn, including all parts of the stalk, celery, green beans in the pod, beets with tops, spinach, rhubarb, oat and rye straw as such or when used for packing, cut flowers or entire plants of chrysanthemum, aster, cosmos, zinnia, hollyhock, and cut flowers or entire plants of gladiolus and dahlia, except the bulbs thereof, without stems, except under such conditions as are designated in the regulations supplemental to this order.

This order shall supersede quarantines Nos. 2, 3, 4, 5, 6, 7, 8, 9 and 10, and shall take effect on April 12, 1920, and shall remain in full force and effect until further notice.

R. HAROLD ALLEN,

Director, Division of Plant Pest Control.

ASSESSORS' NOTICE

Pursuant to the provisions of Section 41 of Part 1 of Chapter 490 of the Acts of 1909, as amended by Sec. 36, Chap. 257, General Acts of 1918, all persons, firms and corporations, domestic or foreign, subject to taxation in the town of Manchester are hereby notified and required to bring in to the assessors of said Town of Manchester on or before the true lists. In case of residents a true list of all their polls and personal estate not exempt from taxation, of which they were possessed on the first day of April in the current year, and in case of non-residents and foreign corporations a true list of all their personal estate in said town not exempt from taxation, and all persons, firms and corporations, domestic or foreign, are hereby notified and required to include and set forth in said lists their real estate subject to taxation in said town, which lists must be verified by oath as required by Section 43 of said Part 1, as amended by Chapter 294 of the General Acts of 1916.

Under the provisions of Section 42 of said Part 1, as amended by Chapter 515, Acts of 1909, the above-mentioned lists must be in form prescribed by the Commissioner of Corporations and Taxation of the Commonwealth. These blank forms may be had at the Assessors' office, or will be mailed to any address upon application.

Section 45 of Part 1 of Chapter 490, Acts of 1909. A mortgagor or mortgagee of real estate may bring into the assessors of the city or town in which it lies, within the time prescribed by the notice under section forty-one, a statement under oath of the amount secured thereon or on each separate parcel thereof, with the name and residence of every holder of an interest therein as mortgagor or mortgagee. If such property is situated in two or more places, or if a recorded mortgage includes two or more estates or parts of an estate as security for one sum, such statement shall include an estimate of the interest of the mortgagee in each estate or part of an estate. The assessors shall, from such statement, or otherwise, ascertain the proportionate interests of the mortgagor or mortgagee, respectively, in said estates, and shall assess the same accordingly. If, in any year, such statement is not brought in, the tax for that year on such real estate shall not be invalid merely for the reason that the interest of the mortgagee therein has not been assessed to him.

In accordance with Section 41 aforesaid, amended as aforesaid, all persons and corporations are hereby required to bring in to the assessors, on or before the 15th day of May next, true lists of all real and personal estate held by them, respectively, for literary, temperance, benevolent, charitable, or scientific purposes on the first day of April, in the current year, or at the election of any such corporation on the last day of its financial year last preceding said first day of April, together with statements of the amounts of all receipts and expenditures for said purposes during the year next preceding said days; such lists and statements to be in accordance with blanks furnished by the Commissioner of Corporations and Taxation.

Chapter 578 of the Acts of 1913, as amended by Chapter 523 of the Acts of 1914, which provides for the exemption from taxation of personal property held by cities, towns, religious societies and cemeteries, whether incorporated or unincorporated, for the purposes stated in said act, requires that the holder thereof bring in to the assessors a list of such property in accordance with the provisions of the preceding paragraph. All such owners are hereby required to bring in such lists within the time and in the manner stated in said paragraph.

SOCIETY NOTES

RENTALS of summer property along the North Shore continue, as the weeks advance, with much activity, report all the real estate offices. Through the office of T. Dennie Boardman, Reginald and R. deB. Boardman, of Boston and Manchester, the following rentals have been made the last week:

Frank L. Polk and family, of Washington, the Arthur Stevens estate, off Summer st., Manchester. Mr. Polk is First Assistant Secretary of State. Mrs. Polk is a sister of Mrs. Robert S. Potter, of Boston, who will again occupy one of the Clark cottages on Blossom lane, Manchester.

Mr. and Mrs. Donald McKay Frost (Mary M. Ryerson), of 18 Exeter st., Boston, have leased the Howard place at West Manchester.

Mrs. Thomas H. Howard, of Boston, formerly of Hyde Park, N. Y., will spend the summer at Pride's Crossing, where she has leased the Col. Pierson place, so-called. Last season Mrs. Howard had the Brinley cottage at Magnolia.

Mr. and Mrs. Edw. Sohler Welch (Barbara Hinkley), of 125 Beacon st., Boston, will return for another season to the Everett place, on the waterfront near the West Manchester station.

J. M. Mitchell and family, of Buffalo, N. Y., will return to Manchester the coming season and will occupy the Cobb cottage, so-called, on Masconomo st.

Mr. and Mrs. James Means and family, of Boston, arrived at their estate on Smith's Point, Manchester, yesterday—one of the first arrivals of the season.

At Larcom, Thur., Fri., Sat., "Huckleberry Finn." ad

Mr. and Mrs. J. Warren Merrill are not to spend the season at Manchester, but will travel part of the summer, going to their Hamilton place for the autumn. Both their houses on Smith's Point will be rented for the season. Their son, Lieut. John Merrill, who commanded one of the submarine chasers during the war, being in foreign waters much of the time, has been away all winter, being connected now with the shipping business. He has been on voyages to Europe and to the west coast of South America. The Merrills are living at 16 Marlboro st., Boston.

Dr. and Mrs. Hobart E. Warren, who have spent the winter at Palm Beach, will leave there within a few days. They will go to Bermuda for a few weeks before coming to Beverly Farms about the tenth of May for the season.

The Netherlands Legation will not be located in Manchester this year, as Dr. Cremer and family will spend the summer on a visit to their home in Holland—their first visit since the war.

Joseph C. Grew, of Boston and West Manchester, ex-secretary of embassy in Berlin and secretary of the American Peace Mission with rank of minister, is mentioned as the most likely candidate for appointment as minister to Denmark. Norman Hapgood was the last minister to Denmark. He left the post and returned to the United States, amid considerable public discussion of his alleged sympathies with the Bolshevik government in Russia. Mr. Grew was born in Boston 40 years ago. He is one of the sons of Mrs. Edward S. Grew, of 185 Marlboro st., Boston, and West Manchester. He was at one time consul general at Cairo and diplomatic secretary at Vienna and Berlin, later at Vienna again until the outbreak of the war.

All Boston society is looking forward, of course, to the Vincent club show, "Satni," which is to be given for the benefit of the Vincent Memorial hospital, at the Wilbur theatre, on the afternoons of April 27, 29, and 30, with a dress rehearsal on April 26. The drill is always a feature of the Vincent club shows, and this year a very clever idea has been arranged for this number. It is called the Cigarette and will be led by Mrs. Augustus Thorndike, Jr. The costumes carry out the idea, for the 10 girls are to wear white skirts with gold bands, and red hats with smoke gray plumes. The two "matches" are to be Miss Eleanor Whitney and Miss Katharine Lane. Their white skirts will be trimmed with blue bands and they will wear blue turbans. Miss Isabel Florence is coaching the "Cigarettes."

A wedding of interest to Bostonians was that of Thursday, when Miss Helen Little, daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. John Mason Little (Helen Beal), and Col. Thomas D. Barroll, formerly of Baltimore, took place in the home, at 317 Dartmouth st. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. Paul Revere Frothingham, of Arlington st. church. The late Mr. Little was active in this parish for a number of years. Miss Little is a niece of Arthur Little, Philip Little, of Salem, and David Little, formerly mayor of that city; also of Thomas P. Beal, of Boston. Col. Barroll, who lives at Garrison Hall, Boston, is assistant adjutant general of Massachusetts. He came here from New York, where he has been in business since he left Boston several years ago and became the officer in charge of the operation of the draft law in this state.

FLOWER DREAMS

The sleeping earth, with thick white veil,
By winter's hand is covered o'er;
She waits in slumber still and pale,
Till spring awaken her once more.

As without care the weary child
Nestles upon its mother's breast,
So sleep the flowers, earth's children mild,
Close to her frost-bound bosom pressed.

They dream of breezes blowing fair,
Of sunshine and of sparkling dews,
Of fragrant odors sweet and rare,
Of waving woods and springtime hues.

Each dreaming flower lifts up its head
To view the splendor far and near;
When lo! the lovely dream has fled.
And, verily, the spring is here!

THE LEAGUE OF NATIONS

W. R. MEINS, OF BOSTON, ADDRESSES
MANCHESTER BROTHERHOOD

"The subject of 'The League of Nations' may seem purely academic now in view of the recent decisive action by the Senate. This is partly true. The treaty will never be ratified in its original form. It is to be hoped that Congress will clear up this matter before election, although there is no doubt how the people would vote if it was presented to them in its true form." This is the opinion expressed by Walter R. Meins, of Boston, in his address Monday evening delivered before the Manchester Brotherhood in the vestry of the Baptist church.

The April meeting of the Brotherhood, while not largely attended, was one of the most interesting held the past winter. Mr. Means was thoroughly familiar with his subject, he drove his points home with accuracy and conviction, and the men present were enthusiastic in their praise of the speaker. His remarks were frequently interrupted with applause.

J. C. Mackin presided. In introducing Mr. Meins, he said: "We are all interested in peace, nevertheless we want the interests of our country safeguarded."

Compliments Manchester

Mr. Meins mentioned the pleasant summer vacations which he enjoyed as a boy in Manchester, complimenting the town on being so popular as a resort, and continued by congratulating the Brotherhood on having so strong and flourishing an organization.

"There are only two really great political questions confronting the American people today," said Mr. Meins. "One is a domestic problem and will require several years to arrive at a satisfactory solution. I am referring to the relationship between labor and capital. The other is a foreign issue, quite unlike the first because it is to be solved at once and not after years of experience. This is the question of the proposed entry of the United States into the League of Nations."

Greatest Problem Since Civil War

"I have said, and advisedly so, I think, that this is the greatest problem we have had since the Civil war. In the Civil war times there was danger of dissension, now there is a danger of disintegration through alliances with foreign powers."

The lecturer gave a brief resume of historic events preceding the world war to refresh the memory of his hearers, and starting with August, 1914, when the "bullet of the Austrian set off the conflagration of the greatest war of all time," he followed along the course of events until the entry of the United States into the conflict.

Self-Interest the Motive

"However altruistic we may be, we must face the facts. Self-interest was the motive which caused the great nations to enter into the death-grapple. The United States watched the progress of events from a standpoint of neutrality. It was not until the interest of the United States became involved when the arrogant German empire threatened the life of our commerce, and undertook the submarine warfare, striving to take away the freedom of the seas, that we entered the war."

"Gentlemen, in spite of all poetry and oratory to the contrary, this country did not enter the war to 'make the world safe for democracy,' to 'save the heart of the world from breaking,' or anything of that kind,—we entered the conflict because of the necessity of protecting the commerce of the United States. When anyone tells you that the soldiers will not rest in peace in Flanders field unless we are a party to the League of Nations, they are greatly mistaken. Now please do not misunderstand or misquote me, I do not believe our motives were entirely sordid."

League of Nations Propaganda

Mr. Meins urged his hearers to approach this subject from an unprejudiced standpoint, and not "with sight blurred by the atmosphere thrown around it by well meaning but mistaken people." He explained that the League of Nations project was a heavily endowed propaganda. One of Boston's business men willed a large sum of money to be used for the purpose of creating public opinion in favor of some such organization as the League of Nations. This propaganda has been spread broadcast throughout the country, and many people have accepted it as being the truth without taking the precaution of investigating for themselves to discover whether they really should accept it or not.

"At the risk of being considered outspoken, I will say that among the most gullible of our people are our good brothers of the clergy. They were about as easily 'taken in' as any class I know anything of. Without determining for themselves, they credited what was told them."

"Please the Foolish Americans"

"I will now tell you some of the more flagrant points of this League of Nations covenant. Go back with me for one year and let us examine the conduct of our chief executive on this matter. When Woodrow Wilson returned from abroad the first time and heard the rising protest against the League, he assured the country that he would so have the treaty and the League interwoven that one could not be accepted without the other. With his 'single-track mind,' he returned to Europe and sat at the council table, and while other nations were pawing and grabbing valuable territory, he was permitted to write his League of Nations document as only he could write the English language. Mr. Wilson was allowed to write this innocuous doctrine to 'please some of the foolish Americans' as an Englishman said. Statesmen of the European powers knew that no reliance could be placed in the League of Nations covenant."

"When Lloyd George was conducting his campaign for re-election, he delivered a speech in the House of Commons pleading for favorable action on the League. The members of the House roared with laughter, plainly showing how they felt about the matter."

Mr. Meins stated that the Senate of the United States could not ratify the covenant as originally written because it "infringed on our rights and violated our Constitution." He referred to some of the reservations such as domestic problems of coastwise shipping, immigration and the tariff.

Monroe Doctrine Ignored

"The Monroe Doctrine has long been upheld by the United States. President Monroe issued his famous

A Few "Don'ts" of Interest to All Who Desire Success

Don't work three hundred and sixty-five days a year, notwithstanding that some other Trojans did that year after year in their days of struggle. Take vacations.

Don't, however, let pleasure-seeking supplant success-seeking.

Don't become wholly self-centered.

Don't succumb to the temptation to be too busy to have any time to be rationally sociable.

Don't cultivate exclusiveness.

Don't forget that there are no express trains to the summits of success.

Don't look for any escalator to do the climbing for you.

Don't depend upon others to push you along.

Don't count upon any "pull" which you yourself did not create.

Don't fancy that others succeed because of mere luck and that you are where you are solely because luck did not come your way.

Don't expect to hear Opportunity knocking at your door until you have trained yourself to recognize her when she comes.

Don't eat more than you feel you have to.

Don't oversleep.

And finally:

Don't forget that things are apt to go right if you do.—Forbes Magazine.

pronunciamento that all republics in America would be protected from all foreign aggression. And yet, there was nothing in the suggested contract to prevent European nations from colonizing here.

"The Venezuelan question would probably have been brought before a council of representatives from all nations in the League if such a League had been in existence, and it is most certain that Great Britain would have been allowed to possess herself of Venezuela. I think that no patriotic American can doubt the motives of our Senate in making a reservation to cover this matter."

The Shantung question was discussed at some length and in a most lucid manner by the speaker, who characterized it as "the most disgraceful of proceedings." "Thirteen millions of Chinamen were disregarded," said he, "and Shantung was artificially wrenched from the Chinese republic and given to Japan. We have talked much of 'self-determination.' How does it apply here? The League of Nations would place its stamp of approval on this thing and perpetuate it forever."

Would Make Suppliant of U. S.

"Regarding the limitation of armaments among nations it was planned in the proposed League that no nation could increase her fighting forces without approval of the grand council. That means that the United States, if threatened by an invading force, could not increase her army or navy without first going to this foreign council as a suppliant. I am an American and do not care what other nations may decide about voting away their rights and privileges. Surely no genuine American can take exceptions to having a reservation on this article."

Article X was "the crux of the whole matter," said Mr. Meins. "The accumulated wisdom of all time must not be disregarded." He then explained how the United States would have been absolutely powerless to have raised a single regiment or send a solitary warship to Cuba during 1898, if we had been a party in the League. "The problem would have been submitted to the international council and we would have been prevented from doing a thing in aid of Cuba. Spain had a legal title to the island. We had no legal right to interfere, but a higher and a moral obligation actuated us."

World on Edge of Precipice

The present conditions of unrest were spoken of and the causes examined. "The world is on the edge of a precipice. We may not fall over, but if we do, the French revolution

LIBRARY NOTES

New Books in Manchester Public Library

"The Romance of Escapes, Studies of Some Historic Flights with a Personal Commentary," by Tighe Hopkins, should appeal to all—young or old—who love an adventure. The book is divided into two parts: First "The Subject Viewed at Large;" second "Notable Escapes Shown in Detail." Two of the escapes have to do with an American. "Morgan of the Rough Riders" is a story of the Civil war. "The Adventure of the Empress and the Dentist" describes the escape of the Empress Eugénie from the Tuileries with the aid of Dr. Thomas Evans, an American dentist. This occurred in 1870, after the battle of Sedan, in the Franco-German war.

Do you go to the movies? If you do you have met Douglas Fairbanks—by the way he has just been married to Mary Pickford. There is a book in the library called "Laugh and Live" by this famous movie star. He has much to say about the place of laughter in our lives. This little volume provides much food for thought, in a very palatable form.

Quite recently your attention was called to "Health Through Will Power," by Dr. Walsh. He proved very conclusively the important part the will plays in regaining our health.

There are two other books on the will that are worth reading. One is would fade into insignificance beside what would occur. I do not want to fall over the brink into a sea of internationalism. I do not want to see the United States merged into an international combination. It is in the air, this feeling of unrest, this seething fomented mass of people who wish to topple governments over, and have the wealth of nations divided among everybody. And so many, many people believe this doctrine. How can anyone speak of being 100% American in one breath and in the next breath declare they would have us multi-hyphenated?"

In closing, Mr. Meins expressed himself in favor of a policy which would secure for the United States at present and for all time "a dignified, friendly but absolute independence, as stated by Washington: 'History and experience prove that foreign connections are baneful. We should have no entangling foreign alliances.' Finally, as our Declaration of Independence says: 'We are, and of right ought to be, free and independent,' not intradependent, you will mark. May we go on to fulfill the destiny which I believe "Strength of Will," by E. Boyd Barrett, S. J., the other is "What You Can Do with Your Will Power," and is by the famous lecturer, Russell H. Conwell, author of "Acres of Diamonds."

"Who Is Insane," by Stephen Smith, is rather an unusual book. The author was commissioner of lunacy of the state of New York for several years. He relates many of his experiences with those suffering from an "ungeared mind."

"Rambles in Old College Towns" is a beautifully illustrated volume by Hildegard Hawthorne, author of "Old Seaport Towns in New England." This book will add much to your knowledge about places of which we all should know more. Miss Hawthorne certainly has a very pleasant way of imparting her knowledge.

"The Fear of God in Our Village," by Richard Morse, is another book that has had very few readers. Here is the story of what was accomplished by getting together in a rural community, and all working for the best interests of the place they called home. Be sure and read the chapter, "The Morals of the Movies."

"How to Read," by J. B. Kerfoot, is another neglected volume. The chapters "Learning to Read," "Muckraking the Dictionary" and "Watching the Wheels Go Round" are worth reading. Next week I will give a short bibliography of sea stories that may be found at the library.

—R. T. G.

is ahead of us, ever standing for our Constitution. I want no checkered banner, no multi-colored flag flying over our fair land, but the Stars and Stripes waving for the nation of the United States and not representing internationalism."

The men gave Mr. Meins a rising vote of thanks. Refreshments were served by the entertainment committee in charge.

COPLEY THEATRE, BOSTON

"When Knights Were Bold," a three-act farce which carries the spectator from the 20th century back into the 12th and introducing many absurdly conflicting situations, is the next piece to be given by Henry Jewett's Company at the Copley theatre. "When Knights Were Bold" was written by Charles Marlowe, and was first presented in September of 1906 in London, since which time it has been an annual favorite with English audiences, who have laughed themselves hoarse over its many amusing situations.

MANCHESTER CHILD DROWNED IN BROOK

One of the sadest fatalities that has occurred in Manchester for a long time was that of Tuesday forenoon, when Joseph, one of the four-year-old twin sons of Mr. and Mrs. Edward J. Neary, of Lincoln st., met his death by drowning in the brook running by the playgrounds.

The little fellow, with his twin brother, Richard, and another playmate, had been playing in the vicinity of the Neary home during the early forenoon, and the last seen of the youngster was shortly after he returned home, after a call at one of the neighbors, and asked to put on his rubber boots to go out again and play. Saturday night arrival home and his inquiry for the missing lad, a hurried search of the neighborhood was made without avail, and then the nearly frantic and distracted mother called in the police and a systematic search was made. This was continued for an hour or more before the body was found in the brook back of the Magnuson greenhouse, by Wm. Lethbridge.

Medical attendance was at once summoned and the pulmotor was used, but without result, as life was extinct when the body was removed from the water. It is thought by the police that the lad had fallen in somewhere near the pumping station nearly two hours before and the body was carried by the swift water downstream until caught by the bushes on the bank at the turn in the brook.

The sympathy of the entire community goes out to the parents in their bereavement.

MANCHESTER CLUB MEMBERS HAVE RARE TREAT

Without doubt one of the most enjoyable evenings provided by the Manchester club entertainment committee for a number of years was that of last Friday evening when the members, with guests to the number of 75, heard Edwin M. Whitney's rendition of a three-act play entitled, "Turn to the Right," in which Mr. Whitney carried out in an inimitable manner the part of no less than eleven different characters.

The special luncheon served after the entertainment was all that anyone could wish and consisted of escalloped clams, rolls, olives, pickles, ice cream, frozen pudding, cake, coffee, cocoa, and cigars.

STORY HIGH SCHOOL

MANCHESTER

Miss Gertrude Goldsmith, of Manchester, who is a member of the faculty at the Salem Normal school, spoke to the students of the Story High school last Monday on the subject of "Teaching." The lecture proved of unusual interest. Miss Goldsmith brought out in an interesting manner the many sides of a teacher's life. The much-discussed question of the "teacher shortage" was brought up and it was learned that the shortage was caused primarily by the war. Today over 30,000 schools are without teachers, and when schools send in demands for teachers to the Normal schools, these school authorities feel that the high school pupils should be made to realize the seriousness of the situation, for the high school is the source of the teacher supply.

MANCHESTER WOMAN'S CLUB

HOME DAY OBSERVED—OLD RELICS OF THE PAST—COSTUMES OF
YE OLDEN DAYS

What they did and what they wore in grandmother's—and indeed in great-grandmother's time, were discussed and illustrated at the Home Day meeting of the Manchester Woman's club, April 6, in the Congl. chapel, Manchester. Members of the club carefully shook out old relics of the past, and brought them to the chapel for exhibition.

Mrs. Percy A. Wheaton read a very interesting paper on the costumes of the different ages. She told of the origin of fabrics, when leaves and skins of animals were discarded in favor of the more formal silks, velvets and other fabrics. Mrs. Wheaton explained, also, the styles worn by our ancestors, and these were illustrated by tableaux.

Tableaux Depicted Fashions

The first tableau was the costume of the time of Queen Elizabeth, worn by Miss Lena Jones, with the extremely full skirt and elaborate panelling so dear to the heart of Elizabeth, who spent a great deal of time and thought on dress. It was she who first introduced silk stockings.

Then followed, in the second tableau, a costume with which we are more familiar—the little Indian girl, worn by Mrs. Bernard Boyle.

The demure little Puritan costume, with its dainty cap and apron, was the third; worn by Mrs. Arthur Olson.

Then the hoop skirt! Worn in the time of George Washington, 1776—Mrs. G. A. Knoerr. This costume showed to advantage the high, powdered wig, and the stiffly swinging skirt, recalling the days of the minuet and the courty.

This was followed by a more recent period—the time of the Civil war. The day of the bustle! This tableau was composed of three persons: The stately matron, who was the only one privileged to wear the bustle, Mrs. Hollis Roberts; the young lady's costume, which was very simple and had a very wide skirt, worn by Miss Kathryn Bullock; and the little child's costume, worn by Alice Wheaton, the pantaloons peeping from beneath the rather long skirt.

We were swiftly brought back to the present day by the appearance of the modern evening dress, worn by Mrs. Bertram Floyd.

Talk on Mothercraft

Before the opening of the meeting, a talk on "Mothercraft" was given by Miss May Bliss Dickinson, chairman of the Mothercraft committee of the Massachusetts State Federation. Miss Dickinson told briefly of the work that was being done in the schools of the cities and towns of Massachusetts, in which this work has been introduced—about thirty in all. The child is taught the care of the baby from the time of its first bath, how to dress it, and the proper food for the child at various ages. That plenty of good food, sunshine and fresh air are essential to health is strongly impressed on the child, also. Pictures of the various lessons, giving some idea of the nature of the work, were passed around among the audience, while Miss Dickinson was lecturing. Miss Dickinson strongly urged the necessity of introducing mothercraft in the schools.

Annual Meeting April 20

The president, Miss Annie Lane, opened the meeting by announcing that it is planned to have a luncheon for the members of the club, at the annual meeting, April 20.

Miss Lane also spoke of the moving picture show, which will be given in Horticultural hall, Saturday, April 10. Francis M. Andrews will sing between the pictures. Tickets for the matinee can be purchased at the hall only. Tickets for the evening may be purchased at Allen's Drug store.

Five dollars was appropriated for the prizes to be awarded the High school pupils for the best essay on a subject chosen from an elective program. These prizes are offered in honor of the three hundredth anniversary of the landing of the Pilgrims.

Miss Lane also referred to the bulletin board, which was placed by the club at the corner of the chapel lane and the library lot. This board, she said, was for use of the public, and she requested that bulletins be made as brief as possible, in order that service may be given more people at the same time.

Mrs. E. L. Rogers read the announcement of the fifth district conference of the Massachusetts State Federation of Woman's clubs, to be held Wednesday, April 14th, South church, Andover.

After Mrs. Wheaton's talk a solo, "The Old-Fashioned Mother," was sung by Mrs. Frank G. Cheever, followed by "Those Endearing Young Charms," and "Johnnie Sands," sung by Mrs. Raymond C. Allen.

Colonial Tea Served

Many of the members brought their work with them, and fingers flew over the tatting, crocheting and sewing while they listened. The serving of the colonial tea, however, with Mrs. H. W. Purington as hostess, was a signal for the tucking away of the work.

Mrs. Alfred E. Hersey, who was chairman of the Home Day committee, had charge of the program of the day.

Great interest was manifest in the art table, where colonial articles were displayed. Among the things displayed was a Christening robe loaned by Miss Martha C. Knight. This robe, together with the bonnet, was brought over from India in 1810, and since that time have been used in the family. A cap, also loaned by Miss Knight, was worn by her grandmother, Johanna Girdler.

A picture of Queen Victoria at the age of three, attracted no little attention. A list of a few of the other exhibits follows: Sampler by Hariot Waters, 1817; sampler by Susan Cheever, 1818; black silk basque loaned by Mrs. Lewis Morgan; hand-painted rice fan loaned by Mrs. Lewis Morgan; bead bag loaned by Mrs. Maude Carter. There were also many pictures and several samples of dainty hand-work to which no names were attached.

The thrift tables also proved of interest, though the contributions to these tables were rather meagre, consisting for the most part of electrical appliances for thrift in work.

COSTUME PARTY

MISS ANDREWS AND MR. GAGE WIN
PRIZES AT DANCE

The first social event in Manchester following the close of the Lenten season was the Easter Monday evening dance given in the Town hall by Frank B. Amaral post, A. L. Fully 200 attended the costume party, which was the first of a series of ten dances planned by the Legion for the coming spring and summer.

The hall was prettily decorated for the party. Red, white and blue crepe paper was used, with crepe paper flowers, bachelor buttons and chrysanthemums wound around the chandeliers. Members of the American Legion attended in uniform.

The committee in charge was rewarded for its efforts by the general verdict of all who were present that the party was a big success.

The prize for the best lady's costume was won by Miss Beth Andrews, who wore a handsome costume representing a "Butterfly Girl." The prize was a two-pound box of chocolates. George Gage won the prize for the best man's costume. The outfit worn by Mr. Gage was most unique, giving him the appearance of being dressed one half as a man and one half as a woman. His prize was a box of cigars. Both costumes attracted much attention during the evening's party, and although there were many others who were competitors for the honors, the decision of the judges seemed to meet with popular approval. The judges were Mrs. Elizabeth Meyle, Mrs. Charles Scott and Mrs. Fenton Moore.

Music was furnished by Long's orchestra, the members being arrayed in costume. Ice cream was sold at intermission.

Among those in costume were the following: Mrs. George Beaton, daisy; Beth Andrews, butterfly girl; Natalie Cook, rose girl; Anna Stanwood, Spanish; Mary Knight, Quaker; Anna Leary, clown; Mrs. Helen Amaral, old-fashioned; Teresa D'Entremont, maid; Mildred Thomas, Spanish; Marion Latons, Goddess of Liberty; Dorothy Spry, farmerette; Mrs. Fenton Moore, Spanish; Grace Merrill, maid; Ruth Scott, dairy maid; Mrs. Burton, gypsy; Miss Pollard, Japanese; Mrs. Herithe, San Toy.

Alfred Needham, clown; Henry Leary, negro; Nelson Butler, cadet; Albert James, clown; John Carter, butler; Arthur Miguel, bell hop; Joseph Dodge, clown; George Gage, half woman and half man; J. Magher, artist; Mr. Gurton, Indian rajah.

The Legion treasury was increased by the sum of about $20 as proceeds

HORTICULTURAL HALL PICTURES

On Saturday of this week the Manchester Woman's club benefit picture show will be given, both afternoon and evening. Two features will be presented—Ethel Clayton in "The Young Mrs. Winthrop," and Wallace Reid in "Double Speed." There will be other reels.

What is said to be one of the sweetest stories ever screened, comes to Horticultural hall, Manchester, next Tuesday. It is entitled: "Her Elephant Man," and was written by Mrs. P. D. Bell, who traveled with Ringling Bros. circus for many weeks to get the proper material for the picture. John Ringling announces that "Her Elephant Man" is the best circus story he ever read or saw screened. Miss Shirley Mason is the star.

On the same program Wm. Russell will be seen in "The Lincoln Highwayman." Fox Weekly will also be shown. A splendid program.

Saturday of next week Marion Davies in "The Cinema Murder," and Fatty Arbuckle in "Back Stage."

PERKINS & CORLISS MAKING CAR DELIVERIES

While there is a big demand for automobiles of all makes this season, and there is a shortage such as has never been experienced before, Perkins & Corliss, the best established and strongest of the many North Shore firms, especially in the Gloucester-Manchester district, are making deliveries. In most cases the orders were placed last fall and during the winter.

Among the deliveries being made this week through the Manchester branch, of which Chester H. Dennis is manager, are the following:

D. T. Beaton, Ford delivery; Warren W. Heath, Ford roadster; Miss Margaret Curtis, Franklin; C. F. Pousland, Dodge; Wallace Goodrich, Dodge; E. Laurence White, Ford Beverly wagon; Dr. J. H. Lancashire, Ford Beverly wagon; Gus Ferreira, Ford delivery.

PURPOSES OF LEGION

DEPARTMENT ORGANIZER WILSON ADDRESSES OPEN MEETING

George E. Wilson, of Boston, department organizer of the American Legion, was in Manchester Wednesday evening and addressed an open meeting of Frank B. Amaral post, A. L. Invited guests of the evening included comrades of the G. A. R., members of the S. of V., Selectmen and representatives of the Manchester press.

Willard Rust, commander of the local post, presided, gave the address of welcome and introduced the speaker for the occasion.

Mr. Wilson is a veteran of five campaigns, beginning with the Spanish-American war. For an hour he entertained his hearers with a highly interesting talk, giving incidents connected with his army life and the line of work in which he is now engaged. Mr. Wilson said that in the world war he served as a first sergeant, and he believed he was the only one in the army to hold that position who was given two presents by his men! One of the gifts was a wrist watch, and his men dared him to wear it when he returned to Boston.

In his opening remarks Mr. Wilson spoke of the splendid showing made by Massachusetts at the national convention of the American Legion. This state has 120,000 paid up members and an earnest effort is being made to increase this to at least 150,000.

Republics are Ungrateful

"Republics are ungrateful," declared Mr. Wilson. "It took the G. A. R. many years before legislation favorable to them was enacted, and it was not until 1894 that they were granted quarters in the State House. I have visited several of the battlefields of the Civil war and am acquainted with the wonderful work these heroes performed."

The Spanish-American war was the first campaign in which the speaker engaged. "This was not a big affair, but it was the only war we had at that time," said he. He then spoke of incidents connected with his military career until he found himself in the front line trenches in the world war. "From Feb. 5, 1918, to Nov. 13, 1918, I served in the front line trenches, and I never once muffed anything the Germans threw over!"

Definition of an Alien

"All the members of the American Legion want is a due recognition from the government for services rendered. There isn't a man in the universe who knows and understands true Americanism as does the man who has worn the uniform. I do not like to use the word 'alien.' My definition of an alien is an American in the making. If, after a due course of time, he does not become a citizen of this country, let him be returned to the land from which he came."

The purposes of the American Legion, its aims and desires, were explained at some length. The Legion stands for law and order, for carrying out justice in a right way, and for getting the ex-soldiers all the compensation, back pay, allowances, etc., due them from the government.

"Sherman knew what he was talking about when he said war was what it is, but Sherman never saw anything like this world conflict. The Civil war was a 'man to man' contest, the world war was mechanical."

Bonus Legislation an Investment

It was the opinion of Mr. Wilson that Congress will enact some sort of legislation giving the soldiers a bonus. "We don't want to take anything out of the government," said he, "but if Uncle Sam gives his soldiers a sum of money enabling them to have homes of their own, to redeem abandoned farms or in some way to make life easier for the millions of former service men, money spent in this manner will prove a most valuable asset."

"The government is willing and anxious to pay every man the sum due him to the last penny, to give you every article of clothing which rightfully belongs to you. This is not charity, but is your due."

"Buddies, let us all stand together; let us strive for a 100% efficient post and a 100% efficient department and a 100% efficient national organization!"

Comrade E. P. Stanley was asked for a few remarks. Mr. Stanley spoke in a reminiscent vein. Having just returned from the sessions of the G. A. R. encampment in Boston, he related some incidents connected with the meetings. To the Frank B. Amaral post he presented, as a gift from himself, a standard or base for the handsome flag recently given the Legion by the patriotic organizations of Manchester, and the same was accepted by Mr. Rust, in behalf of the post.

A light collation was served by the entertainment committee, followed by a social hour.

SHOPPERS PLEASED

WITH NEW BARGAIN BASEMENT AT WEBBER'S IN SALEM

A new department in the W. G. Webber store at Salem—popularly known as "Salem's busy corner store" because of its location in Town House square—was opened the first day of April, and it is proving a popular hit from the start. The whole basement has been remodelled, and made into a most attractive place, with added daylight facilities, new floors and new equipment throughout, and has been transformed into a "bargain basement."

This event marks another development in the consistent growth and business career of this establishment, so well and popularly known among Essex county shoppers as a place of good merchandise values.

It does not mean what basements mean in most stores—a dumping place for unsalable articles in the rest of the store. Far from it! Webber's "Bargain Basement" was founded with the idea of giving the public the advantage of purchasing goods that were selected by the buyers for this department—goods that are lower in price than the what could be called, perhaps, the more standardized goods, but at the same time goods that are not distinctly inferior in quality, but much so in price.

For instance, when the BREEZE man was at the store Tuesday, he saw a counter of Arrow collars—thousands of them—that could be bought at $1.50 a dozen. Now Arrow collars are selling today at most stores at 30c each, or $3.60 a dozen. These collars at Webber's are off sizes, perhaps not the most popular styles,—but nevertheless they are Arrow collars, and would be just the thing for some purchasers who would be satisfied with the particular style and of the size desired.

Coming at a time when economy is the national watchword, this new department gives to the shopping public one of the most fortunate money-saving opportunities in the history of Salem and suburbs. In this new branch there will be no charge accounts, no free deliveries, no merchandise on approval, no exchanges after 48 hours, and no mail or telephone orders, thus cutting down considerable overhead expense and giving the purchaser the benefit of lower prices.

It is a well-known fact among shoppers that the hosiery department at Webber's is one of the best in the state, excelling any in this section and on a par with any of the big Boston stores. The millinery department, too, has an enviable reputation for quality and values, as well as service that any store devoted exclusively to this branch, would be proud of.

The third floor at Webber's is being remodelled at present to provide for a greater display and larger assortment of women's dress goods. The office has been moved into larger and more convenient quarters, and the linoleum and floor covering department is being moved to the former location of the offices.

The BREEZE $2 a year, $1 for six months.

MANCHESTER CHURCHES

Baptist church, Rev. H. E. Levoy, pastor. Sunday morning at 10.45 o'clock and Sunday evening at 7 o'clock Rev. P. W. Back, the singing evangelist, will preach. Mr. Back is a splendid speaker and everybody should plan to attend as many of the special evangelistic services as is possible.

The evangelistic meetings at the Baptist church will continue through Sunday, April 25. Services each evening at 7.45 o'clock.

On account of the storm last Friday evening the meeting of the Woman's Missionary society was postponed until this evening, when the Easter program will be presented, at the Baptist church vestry.

There will be a prayer meeting Saturday night at 7.30 o'clock at the Baptist church.

Rev. H. E. Levoy was in Salem Monday night attending a conference of ministers and workers of the New Interchurch World Movement.

James Washbrook has concluded services at the estate of Mrs. H. L. Higginson and has this week moved his family to Boston.

Mrs. Jennie Dennis has closed her house on Summer st., and with her grand-daughter will make her home with Mrs. Lois Merrill on North st.

Miss Lulu Chapman, a former teacher in the George A. Priest school, has taken the place of Miss Ackerman, who has resigned her position as fifth grade teacher.

Miss Margaret Cooney has a position in the telephone exchange at Beverly Farms. Miss Mary Cooney is working at The Gertrude Shop, 665 Boylston st., Boston.

The first of the series of ten dances by the Legion held on Monday evening was a winner. Everybody had a good time. A complete account appears elsewhere in this issue.

WHISPERINGS

Of the Breezes

The matter of collecting the war tax from a passenger on board a train to Boston one day last week caused some interest. The conductor made the charge, but the passenger presented an argument. Of course, the argument was rather flimsy. After talking back and forth for a few moments, the conductor said: "The chief thing which troubles the public is that the conductor does not carry a cash register to ring up each tax as he collects it!"

HIPPODROME ENTERS ITS BIRTHDAY MONTH

Charles Dillingham's merry pageant "Happy Days," will enter in upon the ninth month of its remarkable run at the New York Hippodrome this coming week. The Hippodrome birthday is celebrated on April 12th and this year the Hippodrome will celebrate its fifteenth anniversary. Special cause will be found for rejoicing this year in the fact that "Happy Days" is the banner attraction of the series of stupendous spectacles which have made the Hippodrome the talk of the world and caused it to become the most unique amusement place ever established anywhere on earth. The new features will be introduced by Mallia, Bart and Mallia, and by "Happy" Jack Lambert, who will be seen as "Puck" in "The Kiddies Dormitory" and in the "Fairylend" scene.

"APPLE BLOSSOMS" CREATES SEASON'S RECORD

Few musical comedies have ever achieved the distinguished triumph now being recorded by Charles Dillingham's exquisite operetta, "Apple Blossoms," at the Globe, New York, which not only holds the record for the longest run among this season's musical productions, but is also succeeding in setting up a long engagement mark equal to that of "The Merry Widow," "Mlle. Modiste," "Chin Chin" and other memorable light operas. The charm of the Kreisler-Jacobi score is undeniable, and Wm. Le Baron's libretto and lyrics are a rare contribution to the musical comedy literature of this decade.

MANCHESTER CASES IN POLICE COURT

Manchester furnished several cases for the police court at Salem this week. From the Boston Globe we reprint the following item headed "Pitchfork is Used by Manchester Woman Who Defends Festive Rooster."

"In the District court Monday Mrs. Minnie P. Morgan, of Manchester, convicted of assaulting Wm. McMurray with a pitchfork, was fined $15. McMurray, who is a cripple, was engaged in repairing a hencoop when one of Mrs. Morgan's roosters entered the yard and chased a bantam hen, according to the evidence.

"Mrs. Morgan came out of her home with a pitchfork and, it is claimed by McMurray, she struck him three times, causing painful wounds. Mrs. Morgan claimed that McMurray attempted to strike her with a hammer. This he denied, claiming that all he did was to drive the Morgan rooster from his premises."

"Kissed His Head With a Pool Cue" is the title of another item in Salem Evening News of Wednesday, as follows:

"At the district court Wednesday forenoon before Judge George B. Sears, Peter Demakis, of Manchester, who has charge of a pool room there, paid $25 for striking Perley Roderick over the head with a pool cue.

"According to the testimony the row started over the question of payment for a 10-cent game of pool. Roderick had played and when Demakis came for the money, Roderick said that he would pay after the next game. This did not suit Demakis and some words followed between the two, whereupon Demakis took a cue from Roderick and struck him with it. Four stitches were required to close the wound."

AN EASTER BRIDE

MRS. MARGARET L. RUST MARRIES
CHARLES W. REID

A pretty home wedding took place Monday evening at 27 Davis st., Linden, home of the bride, when Mrs. Margaret L. Rust, widow of the late William C. Rust, of Manchester-by-the-Sea, was united in marriage to Charles W. Reid, of Somerville. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. Wm. H. Dias, of Grace Baptist church, Somerville.

The bride wore white georgette crepe, with hand embroidered satin trimmings, and carried a bouquet of white roses. Prof. F. A. Reid, of Somerville, was the best man. Mrs. F. A. Reid was matron of honor. Guests were present from Lynn, Boston and Somerville.

The wedding was a quiet affair, owing to the health of the bride, who has been an invalid for the past two years as the result of an accident. Mrs. Reid is an accomplished musician and a writer of merit. She has traveled extensively, having crossed the Atlantic ocean several times, and taking a prominent part in the concerts given for benevolent purposes on the steamers during the voyages. Mrs. Reid married into a titled family in England at an early age. She has one son in the government service in the canal zone, Panama. This is her fourth venture in matrimony.

Mr. Reid is a brother of Prof. Reid of Somerville. He is a mechanical engineer, and was formerly captain of the Alice Richardson and other steamers. This is his second marriage.

Capt. and Mrs. Reid will reside in Manchester-by-the-Sea this summer, returning to Boston for the winter months.

REBEKAH FAIR AND ENTERTAINMENT
—SUNLIGHT PARTY

The fair and entertainment of Liberty Rebekah lodge, to be held at Manchester Town hall on Friday evening of next week, will be quite an interesting occasion. The entertainment will consist of a farce, singing by a soprano soloist, and dancing by a child dancer.

Fancy articles, aprons, food, flowers and ice cream will be on sale.

On Saturday afternoon, the 17th, from 2 to 4, there will be a Sunlight Party for the children. A good entertainment will be provided for them, also.

The special attraction will be the Country Store, conducted by the Rebekah brothers. A great variety of goods will be on sale here.

SCHOONER MYSTERY GROUND ON GOOSEBERRY LEDGE

The two-masted schooner Mystery, 114 gross tonnage and 78 net tonnage, which grounded Monday night on the Gooseberry Ledge off the Manchester shore, may be floated.

The Mystery sailed from Boston, Monday afternoon, where she had disposed of a fare of fresh fish. The captain became confused as to his position during the rain and fog and grounded on Gooseberry Ledge, near Mystery Island. The crew of 19 took to their dories and rowed to Gloucester, taking with them such of their effects as they could hastily collect.

Capt. A. L. Payne, of the Light-house Service on Baker's Island, and his men, reached the wrecked vessel shortly after sunrise Tuesday. The life-saving crew at Marblehead also went to the scene to render assistance.

MRS. WM. W. SYMONDS

WELL-KNOWN MAGNOLIA WOMAN
PASSES AWAY

Mrs. William W. Symonds, who died very suddenly at the home of her son, Leighton, and his family in Saugus, March 31, was buried from the Village church last Sunday afternoon at 2.30 o'clock, the services being conducted by her pastor, Rev. Walter S. Eaton. The interment was in the family lot in the Village cemetery.

The large audience and the many and beautiful floral tributes were silent witnesses of the love and affection in which the deceased was held by the people of this and other places. Among those who sent flowers in memory of this good and noble wife and mother were Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Dunbar and family, Mr. and Mrs. Edward Symonds and family, John McKay and daughter, Jennie, Mr. and Mrs. James Wolfe and family, Mr. and Mrs. Jonathan May and family, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Davis and family, Mrs. John Symonds and family, Mrs. John Dodge, Mr. and Mrs. Edward W. Wilkinson, Mr. and Mrs. John E. May, Mr. and Mrs. Oscar P. Story and family, Mrs. Everett Butler, Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Boyd, Ladies' Aid society of the Village church, Mr. and Mrs. John Kehoe, Mr. and Mrs. Robert McGaughey, Mr. and Mrs. Sawyer, of Saugus, Mr. and Mrs. John Pearson, of Everett, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Brown, of Brookline, Mr. and Mrs. Harry O. Richards, of Salem, Ben Enos, Frances Enos, and Edward Enos, of Salem.

The late Mrs. Symonds was born

August 20, 1863, at Kempsville, N. S., being a daughter of Howard and Sophia Gray Morton. She is survived by her husband, two sons—Guy B. and Leighton, a daughter—Mrs. Fred Davis, four grand-children, a brother—Leonard Morton, of Kempsville, N. S., a sister—Mrs. George Mullen, of Hebron, N. S., a half-brother—Edward Reeves, of Yarmouth, N. S., besides a host of friends who mourn her loss.

"I never heard Mrs. Symonds speak ill of anyone in my life," said one who had known her well for many years. This remark was not at all surprising, for we have observed many times in years past that the late Mrs. Symonds was too much interested in her home and family to waste precious time in idle gossip or slanderous talk.

A faithful wife, a devoted mother, an obliging and agreeable neighbor, a home-maker, a good woman and a choice child of God—such in brief was the late Mrs. Symonds, whose sudden going away to the spirit world has cast another shadow over this quiet little village; but the knowledge that she died as she lived, doing her duty in helping others, should bring comfort and consolation to those loved-ones who are now deprived of her good cheer and wise counsels.

In Memory of Our Loving Mother

A precious one from us has gone,
A voice we loved is stilled.
A place is vacant in our home,
Which never can be filled.

God, in his wisdom, has recalled,
The boon His love had given
And though the body molders here,
The soul is safe in heaven.

—William W. Symonds and family.

Born at Pride's Crossing, Mar. 28, a son, to William and Ellen Conery, of the Ayer estate, Paine pl.

Mr. and Mrs. Michael F. Connolly moved back to Beverly Farms this week after spending the winter in Boston.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Anderson, of Willimantic, Conn., have been among the visitors at Beverly Farms the past week.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter P. Hutchinson, of North Adams, have spent the past week at Beverly Farms visiting friends.

Mrs. Lucy Martin, of Hart st., who has been under treatment for several weeks at the Beverly hospital, has returned home much improved in health.

Mrs. Ernest Naylor is at present a sufferer from some form of poisoning on her face and neck, which originated from a slight sore. She is under a doctor's care.

Edwin F. Campbell is serving as a juror at the April session of the criminal court in Salem, and John A. Trowt is serving also as a juror of the civil court in Salem.

Miss Mary Rosoldi, Haskell st., was home a portion of this week for a few days' vacation. She is now a senior trained nurse and for the past two years has been located at the General hospital, Lawrence.

Arrangements are being made to present to the M. J. Cadigan post, A. L., by Preston post, 188, G. A. R., and Preston W. R. corps, a handsome silk American flag, which is expected to arrive any day now from the manufacturer. There will be appropriate exercises, and while the date is not yet fixed, it will be before Memorial Day.

At last Monday evening's meeting of the Beverly city council, Alderman Linehan presented an order calling for an appropriation of $2000 for repairs to the West st. engine house, the Centerville engine house and the G. A. R. building at Beverly Farms. The engine house at Beverly Farms, especially, needs renovating; the interior is sadly in need of painting and papering.

The resignation of Franklin Murray from the position of chief clerk and cashier at the Beverly freight office of the B. & M. R. R. caused a vacancy, to which a well-known Beverly Farms young man, J. Sewall Day, has been promoted. Mr. Day has had much experience in this line of work and there is no doubt that he will easily make good in the performance of his new duties.

Preston post, G. A. R., and Preston W. R. corps were represented at the department conventions held in Boston on Tuesday and Wednesday, both orders sending delegates each day.

The appointment of John M. Publicover as first assistant engineer of the fire department, and Dr. John J. Riordan as inspector of animals, has been unanimously confirmed by the Beverly city council.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank I. Lamasney opened their home on Greenwood ave., last evening, and gave a pretty whist party in aid of the bazaar for the diocesan centre for Catholic women, to be established in Boston. Whist was played from 8 to 10, after which refreshments were served and a social hour spent.

Mrs. Louis Hardy, who has been at the Faulkner hospital, Jamaica Plain, for several weeks, where she went through an operation, had improved to the extent that she was able to be removed from the hospital, Tuesday, to the home of her daughter, Mrs. Ruth Heffenreffer, who lives in Jamaica Plain.

At the meeting of the Board of Aldermen last Monday evening Mrs. Bertha L. Hayward, for several years the efficient assistant to the city auditor, was elected to the position of city auditor, succeeding Henry S. Parker, who resigned on account of illness. This is the first time in the history of the city that a woman has been elected to a City hall office.

A splendid exhibition of the Boys' club gym. work was given before a large gathering of Beverly Farms people at the schoolhouse assembly hall Wednesday evening. The boys showed much proficiency, their work being a credit to themselves and to their instructor, Mr. Surback. Great progress has been made in the short time the boys have been organized.

It's the High Cost of Dying in China

A TYPICAL CHINESE MONUMENT

The Chinese bury their dead on the mountain side where the earth is dry and there is less danger of floods. The monuments are built along the highway to inform the public of the great men who have lived and died in the neighboring villages.

A brief history of the dead man serves as an epitaph, and a tortoise or dragon, carved into the stone, symbolizes eternal life.

Death is an expensive proposition for the Chinaman. Only the leaders of community life are honored by monuments along the highway. But by the time even the average citizen's funeral expenses are paid—with numerous pallbearers and feasts for the mourners—well, it's cheaper to live.

There is an average of one doctor to every 400,000 Chinese. So the Interchurch World Movement, in which America's evangelical bodies are co-operating, intends to cut down funeral expenses for China by opening a large number of new hospitals and by strengthening existing institutions.

Mary—Jack said he always kept me in his mind.

Ann—Are you used to such cramped quarters, dear?

"Here's where I make my mark," quoth the German counterfeiter, as joyfully he contemplated his dies.

TO EXPLAIN INTERCHURCH WORLD MOVEMENT

To explain the purpose of the Interchurch World Movement, a conference of church leaders in this county will be held next Friday, April 16. In practically every county in Massachusetts a similar convention will take place. The procedure is nation-wide, these meetings having been prepared for in 3,000 counties of the United States.

The Interchurch World Movement has charge of the meetings. The meeting for Essex county will be held in the First Baptist church at Beverly. Rev. Clarence Strong Pond, of Beverly Farms, is the convenor for this county.

Concisely, beginning at 10 o'clock in the morning, a program that will reveal just what the Interchurch World Movement has done and plans to do is to be given. It will begin with a general statement of the movement, will include a vivid and crystallized account of the home survey and the foreign survey conducted by the movement, and an explanation of the four departments — stewardship, spiritual resources, missionary education and life service.

Special attention is to be given the plan of county organization, which centers around the county advisory committee, with an inner group known as the county executive committee.

A careful announcement is included regarding the united simultaneous financial campaign, April 25 to May 2, for a total of $336,777,572 in the nation. Baptists, Congregationalists, Presbyterians, and other denominations, 30 in all, will unite in this effort, the Baptists being the denomination seeking to raise the largest budget, $130,000,000.

Three teams of speakers are to tour the state at these conferences. The Interchurch World Movement represents a union of purpose of a number of denominations to put the church more efficiently on the job. It has made careful studies, or surveys, in this country and other lands, on which the financial askings of the coöperating denominations are founded. The county conferences are intended to take its message to the local churches.

Seeing You on Sunday.

Here's hoping that I see you on Sunday

And that you shake my hand,
And look me in the eye again
In the way we understand.
I've kinda had my bumps this week,
And though you'll never know,
I feel that my supply of sand
Is running pretty low.

I want to see the face again,
Of you and you and you.
It helps to clear the track ahead
And pull the old load through.
There's something in your manner
There's something in your smile,
That makes me fight to keep my place

On the good highway "Worth While."

Just seeing you on Sunday
Is a flying start for Monday.

WHY YOU SHOULD ORDER NEXT WINTER'S COAL SUPPLY NOW

It is about time for every man who has a coal bin to think about having it filled.

There are 20,000,000 houses in the United States and nearly all of them use hard coal.

The annual shortage of coal has occurred because most householders wait until late summer or early fall to order their ten tons.

The householder forgets that there are less than 200,000 miners in the Pennsylvania anthracite fields. A miner digs only two tons a day.

Because of the consumer's delay in ordering the miners have been averaging not more than 250 days of work annually.

If the consumer would order now and tell the dealer that he will accept and pay for next winter's coal as soon as it can be delivered there would be steady work for the miners all the spring as well as in the summer and fall.

Giving 300 days work to the miners means either more production or fewer men devoted to a single industry. In either case there is national economy.

More than that, a continuous demand for coal means relief for the railroads in bad weather.—New York Sun and Herald.

STAMPED WITH SUCCESS

"How much postage will this require?" asked the young author.

"Two cents," answered the P. O. clerk. "It's first class matter."

"Oh, thank you, sir."

WOOD SENTIMENT IN ESSEX DISTRICT IS VERY STRONG

WM. H. ROOT, of Haverhill

INASMUCH as Gov. Calvin Coolidge has publicly declared on several occasions that he is not a candidate for the Republican Presidential nomination, Massachusetts' interest in the choice of a candidate naturally centers upon another resident of the state, Maj.-Gen. Leonard Wood.

Although born in New Hampshire, General Wood was brought by his parents to Massachusetts when he was three months old, and he has been a "Bay Stater" ever since. At present, as for some years past, his legal and voting residence has been Bourne, Mass.

Congressman Lufkin's district, the Sixth, will send two delegates to the Republican national convention, and two alternates. The Wood sentiment in this district is very strong and on the ballots of the primaries of April 27 will appear the names of George von L. Meyer, of Hamilton, and Wm. H. Root, of Haverhill, as delegates "favorable to Leonard Wood," while Wm. H. McSweeney, of Salem, and Gayden W. Morrill, of Newburyport, will be similarly designated as alternates.

There will be an opposition ticket designated as unpledged, but as General Wood is the only Massachusetts man who is a candidate, it is extremely unlikely that any ticket opposed to him will succeed in obtaining many votes.

George von L. Meyer, of Hamilton, is rapidly becoming as well-known in Essex county, as was his distinguished father, Hon. George von L. Meyer, who for many years filled with great distinction various important posts under successive Republican administrations, rounding out a remarkable career as Postmaster-General and Secretary of the Navy.

GEO. VON L. MEYER, of Hamilton

Mr. Meyer is a graduate of Harvard. He served in the world war as a captain of infantry, his assignments being with the 79th Division, the War College, 89th and 10th Divisions. He volunteered into the army in May, 1917, and was discharged March 7, 1919, accepting a commission as major of infantry in the Reserve corps.

Politically he was organizer and president of the Young Republican club, composed entirely of men under 30, who were especially active in the presidential campaign of 1916. He is a member of the Republican State committee and chairman of its finance committee. Last fall he was elected to the presidency of the Essex Republican club, the Essex county organization. When the police strike was imminent in Boston, he volunteered his services in case they were required, and was called on to perform police duty for two weeks.

Mr. Meyer is an ardent admirer of Leonard Wood. He served with him as aide for eleven months with the 89th and 10th Divisions and found him to be a man of broad vision, a wonderful organizer and beloved by all his officers and men, on account of his human qualities and his fairness to all.

Wm. H. Root, of Haverhill, was commissioner of public safety in Haverhill when the war broke out. He resigned his position and enlisted in the service, but after a short time was commissioned a second lieutenant

SHORTAGE OF FUEL IN THE EUROPEAN NATIONS

Nearly every express train in Italy was cut off on August last. The reason is that Italy has not a single coal mine in all her territory.

During the war Italians had been paying up to $100 a ton for imported coal. Previously they got their coal from Germany or England at a cost of about $20 a ton.

Switzerland has no coal of her own and not even any peat or ignite. The Swiss burn wood and drive most of their factories by electric power procured from waterfalls.

Norway is another coalless country, and Sweden has only quite lately discovered that she has good supplies. As in Switzerland, so in Scandinavia, wood is the usual fuel, while the towns and villages are electrically lighted by water power.

The only other European country which has practically no coal mines of her own is Holland, and during the war she was forced to rely mainly upon peat.

The principal reason why Argentine railway shares slumped so badly during the war is that this huge country always depended upon imported coal and of late the companies have been paying $30 a ton for coal from the United States.—Stray Stories.

As the man and the maid strolled through the picture gallery the woman stopped before one exhibit.

"Oh, how sweet!" she breathed.

"I wonder what it means?" questioned the young fellow, as he eyed the pictured pair who clung together in an attitude of love and longing.

"Oh, Charlie, don't you see?" the girl chided tenderly. "He has just asked her to marry him and she has consented. It's lovely! What does the artist call the picture?"

The young man leaned nearer and eyed a little label on the frame.

"I see!" he cried. "It's printed on this card here—'Sold!'"

SAVE MONEY ON MEAT

Here is a real thrift recipe for a tasty, nutritious dish prepared from less costly meat. It is issued by the Division of Women's Activities, Department of Justice. Use this recipe and save money on meat.

Veal Pot-Pie

2 pounds veal neck

Cook in boiling salted water until tender. Trim all meat possible from the bones. Add to white sauce.

White Sauce.—Two tablespoons flour, 2 tablespoons melted butter or butter substitute, salt and pepper, $1\frac{1}{2}$ cups milk.

Scald milk, then add the butter and flour which has been made into a paste. Add seasoning.

Make an ordinary biscuit dough and line a baking dish with this. Into the dish pour the meat and white sauce combined, and put a covering of biscuit over the top, being careful that there are small openings in the top for the steam to escape. Bake in a medium oven for 20 minutes. Serve with mashed potatoes and peas.

Swiss Steak

2 pounds round or sirloin steak cut 2 in. thick

$\frac{1}{2}$ cup flour

Salt and pepper

Mix

2 pounds round or sirloin steak cut $2\frac{1}{2}$ in. thick

Few slices onion

$\frac{1}{2}$ green pepper, chopped fine

2 cups boiling water or 1 cup water and 1 cup strained tomatoes

Pound flour into meat with wooden potato masher or edge of heavy plate. Heat the fat. Brown the meat on each side in it. Add onion, green pepper, boiling water and tomato. Cover closely. Simmer two hours. This may be cooked in a casserole in the oven. Other vegetables may be added if desired.

Hot Pot of Mutton and Barley

1 pound mutton

$\frac{1}{2}$ cup pearl barley

1 tablespoon salt

4 potatoes

3 onions

Celery tops or other seasoning herbs

Cut the mutton in small pieces, and brown with the onion in fat cut from meat. This will help make the meat tender and improve the flavor. Pour this into a covered saucepan. Add two quarts water and the barley. Simmer for one and one-half hours. Then add the potatoes cut in quarters, seasoning herbs, and seasoning, and cook one-half hour longer.

Brisket with Onion Sauce

Wipe the meat with a damp cloth, and tie it into a compact shape with strips of cloth. Place it in a deep kettle with boiling water or part of the stock if possible). Add a soup bunch, several cloves and peppercorns. Simmer until tender, add salt when partly cooked. Take the meat from the liquid, remove the cloth, and place it in a shallow baking dish. Beat one egg and spread over the beef, then sprinkle with coarse crumbs, and brown under a flame or in a hot oven.

For sauce—for a three-pound piece of meat—cut up half a cup of green onions and cook these with two tablespoons of butter or butter substitute. Brown slightly. Stir in two tablespoons of flour, add a cup and one-half from the stock of brisket, and a tablespoon of minced parsley. Keep the sauce over hot water, or in a double boiler, until the meat is finished. Pour the sauce over the meat and serve.

From left-over prepare beef croquettes. There should be enough left from this roll to prepare croquettes for a family of five for the second meal.

Beef Balls with Dumplings

To a cup and a half of beef from the shank, put twice through a food chopper, add a third of a cup of bread crumbs, salt, pepper, a teaspoonful of lemon juice, a little nutmeg and a beaten egg. Shape into balls lightly, and let them stand for half an hour or more to become firm, then roll them in flour and brown in the frying pan with three tablespoons of lard or some salt and pork fat. Then add a tablespoon of flour to the remaining fat and a cup of stock. Season well, add this mixture to the meat balls and simmer in a closely covered dish for an hour and a half.

Fighting Hunger

Hunger is never more than a few days away from the American people.

The coal strike showed us what a narrow margin the country goes on, even in a non-perishable necessity which can be stored.

Swift & Company is engaged in the business of fighting hunger.

From coast to coast, from the Great Lakes to the Gulf, the lines of defense are drawn—packing plants at strategic points; branch houses in four hundred towns and cities; hundreds of car routes; thousands of refrigerator cars; tens of thousands of loyal men and women expert in their work.

Day by day, hour by hour ceaselessly, this fight, your fight, goes on. Yet so smoothly, surely and victoriously that you, unaware how close hunger always is, are as certain each night of tomorrow's meat as you are of tomorrow's sun.

And so economically is this done that the cost to you for this service is less than three cents a pound of meat sold. The profit shared in by more than 30,000 shareholders whose money makes the victory possible is only a fraction of a cent a pound on all products.

If hunger did not make it necessary for us to fight this fight in the best possible way for all concerned, the competition of hundreds of other packers, large and small, would compel us.

Swift & Company, U. S. A.

REGARDING THE PROPOSED LEGISLATION in favor of compensation for soldiers and sailors of the world war, it has been said that the payment of a suitable bonus "would wreck the country." The American Legion Weekly is authority for the following statement: "Four more months of the war would have cost the country as much as the whole compensation program will cost, and the money would have been raised somehow, without 'wrecking' the country."

But in my simple ignorance suppose
The self-same Power that brought me here, brought you.

THE BATTLE FOR DELEGATES to the Republican National convention is on. No political observer, however, can discern the future despite the lead which Leonard Wood appears to have over all the other candidates. He has credited to him more pledged votes than any other man now in the field and without question there are many votes available from delegates who are not directly pledged to him, and still more who would willingly vote for him on the second ballot. The Michigan results could not but be disconcerting to his friends and his political campaign managers. The remarkable lead of Mr. Johnson may be a local success which will be repeated in California. Those who are quick to make conclusions fear the influence of the Michigan primaries upon the contiguous state primaries. The poor showing which Mr. Hoover made there may indicate that the feeling for his candidacy is not as strong as many in the east had supposed. At the most the Michigan returns count only for one delegation in the National convention.

It is plain now that a strenuous political contest is being planned to place the control of the National convention in the hands of a group of party leaders so that when the convention is called the delegates will be available to vote for a chosen candidate for the Presidency. The presence of such a contest is evident in the three lines of action which are easily noticed. First, there is a nation wide effort to send state delegations to the National convention pledged to the favorite son of the state. A complimentary first vote will undoubtedly be cast by these pledged delegations and then their votes are available for another candidate. The second method of attack is not indirect, but direct, for it demands a check upon the growing success of any candidate, whoever he may be, Mr. Hoover, Mr. Wood or Mr. Johnson. Whoever succeeds in gaining the lead may expect a vigorous fight from the unseen opposition. The third policy appears to be another indirect plan of action to win enough votes to precipitate a split in the convention and thus eliminate all of the avowed pre-convention candidates. This policy involves the encouragement of a number of candidates, thereby preventing the crystallization of public opinion in favor of any one candidate. No convention would dare to take action against an undoubted popular demand. It is not difficult to foresee the operations of these three guiding principles, but who is so keen in his political insight as to discern to whom the powers that hope to be will turn for leadership.

Meanwhile the people of Massachusetts will have an opportunity to vote for delegates who they know will support Massachusetts' own candidate, Leonard Wood, or for a delegation which is unpledged and subject to the whims of the individual delegate or influenced by the "strategic" stampedes which are so frequent in National conventions. The primaries afford the individual an opportunity to express a preference for the Presidential nominee. A pledged delegation presents the only opportunity which an individual has to directly register his preference in the campaign.

THE MAN WHO IS UNWILLING to meet the obligations of citizenship in the United States is unworthy of the honor and the rights which the Constitution guarantees. Carl Ludwig Hoglund, who had taken out his first papers in the naturalization process required by our government, failed to measure up to the standards of American citizenship when, instead of promptly and patriotically placing himself in the service of the nation, he claimed exemption from military service as a citizen of Sweden. There was no other course open for the exemption board in his district; he was exempt from the draft. He applied for his final papers recently and met the just rebuke which his shortsighted and cowardly conduct deserved. He should have foreseen by a use of his imagination that his claim for exemption instantly nullified his previous intention to become an American citizen. The judge of the court, after considering his record debarred him, forever, from the privileges and rights of American citizenship. The judgment was fair. The man had, deliberately, made his own choice. Hoglund rejected the privilege and duty of serving America in an hour of great need, demonstrating his insincerity in announcing his intended allegiance to the American government. Citizenship involves obligations; it is not merely the receiving of advantages. A protecting government requires service-rendering citizenship, each according to his ability and the determination of the will of the people. Alien applicants for citizenship in this country must honor and love the land of their adoption. They must give evidence of a sincere regard for their duties as well as show a keen desire to gain the rights and privileges of citizenship. There is no forgiveness in a court of law for patriotic infidelity, nor should there be.

WHETHER A STRIKE IS LEGITIMATE or of the "out-law" variety, the result is the same: Loss to business interests and a damage to public welfare.

THE CITY OF BOSTON is justly renowned for its many efficient and commendable philanthropies. There is, however, a great need for a modern and thoroughly equipped and adequately financed organization to care for incurable patients, especially those who are suffering from cancers. To meet this great need the Palmer Memorial hospital has been established in a good building situated in Dorchester, nearly opposite Franklin Park. The hospital is an extension of the work of the New England Deaconess hospital and is under the direction of the board of trustees of that institution. The work is a philanthropy of the Methodist Episcopal church, but is dedicated to assist anyone, "irrespective of creed or nationality, to the utmost, which modern science, competent nursing and christian care can give." What a relief such a haven must be! The field for service is large and the work blessed. Patients will be received from the New England states as the capacity of the hospital will permit. The beginning has been made of a great philanthropy which must inevitably develop. The association of workers making this pioneer effort should not lack funds for the enterprise. The capacity of the hospital and the field for service will be limited only by the funds placed at the disposal of the trustees. The good work will succeed because it is imperative. There is no claim upon the heart so pathetic as that appeal which comes from the sufferers from incurable diseases.

ALTHOUGH THE UNITED STATES is not one of the League of Nations, nevertheless beginning this week we are a nation greatly interested in the baseball leagues of 1920.

MANY LESSONS HAVE BEEN TAUGHT the American people, but none more practical than their ability to give generously, liberally and with a good will. The principle of the war drive was thoroughly worked out and successfully developed to give everyone, everywhere, rich and poor, an opportunity to give simultaneously to a good cause. It is a satisfactory method of raising money because it affords everyone an opportunity, upon a voluntary basis, to give of his money, as he or she has prospered. It has taken the heavy and necessary obligation for funds from the limited number of people who are wealthy and given everyone an opportunity to share the financial obligations of the great philanthropies. This is a sound financial program. All giving should be based upon many small gifts from a great many people, rather than a few large gifts from a small number of people. This method is to be used to raise funds to aid the work of the churches in neglected fields at home and abroad. A systematic simultaneous drive for funds is to be conducted by the leading Protestant denominations the week beginning April 25. Every Protestant will be personally visited and asked to make a pledge, payable weekly or monthly, for the extension work of the denomination with which he is affiliated. Individuals not directly affiliated with any church will be asked by a member of a general committee representing all the churches, called the Local Interchurch committee. All funds collected by the church organizations will be used for the extension work of the particular denomination making the drive. The funds which are raised by the Interchurch committee will be divided equitably among all the denominations participating. The plan of action appears to be worked out systematically, and for the first time all of the denominations will be at work together with a common purpose. The new movement does not mean organic union of the churches, whereby the separate organizations sacrifice their identity and inheritances; but a coöperative arrangement, whereby the denominations work together for a common end, the promotion of education, the establishment of medical mission stations, the making of accurate surveys and other forms of applied Christianity. If the drive will unite all the church people in a common cause at the same time it will be a long step toward other forms of coöperative endeavor.

NOW IS THE TIME for all summer resorts to come to the aid of the President, and tell him their claims and advantages of being selected as headquarters for the summer White House.

THE PAST YEAR HAS BEEN a notable one in the history of the Catholic church because its constituents for the first time have given more than one million dollars for extension work in foreign lands. These contributions will be distributed for use in foreign fields by a French society for the propagation of the faith, which has offices in Lyons, France. The contribution by the American people has never been equalled, although the French people nearly reached the one million dollar mark, in a pre-war year, by giving $929,000. Since the war, an American society for foreign mission work is being advocated. If the plan is successful, American funds will be expended by an American society. This is a progressive movement that will inspire the members to do their best. The spirit of giving developed by the war taught all the pleasure and power of giving generously and heartily. Church extension work nowadays is a great task; it involves not only the propagation of religious ideals, but the practical demonstration of the spirit of Christianity. So, one finds in the modern mission fields of the churches, schools and colleges, training schools and seminaries, medical institutions, normal schools, institutions and hospitals, as well as church buildings and religious services. It is realized now that if the money and life which were exacted by the war could have been invested in the promotion of Christian ideals and the establishment of practical Christian philanthropies the world war could never have come. The spirit of war would wither in an atmosphere of brotherly love. Givers everywhere are thinking this today, hence the phenomenal giving for various good causes. Now givers are responding to the calls for funds for the overseas work of ecclesiastical organizations as liberally and as willingly as in the drives of the war days. The forward movements for adequate funds to maintain the work of church organizations in the homelands and overseas indicate that a new era has dawned.

THE REPORT FROM THE CONGRESSIONAL printing committee that it investigated 266 government journals, periodicals and magazines and discontinued the publication of 111 of them at a saving of $1,200,000, is interesting. Why were the other 155 allowed to exist, we wonder?

PHILIP GIBBS, the famous war correspondent, has been knighted by the King of England. This recognition came to him because of his unrivalled skill as a reporter. He was able by his pen to aid the United Kingdom and the allies more than he could by the sword. The military problems of the allies required men with abilities such as Gibbs possessed; men were needed who could state military operations accurately, interpret military operations wisely, and yet maintain the secrets committed to them. The responsibilities sought men of strong wills, unimpeachable integrity and undoubted loyalty. A reporter so endowed has a gift that is as marked as the rare powers of leadership in military and diplomatic affairs. Gibbs had developed his abilities before the war and the peculiar stress of the war contest made him a marked man for his reporting and editing powers. These qualities are rarely united in one mind, for it is too often true that the individual who has a passion for details and concentration of mind to observe the activities of others becomes so engrossed in the task that he, too, often fails to appraise the activities and judge their relative and permanent value. A reporter who can interpret what he sees, as well as describe what he observes, has a mental capacity of a high order. He has ears, eyes and discriminating judgment for a countless number of men. He may do as much harm as good. There is always the danger in one day, by a mischance, of sacrificing the gains of many years of toil. Gibbs had both the editorial and reportorial power and the world war gave him a field for service and action. He served the nations well and justly earned the honors conferred upon him, a knighthood of service, not inheritance.

A PRIZE OF $25 has been awarded by the New Orleans Railway Company for the best suggestion of a way to get people to move up front in the crowded street cars. The prize was given a man who suggested an advertising campaign, this being thought of more value than the motor-man's old-fashioned, but more or less effective, method of suddenly jamming on the brakes.

MASS STRIKES AND THE I. W. W.! Evidence obtained by the Department of Justice was said Wednesday to show that the Russian Communist Internationale is undertaking to use the railroad strike as the vehicle for the creation of a mass strike in the United States. Reports from Federal agents were said to have disclosed that the Communist party was financing and otherwise aiding the strike through the agency of the Industrial Workers of the World. Evidence which the department has received was declared to justify the statement that the strike was to be merely a step in the well-known plan of the Communist group, and that the end and aim was a mass strike to be followed by a revolution.

The tercentenary celebration of the landing of the Pilgrims will be begun in the schools and churches the first week in June, according to a decision made by representatives of the principal patriotic organizations at a meeting in New York last week.

"To save or not to save" is no longer the question regarding the daylight conservation measure approved by Governor Coolidge last week. In these days of reckless spending the measure might have had more support if it had been styled by some name other than "saving."

Delegates to the Southern New England Methodist church conference at Plymouth, last week, voted to recommend to the General Conference that the clause in the discipline of the church which applies to dancing, card-playing and amusements, be stricken out of article 280.

It is said that doctors will be allowed only 400 blanks for the prescription of intoxicating liquor in a year. This is less than two blanks per day. The prophets who predicted a "dry season" evidently knew what they were talking about.

Alabama is reported to be badly hit with the overall fever. Men in all walks of life have joined the Birmingham Overall club in a campaign to reduce the high cost of clothing. However, one of the first results seems to have been that overalls were jumped in price from $2 to $6 per pair.

Saturday, April 24, has been appointed as Arbor and Bird Day. Why not give the day a real observance this year? Set out a few trees which will add to the beauty and value of your grounds.

Detroit has voted to build a $15,000,000 trolley car system to compete with lines already operating in the city. The cars will be driven by gasoline motors. Of course it is hoped that high running expenses, strikes, etc., will not be a barrier to the successful outcome of the proposition.

Another argument in favor of subscribing to as many papers and magazines as possible is contained in the prediction of a New York publisher that within ten years paper may not be obtainable at any price.

The national debt was reduced about $700,000,000 in March, but that doesn't mean necessarily that taxes will soon be decreased.

The president of a large New York milk concern states that New York consumers will pay at least $500,000 additional for their milk unless the railroads conform their schedules to daylight-saving time. Increased cost of delivery is one reason for the advance.

MAKING THE "RIDE OF PAUL REVERE"

Over the Route Which the Redoubtable Horseman Pursued

By FELIX J. KOCH

TO begin at the starting-point of Paul Revere's ride, friends had told us, will be rather difficult just at present, for there is a spirited controversy waging in Boston as to just which was the old "North Church" alluded to in the poem, there being two rival congregations laying claim to the honor. The church most generally given the preference, however, is that now called the Old North; and there yet, looking down from the spire, one may see

"Below, in the church-yard, sleeping, the dead."

There, then, we began our pilgrimage over the route of Paul Revere. The point on the "opposite shore" at which Paul Revere waited for the appearance of the friendly lights, we soon discover, is now the main square of Charlestown and a handsome tablet on the long, wide bridge that terminates close by, marks the present district court as the starting-point of the memorable ride. It was there that

"Impatient to mount and ride,
Booted and spurred, with a heavy stride,
On the opposite shore walked Paul Revere.
Now he patted his horse's side,
Now gazed at the landscape, far and near,
Then, impetuous, stamped the earth,
And turned and tightened his saddle girth;
But mostly he watched with eager search,

The belfry-tower of the old North church
As it rose above the graves on the hill, Lonely and spectral and sombre and still."

But the present day traveler finds modern-day dwellings impeding here, and he must deviate a bit from his ride in order to catch up with Paul Revere. The pilgrim, can, in fact, save both time and weariness by taking the traction to Cambridge and thence continuing on to Lexington, in order to follow the best part of the route.

From Cambridge the ride is over the road which leads:

Past every Middlesex village and farm, and in many places this winding country turnpike is yet as it must have been on that memorable occasion when

Through the gloom and the light

The fate of the nation was riding that night.

Old boulder-fences, behind which minute-men might even today hide with their muskets protruding between the rocks, hem in the meadows and the stony pasture-land.

Out in the heart of the truck-gardens there is still preserved the house where the Committee of Safety met on that night in 1775 when safety was a thing not to be bought with gold or even with valor. A little shanty now marks the home of James Warren, where one changes cars at Mehotomy—if he goes by trolley—and the old white church, built in 1739, looks reproachfully down on more modern invaders. The Robbins Springs Hotel, an old boulder affair, stands at the crossroads where the pike descends to Lowell, but it, too, is hemmed in with country stores and the pretty homes of commuters.

Medford-town is now removed and modern Medford is reached before one comes to Lexington.

Even Paul Revere's swift steed is put to shame by the pace at which folk now "gallop" by trolley into that town, or better still, go by their own motors.

Typical New England country town is Lexington. In the center of the place is the Common, not the playground of the British regular, as King George had hoped it would be, but the deathbed of British aggressiveness in this country, as it soon turned out.

There stands the old monument, telling the story of that opening day:

"You know the rest, from the books you have read,
How the British regulars fired and fled,
How the farmers gave them ball for ball
From behind each bench and farmyard wall,
Chasing the red-coats down the lane,
Then, crossing the fields to emerge again,
Under the trees at the turn of the road,
And only pausing to fire and load."

The story, as they tell it at Lexington, runs somewhat as follows: Warren and the volunteer patrol in Boston had been watching Gage's movements early in 1775, and as spring advanced, the patriots over the country grew ever more prepared for trouble. Every town in the Commonwealth was drilling its minute-men, or alarm list companies, on the Green, and the Committee of Public Safety held protracted daily sessions. On April 17 the committee met at Concord, and, on the 18th, at the tavern at Arlington. The Second Provincial Congress had just about adjourned at Concord, where it had arranged to meet again in May, and President Hancock, in company with Samuel Adams, stopped off at Lexington, on the return, as they feared for their safety should they return to Boston. The house in which they remained still stands, being given over a museum of revolutionary relics. Hancock's grandfather had originally occupied the place, but it was at that time the residence of Rev. Jonas Clarke.

On the 16th, Revere rode for the first time into Lexington, carrying Warren's message of suspicious movements on the part of the British, to Adams and Hancock at the parsonage. A seizure of the stores at Concord, and of the two patriots as well, seemed the intention of the enemy, and so the munitions were quietly removed to neighboring towns.

After sunset of the 18th a group of British officers and their aides were discovered coming down the road to Lexington, and the news of these unwelcome visitors being sent on ahead by "express" to the hidden patriots, the people of the town made ready for what seemed impending trouble.

The real object of these British, as matter of fact, was to patrol the roads into Boston, and as they rode quietly through the town that night, no interference was made. The day following, though, the organization of the minute-men went on in earnest.

At midnight of that same night Paul Revere again dashed into Lexington, this time on his memorable ride, and a short time afterward one William Dawes came with the same message, but by a different route. He had the additional information that Revere's boat had left the Boston bank just five minutes prior to the issuing of Gage's order that no one was to leave the town. The landing-place of the boat is described as being near the great grain elevators and the El. road terminus.

Revere is said to have left Charlestown at 11 o'clock, riding up Main street to the Neck and thence over the old Cambridge road. A little beyond the town he had his narrow escape from capture at the hands of the British, and this turned out to be his salvation, causing him to turn aside from the main road and so from coming directly in the path of an advancing British column.

Revere's entrance into Lexington has been described. There his first duty was to awaken the patriots. Then, after a light refreshment at the parsonage, he "galloped on toward Concord-town," accompanied by Dawes, the other "express."

Near here they were joined by a Dr. Prescott, of Concord, who had been calling upon his sweetheart at Lexington, and together the three warned the farmers along the route.

Shortly after having a brief rest at a farmhouse, half way into Concord, Revere saw two of the enemy ahead, at a roadhouse, but before the patriots had time to escape, they were surrounded by four British officers, to whom, during the course of the struggle for liberty, two more British were added.

Prescott, by jumping his horse over a wall, finally managed to get away, carrying the alarm to Concord.

Dawes, too, by fleeing to an empty farmhouse and there calling to the fictitious inmates: "We've captured them now!" drove off his pursuers, and made his way to Concord.

Only Revere was captured, and this due largely to the sudden appearance of a half-dozen more British.

Frankly telling his purpose, and also that the Americans were now in pursuit, Revere was put a-horse, in the midst of the squad, and escorted back to Lexington. On the road a sudden volley from some Americans in ambush for a moment disconcerted the British, but they continued their return to the Hub without incident. Finally, wishing to gain greater speed, the prisoner's horses were cut loose and driven off, and then Revere and the two other captives were liberated.

Revere returned by pastures and the old Unitarian cemetery to Lexington, carrying the news of his capture to Adams, whom, together with Hancock, he then accompanied to a place of greater safety near Woburn, returning himself to Lexington in time for the battle on April 19th.

The night of Paul Revere's ride Warren dispatched William Dawes by way of Roxbury; but though Dawes played an important part in the events of the night, his exploits have been almost forgotten and completely overshadowed in the popular imagination by those of Paul Revere. The following poem by Helen F. More, entitled "What's in a Name?" tells of William Dawes.

I am a wandering, bitter shade;
Never of me was a hero made;
Poets have never sung my praise,
Nobody crowned my brow with bays;
And if you ask me the fatal cause,
I answer only, "My name was Dawes."

'Tis all very well for the children to hear
Of the midnight ride of Paul Revere;
But why should my name be quite forgot,
Who rode as boldly and well, God wot?
Why should I ask? The reason is clear—
My name was Dawes and his Revere.

When the lights from the old North Church flashed out,
Paul Revere was waiting about,
But I was already on my way.
The shadows of night fell cold and gray
As I rode, with never a break or pause;
But what was the use, when my name was Dawes?

History rings with his silvery name;
Closed to me are the portals of fame.
Had he been Dawes and I Revere,
No one had heard of him, I fear.
No one has heard of me because
He was Revere and I was Dawes.

SOCIETY NOTES

RENTALS continue at all points along the North Shore, the demand for houses and larger estates being brisk, say real estate men. Through the office of T. Dennie Boardman, Reginald and R. deB. Boardman, of Boston and Manchester, the four rentals given below are reported this week.

Gen. and Mrs. Edgar R. Champlin, of 333 Commonwealth ave., Boston, who had the J. B. Thomas house at West Manchester last season, will occupy the Ellis L. Dresel place on Mingo Beach Hill, Pride's Crossing, the coming season. Mr. Dresel is still in diplomatic service in Europe, in which capacity he served so efficiently during the war. Gen. Champlin is president of the Mass. Trust Co., Boston.

◆◆◆
Mrs. George G. Hall, of Boston, will again occupy the Leach cottage, Manchester, which she sub-leases from Eric Pape, the artist. This is located on School st., Manchester, near the entrance to the Essex County club.

◆◆◆
Daniel J. Boylan, of New York, has leased the Chas. E. Brinley house at Magnolia.

◆◆◆
H. Courtlandt van Voorhis, of Boston, will occupy the Clark cottage on Blossom lane, near Singing Beach, Manchester. This is the place where J. Kenneth Howard was last season.

Mr. and Mrs. Francis M. Whitehouse, who went abroad this winter with the intention of visiting Italy, France and Belgium, being away until early summer, have changed their plans somewhat. They expect to come to their home in Manchester the second week in May.

SIGNS of life are evident at all points along the North Shore. Here and there houses and estates are being occupied, or being made ready for occupancy. The past week has brought many evidences of an early opening of the season—with trucks of furniture moving here and there, and motors darting about along the Shore drives, giving evidence of a renewal of life in spots that have been very inactive since last November. There is no mistaking the truth of the assertion that the coming season is to be an extremely busy and active one at all points along the North Shore. Real estate men say the demand for rentals is heavy; hotel men say they are making more reservations than ever and that everything will be occupied before the hotel season is very far advanced this year.

Randolph B. Dodge and family are among the early arrivals in the Wenham section. They opened "Sunnyfields," their summer home there, this week, after spending the winter at 11 Stearns rd., Brookline.

◆◆◆

The North Shore residence of Hon. T. Jefferson Coolidge, at Coolidge's Point, Manchester, will be opened next week for a long season as usual, though the venerable gentleman will not come to the Shore permanently until well along in May. Mr. Coolidge's Boston home is at 315 Dartmouth st.

Col. and Mrs. Edward M. House are planning to spend the summer on the North Shore as usual. They will again occupy the Coolidge homestead at Coolidge's Point, Manchester. Last year, it will be recalled, they did not return from the Peace Conference in France in time to come to the North Shore.

The Essex County club, at Manchester, is showing many signs of life as the spring advances. Workmen are getting the grounds in trim for the season—the tennis courts and the golf links. The club and grounds will open officially May 1. The clubhouse has been open all winter, and many have availed themselves of the opportunity to enjoy the week-ends on the Shore, making their headquarters at the club. Last Sunday forty-five persons were served with luncheon. Among them were Mr. and Mrs. S. V. R. Crosby and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Boylston A. Beal and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. J. Kenneth Howard, Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Abbott, Mr. and Mrs. R. S. Codman.

MANY people will visit the North Shore the coming week-end and holiday—some to look over their estates, others with a view to leasing. The 19th of April always brings a big exodus of North Shore folk—and it marks the real beginning of the season. Many families move from town about this time, and estates are put in trim for early occupancy in many other cases.

Mr. and Mrs. J. Kenneth Howard (Ruth Gaston), of Boston, have leased the J. Warren Merrill cottage on Smith's Point, Manchester, for the coming season. They will be among the early arrivals.

Bayard Tuckerman and family are at their new estate in Hamilton for the season, being among the earliest arrivals in that section of the North Shore.

Dr. and Mrs. James Lincoln Huntington (Sarah Higginson Pierce), of Marlboro st., Boston, have arrived at Beverly Farms for the season. They are occupying the Knowlton cottage, near the Beverly Farms station this year.

Mrs. F. M. Boynton and daughter Betty are stopping at the Gedney Farm Hotel, White Plains, N. Y., for the month of April, and part of May while Mr. Boynton is in Europe on a business mission. The family was among those who spent the winter on the North Shore, being at the Porter cottage, Manchester.

Mrs. Chas. A. Munn closed her cottage at Palm Beach, Fla., yesterday and returned to her residence at 1601 Mass. ave., Washington, for a month's stay before coming on to Manchester for the summer.

Continuing the series of "centuries" of orchids, which means an exhibition of one hundred plants each month, Horticultural hall, Boston, was occupied last Saturday with an aftermath of the recent Boston Orchid Show. The plants were from the greenhouses of Albert C. Burrage, of Orchidvale, Beverly Farms, and even before they were arranged for the exhibition visitors came to the hall, their interest stimulated in this class of flowers by the recent exhibition. It was a showing all the more remarkable because, from these greenhouses, 1350 blooms had been cut for the Easter decorations of churches and hospitals. The arrangement of the plants is similar to that of the great bank at the recent orchid show, for which a gold medal was awarded by the Massachusetts Horticultural society for arrangement, as well as gold and silver medals for the plants themselves. To the horticulturists the show was particularly interesting because of the large number of varieties and new seedlings shown. One of the seedling odontiodas which shows flowers with a distinct border instead of the common mottled appearance is the only plant of the kind in this country and is in flower for the first time. It has only three flowers now, but under cultivation will have spikes of fifty when fully grown.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred K. Swett arrived home from California yesterday.

Mr. and Mrs. Bertram Floyd plan to spend the holiday with friends in Norwood.

Miss Ruth Coombs is having her annual vacation from her duties at the telephone exchange.

Herman C. Swett announces the opening of his fish market on Beach st. in the immediate future.

Edward Northrup spent the week-end with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. George Northrup, Bridge st.

Miss Bessie Bohaker is with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Otis F. Bohaker, after a winter spent in Boston.

Mrs. Bertram Floyd entertained a party of friends at whist Monday afternoon at her Norwood ave. home.

Hugh J. Burke has accepted a position in the purchasing department at the United Shoe Machinery Co. plant in Beverly.

One of the surest signs of the coming of summer is the appearance of the "hokey-pokey" carts on Manchester streets this week.

Mr. and Mrs. Richard L. Cheever will go to Sanford, Me., over the week-end and holiday for a visit with Mrs. Cheever's relatives.

Miss Dorothy Floyd entertained a number of her young friends at a birthday party yesterday afternoon at her home on Norwood ave.

J. Alex. Lodge left this morning on a few days' business trip to New York city. Lester Goldthwaite is making the trip with him.

A Cadillac touring car coming down Highland ave., Monday evening, failed to make the corner at Bridge st., and collided with a large tree. A front wheel was demolished and the front of the machine was damaged. None of the occupants, all of whom were men, were injured and the machine was later towed to Beverly Farms.

A truck with a load of telephone supplies became mired in the soft dirt at the rear of the telephone exchange early Tuesday forenoon and the efforts of a half-dozen of the linemen working with timbers and poles the rest of the day were unavailing to effect its release. Silva, the expressman, was called to work on the proposition late in the afternoon, but not until the next morning was the machine towed out to the street, and then by a pair of horses.

MANCHESTER

Mrs. Arthur Huddell, of Chelsea, visited with her sister, Miss Asenath Dow, Norwood ave., Sunday.

Mrs. Ruth McKenzie, of East Dedham, was in Manchester for a short visit last week at the home of her brother, William S. Hodgdon.

A meeting will be held at the Food Centre Thursday, April 22, at 2.30, for anyone interested in joining a class in clothing efficiency as outlined by Mrs. Reed in her recent talk on the subject. Telephone the Food Centre—Manchester 116—if you wish any further information.

REBEKAH'S COUNTRY FAIR A FEATURE

Everything from a live rooster to new cider will be on sale this Friday evening at the Rebekah Country Fair, to be held in Town hall, Manchester. Doors will open promptly at 7.15. Thrifty housewives will do well to attend this affair. A large list of articles will be on sale including oranges, eggs, soap, potatoes, apples, groceries, provisions, and copies of the BREEZE. Prices will be less than the goods can be purchased at the stores.

An entertainment will be presented during the evening. Features will be a soloist and a child dancer. Everybody welcome. Come early and enjoy the evening.

The Sunlight Party for the children will be held tomorrow, Saturday, afternoon from 2 to 4 o'clock. There will be an entertainment for the children which will interest them.

EARLY TUESDAY MORNING FIRE DOES $2000 DAMAGE

Horace Standley Sons' Co. blacksmith shop, Manchester, was damaged by fire early Tuesday morning to the extent of about $2000. One side of the building was burned, while the office, two dynamos and a quantity of equipment were destroyed.

The fire is supposed to have started from a short circuit on the dynamo which runs the bellows and machinery.

The Manchester fire department responded promptly and the flames were confined to narrow quarters, on the first floor of the building. Smoke was the only damage on the second floor, where a few automobiles were being painted.

It is understood that the loss is well covered by insurance.

TO OUR HISTORY-LOVING CITIZENS

When you meet Indians on the streets of Manchester, tomorrow, Saturday, do not be alarmed, for they are neither warriors nor braves, but Indian maidens; and they are not looking for scalps, but for contributions to keep alive the name and fame of the First American Peacemaker, who by his protection of the Pilgrims, helped establish freedom upon this continent.

Saturday, April 17th, is Tag Day for the Pocahontas.

SUGGESTIONS ABOUT WILD FLOWERS

A Plea for Care in Picking

It is to the interest of everyone that beautiful and characteristic plants be guarded from extermination. It is believed that everyone will be ready to aid in this work if once he or she fully realizes the danger with which these plants are now threatened.

It is not our wish to discourage unnecessarily the gathering of wild flowers and ferns for decorative purposes. We ask only that they be picked with care and discrimination. Such a flower, for example, as the blue-bell should always be cut with the scissors or a knife, rather than picked, to prevent its being uprooted; and, even when cut, care should be taken to gather it only where it grows most abundantly, that no picturesque tuft be so completely done away with as to set no seeds for another year. Where there is an especially fine plant or colony, or where there is a single plant or a small colony, why not leave at least half the flowers for seed, in the one case giving nature a chance to perpetuate and develop the best, and in the other helping nature to extend her work of beautifying our surroundings?

From the purchase of the rarer flowers, especially of the purple fringed orchid, sabbatia, fringed gentians, or mayflower, we urge everyone to abstain. Children sometimes offer them for sale, innocently enough, but those who buy, and so induce the gathering and selling, are the most dangerous enemies of all rare salable flowers.

Ferns, also, should be picked with care, and not too freely, unless in spots where they are unusually abundant. The same caution should be used against breaking branches from shrubs and trees in so rude a fashion as not only to cause a temporary disfigurement, but perhaps a permanent injury.

The flowers growing in the immediate neighborhood of the roadside are a joy to the many. Is it too much to ask that these be left to delight the eyes of the passerby, and that the flowers desired for decorative purposes be sought a few feet from the highway or even from the trail? These roadside plants are constantly enjoyed by those who by reason of age or some infirmity could otherwise never see them. Were this once realized, few would hesitate to take the trouble entailed by half a dozen extra steps.

To sum up we urge:

1st. Moderation. (Not gathering too many flowers of the same kind in one locality.)

2d. Care. (The use of scissors or knife.)

3d. Judgment. (Guarding the roadside and conspicuous locations.)

4th. Occasional total abstinence. (In case of especially rare flowers.)

ABOUT SHOWS

(From Special Boston Correspondent)

What "Billie" Shakespeare said three hundred years ago about all the world being a stage and all the men and women merely players, is as true today as it was then, and like most everything else the idea has broadened until the scope of it includes young people, children and animals. Most everything in creation is inclined to activity and disposed to play, or see it in progress. It is hygienic, beneficial to moral sanity, and therefore entitled to encouragement.

There seems to be ample opportunity nowadays to witness and participate in amateur exhibitions. Enterprise, and interest in church affairs for the younger people is on the increase and performances are frequently given by church societies that outshine in talent and magnificence, those given in professional play-houses. Take as an instance, if you please, the entertainment given at Jordan Hall in the New England Conservatory of Music, Boston, by St. Thomas parish, under the auspices of St. Thomas Catholic association, in aid of the school fund, at Jamaica Plain.

The front cover of the handsomely illustrated program, announces Jazz-Land — Laugh-Laden-Lines, Toe-Tickling-Tunes, Splashing Big Cast, and on the title page is a fine engraving of Rt. Rev. Edward J. Moriarty, I. P. P., rector of St. Thomas church, Jamaica Plain, following which is the body of the book including the names of one hundred and fifty of the older and younger sets, who took their various parts in a charmingly artistic manner.

Three very profitable performances were given, and the success was largely due to the efforts of the Hon. Francis J. Horgan, who was chairman of the committee on arrangements.

MINSTREL SHOW

MANCHESTER ODD FELLOWS WILL PUT ON GLOUCESTER TROUPE

Under the auspices of Magnolia lodge, 149, I. O. O. F., the Second Degree minstrel team of Ocean lodge, Gloucester, will put on their minstrel show in Manchester Town hall next Wednesday evening at 8 o'clock.

There will be no reserved seats, and the price of admission is placed at a very low figure, so as to be within the reach of everyone. Admission will be 20c for children under 14 years, and 35c for others—war tax included.

Those who have seen the show in Gloucester say there is plenty of fun from start to finish, and lots of good singing and specialty numbers. The program is as follows:

Opening chorus by the Company
 "When My Shoes Wear Out I'll be on My Feet Again" Mr. McInnis
 "Since July 1 the Corkscrew has Lost Its Pull" Mr. Mason
 "You Can't Drive a Nail with a Sponge No Matter How Much You Soak It" Mr. Glover
 The House Wrecker Clog Mr. Mason
 "It's Better to Eat Your Soup With a Sponge" Mr. Steele
 "You Have to Look Twice to See Me" Mr. Webber
 "I'm So Glad I'm Alive, I'm Almost Dead" Mr. Rogers
 "How We Did It in the Navy" Mr. Sofford

"His Shoes Will Fill the Foot of Essex Street" Mr. Flygare
 A Simple Ballad Mr. Foley
 Closing chorus by the Company

The local lodge is putting on this show as one of the means of raising funds to help defray the lodge's expenses to the big convention parade in Boston next September, when the boys will go in full numbers, taking along a band with them.

Anyone desiring a pleasant evening's entertainment, with lots of good, wholesome fun, should attend the show, next Wednesday evening.

STORY HIGH SCHOOL

MANCHESTER

The Senior class of the Story High school held a supper at the vestry of the Baptist church Thursday of last week. The coöperation of nearly the entire class and the committee of four, Bernice Lee, Helen Beaton, Mr. Miguel and Mr. Wade, helped to make it a success in every way. Hearty thanks are extended to all who contributed in any manner. The class cleared nearly $35.

THE OPERETTA

It is to be presented in the Town hall by the Girl's Glee club of Story High school, Friday evening, April 23, at 8 o'clock, and its production is being ably supported by Miss Emily Ferriera in the leading role, the Orpheus club orchestra, Miss Beatrice Long in charge of the "Dance of the Dawn," and Charles R. Peart, scenic artist.

The theme of the comedy is based on the idea that the simple country life is sometimes preferable to the endless whirl of a rich girl's social duties. This gives opportunity for fun, and the music is of the kind sure to appeal to popular taste.

Reserved seat tickets are on sale at Allen's Drug store.

C. E. CONVENTIONAPRIL 19 RED LETTER DAY FOR ENDEAVORERS

The annual convention of Essex County C. E. Union will be held in Beverly next Monday. At least 1500 delegates are expected to attend.

The big feature of the morning will be the parade. Two bands will provide music. Harry S. Rice, of Salem, is to be the marshal; Grafton R. Owens, G. Dana Younger and Abbott B. Foster, of Manchester, aides. The Unions will march in the following order: Haverhill, Lawrence, Andover, Amesbury, Newburyport, Cape Ann, Lynn, Salem, Intermediates and Juniors.

The morning session is scheduled to begin at 10.15 o'clock. Address of welcome will be made by M. Max Hopkins, president of Salem Union, and Hon. James McPherson, mayor of Beverly. Devotional exercises will be conducted by Rev. Carey W. Chamberlain, pastor of the entertaining church. Regular business will be transacted, with two-minute reports by the county officers and union presidents. Karl F. Wilson, secretary of the Massachusetts C. E. Union, will speak.

Dinner will be served at the Dane st. church, G. A. R. hall and Odd Fellows hall. Pilgrimages have been arranged to Hospital Point and Salem reservoir, and bus rides to Singing Beach, Manchester. The Y. M. C. A. has opened its doors to the delegates and a social period will be enjoyed.

The afternoon session will start at 2.15. Stanley B. Vandersall, alumni superintendent of the United Society, will speak. Conferences will be conducted on various lines of Christian Endeavor activities.

Supper will be served on the cafeteria plan at the Y. M. C. A., Dane st. and First Baptist churches. The evening session, starting at 6.30, will be addressed by E. P. Gates, one of the best of C. E. speakers. The new shield will be awarded the Union having the highest percent of attendance.

Miss Effie Stidstone, of Manchester, is chairman of the program committee; Abbott B. Foster is chairman of the publicity committee and vice-chairman of the general committee; J. Sewell Day and Albert F. Simms, of Beverly Farms, are chairmen of the reception and decoration committees, respectively.

A large delegation from Manchester is planning to attend this convention.

LIBRARY NOTES

New Books in Manchester Public Library

Stories of the sea, and of "those that go down to the sea in ships" are usually in great demand.

The history of our country is closely associated with the sea, and before giving a list of stories, I will mention some works that tell us much about our naval history. The biographies of most of our naval heroes may be found in the library.

There is the famous Scotch-American adventurer, John Paul Jones, who joined the American navy in 1775. He captured the British ships "Drake" and "Serapis."

There were two commodores by the name of Perry—Oliver Hazard Perry, who defeated the English at the battle of Lake Erie in 1813, during the War of 1812, and Matthew Calbraith Perry, who in 1852 opened up the ports of Japan to the commerce of the world.

Admiral Farragut was one of the heroes of the Civil war. He took New Orleans, and destroyed the Confederate navy at the battle of Mobile bay. Then there is Admiral George Dewey, made famous by the battle of Manila bay.

There is a little volume entitled "Our Three Admirals, Farragut, Porter and Dewey," by James Homans, that gives in a few words the story of their lives.

"Life and Adventures of 'Jack' Philip" is the biography of another American naval officer. "History of the United States Navy 1775-1901" is an encyclopedia of information in a very readable form. "Old Ship Masters of Salem," by Charles E. Trow, reads like a novel.

It is interesting to note that many of the writers of our best sea stories spent part of their lives aboard ship—Richard H. Dana, Captain Frederick Marryat, Frank T. Bullen and Joseph Conrad.

"Two Years Before the Mast" is one of the greatest of modern sea classics. Have you read it? Frederick Marryat was captain in the English navy. He wrote "Mr. Midshipman Easy," "Masterman Ready," "Newton Forster," "The Pirate and the Cutters" and "The Privateersman."

William Clark Russell is another noted writer of marine fiction. He was born in New York of English parents, and was educated in England. He spent several years of his life as a sailor. A few of his books are "The Emigrant Ship," "The Cruise of the Pretty Polly," "The Flying Dutchman," "Marooned," "The Wreck of the Corsaire" and "The Wreck of the Grosvenor."

"Westward Ho," by Charles Kingsley, is a vivid description of life at sea, during the reign of Queen Elizabeth.

The humorous side of the sailor's life is finely portrayed by W. W. Jacobs in "Captains All," "The Castaways," "Deep Waters," "Light Freights," "A Master of Craft," "Many Cargoes," "More Cargoes," "Night Watches" and others.

There are two very amusing tales by Frank R. Stockton—"Adventures of Captain Horn" and "The Casting Away of Mrs. Leeks and Mrs. Ale-shine."

Jack London also has two good stories, nautical in character—"The Mutiny of the Elsinore" and "Jerry of the Islands."

Another prolific writer of sea stories is Frank T. Bullen. He is the author of "The Cruise of the Cachalot," "Deep Sea Plunderings," "Idylls of the Sea," "The Men of the Merchant Service" and "A Whaleman's Wife."

Other popular tales are "The Log of the Maryland" and "Perseverance Island," by Douglas Frazer; also "Typhce," "Omoo" and "White Jacket," by Herman Melville.

Poets have written much about the sea. Kipling's "Seven Seas," Henry Newbold's "Island Race" and Masefield's "Salt-Water Poems and Ballads" are good examples. Many other books about the sea could be mentioned, but the above list will give you an idea of what may be found in the library on this subject. Next week we hope to have some more new books.

MAGNOLIA

Susie Symonds is visiting friends in New Hampshire.

A party will be held in the Women's clubhouse this evening under the auspices of the Lend-a-Hand.

Leon T. Foster has recently installed a new soda fountain in his drug store and he is preparing for another busy summer.

Mr. and Mrs. Smith have recently returned to their summer cottage on the Shore rd., having spent the winter in Newton Centre.

Loring Cook of Boston spent the week-end here. He and his family will occupy the Brown bungalow on Norman ave., this season.

Timothy McCarthy called on old friends in this village Tuesday. He and his family will occupy their home off Raymond st., this summer.

Services will be held in the Village church Sunday at 10.45 a. m., with preaching by the pastor. Sunday school meets at 11.45 a. m.

Capt. Johnson, of Gloucester, was here Wednesday calling at the Mallard House upon Mrs. Christine Brown, whom he has known for nearly 50 years.

Mr. and Mrs. William Knowles, their baby girl and Mrs. Knowles, Sr., of Ipswich, motored here Sunday to visit Mrs. C. Brown and family at the Mallard House.

Mrs. Ernest Howe returned the first of the week from her trip by auto to New York city and Hartford, Conn., where she was a guest of her brother, Thomas Abbott, and family.

Mr. and Mrs. Small and family have moved to Gloucester from Magnolia ave., where they have lived for many years. Mr. Small is now employed by D. C. Ballou, our local contractor.

Mrs. Johanna Seaberg has been here during the week looking after her property. She has spent the winter in Boston with her family. The first of next week she will return to Magnolia for the summer.

Street Commissioner James Wolfe is busy these days cleaning the roads and sidewalks of this village. Already he has greatly improved the looks of Magnolia ave., and other avenues and streets will look better before he is done with them.

Among our young men who are now making good in other places is Ralph Story, of Akron, Ohio. He is in the drafting department of the Goodyear Tire and Rubber Co., and he has recently had another substantial raise in salary. Good to hear that our boys are doing well!

MAIL FOR BOSTON

NUMERICAL SYSTEM AROUSING CONSIDERABLE INTEREST THROUGHOUT COUNTRY

The Boston Postoffice with the co-operation of the Boston Chamber of Commerce has introduced a numeral system of addressing mail intended for delivery in the Boston Postal District. This system is arousing considerable interest throughout the country.

All that is required is simply the addition of the postal station number to the name of the office. This number can be obtained from correspondents whose mail is delivered through the Boston Postoffice or any of the 74 delivery stations and branches.

The numeral plan was adopted with the purpose in view of furnishing postal employees with a key number which would indicate the proper office of delivery. This has become necessary because of the size and the complicated boundary lines of the Boston Postal District, the constantly increasing volume of business and the growing tendency toward incorrect addresses. The Boston Postal District covers an area of 232 square miles and embraces within its limits 23 cities and towns. It is a prodigious feat for clerks to memorize fifteen thousand items of distribution, as well as the different names with their constant changes, and at the same time handle the mail expeditiously.

The numeral plan will be an important factor in eliminating multiple handlings and consequent delays to mail that at the present time occur through failure of correspondents to furnish complete addresses.

The plan does not provide for the discontinuance of the name of any local station or branch, or change in the form of the address in any other manner. It simply involves the addition of the number to the address, thus:

Mr. John Doe,
5 Blank Street,
Boston 9, Mass.

Readers of this paper will secure earlier deliveries of their mail if they will immediately ascertain from their Boston correspondents their correct numeral and include it in the address, in the manner suggested above.

Firms and individuals may submit a copy of their Boston mailing list to the Postmaster at Boston and the correct numeral showing the office of delivery will be added to each address.

EXPRESS RATES TO BE INCREASED WITHIN SHORT TIME

New efforts to improve the standards of the express service throughout the country are contemplated by the American Railway Express Co., which will continue the handling of business as a single unit, for the time being, at least. A statement to this effect was made Wednesday by C. B. Stanley, manager for the company in Manchester.

The situation with regard to the express business differs from that of the railroads in that the government has guaranteed the present company against an operating deficit for the next six months, instead of guaranteeing the profits for a period of three years, as has been done in the case of the railroads. But no service can survive if it is operated at a deficit, and so the company feels that it is necessary to have an increase in express rates, in order to make the express service a paying business, and to bring it up to its old-time standards of efficiency.

Salem's Master Carpenter

"The Art of Erecting Expressive and Beautiful Things"

By LILLIAN McCANN

"Architecture can want no commendation, where there are noble men, or noble minds."—Sir Henry Wotton.

SALEM had a master carpenter. "The master carpenters of a hundred-odd years ago combined the present professions of architect, contractor, builder, decorator, and artisan. They were workmen who lived with their tools and not in sumptuous city offices. Yet they honored their craft and exalted it."

"Architecture is the art of erecting expressive and beautiful buildings," it is said by H. Heathcote Statham.

Since buildings are made for shelter and practical purposes and their appearance is second in importance, we are told that "a building ought to express in its external design its internal planning and arrangement; in other words, the architectural design should arise out of the plan and disposition of the interior, or be carried on concurrently with it, not designed as a separate problem." Or this truth may be stated in still a shorter way: "Architectural design should express and emphasize the practical requirements and physical conditions of the building."

It is claimed that buildings created by one who took pleasure in the creating are the only ones in which we get that supreme sense of satisfaction in observing their "character" and "style." When the designer has taken interest and pleasure and used some originality in his work we feel the "character" of it, although it cannot be defined.

Matthew Arnold has written of poetry:

"What poets feel not, when they make
A pleasure in creating,
The world, in its turn, will not take Pleasure in contemplating."

Gives Pleasure to Spectator

So with architecture, or all art, declares Statham. He says: "Where something is designed because the designer liked doing it, and was trying to please his own fancy instead of copying what a hundred other men have done before, it will go hard, but he will give some pleasure to the spectator."

Again Statham says:

"Architecture is now, and must be for the future, a personal art, like sculpture and painting in which the individual architect gives his impress to his own work, only influenced, more or less, like the sculptor and painter, by the prevalent taste or tendency of the day."

So much for architecture in general. The North Shore has so many rare and truly beautiful specimens of the art set here and there along its wooded, rocky shores that the BREEZE Estates department should never lack for material.

In "Early American Craftsmen," by Walter A. Dyer, a chapter is devoted to Salem's master carpenter, Samuel McIntire. A short summary of this sketch we hope will be of interest.

Not a few of the North Shore summer places have parts of old Salem houses used in their construction. The H. P. McKean, Jr., and Geo. A. Dobyne places at Beverly Farms, and Mrs. Chas. S. Tuckerman's house in Ipswich are among those that have been enriched by parts of old-time houses.

Many Treasures in Salem

We all agree with Mr. Dyer, it is presumed, that in no single spot in the country are there "more of these treasures of architectural craftsmanship to be found than at Salem." He says that these early master carpenters built private houses in New England and the south which constitute our chief claim to a native school of architecture. Although the style of the houses was common in England at the time, yet these men had a distinguishing touch clearly discerned in their products.

Dyer speaks of the prosperous Salem of old; the fortunes gained in fisheries and overseas trade; the building of houses of elegance equal to any manor house in Virginia. He says: "The doorways and interior woodwork particularly—the mantels, paneling, and stairways—exhibit a remarkable feeling for classic detail and a restraint and care in workmanship seldom found elsewhere."

White pine, which grew in abundance along the coast, was generally used for interior woodwork, usually after being well seasoned. White paint was used and the remarkably well preserved white-painted, carved woodwork is a joy to look upon in the present day. Dyer thinks the skill acquired by these master carpenters in their wonderful wood carving and ornamental work was due to their training to a great extent in the shipyards of Salem. He says some of the details suggest marine cabin work. "But beneath it all lay the true spirit of craftsmanship inherent in the Yankee artisan—the impulse to do things as well as they could be done."

Training from Books

Dyer says one is inclined to marvel at the knowledge of styles possessed by these wood workers. They were mostly Yankees who had not traveled and seen the best in architecture. But they knew how to use books, he explains. He thinks it was from books as well as their shipyard training that they gained much of their knowledge and inspiration. They "had access to the best architectural books of the period, but they were not slavish copyists. They adapted the best that they

Seeing You on Sunday

Here's hoping that I see you on Sunday
And that you shake my hand,
And look me in the eye again
In the way we understand.
I've kinda had my bumps this week,
And though you'll never know,
I feel that my supply of sand
Is running pretty low.
I want to see the face again,
Of you and you and you.
It helps to clear the track ahead
And pull the old load through.
There's something in your manner
There's something in your smile,
That makes me fight to keep my place
On the good highway "Worth While."
Just seeing you on Sunday
Is a flying start for Monday.

found, and the style suffered not in its translation at their hands."

Salem's master carpenters have mostly all been forgotten, save one—Samuel McIntire. He designed nearly all of the best houses from 1782 to 1811. He was born in Salem, lived and worked in and near Salem and died there. Dyer says that in spite of this restricted life his work "displays a depth and breadth of artistic feeling and understanding that are truly remarkable."

McIntire a Master Builder

The author has gathered all the facts in regard to McIntire's life that he could possibly find to insert in this chapter of his book. Few details could be found. The following sketch is taken from the diary of William Bentley, D. D., pastor of the East church, Salem. On February 7, 1811, the minister wrote:

"This day Salem was deprived of one of the most ingenious men it had in it. Samuel McIntire, aet. 54, in Summer street. He was descended of a family of carpenters who had no claims on public favor and was educated at a branch of that business. By attention he soon gained a superiority to all of his occupation and the present Court House, the North and South Meeting Houses, and indeed all the improvements of Salem for nearly 30 years past have been done under his eye. In sculpture he had no rival in New England and I possess some specimens which I should not scruple to compare with any I ever saw. To the best of my abilities I encouraged him in this branch. In music he had a good taste and though not presuming to be an original composer, he was among our best judges and most able performers. All the instruments we use he could understand and was the best person to be employed in correcting any defects, or repairing them. He had a fine person, a majestic appearance, calm countenance, great self command and amiable temper. He was welcome, but never intruded. He had complained of some obstruction in the chest, but when he died it was unexpectedly. The late increase of workmen in wood has been from the demand for exportation and this has added nothing to the character and reputation of the workman, so that upon the death of Mr. McIntire no man is left to be consulted upon a new plan of execution beyond his bare practice."

The Salem Gazette of February 8, 1811, contained the following:

"Died: Mr. McIntire, a man much beloved and sincerely lamented. He was originally bred to the occupation of a housewright, but his vigorous mind soon passed the limits of his profession and aspired to the interesting and admirable science of architecture, in which he advanced far beyond most of his countrymen. He made an assiduous study of the great classical masters, with whose works, notwithstanding their rarity in this country, Mr. McIntire had a very intimate acquaintance."

He was buried in Charter Street Burial Ground, Salem.

Beauty of Embellishments

Dyer says: "In one sense he never became a great architect. His houses are mostly the square, three-story mansions of the period, that leave much to be desired in the way of grace and variety. His fame rests rather on the beauty of the embellishments of these houses—their doorways, window frames, cornices, gateposts, and their incomparable interior wood-work."

The chapter closes with a list and comment upon some of his work. To his credit we note the following: South church, Salem, built in 1804 and burned in 1903; Court House, 1786; Registry of Deeds, 1807; Assembly hall, 138 Federal st., 1782, and made into a private residence about 1795. Among private mansions, the following: The Pierce-Johnnot-Nichols house, 80 Federal st., 1782; Hamilton hall, Chestnut st., 1808; the Crowninshield mansion, Derby st., 1810; the Derby-Rogers-Maynes house, Essex st.; the White-Pingree house, 128 Essex st., 1810; the Tucker-Rice house, 129 Essex st., 1800, and partly dismantled in 1910; the Cook-Oliver house, 142 Federal st., 1804; the Kimball house, 14 Pickman st.; Oak Hill, the Rogers home at Peabody, 1800; and a few others. Essex Institute in Salem contains specimens of McIntire's work along various lines. Here may be seen a

April Sale of Nemo Self Reducing Corsets Made of "USARO" Cloth

"Usaro" Cloth was never intended to be used as a Corset material; instead, it was made for the United States government for use in covering the wings of airplanes.

The government's specifications for the cloth stipulated extreme lightness with extraordinary durability. Only first-class and perfect materials were accepted and all others were rejected.

The yarns used in its construction are of very fine quality, mercerized and closely twisted so as to produce the maximum strength with the minimum thickness and weight.

The cost of this cloth would be prohibitive if made especially for corsets, but the government had a large quantity of it on hand and had to get rid of it. As it lends itself admirably to the manufacture of high-class corsets the Nemo makers were fortunate in securing a large quantity of it.

This cloth is introduced in several of the best-selling Nemo Corsets, and will materially enhance their values and wearing quality. We show it in one of the best selling models. Sizes 23 to 36 at

"The People Should Have the Same Right to Help Nominate a President as They Have to Elect a President"

(The Late Cong. A. P. Gardner)

This principle was endorsed by the people of the Sixth Congressional District in two national campaigns. If you believe that it still holds true, go to the polls next Tuesday and vote for the candidates committed to that principle.

FOR DISTRICT DELEGATES

GEORGE Von L. MEYER of Hamilton	Favorable to Leonard Wood	X
WILLIAM HENRY ROOT of Haverhill	Favorable to Leonard Wood	X

FOR ALTERNATES

WILLIAM H. McSWEENEY of Salem	Favorable to Leonard Wood	X
GAYDEN W. MORRILL of Newburyport	Favorable to Leonard Wood	X

These men are willing to take you into their confidence. They tell you where they stand.

They Are Favorable to LEONARD WOOD

Their opponents refuse to tell you where they stand! They want you to send them to Chicago to exercise their own sweet will or the will of the old-time Bosses, regardless of your desires in the matter.

CAPT. MEYER and COL. ROOT stand for the Republicanism as espoused by ROOSEVELT, LODGE and GARDNER.

They are young and alert.

They served in the late war, one as an aide to Gen. Wood, the other in the 26th Division.

If You Elect Them to Go to Chicago, They Will Represent Your Wishes as Expressed at the Polls and Not the Wishes of Outside Interests.

PRIMARIES, TUESDAY, APRIL 27

Mayor Charles D. Brown, 10 Sayward st., Gloucester, Mass.

CHILDREN IN POLAND ARE FACING STARVATION

"By April when the weather would favor a Bolshevik offensive, unless food from the outside is forthcoming, the Poles will be facing starvation. The army lacks ammunition for a major campaign and lacks rolling stock for its transport. Poland's only assets are a plentiful man power and burning patriotism."

The foregoing assertion was made in Paris recently by Frederick Palmer, the American writer and war correspondent, who only recently returned through Poland. Mr. Palmer made a careful investigation there and bases his assertion not on what he was told, but on what he saw and learned for himself.

It is easy to realize the desperation of Poland's plight. It is a plain duty incumbent upon the allies and especially incumbent upon America, the land of prosperity and plenty, to extend aid to these people, broken, suffering and threatened with even greater calamities. There is no time to be wasted in sending help to them; it is literally a race between life and death. The lives of hundreds of thousands of children in Poland are in jeopardy.

Kindly make all contributions payable to James A. Blair, Jr., treasurer, National Allied Relief Committee, Inc., 2 West 45th st., New York city.

Never try to convince a friend that he is wrong. If you succeed you will gain nothing, and you are likely to lose a friend.

THE PRICES THAT ARE NOW being paid for Liberty bonds have reached a new low level. Millions of dollars' worth of bonds have changed hands. Many people who have with patience saved, from meagre earnings, funds to be placed at the disposal of the government during the war, have either lost money when turning the bonds into cash, or have seen their savings value shrink if they have been retained. The result of market depreciation of Liberty bonds is to be regretted. The situation is unavoidable. Despite the fact that many have with sacrifice and patriotic effort purchased bonds, there is nothing which the governors of the stock exchange or the officers of the government can do. Liberty bonds must take their relative values in the market due to the operation of the usual laws of supply and demand. Now that the war is over the bonds must meet the competition which other interest-paying investments offer. There are many reasons why the bonds have decreased in value. High rates are available now for money in many reasonably safe investment papers. The owners of Liberty bonds have sold their stock and transferred their ownings. Thousands of bonds have reached the market because of the spendthrift mood which exists. Many unscrupulous tradesmen have entered the market to obtain Liberty bonds in exchange for merchandise or stocks. Often these have been worthless investments that have been grasped by exploiters for gains illegitimately acquired. There is competition for funds which the prosperity of the times compels. The low interest payments on the Liberty bonds have tended to make them less attractive. It is an unfortunate situation, especially for small investors who have relied upon the integrity of their government to maintain the face values of their bonds. Even these do not lose funds unless they sell. The new low price is working a hardship to those who are forced to sell, for the discount indicates a very heavy shrinkage which no investor can afford to lose. The new price, however, makes a good purchasing market and investors have an opportunity to buy bonds at a low level, thus equalizing the costs of their present holdings. The interest return on Liberty bonds at present prices should make small investors buy more bonds rather than sell. The issues which present special tax privileges are still attractive to trustees and managers of funds. It is unfortunate that the issues of our government should fall so far below par; there is nothing that can be done to remedy the situation. The bonds will inevitably seek higher levels and there is nothing that individuals can do except to await the operation of the laws of supply and demand and the competition for money to place the bonds at a higher level. Meanwhile no money will be lost if the bonds are not sold.

EUROPE IS AMAZED at our dilatory conduct since the war ended and the period of peace began. How can it be helped? But Europe will quickly turn about when the need is aroused for the aid of America. America is a little slow, but the hearts of the people are right, despite the apparent carelessness of the government in the handling of the situation.

THE GENEROUS WAY in which the Canadian government has cared for the men who served in its armies should serve to shame our nation into doing something, worthily, for the men who served overseas. There are many objectionable ways in which the funds may be raised that would justly arouse opposition. A careful consideration of all sides of the question ought to reveal a method by which the nation can with the greatest facility raise the funds for the bonus disbursements. Public opinion has been crystallizing slowly and it has finally reached that stage where everyone agrees that the nation should make some recognition of the service rendered by the men who were overseas. There was a time when the service men were strongly advocating merely a thorough-going, systematic provision for the men who had been injured or incapacitated in the war. While these men deserve to be cared for, and should above every other war expense, it is now seen that the nation should do something for all of the men who have been in the service. How, is another matter! There is no question that politics and other reprehensible elements enter into the discussion of the problem. However the political chicanery of unworthy men may be deplored, the situation still remains that the nation owes these men who served, a recognition in money that has not yet been made. All of the proposals will be expensive. All of them involve raising the money. Money involves expense and eventually that expense must be borne by the people of the nation; there are no wildcat methods of national finances that will eliminate the costs involved. The problem is to arrange the bonus payments and plan for the funds in such a way as will least interfere with the business of the country and distribute the expense justly. It presents a problem that cannot be honorably avoided.

THE HUNGARIAN PEASANT who inherited a stone which he discovered to be a ruby of great value was able to realize the commercial value of his inheritance. In this year of our Pilgrim Centenary, who has appraisal powers so keen as to appreciate the value of the stone on the shores of Plymouth bay that symbolizes all that our nation has accorded in rights and privileges to her citizens?

THE SIMULTANEOUS CAMPAIGN for funds for extension work by over 30 Protestant denominations will be begun next Sunday afternoon and maintained for one week with a Victory Sunday on May 2. Large gifts have already been made toward the funds of the various denominations and its success is already assured. The allied organizations are to share equitably in all the funds raised by the Interchurch organization for the various denominations; the funds raised by the individual denominations will be used for the work of the denominations making the drive. Already a careful budget has been prepared and the announcement has been made stating where the funds will be placed. The foreign fields and the neglected districts of our own cities and country areas have been planned for. Hospitals and homes for the sick, the incurable and the aged will be established and maintained. In large centres social service institutions will be organized and provided with adequate plants to do efficient work. Schools and colleges will also share in the benefits of the campaign. There are many secondary and collegiate schools maintained by the churches as well as colleges and seminaries that have been hard hit and improperly maintained since the beginning of the war. The campaign is more than a drive for funds, for it marks an epoch in the history of the churches of America. It means that there is to be coordination and coöperation and that the unified interests of great denominations will be mobilized and more efficient and enduring work done. With the present chaotic conditions existing in the country there is a need for the strong and continuous application of the principles of honor, righteousness, justice and morality for which the churches stand. The war made the world safe for democracy. The principles of the church are the saving principles of all life.

NOW THERE ARE regular strikes, outlaw strikes, walk-outs and plain strikes. The question is, when is a strike not a strike?

THERE HAS BEEN ANOTHER ADVANCE in the price of coal which has not been satisfactorily accounted for. It appears that the price paid for the coal is the same now at the mouth of the mine as it was before the increase was announced. It is to be regretted that the workers who toil in the bowels of the earth, away from the sunlight and in foul air could not have had a generous part of the increase added to their earnings. The new increase appears somewhere on the selling end. The situation is to be regretted, for every rise in the price of a commodity is directly and indirectly borne by the rich and the poor. The increased costs to manufacturing establishments are reflected in the price of the commodities placed upon the market, and the consumer pays the bill. This is the indirect way in which the increased prices are placed upon the people. Directly, the public pays a larger amount of money for the heating of the homes of the land. The new increase is unfortunate and works a great hardship upon all. The retailers of coal, undoubtedly, have added overhead expenses because of the increased costs of doing business and in the payment of help. All the difficulties which are borne by business men in every line of merchandising have to be met by the coal operators, whether wholesalers or retailers. A substantial increase in the price charged for coal over the old prices was to be expected, but it would appear now that an effort is being made not only to wipe out the increased overhead charges, but to establish larger returns on investments.

Breezy Briefs

It is said that British clergymen are urging their flocks to wear cotton stockings, not only because they are cheaper in price than silk, but because "they will lengthen the dresses, and thus have a beneficial effect on the country's morals." Manufacturers of silk hosiery can be depended on to oppose this cotton stocking proposition.

"How desperately worried the administration is lest we get out of the war it tried to keep us out of," comments an exchange. We were a long time getting into the fray and it looks as though we would be a long time getting out of it.

It is as we expected! Overalls are now priced at $43.50 per pair. A merchant in Newark, N. J., advertises as follows: "Plain overalls, $2.25 to $3.50; overalls with belts and solid gold, sterling silver, and French enamel buckles, from $4.50 to $10.25; overalls with rhinestone buckles, $43.50."

A Boston woman when arrested on the charge of operating an illicit still, excused herself by saying she was making whiskey for her sick husband. If the court allows this excuse, it is likely that there will be an epidemic of sick husbands.

Marblehead has 40 striking shoemakers who want a 100% raise in their wages, it is said. The old days when workmen struck for an increase of 5 or 10% seem long ago.

High costs are going to affect the Republican convention in Chicago this year. It is announced that delegates will be offered rooms in palatial mansions at prices ranging from $150 to $600 per day.

ROGER BABSON, Who Is well and favorably known by the people of the North Shore, has been attacked by a certain politician who aspires to be a statesman, but lacks the unmistakable qualities of patience, punctiliousness and precision in choosing issues to ever reach the higher station. Mr. Babson is accused of accepting a government appointment which he used to his own advantage. Mr. Smoot is not well-known hereabouts, but Mr. Babson is. His citizenship ideals have always been the highest and his public-spirited service during the war period cannot be denied. Mr. Babson is a capable man, with large business interests and keen insight. He self-sacrificingly gave of his time to his nation and received the rewards; he sought the privilege, the opportunity and the pleasure of serving his nation to the best of his abilities at the time the nation needed the service. He served honorably, and now comes the petty attack which is made by a man who can hardly expect that his affront will be justified in an investigation. Mr. Babson has always conducted himself in a straightforward, upright manner and any rumor of underhanded methods of benefitting himself in the time of war at the expense of his government, is unbelievable to those who know him. The proposed investigation was not necessary. Now that the issue is raised let it be made. The honest man has nothing to lose by investigations, however uncomfortable and disconcerting they may be. The carping criticism of public officers who serve in high positions in a republic is one of the condemnable features of our democracy. Mr. Babson may not expect to escape the inevitable "slings and arrows" of public life inspired by men who are not careful or considerate in their judgments.

THERE IS A HOUSING PROBLEM which throws obligations upon the rent payers, but the landlords are not all escaping the difficulties which the increased costs impose.

ONE OF THE FACTORS in the house problem of the North Shore communities is the higher ideals of the people. Better living accommodations are demanded with more rooms for the family. This is a condition to be commended and not condemned. The community can afford to have a building problem when the inhabitants are demanding better living conditions.

sion and Middlebury girls are running true to tradition with 90% of this year's graduates signifying their intention of teaching next year. Many of the girls have already signed contracts at $1200 for the year. It is encouraging to observe that there is a substantial increase in the salary paid beginners.

The suit to test Mary Pickford's divorce is filed "in the interest of the state of Nevada," but we presume many hundreds of thousands of Mary's admirers will also be interested.

Carelessness of a station agent in writing an order is given as a cause of a recent train wreck in Vermont. Illegible scrawls have been responsible for many losses, and now poor writing is charged with being responsible for the deaths of ten persons.

A one-minute suspension of service by 12,000,000 telephones and 24,000,000 miles of leased wire was the tribute paid the late Theodore N. Vail during his funeral Sunday by the

It costs approximately $18,000,000 a day to run the government now. Think of that the next time you pay a few pennies tax for ice cream or soda.

It is proposed that the price at which shoes are sold by the manufacturers to dealers shall be stamped on the soles of the shoes. Probably there will not be the least objection to this on the part of the purchasing pub-

Reel one: Mary Pickford Marries Owen Moore. Reel two: Divorce. Reel three: Mary Marries Douglas Fairbanks. Reel four: Divorce is contested. Reel five ? ? ? "The Matrimonial Mixups of Mary" ought to prove a popular feature.

"The multiplex telephone system now being installed between Boston and Bangor will enable, for example, one telephone subscriber in Worcester, one in New Bedford, one in Lowell, one in Waltham, and one in East Boston to talk simultaneously over one Boston-to-Bangor circuit with five other subscribers in Bangor, Millinocket, Bar Harbor, Calais, and St. John, N. B.," says the Boston Globe. With all of those conversations being held at the same time who can blame the operator for saying "The line is busy."

Lady Astor, who got the reputation of being opposed to prohibition because, while opposed to the liquor traffic, she said she had so much of old Adam in her that she hates to be "prohibited," has come out strong for prohibition now. "The world would be five times better and happier if there were not a drop of liquor in it," she declares. Lady Astor is exercising the woman's prerogative of changing her mind.

OUR HOLIDAYS

Their Significance

By GWENDOLYN RALEIGH

ARBOR DAY and BIRD DAY

Saturday, April 24

"It is well that you should celebrate your Arbor Day thoughtfully, for within your lifetime the nation's need of trees will become serious. We of an older generation can get along with what we have, though with growing hardships; but in your full manhood and womanhood you will want what nature once so bountifully supplied, and man so thoughtlessly destroyed; and because of that want you will reproach us, not for what we have used, but for what we have wasted." Thus spoke Theodore Roosevelt not many years ago in an Arbor Day letter to the school children of the United States.

"A people without children would face a hopeless future," he continued; "a country without trees is almost as hopeless; forests which are so used that they cannot renew themselves will soon vanish, and with them all their benefits. A true forest is not merely a storehouse full of wood, but, as it were, a factory of wood, and at the same time a reservoir of water. When you help to preserve our forests or plant new ones you are acting the part of a good citizen. The value of forestry deserves, therefore, to be taught in the schools, which aim to make good citizens of you. If your Arbor Day exercises help you to realize what benefits each one of you received from the forests, and how by your assistance these benefits may continue, they will serve a good end."

Arbor Day was adopted in this country in 1872, in the state of Nebraska. It was this which changed that state from "The Great American Desert" into the fertile and prosperous farming and orchard country it is today. More than 800-million trees have been planted in that state.

Planted Tree Every Time a Child was Born

America, however, cannot claim the distinction of having originated the Arbor Day idea, for the ancient Aztecs of Central America, centuries before Columbus sailed to these shores, are said to have planted a tree every time a child was born, and to have given the child's name to the tree. In parts of Mexico the Indians still keep up this old custom.

In Germany forests are cared for as carefully as any other standing crop, and each family in some rural districts plants its own trees, with special ceremonies, forty days after Easter.

An old Swiss record tells of an early Tree Day of the fifth century celebrated in that country.

The Arbor Day movement has spread and is now being celebrated in the Hawaiian Islands and even in Japan, where the Emperor's birthday has been chosen for the date.

Trees play no small part in making the North Shore "America's Playground," and they are being carefully preserved; though here and there along the Shore one notices that trees have been cut down during the past winter.

Birds Sing Message of Spring's Arrival

And now we come to the Bird Day portion of the celebration. Of course we could not do without our birds. We would miss the hardy little sparrows during the long winter months and we all eagerly look for the arrival of the robin with his gay little message that spring has arrived! And then we are awakened some morning by the song of the bluebird and we realize that spring is in full swing. Summer creeps quickly upon us, bringing with it the song of the thrush and blackbird; the cheery note of the warbler and bobolink; the oriole, waxwing, and tanager, in their brilliant colored coats.

One invariably connects summer with birds and trees, and we must not forget that both are doing us a great service. The trees by giving us wood. More than 330 millions of dollars' worth of wood is used in United States for kindling and grate alone! Then there are our buildings. The furniture used and tools, wagons, toys, barrels and many, many more things. Again the wood of certain trees is ground into pulp for the manufacture of paper; that of other trees is used for making gun powder; the pine trees give us pitch, tar and resin; and the bark of several trees is used for tanning leather. From a large number of trees dyes are obtained and valuable medicines are prepared, some of which were used by the Indians long before the white man ever came to this country.

Without Birds World Would be Uninhabitable

The birds? Why, the birds are also doing us a service. Jules Michelet, the talented French naturalist and historian, says in one of his books that if all the birds of the world were destroyed, within nine years it would be impossible for man to inhabit it. Certain birds, like the owls, prey upon small gnawing animals, such as the rat and the mouse, which work such havoc in our orchards and gardens and fields. Others feed upon insects.

Dr. Chapman says: "In the air swallows and swifts are coursing rapidly to and fro ever in pursuit of the insects which constitute their sole food. When they retire the nighthawks and whip-poor-wills take up the chase, catching moths and other nocturnal insects which would escape the day-flying birds. Flycatchers lie in wait, darting from ambush at passing prey, and with a suggestive click of the bill returning to their post. The warblers, light, active creatures, flutter about the foliage, and with almost the skill of a humming-bird pick insects from the leaf of the blossom. The vireos patiently explore the under-sides of leaves and odd nooks and corners to see that no skulker escapes. The woodpeckers, nuthatches and creepers attend to the trunks and limbs, examining carefully each inch of bark for its eggs and larvae, and excavating for the ants and borers that they bear within. On the ground the hunt is continued by the thrushes and sparrows and other birds. Even the insects which pass their earlier stages or their entire lives in the water are preyed upon by the water birds."

The birds are doing a wonderful and valuable work and it is only just and proper that a day should be set apart in their honor. Let us make friends with our feathery neighbors and protect them. It is a friendship that will pay us back a hundredfold.

LABOR SITUATION WILL EFFECT YACHTING

YACHTING enthusiasts who take as active an interest in the history of the sport, its past and prospects, as they do in the actual indulgence in the sport are sure that 1920 is to be a most unusual year afloat. They give many logical reasons for this belief.

Primarily, the labor situation is expected to have a most decided effect upon the sport this summer. Professional sailormen have established a scale of wages which makes the always expensive sport more than doubly so, and, as a result, a considerable percentage of the larger sailing craft, as well as a great majority of the big steam yachts usually in commission, will not be in use this year.

As a majority of the active yachtsmen in local waters are men of substantial business interests, and as these interests are going to call for closer attention this year than ordinarily, owing to the existing unrest in industrial and kindred lines, it will be impossible for most of these enthusiasts to devote much time to the sport they are so fond of. Many will participate only in the special racing.

The effect will be to restrict the sport chiefly to the racing of smaller craft this year, although the America's Cup events and the trial races which precede the classic of the seas will furnish plenty of activity in a restricted field.

New Small Class May Result

It is believed that these existing conditions which are to be responsible for the small number of large sailing craft to be put in commission this year will, in the end, serve a most useful purpose. Many owners of the larger yachts are already talking about building a class of smaller boats which will not require large crews and which may be operated at no great expense.

Craft of approximately thirty feet length on the water line, possessing good, seaworthy qualities as well as a good turn of speed and reasonable accommodations below decks, appear to meet the demands of most of those who are talking of establishing this new class.

Aside from the fact that such yachts would cost much less to operate, they also have the other great advantage of enabling the owners and their friends to take a much more intimate and active part in the actual sport itself than is possible aboard the larger sail-propelled craft where so much is left to the professionals to do. One or, at most, two paid hands would be the limit aboard these new craft and there would be fairly comfortable accommodations for the crew, the owner and two or three guests.

Sonder Yachts Renamed

That one-time popular international class of small yachts, the sonders, fostered by the one-time Kaiser William of Germany years ago, is no longer to be known by that name. At a meeting of the owners of these craft in New York, held last week, it was decided to organize the "U" Class association of Long Island Sound, and hereafter these boats are to be known as, "U" boats.

Similar action will undoubtedly be taken by North Shore yachtsmen, as there are a number of the sonder klasse boats owned in this section.

SUGGESTIONS ABOUT WILD FLOWERS

Trailing Arbutus Should be Protected

Mayflowers are sold on the streets now—Mayflowers from Plymouth; and one wonders whether their new situation as the state flower will not be the death of them altogether causing a demand for them which will greatly contribute to their extermination. The Trailing Arbutus has this disadvantage as a state emblem, that it cannot be cultivated, and any sort of public pressure upon it tends to make it more and more rare.

The area of its growth is very limited anyway, and it has been rapidly moving farther and farther away from Boston and all other Massachusetts cities. It is not nearly so common in the Plymouth woods as it was twenty years ago. It is unfortunate, too, in its manner of growth, for those who pluck it generally uproot it. The trailing vine roots along the ground, and the flowers can scarcely be gathered at all without taking some of the roots. Extremely shy in its habits, it does not recover from this treatment, but disappears from the spot. It is even possible that, if any new pressure is put upon it, the flower will disappear from the state altogether, and we shall have to go outside of Massachusetts for our own emblem.

In this situation, it is proper that some official means should be taken for the Mayflower's protection. It will probably be necessary to forbid its gathering for sale, and a regular Mayflower preserve should be established by the state in some favorable place, where no one is permitted to pluck it except agents of the state, who could provide enough of it for emblematic purposes and at the same time maintain carefully the conditions under which it thrives. An area in the Plymouth woods would be admirable for this purpose. It grows on the Wachusetts reservation, and must be cherished there. It is fairly abundant, too, though diminishing, in the Berkshire hills. The region where Trailing Arbutus is found in greatest abundance of all is Long Island. In the town of Huntington, not a mile from Walt Whitman's birthplace, it blooms literally by the acre, but even there it is disappearing. In New Hampshire it is abundant, while on some of the Vermont hill roads it grows down to the very wheel tracks. It grows in the south as well as the north, and is fairly abundant in the mountains of Georgia and the Carolinas, where it is called "wax myrtle." In view of its wide distribution, it is not probable that it will ever be exterminated altogether. But we shall have to look out for it very carefully here in populous Massachusetts lest our state flower become locally but a memory only.—J. E. CHAMBERLAIN in The Boston Transcript.

LIBRARY NOTES

New Books in Manchester Public Library

"Basil Everman," by Elsie Singmaster, is one of the new novels. It is the story of a small college town. The character that gives the title to the book never appears in person, but has a dominating influence on the story.

Ethel M. Dell's latest work is a volume of short stories called "The Tidal Wave." It is a worthy successor of "The Way of An Eagle," "The Rocks of Valpre" and "Bars of Iron."

"The Wreckers," by Francis Lynde, is a western railroad story; both realistic and romantic. Another western story is "Burned Bridges," by Bertrand W. Sinclair, author of "North of Fifty-Three" and "Big Timber." The story opens in the Canadian northwest, but soon shifts to the Pacific coast. It is a virile piece of fiction.

Do you love a good mystery story? If you do, take out "The Red Seal," by Natalie Sumner Lincoln. If you are able to guess who the real villain is before you come to the end of the story, you will be more clever than the average reader.

A volume of short stories by Harriet Prescott Spofford has been truthfully described as "charming stories of New England life." "The Elder's People" is full of mellow humor. The "Elder" reminds one of a well beloved character in New England fiction—"Dr. Lavendar."

We all should know something about the Peace Conference. There are two books, just received at the library, that give us much information about this famous convention. "The Inside Story of the Peace Conference," by Dr. Edward J. Dillon, is an illuminating record of what was done at the council table. The author considers that the conference was a failure. No matter what your views may be, the reading of this book will be worth while. The other book referred to is "The Economic Consequences of the Peace," by John Maynard Keynes. He was at the Peace Conference as the representative of the British treasury. This book has been called by Frank A. Vanderlip, the great New York banker, "the most influential publication since the armistice." His

HORTICULTURAL TOPICS

W. N. CRAIG ADDRESSES THE NORTH SHORE GARDENERS

W. N. Craig, of Brookline, addressed the regular meeting of the North Shore Horticultural society at Horticultural hall, Manchester, last Friday evening. Mr. Craig spoke on "Seasonable Horticultural Topics," giving a lecture of much interest to his hearers. He also spoke regarding "Quarantine Bill No. 37," regarding importation of plants from all foreign countries, favoring its repeal and urging every gardener and real estate owner to do his best that this might be repealed.

Various matters of public importance were discussed by Mr. Craig. Daylight saving, prohibition and woman suffrage were favored.

In comparing the New York and Boston flower shows Mr. Craig stated that in New York the spirit of commercialism interfered with horicultural interests.

description of the "Big Four" is a work of art. Like Dr. Dillon he believes that the decisions of the Conference were wrong, and gives his reasons for thinking so.

The Antarctic has had its attraction as well as the Arctic. We have two works on his subject: "The Home of the Blizzard, Being the Story of the Australasian Expedition 1911-1914," by Sir Douglas Mawson. The Boston Transcript says of this work that it is "a treasure house of facts and the tural interests. He said that at the New York show various articles from potato knives to tractors were on sale in the hall. At the Boston show it is not allowable to post an advertising card.

The Garden club of America is making arrangements to hold its convention in Manchester, June 29 and 30. This club is composed of several of the leading ladies of the land, and it is expected that from 200 to 250 delegates will be in attendance. The local society will stage its annual flower show on these two days.

The Garden club of America is especially interested in the future of horticulture. The members are desirous of ascertaining what inducements can be offered young men to learn horticulture, as very few are now studying that profession.

There will be a meeting of the National association of Gardeners in Horticultural hall, Boston, on May 6. The matter of labor will be one of the principal subjects discussed.

most wonderfully illustrated book on polar exploration ever published." The other work is "The Heart of the Antarctic, Being the Story of the British Antarctic Expedition 1907-1909," by E. H. Shackleton. It has nearly 300 illustrations. Each work is in two volumes.

"The Tall Villa," by Lucas Malet, is a mystical love story. If you want to have a good laugh read "Oh! Well! You Know What Women Are!" by Irvin Cobb, and "Isn't That Just Like a Man!" by Mary Roberts Rinehart. They may both be found in the one volume. "The River's End," by Jas. Oliver Curwood, is a good adventure story. "The Strange Case of Mortimer Fenley," by Louis Tracy, will hold your attention to the last page.

There is a new work on Ireland by George A. Birmingham, the Irish novelist, "An Irishman Looks at His World." Here you will find some Irish facts as seen by an Irishman.

We celebrate this year the tercentenary of the landing of the Pilgrims. The success of this nation is in a large measure due to the loyalty and intelligence of its women. Next week we hope to give a short bibliography of books in the library that tell us about the women who so nobly helped the builders of this republic.

Thirty-Five Percent of Persons Killed by Automobiles are Little Folks—Parents Blamed

During the past year there were 582 persons killed by automobiles in Massachusetts. Of this number, as shown by official figures, 35 percent of the recent fatal cases were children. This is a large percentage and should receive the careful attention of parents.

Frank A. Goodwin, registrar of the Motor Vehicle department, has issued a statement containing four warnings which should be indelibly impressed on the minds of the little folk. He pointed out that every year a large number of children are being killed by automobiles and motorcycles, and added that in far too many cases lack of care on the part of the child is due to failure of the parents to impress on the child the absolute necessity of it.

Here are the precautions the children should observe:

1. Don't run into the street after a ball.
2. Don't hitch on autos, wagons or trolley cars.
3. Don't run into the street from behind wagons or autos.
4. Before crossing the street look first to the left and then to the right.

SOCIETY NOTES

MRS. HENRY C. FRICK will come to her Pride's Crossing estate, "Eagle Rock," early in June to spend the summer. Her daughter, Miss Helen C. Frick, will travel in Europe this summer, and she will leave New York soon with some friends for England. They will later go to the continent and Miss Frick will devote most of her time to charity in Belgium and in France. Miss Frick will return to America in the late summer and will come to the North Shore for the early autumn. Her brother, Childs Frick, and family will leave New York soon for their new country estate at Roslyn, N. Y. They will come to Pride's Crossing for a few weeks in the late summer, and the children will be with their grandmother for a visit, too. Mrs. Frick, Sr., will have some of her friends with her most of the summer.

◆ ◆ ◆

Mrs. Lawrence Townsend, of Washington, will be the guest of Miss Margaret L. Corlies at her cottage in Magnolia during the coming week. Miss Corlies and her mother, Mrs. S. Fisher Corlies, arrived at "Att-Lea House," on Shore rd., the second week of this month, after a winter spent at Chestnut Hill, Philadelphia.

The NORTH SHORE BREEZE printing plant specializes in book and pamphlet printing and binding. Books of from 8 to 250 pages can be handled as quickly and expeditiously by us, as by the large printing offices in the city—with guaranteed satisfaction, and at greatly reduced prices as compared to city offices. We have the facilities—modern typesetting machinery and presses, and other modern equipment—and the personnel of our plant is made up of men of wide experience and who are expert in their particular lines. Individual attention is given to every piece of work handled in our office. Send us your next job of printing.

COL. AND MRS. H. E. RUSSELL are settled at their place in Manchester Cove after a delightful winter spent in the south. Though they kept their house here open all the fall and winter, they were away for the mid-winter months, in Florida and other parts of the south. They were at Fernandina, Fla., for a visit with Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Carnegie in January and again in March. Over the last week-end they entertained a small house party at "Underledge," among their guests being Miss Nancy Carnegie and Miss Elizabeth Lyman.

Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Carnegie, 2d, arrived at Boston today from their winter home in Fernandina, Fla. They will have an apartment at the Copley-Plaza for a fortnight before coming to their residence, "Seawold," in Manchester Cove, the first of May. Their débutante daughter, Miss Nancy Carnegie, who has been in Boston part of the winter for the débutante affairs, preceded them in the journey north and was at Manchester over the last week-end, a house-guest of Col. and Mrs. H. E. Russell.

Mrs. Richard J. Monks will occupy her seashore home, "Edgewood," at Manchester Cove, as usual, this summer, and will come here in May. Miss Grace C. Monks, who had such an extensive experience in war work abroad, is busy at present doing industrial work in Lawrence. She is on the Board of Labor of the American Woolen Mills, which work she will continue all the spring and summer, coming to Manchester to spend her week-ends at "Edgewood." Mrs. Monks and her daughter have spent the past winter at 6 Arlington rd., Chestnut Hill.

RENTALS of summer property continue with much activity all along the North Shore, but more especially in the Manchester, Beverly Farms, Pride's Crossing and Magnolia sections is there a demand for small houses. Through the office of T. Dennie Boardman, Reginald and R. deB. Boardman, of Boston and Manchester, we report the six leases given below.

Senator and Mrs. Henry F. Lippett and family, of Providence, will come to the North Shore again, but instead of being at Beverly Farms, they will have the Ahl house at Pride's Crossing. Last year they had the "Pump Cottage" at Beverly Farms.

◆ ◆ ◆

The Clark cottage on Blossom lane, near Singing Beach, Manchester, leased earlier in the season to Robert S. Potter, of Boston, has been sub-leased to Samuel T. Bodine, of Villa Nova, Pa. Mr. Potter and family will live at what was formerly the A. S. Porter cottage on Cobb ave., nearby.

◆ ◆ ◆

Mrs. Gardner G. Hammond, of 172 Beacon st., Boston, will again occupy the F. R. Sears cottage on Cliff st., Nahant.

◆ ◆ ◆

Gerald L. Hoyt and family of 28 East 36th st., New York, will have the Pitman house at Beverly Cove, this season. Last year they were at the Endicott cottage, Hospital Point, Beverly Cove.

◆ ◆ ◆

Thomas G. Stevenson and family, of 10 Fairfield st., Boston, who had the Vaughn cottage on Hale st., Beverly Farms, last year, will come to the A. L. Daniels place at Beverly Farms this season.

◆ ◆ ◆

Chas. E. Inches, Jr., and family, of Brookline, will come to Beverly Farms again this year, but instead of being at the Haven house on West st., they will occupy the School House, so-called, on Haskell st., owned by Arthur Little.

◆ ◆ ◆

The annual show of the Vincent club, always one of the society events of prime importance, in the late spring in Boston, will be presented at the Wilbur theatre, Boston, the latter part of next week.

◆ ◆ ◆

Robert S. Potter is reported to have bought for a permanent summer home the cottage on Cobb ave., Manchester, formerly owned by Alexander S. Porter. Mr. Potter and family lived last year in a cottage on Blossom lane, nearby. The Porter cottage was formerly occupied for several years as a year-round residence by F. M. Boynton and family. Mr. Potter is a vice-president of the Shawmut National Bank, of Boston.

◆ ◆ ◆

Mr. and Mrs. Timothée Adamowski will return to West Manchester for the season, and will again occupy the Leland red cottage, so-called, on Harbor st.

◆ ◆ ◆

It is reported that one of the European embassies at least will be located at Manchester this summer, one of the large estates having been leased for this purpose. The BREEZE is not at liberty to give the particulars this week, as the papers have not yet been signed.

SOMETHING NEW IN TELEPHONING— MULTIPLEX SYSTEM

Work has started on the installation of telephone equipment which will give New England the second multiplex telephone system in the world directed over ordinary telephone wires.

When completed about July 1, this multiplex telephone system will connect Boston and Bangor, Me. Without constructing any additional circuits the special equipment will provide the equivalent of four additional lines. It will make possible five conversations between ten people over a single circuit at one time.

For example, one telephone subscriber in Worcester, one in New Bedford, one in Lowell, one in Waltham, and one in East Boston, can talk simultaneously over one Boston to Bangor circuit with five other subscribers in Bangor, Millinocket, Bar Harbor, Calais and St. John, N. B.

NEW WORLD MOVEMENT CAMPAIGN TO START NEXT SUNDAY

Each one of the 10,666 churches of the Northern Baptist convention is now organized and ready to start the canvass for $100,000,000 set as the goal of the New World Movement campaign, April 25 to May 2.

The sum to be expended by the denomination was determined after a careful survey of the field and is based upon a careful estimate of the minimum that Northern Baptists should undertake to accomplish by 1924.

For general education, increasing the endowment and the equipment of 49 of the 68 schools and colleges in the United States maintained by the Northern Baptists, it is proposed to expend $30,010,000. For strengthening the religious education offered by

MAKE UP YOUR MIND, THEN GO AHEAD AND WIN

MEETEST thou a man possessed by a vision which he is heroically struggling to transform into a reality? Make note of him. If he be not given merely to talking, but to doing, the chances are that one day his aim will be accomplished and his fame spread across the land. His dream, before he has begun to give it form and substance, may strike you as visionary, as foolish, as impossible.

The weakness of most dreamers is that they merely dream and do not hustle, do not cleave to their purpose in season and out of season, through encouragement and discouragement. Have you not often-times noticed a youth come running along the sidewalk at full speed and seen how the people on the sidewalk made way for him? They quickly grasped that he knew where he wanted to go and that he was determined to get there in a hurry. Therefore, they stepped aside so that he might pass. History is full of like incidents. All around us are brave, resolute, unflinching men pressing towards some well-defined goal, allowing nothing and nobody to swerve or divert them from their prescribed course.

The bible says that "Where there is no vision, the people perish." Have you a vision? And are you undeviatingly pressing and pushing towards its accomplishment? Dreaming with determination and action? —Forbes Magazine.

the churches an additional sum of $3,351,125 has been appropriated.

For home missions the allotment is $14,644,423 for the general societies, $11,761,449 for the Baptist state conventions, and $4,814,432 for the city mission societies.

To foreign missions $22,208,071 will be apportioned, but this will include medical, educational and humanitarian work as well as evangelization. The reserve and expense funds total

FEDERAL THEATRE, SALEM

A riot of gorgeous and Egyptian splendor that outrivals the time of the real Cleopatra is the predominant feature of the Fox super-picture, "Cleopatra," in which Theda Bara is starred at the Federal theatre, Salem, next Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday. It will be shown three times daily, at 2.15, 7 and 8.30, with a big surrounding show.

The costumes worn by Miss Bara throughout this spectacle are wondrous creations. No expense was spared to make this photodrama the greatest ever thrown on the screen. More than 10,000 people were used to add color and life to the picture.

Next Thursday, for three days, Alice Lake, former leading woman for Bert Lytell, comes to the Federal in "Shore Acres."

COPLEY THEATRE, BOSTON

"His House in Order," one of the most-discussed plays when it was first produced in London, is one of Sir Arthur Pinero's most brilliant plays; and it is this piece which is to be the next one that Henry Jewett's Company will be seen in at the Copley theatre. "His House in Order" is in four acts and tells a gripping story of Nina Jesson, the second wife of Filmer Jesson, who, together with his wife's relations, are always holding up the deceased Mrs. Jesson as a model of propriety. The life of Nina is made quite miserable until in the third act of the play the discovery is made of some very incriminating letters written by the first wife, who is shown to be anything but what she had been painted.

ROBERT L. LIVINGSTON and family, of 12 East 96th st., New York city, have again leased the Charles M. Cabot place on Hale st., Beverly Farms. With their two beautiful children, Katherine Denise and Marie Jacqueline, they expect to arrive some time the latter part of May and will make a long stay there. The lease was made through the office of Poole & Seabury, 70 Kilby st., Boston.

Among the newcomers to the North Shore this season will be Mrs. William B. Hornblower, of 755 Park ave., New York city, who has leased the Frank Seabury estate on Hale st., Beverly Farms. Mrs. Hornblower was at Seabright, N. J., last season. The rental was made through the office of Poole & Seabury, 70 Kilby st., Boston.

MARBLEHEAD.—Papers have just been placed on record at Essex south registry transferring title to 54 acres located in that part of the town of Marblehead known as Devereux. This land has an ocean frontage of over 1500 feet consisting of bold rocks and a private sandy bathing beach, extending back to the Boston & Maine railroad property. This tract was owned by the Wyman family for nearly 100 years, having been purchased by Isaac Wyman in 1818 for about $10,000 and before the death of Isaac Wyman, he valued this property at over $300,000. In 1917 the estate of Isaac C. Wyman sold this land to the North Shore Development Company, that now conveys to Dorothy E. Hallett, of Boston, who conveys her interest to Max Shoolman, of Boston, and Nathan Gordon, of Brookline. Plans have been prepared for the erection of two beautiful residences to be occupied by the new owners in 1921. Landscape gardeners have already started the work of laying out the grounds. The portion of this tract adjoining the railroad property will be cultivated for garden purposes.

THE WEDDING last Thursday evening, April 15, at Griffin, Ga., of Caleb Loring, of Boston and Pride's Crossing, and Miss Susanne Grandland Bailey, was of much interest to the large family connections of the groom in Boston and at the North Shore. Mr. Loring is the younger son of Senator and Mrs. A. P. Loring. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. David J. Bailey, of Griffin. They were married in St. George Episcopal church, the Rev. H. A. Willey officiating.

The bride was attended by Mrs. Robert W. Tilney, of New York, as matron of honor. Augustus P. Loring, Jr., of Boston and Beverly Farms, was his brother's best man. The ushers were Samuel Eliot, George Peabody Gardner, Jr., and Samuel Vaughn, of Boston, Robert W. Tilney, of New York, and Nathaniel and Seaton Bailey, of Griffin. Mr. and Mrs. Loring will live at Beverly Farms after their return from a honeymoon in California. Mr. Loring is a graduate of Harvard, class of 1910.

The marriage of Miss Geraldine Adee, daughter of Mrs. Ernest Adee, of Tuxedo Park, and Francis B. Bradley, a son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Bradley, of "Wayside," Convent, N. J., has been set for May 29 at St. Mary's church, Tuxedo Park. The marriage is of interest in Boston and on the North Shore because Mr. Bradley's brother, Charles B. Bradley, Jr., married Miss Constance Zerrahn, a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Franz Zerrahn, of Milton, and his sister, Miss Anne Bradley, married Samuel Eliot, of Boston and Manchester. The bridegroom-elect is a graduate of Harvard.

Mr. and Mrs. Hedley Vickers and son, Walter, of Chelsea, spent the past Sunday at the home of the latter's brother, Peter Diamond, of Forest st.

The Arbella club meeting will be at the Food Centre Tuesday, April 27, at 4 p. m. It is hoped every member will be present. Chocolate will be served.

The store at 31 Beach st., occupied for so many years as a Chinese laundry, has been rented by A. S. Dow to Wm. Swanson, who will move his lawnmower sharpening machinery and other equipment from the Allen building on Summer st.

With the opening of the summer season the automobile traffic has taken a decided increase. Patrolman Joseph Coen has been changed from his regular beat through the town, to the police motorcycle, on good days, and he will keep a watchful eye on the speedsters who motor through the town.

William Wang, the young man who has conducted the local Chinese laundry since January, closed his shop on Beach st., and departed a week ago last Monday to more distant parts. Arthur S. Dow, the owner of the building, received a telegram to that effect last week saying, "Good bye, am on my way to San Francisco, Cal."

BUSINESS CHANGE

The business founded and conducted so successfully by the late Horace Standley, at Manchester, and conducted since his death a few years ago by his two sons under the firm name of Horace Standley's Sons, has been dissolved as a partnership, and though both the blacksmith business and the garage will be conducted as Standley's blacksmith shop and Standley's garage, respectively, the former will be owned and managed by the older son, Chester L. Standley, and the garage by Wesley Standley.

Miss Gwendolyn Glendenning has been spending the week with her parents, Dr. and Mrs. Glendenning, Church st. Miss Glendenning is one of the teachers in the Portsmouth (N. H.) High school.

Mrs. Clifford Goodwin and son, Maynard, of Springfield, have been visiting with Mrs. Goodwin's parents, Mr. and Mrs. George D. Haskell, Vine st. Mr. Goodwin is now in charge of the new offices of the American Radiator Co. in Springfield, serving the western part of the state and adjacent territory.

There will be a hearing at the court house, Salem, on Friday, May 28, at 10.30 o'clock, a. m., on the matter of widening Bridge st., near the property of B. W. Tappan and T. W. Long. The Selectmen of Manchester have petitioned the County Commissioners to alter, relocate or widen said Bridge st., and make specific repairs thereon or discontinue any portions as may be deemed expedient, as by vote of annual town meeting. Further particulars may be obtained by reading the adv. in this issue of the BREEZE.

HON. W. W. LUFKIN TO SPEAK AT NEXT PARENT-TEACHER MEETING

The next meeting of the Manchester Parent-Teacher association will be held in Price school hall, Wednesday evening, April 28, at 8 o'clock. Congressman W. W. Lufkin will speak on "Some Problems in Washington," a subject of timely interest, surely, and from one whom we are fortunate to hear.

The grammar school orchestra will provide music for the program, and the usual social hour will follow.

STORY HIGH SCHOOL

MANCHESTER

The High school baseball season opened Monday when the local boys crossed bats with the Centerville team from Beverly. The visitors won the first game by the decisive score of 8 to 2.

The baseball schedule of the Story High school is given below. Season tickets for admission to the home games will be on sale the latter part of this week.

April 24, Saturday, Centerville at Manchester.

May 1, Saturday, Hamilton at Hamilton.

May 5, Wednesday, Rockport at Rockport.

May 12, Wednesday, Centerville at Manchester.

May 15, Saturday, Hamilton at Manchester.

May 19, Wednesday, Centerville at Manchester.

May 22, Saturday, Ipswich at Ipswich.

May 26, Wednesday, Rockport at Manchester.

May 31, Monday—open—at Manchester.

June 2, Wednesday, Ipswich at Manchester.

The Story High school is to be represented at the New England school typewriting championship contest, to be held at Simmons college on May 1, by a team of two pupils. For the members of this team we have endeavored to choose those pupils best fitted to represent our school; their fitness being determined by the amount of work completed and the speed attained. A study of the averages at the present time would suggest that the two first places have been very fairly won.

The highest average now shows 24 completed lessons and a speed of 40 words per minute.

The second average also shows 24 completed lessons, and a speed of 31 words per minute.

The pupil third in rank has completed 18 lessons, and attained a speed of 21 words.

We feel that the pupils holding first and second places are quite fairly entitled to the honor of representing the High school at the coming contest, and wish all possible success to our delegates, Miss Marion Preston and Miss Gertrude Oakes.

Several members of the Senior French class are rejoicing in the privilege of corresponding in French with French students under the instruction of Mlle. Henriette Vidal, a former Manchester High school girl. There will be found reproduced below a letter received from a young French boy by Mark Sinnicks and written for the most part in good English. We have every reason to believe, however, that our Seniors, among whom are some

Dear Mr. Sinnicks:

I have known your address by Miss Vidal, our English professor and I will write to you in English and you answer me in French. I correct your mistakes and you correct mind.

There is yet one year that I work to Maple & Co. Paris English House. I shall give you the fashions to live in Paris.

I cannot write you a long letter this time but the other letter will be any long if you ask me any questions from Paris.

I am younger than you; I am 15 years old

Excuse the mistakes.

A World Rebuilt---

By The Golden Rule Not By the Rule of Gold

THIRTY denominations of the Church are uniting in a simultaneous campaign in the week of April 25th-May 2d.

They are uniting because the task before the Church is too great for any one denomination; because there must be no duplication of effort; no waste.

These churches know that the world needs many things; but it needs Faith most of all.

They know that there can be no final solution of our economic problems that is not a spiritual solution, based on the teachings of Jesus Christ and His Golden Rule.

They have had the courage to survey the whole task, and to ask for a budget large enough to sus-tain (1) the work abroad, (2) the work at home including the church's part in the huge task of Americanization, (3) the colleges and (4) hospitals supported by the Churches, (5) the religious training of the young, and to provide (6) a living wage for the Church's ministers.

The budget is large in the aggregate; yet if each person who loves America would increase his contribution by only a few dollars the whole amount would be easily subscribed.

We face the task of rebuilding the world. Let the cornerstone be a strong and vital church in every American community; and the measuring rod by which the builders build must be the Golden Rule.

52c---How Would You Like a Raise Like This ---and for 34 years' work

THAT is the kind of increase in salary the minister has received. His living expenses have risen just as fast and as far as yours.

But he is paid on the average just 52 cents more per church member than he was paid 34 years ago.

The Minister Never Fails You

Every officer of the Government with a war message to deliver appealed to the ministers first of all.

But 80% of the ministers receive less income than government economists figure as a minimum for the support of an average family.

When hospitals need money they enlist the support of the ministers—and receive it.

But when sickness visits the minister or the members of his family they must be treated in a charity ward. His pay is less than a day laborer's.

Eight out of every ten ministers receive less than $20 a week—about half the pay of a mechanic.

We Pay Him Half the Wages of a Mechanic

And of these pitifully inadequate salaries, how much do you contribute? Nothing, if you are outside the church; an average of less than 3c a day if you are a church member.

All of us share in the benefits of Christian ministers to the community. They marry us; bury us; baptize our children; visit us when we are sick. In their hands is the spiritual training of the youth.

We Are All Profiteers at Their Expense

Part of the Interchurch World program is this—a living wage for every minister of Jesus Christ; an efficient plant, and a chance to do a big man's job.

If you want better preachers, help to pay the preachers better. It's the best investment for your community—and for your children—that you can ever make.

MANCHESTER

Samuel Knight Sons' Co. have received a barge of coal during the past week.

Mrs. Lewis Hooper had with her over the holiday her mother, Mrs. Hokanson, from West Somerville.

Manuel Miguel has been selected by Frank B. Amaral post, A. L., to serve as color sergeant at the Memorial Day observance. Mr. Miguel is the oldest member of the post.

Mrs. Ernest G. Webb (Princice Dodge) is enjoying a week's vacation from her duties as a commercial teacher in the Medford High school, and is with her mother on School st.

Cards have been received announcing the birth of a daughter, Eleanor Edith, on April 19, to Mr. and Mrs. George E. Pearson, of Lynn. Mrs. Pearson (Mabel Morgan) formerly lived in Manchester.

Mr. and Mrs. George R. Dean will occupy the apartment in the J. F. Connor house on Union st. The bungalow where they have lived on Allen ave. will be occupied by the owner, Mrs. C. J. Reid, a recent bride (nee Mrs. W. C. Rust).

Nearly 30 members of Masconomo council, Daughters of Pocahontas, Manchester, went to Lynn Tuesday evening by auto, taking with them seven candidates. The adoption degree was conferred on a class of 24. A pleasant time is reported by all who attended.

FRAMED PORTRAIT OF F. B. AMARAL GIVEN LEGION

At the regular meeting of Frank B. Amaral post, A. L., Manchester, held Wednesday evening, the post was presented with a framed portrait of the late Corp. Frank B. Amaral, the gift being made by his brother, Adolph B. Amaral, of Somerville. Clarence Mackin, vice-commander, accepted the picture in behalf of the post.

The portrait is a true likeness of the patriot for whom the Manchester boys named their post. It is handsomely finished in sepia and has a dark oak frame. An engraved plate bears the following inscription:

I. O. O. F. MINSTREL SHOW WELL ATTENDED

Despite the downpour of Wednesday evening the "colored gentlemen" of the Gloucester Odd Fellows minstrel show were out in full regalia.

The show was given in the Manchester Town hall under the auspices of Magnolia lodge, 149, I. O. O. F., and was very well attended.

The "House Wrecker Clog" dance called forth a shower of applause, as did the other feature dances and the xylophone solo.

The proceeds of the show are to be used to help defray the Manchester lodge's expenses to the big convention parade in Boston next September.

HORTICULTURAL HALL PICTURES

The show tomorrow—Saturday—evening, at Horticultural hall, Manchester, will be for the benefit of the Sons of Veterans.

Tuesday afternoon and evening there will be a double bill. May Allison in "Fair and Warmer," Dorothy Dalton in "His Wife's Friend," and a Fox News reel.

Saturday, May 1, Hobart Bosworth in "Behind the Door," a Paramount-Artcraft special, will be the feature.

DAUGHTERS OF POCAHONTAS HAVE SUCCESSFUL TAG DAY

Saturday was observed as tag day by Masconomo council, Daughters of Pocahontas, Manchester, and the sum of nearly $40 was realized from the sale of tags. The town was canvassed during the day by Indian maidens, who gathered contributions to keep alive the name and fame of the First American Peacemaker. The money will be used for a memorial to Massasoit, which will be erected at Plymouth, in connection with the tercentenary celebration.

The committee in charge was Miss E. A. Lethbridge, Mrs. Charles Scott, Mrs. Charles Fritz and Mrs. Mary Burke.

MANCHESTER WOMAN'S CLUB

ANNUAL MEETING—WITH ELECTION OF OFFICERS, REPORTS, ETC.

A luncheon was served to the members by the Manchester Woman's club at its annual meeting held Tuesday afternoon in the Congl. chapel, Manchester.

The reports of the officers and various committees, which were read later in the afternoon, showed that the past year has been a very successful one for the club.

Report of Visiting Nurse association

The report of Miss Ellen Clarke, secretary of the Manchester Visiting Nurse association, was particularly interesting. The work done by the nurse the past year was reviewed. Early in the year the society severed its connection with the town and county service of the American Red Cross. Gifts of $250 were received and the money used in supplying food, clothing, medicine, or comforts where needed. It has been thought necessary to increase the charge from 25c to 35c for each regular nursing visit, with a 50c charge for special and maternity visits.

Miss Long's labors during December, January and February were so exhausting that she was obliged to take a month's rest, and her place was filled by Mrs. Mabelle (Lodge) Wilfong.

The amount and extent of the nursing work may be judged from the following figures:

Visits for the year,	1380
Hours spent in school work,	69
Amount collected in nursing fees,	$311.05

The "great function of foster motherhood" has been gradually emerging more clearly as a new profession, the profession of public health nursing, and the nurse is truly named "the foster mother of the race."

The report of Miss Lila G. Goldsmith as treasurer of the Manchester Visiting Nurse association showed receipts and disbursements for the year to be as follows:

WITH THE MANCHESTER TROOP OF BOY SCOUTS

About twenty-five of the Boy Scouts attended the dress rehearsal of the Gloucester Y. M. C. A. circus last Saturday evening, incidentally enjoying the swimming in the Y. M. C. A. pool and taking part in various gymnastic exercises on the floor. They were under the leadership of Asst. Scoutmaster Allan P. Dennis.

The Scouts have recently received their mess kits, which are the same as those used by the State Guard units while in camp at South Framingham. The boys are finding them particularly useful, especially on hikes such as some of the boys took on Saturday and the holiday.

On Tuesday evening of last week the sloyd class met; on Thursday evening the radio class held its meeting, and on Friday evening there was a regular meeting at the Scout House.

REBEKAH FAIR A SUCCESS

ENTERTAINMENT, SALE, SUNLIGHT PARTY ARE WELL ATTENDED

Si Hoskins crying the merits of his groceries and sweet cider, the crowing of a real live rooster, merchants along the "midway" urging the public to "take a chance on the number of seeds in the squash," and fair ladies presiding at the attractively decorated tables and booths, greeted the eye and ear as one entered the Town hall, Manchester, last Friday evening. The occasion was the fair and entertainment given by Liberty lodge of Rebekahs, and was liberally patronized.

Until late Thursday evening and the greater part of Friday, the ladies were busily engaged in arranging and adorning their tables. Evergreen boughs were used in profusion, the Rebekah colors were also given prominence. The displays represented much work and careful thought.

Mrs. Alfred E. Hersey, as chairman of the executive committee, deserves a large amount of credit for the success of the affair. Mrs. Wm. B. Rogers, Mrs. J. Warren Lee, Mrs. Francis M. Andrews, Mrs. Edward Ayers, Mrs. James Kehoe, Mrs. Ernest Valentine and Miss Annabelle Haraden were associated with Mrs. Hersey on the general committee in charge.

Mrs. Rogers was chairman of the food table; Mrs. Edward Ayers, aprons; Mrs. Ernest Valentine, fancy articles; Mrs. James Kehoe, flowers; Mrs. Claudius Hoyt, 10-cent table; Mrs. Francis Andrews, ice cream; Miss Annabelle Haraden, the Old Oaken Bucket from which bundles of miscellaneous articles were purchased; Wm. Craig, the Country Store; Mrs. J. W. Lee, entertainment; Mrs. Alfred E. Hersey, decorations.

Si Hoskins' Ye Old Country Store, in charge of Wm. Craig, is worthy of more than passing notice. A large assortment of canned goods, jellies, preserves, soaps, potatoes, eggs, fruit, sweet cider, copies of the BREEZE, dry goods, "wet goods," etc., were on sale. Seated near the counter were Frank Floyd and William Allen so engrossed in a checker tournament that they were well nigh oblivious to everything else. Needless to say that The Country Store did a flourishing business, everything being sold for cash and no credit allowed.

Prizes were won as follows: Miss Jessie Kehoe, rooster; John Chapman, goods to the amount of $7 at the store of Walter R. Bell, Manchester; Mrs. Alfred E. Hersey, doily; Mrs. Lewis Morgan, doily; Hollis A. Bell, $5 gold-piece; Mrs. Francis M. Andrews, creamer and sugar bowl.

The entertainment in charge of Mrs. J. W. Lee was very well presented, the several numbers on the program receiving generous applause. Miss Helen Weeks, of Boston, sang "Spring is Coming," and "I Love You." Solo dancing by Miss Lillian Archung, of Salem, was a pleasing feature of the entertainment. A lullaby by seven girls depicted the "good night" songs of many lands. The following in costume, took part: Miss Helen Wiggins, Italian; Miss Marion Foster, Japanese; Miss Janet Bullock, Scotch; Miss Marion Craig, sailor; Miss Eleanor Noyes, African; Miss Emma Stanley, American; Miss Ruth Prest, Indian. A farce entitled "This is so Sudden," was given by the Misses Ruth Bullock, Bernice Lee, Janet Height, Myrtle Lethbridge and Jessie Kehoe.

Saturday afternoon the Sunlight Party for the children was given from 2 to 4 o'clock at the Town hall. This was largely attended, and many articles not sold Friday evening were purchased at this time. The entertainment consisted of a violin duet by Misses Annie and Elizabeth Norris, with piano accompaniment; piano solo by Miss Beulah Rumrill; vocal solos by Miss Helen Weeks; lullaby songs of many lands repeated from Friday evening.

The several committees have reason to feel gratified at the success which attended their efforts. The weather man was kind, and the attendance Friday evening and Saturday afternoon was fully up to the number expected. Proceeds amounting to nearly $380 will be added to the treasury of Liberty lodge of Rebekahs.

Now is the time to order printing for summer. How about your supply of Letterheads, Billheads, Statements, Receipt Blanks, Envelopes? adv.

A kitchen shower was tendered Miss Abbie Floyd on Friday evening of last week at her home in Central sq., Manchester, by a number of her friends.

The guests included the Misses Hester Rust, Ethel Allen, Florence MacDonald, and Gladys Hildreth, and Mrs. Harry Floyd, Mrs. William Horsford, Mrs. Russell Lloyd, Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Beaton, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Floyd, Willard and Geo. Rust, Dr. Frank A. Willis, Fletcher MacCallum, Clarence Mackin and Perry Allen,—all coming laden with a variety of kitchen utensils of a useful nature. Following the "showering" of these articles the evening was devoted to entertainment, after which refreshments were served.

SECOND DANCE OF SERIES GIVEN BY LEGION POST

The second dance in the series of ten to be given by Frank B. Amaral post, A. L., was held in Town hall, Manchester, Monday evening, and was fairly well attended. The post cleared its expenses, but did not make any money on the affair.

It is not the intention of the boys to run these dances as money-making events, but if they are supported by the townspeople the dances will be continued through the summer and pleasant, social times will be provided. If you cannot attend, perhaps you could lend financial aid by purchasing a ticket or two.

YES? NO?WILL DAYLIGHT SAVING IN MASS.
BE ALLOWED?

As the BREEZE goes to press there appears to be some doubt whether daylight saving will go into effect Sunday morning. There is strenuous opposition from New Hampshire against allowing the Boston & Maine railroad to change its schedule to conform to the new time and force the changes on the people of New Hampshire, where daylight saving has not been adopted.

The Boston & Maine has a problem to solve in rearranging its schedule to suit the farmers and business men of the Granite State. The Public Service commission of New Hampshire has appealed direct to the Interstate Commerce commission to restrain the road from advancing the schedules to conform with Massachusetts and New York time.

A meeting of representatives of the agricultural, milk producers' and educational interests has been arranged to be held this afternoon to discuss the matter.

"Because," she replied, "I like to have someone to blame when things go wrong."—Stray Stories.

MANCHESTER

BASEBALL MEETING IN MANCHESTER
NEXT MONDAY

All up for the opening gun of the baseball season in Manchester! A meeting will be held next Monday evening in Horticultural hall, at 7.45, at which time officers for the year will be elected and plans and prospects for a baseball team this season will be talked over.

There seems to be much activity this year in the organization of teams in other parts of the North Shore.

A final meeting is being held in Gloucester tonight looking toward the organization of a league, with two or three teams in Gloucester, one each in Essex, Rockport and Manchester. If the plans materialize, this will be one of the matters to come before the meeting in Manchester next Monday evening—as to whether Manchester will enter the league.

If such a league were organized, one of the agreements entered into would be that as the season progressed no team in the league could hire away players from the other.

Manager MacCallum will be at the meeting next Monday prepared to report all he knows about the plans for a league and the prospects for a team in Manchester this year.

A big meeting is desired and lots of enthusiasm is hoped for.

SELECTMEN MAKE APPOINTMENTS

The Selectmen of Manchester made the following appointments at their regular meeting Tuesday evening of this week: Clarence W. Morgan, Thomas Baker and Edward P. Flynn, fire engineers; William H. Sullivan, chief of police; T. W. Long, sealer of weights and measures; Mrs. J. P. Dennis, janitress of public library; T. C. Rowe, caretaker of Central pond; George D. Haskell, janitor of Town hall; James P. Read, caretaker of clocks; A. H. Babcock, undertaker; Louis O. Latons, harbor master; Mr. and Mrs. Wilbur B. Paige, master and matron of almshouse.

FIRST BAND CONCERT WILL BE THURSDAY EVE., JUNE 24

Manchester will have six band concerts during the coming summer. The Selectmen have made the necessary arrangements, and engaged the services of the Salem Cadet band and the Salem Light Infantry band.

Concerts will be held on Thursday evenings, the first one being given June 24, followed by others on July 22, Aug. 5 and Aug. 19. These four concerts will be given by the Salem Cadet band.

July 4 there will be an afternoon and an evening concert given by the Salem Light Infantry band.

POLITICAL STRAWS

Primaries will be held throughout Massachusetts next Tuesday, April 27th. That is the day when it is the duty of every citizen to vote for the candidates whom they desire to represent them at the national conventions. This year, more than ever before, it is necessary that a big vote be recorded at the primaries in order that the delegates may know the will of the people.

Ex-Governor Samuel W. McCall, campaigning for election as a delegate-at-large in favor of Herbert Hoover's nomination by the Republican National Convention, said of Hoover in a speech at Harvard University on April 13.

"He is the man who contributed as much to winning the war as Marshal Foch."

Around Massachusetts there has been a suspicion that the Yankee Division and all the other boys who wore the uniform of the country did more toward winning the war than Herbert Hoover did.

MAGNOLIA

The friends of Edw. Collamore, of Boston, were glad to see him in Magnolia on the holiday.

Mrs. Fred S. Lycett, who is teaching in the public schools of Hudson, spent a few days recently with friends here.

Mary Boyd, a teacher in the High school of Stowe, visited her parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Boyd, over the holiday.

The Ladies' Aid society of the Village church will hold a supper this evening (Friday) at the Women's clubhouse.

Tidd Prowse has returned to this village for the season and he is busy just now getting his store on Fuller st. ready for business.

Services will be held in the Village church Sunday at 10.45 a. m., with preaching by the pastor. Sunday school meets at 11.45 a. m.

Robert McGaughey, whose business keeps him in New York city most of the time, is now spending a few days at home with his wife and daughters.

Mr. and Mrs. Russell Lucas, infant son, and Marion Scott, of Beverly, were guests of the former's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ernest C. Lucas, last Sunday.

Margaret McGregor, who for many years was the housekeeper of the late George A. Upton, and who has many friends in this village, has arrived at the Perkins cottage, where she will spend the season.

John Abbott arrived here Monday morning from California, where he spent the winter with a son and his family. He will spend the summer with his daughter Mrs. Ernest Howe and family off Magnolia ave.

GRIFFIN—PARSONS

Thaddeus Fitz Griffin and Florence I. Parsons, of Gloucester, were united in marriage at the parsonage by Rev. Walter S. Eaton last Saturday evening (April 17th). Mr. and Mrs. Griffin will make their home at 1 Harvard st., Gloucester.

DAYLIGHT SAVING

B. & M. AND NEW HAVEN WILL OBSERVE NEW TIME

Daylight saving, which becomes effective at 2 a. m. next Sunday and continues in effect until 2 a. m. Oct. 31, will be observed by the B. & M. Railroad. General Passenger Agent Fred T. Grant has issued the following:

"The Boston & Maine Railroad, as an interstate carrier, in common with other railroads operating in Massachusetts, will continue to observe the Eastern standard time, and the time shown in folders and on railroad clocks will, therefore, indicate 2 o'clock when clocks conforming to Massachusetts time indicate 3 o'clock. Patrons should keep this in mind when arranging for railroad journeys.

"All local Boston & Maine Railroad System trains (except as otherwise designated in timetables) and all through trains originating on the Boston & Maine Railroad System and terminating on the lines of other railroads will be scheduled one hour earlier than at present.

"Through trains from other railroads may be operated on revised schedules to be announced later.

"The following examples are illustrative of the proposed schedules:

"A train now leaving Boston at 5 p. m. will be scheduled to leave at 4 p. m., eastern standard time, this being 5 p. m. Massachusetts and New York daylight-saving time.

"Similarly, a train now scheduled to leave a station at 8 a. m. will be scheduled to leave at 7 a. m. eastern standard time, this being 8 a. m. Massachusetts and New York daylight-saving time."

BEVERLY FAMILY IN AUTOMOBILE ACCIDENT AT MAGNOLIA

Morris Katz, of 29 Lathrop st., Beverly, driving a Ford car in which was his wife and several children, came to grief late Monday afternoon near the Anthony store at Magnolia, when the front wheel of the car dished, throwing the occupants into a tangle in the car.

Witnesses of the accident rushed to the assistance of the injured and they were taken to Foster's Drug store, where Dr. Blaisdell rendered surgical treatment to several of the children, who were painfully cut and bruised.

The most seriously injured in the party was Miss Gladys Katz, who has several bad cuts about the head. It was thought it would be necessary to remove her to the hospital, the ambulance being called for that purpose, but it was later found the injuries were not of such a serious nature and the entire party returned to their Beverly home.

No cause could be given for the accident except a sudden twist of the steering gear which caused the front wheel to cave in under the severe strain.

Presidential primaries next Tuesday! Polls open from 6 a. m. to 4 p. m., at G. A. R. lower hall.

Miss Mollie Davis was taken to the Beverly hospital for treatment, Tuesday. She had an attack of appendicitis.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas F. Healy, of Waterbury, Conn., have spent the past week at Beverly Farms visiting friends.

Mr. and Mrs. Andrew J. McGann and Thomas Naylor have moved into the Fanning house, corner Haskell and High streets.

Patrolman Emery Hooper, of Beverly, is covering the day officer's beat at Beverly Farms. The regular officer, Calvin L. Williams, is still on day duty at the Shoe Machinery plant in Beverly.

Miss Gertrude L. Fay returned to her home in Roxbury, Tuesday. She has been enjoying a three-week's vacation at Beverly Farms, the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Howard E. Morgan, West st.

Most of the summer estates at Beverly Farms and Pride's Crossing have put on extra help for the coming spring, summer and fall months, and all are very busy at spring cleaning and in preparing for planting. Wages that are now being paid to this extra help have reached the tip-top notch and it is said that the men are now receiving $100, or more per month.

A party of Beverly Farms young men, including Vibert Publicover, Harold Varney, Arthur Poole, Howard E. Morgan, Jr., Francis Harrigan, Reginald Hull, and Francis Lawlor, have leased for the season the Peabody cottage, an attractive 5-room camp, on the shores of Chebacco lake. They plan to spend many pleasant week-ends and vacation periods there, and the place is sure to offer to them many enjoyable and pleasant hours of recreation and rest.

Decided improvements and alterations have been made to the house known as the James Bennett homestead, on Hale st., now owned by Walter Flint, a real estate man of Beverly. Besides the construction of a large and attractive piazza, and the treating of the house to several coats of paint, the interior has been remodelled and improved, including the installing of bath rooms and heat. The house is now practically ready for occupancy and will accommodate two and probably three families.

Mrs. Lawrence J. Watson is reported to be much improved. She has been confined to her home the past two weeks or more with illness.

Mrs. Louis Hardy has recovered sufficiently so that she was able to come home on Tuesday. She has been quite ill at Jamaica Plain, and for quite a while was confined to the Faulkner hospital on account of a critical operation.

Robert E. Hodgkins has vacated the store and shop formerly the Burchstead property, corner High and Hale sts., at which place he has conducted his painting business for many years. Mr. Hodgkins has opened a new paint shop in the rear of his home on Hart st.

Frederick A. Cressy was elected city collector at last Tuesday evening's meeting of the Board of Aldermen, to fill the vacancy caused by the death of the late Andrew S. Edwards. He was elected on the 14th ballot. Alderman Linehan, of Ward 6, voted for him from start to finish.

The death of George A. Goddard, which occurred in Boston last week, has caused sincere regret at Beverly Farms. He had been a long-time summer resident here and his interest in the welfare of the community and his readiness to contribute to all worthy objects made him very much liked and respected.

A public dance was given in Marshall's hall Wednesday evening which was well attended and was very much enjoyed. The awards for the articles for the coming bazaar for the league of Catholic women were made. FAMOUS BASEBALL STAR VISITS
NORTH SHORE

Captain Harry Hooper, of the Boston Americans, was the guest of U. S. G. Sanborn, of Ober st., Beverly, for the week-end. Capt. Hooper is an enthusiastic trout fisherman, and in company with Fred R. Harper and ex-Mayor Macdonald, the latter of Beverly Farms, the party enjoyed a fishing trip to the streams in the vicinity, and reported a good catch, despite the adverse weather conditions. The larger trout caught weighed 2½ lbs., several being 16 inches in length.

A NEW FISH STORY

The man of the house went trout fishing. When he returned empty-handed from his trip, the Mrs. said to him, in some surprise:

"Didn't you catch any trout at all, George?"

"O, yes," said he. "I caught 25 fine, large trout, but they were stolen from me on the train."

"Well, never mind, George," said his wife. "You've brought home a brand-new fish story, anyhow."—The Outlook.

ORDER OF QUARANTINE NO. 11 RELATIVE TO EUROPEAN CORN BORER

Whereas, a dangerously injurious insect, the European corn borer (Pyrausta nubilalis hubner), has been found in the following cities and towns in Massachusetts, namely:

Abington, Amesbury, Andover, Arlington, Avon, Barnstable, Bedford, Belmont, Beverly, Billerica, Bourne, Boxford, Braintree, Brewster, Boston, Brockton, Brookline, Burlington, Cambridge, Carlisle, Chelmsford, Chelsea, Cohasset, Concord, Danvers, Dennis, Draut, Duxbury, Eastham, Essex, Everett, Falmouth, Framingham, Georgetown, Gloucester, Groveland, Hamilton, Hanover, Hanson, Haverhill, Hingham, Holbrook, Hull, Ipswich, Kingston, Lawrence, Lexington, Lincoln, Lowell, Lynn, Lynnfield, Malden, Manchester, Marblehead, Marshfield, Medford, Melrose, Merrimac, Methuen, Middleboro, Middleton, Milton, Nahant, Natick, Newbury, Newburyport, Newton, North Andover, North Reading, Norwell, Orleans, Peabody, Pembroke, Plymouth, Provincetown, Quincy, Randolph, Reading, Revere, Rockland, Rockport, Rowley, Salem, Salisbury, Sandwich, Saugus, Scituate, Somerville, Stoneham, Sudbury, Swampscott, Tewksbury, Topsfield, Truro, Tyngsboro, Wakefield, Waltham, Watertown, Wayland, Wellesley, Wellfleet, Wenham, West Newbury, Weston, Weymouth, Wilmington, Winchester, Winthrop, Woburn, Yarmouth.

And whereas, this insect has been found to infest certain plants and plant products, hereinafter named, so that it is likely to spread to other portions of this state and other states through the movement of such plants and plant products, now, therefore, I, R. Harold Allen, Director, Division of Plant Pest Control, with the approval of the Commissioner of Agriculture, by authority of and under the provisions of Chapter 95 of the General Acts of 1919, and after a duly advertised public hearing held at 136 State House, Boston, on April 5, 1920, prohibit the movement from any points within the above mentioned cities and towns, constituting the area known to be infested, to any points outside of this area, of any of the following plants and plant products, namely, corn and broom corn, including all parts of the stalk, celery, green beans in the pod, beets with tops, spinach, rhubarb, oat and rye straw as such or when used for packing, cut flowers or entire plants of chrysanthemum, aster, cosmos, zinnia, hollyhock, and cut flowers or entire plants of gladiolus and dahlia, except the bulbs thereof, without stems, except under such conditions as are designated in the regulations supplemental to this order.

This order shall supersede quarantines Nos. 2, 3, 4, 5, 6, 7, 8, 9 and 10, and shall take effect on April 12, 1920, and shall remain in full force and effect until further notice.

R. HAROLD ALLEN,

Director, Division of Plant Pest Control.

Seeing You on Sunday

Here's hoping that I see you on Sunday

And that you shake my hand,
And look me in the eye again
In the way we understand.
I've kinda had my bumps this week,
And though you'll never know,
I feel that my supply of sand
Is running pretty low.

I want to see the face again,
Of you and you and you.
It helps to clear the track ahead
And pull the old load through.
There's something in your manner
There's something in your smile,
That makes me fight to keep my place

On the good highway "Worth While."

Just seeing you on Sunday
Is a flying start for Monday.

SAVE MONEY ON MEAT

Here is a real thrift recipe for a tasty, nutritious dish prepared from less costly meat. It is issued by the Division of Women's Activities, Department of Justice. Use this recipe and save money on meat.

Braised Ox Joints

- 1 ox tail (cut in two-inch pieces)
- 1 cup tomatoes
- 2 small onions
- 1 tablespoon chopped celery
- 3 whole cloves
- 3 bay leaves
- 2 tablespoons flour

Brown ox tail well in oven. Cut onion, carrot, celery and brown all together well. Sprinkle with flour and brown fifteen minutes. Add one cup hot water and tomatoes, bay leaves, cloves, salt and pepper. Cook until meat falls from bones.

Beef Brisket—Boiled and Browned

If the piece has much bone, part may be removed for soup stock, or for gravy to be used with the meat when warmed over. Cook the solid part of the meat until tender, with a little celery salt and garlic added, turning it once during the cooking, which will take from four to six hours, according to the amount of meat. Remove meat from liquor; place in shallow pan with skin side up, and score several times across top. Have boiled potatoes (hot or cold) in readiness and drop into kettle to take up some of the fat; then place them around meat and brown all in a hot oven for about twenty minutes. Make a gravy with the remaining liquor and serve separately. The meat will slice as firmly as cheese, and will be tender and appetizing.

Irish Stew with Dumplings

- 2 pounds mutton (neck)
- Carrots, turnips and potatoes
- Seasoning

Wipe and cut in pieces the mutton. Put in kettle, cover with boiling water, and cook slowly two hours until tender. After cooking for an hour add vegetables cut into small pieces. Thicken with 1-4 cup flour, diluted with water to form a paste. Season well and serve with dumplings.

THE FIRST GARDEN

"To Till the Ground from Whence He was Taken"

By LILLIAN MCCANN

God Almighty first planted a garden; and indeed it is the purest of human pleasures. It is the greatest refreshment to the spirits of man, without which buildings and palaces are but gross hand-work.—Bacon.

LET us refresh our minds with a glimpse into that first garden, planted when the world was young and all things were just a-growing.

"And the Lord God planted a garden eastward in Eden; and there he put the man whom he had formed.

"And out of the ground made the Lord God to grow every tree that is pleasant to the sight, and good for food; the tree of life also in the midst of the garden, and the tree of knowledge of good and evil.

"And a river went out of Eden to water the garden.

"And the Lord God took the man, and put him into the garden of Eden to dress it and to keep it.

"And the Lord God commanded the man, saying, 'Of every tree of the garden thou mayest freely eat.

"But of the tree of the knowledge of good and evil, thou shalt not eat of it: for the day that thou eatest thereof thou shalt surely die.'

"And the Lord God said, 'It is not good that the man should be alone; I will make him an helpmeet for him.'

So Eve was made out of a rib taken from Adam while he slept. And gallantly Adam proclaimed:

"This is now bone of my bones, and flesh of my flesh: she shall be called Woman, because she was taken out of Man. Therefore shall a man have his father and his mother, and shall cleave unto his wife: and they shall be one flesh."

Happy times must have followed. Knowledge had not yet come. Could the time have been dragging in the garden one day when Eve had her little conversation with the wise serpent? —"more subtle than any beast of the field which the Lord God had made."

Can you imagine the gentle Eve resting in some pretty nook when she was accosted by the artful beast?

"Yea, hath God said, ye shall not eat of every tree of the garden?" he asked.

Eve replied, "We may eat of the fruit of the trees of the garden: but of the fruit of the tree which is in the midst of the garden, God hath said, 'ye shall not eat of it, neither shall ye touch it, lest ye die.'"

The Serpent Enters

Persuasively the serpent said, "Ye shall not surely die: For God doth know that in the day ye eat thereof, then your eyes shall be opened, and ye shall be as gods, knowing good and evil."

Then we read: "And when the woman saw that the tree was good for food, and that it was pleasant to the eyes, and a tree to be desired to make one wise, she took of the fruit thereof, and did eat, and gave also unto her husband with her; and he did eat."

Poor Eve! How many there are of us who would have done likewise! Knowledge of good and evil was then and there born into the world. Their eyes were opened the story says. Fig leaves were made into clothing. Hitherto they had dressed according to nature and as artists delight in portraying their subjects.

Just then "they heard the voice of the Lord God walking in the garden in the cool of the day." Adam and his wife hid themselves among the trees of the garden. The Lord God called Adam. He responded tardily to the summons, however, saying that he heard the voice but was afraid to come out on account of his nakedness.

Angrily he was asked, "Who told thee that thou wast naked? Hast thou eaten of the tree, whereof I commanded thee that thou shouldst not?"

Then Adam said,—and what shall we think of him?—"The woman whom thou gavest to be with me, she gave me of the tree and I did eat." Turning to the woman for explanation she said to the Lord God, "The serpent beguiled me and I did eat."

Adam and Eve Sentenced

A curse fell upon the serpent for all time. Next the Lord God passed serious judgment upon the woman. And Adam, for hearkening unto her, received his just and lasting dues as well.

Adam then named his wife Eve, because she was the mother of all living.

They were clothed with coats of skins by the Lord God. Then came the tragedy of Eden. The Lord God, fearing that, since they knew good and evil, they would be stretching forth "for the tree of life, and eat, and live forever," drove them out of the garden. Adam was "to till the ground from whence he was taken." The garden with its precious tree of life was guarded jealously by cherubim and a flaming sword. No one could enter its sacred depths.

Did Adam Enjoy Gardening?

Writers are fond of imagining that first garden. Some have wondered if Adam truly enjoyed his task of caring for the plants created by God. Did he marvel at the changes in plant life? It has been suggested, as a pretty fancy, that since Adam "gave names to all cattle" Eve, perchance, named the flowers.

Candace Wheeler in "Content in a Garden" says:

"One can fancy poor young Eve lingering in her beloved Eden and digging up a root of some flower-friend, that she might not be utterly bereft of Eden when driven into the wilderness of the outer world! Poor little mother! Let us hope she found some of her dear familiar families growing in the wilderness, and gathered them together and made herself a garden, such a one as any Eve might plant outside of Paradise,—and that she found within it solace and comfort, when Cain developed the un-Paradisiac qualities of jealousy and cruelty. Even to this far-off day, there is refuge from the warring voices of the world in a garden where no inmate is jealous of another, or fights for its own foot of soil; we may create our own Eden, and the tree of life will grow therein."

Possible to Recreate Paradise

In the same book we read that "there is a possible Eden in every garden, and yet how few of the children of men enter into and possess it? How few, even of the great of earth, know that it is quite within their power to recreate that lost paradise and live in its beauty every summer day of their lives! And it is not alone the beauty of it which ministers so potently to the soul of man. There is companionship to be found within which never offends. Here we may select according to our finest preferences those with whom we shall dwell in our separate Edens, and they will remain with us, and bless us with their loyalty as well as their loveliness."

Gardens, whether Edens or not, are on nearly every North Shore estate. Ranging from formal garden, border garden, rock garden and water garden down to the isolated flower bed or vase of blooming plants flowers play a conspicuous part of the estate accessories. A survey of the North Shore gardens shows as much individualism in their lay-out and color schemes as there are respective owners and caretakers and Shore landscape architects and florists.

"God's in His heaven;

This seems to be the general philosophy taught in the garden.

Glimpses into the beautiful Shore gardens will be given during the season for our readers through the Estate department.

Bedding and Hardy Plants

It is nearing Spring and time to think of planting. Orders should be placed with your florist in advance this season as the demand will exceed the supply. We are growing thousands of bedding plants such as geraniums, heliotrope, petunias, fuchsias, periwinkle, begonias and quite a number of other kinds that are used mostly for outdoor planting and window boxes.

We also offer hardy plants such as larkspur, canterbury bells, iris, paeonies, lupin, foxglove and pansies. Tubs of hydrangeas and box trees to sell or let for the season.

At all times our ideas and experience are at your service, either in helping you in choosing, or in taking entire charge of your landscape planting.

Less Than a Nickel a Week

This is all that Swift & Company's profit cost the average American family in 1919.

Here are the figures and authorities for them.

The average consumption of meat per person for a year is about 180 pounds (U. S. Government).

The average American family is $4\frac{1}{2}$ persons (U. S. Census).

Swift & Company's profit from all sources in 1919 averaged less than $\frac{1}{4}$ cent per pound on all products including meat.

This averages for the family less than the price of—
 1 cigar per week for father, or 1 street car fare per week for mother, or
 1 package of gum per week for the children

The complex service which we furnish the public is efficient and economical. The cost to the public in the shape of profit is too small to be noticeable in the family meat bill.

"RIGHT OF WAY" LAW TO BE OPERATIVE JUNE 29

The so-called "Right of Way" law, providing that when two vehicles approach the intersection of streets at approximately the same moment the one approaching from the driver's right side shall have the right of way, is to become operative on June 29. It is believed by those who petitioned for this law, which was passed by this year's legislature, that when it is once in effect Massachusetts will have taken a very important step toward eliminating and fixing the responsibility for automobile accidents at these points.

Such a measure has been agitated for years, especially by the Automobile Legal association. It is modeled upon similar laws in Connecticut and New Jersey, which have worked successfully for several years.

Once this law is operative, it will only be necessary to look out for the man on your right in approaching a street corner and to give him the right of way.

BEVERLY ADOPTS SUNDAY SPORTS ACT

Beverly city council on Tuesday evening unanimously adopted the Sunday sports act, which will give permission to play amateur baseball, golf and some other sports between the hours of 2 and 6 o'clock in the afternoon. The order for the adoption of the act was accepted with every alderman voting in its favor. There was no opposition to the plan from any source and the act will be given a fair tryout in Beverly this summer.

THE POLITICAL POT is boiling, but who has prevision so keen that he can foresee who will lead the nation in the coming four years? The political writers all over the country are searching in vain for the signs upon the horizon. One weekly publication has undertaken the fruitless and expensive task of polling a straw vote. The results are negative, for nothing new is contributed to the situation. One fact stands out clearly: This is a Republican year. If the electors select an able, energetic, capable, popular leader in June, such a leader will be elected beyond a doubt. The reasons are apparent. The nation is restless for a change. The people are dissatisfied, not only with present conditions, but with the outlook for the future. Criticisms are being hurled at the administration, justly or unjustly, because of its methods of meeting the war problem and the conduct of the war after it came. Many of the criticisms are puerile, unjust and unwarranted. Many others have some defence.

The administration cannot sidestep the protests of its opponents. Many are living in a fool's paradise. The high wages paid to some have meant increased costs for the living of others. The administration has to meet the attacks made because of the prevailing high prices. The peace treaty has not yet been ratified. America is isolated. A Republican minority is equally culpable, it is true, but the "masses" are not discriminating. The administration has not successfully ended the war and peace has not been secured. The personal failings of Mr. Wilson before his illness and his incapacity since are not negligible factors. The failure of our diplomatic work must not be overlooked. Distress signals may be seen in every stock report and financial return and these are not unheeded by those who read between the lines nor by those who jump to conclusions without weighing all the factors involved in the impending crisis. The administration, consequently, is arraigned. It is futile to endeavor to analyze the psychology of mass opinions, yet it is clear that Democratic administration has shot its bolt. The end is near. Wise action by the Republican convention will inevitably lead to a Republican election; the Democratic nominee will be inevitably on the defensive. The defensive position will be difficult to maintain and defeat is the certain issue.

THE RAILROADS and the telegraph companies are behind the times again—in Massachusetts.

THE OBJECTS THE PEOPLE SOUGHT by the establishment of primaries appears to have been defeated by the chicanery of adept politicians and the apathy of voters. Which is the more reprehensible? Who will venture an opinion? The convention had faults which none deny; the established primaries are not appreciated by the voters. The vote in Massachusetts was lighter on Tuesday than at any election when state and town officers are selected, yet electors were chosen to select the next President of the United States. The voters had an opportunity to choose a pledged or an unpledged delegation; few availed themselves of the opportunity. The grouping of men in any election is undemocratic and consequently unfair. It is illegal to vote for a group, "circle voting." It is not against the law for a group to play the political game together to share each other's political fortunes. It is strategy; the method is used by astute politicians in all parties. The advantage acquired is not democratic. It nullifies the purpose which inspired primaries. The primary is another good step in democracy; it ended the injustices of the political convention. Its powers and influence should not be weakened by the cleverness of master politicians nor by the apathy of the voters. Voters should consider the responsibilities of voting at the primary elections seriously.

MAY DAY on the morrow and never more welcome!

EVERY SHORE RESORT in New England is busy during the early days of spring. The season has begun. Gardeners are opening the soil and preparing for the later work of planting in favorable spots. Caretakers are executing the plans of owners; busy workers are cleaning homes and mechanics are repairing buildings that have begun to show deterioration. Workers of all kinds are now plying their tasks, and in a few weeks the cottages by the sea and the mansions on the hills will be ready for their owners or tenants. The winter has been a tedious one and all work upon estates has been delayed. The most skilful worker has been unable to anticipate the work of spring either in-doors or out. The long periods of cold weather and the snow upon the ground prevented all progressive work. But now the work is being advanced as rapidly as is possible with the dearth of help. The sturdy Italians, who were the garden workers, are overseas, although there are a few left in each of the North Shore towns. The cottages and estates everywhere are renting more rapidly than usual. The evidences are now indisputable that the New England shore resorts will be busy this summer, for the long tedious winter has put a desire in every mind that can gratify it to seek the great open air. From now on the temperature registered on the thermometer will climb higher and higher and the cool east wind will become a welcome friend in the heat of the day instead of the unwelcome one in the winter and spring.

THE CHURCH CAMPAIGNS appear to have been successful. The large work involved a great program and demanded large sums of money for intelligent and efficient service.

THE RAILROAD MEN of the Boston and Maine are planning to build a railroad men's Y. M. C. A. in Boston as near to the North Union station as a suitable lot can be secured. The purpose is an admirable one. The railroad men who have runs which terminate in the city at any hour of the day will be enabled to spend the hours between trains in a comfortable "home." The new building will be thoroughly equipped with every advantage and opportunity which a modern Y. M. C. A. is accustomed to present. The program as arranged is an ambitious one, but it will succeed, for all of the railroad men are backing the campaign to their ability. The convenience and comfort of the men in blue who serve on the trains is a matter of interest to all whose safety depends upon their care and alertness. During the waiting hours efficiency is maintained when a comfortable resting place is conveniently available. Only a railroad man will be able to tell all that the last bitter winter has been. When constructed and operating every railroad man will know that there is a place where he will meet friends and be sure of accommodation at the end of a run. The plan has the approval of the railroad administration board and the well wishes of the public. The campaign is being conducted systematically with the usual Y. M. C. A. efficiency, and the zeal with which the men labor and the support which it has received from the public should assure the success of the enterprise.

APRIL BACKACHES bring the summer's "sass!"

THE REJECTION OF THE peace treaty has deferred the day when America will sit in council with the nations of Europe to consider the problems of the new Europe. Today there are "councillors" who attend meetings of the representatives of the powers, but they have no voice nor can they express America's opinion authoritatively. The situation is deplorable and should be speedily ended. Great questions are on the table relative to the adjustment of the Fiume difficulty, the settlement of the fate of the Turkish government, the autonomy of Armenia or its mandatory assignment, and the questions of the selection of mandatories for Mesopotamia and Syria. The government is at a great disadvantage to win strategic diplomatic positions. It is defeating its own great purposes for entering the war by isolating the nation from the nations in council. The peace treaty is in the President's hands and the delays incident to the conflict in the Senate are now prolonged by the President. It may be possible that he will send it back to the Senate with changes in the nature of a compromise. If changes are made and the treaty is returned to the Senate there is a possibility that the United States government may early take a part in the deliberations of the nations. Meanwhile, there are indications that the allies understand the will of America to share responsibilities and not to shirk in the friendly way in which advances are made and maintained to secure our coöperation and good will. The Fiume difficulty is now ready for adjustment. Europe appears willing to consider America's ideals for the new Armenian state. Progress is being made, but so slowly—compared with what America could do if adequately represented at the council table—that the situation is to be regretted. The peace the people call for should be signed that the work of reconstruction may be officially begun.

THE VETERANS of the Civil war are to have their new pensions while the world war bonuses wait.

THE INGENUITY AND THE engineering power of the human intellect will discover greater secrets than the world has ever known before. The necessity for power to do the work of the world has compelled scientific research, and the results have been marvelous. The successes of the past are promises of the greater successes of the future. Coal develops steam and steam is harnessed to its work. Electrical engineers applied the operating power of the steam engine to the dynamo to serve a battery of stations through the electricity developed. Then oil was discovered. The chemical engineers developed processes for refining the oil and mechanical engineers invented the internal combustion motor for gasoline. Only the inexhaustible supply of natural oil deterred engineers from exploring other fields for a motor fluid. Such studies were made in Europe before the war and must be made soon in America. The time approaches when a substitute fluid will be demanded for the diminishing supply of gasoline. Alcohol properly vaporizing and used in a motor adapted for its use makes an effective substitute. Prohibition has made the by-products of the sugar refineries available for the manufacture of alcohol. There are inexhaustible supplies of waste vegetable material available everywhere. All that is needed is an economical process of developing it and an efficient internal motor to apply its latent power. Man must discover new secrets from nature. Alcohol can now be manufactured, but the new problem involves the question of economy and business success in manufacturing and dispensing the commodity. The solutions of the problem based upon pure science have already been discovered. It is now a question of business economy and engineering efficiency. The ingenuity of man has not yet failed, and when the time comes the new fluid will be a motor alcohol.

THE EFFICIENCY OF THE PRESS is accountable to great degree for the prevalent opinion that the world is growing worse. Many unseemly things happened in the years that sped, but the news-getting business was undeveloped.

THE NORTHERN PART OF AFRICA is receiving the attention of diplomats and those who are students of world conditions. The war has wrought great changes. The young men were attracted to the war areas and enlisted in the conflict and have returned carrying with them new ideas of the world. They have inevitably learned something of the ideals of the nations of Europe. As in America, there followed, after the war, a period of great prosperity. The dangers of materialism may not be denied. The opportunities for business and financial progress have been unusual, and they have been seized. The workers of Islam have had an opportunity to spread their doctrines, which in themselves are a menace to modern civilization. There is more involved in the checking of the growth of this sinister form of religion, because it is essentially a political organization with the color and fanaticism of religion united. There is a fear of the spread of Islamism in the north of Africa because it means the projection of the sins, the low moral levels, the political chicanery and the unscrupulousness of that sect south of the Mediterranean sea. The ideals of western civilization which the young men have acquired are tempered with our materialistic tendencies, and they know practically little of the deep hold that idealism, the soul of Christianity, has upon our civilization and how much depends upon the strong ethical impulses of the nations that follow not Islamism, but Christianity. The north of Africa has become a great battlefield where the two forces will meet. The great question is whether the western spirit of civilization will win the hearts of the people or whether they will sink back into the pessimism and bestial slough of Mohammedanism. The results of the conflict of these two great tendencies will determine the history of the Mediterranean basin in the next century.

FIRST A RAKE and a spade, a fork and a hoe; then a garden broad and deep, and rows long side by side; then a bag and a stick, and then another and still another, to please the fancy; and balls in number; and then an open course, green and inviting, with holes tantalizingly near and yet so far.

THE RENT PROFITEER has been checked in his heartless career by the attitude which assessors have justly taken. Houses cannot be built today for rental because of the high costs of material. A notable illustration of the increased costs is that of the Massachusetts church which burned to the ground. Rebuilding was immediately planned, with the startling revelation that the building that had cost less than $100,000 would cost many hundred thousand dollars, and the bill for plastering the building equalled approximately the cost of the entire structure when it was first built. Assessors, however, have been slow to increase the appraisal values for taxation calculations because of the injustices involved. Assessors have sought to adjust their program of work equitably, but when a rent profiteer begins to mulct the tenants then the assessors have an honorable opportunity to levy a tax rated upon the new values of the property which are reflected in the higher rents. It is fair to the community and just to the profiteer that he meet the added obligations. There is no doubt that the attitude aken by the assessors in some of the New York districts will have a deterrent effect on landlords who are awaiting an opportunity to increase rentals. They will be slow to advance rents if an increased tax bill is the inevitable result. There are some reasons why the moderate increases on rentals are justifiable, but in most of the larger centres the increases have been made by those who have sought a profit. It is fair that they return to the community by taxation upon a higher valuation a return for the increased profits. Dishonorable profits should be checked; the assessors' plan will work.

Daylight saving in Massachusetts went into effect last Sunday morning. What long afternoons we are having now!

All those who wish we had some pleasant, warm daylight worth saving, please rise. Everybody sit down.

Scarcity of houses may not worry President Wilson this summer, but after next March he may be reading the "Tenement to Let" columns.

The ruling of a West Virginia court that gasoline is as necessary for an automobile as feed for a horse is sound and cannot be contradicted. It was called forth by the arrest of two garage men on the charge of having violated a blue law by selling gasoline to autoists on Sunday. The court might have gone further and added that gasoline is more necessary for a car than feed for a horse. A horse can be driven for a time without food, but an auto cannot travel without the essential gas.

Forest wardens have forbidden the building of fires in the open air, and campers, hunters, and autoists will be wise to seek a permit before they build a fire in the open air nowadays. It will be easier to obtain a permit before than to pay $100 in fines afterwards, or have six months free board in jail to think over the error.

THE USUAL MISUNDERSTANDINGS have arisen because of the two standards of time—Massachusetts time and Standard Eastern time—but a week or two will eliminate these. Senator Capper, of Kansas, will have many people who agree with him when he says "the United States has become a robbers' roost." The Senator declared that in one year during the war the gross income of American corporations rose from $35,333,000,000 to $84,500,000,000. "The people are being urged to buy their coal early and be robbed for less," he said, "to abstain from steak one day a week, and to purchase War Savings stamps that the United States may live in $9,000,000,000 style on a $6,000,000,000 income."

The proposal to tax incomes above $500,000 a hundred percent will not cause much worry to the proletariat.

Forest Loss Cut From $600,000 a Year to $50,000—Railroads, Hunters, Picnickers, Motorists, Chief Offenders

IN these days, when records for all sorts of things, from the price of coal to the speed of airplanes, seem embarked on a competitive joy ride for Mars, it is restful to contemplate a field of work in which men delight in low figures—the lower the better, and "none" the best of all.

Those are the figures dealt with in a room up at the State Forester's department at the State House, where Maxwell C. Hutchins, fire warden of Massachusetts, works out his schemes for cutting the annual loss from forest fires even below the record of $50,000 established last year.

Fifty thousand dollars as the forest fire loss in a state like this does not sound excessive, but Mr. Hutchins hopes to send it much lower. The record of his department, which is under the State Department of Conservation, A. L. Bazeley, commissioner, gives him cause for hope.

Nine years ago, when the present system was established, the last reported loss from forest fires was $600,000. Since then it has averaged under $100,000 for each year.

Average Damage Only $31.32

Nor are those the only things which indicate the tremendous decrease in the forest fire menace. The average acreage covered by each fire in 1911, the last year before the establishment of the present system, was 39.31. In 1919 it was 14.07. In 1911 the average damage done by each fire was estimated at $226.24. Last year it was only $31.32. Last year there were only 13 fires which caused more than $1000 damage. And 51 percent of all fires were extinguished within an hour after they were discovered.

The most striking thing about this record is not so much that in 1911 the fire loss was 12 times that of last year, but that in 1919, in spite of the low damage record, there were actually scores more of forest fires in Massachusetts than in 1911.

The secret of this change is the establishment of fire observation towers. Back in 1911 the state had only four towers. There are now 37 and all but five are of the latest style, of steel construction. This summer two or more will be built and next year it is hoped that the number will be raised to the 42 which, it is considered, will be an adequate total for the state.

On Watch from 9 to 6

Scattered throughout the state these towers are the outposts of the state fire forces. Throughout the season of forest fires—that is from April 1 to October 15—an observer is on duty between 8 in the morning and 5 in the afternoon. Under daylight savings the hours will be 9 to 6.

Perhaps these hours sound short and the reader will visualize long stretches of time when fires can spring up uncombated. But the men who assigned these hours know their business. Practically all forest fires or brush fires start in the daytime. Most of them begin between 11 a. m. and 1.30 p. m. when people eat luncheon.

The towers are placed on the highest points in their districts and range from 40 to 75 feet high. They cover a range of from 10 to 15 miles in any direction.

The state is divided into five fire districts, each under a district superintendent. In every town there is a fire warden and five or six deputies. Each is paid for the actual time he works in fire fighting.

The towers were built at a cost of $29,000, of which $14,000 was met by voluntary contribution on the part of the towns. The state maintains them, but the Federal government contributes $3000 for the western counties.

In addition, each town with a valuation of $1,750,000 or less is reimbursed one-half on all fire-fighting equipment it purchases up to $500. The act providing for this reimbursement applies to 169 towns; 42 of them have taken up the whole amount, 106 part of it, while 21 have neglected the opportunity entirely. These towns spent a total of $44,000, of which $22,000 was given by the state.

"Over 90 Percent Unnecessary"

The state maintains two big automobile trucks equipped with all the latest devices for handling forest fires and these can be rushed to any section where there is a fire which threatens to get beyond control. As is the case with ordinary fires, the wardens can also call on nearby towns for help if necessary.

"More than 90 percent of all forest fires are absolutely unnecessary," Mr. Hutchins says. "They are caused by carelessness pure and simple, carelessness of automobile riders, who throw away lighted matches or cigarettes, of campers and hunters who do the same or leave the fires burning, or railroad men who neglect the required precautions.

"In 1919 our statistics show that the fires were caused 35.1 percent by railroads, 13 percent by burning bush in clearing up in spring and fall, 11.4 percent by hunters and smokers, 3 percent by sawmills, 3.9 percent by children, 4.5 percent miscellaneous, especially automobile parties, and 31.9 percent by things unknown.

"The chief way in which railroads cause fire is by unscreened or improperly screened ash pans. These pans are now inspected by our deputies and we hope in that way to reduce the fires from this course.

Public Needs Educating

"However, we can do little in the way of prevention until the public learns common care. What we need is a campaign of education to teach people to do or not to do the things which prevent or cause the fires. Surely, it is simple for a man to see that his match or cigarette is out before he throws it away. Do that and you would eliminate a huge percentage of fires. The fact that practically all fires start in the daytime, and the majority between 11 and 1.30 o'clock indicates pretty clearly the share picnickers have in setting fires."

OUR HOLIDAYS

Their Significance

By GWENDOLYN RALEIGH

MAY DAY

Saturday, May 1

THE winter with its dreary days and its frosts and snow are all forgotten for May day has arrived. The day of flowers!

In the hustling and bustling of our modern times here in America very little attention is paid to the first day of May, but in the northern countries where winter lasts from the first day of October until the last of April, the people on the first day of May welcome the return of the splendor of the sun with dancing and feasting, rejoicing that a better season for hunting and fishing has arrived.

Not only the northern countries celebrate May day, however, for extensive celebrations are carried on all through Europe, the ceremonies varying according to the customs of the people.

It is said that May day originated from the Roman Floralia. Flora was the Roman goddess of flowers and of spring, and each year from April 28 to May 3 a festival was held in her honor. Children, their arms filled with flowers and their heads wreathed with garlands, danced along the streets, with greetings for the other May day revellers whom they met. They twined their garlands around the marble columns of the temple of Flora, and placed their floral offerings on her altar, hoping thus to gain the favor of the goddess. The more modern "Queen of the May," who is crowned queen at the maypole, is supposedly the legitimate representative of the Goddess Flora in the Roman festival.

The event in the celebration of the English May day was the dancing around the maypole. This pole was not one of the small size used in the May day celebrations of today, but a huge tree. The tree was set firmly in the ground, and in most instances was left the whole year through. May day was spent in dancing around this pole.

Today the children content themselves with making

May baskets and presenting them to those whom they most admire. Who knows, you may wake up on Saturday morning and find a May basket at your door!

LIBRARY NOTES

New Books in Manchester Public Library

"When I read history and am impressed with any great deed, I feel as if I should like to see the woman who is concealed behind it as its secret incentive."

It is very gratifying to those that have the best interests of the library at heart, to find that the people appreciate the privilege of having the library open evenings. During the month of March, 450 more books were taken out than in February.

That the small seed, sown by the faithful few, in 1620, has grown to the large tree that shelters the nations of the world in its branches is largely due to the courage and endurance of its women.

Many volumes have been written about these heroic souls. You do not have to read much to convince yourself that in those early and strenuous times the homelife of those hardy pioneers had much to do in keeping up their courage. It was as faithful wives and mothers that the women helped most. In a short time the women of this country will have the vote. Let us hope that they will inherit the wisdom of their ancestors, so that their increased power and responsibility will be a blessing to this nation.

"Pioneer Mothers of America, a Record of the More Notable Women of the Early Days of the Country, and Particularly of the Colonial and Revolutionary Periods" is a beautifully illustrated work in three volumes. It is encyclopedic in character. It is unusually well written, and you will find many of the facts recorded here stranger than fiction. There is not a dull page in the work.

"The Ladies of the White House," by Laura C. Holloway, tells you much about the "First Lady in the Land," and how she performed her social duties through succeeding generations.

A very attractive book is "Dames and Daughters of Colonial Days," by Geraldine Brooks. The stories about the historic characters in this book are well told.

"Women of the War, Their Heroism and Self-Sacrifice," by Frank Moore, is a book that will well repay the time spent in reading it. It gives you some idea of the noble work done by the heroic women of America during the Civil war. A small volume, finely illustrated, is "Three Heroines

Information for Children Regarding Flowers

YOU are fond of flowers, so you will be sorry to hear that many of our prettiest wild flowers are fast dying out of certain places where they used to grow. You will ask, Why? what makes them die out?

It is because people pick too many, often all they can find. They cannot all grow again, as people sometimes think, because the flowers that are picked cannot go to seed, and if large branches are pulled off it will take long for the plant to get back to the same size. Then many of our very prettiest flowers have but one blossom or one cluster to a plant, and a small plant, too; and people are apt to take the whole of such plants, root and all. Did you ever do anything like that? If so, it was only because you didn't think.

You go out for a pleasant walk in the summer, or you go on a picnic, and don't you often, all of you, pick flowers whenever you see them, and see what large bunches you can make? And how many get home with you at night? Many of them get wilted, and you are tired of them, and do you not generally throw many of them away?

But you will think that I want you to pick no flowers at all. This is not what I mean. I only want you to think just what happens when we thoughtlessly pick all that we find, or pull up the roots, or even when we pick but a few of the truly rare wild flowers.

Where flowers are very abundant, you can take some. There are even some flowers that you may gather in quantities, and very pretty ones.

Daisies, buttercups, and wild carrot are the farmer's enemies. He will be glad to have your help in getting rid of them. But what charming flowers they are! The latter well deserves its name of "Queen Anne's lace." There is little chance of exterminating wild roses.

But you have judgment: use it. When flowers are few, leave them all. Never take many, even when they are abundant, except when you are helping the farmers. Think of others who may walk in the same woods after you, and leave pretty things for them to see. Do as you would be done by.

of New England Romance," by Mrs. Harriet Prescott Spofford, Louise Imogen Guiney and Miss Alice Brown. The three characters discussed are "Priscilla," "Agnes Surriage" and "Martha Hilton." "A Little Book of Friends," by Harriet Prescott Spofford, is a charming little volume giving you much information about her friends, Mrs. James T. Fields—who for so many years made her summer home on Thunderbolt Hill, in this town—Sarah Orne Jewett, Celia Thaxter Gail Hamilton, Louise Chandler Moulton and others.

The books mentioned so far have had to do with American women. We will now mention a few more general in character. One is "Notable Women in History." The titles of the chapters will give you an idea how the subject is treated. They are: "A Group of Classic Dames," "Many Queens and Some Martyrs," "Women of Wit and Pleasure," "Priestesses of Woman's Cause," "Some Women of the Footlights," "Women in Art and Letters" and "Women Who Stand Alone."

There are two small books, published many years ago, which have not been taken from the shelves for the past ten years, that are well worth reading. They are "Extraordinary Women, Their Girlhood and Early Life," by William Russell, and "Lives of Celebrated Women," by the author of "Peter Parley's Tales."

You may learn much about the prominent women of our own time in "Heroines of Modern Progress," by Elmer C. Adams and Warren Dunham Foster.

"The Lady, Studies of Certain Significant Phases of Her History," by Emily James Putnam, should appeal to the fair sex. Some chapters are: "The Greek Lady," "The Roman Lady," "The Lady Abbess," "The Lady of the Castle," "The Lady of the Renaissance," "The Lady of the Salon," "The Lady of the Blue Stocking" and "The Lady of the Slave States."

This list of books about women could be very much extended, but space will not permit. Let us hope that the books mentioned will awaken your interest in this fascinating subject. Next week there will be a short note on some new books.

SOCIETY NOTES

IRA NELSON MORRIS, the United States ambassador to Sweden, will come to the North Shore this season. He has leased "Eaglehead," the McMillan estate at Manchester, and will come here on his return from Sweden, for the summer. Chicago is the home of Ambassador Morris. Mrs. Morris was Constance L. Rothschild. Their young daughter, Miss Constance I. Morris, and their son, Ira V. Morris, will come to Manchester with them. "Eaglehead" is one of the largest and most desirable estates for rental in the North Shore colony. It is located in the Old Neck section of Manchester and borders on the ocean. The lease was made through the office of T. Dennie Boardman, Reginald and R. deB. Boardman, of Boston and Manchester, who also report the lease of the Roberts cottage, corner of Harbor and Bridge sts., West Manchester, to Charles E. Hodges and family, of Boston.

Nelson S. Bartlett will arrive at his cottage on Smith's Point, Manchester, next Tuesday, for the season.

The S. V. R. Crosbys, of Boston, plan to open their summer home in West Manchester, on the 13th of May for the season. This is a little earlier than usual, the change in plans being effected by the death of Mrs. Crosby's mother, Mrs. Henry S. Grew, several weeks ago. Mrs. Grew was one of Manchester's oldest summer residents, her home being at Old Neck.

Among the week's arrivals are the Francis R. Spauldings, who are at their residence in West Manchester for the season.

Mr. and Mrs. Valentine Hollingsworth, of Boston, who were recently married at Miami, Fla., have been stopping in New York the past week. Mrs. Valentine was Miss Ruby McCormick, of Baltimore. They plan to spend the summer on the North Shore.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles B. Taylor and their daughter, Miss Marcia Taylor, who have been at the Hotel Buckminster, Boston, during the past winter, are opening their summer home, "The Craigs," at Manchester, next Wednesday, May 5.

A navy festival is one of the events scheduled for the North Shore this summer. It will be given by the Boston branch of the Army and Navy Y. M. C. A., to raise money for its work, and will take place on the beautiful grounds of the Haven estate at Beverly Farms on Saturday, July 3. The committee, headed by A. F. Sortwell, hopes to make the festival as much of a success as that held five years ago. The members of the board of management are Henry L. Shattuck, chairman; Charles K. Cummings, treasurer, and Arthur S. Johnson, Harold J. Coolidge, Joseph G. Minot, Grafton D. Cushing, Bertram H. White, Edward M. Pickman, James A. Burgess, Alvin F. Sortwell and Jas. R. Hooper, Jr.

The new greenhouse at the estate of Dr. J. H. Lancashire, Manchester, which has been under construction since early in the winter, has been completed during the past week. The new building, which is termed a curved eave house is 50 ft. long by 30 ft. wide, of iron construction, with special 29-oz. glazed glass roofing. The heating is by Hitchings hot water boiler of the latest model. The interior benches are the standard iron pipe, wooden bottom variety. Hitchings & Co., of Elizabeth, N. J., are the contractors. The mason work was done by D. Flatley. The finishing of the work has been under the direction of Supt. F. J. Shields, one of the Hitchings Co. expert greenhouse men.

MR. AND MRS. WILLIAM M. WOOD, JR., of Brookline, who had a cottage at Manchester last year, will occupy the Reginald Robbins place in Hamilton this year. This is the former A. Lithgow Devens estate, "Lone Tree Farm," and was for several years the summer home of the Isaac Rand Thomases before they bought the Searle farm in Ipswich. The late Samuel P. Mandell lived there last summer. The estate, comprising some 40 acres, adjoins the Myopia Hunt club.

Mr. and Mrs. A. Cecil Butler (Cicely Hyland), of Brookline, have leased the bungalow on the Howard estate, West Manchester, for the summer.

The Preston property in Beverly Farms, has been leased for the summer to Max Shoolman and family, of Brookline. Mr. Shoolman is a real estate broker with Boston office at 18 Tremont st.

One of the important rentals of the week is the new house at Wenham, owned by Arthur Little, which has been leased to Francis Douglas Cochrane and family, of Brush Hill rd., Milton. Last year they occupied the Frank Seabury place in Beverly Farms. The estate, which Mr. Little has named "Sparpizento," is in the Myopia Hunt club section, but is located in the township of Wenham. Mr. and Mrs. Little are in Italy at present and may not return until well along in the summer. The lease was made through the office of B. J. Woods, of the Little Bldg., Boston, who also made the other three leases referred to above.

The lease of "Rockhurst," the J. Warren Merrill house on Smith's Point, Manchester, to Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Howard (Ruth Gaston), of Boston, for a term of years, was also made through "Bunny" Woods' agency.

WILLYS-KNIGHT

THE Essex County club, at Manchester, will open tomorrow—May 1—for the season. The golf links are in fairly good condition and all that is now necessary to make them in first-class shape is good weather.

It is understood that J. N. Willys and family, who have occupied the Jordan estate at West Manchester for several seasons, will not come to the North Shore this year. They have a place on Long Island, where they will spend part of the season. They may also go to Europe this summer.

Guy C. Caldwell, of 63 Oxford st., Cambridge, a specialist in tree surgery, is doing some work on estates along the North Shore this year. He is here practically every day, and for the convenience of patrons mail addressed to him at Manchester will receive his prompt attention. Mr. Caldwell is expert in his line, and will gladly make an inspection and offer advice free of charge. He employs modern methods in the execution of his work. He is also unique in his line, in that he gives educational lectures on American trees and birds, illustrating his talks with imitations of bird songs by natural whistling.

MANCHESTER WILL HAVE BALL TEAM THIS SUMMER

At a meeting of the Manchester Baseball association Monday evening it was decided to have a ball team this year. Last year's manager, Fletcher MacCallum, was unanimously elected to fill the same position this year, and he was instructed, with the assistance of Eddie Harrison, and others, to gather information as to the prospects for a team for the present season,—players, expense, etc.—and report at another meeting to be held next Monday evening at 7.45 in Horticultural hall.

Subscription and membership papers will be in circulation at once to secure funds for the season, and membership buttons will be passed out.

The old board of officers were elected as follows: J. A. Lodge, president; Chas. W. Sawyer, vice-pres.; E. H. Wilcox, secretary, and Chas. E. Smith, treasurer.

An effort will be made to have the town fix up the diamond and baseball field so that the season can be started about May 30. There probably will be no league, and all the games, as usual, will be played on the home grounds.

Come to the meeting next Monday evening at 7.45.

MANCHESTER CHURCHES

Congl. church, Rev. F. W. Manning, pastor. Service Sunday morning at 10.45, with sermon by pastor, "A Glorious Life." The Sacrament of the Lord's Supper will be observed at the close of the service.

The semi-annual meeting of the Woman's Missionary society of the Congl. church will be held in the chapel Thursday, May 6, at 4 o'clock. This meeting will be a combination of the April and May meetings. Supper will be served at 6 o'clock; a double collation. Topic: "Heart."

Baptist church, Rev. H. E. Levoy, pastor. Sunday morning at 10.45 o'clock there will be a sermon by the pastor. Sunday evening at 7 o'clock C. F. Tompkins, a business man of Salem, will speak. A quartet from Salem will furnish music.

Tonight, Friday, Mr. Tompkins will speak at the Baptist church at 7.45 o'clock. Everybody cordially invited to attend.

The evangelistic services closed last Sunday after continuing for two weeks. The meetings were well attended and the results were satisfactory to committees in charge. Rev. P. W. Back, the singing evangelist, endeared himself to many by his labors here.

On Monday evening, May 10, a dramatic and musical entertainment will be held in the Baptist vestry, with music by G. Allyn Brown. The affair is for the benefit of the organ fund of the church.

NOTICE

To the County Commissioners of Essex County—Gentlemen:—

The Town of Manchester by its Board of Selectmen thereto duly authorized, respectfully represents that common convenience and necessity require that Bridge Street in said town near the property of B. W. Tappan and T. W. Long should be widened.

WHEREFORE, they petition that you may alter, relocate or widen said Bridge Street and make specific repairs thereon or discontinue any portions as you may deem expedient as above set forth.

SAMUEL L. WHEATON,
GEORGE R. DEAN,
WILLIAM W. HOARE,

Selectmen of the Town of Manchester.

Commonwealth of Massachusetts
Court of County Commissioners
Essex, ss.

April Term, A. D., 1920, to wit:
April 16, 1920.

On the foregoing petition, ORDERED: That said petitioners give notice to all persons and corporations interested therein that said Commissioners will meet at the Court House in Salem in said County, on Friday, the 28th day of May, 1920, at 10.30 o'clock A. M., by publishing an attested copy of said petition and of this order thereon in the North Shore Breeze, a newspaper printed in Manchester, in said County, once a week for three weeks successively, the last publication to be fourteen days, at least, before the said 28th day of May. And also by serving the Town Clerk of Manchester with an attested copy of said petition and of this order thereon, thirty days, at least; and by posting up an attested copy thereof in two public places in said town, fourteen days, at least, before the said 28th day of May, at which time and place said Commissioners will proceed to view the premises and make such order, in relation to the prayer of said petition as by law they may be authorized to do.

Attest: A. N. FROST, Clerk.

A true copy of said petition and order thereon.

Attest: JAS. P. HALE, Asst. Clerk.

A true copy of said petition and order thereon.

Attest, JOHN KARCHER,
Deputy Sheriff.

Commonwealth of Massachusetts Probate Court

Essex, ss.

To the heirs-at-law, next of kin, and all other persons interested in the estate of Jane Norton Grew, late of Manchester, in said County, widow, deceased.

Whereas, certain instruments purporting to be the last will and testament—and a codicil—of said deceased have been presented to said Court for probate, by Edward W. Grew, who prays that letters testamentary may be issued to him, the executor therein named, without giving a surety on his official bond:

You are hereby cited to appear at a Probate Court, to be held at Lawrence, in said County of Essex, on the tenth day of May, A. D., 1920, at ten o'clock in the forenoon, to show cause, if any you have, why the same should not be granted.

And said petitioner is hereby directed to give public notice thereof by publishing this citation once in each week, for three successive weeks, in the North Shore Breeze, a newspaper published in Manchester, the last publication to be one day, at least, before said Court, and by mailing, post-paid, or delivering a copy of this citation to all known persons interested in the estate, seven days at least before said Court.

Witness, Harry R. Dow, Esquire, Judge of said Court, this twenty-first day of April, in the year one thousand nine hundred and twenty.

FEDERAL THEATRE, SALEM

One of the classics of English literature, Stevenson's "Dr. Jekyll and Mr. Hyde," has been translated to the screen as a Paramount-Artcraft picture and will be shown at the Federal theatre, Salem, Monday for three days. In the role of the unfortunate Dr. Jekyll, John Barrymore is declared to give one of the most remarkable performances of his career.

The story of the London physician who, through scientific curiosity, discovered a fluid that would transform him at will from a philanthropic friend of humanity into a grovelling, fiendish beast, is well known. It is said to be a real masterpiece of film, as well as written, literature.

Alice Lake in the screen version of the famous old New England stage play, "Shore Acres," starring Alice Lake, is the feature at the Federal the last three days of this week.

MANCHESTER FOR WOOD

VOTE IN PRESIDENTIAL PRIMARIES IS VERY SMALL

Sentiment favorable to Leonard Wood for President was plainly evident in the Presidential primaries held in Manchester Tuesday. The "Big Four" on the Republican ticket, consisting of Senator Henry Cabot Lodge, Speaker Frederick H. Gillett, former Senator W. Murray Crane and Edward A. Thurston, carried Manchester. The vote was as follows: Lodge 97, Gillett 62, Crane 69, Thurston 59.

Manchester Republicans also declared their preference for district delegates favorable to Leonard Wood. George von L. Meyer, of Hamilton, received 68 votes, and Wm. H. Root, of Haverhill, 57, as opposed to 42 votes for Frederick H. Tarr and 32 for Wm. S. Felton, both unpledged candidates.

Former Lt.-Gov. Louis A. Frothingham was high man of the five candidates outside the "Big Four" group, receiving 47 votes, followed by Alvan T. Fuller with 35, former Gov. Samuel W. McCall 35, Thomas W. Lawson 19, and Russell A. Wood 9.

The Democratic vote was very small. Walsh received 3, Long 3, Doherty 3, and Pelletier 1 as delegates at large.

There was but little interest manifested in the primaries. The Republican vote was 116, the Democratic vote was 6. The total vote was only about 25% of that cast in the town meeting in February of this year.

? How Much Should I Give ? ? to Make this a Better World ?

A CERTAIN man in New York filled out his income tax report.

It showed an income so large that his tax was 53 percent. And his total gifts to church and charity for the year were $148.

Think of it—thousands spent for luxuries and pleasure for himself; and $148 to leave the world a little better than he found it!

Most of us do better than that but not so very much better.

Our average daily gift for all church causes is

- less than we spend for daily papers
- less than a local telephone call
- less than a third of the day's carfare
- less than 3 cents a day

No wonder that 80 percent of the ministers of America are paid less than $20 a week. No wonder that the church hospitals turn away thousands of sick people a year. No wonder that China has only one doctor for every 400,000 people. No wonder that every church board and charity society is forever meeting deficits, forever passing the hat.

It isn't because we are selfish; it isn't because we don't want to help. It's because no one has ever put up a great big program to us, and asked us to think of the work of the church in a systematic, businesslike way.

The Interchurch World Movement represents the united program of thirty denominations. They have surveyed their whole task, no business could have done it better.

They have budgeted their needs; no business could have a more scientific budget. They have united to prevent the possibility of waste and duplication. At least a million dollars will be saved by the fact that thirty individual campaigns are joined in one united effort.

And they come to the men or women who love America—to you—this week asking you to use them as the channel through which a certain definite part of your income can be applied to make this a better world.

Only you can determine what part of your income that should be.

It's a good time right now to answer that question. We're passing through the world just once; how much better will the world be because you passed through?

UNITED FINANCIAL CAMPAIGN—APRIL 25 TO MAY 2

GEORGE LOCKHART ALLEN

The funeral services of the late George Lockhart Allen, of School st., Manchester, who passed away at the Salem hospital on Friday of last week, were held in Blake Memorial chapel, at Salem, Sunday. Rev. Alfred Manchester, of the Second church, Salem, officiated.

The service consisted of prayer, Scripture sentences and the reading of two poems,—“Father to Thee,” and “A Prayer of Trust” beginning “I little see, I little know.” Both poems were written by Frederick J. Hosmer.

The attendance was large, the chapel being filled. There was a wealth of beautiful tributes, among them being a large piece from the Harvard class of 1888.

The burial was in Harmony Grove cemetery, Rev. Mr. Manchester conducting the committal service. The flag on Salem city hall was at half mast, as was also the flag on the staff

HIGH SCHOOL NOTES

MANCHESTER

The Senior class left this morning on their sight-seeing trip to Boston. In the morning they will visit some of the historical places in old Boston. The two places which will be made the center of especial interest in the afternoon are the Museum of Fine Arts and the Public Library.

The class will have dinner at Young's hotel, and in the evening will witness a presentation of "Bab" at the Hollis theatre, returning on the theatre train. The party will be chaperoned by Prof. and Mrs. John O. Matthews.

The Manchester Woman's club prize in the contest for the best essay from the High school upon a subject in commemoration of the first centenary of the landing of the Pilgrims was awarded to Helen K. Beaton. The prize was a copy of "Stage Coach and Tavern Days." Honorable mention was awarded to Ruth Bullock, Ruth Carroll and Janet Height, each of whom was presented with a book entitled, "Boston—Its Byways and Highways."

HIGH SCHOOL PLAY

A SUCCESS DRAMATICALLY AND FINANCIALLY—A REVIEW

The operetta, "The Wild Rose," which was presented by the Girls' Glee club of the Story High school, Manchester, last Friday evening, and which was looked forward to with keen anticipation of pleasure, met with unquestioned success. The play was given in the Town hall, and was well attended.

The stage setting, at which the audience was allowed to peep before the real performance began, showed that a great deal of time and thought had been spent in the arrangement of the decorations both for the first and the second acts. The stage-craftsman was Charles R. Peart.

The girls took their various "parts" charmingly, and a great deal of credit is due Miss Porter, who was director, for the finished way in which the girls presented the different characters.

Miss Emily Ferriera took the leading part, that of Rose McCloud—the "Wild Rose." Rose was a society belle, whom every one tried hard to spoil. Friends and maids, dressmakers and milliners—and one must not forget the reporters—were forever on her trail, until finally she decided to "cut" it all and live her life in her own way. She moved to the country, where she found happiness and contentment—until she was discovered by her friends.

Miss Dorris Knoerr took the part of "Bobbie," the Buttons, who seemed to be man of all work—and no work. "Bobbie" was adorned by a flaming red thatch and overalls. After they had moved to the country (he went too), his greatest trial was Mrs. Fussy, the housekeeper. Mrs. Fussy was well impersonated by Miss Jessie Kehoe. Poor "Bobbie's" greatest worry was that some day "the old duck" would "call him dear"—and she did! much to "Bobbie's" discomfiture. Bobbie's antics on the stage were amusing and much appreciated by the audience.

Miss Writemup and Miss Putemdown, the reporters, played by Miss Myrtle Lethbridge and Miss Bernice Lee, went to interview Rose, merely as a matter of form it seemed, for they stopped asking questions only long enough to recover their breath, and then wrote down what they wanted to, regardless of what Rose said—or rather attempted to say.

In reviewing the characters one must not overlook Miss Talkalot, the suffragette, which was played by Miss Violet Read. Miss Talkalot was everything her name implied—she talked a great deal, and got what she evidently came for, which was money for her "cause." Mrs. Doingood, a charity worker, played by Miss Janet Height, came out a close second in the talking contest. She, too, received a donation to her "cause."

H. M. PERKINS Haberdasher

246 Essex St. SALEM

Lady Grey, into whose good graces Rose tried very hard to get, and she finally succeeded, was very well played by Miss Lila MacEachern. Lady Gray was a playwright, who was looking for someone to take the leading part in her new play.

Mary Forsythe, Rose's secretary and friend, was played by Miss Helen Beaton, who looked very capable and efficient.

Rose's frivolous friends, four debutantes, were played by Misses Mary Ferriera, Mary Knight, Ruth Bullock and Ruth Matheson.

The other characters were Madame Sewseams, the dressmaker, played by Miss Marjorie Wilcox; Madame Feathertop, a milliner, by Miss Ruth Bell; Madame Smellsweet, a perfumer, Miss Alice Henneberry.

The girls forming the chorus, who were dressed as maids in the first act and in gardening costumes in the second act, were Misses Blanche Wade, Alice Cleary, Gertrude Oakes, Mary Rudden, Ruth Olsen, Catherine Coen, Natalie Cooke, Marion Preston, Alice Lucas, Mildred Thomas, Bernice Semons, Eleanor Smith and Margaret Cruickshank.

Dancing was featured between the acts, with Miss Beatrice Long as toe dancer. Misses Ruth Bell, Natalie Cooke, Mary Ferriera, Mary Knight and Lila MacEachern also danced. Miss Adele Horne was pianist.

The costumes throughout were appropriate and well selected. About $90 was realized from the sale of tickets.

PROBLEMS OF CONGRESSCONG. W. W. LUFKIN SPEAKS AT REGULAR MEETING OF PARENT-TEACHER ASSOCIATION

"Some Problems Now Before Congress" was the subject of a most interesting address given by Congressman W. W. Lufkin at the meeting Wednesday evening in Manchester of the Parent-Teacher association. The Congressman spoke particularly regarding the proposed compensation bill for soldiers, the army and navy bills, immigration, and taxation.

In his opening remarks Mr. Lufkin deplored the lack of interest which the voters of Massachusetts manifested in the Presidential primaries held this week. "In four cases out of five," said he, "here in Massachusetts a nomination is almost equivalent to an election. There may be 15, 25 or 35% of the voters go to the primaries and nominate the officers who will assist in selecting our candidate for President. The others who do not vote will growl and complain about the type of man the party runs for office. In spite of the importance of this year's Presidential primary, only 100,000 citizens in this state took sufficient interest to cast their ballots. I am hopeful and confident that when women have the vote conditions will be improved."

Some of the problems now before the congressmen were discussed by Cong. Lufkin. He referred to wartime legislation and the difficulty experienced in getting the governmental departments to return to their peacetime basis. "Gov. Coolidge, when he was president of the state senate, said he believed in 'going slow on legislation and giving administration a chance to catch up.' But now we are obliged to hustle to allow administration to catch up with the legislation enacted during the strenuous months of the war.

First Billion Dollar Congress

"Some years prior to the war three quarters of a million dollars would pay all the running expenses of our government. You will doubtless remember the hue and cry raised by the newspapers of the country over the 'shameless extravagance' of our first billion dollar Congress. And it did look somewhat extravagant, but I have sometimes wondered what those critics would have said if they could have looked ahead and seen our present expenses!

"In years past we have been accustomed to raising money to run the government by taxing imports and poor old John Barleycorn. Now John has gone, and so have also nearly all of the imports. We have to raise not one billion but eight billions of dollars, and we are obliged to go right into your pockets for it."

Mr. Lufkin spoke of the inconsistency of many groups of people who demand that Congress reduce taxes and in the same breath they ask for four, eight or 12 millions of dollars for some pet project which they desire the government to promote.

Compensation for Soldiers

"The bonus for soldiers is a question which has puzzled every member of the House of Representatives and the Senate probably more than any other question. Every member knows that the claim is justified, but it is an almost impossible task to find the $2,000,000,000 which the appropriation will call for. There are two ways of raising the money, one is by floating a bond issue and the other is by taxation. Treasury experts tell us that any bond issue would be almost impossible. There remains the process of taxes. How can they be raised without imposing extra burdens on the people?"

Government Made Big Mistake

"I want to say that to my way of thinking the government made a big mistake when we refused to conscript labor as well as soldiers. Take the case of two young men, both of whom were registered. One of them was called into the army, 'took his medicine,' fought on the battlefield, and was paid the sum of $30 a month. The other hustled to a shipyard, and then when called he claimed exemption. This would have been perfectly proper if other matters had been equitable. When the soldier boy came back and saw his friend enjoying the pleasures of a home, an auto, a piano and other luxuries, he almost became a Bolshevik, and I do not blame him. That, to my mind, is the one argument Congress cannot answer, and undoubtedly some bill will be passed to grant the soldiers this compensation."

Speaking of the difficulties in getting the army and navy back to a peace-time basis, Mr. Lufkin dealt at some length with the legislation which Congress has passed. He expressed his opinion that the measures as passed would soon be amended or changed and he does not believe they are applicable to present needs.

"Bryan said that 'One million men would spring to arms overnight if the United States was threatened by war.' Well, up to the time of signing the armistice, 4,000,000 had sprung to something, although at first we did not have many arms for them.

Military Training Needed

"We need first a good-sized regular army for police duty; secondly, a National Guard organization; and thirdly, military training of some form by which the great mass of our youth would learn the responsibility which sometime they might have to shoulder. It has been said that we have 4,000,000 ex-soldiers available at any time, but I presume many of them have an idea it is not a bad plan to let someone else do the fighting next time!

"A system by which lads of 18, 19 or 20 should be taught how to care for themselves, and above all what it means to be a citizen of the United States, would result, I believe, in a much higher standard of citizenship."

The Navy Problem

"We have a problem with the navy very similar to that with the army," declared the Congressman. "The pay is so small in the navy that nearly every man has left or desires to leave. We had some pretty sorry lessons regarding the navy during the months just following our entry into the war. Although we were supposed to have the third best navy in the world, we were forced to depend on Great Britain for protection for our men. We should formulate a navy program commensurate with our requirements, and not be influenced by the size of the fleets of any other nation."

The Immigration Question

The problem of immigration is receiving the attention of Washington legislators. Mr. Lufkin spoke in favor of judicious restriction and selection of immigrants. "I object to having New York harbor welcoming the scum of the earth, which was what we were getting a few years previous to the war. With the present shortage of labor we can assimilate the hordes of emigrants without injuring American labor interests, but later the problem will be more serious. I would have the emigrant's record investigated in his home country, a close watch kept on him during his first months in the United States, and if at the end of a stated time the man or woman shows no intention of becoming an American, I would have an American official place them on a boat and ship them back to the native land by the shortest possible route."

The Business Meeting

Routine business transacted at the meeting included the naming of a nominating committee to present a list of candidates for office next year. The list will be presented at the next meeting. Mrs. Frank Floyd, president, appointed the following to serve on this committee: Miss Nellie Leonard, Mrs. Frank A. Rowe, Mrs. D. T. Beaton, Mrs. John J. Connors, Mrs. Patrick Cleary.

Music during the evening was furnished by the members of the Priest school orchestra, under the able direction of Miss Olive Jenness. The school musicians rendered several selections in a pleasing manner, showing evidence of musical talent, and with the training by Miss Jenness they will develop into an efficient orchestra. The members include: Annie Norris, Elizabeth Norris, Frances Flaherty, Katherine Bullock, Florence Allen, Robert Sanford, John Flatley, Walter Foster, violins; Vincent Henneberry, cornet; Helen McEachern, Daniel Chane, piano; Phillip Parsons, Albert Peters, drums.

A display of articles made by the manual training class, under the direction of S. Henry Hoare, attracted much attention. The exhibit included flower stands, tables, autos, book racks, sleeve boards, picture frames, a tea wagon, and other articles. A chest, made by James Cooney, will be used to hold the silverware presented the

This is vacation week for the local public schools.

Dorothea McGaughey returns this afternoon from Worcester, where she has been spending a few days.

Mr. and Mrs. Durant and their little daughter, Mary, are again located in the Knowlton cottage on the Shore rd.

Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Foster and family, of Hartford, have returned to their summer home near Rafe's chasm.

We are glad to report that Doris Malanson, who has been quite ill for some time, is much improved in health and strength.

Among the recent arrivals here is Mrs. J. S. Ford, who is stopping at the "Seahurst," while looking after her property on Fuller st.

Miss Marcia Bradford, after having spent a pleasant winter in Florida, has returned to her attractive cottage on Norman ave., for another season.

Ernest Dunbar and his little daughter, Alice, of Hudson, spent the week-end with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Jabeth W. Dunbar, on Magnolia ave.

Ernest C. Lucas has set a good example to his neighbors and others in already having had his garden ploughed and prepared for planting. We fear that the war-time gardens will not be much in evidence among the village folk this season—a mistake, however, on their part, we think.

Parent-Teacher association last fall.

Refreshments were served by a committee and a social time enjoyed after the business meeting.

At this writing (Wednesday) Mrs. Mary Trout, who has been confined to her home since last fall and under the care of a physician and nurse, is very poorly indeed.

The supper and dancing party given by the Ladies' Aid society of the Village church last Friday evening at the Women's clubhouse was a social and financial success.

Services will be held in the Village church Sunday at 10.45 a. m. Dr. Eaton will preach. Holy Communion will follow the morning sermon. Sunday school meets at 11.45.

Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Gardner and their little daughter, Helen, who have spent the winter with the Frank H. Davis family, are now located at the "Seahurst" for the summer.

Mrs. Fred S. Lycett, a teacher in the public schools of Hudson, and Mary Boyd, a teacher in the high school of Stowe, are enjoying a week's vacation at the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Boyd.

Edna G. Symonds, superintendent of the Village church Sunday school, gave a party to the members of the school Thursday afternoon and evening at the Women's clubhouse. This was the last party of the kind until next fall.

A motherless boy, Richard Newman, found a mother in Mrs. James Wolfe, who took him to her home and nursed him tenderly while he was having the measles. He is out again and as lively as ever—thanks to this kind-hearted and truly noble woman.

Mrs. Frank Cole entertained the Ladies Sewing circle at her Pride's Crossing home last evening.

Miss Margaret A. Donovan, of Hartford, Conn., has been visiting friends at Beverly Farms the past week.

Frank Eldridge has rented the lower floor apartment in his home on Valley st. to Boston parties, who will occupy same the coming week.

This has been vacation week for the Beverly schools, and most of the teachers of the Beverly Farms school have spent the time at their respective out-of-town homes. School will open for the spring term next Monday.

At the annual meeting of the building association of the Beverly lodge of Elks, last Monday evening, Willard B. Publicover was elected president. The report showed the affairs of the association to be in excellent condition with all bills paid.

The committee representing St. Margaret's church, in the drive for funds in aid of the diocesan centre for Catholic women, has practically closed its work and a goodly sum has been forwarded to the general treasurer. The ladies who were in the local committee feel very much pleased with the result and desire to express their sincere thanks and appreciation to all who have aided and cooperated, for without such help the drive for funds could not have been a success.

Mrs. Caroline Pierce, who is 82 years old and is one of Beverly Farms' oldest residents, has written Preston W. R. corps her thanks this week for a plant which the corps sent her, she being a member. Mrs. Pierce has spent the time since last fall with her daughter, in Woburn. She has been quite ill, but is now improved so that she is able to sit up for a while each day. Her condition, however, is such that it is very doubtful if she returns to her Beverly Farms home, for a while at least.

Arthur A. Woodbury, formerly proprietor of the Eli R. Hodgkins painting concern, which was sold last fall to Steele & Abbott Co., has now established himself in a most successful chicken, poultry and egg business at his home in Montserrat, where he devotes his entire time. While Mr. Woodbury has built his business up to large proportions, the demand for his products now far exceeds his production. Besides the business being a profitable one to Mr. Woodbury, it is one in which he takes a keen interest.

Miss Lillian Smith, of Manchester, England, may pay her brother, Robert Smith, of Beverly Farms, a visit in the near future. Miss Smith is one of a party of 30 young ladies who have recently come from England to Toronto, Canada. She expects to make either Canada or the U. S. her future home.

Another public whist party will be held in G. A. R. hall next Monday evening, under the management of Preston W. R. corps. At some of these parties the committee in charge is introducing a pleasing feature by serving free a collation. This provides a most pleasant half-hour social after the card playing.

At last Friday morning's assembly given to the members of the upper grades of the Beverly High school in the High school assembly hall, a Beverly Farms boy, Atlee Caswell, contributed a most pleasing violin solo, which brought great applause. A one-act farce followed. Master Caswell was one of the committee in charge of the event.

At the recent business meeting of the Beverly School board, Miss Elizabeth Harding was elected a teacher in the continuation school to be established in Beverly in August, and will begin her new duties on August 1. Miss Harding for a number of years has been one of the best-liked teachers at the Beverly Farms school. Her transfer is in line with a deserved promotion, but her leaving the Farms school will cause sincere regret.

AT MEETING AT THE FARMS

There was a sort of town meeting at Beverly Farms on Tuesday evening at the library assembly hall when the Beverly Board of Aldermen paid their annual visit for the purpose of talking over with the residents here the matter of needed improvements in this section for the present year. There were about 50 present, including Mrs. Howard A. Doane and Mrs. J. Millet Younger, representing the Farms branch of the Improvement society. The various matters, such as installing curbstones and sidewalk improvement, the improvement of Hart st., the planting of shade trees, the in-

FORECLOSURE NOTICE

By virtue of a power of sale contained in a certain mortgage given by Arthur P. Thissell and Mary E. Thissell, both of Beverly in the County of Essex and Commonwealth of Massachusetts, to Benjamin F. Bullard, dated February 14, 1918, and recorded with Essex South District Deeds, book 2387, page 7, which mortgage has been assigned by the mortgagee to and is now owned by William M. Flanders Co., for breach of condition thereof and for the purpose of foreclosing said mortgage, the property conveyed thereby will be sold at public auction on the premises on Preston Place in said Beverly Farms hereinafter described as the 1st lot, on Monday, May 10, 1920, at 2 p. m., at public auction, all and singular the property described in said mortgage, to wit:

Land in Beverly and Manchester, both in the County of Essex and Commonwealth of Massachusetts, being three lots bounded and described as follows:

First: Land and buildings thereon situated in that part of Beverly called Beverly Farms, in said County of Essex, bounded: Northerly on land now or late of Joseph E. Ober; easterly on other land of grantor; southerly on a private way called Preston Place; westerly on Horse Hill Lane, so-called.

Second: Also a certain wood lot in Manchester in said County of Essex, containing about two and one half acres, bounded: Northerly by land now or late of Benjamin Preston ten rods, twenty-one links; easterly on land now or late of Lemuel Foss eighteen rods, twenty links, and by land now or late of Joseph Williams, Jr., and others twenty-nine rods; southerly by

The members of the local fire department will hold a business meeting at the West st. fire station next Monday evening.

This has been a most pleasant week for the call men of the local fire department, for on Tuesday they received their annual pay checks, which amounted to $128.65 each.

M. Greenhill, the tailor, has vacated the store he has occupied in the Leahy block the past two years and has moved into the store on Hale st. owned by Connolly Bros., and formerly occupied by James A. Culbert.

Mrs. James R. L. Wiseman was the matron of honor on last Saturday evening in Beverly, when her sister, Miss Florence R. Woodbury, became the bride of J. Arthur Van Dine. The best man was James R. L. Wiseman.

Two well-known former Beverly Farms young men, John A. Manning and Angus Gillis, formerly employees of Connolly Bros., have started in the contracting business for themselves—under the firm name of Morrison, Gillis Co. Their success seems to be assured, for the reason that they already have so much work that at present they are obliged to refuse attractive offers. They are at present performing contracts at Washington, D. C., the Lawson Memorial park, at Scituate, and they are engaged on work at Hartford, Conn., and Springfield.

land now or late of Larrabee six and one-half rods; westerly, southerly and again westerly on three courses on land now or late of Lovett and others about fifty rods. For reference to title see deed from Howard A. Doane to said Mary E. Thissell, April 3, 1908, recorded 1913, 218, and deed from Theodore D. Thissell and Marietta T. Higgins recorded with said Essex County Registry of Deeds.

Third: Also another lot of land with the buildings thereon at Preston Place, so-called, Beverly, bounded: Westerly by land now or late of Nicholas S. Thissell; northeasterly by land now or late of Joseph E. Foster; southwesterly and southeasterly by a private way or woods road containing about seventy-four poles and is commonly called the "Pound Lot." See deed of Andrew Standley to Arthur P. Thissell, March 11, 1879, Book 1013, Libro 140 see 1472-49 and 1913-219.

Including all furnaces, heaters, ranges, mantles, gas and electric light fixtures, screen doors, awnings and all other fixtures of whatever kind and nature at present contained in said buildings and hereinafter placed therein prior to the full payment and discharge of this mortgage.

Said premises are conveyed subject to a first mortgage of $3600 to the Beverly Co-operative Bank, dated February 16, 1915, recorded Essex South District Deeds, book 2288, page 460. And also subject to any unpaid taxes.

Terms of sale, 500 at time and place of sale, balance in ten days, at the office of the assignee of the mortgage, 48 India Street, Boston.

HEAD WORK PLUS HEART WORK IS ESSENTIAL

The head worker is supposed to give you his brain. He is capable of producing ideas. Potentially he is valuable. Actually he is valueless—unless you have his heart along with his head.

Head work plus heart work alone counts.

Not until a man's hopes and aspirations, his heart and soul, his very life, are wrapped up in the work set before him will his muscles or his mind perform to capacity. Without interest there is poor head work and no heart work.

You pay high for a man if you employ only his body. You may think you're getting him cheap. But you're not. He's costing you money.

You pay dearly for the work of the man who gives you only his head. It matters not how capable he is, most of his thoughts, his ideas, won't hold water if his heart, his interest, is not with you.

If you would get value received, and more, do something—anything—to obtain heart work. For the only real hard work is heart work.—WM. MARVIN JACKSON in Forbes Magazine.

SAVE MONEY ON MEAT

Here is a real thrift recipe for a tasty, nutritious dish prepared from less costly meat. It is issued by the Division of Women's Activities, Department of Justice. Use this recipe and save money on meat.

Quick Meat Loaf

3-4 lb. round or some other solid meat run through meat grinder twice

3-4 cup softened bread

1 beaten egg

Salt and pepper

Lemon juice

A little nutmeg

Onion juice

added to bread

Add the bread mixture to the meat. Shape in a bowl and sprinkle well with flour. Melt two teaspoons of butter in a frying pan, put in a sliced onion, cover and cook slowly, until the onion is a light brown; remove the onion; put the meat loaf into the hot pan with the floured side down. Cover and cook for ten minutes, then sprinkle the top with flour, turn carefully, and cook for five minutes longer. Lift the meat loaf onto a platter with a cake turner, place the cooked onion on top and pour over the juice remaining in the pan. This meat loaf can be served either hot or cold.

Planked Regular Roll

2½ pounds regular roll

Place the meat upon a well seasoned plank. Grease board well with butter or butter substitute. Place beneath broiler and broil for 2 hours, basting frequently with butter or butter substitute. Remove from broiler and finish roasting in moderate oven.

To Garnish: Around edge of plank place border of Duchess potatoes. Duchess potatoes are mashed potatoes to which an egg yolk has been added. This mixture is forced through a pastry bag, forming rosettes around the roll. Garnish with canned peas and canned asparagus tips. Serve on plank.

Baked Pig's Head

1 pig's head

Biscuit dough

Salt and pepper

Choose a pig's head and clean very well. Parboil. Pat out biscuit dough and roll pig's head in the dough. Bake until brown.

THE FOUNTAIN

"Spring of Living Water"—the Gurgling, Gushing Fountain

By LILLIAN McCANN

Into the sunshine,
Full of the light,
Leaping and flashing
From morn till night;

Into the moonlight,
Whiter than snow,
Waving so flower-like
When the winds blow;

Into the starlight
Rushing in spray,
Happy at midnight,
Happy by day;

Ever in motion,
Blithesome and cheery,
Still climbing heavenward,
Never weary;

Glorious fountain,
Let my heart be
Fresh, changeeful, constant,
Upward, like thee!

—Lowell.

joy, life and action. Right well we feel that a "spring of living water" has no better symbol than the fountain. The spirit within is further emphasized by the gurgling, gushing fountain.

In olden times certain healing qualities were ascribed to various wells of water. Some were considered sacred. The fountain was then a sort of altar. Now it can be made a pretty sylvan altar in the centre of our gardens.

Country homes and gardens are coveted places for which plans are made years in advance in many cases. The garden's "heart" is often left out, however, although we can think of a few gardens on the Shore that seem to have been built around their fountains. Walks, flower borders and beds converge in a most pleasing manner toward this part of the garden when the fountain is given a central place.

Fountain Should Create Emotion

It is said that the true fountain must create genuine emotion. Here is a real artistic note in the garden. Real artists have helped to bring about our admiration for the fountain. Joy and youth are expressed in all fountain pieces. Sculptors have long created charming figures to carry out the idea of the fountain. Since "sculpture is a connecting link between architecture and nature" it is here we see a feature which may blend or harmonize the house with its grounds or gardens. Simply or elaborately this may be done.

The jolly, piping "Pan" is one of the most common figures of much distinction that is used as a fountain centre. Pan pipes away most merrily in the midst of the large basin forming the fountain or rather small pond at the Albert J. Beveridge place in Beverly Farms. The piper is also in evidence down Gloucester way at "Look-out Hill," the John Hays Hammond place.

Dolphins, Swans and Nymphs

Perhaps dolphins, swans and nymphs are the simplest and most ordinary fountain figures.

One of the most attractive fountains on the Shore is at "Highover," the William Phillips place in North Beverly. In a niche in one of the garden walls stands a bronze figure of St. Francis welcoming his friends, the birds, to drink at his feet. This was done by Mrs. Maynard Ladd, of Boston and Manchester.

The Shore has its share of beautiful, slightly fountains in garden centres, in garden walls, in conservatories, in sunrooms and in porch walls. The Shore also has two sculptors, Mrs. Ladd, who was Anna Coleman Watts, and Miss Anna Vaughan Hyatt, of New York and Annisquam. Both of these women are widely known for their garden sculpture.

The Shore also has cement workers who are artists in their particular line. The BREEZE pages can tell you of workmen who have built marvelous pools, cascades, basins and other garden fixtures on the Shore.

St. Francis and the Birds

Since the statue of St. Francis and the birds is such a well-known garden piece as well as being used for a fountain, the following poem by Longfellow may be of interest to those who love the name of the simple, kindly

The Collection of "Slow" Telephone Accounts

THE PURPOSE OF THIS ANNOUNCEMENT is to show that it is desirable to save the time and labor that is expended in collecting bills that remain unpaid after the lapse of a reasonable period of time.

BILLS ARE DUE when rendered on the first day of each month, and while most telephone accounts are paid promptly, there are a number of "slow" accounts that require labor, time and expense that might better be devoted to other work that is more directly in the interest of the public's telephone service.

WE BELIEVE that this method of bringing the matter to the attention of the public, this frank and open discussion of our aims, is all that is necessary to secure proper understanding and co-operation.

DEAR common flower, that grow'st beside the way,
Fringing the dusty road with harmless gold,
First pledge of blithesome May,
* * * * * thou art more dear to me.
Than all the prouder summer blooms may be.
Thou art my tropics and mine Italy;
To look at thee unlocks a warmer clime.

Thou art the type of those meek charities
Which make up half the nobleness of life;
Those cheap delights the wise
Pluck from the dusty wayside of earth's strife;
Words of frank cheer, glances of friendly eyes, Love's smallest coin, which yet to some may give
The morsel that may keep alive
A starving heart, and teach it to behold
Some glimpse of God where all before was cold.

—From Lowell's "To the Dandelion."

MAY

MAY comes laughing, crowned with daffodils,
Her dress embroidered with blue violets,
So gracious and so sweet she scarcely lets
A thought return of all the winter's ills.
The orchards with enchanting wealth she fills;
In the green marshes golden cowslip sets,
And all the waking woodland spaces frets
With shy anemones. But ah, she wills
At times to frown in sudden wayward mood;
The violets shiver clinging to the ground,
She's cold and blustering where once she wooed,
And oftentimes in petulant tears is found;
But like sweet women, who sometimes are cross,
Her smiles come back the sweeter for their loss.

Anger begins with folly, and ends with repentance.

THE LANDING OF THE PILGRIMS marked an epoch in the history of the world as well as a beginning of the great American democracy. The tercentenary celebrations will be held in Europe and in America. Holland and the United States may both fittingly observe the anniversary of so great an event. Holland may well be proud of the fact that these sturdy men inspired with freedom and religious devotion, were able to find an asylum in their land. The celebrations of the coming year and the year following, with the pageant in Plymouth in July, 1921, may well be begun in Holland to commemorate the departure of this hardy band of determined men who were seeking an opportunity to worship God according to the dictates of their conscience, and who did that and much more, for they established here, in the wilderness of America, a great republic that eventually sent its life blood overseas, in the young men of the nation, to make the world safe for democracy by conquering the attacking forces of the Germans. There was a battle of men, but it was a battle for national ideals and national freedom. The world was made safe for democracy, but the seed of democracy that has made the world safe was planted by the little band of faithful men who left Delfhaven in Holland and established themselves in Massachusetts. Holland gave an asylum, but the Pilgrims still sought for rest and peace. The asylum which Holland gave was a historic courtesy which none may gainsay. The hospitality and the freedom enjoyed by the Pilgrims was appreciated, but the ideals of the forefathers came from England, and there will one turn for a tercentenary celebration in September. The English observance held in September this year ought to add another bond to the many which binds the two nations. In November and December Provincetown and Plymouth will observe the tercentenary, so the year is to have varied and unique observances of the tercentenary of the great event in the history of this nation.

AMERICA IS NOW a world power. Her influence in the world is constantly increasing. International problems must interest the leaders of the nation in the future more than in the past. In other years our isolated position made it possible for us to escape the snares of international strategy and intrigue because it was unnecessary for us to manoeuvre for alliances in Europe which would assure aid in the event of military attacks. It was believed that the Atlantic ocean was so broad that an army could not be sent overseas by any European nation quickly enough to cause alarm; the breadth of the ocean and the naval equipment of the European powers made the problem for Europe a difficult one. Peace has always been maintained with Canada on the north. A friendly relationship has always existed between America and the mother country, and so the nation has drifted. The difficulties in Mexico have been menacing, but refuge was sought in the promulgation of the Munroe Doctrine which was America's political way of expressing her convictions concerning her isolated position and any alliance which a European power contemplated with any southern American nation. Now all things are changed; new days present new obligations and duties. America can only go forward. This means a careful and honorable participation in the great problems of the world. America is destined to play a leading part in the reconstruction of the new world order. In doing this the victories of the American army must be sustained by the democratic influence of America in world politics. If the next war is to be averted America must with a steadfast purpose and a democratic ideal endeavor to let her light shine out. America must preach the gospel of peace and righteousness. To do less is to fail; to do more is to offend. America must choose that middle ground which will show the world that she is ready to do her part fearlessly and without any intention to unjustly offend. America's influence in the past has been indirect; in the future it will be direct and effective.

THE OVERALLS CRUSADE does not have the marks of sincerity to commend it nor the advantages of economy to support it. Its origin may be traced to the offices of the sellers of cotton goods. The working world has been eschewing cotton and enthroning wool. Even the working suit must be pure wool. Hence the propaganda for the humble cotton overalls launched as an attack upon high prices. So it is aimed to sell overalls, however sincere followers may be. He who dons them as a fad becomes a booster for a passing trade revival, whatever his purpose may be. The psychological effect of the drive must be found in the minds of the men who have been gradually discarding overalls. Have the overalls been a badge of membership in a society of toilers of the lower order? Then let the overalls be dignified and be given their rightful place! For this much will the clever trade scheme accomplish. Nevertheless they are luxuries at present prices. The fad pursuer must pay for an extravagance which his whim inspired. Meanwhile the old clothes of other years, still respectable but worn, are finding their way to the community tailor. The economist cannot afford to trifle with passing fads. He steers the clearer course of imperative economy which must forego even the purchase of cotton overalls. If the enthusiasm for overalls is gauged to inspire a new spirit in the men who toil, it is well. The origin of the movement suggests a clever cotton merchant's trade scheme. The real economist and the most effective protestant will wear old clothes with contentment and even pleasure. The "overall man" will know that his working clothes are the symbols of honorable and respected labor. The respect for the garment is nothing. The respect for the worker is everything. Respect for the man who wears them is of the essence of true democracy, the recognition of real worth wherever found.

THE AGRICULTURAL WARNING has gone forth relative to the corn borer, but the garden lot looks quite forlorn and uninviting to Mr. and Mrs. Corn Borer. Mr. Summer Resident would fain see the husks and the luscious corn that they cover.

HIGH PRICES ARE NOT an evil in themselves; the trouble lies in readjusting the incomes of families or business enterprises to the new standards of values. Low prices do not permanently increase the purchasing power of money, for low wages inevitably follow. It is the adjustment of the relation of the income to the expenditure in the family or business bookkeeping which determines the value of the lower prices or the higher prices. It is axiomatic that lower wages lead to lower prices, and vice versa. Low prices are a menace when they compel economies that mean retrenchments below the accepted standards of living. In paying higher prices there is some satisfaction in knowing that laborers who produce the goods have received wages high enough to assure a decent living to the worker and to his family. There is no merit in driving a business bargain that means a loss to anyone. When one purchases an article in the open market at a price that is less than that which assures a living wage to the workers who produced and sold it, a moral wrong has been done. The competitive methods in business make it difficult for business men to meet all the obligations of the moral code, for too often they are compelled to strike economies that are unjust and which are prompted by the unmoral economies of purchasers. All bargains are not "unmoral purchases" for many reduced price sales do not involve the labor of men at sacrifice wages. Often remnants are sold to turn stock into money when a reasonable profit made on all the goods previously sold makes the sale of the remnant possible at the much lower price. During the period of a decade ago prices were low because the goods were too often produced by children or adults inadequately paid. It is small comfort to pay increased prices which swell the gains of profiteers, but there is great satisfaction in knowing that those who produce what we wear and eat are well paid.

THE SOVIETIST OF RUSSIA is based upon the theory that a community owes a man a living and that a man over fifty is exempt from work. Osler was more kindly with the men of middle age.

THERE ARE DIFFICULTIES in the coal industry in some of the North Shore cities which are annoying. The workmen who deliver the coal were granted the increase in wages demanded upon Saturday; they were apparently satisfied and reported for work. The teams of horses were harnessed to their wagons and motor vehicles started; then both the horses and the motors, still running, were abandoned by the workmen. The employers were left unceremoniously in the lurch and the community was left without facilities for the delivery of coal. That workmen have a grievance at times with their employers is to be expected, but what ought not to be expected is the resort to dishonorable and undignified methods to gain a point. Differences of opinion are inevitable in all industries that employ labor. Those who cherish feelings of sympathy for the men who have the difficult and hard laboring tasks in life to perform are at a disadvantage in maintaining their faith in the cause which they would gladly espouse. One of the most difficult lessons that organized labor and employers have to learn is that of doing right things in a right way. There is nothing dishonorable about a labor difficulty when labor asks for an increase in wages. Men have a right to work and a right not to work, but embarrassment and petty manoeuvres to annoy the employers is unworthy, and lessens the influence of the men with the public. Laboring men will do well to pause, to consider, and then to act, presenting their cause to their employer in honorable ways. Such action places them at a distinct advantage with the public and does not damage their cause with employers, who after all are but fellow workers in the industry that furnishes them daily bread. Right causes can never be won by wrong methods to gain the right desired.

THE PRIMARY ELECTION last week demonstrated again the weakness of the Massachusetts plan. The primaries were inaugurated to remedy the evils of the Convention and present the voters with a democratic opportunity to select their own candidates. Yet the group-voting plan and the resort to pledged and unpledged delegations defeated the very policy the primaries were intended to establish. It was almost impossible for all the voters last week to vote for delegates who favored their Presidential candidate. Careless and uninformed voters failed to register their votes as their inclinations lead. For example a man who wished to cast a vote favorable to Leonard Wood, Hoover, Johnson, or Lowden found nothing on the ballot to aid him. If the voter favored Leonard Wood his task was easier; there were delegates-at-large and pledged delegates in each district committed to his cause. But if one wished to vote for Lowden, Hoover, or Johnson there was no opportunity. This was a marked injustice to voters who wished to vote for other candidates than Wood. Even the Wood voters had to know who the men were that favored the candidate they sought the election for. It has been suggested that an unofficial party convention be held to select candidates and that on the ballot the voters have an opportunity to write in their preferences for a Presidential nomination and such would carry an endorsement of certain pledged delegates. Neither plan is feasible. The problem must be given careful study in all its phases before a decision can possibly be reached. The democracy of the primary is menaced, the rights of a fair and open ballot for all voters is denied and the study must be made to preserve the democracy of the primary and remove all evils. The primary is an improvement on the convention, but it has faults as menacing as the old-time convention.

WITH GENERAL EDWARDS on the Shore on Memorial Day the honors of the first Memorial Day after all of the men have returned from overseas will be fittingly and honorably paid. The men who have passed on are honored above all.

THE PRESENT-DAY MOVEMENT among the churches to place their financial programs upon a firm financial basis began with the Methodist church, which succeeded last year in raising a phenomenally large centenary fund. The success of this religious organization led to the alliance of about thirty different branches of the Protestant churches to stabilize their subscriptions for general benevolence purposes. The campaigns which terminated last Sunday were the results of the general plan of all these organizations to increase their benevolences. The results have been, as expected, very satisfactory. The people of the churches have become accustomed to large giving for philanthropic purposes during the war period and were taught the value of the simultaneous method of stimulating giving, and welcomed it, inasmuch as the war was over, for the good of the Church. Some denominations were not affiliated with the broad movement, such as the southern Baptists and some of the liberal branches of the Church in New England. Other organizations while not directly affiliated with the general movement, nevertheless conducted campaigns simultaneously, with success. The results have been good and the Protestant churches of America for the first time have been united in work upon a common plan of action. Great care was given to publicity. A large task was done in a large way and the funds raised will be used for philanthropic work. Out of each dollar given twenty-two cents will be used for American education; thirty-two cents for so-called home mission work, the aid of poor and needy churches and the extension of church services in America; thirty-five cents for overseas extension work, which implies the establishment of hospital service, educational institutions and other social service enterprises as well as distinctly religious church extension work. Two cents of each dollar will be used for religious education. The campaigns have been conducted honorably and wisely and the results are in keeping with the great efforts made.

After the salesman had concluded his spiel, the manufacturer quietly informed him that the cloth was made in his own mill, that it was not all wool, and that the goods were sold to the Boston firm for $3 a yard. By this it appears that the manufacturer is not responsible for the rising costs of clothing.

THE SUNDIAL

"Admonishing Us to Higher Things with Its Silent Voice—A Garden God"

By LILLIAN McCANN

"Use the present hour, mindful of the last."

HOW much good philosophy we may glean from our sundials! "For the night cometh" was the motto on Sir Walter Scott's dial, always urging him on to incessant work. And what a sweetness there would be in our lives if we could take unto ourselves the full meaning of that favorite motto, "I count the bright hours only."

Someone has said, "What a dead thing is a clock, compared with the simple altar-like structure and silent heart-language of the old dial!" It has stood in our gardens for hundreds of years, a garden god, admonishing us to higher things with its silent voice.

The sundial has always been a thing of sentiment. With other devices we can deceive ourselves about old Father Time. We can cease to turn the hourglass, or let the clocks run down, but we cannot stop the sun's shadow on the dial.

Alice Morse Earle has expressed a charming thought about dials in that complete book of hers on "Sundials and Roses of Yesterday." In speaking of the reverence we all have for the dial, the "simple, silent and sublime" thing on which Time marks his flight, she says:

"All feel the beauty and wonder of the thought that Time, that most intangible, most fleeting, most wonderful of conditions, is marked so fittingly in its passing by a shadow almost equally intangible; and that the noblest evidences of creation—the stars in the heavens—would be to us invisible and unknown save for their revelation through the shadow of the earth. Thus are great truths revealed to us, not by great Light, but by Darkness—a lesson of Life."

Again in her book we read an interesting fact connecting the dial with our early history. "In the first coinage of the United States a sundial made frequent appearance. A design of a sundial was on the dollar which was cast in silver, then in bronze, then in pewter; it appeared on the copper cent and was printed on a paper note of the value of one-third of a dollar. This sundial bore two inscriptions, one Fugio, the other, "Mind your own business." The word Fugio gave a name to this currency, and the pieces were known as the "Fugio dollar," the "Fugio cent," and the "Fugio note." The cent was also called the "Franklin cent," and is known so by collectors today. This was through Franklin's connection with the coinage. It will be recalled that Franklin had known much of the postal service of Great Britain before he became postmaster-general for the American colonies under the crown. And he had lived long in London, where on the general post-office was a sundial with the motto, "Be about your business." I have never doubted that it was entirely Franklin's taste which supplied to our new nation the sundial design and the motto, "Mind your business."

We have often noticed the dials standing in the beautiful gardens on the North Shore, and have thought that a booklet or an article ought to be written about them.

The mottoes on dials are always of interest. We recall that the one used on the dial in the Pride's Crossing garden of the late Mr. and Mrs. Alexander Cochrane reads thus:

I stand amid ye summer flowers
To tell ye passing of ye hours.

It bears the date of 1640.

Mrs. Henry W. Peabody, of Montserrat, has a dial in her rose garden which tells the familiar story:

I count the bright hours only.

"Sundial" cottage at Magnolia, the home of the Henry W. Farnums, of Chicago, has a dial with Robert Browning's lines on life:

Grow old along with me!
The best is yet to be.

In the "butterfly garden" at Miss Katharine E. Silsbee's place in Beverly Cove the dial is supported by an old millstone. We read:

Non Numero Nisi Serenas Horas.

At "Hetmere," the former Shuman place in Beverly Cove, now owned by the Paul Watkins family, of Winona, Minn., the sundial bears the motto:

Light follows darkness.

In Ipswich, "Parting Paths," the Henry L. Dawes place, has a dial with the following words:

All the seasons run their race
In this quiet resting place.

Mr. and Mrs. George Eddy Warren, of "Singingdune," Blossom lane, Manchester, have a sundial with this motto:

Let others tell of storms and showers,
I'll only mark your sunny hours.

(The motto chosen by Queen Alexandra for the sundial at Sandringham.)

Miss Eleanor H. Jones, of "Highfields," Magnolia, has a dial with the brief warning:

Ye know not the hour.

So we might go on with our search all along the Shore. We know there are interesting mottoes on other sundials which we have failed to note in our visits to gardens and points of interest on the Shore estates. We wish we had a copy of the motto each dial bears, but since we have not, we add a few general mottoes below, thinking they may interest someone who is planning to erect a dial this season.

Time can do much.

Time is more sacred than gold.

This is thy fortunate hour

I seek my light from God.

The day is thine.

God's Law may be read in the light of the Sun.

Make the passing shadow serve thy will.

Now is yesterday's tomorrow.

I note the time that you waste.

Let your light so shine that men may see your good works.

Of nothing, nothing can come.

Shadow and shine is life.

Every day brings death nearer.

Retain your loyalty, preserve your rights.

Injure no man.

See the little day-star moving,

Life and time are worth improving,

Seize the moments while they stay;

Seize and use them

Lest you lose them

And lament the wasted day.

A clock the time may wrongly tell,

I never if the sun shines well.

Time flies, lines rise, and shadows fall,—

Let it pass by,—

Love reigns for ever over all.

Avoid anger.

In God's good time.

With my shadow moves the world.
The hours vanish, yet are they recorded.
Prize time.

When thou dost gaze upon my face
Think then of time how swift his pace,
And that with every moment flown
Thy opportunity is gone.

Life is short, time is swift, much is to be done.
Give God thy heart, thy hopes, thy service, and thy gold,
The day wears on and time is waxing old.

Improve the present hour, for all beside
Is a mere feather on a torrent's tide.

I serve.

The time to come is no more ours than the past.
The time thou killest will in time kill thee.

Hours fly
Flowers die,
New days
New ways
Pass by,
Love stays.

Time is Too slow for those who wait;
Too swift for those who fear;
Too long for those who grieve;
Too short for those who rejoice;
But for those who love
Time is eternity.

I mark not the hours unless they be bright,
I mark not the hours of darkness and night.
My promise is solely to follow the sun
And point out the course his chariot doth run.

Begone, Time flies, walk in Light.

To no one is given right of delay,
Noted in heaven passeth each day,
Be thou not fruitless, work while ye may;
Trifling were bootless,
Watch thou and pray.

The Hour passeth, friendship abideth.

Hasten slowly.

Whittier wrote the following for a sundial for his friend, Dr. Henry J. Bowditch:

With warning hand I mark Time's rapid flight,
From Life's glad morning to its solemn night.
Yet, through the dear God's love, I also show
There's light above me by the shade below.

Dials are classified as attached, detached and portable. The detached are those placed on pedestals, while the attached are those fastened on walls. Of the latter kind there is a beautiful specimen on the Albert J. Beveridge stone house at Beverly Farms.

On the terrace at "Sunset Rock," the Spaulding place at Pride's Crossing, is a most interesting globe or balloon dial.

TO DO AWAY WITH DETOURS

Any Possible Way of Overcoming This Serious Inconvenience Should be Adopted

THE DETOUR, the abomination of the motoring tourist, is necessary because every road must be occasionally rebuilt and because it has been considered impossible to motor over a road when it is under repair. This last belief is thought unwarranted by a writer in Municipal Journal and Public Works (New York), who sets forth the reasons why it is quite possible and proper to rebuild the right and left sides of a road separately, the traffic meanwhile using the other edge. The dividing-line between the two constructions, instead of being objectionable, furnishes, he says, a useful mark for separating the traffic. Says this writer:

"The vehicle-using public is becoming accustomed to detour signs, but that does not mean that they have become reconciled to these time-consuming, machine-wrecking, nerve-racking accompaniments of road-construction and repair. If there is any possible way of overcoming this serious inconvenience it should be adopted. It is becoming even more serious, rather than less so, with the increasing use of concrete for pavements, which must stand closed to traffic for an additional week or two after the road has been closed for a similar period while grading and concrete construction was going on.

"The only possible plan for avoiding detours that has been suggested, so far as we recall, is to construct and complete one-half of a given stretch of road at a time, traffic meanwhile using the other side of the center line of the road. To this it is objected that this plan makes a joint and line of weakness in the center of the road; in spite of which, however, it has been followed in many cases.

"We suggest that, in the case of roads where two lines of traffic are provided for by a width of twenty feet or more (which should include all durable-surface roads), there be no effort to bond the two halves into one continuously bonded whole, but that they be considered as two pavements, separated from each other, traffic being expected to confine itself to its respective sides and not use the center. There might even be an advantage in setting a line of stone, concrete, or brick, raised slightly above the surface, down the center line, the pavement on each side being constructed against this as a curb. Besides the greater convenience to traffic and in construction which this plan would afford, such a center curb, with a color different from that of the pavement, offers another advantage.

"Marking a line down the center of a paved street or country road has a strong tendency to prevent automobile accidents. Such a line causes the drivers of cars unconsciously to keep on the right side of the road. Drivers of approaching vehicles have a stronger tendency to keep at a safe distance apart. The decided advantage of the center-line mark was first noticed on the Baltimore-Washington road, where the concrete surface was built one-half at a time, leaving a clearly defined line at the point of juncture. It was noticed that drivers almost universally kept to their own side of the road, whereas on unmarked roads there was an almost universal tendency to drive in the center of the road, and in approaching and passing vehicles the tendency was to allow the smallest margin of clearance possible. Chief Engineer Mackall, of the Maryland State Road commission, and C. M. Upham, State highway engineer, of Delaware, both plan, after observing results on the Maryland road, to paint a black line down the center of their paved state roads.

"If it is an advantage to endeavor to persuade drivers to use the two halves of the road as two separate roadways, why inconvenience the public by building both of them at once, or increase cost and maintenance troubles by trying to join them into one structural whole, with the joint imperceptible? A line of white stone or concrete down the center of a bituminous road, or of red brick in a concrete road, would furnish a permanent, ineradicable line; and in the case of concrete pavement would provide opportunity for two expansion joints and take the place of the irregular, unsightly crack that is found following the center of so many roads made of this material."

A TAX ON SALES

REPRESENTATIVE FULLER, of Illinois, in Debate

AS a result of the war and the orgy of reckless and extravagant expenses which accompanied it Federal taxes must be in fabulous figures for at least several years to come. The country is the richest on earth, and can pay all that, with reasonable economy, can be required by the Government in the way of taxes, if they are properly and fairly distributed, so that every person may be required to pay only his or her just share and no more and that no person or corporation shall be permitted to avoid payment of his, her, or its just proportion or to pass the buck to some one else and thus recoup from those who are powerless to prevent.

It is my candid opinion that the greatest contributing cause of the present high cost of living is our present system of taxation. And this is so for the reason that the man at the foot, the ultimate consumer, has to pay it all, so that while thousands are made millionaires millions are impoverished and find it very difficult to procure even the ordinary comforts and necessities of life. Notwithstanding the enormous expenses of the government, yet if such expense was fairly and evenly distributed it would not be difficult to raise the necessary amount, nor any very great hardship on anyone to pay his proper share.

I will tell you what I would do if I had the power and the precise remedy I would suggest. Financial experts may not agree with me, but I feel that the remedy is very simple and easy, and that if applied we might soon get back to something like normal conditions and that the prevalent unrest among the people would soon disappear. If this contention is true, the remedy is worth at least very careful consideration and a fair trial. I would wipe the slate clean. Except as to tariff and internal revenue, I would repeal all the existing revenue laws, all the present unequal, unjust, and burdensome income tax, surtax, and excess-profits taxes, and I would substitute a flat tax on all sales of every name and kind. I have no way of estimating what such a tax at any given percentage would produce, but I have seen an estimate of $500,000,000,000 as the amount of one year's sales. If that is correct, a tax of only one percent would produce $5,000,000,000 annually, which would be ample to pay all the government expenses and very soon reduce and wipe out the national debt.

Let us see how such a tax would operate. Every man would pay his just share and no more. On the $5 pair of shoes he would pay a tax of only 5 cents, instead of $5 as at present. Under such a system of taxation there would be no excuse for the profiteer to materially add to the cost of the product. Every person would pay only the tax on the amount of what he or she purchased and every other person would be required to do the same, and the government would get the full amount so paid. It would be absolutely fair and I believe the fairest and best system for direct taxation that could possibly be devised.

There is no gainsaying the fact that under our present system the tax which wealth is supposed to pay is passed along to those who can least afford to pay; that much more than the actual amount of the tax is thus passed along in order to swell the profits of those whose excess profits are intended to be taxed; that this is a very great contributing cause of the present abnormally high cost of living; and that this very real injustice is the direct cause of the regrettable unrest prevailing throughout the country. We, as the people's representatives, cannot act too soon to remedy the evils mentioned.

SUGGESTIONS ABOUT WILD FLOWERS

Use Common Sense in Gathering Flowers

E. K. ROBINSON, editor of "Country Side Leaflet," says: "A little unselfishness and common sense will enable anyone in a country ramble to gather as beautiful a bunch of wild flowers as he is capable of appreciating without doing harm. Unselfishness, for instance, forbids you to gather flowers from the roadside, or to pick very rare flowers anywhere. In either case, for the sake of your own brief enjoyment, you would be depriving many of the chance of pleasure.

"Common sense, on the other hand, should restrain you, even at a distance from the roadside, from picking so many flowers of the same kind in one place as to reduce its chance of growing freely there in following years, and it should also induce you to use a knife or scissors instead of plucking the blossoms anyhow. And the chief thing in gathering wild flowers, if you feel that you must do it, is to aim at forming a beautiful arrangement of them as you go along, not collecting a great bunch of all sorts with the idea of arranging them when you get home. Not only do you get greater pleasure out of the flowers, but you also learn how to choose materials for a bouquet.

"Most of the bunches of wild flowers which people put in vases are really ugly—simply a medley of insignificant and conflicting items, squat, crowded and ungraceful. One chief reason for this is that after you have brought your spoils home, it is too late to make a beautiful arrangement of them, partly for want of sufficient suitable foliage, and partly because they do not lend themselves to any particular scheme of harmonious combination. By making the arrangement as you gather them, you not only avoid these shortcomings, but you have the added satisfaction of knowing that there has been no idle waste. Every blossom and spray contributes something to the total effect, and justifies you in gathering it by the pleasure which it gives to all who see it."

SOCIETY NOTES

"EAGLEHEAD," the estate of the late Senator McMillan, at Old Neck, Manchester, was opened yesterday, in anticipation of the arrival, in about a fortnight, of Ambassador and Mrs. Ira Nelson Morris. Mr. and Mrs. Morris left Sweden a week or two ago and are now in England awaiting passage homeward. They will come at once to Manchester, for a long season by the seashore. Their daughter, Constance, is a student at Wellesley, and their son, Ira, also attends an academy nearby. It is largely for this reason, so as to be near their son and daughter, that Mr. and Mrs. Morris have selected the North Shore for the season. The servants arrived from Sweden a few days ago and are busy getting the house ready for occupancy.

◆ ◆ ◆

Among the week's arrivals at Manchester are Mr. and Mrs. Chas. B. Taylor and daughter, Miss Marcia Taylor, who are settled at "The Craigs," their residence on Smith's Point, after a winter spent at the Hotel Buckminster, Boston.

◆ ◆ ◆

Nelson S. Bartlett arrived Tuesday at his summer residence on Smith's Point, Manchester, after spending the winter at 227 Commonwealth ave., Boston, with his sister, Miss Mary F. Bartlett.

◆ ◆ ◆

S. V. R. Crosby and family plan to arrive at their summer home in West Manchester the middle of next week.

The Misses Cordner, of 50 Chestnut st., Boston, moved this week to the Proctor Hill cottage, Sea st., Manchester, for the season. They will be able to keep in touch all spring and summer with the progress being made on their new home, at the corner of Masconomo and Proctor sts., Manchester, which was started last week.

Mr. and Mrs. Albert C. Burrage, who have spent the winter at their estate in California, are on their way home and will come to their estate at Pride's Crossing this month. The house has already been opened and made ready for their arrival.

Dr. George H. Washburn and family, of Boston, expect to occupy their cottage at the corner of Beach and Masconomo sts., Manchester, about the 15th of this month.

◆ ◆ ◆

Miss Elizabeth D. Boardman, of Boston, has arrived at her summer residence in West Manchester for the season.

◆ ◆ ◆

Mr. and Mrs. R. Paul Snelling and their daughter, Miss Ella deT. Snelling, of Beverly Farms, who have been staying for some time at The Homestead, Virginia Hot Springs, left there on Tuesday on their homeward journey. They will be among the May arrivals on the North Shore.

Mr. and Mrs. Lyon Weyburn (Ruth Anthony), of Boston, have opened their summer home on Hemlock st., Beverly Farms, where they arrived during the week with their two young children, Reed and Ruth Weyburn.

RENTALS for the season continue, with demand in excess of the supply. This is true all along the North Shore—through the Swampscott-Marblehead section, as well as in the Beverlys, Manchesters, Magnolia, and in the Myopia Hunt club section. Many families who own places on the North Shore will not rent this season, but will come here themselves. Travel abroad is out of the question, and nothing remains but to gain quiet and rest at the delightful retreats found all along the Massachusetts coast section. The season is to be a busy one; a greater number of families have already settled than is usual so early in May.

Through the office of T. Dennie Boardman, Reginald and R. deB. Boardman, of Boston and Manchester, the following rentals are reported this week:

William Dunlop Disston, of Philadelphia, "Thunderbolt Hill," Masconomo st., Manchester. This is the summer home of the late Mrs. James T. Field. The Disstons occupied it last year.

ONCE upon a time, before the new woman came to the fore, no girl would be married in May, unless she expected dire misfortune to follow, writes Mrs. Hunt, the society editor of the Boston Herald. Such might not come for years, but it was sure to arrive some time or other if she had been a May bride.

This idea is of the past. It has vanished into oblivion and May this year will apparently run a very close second to June in the matter of weddings, for there are a number on the list for the so-called merry month.

One still hears of various plans to aid different charities, even after a winter filled with good works. Some of them are listed for weeks from now, showing that society, even if on the wing, will not neglect those in need. The show for the Polish relief is attracting much attention and the two performances are sure to have large audiences. The funds will go directly to Poland by a member of the society and will be used where the need is most appealing. Many of those who have escaped the March-like winds of April by still lingering in the south are stopping at the Springs on their slow journey homeward. For while nature is so tardy with her gifts here, there the wild flowers are in bloom and golf and other outdoors sports are at their height. This part of the world bade April farewell with pleasure, hoping that at least as regards weather, May may be so lovely that all can make merry in the sunshine.

Good works will never save you, but you cannot be saved without them.

AFTER strenuous times in after-war work in France, as well as active endeavors during the hard days of the war, the Misses Amy and Clara Curtis are on their way home and will arrive at their estate, "Crow Island," in Manchester, very soon. Their labors in France have counted for much, for they have been among the most active of the Americans who dwell in Pau and who maintained their homes during the severe days of the war and the period of up-building afterward.

Mr. and Mrs. Bryce J. Allan, who are always among the long-season dwellers on the North Shore, were booked to sail for Europe on the Kaiserin Auguste Victoria last week. They will be a little late in reaching their estate at Beverly Cove this year.

It is stated officially that the Country club, at Brookline, will not resume the annual horse show this year, which usually takes place in June. These spring events were discontinued when the United States entered the world war. It has always been an event that has attracted North Shore people—both those who have not settled at the seashore for the summer, and those who are already here.

Crowded houses greeted the Vincent club girls who produced "Satni" at the Wilbur theatre, Boston, last week, in aid of the Vincent Memorial hospital. "Satni"—written by Miss Mary Forbes Atkinson, with lyrics by Mrs. Geo. von L. Meyer, Jr.—had the lightest of plots, but it served to carry some bright lines, artistic as well as grotesque dances, some tuneful songs as well as well selected music, brilliant and beautiful costumes, and charming Egyptian scenery, for the principal scenes were in Cairo, although the prologue was in London, in the rooms of a wonderful and mysterious crystal gazer.

MR. AND MRS. OLIVER AMES left Boston last week for their country home in North Easton, where they will remain until June, when they will come to their estate at Pride's Crossing, as usual.

Mr. and Mrs. Morris Gray, of 133 Marlborough st., Boston, will spend the summer at Nahant, where they have taken the Carey cottage on Nahant rd. Contrary to their custom they will not make a long season at their home in Chestnut Hill, and will go to the seashore earlier than usual.

Miss Lydia Storer has chosen Monday, June 14, as the date of her wedding to Henry Snow Hall, Jr. It will take place in Trinity church, Boston, at noon. Miss Storer's attendants will include Miss Virginia Wellington as maid of honor, Mrs. Henry G. Simonds (Julia Lyman), Miss Isabel Goodwin, Mrs. Robert Treat Paine Storer (Dorothy Paine), Miss Katherine L. Storey, Miss Gertrude Sturgis, all members of Miss Storer's Sewing circle, 1917-'18. Also her sister, Miss Edith Storer. Mr. Hall and his bride will go to Japan on their wedding journey. Because of the large family connection, the wedding will be of much interest to North Shore folk.

It is an odd coincidence that the final event at the Manchester Food Centre—the swan song, its dying as it were—should be a demonstration in dyeing. Such is the case; a demonstration in this useful household art, will be given at Town hall on Wed-body is welcome to attend this meeting—people from Gloucester, Magnolia, Essex, Beverly Farms—they are urged to attend this “dying” demonstration.

The Food Centre was a war institution—a most vital force in war work on the North Shore and in the “carry has accomplished worlds of good in the households of this section by its food and cooking and other household arts.

The Arbella club, of Manchester, is unique in that it is one of the few clubs in the state made up of school girls. That it is a going success has been demonstrated time and again in the life of Manchester. The Christmas tree celebration every year is one of its greatest community activities.
Its lead in this direction has been followed by many towns and larger communities throughout the state. Its high grade concerts have also been a big up-lifting force in the winter season, although these concerts had to be discontinued since the war days. However, one concert is being given this month—the only one this season—and the people of this section should give their unstinted support to the affair.
The club has very little in its treasury, due to the expense incident to the Christmas tree, and they hope for generous support in their concert, which will be held on Friday evening, May 21, at Horticultural hall, Manchester.

“This board put up by Henry J.

this is gone!” This is what Chester
L. Crafts found written on one of the base-boards at the old Masconomo lacking a day, apparently, the board was placed in position, in the construc-

Shore hostelry. It was then owned by the Booths—of Shakesperean plays lore. The hotel has not been

Springtime in the Country

In the sunshine, all the pine trees bend and Whisper in the breeze.
The pastures green are reached
Through roads dust brown.
And violets are hiding
In the meadows 'neath the trees,
While the dandelion lifts
Its golden crown.

Spring gaily paints. And here and there
Are touches seen of pink, and white;
A splash of red, or green, or blue,
Or lilac, meets the sight.
The buttercups and columbines
She paints in colors gay;
Then dances off to paint more flowers,
And sings upon her way.

ASSESSORS' NOTICE

Pursuant to the provisions of Section 41 of Part 1 of Chapter 490 of the Acts of 1909, as amended by Sec. 36, Chap. 257, General Acts of 1918, all persons, firms and corporations, domestic or foreign, subject to taxation in the town of Manchester are hereby notified and required to bring in to the assessors of said Town of Manchester on or before the true lists. In case of residents a true list of all their polls and personal estate not exempt from taxation, of which they were possessed on the first day of April in the current year, and in case of non-residents and foreign corporations a true list of all their personal estate in said town not exempt from taxation, and all persons, firms and corporations, domestic or foreign, are hereby notified and required to include and set forth in said lists their real estate subject to taxation in said town, which lists must be verified by oath as required by Section 43 of said Part 1, as amended by Chapter 294 of the General Acts of 1916.

Under the provisions of Section 42 of said Part 1, as amended by Chapter 515, Acts of 1909, the above-mentioned lists must be in form prescribed by the Commissioner of Corporations and Taxation of the Commonwealth. These blank forms may be had at the Assessors' office, or will be mailed to any address upon application.

Section 45 of Part 1 of Chapter 490, Acts of 1909. A mortgagor or mortgagee of real estate may bring into the assessors of the city or town in which it lies, within the time prescribed by the notice under section forty-one, a statement under oath of the amount secured thereon or on each separate parcel thereof, with the name and residence of every holder of an interest therein as mortgagor or mortgagee. If such property is situated in two or more places, or if a recorded mortgage includes two or more estates or parts of an estate as security for one sum, such statement shall include an estimate of the interest of the mortgagee in each estate or part of an estate. The assessors shall, from such statement, or otherwise, ascertain the proportionate interests of the mortgagor or mortgagee, respectively, in said estates, and shall assess the same accordingly. If, in any year, such statement is not brought in, the tax for that year on such real estate shall not be invalid merely for the reason that the interest of the mortgagee therein has not been assessed to him.

In accordance with Section 41 aforesaid, amended as aforesaid, all persons and corporations are hereby required to bring in to the assessors, on or before the 15th day of May next, true lists of all real and personal estate held by them, respectively, for literary, temperance, benevolent, charitable, or scientific purposes on the first day of April, in the current year, or at the election of any such corporation on the last day of its financial year last preceding said first day of April, together with statements of the amounts of all receipts and expenditures for said purposes during the year next preceding said days; such lists and statements to be in accordance with blanks furnished by the Commissioner of Corporations and Taxation.

Chapter 578 of the Acts of 1913, as amended by Chapter 523 of the Acts of 1914, which provides for the exemption from taxation of personal property held by cities, towns, religious societies and cemeteries, whether incorporated or unincorporated, for the purposes stated in said act, requires that the holder thereof bring in to the assessors a list of such property in accordance with the provisions of the preceding paragraph. All such owners are hereby required to bring in such lists within the time and in the manner stated in said paragraph.

Commonwealth of Massachusetts
Probate Court

Essex, ss.

To the heirs-at-law, next of kin, and all other persons interested in the estate of Jane Norton Grew, late of Manchester, in said County, widow, deceased.

Whereas, certain instruments purporting to be the last will and testament—and a codicil—of said deceased have been presented to said Court for probate, by Edward W. Grew, who prays that letters testamentary may be issued to him, the executor therein named, without giving a surety on his official bond:

You are hereby cited to appear at a Probate Court, to be held at Lawrence, in said County of Essex, on the tenth day of May, A. D., 1920, at ten o'clock in the forenoon, to show cause, if any you have, why the same should not be granted.

And said petitioner is hereby directed to give public notice thereof by publishing this citation once in each week, for three successive weeks, in the North Shore Breeze, a newspaper published in Manchester, the last publication to be one day, at least, before said Court, and by mailing, post-paid, or delivering a copy of this citation to all known persons interested in the estate, seven days at least before said Court.

Witness, Harry R. Dow, Esquire, Judge of said Court, this twenty-first day of April, in the year one thousand nine hundred and twenty.

THE DOG'S LAMENT

It's very hard to suffer and be still.
Our name's applied to every human ill.
A "doggerel" is a rhyme that's very bad,
Indeed, the very worst that's to be had.
A book is "dog-eared" when it's been abused.

Alas! I think we're very hardly used.
A man's a "dog" because he won't behave.
(It almost makes an honest doggie rave!)
A "puppy" is a fellow most uncouth—
A slur upon the flower of our youth;

NOTICE

To the County Commissioners of Essex County—Gentlemen:—

The Town of Manchester by its Board of Selectmen thereto duly authorized, respectfully represents that common convenience and necessity require that Bridge Street in said town near the property of B. W. Tappan and T. W. Long should be widened.

WHEREFORE, they petition that you may alter, relocate or widen said Bridge Street and make specific repairs thereon or discontinue any portions as you may deem expedient as above set forth.

SAMUEL L. WHEATON,
GEORGE R. DEAN,
WILLIAM W. HOARE,

Selectmen of the Town of Manchester.

Commonwealth of Massachusetts
Court of County Commissioners
Essex, ss.

April Term, A. D., 1920, to wit:
April 16, 1920.

On the foregoing petition, ORDERED: That said petitioners give notice to all persons and corporations interested therein that said Commissioners will meet at the Court House in Salem in said County, on Friday, the 28th day of May, 1920, at 10.30 o'clock A. M., by publishing an attested copy of said petition and of this order thereon in the North Shore Breeze, a newspaper printed in Manchester, in said County, once a week for three weeks successively, the last publication to be fourteen days, at least, before the said 28th day of May. And also by serving the Town Clerk of Manchester with an attested copy of said petition and of this order thereon, thirty days, at least; and by posting up an attested copy thereof in two public places in said town, fourteen days, at least, before the said 28th day of May, at which time and place said Commissioners will proceed to view the premises and make such order, in relation to the prayer of said petition as by law they may be authorized to do.

Attest: A. N. FROST, Clerk.

A true copy of said petition and order thereon.

Attest: JAS. P. HALE, Asst. Clerk.

A true copy of said petition and order thereon.

Attest, JOHN KARCHER,
Deputy Sheriff.

A "hound," a villain of the deepest dye,
An insult to his dogdom's majesty;
A "cur," of course, is not a shining light,
Yet even he is called to bear the slight.
To "dog one's footsteps" is, I really think,
A dreadful thing, from which we dogs would shrink.
A "dogma" is a hard religious school,
A "dogged" person always plays the fool.
And "dog-days" find us panting with the heat;
We scarce can blink our eyes or lift our feet.
Why—why—throw mud upon our noble name?
A dog's a dog through all the world the same.

DISCOVER JOKER IN BILL

LEGISLATION ON POND DISPUTE AT PRINCE ESTATE HELD UP

A senate joker has been discovered in the bill to authorize an investigation by the public works department of the public rights in great ponds of the state. The measure is one which resulted from the efforts of Frederick H. Prince, of Boston and East Wenham, to establish a deadline across Coy's pond, on the shores of which he has an estate.

As originally presented the bill authorized the investigation, and also empowered the commission to provide means of protecting the public rights in those waterways.

A senate amendment, consisting of a new section, specified that "Nothing in this act shall affect the right of any city or town to the use and control of the waters of any such pond, nor authorize said department to establish an easement or right of way over any property where such easement or right of way does not already exist."

It was the last clause in the section which contained the joker, for its enactment would leave matters, at this particular pond claimed by Mr. Prince, in exactly the same condition that they are now. Dr. Frederick Glazier, of Hudson, a member of the committee on public health which has given considerable study to the great ponds of the state this session, discovered the jocose possibilities of the amendment and called the attention of the house to them, when the matter was reached on the calendar.

He moved that the house non-concur in the senate change and the house did not. The measure will now go back to the senate, but whether or not in the house's action will cause a disagreement between the branches which will result in killing the legislation is a matter that is causing discussion among the members of both.

A candidate for Parliament had for an hour been vainly trying to capture the interest of his audience. At last he made a desperate bid for it.

"What are the so-called patriots at present in the House?" he yelled. "Humbugs every one of them. Parasites of party. I pledge myself to no party. Rather would I write across my forehead 'To Let.'"

"And below it," came a cold voice. "'unfurnished.'" — Tit-Bits (London).

Any day is a day of glory that leaves us with a consciousness that we have skimmed nothing, and that the fruits of our industry are commensurate with our talents. — MEREDITH NICHOLSON.

MAGNOLIA LODGE OBSERVES 101ST ODD FELLOWSHIP ANNIVERSARY

The 101st anniversary of the founding of Odd Fellowship in the United States was appropriately observed Thursday, Apr. 29, by Magnolia lodge, I. O. O. F., at its regular meeting held in Odd Fellows hall, Manchester. The celebration was well attended by members of the order, several of the older members being present to enjoy the affair.

An address on Odd Fellowship was given by Capt. Raymond C. Allen. Mr. Allen gave an hour's talk on the history of Odd Fellowship, following the progress of the organization from its earliest days down to the present time.

Musical selections by a Victrola, singing of popular songs by the men and short remarks from several of those present filled the program. Light refreshments were served.

At present he is supervisor of music in the New Hampshire State college, supervisor of music in the Winthrop schools and plays the church organ at Nashua, N. H.

MANCHESTER HIGH WINS

The Story High school boys made a good showing Wednesday afternoon in their first game of the season with Rockport, winning by a score of 8 to 4. Roberts started things going in the second inning with a pretty two-base hit, bringing in Murray with the first run. Murray made a two-bagger in the fourth inning and in the seventh Needham knocked out a three-base hit. The Manchester boys pulled off five snappy double plays. The whole team was on its toes all the time. Butler pitched an exceptionally good game and received good backing up. Wiles started batting for Rockport, knocking in Snow with their only run in the fourth inning. Knuthenen pitched a good game and received good backing. In the ninth inning the Rockport boys rallied, and Manchester, somewhat rattled by Rockport supporters crowding the baselines, allowed the opponents three runs, making the final score 8 to 4. MANCHESTER BASEBALL ENTHUSIASM

ON THE INCREASE—ANOTHER MEETING NEXT MONDAY

The Manchester Baseball association held another meeting last Monday evening and besides electing an advisory board and entertainment committee discussed plans and possibilities of putting on a team this year. There was considerable sentiment expressed on both sides of the question and the final discussion was put over until next Monday evening, when Manager MacCallum is expected to be present with estimates of the probable cost of a team. In the meantime subscription papers are being circulated in an endeavor to get some idea as to how the financial end of the situation will shape up.

A ready and generous response from the fans and citizens is necessary to assure the success of financing a team this season.

The meeting is called for 8 o'clock at the Horticultural hall basement and it is hoped a large number will turn out.

AUGUSTUS M. KILLAM

Augustus M. Killam, one of the town's well-known business men, passed away last Friday noon at his home on Vine st., Manchester, from the effects of a shock suffered while attending services at the Congl. church the previous Sunday.

Funeral services were held from his late home Sunday afternoon, with Rev. Frederick W. Manning, pastor of the Congl. church, officiating. Mr. Killam was a Past Grand of the Odd Fellows, and members of Magnolia lodge, I. O. O. F., attended the funeral in a body. Burial in Rosedale cemetery.

The late Mr. Killam was a native of Manchester, born here Jan. 2, 1849, son of the late Deacon Francis Augustus Peabody Killam and Mary Elizabeth (Martin) Killam. He was a carpenter and builder engaged in business with his father until the latter's death 15 years ago. Mr. Killam had conducted the business since.

He is survived by his wife; a daughter, Mrs. Emma Morse; brother, Cyrus B. Killam; four grandchildren, Althea Morse, Florence Morse, Marion Morse and Ruth A. Herrick, all of Manchester. Miss Herrick makes her home with her grandmother. The sympathy of the community is extended the family in their bereavement.

MRS. EVELYN L. MASON

Mrs. Evelyn L., wife of Leslie Mason, of 94 School st., Manchester, died at Salem hospital Wednesday following an operation. Mrs. Mason was a native of Canada, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Bean. She is survived by a husband and a daughter. Funeral services will be held Saturday afternoon.

LUNCHEON CLUB PARTY IN MANCHESTER TOWN HALL

Manchester Town hall was the scene of a charming social affair Wednesday evening when members of a luncheon club of which Mrs. Roland H. Knight and Mrs. Charles Hooper, of Manchester are members, with others of their debutante year, who live in Gloucester, Beverly, Beverly Farms and Salem, gathered with their husbands and friends to enjoy dancing. Each member of the club was privileged to invite three couples.

It was a formal affair and proved most delightful. Ward's orchestra, of Beverly furnished music for the dancing, which continued until 1 o'clock.

A collation was served—with ices and cake. The affair was the most select of the social functions in Manchester the past winter.

MANCHESTER CHILD STRAYED AWAY SCOUTS ORGANIZE SEARCH

A bit of excitement was furnished last Friday afternoon by the report to the police of the wandering away from home of the young son of Mr. and Mrs. Adam Stasiack, of Pine st. The youngster had been missing for some time before the matter was reported to the police and in the meantime the neighborhood had been thoroughly searched without results. Chief Sullivan immediately got in touch with Asst. Scoutmaster Allan P. Dennis, who ordered out the Scouts. The troop was divided into searching parties, with the result that the youngster was located late in the afternoon playing in a yard in West Manchester, none the worse for his several hours' absence. Scout Allen Bell was one of the boys who found the child.

MANCHESTER

From 1844 to 1866, Mr. Bennett's life was filled with adventure in many ships and on many seas, with an occasional sojourn in some foreign clime.

"His first visit to the United States was in 1848. The following year he was in Australia for a brief time and again in 1853 to 1855 during the height of the gold rush. While working at a mine known as 'Simpson's,' some 40 miles from Balaratt, the mineral center of Australia, he assisted in removing a nugget of rich gold quartz weighing 140 pounds.

"For fifteen months Mr. Bennett was on the island of Formosa, during a portion of which time he served on police duty. He was at Bombay, India, twice, also at Burmah, and made no less than seven voyages around the world, shipping before the mast.

"When war was declared between the North and the South, Mr. Bennett was at Marblehead, from which place he shipped soon after. His last sea voyage was in 1866 when he sailed from New York to Cadiz, loaded with staves and returning with a load of salt.

"In 1868 he married Mrs. Harriet (Chapman) Cogswell, of Laconia, N. H., and a little later came to Manchester and established a home. His wife passed away some years ago.

"Of somewhat rough exterior and taciturn of temperament, the deceased was nevertheless of kindly disposition and will be missed. While no known relatives exist in this country, it is not improbable that there may be such in that faraway land from which as a boy he sailed never to return.

"Funeral services were held on Thursday afternoon at Crowell Memorial chapel and his remains laid at rest beside those of his wife, in Rose-dale cemetery."

HOW TO FIGURE IT

First take your home,
Add wife's income.
Divide by your eldest son's age,
And your telephone number,
Subtract your auto license number,
Add electric light bill,
Divide by number of kilowatts,
Multiply by your father's age,
Add number of gold fillings in teeth,
Add your house number,
Subtract wife's age (approximate),
Divide by number of aunts you have,
Add the number of uncles,
Subtract number of daughters,
Multiply by number of times
You have gone up in an airplane,
Subtract your best golf score,
Add a pinch of salt,
And then go out and
Borrow the money and pay the tax.

AGED CITIZEN DEADJOHN BENNETT SOMEWHAT OF AN UNIQUE CHARACTER

In the death of John Bennett, who passed away Tuesday of this week at the age of nearly 89 years, Manchester loses one of her well-known citizens. Mr. Bennett lived alone at his home on Lincoln st., and so far as is known had no relatives in this country.

For the following facts and dates we are indebted to Lyman W. Floyd, Town Clerk:

"In the decease of John (Tim) Bennett, which occurred May 4, there passes a somewhat unique character, who has made Manchester his home for a long period of years.

"Mr. Bennett was born at Haparanda, Province of Norbotten, Sweden, on Dec. 27, 1831. He was the youngest of a family of 12 children, of which there were five sons and seven daughters. His father was a seafaring man, and the boy John when only three years of age used to go with him in the boat.

"At the age of 13 John ran away from home and traveled overland to Tromsø, a seaport town on the coast of Norway, where he shipped on a Dutch vessel to Bremen, Germany.

LIBRARY NOTES

New Books in Manchester Public Library

A small volume by Ethel Brunner entitled "Celia and Her Friends" is a very entertaining bit of fiction. "Joan & Co.," by Frederick Orin Bartlett, is one of the recent novels that makes attractive reading.

"Americanism Versus Bolshevism," by Ole Hanson, will go far to prove that America is the "melting pot" of the world. The author was born in Norway, and came to this country while young; but his Americanism rings as true as if he were "to the manner born." This book will convince many that this country, though at the present time in a state of flux, will remain true to the high ideals of our forefathers. It is a mine of information about Bolshevism in this country.

"Glamour," by W. B. Maxwell, is a well-told story. "September," by Frank Swinnerton, author of "Shops and Houses," is one of the new novels.

A new work of fiction by Mrs. Humphrey Ward is always welcome. "Harvest" is a story of rural England. The heroine is a woman farmer. Mrs. Ward has been a potent force in English literature for the past thirty years. Her recent death is much to be regretted. She was one of the great English novelists. "Robert Elsmere," the novel that made her famous, was published in 1888. She was a prolific writer. We have in the library some twenty-five novels by her—all of them good. She was a very patriotic woman, and during the war, wrote two books about England's part in the war: "England's Effort" and "Toward the Goal." She also wrote "A Writer's Recollections," in two volumes. This work tells you much about the literary and political life of England for the past forty years. She came of a very literary family. Her grandfather was the famous Dr. Arnold, of Rugby, and Matthew Arnold, author of "Literature and Dogma," was her uncle.

Readers of "The Fighting Fleets" will welcome Ralph D. Paine's volume of short stories. "Filled with the salty tang of the deep sea, these tales of American naval men will stir the pulse of every lover of daring deeds and perilous adventure."

Do you remember reading "The Real Diary of a Real Boy?" If you do, you will not have to be persuaded to take out Judge Shute's latest work: "The Real Diary of the Worst Farmer." You do not have to be brought up on a farm to appreciate the humor of this book.

Every boy in town will soon be trying to get—at the same time—"Swatty, a Story of Real Boys," by Ellis Parker Butler, author of "Pigs Is Pigs." It is a story of boy-life on the Mississippi. The author was born and brought up in a small town on the "father of waters," so his knowledge is first-hand.

Stories of western life are usually popular. Arizona appears to be a favorite subject with fiction writers. "The Forbidden Trail," by Honoré Willies, is a real good piece of fiction. Those who have enjoyed "Still Jim" and "Lydia of the Pines" will want to read this, her latest.

"Tatterdemalion" is a volume of short stories by John Galsworthy, the well-known English novelist. There are some twenty-three stories, all well written and all worth reading.

Christopher Morley, author of "Parnassus on Wheels," "Shandygaff" and "The Haunted Bookshop," has written a bright little farce, "Kathleen."

"Some of Us are Married" is a volume of short stories by Mary Stewart Cutting. They are love stories of married life. Some of them are sad, and some are gay; but all true to life.

"Spun Yarn" is a collection of sea stories and "Sinful Peck" is a story of adventure having to do with the sea. Morgan Robertson is the author of both stories.

"Slippy McGee," by Marie Conway Oemler, is a real good love story.

MAGNOLIA

The Adams Villa looks very well, indeed, in its new coat of paint.

That flurry of snow Tuesday morning reminded us most vividly of last winter—an unpleasant memory.

Mrs. George Staples, who spent the winter in Portsmouth, N. H., has returned to her home on Magnolia ave.

The famous Stanley cottage is still being improved in looks by the addition of a new piazza on the front and one side of the house.

The usual services will be held in the Village church Sunday at 10.45 a. m. The pastor will preach. Sunday school meets at 11.45 a. m.

The Ryans, who have spent many seasons in this village are now occupying their cottage, in connection with the Summerside Hand Laundry.

Mrs. E. L. Story and Mrs. W. R. Boyd are the delegates, recently elected, to represent the Village church at the May meeting of the Essex South association of Congregational churches to be held in the Congl. church, Rockport, next Tuesday.

The A. L. Fosters have returned to Hartford for a week or two. They usually come early and stay late in the season, but none too early in coming or too late in leaving, for they are the sort of people worth while to have in any community.

FOOLED THE GROCER

"Half a dozen black hens' eggs?" said the grocer. "You've got me! I can't tell black hens' eggs from any other kind."

"I can," said the boy. "Mother told me how to."

"Well, here you are," said the grocer. "Let me see you pick out half a dozen black hens' eggs."

The boy selected six of the biggest in the box. "These are black hen's eggs," he said, and the grocer, feeling that he had been "done," took the money offered for them and let him go.—Boston Transcript.

DUTCH GIANT SEES WORLD'S BIGGEST SHOW

The biggest man in the world saw the biggest show in the world last week. The man was John Von Albert, the 19-year-old Dutch giant, who arrived in the United States last week to join an American traveling carnival, and the show was "Happy Days," at the New York Hippodrome. Von Albert in the Hippodrome saw his first American show, and enjoyed it—all nine feet five inches and 360 pounds of him!

A STRIKE IS A BOOMERANG FOR THE STRIKERS

Every time we read of a strike, and we read of one or a dozen, whenever we glance at a newspaper nowadays, our mind reverts to the boomerang. The peculiar weapon known as a boomerang is used generally in Australia. When thrown it usually travels in a horizontal direction for a ways, curves upward, hurls rapidly backward and frequently falls right where it started.

Nine strikes out of ten do the same thing. It is little short of amazing that some of the strikers do not consider the goal usually in front of a walkout, but they appear never to see it. And it has come to be the fashion to strike, as the Irishman voted, "early and often." Now it is the steel worker, the cotton-mill spinner, the baker, the traffic employee or the miner; then it is the policeman, the dry goods clerk, the restaurant waiter or the mayor's secretary.

Yet the result is ever the same. The striker invariably cuts off his nose to spite his face. He practically always rounds up as the goat. Indeed, he exemplifies the antics of the boomerang to a nicety by falling right where he started from, minus the wage that he would have drawn had he remained at work, sans a goodly amount of his savings, which have been expended in celebrating the strike and for incidental expenses due to idleness. If he gets any increase in pay or hours the advantage very probably is slight.

Besides these drawbacks, it is a rule of this human system of ours, older than any labor union system in the world and as old in fact as the Garden of Eden, that one with a grievance gets greater consideration and wins greater favor, if he goes to his superior in power or in employment, and presents requests in pleasing manner. Loyalty establishes an entente cordiale in any establishment that is a total stranger to demands and ultimatums.

Loyalty, industry, and good nature, win more victories, so far as working conditions and wages are concerned than any other system in the world. Strikes and ultimatums win fewer. A strike is a boomerang.—Columbia Record.

THESE DAYS OF HIGH RESOLVE

Up to the hour of going to press the following suggestions have been received as to way to reduce the high cost of living:

Wear overalls.

Wear wooden shoes.

Sell your auto and keep boarders in the garage.

Wear enameled tin collars.

Bring your lunch from home.

Sell your dog.

Have your wife cut your hair. If you have no wife get the office boy to do it.

Paint last year's straw hat.—Brooklyn Standard Union.

Old dear: "Can I take this train to Tooting?"

Porter: "Well, ma'am, the engine generally takes it, but I don't suppose anyone would object if you was to 'ave a try."—Tit-Bits (London).

Commencing May 1, the closing time of Peter Gaudreau's barber shop, opposite postoffice, on Saturday evenings, will be at 9 instead of 9.30, this change being in accordance with the rules of the Salem local No. 385, Barbers' Union. On other days the closing hour will be 8 p. m., Mondays at 12 noon. adv.

T. Jefferson Newbold has been selected as one of a committee of the Beverly Y. M. C. A. to find a suitable location for establishing a permanent camp for use of the boy members.

Fred F. Perkins has been engaged as superintendent and caretaker at the West Beach Corporation property for the coming season. He has served there for several seasons.

Mrs. Charles W. Perkins and sister, Mrs. James D. Hooper, this week opened their home on Hale st., Beverly Farms. They have spent the winter at Gardner park, Salem.

A party of Beverly Farms young men will spend the coming week-end at the Peabody cottage on the shores of Chebacco lake. They have rented this cottage for the season.

B. C. McSheedy, leader of the Salem Light Infantry band, has been given the contract by Preston post, 188, G. A. R., to furnish the band at Beverly Farms for Memorial Day.

FLAG TO BE PRESENTED LEGION POST
NEXT THURSDAY

The beautiful new silk American flag, which has just been purchased through the efforts of Preston W. R. corps, will be presented to the M. J. Cadigan post, A. L., on Thursday evening of next week in Neighbor's hall. An appropriate program has been arranged. The flag will probably be presented by Preston post, G. A. R. Mrs. Lou Stuart Wadsworth, post department president of the W. R. C., will give an address. Other features will make an interesting program including singing by Roy Patch, the well-known tenor.

at the Cove, John Quigley, one of the best-known men in the business in this section of the state, has retired. The forge no longer glows a rosy red—there is no row of horseshoes around the work bench and the sound of the hammer on the anvil is missing.

Born in Allston, N. Y., Mr. Quigley early took up the trade of blacksmithing and soon became expert. For a number of years he was engaged in the trade in Boston, Swampscott and Marblehead and came to Beverly a little over thirty years ago.

When he first took over the business the charge was $2.50 for shoeing all around. Today the charge is $9 for the same job. Then journeymen were plentiful—today they are hard to find and the pay has trebled in the thirty years.

In the long years in business Mr. Quigley kept his customers and has shod horses for the same owners for thirty years. For thirty-four years he has not enjoyed a vacation—he is to take a long vacation now and enjoy life—with a well earned competence as his reward for years of faithful effort and attention to business.

Mrs. Lawrence J. Watson, Everett st., has been ill at her home the past three weeks.

Mr. and Mrs. George L. Waite, of Holyoke, have been among the visitors at Beverly Farms the past week.

George T. Larcom, West st., returned home this week from a 3-week visit with friends in Somerville.

Mr. and Mrs. Albert W. Merrill, of Greenfield, have been visiting friends at Beverly Farms the past week.

Miss Alice F. Sylvester, of Hartford, Conn., has spent the past week at Beverly Farms visiting friends.

Born in Beverly Farms, April 29, a daughter to Patrick and Sarah (Gibbons) Molloy, of 35 Everett st.

Howard Preston, who has been taking a vacation at Melrose for his health the past few weeks, has returned home.

The local patriotic orders have accepted the invitation to attend divine service at the local Baptist church on Sunday morning, May 23.

St. Margaret's court of Foresters gave a very pleasant public dancing party Wednesday evening. It was held in Marshall hall and was well attended.

Frank B. Smith is the new barber at Peter Gaudreau's shop, opposite the postoffice. Mr. Smith has been working at Miami, Fla., for the last five winters, coming north in the warm-weather months. He will be at Beverly Farms for the summer.

At the annual meeting of the Beverly Firemens' Sick Benefit association, held on Tuesday evening, the following from Beverly Farms were elected on the board of directors: John M. Publicover, Arthur C. Davis and William S. Pike, Jr. Reports showed that the association had over 200 members and paid out $726 in benefits during the year.

NEW STREET LIGHTS INSTALLED ARE BIG IMPROVEMENT

With the installation of the new magnetite lights on Hale st., to the Manchester line, Beverly folk are getting a good idea of the improvements due in street lighting when the installations are completed. The new lights have been installed on Essex st., to the Montserrat station, and the program will be carried out in the city as rapidly as possible, of replacing the old carbon enclosed arcs with the new type of light. The new lights give nearly three times as much light as the old type and consume no more current.

Dear Days of Long Ago When H. C. L. and Income Tax Flourished Not

Those were the Good Old Days—

When the smoking of a two-for-a-nickel cigar didn't bring the Health Department and a court order abating yourself as a public nuisance.

When it took only an ice cream soda at the corner drug store and a neighborhood card party instead of a $5000 automobile and three movie shows every evening to show your best girl a wonderful time.

When you could match coins to pay for the noon lunch and know you'd be stung only a half-dollar instead of about $16.30 if you lost.

When you could achieve a reputation for being a millionaire by purchasing $8 shoes instead of being considered terribly penurious when you kick about paying $25 for a pair.

When your wife could run over to the neighbor's and borrow a cup of sugar without forcing you to mortgage your home to secure the indemnity bond you must now put up for it.

When a man could spend a quiet evening at home with his family without being considered balmy in the bean.

When a billion dollar Congress looked as big as all creation instead of being considered in the pin-money class.

When the very foundations of society were not shaken and there seemed no prospects of the heavens falling at your purchase of a big schooner of suds for a nickel and the inhaling of a hot dog at the free lunch counter at one and the same time.

When a man could say he had made $10,000 the previous year and get away with it without being forced to explain to a half hundred internal revenue sleuths that it was all a joke and that his real income totalled only $1800.—New York Sun and Herald.

POLITICAL STRAWS

Leonard Wood, of Massachusetts, maintains his position as the leading Republican candidate for the Presidency in the third installment of the Literary Digest's nation-wide canvas. He also leads in the "second choice" votes. The General's lead over his rival aspirants is even more marked when only Republican votes are considered. Of a total of 75,835 cast for Wood, only 6636 were from Democrats; while Herbert Hoover, with a total of 62,420, received 24,649 of them from Democrats. Hiram Johnson, running in third place, received 60,419 votes, of which total 13,495 came from Democrats.

The vote received by other candidates was: Lowden, 27,908; Hughes, 16,166; Harding, 17,007; Taft, 8,881; Coolidge, 8,134.

For "second choice" the vote was: Wood, 51,894; Johnson, 43,034; Hoover, 31,758; Lowden, 28,009; Hughes, 24,659; Coolidge, 17,721; Taft, 17,353; Harding, 12,410.

The Presidential primaries were poorly attended. In the Fourth, Fifth and Sixth Congressional districts, where "pledged" or "favorable to Leonard Wood for President" candidates for delegate were in the field, the unpledged candidates were snowed under.

STEP FORWARD, PLEASE!

A certain rector just before the service began was called to the vestibule to meet a couple who wanted to be married. He explained that there wasn't time for the ceremony then.

"But," said he, "if you will be seated I will give an opportunity at the end of the service for you to come forward, and I will then perform the ceremony."

The couple agreed, and at the proper moment the clergyman said: "Will those who wish to be united in the holy bond of matrimony please come forward?" Whereupon thirteen women and one man proceeded to the altar.—The Argonaut.

HE FOOLED THEM

An evangelist who was conducting nightly services announced that on the following evening he would speak on the subject of "Liars." He advised his hearers to read in advance the 17th Chapter of Mark.

The next night he arose and said: "I am going to preach on 'Liars' to-night and I would like to know how many read the chapter I suggested." A hundred hands were raised.

"Now," he said, "you are the very persons I want to talk to—there isn't any 17th Chapter of Mark."—Kennebec Journal.

SAVE MONEY ON MEAT

Here is a real thrift recipe for a tasty, nutritious dish prepared from less costly meat. It is issued by the Division of Women's Activities, Department of Justice. Use this recipe and save money on meat.

Ox Tail Soup

1 cup ox tail cut into small pieces
½ cup onions, cut fine
½ cup finely cut carrots
1 cup diced potatoes
1-4 cup barley
1-4 teaspoon white pepper
1 tablespoon parsley or celery top
1 tablespoon caramel
1 tablespoon salt

The ox tail should be chopped at each joint, making the pieces from one to two inches long; wash well in two or three waters, put on to boil with two quarts of cold water, add the barley and boil slowly for two hours; then add the onion, carrot, salt and pepper; boil for thirty minutes. Add the potatoes and boil for 25 minutes; add a little paprika, thyme, parsley and the caramel. Serve all with the pieces of ox tail. This makes a very nutritious soup.

Braised Beef

Cut the meat which may be from the brisket, into cubes; brown in frying pan with drippings. Use strong heat—stir meat so it will cook quickly and not lose its juice. Tender cuts can be cooked whole. Remove the pieces to a closely covered kettle that can be used on top of range (unless the oven is heated for other cooking). Rinse the pan with a 1-4 cup of boiling water to save all browned bits, and pour over meat. Cover tightly and cook slowly for two hours.

Prepare the following sauce and pour over the meat and continue cooking for another hour.

Sauce—chopped, 1 onion, 1 carrot, few sprigs parsley; 2 tablespoons butter or butter substitute, ½ cup diced celery, 1 cup canned tomatoes, salt and paprika.

Melt fat. Brown onion, carrot in it. Add parsley, celery, and tomatoes. Heat thoroughly. Add seasonings.

Theatres

TREMONT THEATRE, BOSTON

Monday, May 10, will undoubtedly mark the beginning of a brilliant chapter in Boston's theatrical history, when the Tremont theatre will witness the local premier of Geo. M. Cohan's comedians in the brand new musical play, "Mary," the book and lyrics of which are by Otto Harbach and Frank Mandel and the music by Lou Hirsch. The story of the play has for its pivotal theme the adventures of Jack Keene, an attractive young American, who joyously starts out to solve the problem of the high cost of living. Monsieur Marceau, a French inventor, interests him in the plans of a portable and detachable house, and Jack finds a way to construct these dwellings cheaply and thus outwit the rent profiteer, while Mary, the social secretary of Jack's fashionable mother and daughter of the president of a Kansas college, is largely instrumental in perfecting these plans. It would be unfair to relate the whole story in advance to those who expect to witness the performance and it will, perhaps, be enough to say that the love romance between the young idealist and the fair Mary is a fragrant page.

The large chorus has been chosen with unusual care from among the most talented and attractive young women who are engaged in this important feature of stage production.

FEDERAL THEATRE, SALEM

Aesop was a wise old fable writer, but when he wrote the fable of the fox and the grapes he had never seen a Kentucky fox, nor had he seen the picture, "In Old Kentucky," featuring Anita Stewart, which will be shown at the Federal theatre, Salem, for three days starting next Monday. If he had we never should have been indebted to him for the fable which has become a classic.

For in Aesop's fable the fox could not quite reach the grapes, after which he pulled the old saw that they were sour anyhow. If it had been a Kentucky fox, he would not have stopped with just reaching for the grapes. He would have shinnied up the vine after them. For Kentucky foxes actually can climb. You will see this done in the picture, "In Old Kentucky," and it is an actual occurrence. Chased by dogs in a great fox hunt, this fox takes refuge in the lower limbs of a tree, to which he scrambles without much difficulty, just out of reach of the hounds.

FINAL MONTH OF "HAPPY DAYS" AT N. Y. HIPPODROME

With the beginning of May, Chas. Dillingham's joyous pageant of delight, "Happy Days," entered in upon the final month of its remarkable run at the Hippodrome. Even now the crowds at the big playhouse resemble the patronage at holiday time, and "Happy Days" might profitably be continued into the summer months; but work will soon begin on the new spectacle which opens in August and Mr. Dillingham has decided to abide by his former policy of closing the great auditorium previous to the opening of the out-door recreation resorts. "Happy Days" is conceded to be the finest production ever staged at the Hippodrome; it has played to a larger patronage than any of its predecessors, and all who have not seen it are advised to take advantage of these, its final weeks.

HORTICULTURAL HALL PICTURES

Tomorrow evening — Saturday — Douglas MacLean and Doris May in "Mary's Ankle," a 6-reel Cosmopolitan production entitled "The Miracle of Love," and Ford Weekly.

There will be a double bill next Tuesday, the 11th. "Shore Acres," the celebrated play of primitive New England folk, will be presented, starring Alice Lake. Miss Lake is supported by Edward Connolly, Joseph Kilgour, Frank Brownlee and Margaret McWade. Due to circumstances over which the management had no control, Julian Eltinge in "An Adventuress" will not be shown. "Shore Acres" has been booked instead. Miss Lake plays the role of the daughter of the stern old lighthouse keeper on the coast of Maine, who defied her father in eloping with the man she loved.

Saturday of next week: Ethel Clayton in "More Deadly Than the Male," and Bert Lytell in "One Thing at a Time O'Day."

THE COPLEY THEATRE, BOSTON

The thousands of persons who enjoyed that unusual play, "The Man Who Stayed at Home," when it had its phenomenal run at the Copley theatre several seasons ago, will be glad to learn that Henry Jewett has decided to revive this remarkable piece. Throughout the present season he has been besieged with inquiries about this play which is so pleasantly remembered by those who appreciate a well-constructed piece of playwriting and who revel in the constant thrills incident to adventure with which the play is filled.

"The Man Who Stayed at Home" was written by J. E. Harold Terry and Lechmere Worrall, and it ran for 27 weeks at the Copley theatre, crowded houses being the rule at every performance.

Bedding and Hardy Plants

It is nearing Spring and time to think of planting. Orders should be placed with your florist in advance this season as the demand will exceed the supply. We are growing thousands of bedding plants such as geraniums, heliotrope, petunias, fuchsias, periwinkle, begonias and quite a number of other kinds that are used mostly for outdoor planting and window boxes.

We also offer hardy plants such as larkspur, Canterbury bells, iris, paeonies, lupin, foxglove and pansies. Tubs of hydrangeas and box trees to sell or let for the season.

At all times our ideas and experience are at your service, either in helping you in choosing, or in taking entire charge of your landscape planting.

THE NORTH SHORE BECKONS

Its Beaches, Its Wooded Hills, Its Wonderful Drives Awaiting the Onrush of Summer Visitors

THE greatest summer vacation ground in the country has drawn the curtains for another year of jollity. Its beaches, its wooded hills, its splendid motor drives—withal, a perfect summer resort. It is the North Shore of Massachusetts.

The Shore is a place to conjure with—a summer refuge for the wealth and refinement of the entire country. What Florida and Catalina Bay are in the winter, the shore from Nahant to Rye Beach is in the summer.

A season on the North Shore is one of the greatest arguments ever for "Seeing America First." The busy, successful westerner who wants to get all there is out of life should spend a summer on the Shore. He will return convinced after the initial introduction to the many charms of this section of the coast. Families from the south—from all points of the compass—make their objective from May to October on the long strip of coastline which has been so plentifully beautified by Nature and which has been improved upon by Man's artifice—without spoiling it.

A host of movements of major importance have been fostered by the North Shore and Massachusetts, the old Bay State. Chief among these is good roads. The motor thoroughfares of the Shore reach out for miles in velvety expanse from one resort to another. The natives of Los Angeles, a bit boastful, rightfully so, of their charms—tell you that the sun never fails to shine there. We on the North Shore might properly boast of the roads which thousands of tourists literally "rave" over; down on the Shore we do not need the gusto of the Los Angeles self-praise. The visitors here do it for us.

Those who want all the culture, refinement and luxurious appointments while traveling will find it on the North Shore. Its hotels, dotted here and there along the coastline, all of them offering a metropolitan service without the bothersome big city jostle and bustle, are magnets for the tourist or the family making a summer of it.

Where is there such opportunity for outdoor sports, golf, tennis, swimming, yachting, aviation, and kindred amusements? They are all here, some of the largest courses on which to wield the niblick which can be found.

It would take a Tennyson to properly describe the many charms of the Shore. But the keen perception of the learned traveler finds this spot on the coast his most alluring drawing card when summer is at hand.

Let this spring message of the North Shore's summer magazine bring you the assurance that the Shore will be all you have found it—if you are a "veteran" resorter. And if you are making this summer your initial season here the genuine pleasure that is in store for you is more than doubled by comparison.

The North Shore is ready—for you.

WONDERFUL OPPORTUNITIES IN TREE PLANTING

For Beautifying Seashore and Country Estates—They Pay for Themselves in the Satisfaction Afforded

By LILLIAN MCCANN

DID you plant that tree on Arbor Day? If not, why not? The magazines and papers as well as the NORTH SHORE BREEZE have long been calling your attention to the wonderful opportunities in tree planting made available so easily by the present up-to-date nurseries.

On the Beverly shores and in Manchester and elsewhere along the Shore are located some splendid nurseries well-known to all North Shore lovers of the beautiful. The BREEZE pages continually print their advertisements.

Nowadays if we do not care to plant the tiny tree and wait for its slow growth and expansion of shade we may call up the nearest transplanting company and have large trees transplanted for our gardens that will give them an old-time atmosphere in a short time.

If you are laying out a country place why not be expert enough to get an expert to tell you just where an old forest tree would help out your grounds to the best advantage? Perhaps a great tree set on either side your entrance would be more effective than dollars and dollars spent in other ornamentation. Massed in groups to change sky lines, to enclose a house as in a frame, or to serve as a screen or a wind protection these large trees and shrubs pay for themselves in the satisfaction afforded, if in nothing else.

Expensive? Of course it is, in a way. But why not have a truly beautiful home in one's life-time? If, perchance, your dream-house has to be built on the naked rocks or in the sunny open, then take advantage of the scientific transplanting of large forest trees, now so skillfully done by tree-movers.

The BREEZE pages tell of such organizations right here in the midst of the Shore.

Besides the oaks, elms, maples, beeches, poplars, willows, evergreens and ever so many other "standard" trees we are urged to plant nut trees and fruit trees.

"Grow nuts!" admonishes one "ad." "Plant them for profit, or for ornament. Eat them for health. Sell them for wealth. Put your money in this safest of all investments, Nature's own bank, and after two or three years' growth your returns will be surprisingly satisfactory and pleasing."

Another advertisement tells us, that "nut-bearing trees for roadside shade simply can't be surpassed in beauty or utility. They are shapely, strong, and being forest trees, do not require frequent spraying or any special care or attention as do most fruit trees. The annual crops of fine nuts—the products of trees of fine grafted varieties—will astonish and please you."

Whether planted for commercial, sentimental or æsthetic reasons remember what it is to plant a tree.

The following excerpts are of interest:

When you plant a tree you give life to that which will, barring accident, live longer than any human being then upon the earth, or any animal, or any plant—except another tree.

A few years ago the people of Ohio erected a memorial to a nameless tramp. He loved trees and the fruits they bore. As he rambled over the Ohio roads he carefully planted the seeds of the apples he ate. "Johnny Apple-Seed," they called him, and laughed. His body is gone, but Johnny Apple-Seed still lives in the trees he planted. No one laughs today, for thousands are reaping the fruits of his thoughtfulness. As a result of his example, the people of Ohio are planting thousands of trees along the roadsides, and perhaps the time will come when Ohio roads will be veritable orchard driveways because of the love one lonely man had for trees.—A. M. JOHNSON.

Of all the ruthless destruction wrought by Germany,

SAVING FIELDS AND FLOWERS

Birds are Coming Back and Presently Pestsiferous Bugs Will Cease to Harass Gardens

SIXTY years ago I was a little boy in what is now Whitman, Massachusetts, even then a thriving village of perhaps two thousand people. I lived on Main st., five minutes' walk from churches and stores. Within a stone's throw of my home were eight houses. The woods were at least an eighth of a mile away and there were only a few shade and fruit trees around the house where I lived, and yet I can hear ringing in my then unwilling ears the glorious singing of the birds which morning after morning awakened me from my sleep much earlier than I cared to be disturbed. How gladly would I be waked today at even 1 a. m. to hear those old songs! but they ring in memory yet with all the irritation gone from them. No symphony orchestra can give me the unalloyed delight that the memory even of that mighty bird chorus yields to me. For indeed it was a mighty chorus, when at its height it sounded as if ten thousand jubilant feathered songsters were striving with all the joy of grateful spirits to send aloft to Heaven a paean of thanksgiving which even the angels and the Great Father himself could not but listen to. And I believe they did hear and enjoy.

Today I live in Boston, but in a remote corner almost as secluded as my boyhood home. The woods are nearer to me than then. The shade and fruit trees and wild cherry growth around my home offer to the birds more tempting hospitality than the surroundings of my boyhood home, and yet, the song of a single robin, or the sweet note of a lone song sparrow, call all the family to open windows and hush all household industry. Birds, except the English sparrow, are as great a novelty in my village as airplanes in the heavens above us.

Fruits and Vegetables vs. Edibles

My mother loved flowers and every summer brought its wealth of roses and other glorious blooms and laid them perfect and unharmed at our feet. I recall a great cabbage rose climbing upon a trellis at the doorway, which year after year, with no perforated leaves, no unsightly bugs, no demand for poisonous spraying, no wants but sun and water, would stand a thing of beauty crowded with a hundred splendid flowers. My father always had a garden, and a good one. There was no sprayer in our house, no bottles labelled "Poison," no talk of insect pests, numerous, disgusting and devastating, such as we hear today.

Mr. and Mrs. Timothée Adamowski, Boston, Leland red cottage, so-called, Harbor st., West Manchester.

Mrs. Henry B. Endicott, of Boston, who had a cottage on the North Shore two years ago, when her late husband was so active in war work in Boston, will come to Beverly Cove this year, having leased the Fannie P. Mason house through the agency of T. Dennie Boardman, Reginald and R. deB. Boardman, of Boston and Manchester.

Mrs. T. Jefferson Coolidge, Jr., has arrived at her estate on Coolidge's Point, Manchester, coming down from Boston, early this month.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward Parrish, Jr. (Mary G. Stone), of Boston, will come to the Stone estate at Smith's Point next week for a few weeks' stay, until the summer occupants of the place arrive in June.

ARRIVALS are in evidence at all points along the North Shore. Cottages are being opened and estates are being put in readiness for the early advent of tenants. It is to be a busy and active season on the North Shore.

Hon. and Mrs. Ira Nelson Morris have arrived from Sweden, where the former is ambassador, and today or tomorrow they will come to Manchester, where their household had preceded them in preparing "Eaglehead," the McMillan estate, at Old Neck, for their occupancy. They plan to remain here until early fall. Their daughter, Miss Constance, attends Wellesley college, and their son attends a preparatory school.

Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Abbott and family, of Boston, are among the week's arrivals. They opened their West Manchester place Tuesday, to remain for a long season as usual. In fact, they are among those who come to the Shore for week-ends practically all winter.

S. V. R. Crosby and family, of Boston, arrived at their estate in West Manchester yesterday, for the season.

Mrs. Edwin A. Boardman, of Boston, arrived at "Wayside Cottage," West Manchester, last Friday, for the season. She expects her son, Gerald Boardman, and family, in June, to remain for the summer.

Roger W. Cutler (Leslie Bradley) and family, of Charles River Village will occupy the Morrison estate at Beverly Farms, now owned by Frank W. Kaan. The lease was made this week through the agency of T. Dennie Boardman, Reginald and R. deB. Boardman, of Boston and Manchester.

The F. A. Parkhursts have occupied the recently remodelled cottage on Proctor st., Manchester, where the Dr. Ladds have lived a number of seasons.

THE improvements which have been in progress all winter on the newly acquired summer home of Mr. and Mrs. James J. Phelan and family, of Brookline, at Smith's Point, Manchester, are well along toward completion, and the family will probably move into the house before the middle of June. The place was formerly the J. Warren Merrill homestead, later coming into the possession of the late John M. Graham. It surmounts the highest elevation on Smith's Point, across the way from the George R. White estate, and offers a commanding view of the ocean, of Salem bay, the islands, and Beverly shore on one side, and the Manchester-Gloucester shore on the other. Wonderful changes have resulted from the continuous labors of the small army of mechanics that have been at work since last autumn.

HE GETS TO THE FRONT

I have never known a person to succeed to any extent who is all the time predicting his failure, expecting things to turn out badly with him; the man who is always talking about his ill-luck, that the fates are against him, that the trusts and the great combinations have ruined the chances for the ordinary man. It is not the pessimist, not the complainer, not the doubter, the kicker, but the man with a great faith, the optimist, who believes that the best is going to come to him, that he is going to win out in his undertaking, who gets to the front.—The New Success.

OCEANSIDE HOTEL MAGNOLIA

OCEANSIDE HOTEL, at Magnolia, will open for the season on Friday, June 18. The demand for reservations has been unprecedented all the spring and there is every indication that the season will be the busiest on record at this flower spot of the North Shore. With the big Annex as an overflow (formerly the Hotel Hesperus), and with its eighteen cottages, the Oceanside is prepared for the big influx of summer visitors, which will keep the place filled to its more than 750 capacity most of the season—especially during July and August. The following is a partial list of reservations—most of them for the entire season, representing many families well-known to their respective communities all over the country.

CAPE ANN PREPARES FOR BUSY SEASON

An Unprecedented Demand for Rentals Hotels will Open Earlier than Usual

By ALEX. G. TUPPER

THE season of 1920 on Cape Ann promises to eclipse any year in its history. The hotels have been booked with guests, who are coming for a long season. Months ago, many of the best cottages on the Shore were engaged, and steadily throughout the late winter and spring hotel managers have been busy receiving correspondence from all sections of the country. Already, the houses are being opened and hotels will open earlier in prospect of a record-breaking year. Last year was a most satisfactory one all around for the summer business, but according to the prognostication of men who sense good business, as the mariner senses foul weather or a good mackerel year, we must accept the forecast with a sympathetic knowledge that these men know what they are talking about. The real estate dealers all along the line have been doing a splendid business both in leasing and selling property.

In the building line there has been little; in fact most of the work has been in the line of alterations and minor improvements.

The most important of the building projects along the Shore is the big stone mansion to be erected for Mr. and Mrs. Arthur G. Leonard (Mary J. Ashley), of 4801 Woodlawn ave., Chicago. This house of fifty or more rooms will be constructed of solid stone and it is expected that it will not be completed for two years. A large force of workmen has started operations. The house will be the third pretentious structure of granite erected in the locality, the Hall and Notman estates being situated near the burned Colonial Arms hotel site. Mr. and Mrs. Leonard have been coming to Eastern Point for a great many years and they are prominent in the social life on the North Shore. They have always occupied their estate situated near the John Clay estate, Eastern Point lighthouse and the Dog Bar breakwater. The new Leonard mansion will be located at Brace's Cove on one of the most rugged and wonderfully picturesque rocky sections of the Shore. Their house will face the sweep of Massachusetts Bay and the surf will thunder on the bold rocks beneath the structure.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur G. Leonard are stopping at Eastern Point for the present, while their new house is being started. They expect to return permanently later in the season.

Mr. and Mrs. John Clay, of Chicago, have left the west for their Eastern Point estate, "Finisterre." The servants arrived several days ago to get the house in readiness for the family.

Mr. and Mrs. William E. Atwood opened their house, "The Moors," recently, having spent the winter in Bermuda and the Barbadoes.

Mrs. Josiah Chapman Spalding and daughters, Miss Grace M. and Miss Elizabeth C. Spalding, of Brookline, have arrived at Eastern Point for the season, as has been their custom for a great many years. They are occupying their attractive new house on Ledge rd., erected new last season.

Selling Happiness Instead of Furniture

"Happiness" is really what we have to sell to owners of summer homes on the North Shore. It is more than porch and interior decorations. It is the happiness that only a background of artistic and comfortable furnishings can give to summertime. No home is too large—none too small—for our kind of happiness.

Mr. and Mrs. Richard W. Spalding, of Brookline, are occupying "The Birches," their pretty estate on Ledge rd., Eastern Point.

Col. C. F. Wonson has erected a cottage of attractive architecture on the Rock Neck shore, and Mr. and Mrs. Howard Bean, of Boston, have taken occupancy for the season. Mr. and Mrs. Bean occupied one of Col. Wonson's studio cottages last season.

Dr. James H. Knowles, of Philadelphia, arrived at East Gloucester a short time ago. He is stopping for the present at the "Inner Harbor," Rocky Neck. He will later be joined by his wife and relatives at "Lowestoft," the Knowles summer home located on Eastern Point boulevard.

Mrs. Grace Buell and son, George C. Crosby, and Mrs. Crosby, have arrived at Merrill Hall, Eastern Point, after the winter spent in Miami, Fla. Merrill Hall will open in a short time for the season. The family motored from Miami to Gloucester, a distance of over 2000 miles, in their touring car.

Mr. and Mrs. Langdon Gillette (Ayune McCready), of New York city, have arrived at their cottage on Grape Vine rd., Eastern Point.

BASS ROCKS.—The cottages at Bass Rocks that will not be occupied by owners this season have met with a ready rental. The Moorland and Thorwald hotels are being prepared for an early opening and the season at this resort promises to be a very busy one. The golf club will not open till the first of June. The links are in very good shape and a great many members of the club come for the week-ends to go over the course.

Mr. and Mrs. Philip H. Duprey, of Worcester, who have a large cottage on Atlantic rd., Bass Rocks, where they spend the summer season, were here last week-end to enjoy golfing at the Bass Rocks club.

Dr. William Jarvie and daughter, Miss Amelia F. G. Jarvie, of Montclair, N. J., have been spending two weeks at "Craigmoor," the Jarvie estate at Bass Rocks. The estate will be occupied this season by the Walkers, of Detroit, Mich. Dr. Jarvie and daughter will spend the summer in England and France and they expect to be at Bass Rocks in the autumn upon their return from abroad.

Mrs. Henry Souther and daughter, Miss Polly Souther, have arrived at their Bass Rocks cottage near the beach, for the season.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas H. Mills and the latter's sister, Miss Georgiana W. Dodge, of Toledo, Ohio, have arrived at Under-the-Cliff cottage, Atlantic rd., Bass Rocks, for the season. The family is one of the first, generally, to arrive at the colony.

Mr. and Mrs. George A. Worden and young son, of Detroit, Mich., who have for many years been guests at Hotel Thorwald, are located at a cottage on Bass ave., near the beach, Bass Rocks, for the season. The Wordens occupied the McGuckin cottage near the golf links late last season and they enjoyed Bass Rocks till Thanksgiving.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Scott, Jr., of Philadelphia, are not planning to spend the season at Bass Rocks. Their estate, "Tragibizanda," is to be rented for the season.

The Siamese legation is expected to arrive at The Thorwald, Bass Rocks, in June, for the season.

Mr. and Mrs. E. T. Sayward, who last season occupied a cottage on Brightside ave., Bass Rocks, will have their own house, this year. Mr. Sayward, who is a well-known Boston stock broker, of the firm of Williston & Co., State st., purchased the cottage of Fred H. Eaton, of Lawrence, situated on Souther rd. Improvements have been made during the winter.

The Pogues, of Cincinnati, Ohio, have taken a lease of the large Way house, situated on the height, between Haskell and Traverse sts., overlooking the Bass Rocks golf links. The family will arrive in a few weeks for the season.

Work on the new boulevard road has been resumed. The surface has been finished to a point near the Moorland.

ROCKPORT.—The season's prospects along the Rockport and Pigeon Cove shores are most encouraging, as houses have rented well and hotels will have the same liberal share of patronage as others on Cape Ann. It is somewhat of a disappointment to learn that the battleships will not rendezvous at Rockport, as was expected. A letter from Admiral Henry B. Wilson, commander-in-chief of the U. S. Atlantic fleet, confirmed this report. He says that the schedule arranged for the fleet for 1920 does not contemplate a visit to Rockport. Rockport and Cape Ann are always ready to extend a welcome to any of the fleet, and the navy boys receive courtesy and attention on every hand. The social activities along the Shore are always pleasant and add life to the gayety of the summer season. However, there may be possibilities of one or more ships coming in occasionally to drop anchor.

Rockport will have a great many artists on its shores this season. Harry A. Vincent and wife, of New York, have already arrived, as has Harrison Cady, of New York. H. G. Marratta, also of New York, will come in a short time. Mr. Vincent has purchased a lot of land near the water and he is to have a studio cottage erected. The foundation is already laid. Alden T. Hibbard, one of the instructors of the Boston University School of Education, department of art and architecture, will open a summer school in landscape painting in Rockport. He is now occupying one of the Margeson studios on Atlantic ave. Mr. Hibbard is a member of the Guild of Boston Artists and St. Botolph club, of Boston. He was a former pupil of De Camp and Tarbell and his winter studio is in Belmont.

W. E. Daniels and family, of Cambridge, have arrived at their summer home on Norwood ave., Rockport, for the season.

Mrs. Ella True, of Boston, has taken a lease of the Atwood cottage, Marmion Way, Rockport, for the season.

The A. J. Moore family has come up from Virginia and is located at the J. S. Poole cottage on the Headlands, Rockport, which commands a fine view of the ocean.

ANNISQUAM, with its quaintness and beauty of winding river and marsh, appeals to the tourist. The quietness and restfulness of the place has attracted thousands of summer residents each season and the outlook for another year is very bright indeed. Already the cottagers are arriving and they will steadily enter the village from now on.

Mrs. Alice Hardwick, of Boston, widow of the late artist, Melbourne H. Hardwick, is occupying her studio cottage, "The Poplars," River rd., Annisquam. Mrs. Hardwick will let the house this season to Warren Goddard and family, of St. Louis, Mo.

Mr. and Mrs. George C. Andrew, of Brookline, opened their Annisquam cottage last week and they have been entertaining Mr. and Mrs. Harry B. Duane, Annisquam summer residents.

New Ocean House and Annex, at Swampscott

ACTIVE SEASON LOOKED FOR ALONG THE UPPER SHORE

*Marblehead — Swampscott — Nahant Section
Astir in Preparation for a Busy Summer*

PLANs for the summer season at the New Ocean House, Swampscott, will be the most extensive undertaken in many years. The reservations, which have been coming in since the first of January, will require the full capacity of the hotel. The house is practically booked solid for the months of July and August, with June and September reservations bringing the total up to an unprecedented figure for this hotel. The fireproof section of the hotel will open May 22; the main hotel, June 18. In view of the fact that there are already a number of applicants for long-term leases, it seems quite probable that the Annex will remain open this coming year as a winter hotel. Among those registered for July and August are the following:

Mrs. Harry Godey, Phila.
Mr.-Mrs. S. T. Patterson, Boston.
Mr.-Mrs. Chas. F. Irons, Providence.
Miss M. C. Dana, Boston.

Mr.-Mrs. H. Benedict, N. Y.
Mr.-Mrs. L. C. Wason, Brookline.
Mr.-Mrs. J. D. Brennan, Boston.
Mr.-Mrs. R. C. Marston, Pittsburg.

THE SWAMPSCOTT SHORE is particularly lovely in the spring of the year, for being near to town, the cottagers arrive early and their homes take on an air of tidiness and beauty, even before the spring is well on its way. This season is no exception to the rule and unusually early have the estates been opened and families have been arriving all the month.

The Tedesco Country club opened its season this month and already the golf and tennis enthusiasts are in the field, while supper parties are being planned, as usual, with band concerts for the evenings. The trap shooting is always a spring feature, and Saturdays is the favorite day for this sport, the ladies as well as the men taking part.

The New Ocean House has been put in order, and the bookings which have been made so far, are most satisfactory. The hotel will open for the season, June 18, though the Annex will open on Saturday of next week. Several large groups of business men and college men will hold conventions during the month at this resort.

The Phillips Beach Neighborhood association plans for a pleasant season, although their regular program is over before hot weather arrives; nevertheless, many supper dances are featured in the summer.

Guy Merrill with his ambitious housing scheme is vastly changing the appearance of the Beach Bluff section, and during the winter several handsome houses have been erected in this vicinity by him and will add greatly to the all-the-year-round section of the Shore.

The Brookhouse estate which was sold during the winter to T. P. Day, of Marblehead, is now being cut up into large house lots, and it is understood that very extensive changes will take place on the property before the summer is over. Its proximity to the Tedesco club makes the land desirable.

Clifton and Clifton Heights is in the process of being opened up, the people of this section, in the main, usually arriving at the close of the public school season, although some families are now arriving in the Atlantic ave. section. This avenue, by the way, is one of the prettiest along the Shore and has been repaired so as to make riding beneath the cool maple tree arches, one of pleasure. Sidewalks being installed in this section are also very welcome.

Marblehead and the Neck will be interesting this summer, for yachting, under the stimulus of the international racing, will take on a new lease of life. Houses are all rented in this section and occupants are arriving, although the cool, rainy spring is preventing a general exodus from the city. Many await the opening of the Eastern and Corinthian Yacht clubs before coming to the Shore.

The roads in Marblehead Neck are to be thoroughly repaired this season, it is understood, which will be welcome news to the motorists who find this spot one of the coolest in all New England, when the hot weather sets in.

The old town itself, with all the picturesque features, will again be the mecca of thousands who annually come down to the rockbound coast to view for themselves the quaintness of the town, to partake of the far-famed shore dinners, and to enjoy the sight of one of the famous pleasure harbors of the coast.

Miss Josephine Lefavour will be missed this summer from Clifton as she has gone to Fargo, North Dakota, where she intends to make a permanent home.

* Mrs. Jonathan Brown, who has been wintering in Florida, will be at Beach Bluff for the summer months.

Mrs. Edward T. Brown and son, Lawrence, of Clifton, have returned to their home after a winter spent at Palm Beach, Fla., and Virginia Hot Springs.

Everit B. Terhune, of Beach Bluff, has returned from Europe, where he was for several months on business, attending the Lyons fair in France.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank W. Wright, of Beach Bluff, have returned from several months spent in Italy, where they went on business.

Notes About Plans of Summer Visitors

Mr. and Mrs. F. S. Wiley and family, of Brookline, will arrive early at their Marblehead Neck house for the season.

Mr. and Mrs. Graydon Stetson, of Marlboro st., Boston, who have been spending the winter at Poland Springs, Me., will arrive next week at the Sea Gull, Marblehead Neck, for the summer.

George A. Morrill, of Salem, who occupies a bungalow at Flying Point, Marblehead Neck, is confined to his home this spring by illness.

The engagement of Miss Ruth Benson, daughter of Hon. and Mrs. Henry P. Benson, of Salem, who summer at Marblehead Neck, and John Pickering, of Salem, was announced this winter.

Judge Albert D. Bosson, who summers at Marblehead Neck, has been in Florida this winter, where he has been convalescing from illness.

Charles W. Merrill, who was for several years a resident of Marblehead in the summer months, has recently returned from Europe, where he was in the Y. M. C. A. service in France and Italy. He expects to return to Europe in a few weeks to resume service with the "Y."

Prof. Heinrich Unverhau, proprietor of the New Fountain Inn, Marblehead, has arrived, and is busily engaged putting the Inn in readiness for opening early next month. He is very proud of his rock ledge garden, one of the most fascinating gardens in this section.

Miss Martha Whitney, proprietor of the Brown Owl tea room, Marblehead, will not be at the Shore this season, but will travel extensively when her work at Radcliffe college is completed. The Brown Owl has been taken over by the Radcliffe college club. The place will open on Memorial Day for the season.

Among those who have already arrived at Nahant are the Arthur S. Johnsons, the Phillip Youngs, the Louis Bacons and Mrs. Elisha S. Williams.

The Winthrop T. Hodges will spend the summer in California. Their cottage will be occupied again by the Robert S. Sturgises, of Boston.

W. D. Williams, of Boston, who bought the former Wheatland cottage on Nahant rd., is making alterations and additions. He will occupy the place this season. Mr. Williams is connected with the firm of Jordan Marsh Co., Boston.

Robert Amory, Jr., of Boston, has built quite an addition to his house on Prospect st.

Dr. Geo. H. Binney, Jr., and family, of Boston, will again occupy the Haven house on Nahant rd.

Oh dwellers on our dear
North Shore,
Let's get together I do implore.

SUMMERTIME! There's magic in the word.
How we all look forward to vacation time and the "season" on the North Shore!

"All are needed one by one;
Nothing is fair or good alone."

Was the poet of long ago thinking of what might be accomplished by you boys and girls if you all got together in "the spirit of perfect fellowship?"

In your schools, fellowship and a school spirit are needed to make things go. Why not here on the Shore?
Perhaps they are already felt in many circles.

At any rate the BREEZE is venturing out in an entirely new department this season.
The BREEZE family is continually growing and it is believed that a section devoted to the younger members of the family may be of interest.

In the past five or six years we have watched the life of the boys and girls and the part you play in the North Shore summer game.

If your out-door sports and interests on the Shore can be recorded in a way that you will like we shall feel that the effort has not been wasted.

But, above all other things, the department would like for the North Shore boys and girls to be the contributors themselves. The BREEZE is becoming more and more each year a great family magazine. This

A New Department Devoted to the Younger Members of the Breeze Family

Conducted by Lillian McCann part can be particularly your own if you boys and girls will help us out.

What about the short poems you occasionally write?

News items about your camps ought to be of interest, also your clubs here on the Shore.

Do you ever write real short stories? Why not send us some original ones for publication?

Do you ever think of a good joke which, if printed, might set the other fellow going?

In fact let us make our new department a place

"Where nobody gets old and godly and grave,
Where nobody gets old and crafty and wise,
Where nobody gets old
and bitter of tongue,
* * * * *

And the lonely of heart is withered away."

"One of the best things in the world to be is a boy," said Charles D. Warner, author of "Being a Boy," a story of boy-life in New England. Have you read it?

Of course you have all read "Story of a Bad Boy," by Thomas B. Aldrich, the story in which Tom Bailey and his chums play pranks and have good times in old Portsmouth.

What books can you recommend for their action, fun and good humor? Will you write us briefly about a few of them you would recommend for other fellows to read this summer?

A boy told me recently that he liked Robert Shaler's "The Boy Scouts at the Mobilization Camp" for its adventure, mystery and out-of-door atmosphere.
He said the boys had the ability to act quickly, to know what they wanted to do and how to do it.

Can you tell us in about 200 words about your favorite heroes, mystery stories, biographies and books you would recommend on how to do things, and those that give good pointers on science and mechanics?

Help me to have a good time doing everyday things, and to make my work my pleasure.
—S. O. JEWETT.

To find one true-hearted friend is worth living through a great many disappointments.
—S. O. JEWETT.

"No profit grows where is no pleasure ta'en."

PERHAPS what we are going to jot down will never see the NORTH SHORE BREEZE pages.
In these days of "project" methods in education what is there of great importance on the North Shore for Mother and Daddy to help out in while planning a happy vacation for their young hopefuls?

You will immediately think of the sports. But that is not exactly what we are thinking of.

Each season the BREEZE has interesting ads of the "Bookshop for Boys and Girls," located in Boston, but having a summer branch on the Shore, or exhibits in various Shore cottages from time to time. Then there are excellent displays of books in the Magnolia shops. Also the regular stores have an unusual number of books on sale during the summer months. Our Shore libraries with their carefully selected volumes are ever open for summer readers.

J. Berg Esenwein tells us that there are "a hundred keys to unlock the pleasure of the mind, the joys of the heart, and the treasures of success
—you will find them hidden in the pages of the best books."

Shakespeare says:
"Sir, he hath never fed of the dainties that are bred in a book; he hath not eat paper, as it were; he hath not drunk ink; his intellect is not replenished."

Parents wonder many times what books are best for their growing boys and girls and how

HOME AND PARENTS

THE boys that are wanted are loving boys
Fond of home and father and mother,
Counting the old-fashioned household joys
Dearer and sweeter than any other.

The girls that are wanted are home girls,
Girls that are mother's right hand,
That fathers and brothers can trust, too,
And the little ones understand.

they may interest them in such books for home-reading.

Francis Jenkins Olcott strikes the keynote with these words: "The guiding of the children's reading is of great importance because it is fundamental. It strikes at the roots of many weedy growths that weaken and hamper the healthy development of character. For even as when desiring a beautiful garden, we prepare the soil and plant the selected seeds, and pluck out the weeds; so should we carefully prepare the children's minds, root out the tares, and fill their imaginations with the noble thoughts and ideals of those great books which will help the developing men or women to resist ignoble and corroding influences."

If Mother and Daddy wish to help their boys and girls to become true book-lovers no better way is there than to look backward and try to remember how they felt when "the thoughts of youth are long, long thoughts." Be a boy again with your boy. Let the mother again live over her girlhood dreams. In no other way can you "be sympathetic with children's thrills of ex-

YOUR SHARE

YOU cannot hope to manage all the earth
No matter what the greatness of your worth;
But on that little acre where you dwell
'Tis possible for you to cast a spell
Of beauty true, and fill with loveliness
A spot where but for you might be distress;
And by your care evoke from scenes of pain
A wondrous harvesting of golden grain;
And by your loyalty to things of grace
Make of the larger world a better place.

—Selected.

citement, with their curiosity, their fancies, their sense of humor, and with their love of warmth and color."

Renew your youth, if need be, by reading some good story of a boy or girl. Cosette, the child of "Les Misérables," Miss Alcott's "Little Women," Aldrich's "Story of a Bad Boy," and Riley's "A Child-World" would help much in getting into the right attitude about the children's reading inter-ests.

Perhaps up to ten years or thereabouts you will have little difficulty in supplying the right kind of book. Almost anything in the way of Mother Goose, fairy tales, fables, myths, nature stories, poetry, and tales of history and children in other lands will be welcome reading.

Then comes the transition period. It is said that if boys and girls in seventh and eighth grades (ages varying from 12 to 14) do not get what they want to read for home reading they will not read anything, or spend their time on "dimes and nickels." But, if the right kind of book is given them, they will read most enthusiastically and thus form a reading habit, which, by the time they reach high school, carries them along through all the delights of literature and deeper things.

The girl's reading is usually along the lines of home, school and play and simple love stories. She is more easily guided to broader books. A girl usually follows willingly the advice of teachers, librarians and parents.

A boy does not take advice so readily. He reads a book far more readily if recommended by some other boy. He naturally prefers athletic stories, adventure with many thrills in it, stories of gangs, pirates, robbers, clubs, history, biography and books of information dealing with how to do things.

The writer has been conducting a small circulating library in a foreign school in a mid-west city this winter. Foreign boys and girls whose parents could not read and sometimes could not speak English were found to be just as eager for the right book as were their American classmates.

Stories of adventure, Indian stories, "westerners," Scout books and the like were called for by Hungarian and Polish boys, while the foreign girl read not only the limited supply of books for girls but the boys' books as well.

So the children's reading interests were what we had in mind when we jotted down these lines for the BREEZE editor to reject or accept. The Shore atmosphere with its nearness to literary shrines is an ideal place it would seem for Mother and Daddy and the rest to get together and have daily "reads" this summer.

"There is no academy on earth equal to a mother's reading to her child," says Scudder.

THE BOOK CARAVAN — STRANGE BOOKSHOP ON WHEELS

Will Visit North Shore and Other New England Resorts This Summer — Innovation Sent Out by Women's Educational and Industrial Union of Boston

THIS summer a strange landcraft will be seen abroad on New England turnpikes or at rest on village greens,—The Book Caravan, the first of its kind. It is descended from that gay English vehicle originally used by the gypsies, but later adapted for meandering vacation journeys up hill and down dale, and in which, as Mr. Lucas says, either gypsies might have lived, or any one that did live would soon be properly gypsified. It is also descended in part from that wholly imaginary, but altogether delightful, wagon of Christopher Morley's "Parnassus on Wheels." Perhaps some one will miss the gray horses, but every one knows now that the presence of gasoline power is no barrier to romance.

It will prove in its exterior a conservative coach, harmonious in color with its surroundings, and large enough to house many books. A glint of golden silk will show at its windows and perhaps this will lead you to enter, if you meet the car for the first time when it is at work. In this case, too, you will find it with its awnings extended over small tables displaying some of its wares.

Once within you will find yourself in a miniature bookshop. You may purchase any book you see and carry it away or have it mailed from the car to a friend. You may order any book for which you hanker. Seat yourself, if you will, on the broad cushioned seat at the rear of the car by the window, or if you prefer, draw one of the rush-bottomed stools up to the bookshelves. You will find it light everywhere for the roof is largely glass and there are many windows.

Books Selected with Respect for Varying Tastes

This Book Caravan is sent out by The Bookshop for Boys and Girls, of the Women's Educational and Industrial Union, of Boston, but The Book Caravan is a "regular" bookshop; that is, its stock is for grown-ups and children, too. As you look carefully over the shelves on this, your first visit, you decide that perhaps one-third of the books are fiction and you also see with a feeling of relief that there has been no attempt to save an adult reader from himself; that is, freedom has been shown in the selection their uniforms of gray-green chintz. Perhaps it will be pleasant for you to have this advance introduction to the Caravaners—Miss Mary Frank and Miss Genevieve Washburn—before you meet them on the road. Miss Frank is regularly chief of the extension division of the New York Public Library, and it was because of her interest in the extension of library work through the rural districts by means of book wagons that she consented to travel on The Book Caravan this summer. She is a Pratt Institute graduate.

Miss Genevieve Washburn, who drives the car, is a graduate of Wellesley. She was in France for a year of the war driving for the Fund for French Wounded and she has an author brother, Claude C. Washburn, whose new book, "Order," has just been published by Duffield.

The Book Caravan was designed by Lewis J. Abbott, of the firm of Shattuck & Coolidge, and it is built over a of these books and respect for varying taste. May Sinclair's "Mary Oliver," yes, and even Dorothy Richardson are here and so are all the "Small Souls" group of Mr. Couperus. "Pelle, the Conqueror," too, and Ibanez. But it's not too serious a lot, for here are Joseph Lincoln, Archibald Marshall, and some of Conrad's best sea tales. Upon further examination you decide that perhaps another third of the books are of all kinds: Travel, out-of-door books—flowers, trees, birds, gardens, the seashore; indoor books—cooking, house planning, household management, the care of children.

Your scrutiny of the poetry section may be interrupted, perhaps, by your surprise at coming upon a bowl of flowers upon a window ledge of this strange bookshop-on-wheels. But having made sure that the poetry group does justice to all your favorite moderns, you examine the lives and letters, and you conclude that The Book Caravan is not receiving any funds from either political party for Vernon Kellogg's life of Hoover stands side by side with the life of Leonard Wood.

Two College Girls will be in Charge

You find, too, that both the Caravaners can tell you something about the books you do not know. If they have become gypsified, they are very daintily neat about it in

Stewart motor chassis. Its color and decoration as well as the designs for its announcements are the work of Maurice Day, already known to many through his delightful illustrations for Mr. Bergengren's "Jane, Joseph and John," Henry B. Beston's "Firelight Fairy Book," and the new edition of Scudder's "Folk and Fairy Tales."

Will Visit North Shore in July

Of course The Caravan will not go from house to house with its wares, but will take up its station at the right place in a town, its announcements and posters having given advance warning of its arrival. Beginning at East Gloucester on July 1, its route will take it along the North Shore, with stops at Magnolia, Pride's Crossing, Beach Bluff and Nahant. It will then go down to Cape Cod for the rest of the month, making many stops from Cohasset round to Woods Hole, Dennis, Orleans, Chatham, Wellfleet, Provincetown, Harwichport, South Yarmouth, Hyannis, Osterville, and Wiano, Cotuit, Falmouth, Marion, Buzzards Bay and Woods Hole. In August, if all goes well, the car will journey into Maine along the coast, turning back through the interior. September will be spent in the White Mountains, Vermont and the Berkshires, and the tour will end at the meeting of the New York State Library association at Lake Placid, Sept. 20 and 21.

CROSS PURPOSES

A Man, a Girl, and the Old, Old Story — With a Difference

By GWENDOLYN RALEIGH

(The Breeze will print as often as practicable, this season, a fiction article. Manuscripts solicited for acceptance.—Ed.)"BETH, please do."

"I tell you it simply isn't being done!"

Robert Meade Harriman, Jr. (Bobbie Harriman to his friends), was a tall, finely built young man of about thirty-five, with clear-cut pleasant features and a determined chin. His blue-grey eyes could be brimming with laughter, and an imp of mischief seemed to lurk in their depths; yet, in business, they could also be, and mostly were, cold and unsympathetic.

His hair? Well, that was auburn.

Bobbie did not greatly care for the companionship of women—that is, not a great deal. They made him feel uncomfortable, somehow; but in this case—well, this was different, so why spoil the story.

His sister, Mrs. Longwood, in whose home they were seated, was a few years his senior. She was forty-three, her friends whispered, though they admitted that she looked much younger.

She had been a much sought after débutante in her day, and was still considered very handsome, even by her enemies, of which, unlike most pretty women, she had very few. It had been quite expected that she should marry Stewart Meyer Longwood, the brilliant and well-known author, who was her senior by several years.

They had been very happy during the few years of their married life, and after his death Mrs. Longwood had found herself so well provided for that she did not greatly worry over old man H. C. L.—perhaps that was one of her secrets of eternal youth.

"But, Beth, this case is different, you know, and I simply cannot get her even to smile unless I have your assistance. You see this is her first position as secretary, and she is so all-fired anxious to make good that it simply drives everything else out of her mind. I suppose this new idea of being a serious, sober, terribly-in-earnest business woman is very good, for some people, but June is different, though she won't admit it, I expect. I should think you would at least try to help me out in this, you are the only person who can. Why, Beth, those adorable brown eyes of hers were never meant to belong to a business woman. . . !"

"Bobbie, Bobbie," his sister said laughingly, "I never dreamed that you were the raving kind of man-thing! I am resigned! If you will explain to me how I am to break through the barriers that your secretary has deliberately erected, and thereby win her everlasting friendship and gratitude, why, I am willing to do all in my power to induce her to believe that you can be very nice when you choose, and that you are not so stern as you look, and a lot of other nice things."

"You're a nice thing yourself, dear, and you won't be sorry. Think of the nice sister you will be getting for yourself! Joking aside, Beth, I feel that all my life I have been striving to this end. Good-night, dear, I sha'n't keep you from your beauty sleep any longer."

Beth smiled fondly after her brother as he hurried off to his apartments.

"And he always said he thanked his lucky stars that he did not have a 'match-making sister' . . . !"

* * * * *

THE following morning Mr. Robert Meade Harriman, Jr., was a wee bit late for business. "A very unusual thing for Mr. Harriman, sir," his head clerk would have told you.

He sat for some time over his morning mail and then rang for his secretary, Miss June Lawrence.

June was out of sorts this morning—oh, she wouldn't let anyone in the office see it for the world—but business was not all she had thought it was going to be, and she half wished that she had gone to her aunt in California, after all.

June's story was not original. Her mother June remembered as only a very faint, sweet dream. About eighteen months previous to June's accepting her present position, her father had died, and with his death had come an avalanche of creditors' bills, and so everything but a paltry sum had been swept away.

When calm had returned, June realized that the training she had received, while appropriate for the society débutante, would fall far short in earning real dollars and cents.

Of course, her father's sister had done the expected thing. She had hurried to the young girl's rescue, explaining that she always intended that June should inherit her "shattles," as she frequently called her rather extensive property, so she must come to live with her now. Equally, of course, June had done the unexpected thing—she had refused!

June was a slim, independent young woman of twenty-three. She did not know that Mr. Harriman, whom she secretly feared a little, thought that her brown eyes were the very prettiest in the world; but then, others had told her that. They had also told her that her brown hair with its glints of pure gold, topped off an altogether adorable little face.

All these things did not affect June a great deal, when the man whom she especially wanted to have notice them, simply gave her dictation, and then, with a cold "That's all, Miss Lawrence," dismissed her without even as much as a glance!

Of course, there was a reason why June had chosen work instead of traveling with her aunt; and here is the reason—

She had met Bobbie Harriman at a party, and he had been pleasant, without especially noticing her—she was just another débutante to him. June, who was quite unaccustomed to indifference, was piqued and she vowed to change that look in his eyes to one of interest if it took her all her life!

Her father's death had followed almost immediately, making her lose sight of her vow for some time. She had met Bobbie quite by accident one day, and, as he had not recognized her, her resolution was formed anew.

That very day she had hied herself to a school, where she had gone through the dreary months of training, which was required to fit her for the position as secretary to Bobbie.

Of course, she had never imagined that he could be such a bear, she told herself. The work, too, was much more difficult than she had at first anticipated—it was all very disappointing.

* * * * *

PPROMPTLY at three o'clock, Mrs. Longwood had patiently gone through the red tape required to reach her brother. To the clerk's "Have you an appointment, ma'am?" she had thoughtlessly replied "No."

"I am not sure that he is in, ma'am, but I will see."

Beth did not know just how many people the clerk had to see—she waited ages and ages; it seemed—but evidently he had “seen,” for Beth was seated in her brother’s office, laughing at her difficulties in reaching her goal.

“Now, Bobbie,” she said, “I think I deserve an immediate glimpse of this wonderful creature. Frankly I am all prepared for a disappointment. I cannot believe that she is as perfect as you represent her. But then, she must be extraordinary, else you would not be interested, I know.”

“Now, how am I to get her into my house? Kidnapping has quite gone out, you know.”

“Don’t be absurd, Beth! You are in need of a secretary—Oh, yes you are! And June is it!”

“My dear Bobbie, what am I to do with a secretary when I get one? What are they supposed to do? What am I supposed to do?—?—?”

“One at a time, Beth. Leave everything to me, and don’t say another word, or I shall lose my nerve. Miss Lawrence will be in immediately, I have just rung.”

“For goodness sake, Bob, don’t look so cross! Why, if you look at the poor little thing like that all of the time, I wonder that she has the courage to come in at all, much less lift her eyes in your august presence. Smile, dear boy, and show that you are not all stone and steel! There, that’s better. You look much more human now, you know. Wait! Hold it!”

But she was too late, for June Lawrence had opened the door and Bobbie’s expression had changed hopelessly.

Beth secretly believed that Bobbie was scared to death of Miss Lawrence, and no doubt she was right; but Bobbie did not know it, or at least he would not admit it. Perhaps that accounted for the fierce look in his eyes now.

June? Well, June was thinking how adorably that red hair (she called it red when she was cross with him), shone in the afternoon sun, which was throwing a saucy little sunbeam in through the window.

“Miss Lawrence,”—her dreams were shattered!—“I want you to meet my sister, Mrs. Longwood. My sister, Miss Lawrence, has for some time past been looking for a secretary. She has been unable to secure one that quite understands her line of work.” “What IS my line of work,” Beth gasped in dismay to herself.

“Now, I believe that you will be able to help my sister out while she finds someone”—a ghost of a smile!—“Of course, you understand that should you decide to do this, you can still consider yourself in my employ, and you are at perfect liberty to return at any time. I know of no one else who could fill the position. . . . That’s all, Miss Lawrence. You will probably want time to think it over.”

A determined look came into Beth Longwood’s eyes:

“Miss Lawrence, my big brother has not given me an opportunity to say one word for myself, but I hope you will come. I am sure we shall get along very nicely together. Please do.”

June gave Beth a smile that made Bobbie turn green with envy:

“I—I should like to go, I think, Mrs. Longwood—” where was Miss Lawrence the business woman?—then, more briskly: “I should like to take the position if I can do the work. Perhaps you can tell me the nature of it?”

Beth hesitated, glanced helplessly and somewhat fiercely at her brother, and then, heavenly inspiration!

“Won’t you take luncheon with me tomorrow, Miss Lawrence? That will give us an opportunity to get acquainted, and we can talk over the work in detail then.”

June accepted, and, with a sigh that was dangerously like relief, went to prepare her desk for her successor; for, she told herself firmly that she would never come back. Yet would she give up so easily?

She was afraid that Bobbie was beginning to make too much of an impression on her. Perhaps, after all, it would not seem so funny to see his dismay when he found that she had been playing with him.

Of course, he might not notice her when she got back any more than he did now. Why should he? Red-haired men were peculiar anyway, she decided, and she felt better.

After June had gone Beth turned indignantly to her brother:

“My goodness, Bob, what are you trying to do? Make a simpleton of me—at my age? My line of work, indeed! Positively you are funny! Besides, I give you fair warning that unless you change your tactics—well, you may as well give up, that’s all. You cannot make a woman think she wants to marry you by freezing her, you know. Your love-making is unique to say the least!”

“But I am not freezing her, Beth. She is freezing me. I suppose any sane man would give up, but I am not sane, you see. I am mad! Mad about this tiny, little bit of a girl, who won’t smile at me. You see, Beth, she is different from other girls. She looks straight at me with those glorious eyes, just as seriously and indifferently as she would look at—at—at—well, at that desk for instance. I shall change that look in her eyes to one of interest, if it takes me all my life!”

All of which goes to show that if people were more frank with one another, they would not so frequently be working at cross purposes.

(Concluded next week)

I recall only the squash bug which a few ashes or a little lime would quickly drive away. Those were indeed halcyon days for the farmer and the housewife. Flowers and music and appetizing fruits and vegetables then. Insect pests and devastated harvests of flowers and edibles now.

Birds Gone, Bugs Come

The truth is simply this. The Birds have gone and the Bugs have come, and the latter have come because the former have gone. Puny man with all his poisons and machines is a child fighting a giant when he enters the lists against the innumerable hosts of the insect world. He may be a Gulliver, but the Lilliputians by mere force of numbers bind him with their multitudinous silken threads and he becomes as helpless as our great railway systems when the infinitesimal but infinitely numerous snowflakes fill all the spaces with their cumulative whiteness. And where have the birds of 1860 gone? The shocking truth is that they have been massacred; massacred by him to whom they ministered so lovingly and faithfully, for whom they made sweet music and lovely fragrant flowers and abundant and delicious food possible; massacred in wanton savagery, massacred for their beautiful plumage; massacred for a single toothsome morsel of meat. It is indeed shameful, and we are paying justly and heavily for the crime.

A Ray of Hope Appears

Today the birds, those that are left, are coming back and possessing the dominion rightfully theirs. Legislation is silencing the cruel gun of the heartless sportsman. Kind hearts are providing refuges to which the hunted bird may flee for safety. Ribbons and flowers, instead of dead songsters, decorate the head coverings of women. And it looks as though the day would come when the air will again be glorified with the sweet music of myriad, winged songsters, and the trees become radiant with the flashing wings of blue birds and orioles and robins; when flowers, with few if any enemies to mutilate and kill, will thrive and bloom in profusion all about us, and the home gardens and the farmers’ acres, unmolested by hordes of deadly insects, will grow and mature as kindly Nature planned that they should.—ROLAND CORTHELL, in Boston Transcript.

WHEREVER THE TAXES are placed, seen or unseen, eventually the purchaser of goods pays the price. If it be added to the cost when the business is taxed he does not know it, though when he pays a percentage on the value he feels it. Whether the purchaser notices it or not he pays the tax. The visible tax makes it impossible for the merchant to add a little to the price and thus increase the percentage of profit. The increases have come so rapidly in cost and in taxes to the merchant that it is a common occurrence to advance prices. Already the tide has turned and prices have reached so high a level that they are unattractive. Most merchants are having a battle royal constantly with drummers and wholesale house salesmen to offer such a line of goods as will make it possible for the retailer to place moderately priced goods upon the market. The people are learning habits of economy and the increased prices are compelling thrift to a marked degree; the values of goods alone attract. There is no question, the merchants now affirm, about the carefulness of buyers. It is a seller's market and buyers are compelled to be careful. In some of the centres where high wages have been paid, indiscriminate buyers have made extravagant purchases, but the majority of the people have curtailed their buying and made such purchases as have been planned carefully. The high prices have compelled it. The merchant knows it. He is seeking to place prices at a lower level, to attract buyers. Until a lower level has been reached the purchasing power of the public will be limited. Every increase in price means the test of economy placed by the buyer and may mean a thrifty refraining from purchasing. Taxes, whether visible or invisible, are only a small factor in the increasing prices, and the merchant first of all will welcome a reduction in cost prices in order to lower selling prices.

WITH ALL THE "philandering" in Washington about peace, the hour has not yet struck.

A MAN WITH AN IDEA in Butler, Pa., started out on an expedition of his own with "his little clipper," cutting wires wherever he could. He felt that a burden had been laid upon him to cut wires. He went at his task conscientiously and systematically. He maintains that his mind is clear, and it is—on one point, that he must cut wires. Lighting companies were embarrassed, telephone companies exasperated and the customers of both types of service corporations inconvenienced by the discontinuance of the service. The interurban lines were paralyzed and the city was in darkness. The culprit was apprehended and is now cared for. Yet there is a type of "wire cutter" who continues his work unmolested. Socialist vampires, red enthusiasts and well-intentioned but untrained social reformers start out on their welfare work only to paralyze industries and interfere with the normal conditions of life. Strike-makers, walking delegates and insubordinate workmen have an idea. It appeals, but it is an untested and paralyzing idea doing no good for the striking or troublesome workmen. The wire cutter is at work. In an industry there are always workmen of a low type of manhood who are sane as far as mental faculties are concerned, but who are trouble makers and malcontents, causing untold harm among workmen. These men do their work under cover, but the work is none the less destructive. The demented wire cutter was stopped in his nefarious work, but organized society apparently has no protection from the more skillful and destructive workers who are placing the social and industrial order constantly in trouble.

GOVERNOR CALVIN COOLIDGE is proving himself to be a very capable man with large powers of action. His ability to see through the maze of technical legal problems is an asset that proves its value in the complicated problems which are presented to a governor for solution. This is shown in his veto of the 2.75% beer bill. The issue was not a question of whether the legislature or the Governor, or the people of Massachusetts favored the issue of licenses for the sale of a beer which contained a percentage of alcohol larger than one-half of one percent per volume. The legislature passed a bill up to the Governor for his signature and the decision to be made was not upon the question of what the people of Massachusetts desired, but what was legal for Massachusetts to do. The national law precluded the state law, and in maintaining the dignity of the national law and vetoing the bill, the Governor did not pass an opinion upon the advisability or the inadvisability of having a 2.75% beer, but that such a bill would have been contrary to the national law. The point was well taken and if the bill had been signed it would not have stood the tests of the courts. If the strong movement that is apparently gaining some ground for a larger percentage beer is to win the point which is desired it must be sought in another way than by state regulation. The national problem must be the line of approach. It cannot, however, be denied that the large vote gained in the legislature indicated a strong support for the measure. The Governor signed the veto on the larger issue of the maintenance of the integrity of the Constitution of the United States and not upon the merits of the bill for the larger percentage of alcohol. The most earnest supporter of the bill which the Governor vetoed cannot but realize that upon that issue the Governor took the only position which his sense of fidelity to the nation could permit.

HAMILTON IS TO HAVE a new church that will add a picturesque tower to the already beautiful landscape of the Hamilton-Wenham section.

THE RETURNS WHICH are coming in from all over the country indicate that the contest in the National Convention will be a spirited one. No candidate is so far in the lead that his nomination is assured on the first vote. This, perhaps, is a desirable situation, for the leading candidates are strong enough to compel deliberation and, in the event of the failure of all the present candidates, to assure the selection of a capable and popular leader. Johnson seems to have gained ground, although the feeling against him is still strong in the east. If he is nominated it will be a serious problem the Republican Campaign committee will face, to meet the feeling which undeniably exists. The bolt of California was a contributing element in the success of the Democratic party eight years ago and Johnson had to bear and still must bear some of the blame. The decline of the Hoover boom is marked, but what his campaign lacks in support, it has gained by the manly and highly commendable attitude of Mr. Hoover himself. It cannot be denied that Hoover instead of being eliminated has been gaining ground because of his personal spirit. The leaders are gaining votes that may cause a deadlock, giving Hoover his chance. Lowden and all the other candidates have made gains. Leonard Wood, of Massachusetts, is still in the lead, having gained the delegates from several more states; he is recognized as having the advantage. The voters in Essex county strongly favored the candidacy of Wood at the primaries, and still support him. The returns that are arriving indicate that the local support is not provincial prejudice in favor of a local man, but a judgment that is shared by states far apart in the Union. Leonard Wood has made some marked gains, but the battle has not been won. At the present writing he cannot win on a first battle of ballots; and who can tell what will happen on a second ballot when pledged candidates are released and unpledged delegates make a second decision!

THE FIELDS AND WOODLANDS look green and attractive. The motor season is on and homes are being opened in increasing numbers.

THE MEXICAN SITUATION still presents a serious question to the whole country. America cannot long continue to ignore the truth that despite the unwholesome and undesirable conditions which exist the world over, demanding attention from a zealous and unselfish nation, it remains a fact that at our very back door, so to speak, in Mexico, conditions exist which will require the attention of skillful diplomatists, careful business men, aggressive religious workers and social welfare organizers. The condition there is reprehensible and complicated. There is no rule of thumb that will lead the nation in its conduct toward Mexico. Former Ambassador Wilson says that the country is "burned out," an expression that is short and precise and indicates the situation succinctly. Mexico does not favor America, and despite the fact that there are millions of dollars' worth of American investments there and many persons of influence who realize that an arrangement should be made favorable to the United States in the policy of the Mexican nation, it is impossible for the American nation to make a diplomatic approach without a reversal of our national policy. This will not be done by the present administration, but must be done in the next cabinet of the government. This appears to be one of the desirable activities of the future. Mexico must be made our friend. Our policy must be frank, friendly and favorable. There must be peace on the American continent. America cannot indulge in international preachments about peace and border adjustments in Europe and yet give little heed to difficulties at home. Mexico was inimical to the United States and friendly with Germany; German spies had a refuge and depots for operation; these were used effectively and persistently. America cannot long endure such a feeling. Peace must be made. Every friendly faculty which diplomacy can master must be used to win a neighbor on our southern border. All things are possible.

THE HEBREWS are fleeing to Jerusalem and the Holy Land and are finding refuge. For them, the millenium has indeed come.

A NEW PROGRESSIVE PARTY appears to be a possibility of the near future. A "Committee of Forty-Eight" has been at work industriously, and it would appear that their efforts to call and hold a national convention to form a national progressive party will be successful. The new political organization will convene in early July in the city of Chicago. The proposed platform of the organization contains some commendable features and others which are distinctly progressive, suggesting communistic features, such as the public ownership of transportation facilities, stock yards, abattoirs, elevators, terminal facilities, pipe lines and tanks. The natural resources of coal, oil, natural gas, mineral deposits, large water powers and large commercial tracks of timber are included in the program for national ownership and operation. A significant clause reads: "We indorse the effort of labor to share in the management of industry and labor's right to organize and bargain collectively through representatives of their own choosing." The program of the new party is ambitious and progressive. The new organization will, of course, seek recognition at the polls and make a campaign based upon its particular tenets. Despite the fact that the organization is politically constructed its avowed program is economical and social. It is inaugurating a social crusade. Its efforts, as an organization, will fail. The history of the two progressive organizations—the Progressive party and the Prohibition party—teach that clearly. If any of the tenets are demonstrated to be economically and ethically desirable and practicable they will be executed by either or both of the existing parties. Political crusades usually fall by the wayside. The utter disrepute which followed the governmental operation of the railroads will preclude any campaign which provides for similar disasters along other commercial lines. The party will not endure.

MEMORIAL DAY, which according to the calendar comes on Sunday this year, will bring Memorial Sunday on May 23, when the veterans of the Civil war and the last war will go to church together in loving tribute to the heroes of the wars of the nation.

THE IMMIGRATION LAWS of the United States have given legislators many hours of perplexing study. To perfect them has required patience, human sympathy and a spirit of justice. The laws which went into effect just preceding the last war were the best ever formulated by this country. The benefits of the operation of these laws have not been determinable because of the unusual war conditions which resulted in the large emigrations and effectually checked immigrations. What the result of the new laws would have been cannot be determined by abstract discussions. It is evident that the negative character of all of our immigration laws has been a serious handicap to the nation. It is now proposed to apply regulations that will in no way work a hardship upon honorable and industrious persons who seek a haven in America and yet provides a simple method to protect the country from the immigration of undesirable people. The proposed legislation provides for the registration of all aliens now in the United States or who may apply for admission hereafter; the creation of a probationary period for immigrants during which there would be an opportunity to determine their fitness to remain permanently in the country. The requirement is made that immigrants should give bonds as a guaranty of good conduct; or in lieu of bonds, that money should be withheld from their wages as such guaranty and deposited in postal savings banks. Provision is also made for the changing of the burden of proof of requirements for admission so that it will be incumbent on aliens to prove their fitness rather than upon the government to prove their unfitness.

The proposed regulations require every registered immigrant to apply for a new certificate, granted automatically, when moving from one immigration district to another. There are now seventeen million immigrants in America, of whom only six million have been naturalized, leaving eleven million persons who have shown no official inclination to become American citizens. The new program would present quickly and effectively a plan for the registration of aliens so that the nation would know every immigrant and his purpose relative to citizenship in the United States. It would give the nation an opportunity to keep track of all undesirable citizens and present to every honorable immigrant the protection of the government, and afford him an opportunity to acquire the rights and privileges of the citizenship of the nation. Practice alone will reveal the flaws in the operation of the law. The purpose appears commendable and honorable and will work no injustice to any immigrant. The next Congress which convenes will carefully consider the proposed program and it is probable that some law with such or similar provisions will be passed. No one can now tell whether the war conditions at home and in Europe will stimulate an exodus to Europe or create a new immigration record. Under either condition the nation will be able to control the home problem more effectively and justly than ever before.

THE SEASON IS LATER than usual, but at last the opening days of spring and good weather have come. The flowers are to be late, so thoughtful owners of greenhouses will be planning to furnish the veterans of the wars with flowers. Plan early to aid the Grand Army in their Memorial Day services.

A list like this is scarcely complete without that old stumbling-block to so many, young and old alike: Separate.

A Parisian Duchess has written a book about American food as served in restaurants in this country. SUGGESTIONS ABOUT WILD FLOWERS

A Plea for Conservation

THE newspapers of a recent date, displayed an item on activities of the teachers and children of the Oakland, Cal., public schools in stripping the hills and forests of Alameda county of wild flowers. The children's department of the public library building was used to exhibit the flowers taken, the public was invited to inspect, and, doubtless, expected to approve and applaud. The publications detailed the localities allotted to the several schools, and impressed the idea of competition in quantities to be gathered.

It may have been the purpose of the initiators of the outing to make it educational. Then why the reserved space for exhibition? A few specimens of each kind collected in the fields and properly presented by the teacher would have been effective . . .

Such an outing always resolves itself into competitive vandalism, — without design perhaps, but with that inevitable result. Field flowers cautiously plucked may serve for exhibition or decorative purposes; but few persons are temperate enough in their desires, or sufficiently thoughtful to pick them with the best effect and least violence to the fields.

The æsthetic duty of wild flowers is to adorn the fields; their especial mission is to produce seed to perpetuate the species and, coincidentally, to furnish food for other life forms. To destroy the seeding capacity is to end the life history of the plant in the locality. Wild flowers propagate mostly by seed. In order to insure reproduction, they bear these in large quantities, but with a low percentage of germination. These few fertile seeds must escape destruction by fire, birds, rodents, insects, and grazing animals before new plants can be produced to struggle on to flowering maturity. All of these deterrents are normal: When the human element of destructiveness is added, the end is in sight.

Cultivated plants have the advantage of protection, care, and assistance. They are gathered more sanely, and no such destructive manner of picking would be tolerated by the enthusiasts who pluck up wholly immature plants in the field. As stated, the æsthetic duty of wild flowers is to attract—in the fields: There they should be enjoyed and allowed to remain for the enjoyment of others. . . .

If the children be trained in this department of nature study, let it be done in the fields. Instead of one trip of destruction, let many be made to study the flowers, their environment and purposes: And at appropriate times to gather and distribute seeds to assist in the conservation of the plants in their unmatched beauty as intended by nature.

WHISPERINGS Of the Breezes

What
A howl you'd Hear if the man who Is always talking about the "Good old days" were magically whisked back 50 years!

x—x—x

It's a long road that has no turn. John F. Scott, the Pine st. boulevard plumber (Manchester) found this out one day this week—and to his satisfaction, may we observe. In the "good old days" referred to above—but not 50 years ago—when the almost forgotten beverage called whiskey was plentiful—and cheap—John kept a fairly generous supply in his cellar so as to have something on hand when his friends called. He used to have one gentleman to whom he gave free rein, so to speak. That is, when the friend wanted a nip he was free to go into the cellar and help himself. In order to be prepared for any emergency that might arise, such as locked doors, when Mr. Scott was away, the friend was in the habit of occasionally taking an extra "drop or two" in a bottle and keeping it secreted in Mr. Scott's workshop—a sort of reserve supply. This was really no secret, as Mr. Scott and his friend betimes helped themselves to this reserve. But as time went on, and the good friend passed into another world, the country went dry, etc., the whole occurrence remained only as a pleasant memory of the "good old days."

However—

And here is where the turn in the road came.

Yesterday morning when Mr. Scott was rooting around in his shop among some old odds and ends of lead pipe, joints, etc., used in the plumbing business, his hand rested upon something smooth and more soothing to the touch than lead and iron pipes. He pulled the object from its resting place.

Lo! it was a bottle. Nor was it an empty bottle—it contained some sort of liquid. One sniff of the bottle after the cork was removed, was enough.

It was as a message from the dead—so to speak.

Do you know what you are talking about when you say "We gave him the 'cold shoulder'?"

That expression originated from what was once the French custom of serving a cold shoulder of mutton instead of hot meat to a guest who had stayed longer than he was welcome.

"Straws show which way the wind blows" says the old adage. One of the Manchester merchants now has straw hats for men on display in his show windows. Wonder if he has received any advance information regarding weather of the coming months—perhaps he is an optimist and believes that we will have warm days by and by. Here's hoping he is right!

The lawnmower has replaced the snow shovel, for a short time at least. The best authorities seem agreed that it will be safe to put the snow shovel in the corner of the woodshed, but it might also be wise to have it handy for use in emergency. The merry music of the lawnmower is now heard along the North Shore and truly the tones are sweet. More power to the grass clipper, long may it stay with us this coming season!

Spring Meditation

By ALEX. G. TUPPER

I HEAR once more the tune of nature singing
In the brook, in wind and winging bird;
And to the heart a song of spring is bringing Joy, expressed beyond the spoken word!

Who cannot understand the wond'rous silence
Wherein the spirit of the Master dwells?
Who cannot understand the pathway whence
The noiseless feet all lonesomeness dispels?

Companionship is sweet, endures forever
When fragrance of sincerity is there
To reach the earnest longing and endeavor
For God's protecting presence and His care.

And so when birds appear in filmy lace of green—
Blush pink in smiles of sweetest hue,
I think my Master's smile can there be seen—
His sweet companionship is smiling through.

I walk o'er happy fields, green-spread anew—
A lovely rug laid fair towards the sea,
Where primrose rocks, a border, edge the blue
And golden sunlight falls so soft and free.

I pass the brook where branches bending over
Are mother-arms that loose her romping child,
Releasing it, to let it have its rover—
It runs through mossy rocks and thickets wild!

The whole wide world sings joyfully of spring;
The carols of the birds are wondrous sweet!
But in the quiet of all nature's offering,
I hear the loving tread—my Master's feet!

LIBRARY NOTES

New Books in Manchester Public Library

"Know most of the rooms of thy native country before thou goest over the threshold thereof."

Now, if ever we should know something about New England, in this the year we celebrate the tercentenary of the landing of the Pilgrims. To get the most from traveling it is very necessary to have some knowledge of the history and customs of the places one visits. And in no place is this more necessary than in New England, where folklore and legend are so intimately mixed with history.

You may make a good beginning by reading "A History of the Pilgrims in New England," by the Rev. John Brown.

If folklore and legend appeal to you be sure to take out "A Book of New England Folklore and Legend," by Samuel Adams Drake, a pleasant way to acquire knowledge about the early history of this country. "Social Life in Old New England" is a treasure house of facts about "ye olden time." It is a finely illustrated volume. "The Sabbath in Puritan New England," by Alice Morse Earle, is another book that is worthwhile.

"Old Paths and Legends of New England," by Katharine M. Abbott, is a beautifully illustrated work, one of the best on this subject. "Nooks and Corners of the New England Coast," by Samuel Adams Drake, published some forty-five years ago, is worth taking out if for no other reason than to look over its quaint illustrations.

In "Longfellow's Country," Helen A. Clark tells you much about the places that are closely associated with some of the poet's best work.

From "Old Seaport Towns in New England" you may learn much that is worth knowing about Portland, Portsmouth, Newburyport, Salem, Gloucester, Marblehead, Plymouth and other seaport towns.

"Historic Summer Haunts from Newport to Portland," by F. Lauriston Bullard, is a book that will well repay the time spent in reading it.

One of the new books is "A Loiterer in New England," by Helen W. Henderson. It has many fine illustrations. You will find it both pleasant and profitable to "loiter" in New England with Miss Henderson as guide.

If you want to find out more about one great highway of travel take out "Across the Continent by the Lincoln Highway," by Effie P. Gladding. Through vivid description and good illustrations you are made acquainted with this great throughfare from east to west. Another popular book of travel is "Abroad at Home," by Julian Street.

A recent addition to the library is "What to See in America," by Clifton Johnson, writer of many books of travel. We have at the library by this author the following works: "Along French Byways," "Among English Hedgerows," "Highways and Byways of New England," "Highways and Byways of the Great Lakes," "Highways and Byways of the Pacific Coast," "Highways and Byways of the South" and "New England and Its Neighbors."

Harry Alverson Franck wrote several good books of travel: "Tramping through Mexico, Guatemala and Honduras," "Zone Policeman 88, A Study of the Panama Canal," "Four Months Afoot in Spain," "A Vagabond Journey Around the World" and "Vagabonding Down the Andes."

"Touring Great Britain," by Robert Shakleton, is good; also "From Job to Job Around the World," by Alfred C. B. Fletcher. Travel literature is very abundant at the library, the ones mentioned being but a few of our books of travel.

In next week's list you will find books both new and old.

Miss Hortense Mahoney met with a thrilling experience yesterday morning. She endeavored to board the 8 o'clock Boston train after it had started to pull out from the station, and losing her grip on the hand rail was thrown to the ground beside the rails. The young lady, however, with a coolness rarely observed in an older person, kept her head, and lay perfectly still while several cars went by in such close proximity that she could feel the car steps brush the brim of her hat. Horrified bystanders, after the passing of the train, assisted the young lady to her feet and she later returned to her home none the worse for her harrowing experience, aside from a shaking up.

MANCHESTER

Mrs. Ernest Mead, of Wellesley Hills was down for a short visit this week.

Mrs. Burton Pelton has occupied the tenement at 23 Bridge st. recently vacated by Fred Forward.

The annual Cradle Roll reception will be held at the Congl. chapel, Thursday afternoon, May 20, at 4 o'clock.

Miss Helen Morley returned the first of the week to her nursing duties at the Long Island hospital in Boston harbor.

The W. R. C. will hold a "covered dish" supper, for members only, next Thursday evening. Every member is urged to come.

The Culbert house on Brook st. has been sold the past week to Frank W. Bell, through the real estate agency of W. J. Johnson. Charles E. Bell and family will occupy one of the tenements.

Miss Olive Jeness was called home from her teaching duties in the Priest school the first of the week by the death of her father. During her absence Mrs. Frank Floyd has been substituting.

The Standley Garage has recently had erected on their Beach st. property, adjoining the garage, a small building suitable for office room and for the proper display of automobile accessories. It is of the movable building type.

At the regular meeting Thursday evening of Magnolia lodge, Theodore C. Rowe gave a very interesting talk on reminiscences connected with the local lodge. Mr. Rowe has been a member of Magnolia lodge since 1871, joining two years after it was instituted. He had many anecdotes and sidelights to shed on the organization, and his talk was very well received.

This year's graduating class at the Story High school is the largest in the history of the school, so far as we can learn. There will be 20 graduates—11 girls and 9 boys, many of whom intend to pursue higher courses of education. Three days will be devoted to commencement this year:—Wednesday, June 16, will be Class Day, on the green at the school; Thursday, the 17th, will be graduation, in Town hall, and Friday, the 18th, the graduation reception will be held in Horticultural hall. An interior decorator has been engaged by the class to look after the decorations for the reception.

HIGH SCHOOL NOTES

MANCHESTER

The Senior class is planning to hold a Poverty Party in the Price school hall this evening (Friday). The members of the S. H. S., the ninth-grade and the alumni are invited to attend.

The next issue of the Triton will be on sale during the latter part of this month. Those who wish copies will please forward their names to either the High school teachers or the students.

PARENT-TEACHER MEETING

The last meeting of the season for the Manchester Parent-Teacher association will be held next Wednesday evening, May 19, in Price school hall at 8 o'clock. Burr F. Jones, of the Massachusetts Department of Education, is to speak on the new outlook for education.

Miss Emily Ferriera is to be the soloist and the usual social hour will follow. As this is the annual meeting, election of officers and other important matters will be included in the business part of the program.

MUSICAL PROGRAM AND FARCE GIVEN AT BAPTIST CHURCH

"Joint Heirs in Spain" was the title of a farce presented at the vestry of the Baptist church, Manchester, Monday evening, by ladies of the society for the benefit of the organ fund. The cast included Miss Nellie Leonard, president of the "board;" Mrs. George Younger, Mrs. Joseph McNeil, Mrs. Wm. Follett, Mrs. Alice Preston, Mrs. Ellery Rogers, members of the "board;" Mrs. Charlotte Brown as Mrs. Dyer, and Mrs. Isabelle Stedstone as Mrs. Blair, the two elderly women at the Old Ladies' Home.

The play was well presented, each lady filling her part in a creditable manner. The several humorous hits and jokes were well received by a large attendance. The solo singing by Mrs. Charlotte Brown, who is 78 years of age, was a pleasing feature.

G. Allyn Brown and a mixed quartet from Gloucester were present and furnished a portion of the program. The quartet included Miss Pauline Harvey, soprano; Miss Bernice Stanley, alto; Owen Lowe, tenor, and Roland Decker, bass. Piano solos by Mr.

Brown, and selections individually and collectively by the members of the quartet were given most entertainingly.

Mrs. Amanda Reed's Sunday school class was in charge of the affair. Home-made candy was on sale and a generous sum was realized as proceeds.

MANCHESTER CHURCHES

Congregational church, Rev. Frederick W. Manning, pastor: Sunday morning service at 10.45 o'clock, to which a cordial invitation is extended the public to attend. The pastor will preach a sermon from the subject: "Work."

The Ladies' Social circle will have a covered dish supper in the Congl. chapel, next Wednesday evening at 6 o'clock. A short business meeting will follow.

Baptist church, Rev. H. E. Levoy, pastor. Sunday morning at 10.45 o'clock there will be a sermon by the pastor. Sunday evening at 7.30 o'clock C. F. Tompkins, of Salem, will again occupy the pulpit. Mr. Tompkins has preached in Manchester the past two weeks. His addresses are forcible and presented in an emphatic manner. Come and hear him preach next Sunday night. A mixed quartet, from Salem, will sing.

Next Sunday, May 16, will be observed as "Mobilization Sunday of the Interchurch World Movement." Let each one try to bring a friend with him to the services next Sunday.

The World Wide Guild will meet on Monday, May 17, at 7.30 o'clock, at the parsonage. Topic, "Africa." All girls over 13 are invited to attend.

The Christian Endeavor will hold an entertainment in the Baptist vestry, Thursday evening, May 20. Corn balls for sale. Come and bring a friend. A small admission fee will be charged.

UPPER CLASSMEN ENJOY MAY FROLICS AT MT. HOLYOKE

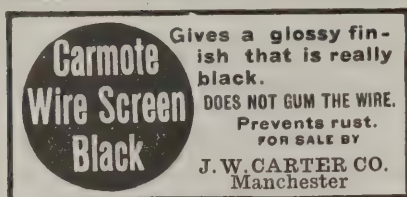

The dignity of upper classmen at Mt. Holyoke college was thrown to the winds on Wednesday, May 12, when the Seniors and Juniors appeared jumping ropes and spinning tops. One day is set aside for a May frolic, when only a Senior can jump rope and none but a Junior may spin a top.

Promptly at four o'clock the Seniors appeared on the steps of Skinner hall, which are known as the "Senior steps." They wore their dignified caps and gowns, but each carried a short blue jump-rope, in keeping with the class color. Using the ropes as a basis, the Seniors made various formations, to the accompaniment of appropriate and catchy songs.

A few moments later the Juniors took their places on the steps. They wore old-fashioned hoop-skirts and fichus made of green crepe paper, their class color, and carried their tops in little bags hung on their wrists. About 200 girls took part in this exercise, forming a quaint and pretty picture as they sang their top spinning songs.

Miss Nina E. Sinnicks, of Manchester, is a member of the Senior class at Mt. Holyoke.

RIGHT AT YOUR DOOR

A maximum salary of $1200 after 10 years' service for those who qualify, a wage scale unchanged since 1908, except for a slight bonus to some—such is the pitiful plight of the mail man. And after more than a year's patience while a Congressional commission investigated, the postal employees are now informed that remedial action in the present session appears improbable.

No service touches the people like the Postoffice. Each weekday a representative of that great agency visits every home and office in the land. It is mighty important that the service is maintained with high morale and efficiency. But on a basis of business alone, the case of the mail man has its strongest appeal. He is a skilled workman. It is estimated that if 100 men were withdrawn from the Boston office distributing room the service could not be restored in six months. Most of the present employees entered the service as picked men on examination. Now it is impossible to get men to take the jobs, and in some cities, like Detroit, there are 200 vacancies on the force. When the applicant is told the hours and the pay he turns away with some exclamation.

The mail man has a hard and big job. In 10 years' service, he has walked around the earth in all kinds of weather. The government gives him no sick benefits or pension. He has no opportunities for advancement. On this point alone he has a grievance. The Postoffice should be democratized, with the highest positions opened to the man who starts at the bottom.

The Postoffice department has shown profits during the year. But they have been made, it would seem, at the expense of the faithful and loyal workers, whose spirit for "the service" has been something almost sacred. The mail man never strikes. He relies for relief on the sense of justice of the American people.—Boston Globe.

THEY SOFTLY WALK

THEY are not gone who pass
Beyond the clasp of hand,
Out from the strong embrace;
They are but come so close
We need not grope with hands,
Nor look to see, nor try
To catch the sound of feet,
They have put off their shoes
To softly walk by day
Within our thought, to tread
At night our dream-led paths
Of sleep.

They are not lost who find
The sunset gate, the goal
Of all the weary years.
Not lost are they who reach
The summit of their climb,
The peak above the clouds
And storms. They are not lost
Who find the light of sun
And stars and God.

They are not dead who live
In hearts they leave behind.
In those whom they have blessed
They live a life again,
And shall live through the years
Eternal life, and grow
Each day more beautiful,
As time declares their good,
Forgets the rest, and proves
Their immortality.

ONLY A PIKER

"I'll bet a dollar if I should ask you to marry me, you'd refuse," ventured Gussie, trying to inject a little more spirit into the conversation.

"My, but you're a cheap one," said the girl.

"W-w-w-why?" stammered Gussie.

"Because you won't bet more than a dollar on a sure thing."—Stray Stories.

MANCHESTER

Mrs. George L. Knight has returned to her School st. home this week.

John L. Prest is taking his annual vacation from his duties as letter carrier at the postoffice.

DO NOT SELL YOUR LIBERTY BONDS,
THEY ARE VALUABLE

Not only is it the patriotic duty of everyone who purchased Liberty bonds during the war to hold them, but it is sound business judgment also in view of the prevailing low prices for the bonds and notes in the stock market, according to John R. Macomber, president of the Boston Chamber of Commerce and president of Harris, Forbes & Company, the well-known bond house. So long as the United States exists as a nation it will make good on all of its debts. Such being the case, the sale of the bonds at several dollars below par is most unwise.

People who purchased the bonds during the war pledged themselves to support the government—and their obligations in this respect did not end with the signing of the armistice. They will continue to receive interest regularly on the coupons and in due time may collect the principal. Thus financial interest and patriotic duty run along together.

Some of the large corporations and individuals who purchased heavily, more so than they could afford at the time, merely to help float the loans, perhaps have the right to sell and take the losses they sustain as a part of their contribution toward the winning of the war.

"The first question that I ask of any new customer with a small account," said Mr. Macomber, "is: 'Have you the full allowance for exemption on Liberty bonds?' If he says 'No,' then I tell him that they are the best possible investment, even better than the best offerings we have in private enterprises all over this country. The government bonds, for such a holder, are free of all taxes forever. Savings banks are picking them up in the market because they know what wonderful buys they are at current prices in the market."

Arthur Katon, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Katon, of Forest st., and Miss Gertrude Fisher Hill of Desmond ave., both of Manchester, were united in marriage by the Rev. Herbert E. Le-voy, pastor of the Baptist church, at the Baptist parsonage Sunday evening. The single ring service was used. The bride was attended by her sister, Mrs. William Lockyer, and James Silver was best man. Mr. and Mrs. Katon will make their home in Manchester, where Mr. Katon is employed at the Essex County club.

PLANS FOR A BALL TEAM IN MAN- CHESTER—TAG DAY, MAY 22

At the adjourned meeting of the baseball association held last Monday evening the subject of a baseball team for the coming season was gone over in a more or less thorough manner.

The subscription papers which have been put out a few days previous had been rather generously patronized, there being upward of $300 sub-scribed, but the members felt far from satisfied with that amount to start the season with, and as an added stimu-lant to the interest necessary to back and finance a team it was proposed and so voted that the town be divided into districts, a suitable committee ap-pointed, and a canvass made of each district to obtain financial backing to go through the season. This plan has been carried out during the week and a report will be made next Monday evening on the progress made.

It was also voted to have a tag day next Saturday, May 22, for the bene-fit of the association. A bevy of young ladies will sell tags all day long

POLITICAL STRAWS

Leonard Wood continues to gain as the popular choice of the people for the Republican Presidential nomina-tion according to the fourth install-ment of the Literary Digest's nation-wide poll figures. Wood leads with a total of 136,182 votes. Johnson is second with 118,016; Hoover third with 113,998; Lowden fourth with 59,352; Hughes fifth with 27,919; Harding sixth with 23,753; Taft sev-enth with 16,448, and Coolidge last with 15,247 votes. Wood gained 55,-000 votes since the last poll to a gain of 7,000 by Coolidge, and Wood is also first by many thousands as sec-ond choice. Of his total, Wood has the votes of 107,000 Republicans and they are the ones whose will must be followed at the National Convention. Hoover has 44,000 Democrats in his total.

The New York World evidently be-lieves that Hoover was given his "knockout" in the California prima-ries, for the newspaper threw him in-to the discard last week and the World was one of the first publica-tions to clamor for Hoover's nomina-tion.

General Wood touched a responsive cord in the hearts of millions when he said in a speech at New York on May 7: "The cost of living is going up. The people are keenly interested in finding who is keeping us out of po-tatoes, sugar and other necessities. It is evident, I think, that prices are be-ing juggled." He also said that laws to curb profiteering are either ineffec-tive or they are not being enforced.

Sub-Editor: "A correspondent wishes to know why they whitewash the inside of a hen-house."

Editor: "Tell him it's to keep the hens from picking the grain out of the wood."—Boston Transcript.

EXHIBITION OF MILLINERY

BY MEMBERS OF HOME ECONOMICS CLUB, AT MANCHESTER FOOD CENTRE

Very interesting was the exhibition of millinery given by the millinery classes at the Manchester Food Centre, on Monday afternoon and evening. The hats were smart and well made. Not all the hats that were made during the seven lessons given were exhibited, however. There are about forty-two members in the millinery classes, each of whom has made two hats.

A few of the garments that were made during the winter by the Manchester Junior extension of the Massachusetts Home Economics club were also exhibited, as was the prize bread made by the children of the club. Miss Mary Mulvey won first prize for the first year bread, and first prize for bread and muffins for the second year was won by Miss Gertrude Stoops.

The motto of the club was proudly pointed out. It ran:

Good, Better, Best.Never let it rest.Till your Good is Better,And your Better Best.

—and the work of the members shows that they have lived up to their motto.

Near the motto was hung the record of the members for the winter. It read: Household tasks 2339½ hours, loaves of bread 258, garments 40.

Results show that a great deal of credit is due Miss Parker for her skill in carrying on the different branches of the work done at the Food Centre.

APPLIES FOR GARAGE PERMIT—OTHER LICENSES

John L. Silva, of Manchester, has applied for a permit to build a garage on his premises off Morse ct. There will be a public hearing on this petition Tuesday evening at 8 o'clock in the Selectmen's room, Town hall.

At the meeting of the Selectmen held Tuesday of this week John Connors was granted hackney licenses. The Board of Health granted a garbage license to Augustus Ferriera.

TWO MANCHESTER BOYS IN AUTO-MOBILE ACCIDENT

Two Manchester boys, Edward Morley of Norwood ave., and John Flatley, of 31 Vine st., had a narrow escape on Sunday afternoon from a serious accident at Pride's Crossing, when an automobile driven and owned by Joseph Rivers, of Fair st., Gloucester, crashed through the railroad gates, knocking the Morley boy down and throwing the Flatley boy under the gates. Neither received serious injuries, although it was thought at first that the Morley boy's leg was broken.

The automobile brakes failed to work, it is said, and the car crashed the gate on the Beverly Farms side of the crossing into kindling wood. However, the impact brought the auto to a standstill and perhaps prevented it from going on the tracks in front of an approaching train.

The boys were on bicycles and had held up in front of the gates which had just been lowered. They were taken to their homes by automobile.

MANCHESTER

Mrs. Brion J. Manion, who is again ill with pneumonia, is reported as slightly improved at this writing.

Power Fraser has returned from the Beverly hospital, where he has been receiving treatment the past few weeks.

Mothers' Day was observed in town last Sunday with a display of the American flag, appropriate sermons in the churches, and the wearing of flowers and ribbons.

The weather of Sunday was ideal for autoing, and all day and evening there were cars passing along our streets. Singing Beach was also popular with pedestrians.

Next Monday evening, May 17, Frank B. Amaral post, A. L., will hold a social dance at the Manchester Town hall. This is the third of the series of ten dances to be given this season.

Miss Eva G. Ellis is recovering from an attack of acute rheumatism. Miss Ellis has resigned her position with the F. P. Wonson garage, Gloucester, and has accepted a position as bookkeeper with F. H. Van Blarcom, Inc., automobile sales and service, at their new office in Salem.

Through the office of George E. Willmorton the partnership formerly existing under the title of Thompson & Frederick and doing business as the Manchester Ice Co. has been dissolved. It is understood that Edward Thompson has purchased his former partner's interest in the business and that it will be continued under Mr. Thompson's management.

PLANS FOR MEMORIAL DAY OBSERVANCE IN MANCHESTER

Memorial Day will be appropriately observed in Manchester in charge of Allen post, 67, G. A. R. Plans are well under way for the program, which will include an observance similar to former years.

Major Justin Hannigan, of Beverly, has been engaged as the speaker of the day. Clark's military band, of Gloucester, will furnish music for the parade. The Shubert quartet, of Boston, will sing at the exercises to be held in the Town hall in the evening.

ODD FELLOWS ENTERTAINMENT TO BE GIVEN THIS EVENING

"Turn to the Right" is the title of the play to be given this Friday evening at Town hall, Manchester, as a monolog by Edwin M. Whitney. Arthur Bayley, of Danvers, bass soloist, will furnish a part of the evening's program.

The entertainment is under the auspices of Magnolia lodge, and the committee in charge promise all who

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Wilkinson have recently moved into the smaller of the A. M. Lycett houses, on Magnolia ave.

Loring Cook and family arrived here the first of the week and will occupy the Brown bungalow on Norman ave., this summer.

Services will be held in the Village church Sunday at 10.45 a. m. Dr. Eaton will preach. Sunday school meets at 11.45 a. m.

Edna G. Symonds will leave for New York city next Monday for a two weeks' vacation. She will visit with friends in the city.

Mr. and Mrs. Winslow F. Story have returned to Magnolia after an absence of some years. They are living in their house on Magnolia ave.

Mrs. Alice Foster is a substitute teacher in the Blynman school this week, taking the place of Miss Babson, who is ill at home in Gloucester.

Mr. and Mrs. John Lycett, who lived in the Brown bungalow during the winter, are now pleasantly located for the time being in the "Ben Butler" bungalow.

Henry Dolan, of Boston, was here Monday and called on old friends in the village. Mr. and Mrs. Dolan will occupy a part of the Frank H. Davis place, as usual, the coming season.

The party given by Mrs. D. C. Ballou Tuesday evening at the Women's clubhouse for the benefit of the Braewood hospital, was largely attended. It was a financial and social success. Quite a large number of people came from Gloucester.

CEMETERY IMPROVEMENTS

Some time ago we called our mayor's attention to the "shameful and disgraceful" condition of our cemetery and, with his usual courtesy, he assured us that he would attend to the matter. This he has done. The work of cleaning up in the cemetery began Wednesday morning.

Now let us hope that the good work may go on until not only the rubbish is carted away and the walks improved, but also the gates, that are rotting on the ground, repaired and hung on their hinges, and the front fence painted.

If it is true, as we have been told by one of our city officials, that the Magnolia cemetery is the one piece of property that really pays the city of Gloucester, then surely it should never again be in the condition that it has been for a very long time. We hope, therefore, that before Memorial Day the work already begun may be finished, and finished as suggested above.

OTHER IMPROVEMENTS SUGGESTED

Cannot something be done to improve the looks of the park in front of Foster's Drug store? What an eyesore is that old broken-down drinking fountain! And that shanty, half-destroyed by fire, still standing across the road from the unsightly park! Those are the objects that first greet the eye in coming into Magnolia from Raymond st.

"Magnolia, the beautiful." Yes, in spots. Summer is upon us. Summer guests will soon be here. Before they arrive we hope our city fathers remove some of these unsightly spots.

AMERICAN FLAG PRESENTED TO M. J. CADIGAN POST, A. L.

Some time ago Preston W. R. corps conceived the idea that the M. J. Cadigan post, A. L., should have a flag. To this end public affairs were held for funds and a handsome silk American flag and staff, together with streamers, was purchased. The red streamer bears the name of the Legion and the blue, 3 gold stars in honor of the Beverly Farms boys, Capt. Nathaniel S. Simpkins, Jr., Michael J. Cadigan and Frank Kelliher, who paid the supreme sacrifice.

Appropriate exercises in presenting this beautiful banner to the M. J. Cadigan post, A. L., were held last evening in Neighbor's hall in the presence of a large audience, and were under the direction of the Preston W. R. corps. The flag was presented by Commander George H. Wyatt, of Preston post, 188, G. A. R., and Mrs. Howard E. Morgan, president of Preston W. R. corps. It was received on behalf of the M. J. Cadigan post by Capt. Gregory P. Connolly, 2d, post commander, each of the above making a short address appropriate to the occasion.

Then followed a program which was patriotic and very interesting, including an address by Mrs. Lou Stuart Wadsworth, post department president of the W. R. C.; solos by Roy Patch, tenor; remarks by prominent Beverly Farms citizens interspersed by musical and vocal selections.

The flag presented is indeed very beautiful, is of regulation size, with golden fringe and all the required equipment including a stand, belt and holder. The boys of the American Legion are very proud of their gift, and justly so.

To the flag committee of Preston W. R. corps—Mrs. Edmund L. Knowlton, chairman, Mrs. Elmer Standley, Mrs. Nicholas Lawlor, Mrs. George F. Wood and Mrs. Lawrence J. Watson—is due special credit for their labors which made the affair a success.

YOU PLANTED THEM

"I'll give you $5 a day, spot cash," said the farmer to the tramp, who had stopped to beg a meal, "if you'll help me dig potatoes. We'll begin right now," he pointed to the big field, "because I'm afraid the frost will get them."

"No," yawned the tramp. "You better dig 'em. You planted 'em, and you know just where they are."—Everybody's.

BEVERLY FARMS

The street department has treated a number of streets at Beverly Farms to a coat of road oil and sand the past week.

Mr. and Mrs. Luther S. Pearson, of Gardiner, Me., have been among the visitors at Beverly Farms the past week.

John Daniels, of Cambridge, a former well-known Beverly Farms business man, has accepted a position for the summer at Brewer's market.

Mrs. Grace Bresnahan and Miss Helen Pierce, formerly with the Daniel Low Co., at Salem, have recently accepted good positions in the Chandler & Co. store, Boston.

Parents' night was observed at the Beverly Farms school Wednesday evening and was attended by a large number of the parents of the school children. They were somewhat surprised and much interested in the good work and progress made. The program was a review of the regular work that is being carried on.

Commencing May 1, the closing time of Peter Gaudreau's barber shop, opposite postoffice, on Saturday evenings, will be at 9 instead of 9.30, this change being in accordance with the rules of the Salem local No. 385, Barbers' Union. On other days the closing hour will be 8 p. m., Mondays at 12 noon. adv.

Capt. Augustus P. Loring, Jr., until recently commander of Co. F, 15th Regiment, State Guard, was pleasantly surprised last Tuesday evening when in attendance at the reunion at Atlantic hall, Beverly, he was presented by the members with a handsome library chair. A banquet and entertainment helped to make the occasion a most enjoyable one.

The rector, wardens and vestrymen of St. John's church, Beverly Farms, cordially invite the members of the local patriotic orders to a memorial service in St. John's church, on Sunday, May 23, at 4 p. m. Col. Robert E. Goodwin, commander of the 101st Field Artillery, and a friend of the late Capt. Nathaniel S. Simpkins, Jr., will deliver the address.

A committee consisting of members of Preston W. R. corps, Sons of Veterans and the American Legion has been named to make a canvass for flowers for use at Beverly Farms on Memorial Day. As the backward season will have the result of producing little or no out-of-door flowers, the success of Memorial Day this year will depend more than in previous years upon the generosity of those who have greenhouses.

NOTES OF ST. JOHN'S CHURCH, BEVERLY FARMS

The rector, wardens and vestrymen of St. John's have invited the local patriotic societies to attend a memorial service in the church to be held on Sunday, May 23, at 4 p. m. The officers and members of Preston post, 188, G. A. R., Preston Woman's Relief corps, 93, Andrew Standley camp, 117, Sons of Veterans, the Spanish War Veterans, M. J. Cadigan post, A. L., Engine Co., No. 3, and Hook and Ladder Co., No. 2, are the orders invited. Col. Robert E. Goodwin, commander of the 101st Field Artillery, and a friend of the late Capt. N. S. Simpkins, Jr., will deliver the address.

St. John's was asked by the National Wide Campaign commission and the "Church's Call" committee to give $3,331.20 as its share in the sum of $400,000 which the diocese is planning to contribute to the forward movement of the campaign. At this time of year, when our summer parishioners are absent, it seemed an impossible task, but by the generous response of so large a proportion of our congregation the full amount was contributed.

The Sunday evening service is now omitted until next fall. Commencing the first Sunday in June there will be a celebration of the Holy Communion every Sunday at 8 a. m., and the hour of the morning service will be changed from 11 a. m. to 10.30 a. m.

The three "war gardens" at the back of the church will be planted again this year by three members of the congregation.

The Bible classes for children will be resumed this summer about the first of July.

Mr. and Mrs. William D. Henderson, of North Adams, have spent the past week at Beverly Farms visiting friends.

The ball team representing the Beverly Farms school in the grammar school league is playing good ball and making the other teams hustle.

The local American Legion ball team will probably play a game on Saturday afternoon, May 29, with the strong Imperials, of Danvers.

Mrs. John E. Lee, who has made her home with her daughter, Mrs. Elmer Standley, West st., for a number of years past, is reported to be seriously ill. She is 83 years old.

Forrester H. Pierce, of Melrose, a former well-known Beverly Farms resident, has been in town the past week. He is assisting his brother, Wilbur J. Pierce, for a season.

Capt. Willard B. Publicover has been named as one of the committee to make plans for the entertainment of the Beverly service men who were in the service, or away from home, on the Fourth of July last year when the big welcome home program was given. It is estimated that the number is about 250.

The newly formed ball team of members of the M. J. Cadigan post, A. L., will play their first game at the Beverly Farms playgrounds tomorrow—Saturday afternoon. Their opponents will be the Centerville A. C. The following week, on Saturday afternoon, the local team is to play the American Legion team of Ipswich.

Beverly Farms people are sincerely sorry to hear of the continued illness of James B. Dow, school committee man, who has been confined to his home on Hale st. for some time.

The large wooden stable on the Charles H. Tweed estate is being torn down. This building, in former days, housed some of the best driving horses on the North Shore and was one of the largest stables in the vicinity.

"The League of Nations" was the title of an entertainment "for women only" given in G. A. R. hall last Monday evening. It attracted a large audience of the feminine sex. The affair was under the auspices of Preston W. R. corps, planned and arranged by Miss Susie Bennett.

REPEATING ROCKET

MAY BE USED BY SCIENTISTS TO EXPLORE THE ETHER

A third dimension, an entirely new direction, has just been added to man's range of exploration. Now it is going to be possible to establish physical contact with whatever it may be that lies straight up, in the highest strata of earth's atmospheric ocean and beyond. Any radial line of the globe may become the pathway to new scientific records—a pathway continued as far as the investigator cares to pursue it. So powerful, indeed, is the new instrument of ascension that its projection to the very disk of the moon is declared within the limits of reasonable speculation, if anything were to be gained by so spectacular an effort.

However glibly students may speak of astronomical distances, actual human experience, so far, has practically been debarred from the vertical plane. The "farthest up" of physical attainment is a bare six miles, and that only for a brief and breathless period. The highest altitude ever explored, with an ingenious arrangement of recording instruments on a free balloon, does not exceed 24 miles—a mere commuter's morning jaunt. The upper reaches of the atmosphere remain today unexplored, actually less known than the deepest soundings of the seas. The science of meteorology, and all the other sciences that wait upon it, are limited to a mere film upon the earth's surface.

Whether or not the time will ever come when man can travel as far straight up as he may go horizontally in a day's journey is a question that has now become immaterial. All the facts a traveler in that strange direction could gather have become suddenly available. The instruments for recording these facts may be sent up to the very point where air dissolves in space. They may go even farther than that, farther than the influence of gravitation extends, if there were any way of getting them back.

Scientifically Designed Rocket

The instrument by which this wonder is to be accomplished is nothing more mysterious than a rocket; a rocket scientifically designed, of course, extraordinarily efficient mechanically, but still intimately related to the familiar paper cartridge that swishes its comet-like tail of sparks through the night air of Independence Day. Upon this simple mechanism Prof. Robert H. Goddard, of Clarke college, Worcester, has turned the engineering care that might be devoted to the design of a steam turbine.

To design so remarkable a machine is in itself a noteworthy accomplishment. But the really startling feature of the new rocket is still more ingenious. The perfected instrument will be a repeating rocket. It will contain a series of powder charges that will explode in relay, each ignited in turn just as the preceding charge is exhausted. Then the height which the whole machine can reach is found by simply adding the altitudes to which each charge will carry it from the point of the explosion.

Computation Is Not Guesswork

There is no guesswork about this computation. Figuring a fixed weight of one pound for the recording instruments carried, it is calculated that an initial weight of only 3.6 pounds, including rocket shell and charges, will lift the whole equipment to a height of practically 35 miles; 5.1 pounds would carry it up over 70 miles; 6.4 pounds, 115 miles; 9.8 pounds, over 230 miles and 12.3 pounds, nearly 438 miles.

* * * * *

As already seen in the hypothetical bombardment of the moon, the new apparatus lends itself to speculation. The inventor himself has mentioned, merely as a distant possibility, its use for taking photographs in space, employing light-sensitive cells to actuate the shutter. But there is little need to invent future uses for the equipment, for its power to familiarize science with atmospheric conditions, not only in the remote altitudes, but at all levels, high and low, is sufficiently important to place meteorology upon an entirely new footing.—Popular Mechanics Magazine.

A MAN'S JOB

A clergyman objected to wiping dishes for his wife, saying: "It's not a man's job." She quoted this Scripture to him: "I will wipe Jerusalem as a man wipeth a dish, wiping it and turning it upside down." He is still wiping the dishes.—Farm Journal.

SAVE MONEY ON MEAT

Here is a real thrift recipe for a tasty, nutritious dish prepared from less costly meat. It is issued by the Division of Women's Activities, Department of Justice. Use this recipe and save money on meat.

Beef Steak Pie

Chuck steak, cut in narrow strips
Bit of garlic
½ bay leaf
6 peppercorns
Sprig of parsley
4 halved potatoes
1 onion stuffed with 2 cloves
1 cup sliced carrots
1 cup celery cut in strips
Tie in square of cloth

Place steak in a kettle with boiling water to cover, and let it simmer for half an hour. Add seasoning in bag together with salt to the meat, and thicken the stock. Place the kettle on an asbestos mat to keep sauce from sticking. Some dried mushrooms soaked and drained improve the flavor. Simmer while making the pastry. Then remove the bag of seasoning. Put all in a baking dish with a rolled crust over the top and sides. Brush with milk and bake 40 minutes, covering it with heavy paper as soon as it is brown.

Stewed Beef Heart with Prunes

1 beef heart
1 cup pitted prunes
About ½ cup flour
1 teaspoon salt
1-4 teaspoon pepper

Pour boiling water over beef heart. Let stand for ten minutes. Trim off fat and arteries. Cut in pieces for stewing. Dredge with flour and brown in a little fat obtained by trying out fat which was cut off. Place in stew kettle and pour over it enough hot water to cover, add the prunes soaked and pitted, season with salt and pepper. Stew slowly till tender. Take care that it does not burn. Will serve eight people generously.

SERMON ON THE VALUE OF LIFE

Rev. F. W. Manning Delivers Address from a Timely Subject—Brief Review

At the Sunday morning service held in the Congl. church, Manchester, May 2, Rev. F. W. Manning, pastor, preached from the text found in John 10:10—"I am come that they might have life, and that they might have it more abundantly." The following extracts are taken from the sermon:

"Life is our greatest possession. It is the precious gift from God. One cannot spare gifts in exchange for life, for what shall a man get in exchange for his life?

"We may make life glorious or inglorious according as we seek to fulfill the end for which this gift is bestowed upon us.

"It is evident that the value of the gift depends upon the receiver. Life becomes a weary burden when not lived rightly, but when it is applied to its proper uses, the richer and truer it grows. Christ came to lighten the burden of life. Christ came to give men more life, spiritual life. There are many people today in the world who know little as to the meaning of Christ's religion. How many people think of Jesus coming into the world or think of church as simply a burden, something they would like to avoid and put away, possibly to the day of their death?

Makes Life More Abundant

"Jesus wished to be understood. Jesus did not come to add to the burden of life. He came to make the burden lighter and in order that it may be so, we must, of course, have that spirit of heroism and self-denial that will enable us to wear the yoke that Jesus would have us wear, with the spirit of obedience. When one accepts the gift of life as God would have it used, Jesus makes it more abundant, richer and glorious.

"What is your life? What does it mean to you? As you ask yourself that question, your experience proves the truth of what I say. What your life is, at any time, depends upon the ideals that are shaping it. If you have no ideals you are living a low, inglorious life; but people following the highest Christian ideals find that life means God, and it is to them a glorious possession. Life does not depend upon health or wealth, although both may be used to make life glorious when they are servants and not our masters.

"Experience has proved from generation to generation that quality is determined by a person's ideal. If it is a self-centered ideal, that life is self-centered. It may be successful from some points of view, as many reckon success, but a glorious life seems to be centered about God, the Author of life. If we will think of that life Jesus lived, we shall realize how to be qualified to speak upon life. Did not He know what He was in the world for? Did not He know what His religion was to do? Are not those who have the truth that Jesus taught those who know the truth, and love the truth? Are not they free from the burdens that others must carry who do not know the truth? The freer that person is now, the freer his life now, and the more glorious his life is!

A Mission for Every Disciple

"Our lives are capable of improvement, and increase of glories. How glorious the life of Jesus was, who said He came into the world that His followers might have life and have it more abundantly. How glorious was the life and death of Jesus, for it was the perfect embodiment of truth. Eternal emancipation, freedom-giving truth, Jesus knew, loved and obeyed and embodied in his very own life! How He broke the barriers that had been hemming in the children of men, and His words, spirit of truth and life, are going out into the world. Where Christianity goes, superstition and bondage depart. Think of human slavery. Slavery is not the way for man to deal with man. When the word of Jesus gets into the life you won't find any 'profiteering.' You won't find power used in a tyrannical way. When the laborers and capitalists accept the words of Jesus they will get together and ask: 'What is the golden rule?' Then we'll see that they are friends, each helping the other, and that brains are worthy of a reward in the industrial world just as truly as muscle. And that's what is not being taught today by agitators as we read how men are trying to stir up class-hatred and dissatisfaction. We realize we must seek a solution of our problems and that labor on one hand and capital on the other, cannot live side by side as enemies. The Christian church must carry on its mission in the world, and must strive to that glorious life, if we are to help and save the world. There's a mission for every disciple.

"Christ came that His people might know the truth, that they might be free and have a glorious life and that He might give life increasing in glories. A sacred burden is life. Look on it, love it, bear it solemnly, but stand up and walk in it steadfastly."

THE EVERLASTING QUESTION

Put one hundred men on an island where fish is a staple article of sustenance. Twenty-five cook the fish. Twenty-five hunt fruit and vegetables. The entire company eat what thus is gathered and prepared.

Ten of the allotted fish catchers stop catching fish.

Ten more dry and hide part of the fish they catch.

Five continue to catch fish, but work only part of the day at it.

Fewer fish go into the community kitchen.

But the same number of men insist upon having the same amount of fish to eat as they had before.

The fifty men who formerly cleaned and cooked the fish have less to do, owing to the undersupply of fish. But they continue to demand food.

Gradually greater burdens are laid upon the fruit and vegetable hunters. These insist upon a larger share of the fish in return for their large efforts in gathering fruits and vegetables. It is denied them and soon twenty of the twenty-five quit gathering fruit and vegetables.

But the entire one hundred men continue to insist upon their right to eat.

The daily food supply gradually shrinks. The man with two fish demands three bananas in exchange for one of them. The man with two bananas refuses to part with one for fewer than three fish.

Finally the ten men remaining at work quit in disgust. Everybody continues to eat. The hidden fish are brought to light and consumed. Comes a day when there is no food of any kind. Everybody on the island blames everybody else.

What would seem to be the solution? Exactly! We thought you would guess it.

For we repeat that you can't eat, buy, sell, steal, give away, hoard, wear, use, play with, or gamble with what isn't.—Editorial from Chicago Herald and Examiner.

with the single exception of human life, none created such widespread criticism as her deliberate destruction of the trees in the occupied portions of France. The demolition of factories, the wrecking of dwellings—not even the deliberate attempt to destroy the very life of those nations opposed to her called forth the world's disapproval as did her malicious destruction of the trees of France. Factories and dwellings can be quickly rebuilt and the life of a nation is enduring, but not in a hundred years can the destroyed trees be replaced. All other tangible evidences of the great war will have disappeared long before newly planted trees will have reached the development of those of five years ago. France loves her trees. It is said that the French peasant plants his trees before he builds his humble dwelling, and for hundreds of years the story of the deliberate destruction of the trees of France will plague the German people. Germany fully appreciated the economic value of these trees else she would not have destroyed them. She knew that without trees France would be handicapped agriculturally, commercially, economically, and socially.—A. M. JOHNSON.

Old customs are all very well in their way, but there

IN Sarah Orne Jewett's "Betty Leicester" do you recall the story of the old minister of Tideshead who had been much loved, and whose influence lived long?

"Every year," Betty remembers, as she was one day astonished at the beauties of the trees in this New England village, "he had brought ten trees from the woods and planted them either on the streets or in his neighbors' yards; one year he chose one sort of tree and the next year another, and at last, when he grew older and could not go far afield in his search he asked his friends for fruit-trees and planted them for the benefit of wayfarers.

"These had made a delightful memorial of the good old man," the writer says, "but many of the trees had fallen by this time, and though everybody said that they ought to be replaced, and complained of such shiftless neglect, as usual what was everybody's business was nobody's business, and Tideshead looked as if it were sorry to be forgotten. Betty had been used to the thrifty English and French care of woodlands, and felt as if it were a great pity not to take better care of the precious legacy. Aunt Barbara sometimes sent Jonathan and Seth Pond to care for the trees that needed pruning or covering at the roots, but hardly anyone else in Tideshead did anything but chop them up and clear them away when they blew down."

When Betty made her observations she had been noticing the maples, oaks, ash-trees, willows, great elms, silver poplars, mountain ashes and fruit-trees in the village and along the roadsides leading to it.

In regard to architecture Betty was also observant. To her "it seemed very strange that all the old houses were so handsome and all the new ones so ugly. A stranger might wonder, why, with the good proportions, and even a touch of simple elegance that the house builders of the last century almost always gave, their successors seemed to have no idea of either, and to take no lessons from the good models before their eyes. 'Makeshifts o' splendor,' sensible old Serena called some of the new houses which had run much to cheap decoration and irregular roofs and fancy colors of paints. But the old minister's elms and willows hung their green boughs before some of these architectural failures as if to kindly screen them from the passersby. . . . People do not consider the becomingness of a building to its surroundings as they should."

are some of them that we of the new era might just as well kill and bury. Chief among these is the Christmas tree habit.

Why can't we celebrate the cheerful yuletide by going out into the woods and planting a young and tender evergreen, instead of cutting one down—or, worse still, cutting down a tall, symmetrical, wide branching monarch of the forest that has, for five or six decades, been growing up to beauty and perfection?

In Germany, where the Christmas tree originated, for every one cut down another sapling is put in its stead. But we Americans, with a wastefulness born of our rich natural heritage, year after year destroy our forests in a way to make our descendants curse us in the lean centuries to come. Perhaps those curses won't hurt us, but don't let's earn them.

Besides being a wanton extravagance, Christmas trees are a danger in a house, as any fire insurance company will tell you. In the writer's own experience one fluffy haired child was burned to death, while another, now grown to womanhood, bears an ineradicable scar on an otherwise perfect throat from dancing too near the candles on a family Christmas tree.

So, let the young evergreens grow to shelter birds and squirrels, spread their perfume in quiet woods and hold moisture in the soil. It isn't an Anglo-Saxon custom anyway.—MME. X in Chicago Tribune.

He who plants a tree
Plants a hope.
Rootlets up through fibers blindly grope;
Leaves unfold into horizons free.
So man's life must climb
From the clods of time
Unto heavens sublime.
Canst thou prophesy, thou little tree,
What the glory of thy boughs shall be?

He who plants a tree,
He plants love.
Tents of coolness spreading out above
Wayfarers he may not live to see.
Gifts that grow are best;
Hands that bless are blest.
Plant; Life does the rest!
Heaven and earth help him who plants a tree,
And his work its own reward shall be.
—Lucy Larcom.

Up with your heads, ye sylvan lords!
Wave proudly in the breeze;
For our cradle-bands and coffin-boards
Must come from the forest trees.
—Eliza Cook.

WHAT DO WE PLANT WHEN WE PLANT THE TREE?

What do we plant when we plant the tree?
We plant the ship which will cross the sea,
We plant the mast to carry the sails,
We plant the planks to withstand the gales—
The keel, the keelson, and beam and knee,
We plant the ship when we plant the tree.

What do we plant when we plant the tree?
We plant the houses for you and me.
We plant the rafters, the shingles, the floors,
We plant the studding, the lath, the doors,
The beams and siding, all parts that be,
We plant the house when we plant the tree.

What do we plant when we plant the tree?
A thousand things that we daily see.
We plant the spire that out-towers the crag,
We plant the staff for our country's flag,
We plant the shade from the hot sun free;
We plant all these when we plant the tree.

Pupil: "What, in your opinion, professor, is the most difficult mathematical problem?"

Professor (grimly): "Trying to make both ends meet, my dear sir."—Boston Transcript.

Swift & Company Does Not Control Its Raw Material

Other industries can buy their raw materials according to need or judgment, and set a selling price. They need manufacture only what they can sell at their price.

Cotton, wool, wheat, lumber, iron, steel, and other non-perishables, can be held either by their producers or their users until needed.

But live stock comes to market every day in fluctuating quantities from scattered sources, wholly uncontrolled and at times without regard to market needs.

An immediate outlet must be found for the perishable products, at whatever price, as only a very small proportion can be stored.

No one can foresee or stipulate what they shall bring; prices must fluctuate from day to day to insure keeping the market clear.

Only the most exacting care of every detail of distribution enables Swift & Company to make the small profit from all sources of a fraction of a cent per pound, necessary for it to continue to obtain capital and maintain operations.

THE MONROE DOCTRINE — JUST WHAT IT IS

Some of us may have forgotten what the Monroe Doctrine is. Some of us may never have read it. It was contained in President Monroe's message to Congress a little more than 96 years ago—Dec. 2, 1823, in the following words:

"In the discussion to which this interest has given rise, and in the arrangements by which they may terminate, the occasion has been deemed proper for asserting, as a principle of which rights and interests of the United States are involved, that the American continents, by the free and independent condition which they have assumed and maintain, are henceforth not to be considered as subjects for future colonization of any European power. We owe it, therefore, to candor and to the amicable relations existing between the United States and those powers to declare that we should consider any attempt on their part to extend their system to any portion of this hemisphere as dangerous to our peace and safety. With the existing colonies or dependencies of an European power we have not interfered and shall not interfere. But with the governments who have declared their independence and maintain it, and whose independence we have, on great consideration and on just principles, acknowledged, we could not view any interposition for the purpose of oppressing them or controlling in any other manner their destiny by any European power in any other light than as the manifestation of an unfriendly disposition toward the United States."

MAY--The Month of Happiness!

THE whole world comes to full life again, in the month of May. Flowers are in bloom ---birds are nesting---weddings are constantly being announced---new homes are being furnished.

People are planning for Vacation days in the Great out-doors. Summer homes are being put in order against the time when the children are out of school.

Busy days, too.

We're ready to be helpful,

Helpful with apparel for grown-ups,

Helpful with right clothes for the children,

Helpful with necessities for Homes---in town or country.

 PRIDE'S BEVERLY COVE

THE WEDDING last Saturday, in Weston, of Miss Virginia Wellington and Thomas Dudley Cabot, was of interest to North Shore folk, as the groom is a son of Mr. and Mrs. Godfrey Lowell Cabot, of Cambridge, who have a summer home in Beverly Farms. The bride is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Louis B. Wellington, of 13 Chestnut st., Boston, and "Gateways Farm," Weston. The wedding was in the First Parish church in Weston, the Rev. Palfrey Perkins, pastor of the church, officiating.

Miss Wellington is a graduate of Miss Winsor's school and a member of the 1917-1918 Sewing Circle and of the Vincent club. Mr. Cabot is a Harvard 1919 man and a veteran of the World war, having served as a lieutenant in the air service and as an instructor in aviation at Kelly Field, Texas.

The bride's attendants were her younger sister, Miss Linda Wellington, as maid of honor; an older sister, Mrs. Dudley P. Ranney, formerly Miss Margaret Wellington; Mrs. Robert Winsor, Jr., Mrs. Donald Moffat, Miss Katherine Billings, of Jamaica Plain, Miss Eleanor Brewer, of Brookline, and Miss Lydia L. Storer, of Boston. Alexander H. Bright, of Cambridge, was best man and the ushers were James J. Cabot and John M. Cabot, both of Cambridge; Ralph Bradley, Dudley P. Ranney, Henry Snow Hall, Jr., of Boston, Edmund Billings, Jr., of Jamaica Plain, and Jerome A. Johnson, of Cambridge. The organist of the church, Wm. Ellis Weston, played a special program. After the ceremony Mr. and Mrs. Wellington held a reception at "Gateways Farm" for the bridal couple. Mr. and Mrs. Cabot will reside in Spencer, W. Va.

Franklin T. Pfaelzer and family of 202 Beacon st., Boston, will move to Manchester for the summer the early part of June. They will occupy their newly acquired property on upper School st., quite close to the Essex County club.

Mrs. E. A. Whipple and her son, Geo. N. Whipple, of 469 Beacon st., Boston, and Geo. E. Noyes, Mrs. Whipple's brother, expect to open their cottage at West Manchester early in June for a long season, as usual.

Mr. and Mrs. John Hays Hammond, of 2301 Kalorama rd., Washington, D. C., plan to come on to their summer home, Lookout Hill, Gloucester, the first of June.

A wonderful collection of orchids greeted the visitors at Horticultural hall, Boston, last week. The exhibit was a "century of orchids," from "Orchidvale," the Beverly Farms estate of Albert C. Burrage, but more than a hundred plants in bloom were exhibited, some of them the finest ever seen in any orchid exhibition. The gems of the collection were two plants of Coelogyne pandurata from Borneo, one bearing four and the other five spikes of green and black flowers. Twenty years ago a plant of this species was shown in the hall and was considered wonderful, but it had only two spikes, and neither in this country nor in England has a plant of this kind been shown so fully flowered. Many other noted varieties were also shown including an Odontioda Jasper, a single plant of which has been sold in England for $2500. Many varieties are now in bloom which could not be shown at the orchid show held last March.

Mlle. Germaine Cossini, who is so favorably known on the North Shore and in Boston, is returning from Paris toward the end of June, and for the balance of the summer she will be as usual at School st., Manchester, ready to resume her French lessons. She is planning to give two series of her delightful conferences on the North Shore this summer.

THE ENGAGEMENT was announced last week, by Richards M. Bradley, of Beacon st., Boston, and Smith's Point, Manchester, of his daughter, Amy Owen Bradley, to Philip Hales Suter, son of the Rev. and Mrs. John W. Suter, of Chestnut st., Boston. Miss Bradley is a graduate of Miss Winsor's school, a member of the Vincent club and of the 1913 Sewing Circle. During the war she spent two years in France working for the American Fund for French Wounded, and later for the Y. M. C. A. Mr. Suter, who is a Harvard 1912 man, was at the Plattsburg camp, but was rejected for the army on account of defective eyesight. He went overseas and was in the ambulance service, section 13, later the American field service, until the close of the war.

EXPLAINING POSTAL SERVICE CONDITIONS

FLYING SQUADRON NOW TOURING NEW ENGLAND

What are termed "deplorable conditions" now existing in the postal service of this country are being explained in detail to the business men and residents of New England by a "flying squadron" of speakers selected from the 4700 Boston employees of the Postoffice Department.

The plan of sending out the speakers originated with the joint postal wage committee and meets with the approval of the postoffice officials in Boston, according to John A. Kelley, secretary of the committee.

"Five-Minute Men" have already told their stories in Rhode Island and Connecticut. This week they began their tour in this state, with stops at Springfield and Holyoke.

New Hampshire and Vermont and Maine will be visited and the campaign will end with a series of talks in Metropolitan Boston.

The speakers are Charles L. Hammond, supervising force; John A. Kelley, president of Local 100, Clerks' Federation; James Danehy, Carriers' Federation, and John D. Murphy, fifth vice-president of the Clerks' National Federation.

These speakers explain the conditions existing and attempt to arouse the people to demand that Congress act to relieve the situation.

The speakers say that the unrest,

WE NEED THE OPEN SHOP

By Stephen C. Mason, President
Association of Manufacturers

THE only truly American standard is the open shop, with equal opportunity for all. I believe every good citizen will agree with us that the time has arrived when organized labor in the United States had better take stock of its policies and practices from a thoroughly American standpoint. The American people are no longer going to accept lip service from those organizations which are leading the nation to the brink of the most serious economic and social crisis in our history. Oft-repeated declarations of Americanism and frequent disclaimers of Bolshevistic beliefs are not sufficient to conceal their constant efforts to stimulate unsound and dangerous industrial theories.

inefficiency and low morale prevalent in the postal service can be remedied. It is claimed that unless the necessary steps are taken immediately no action will be possible for a year. A complete collapse of the Postoffice Department would come before that time, the speakers assert.

SOLDIERS' CRITIC REBUKED AS SLACKER BY WOMAN

It all took place on a local train that is popular with commuters on their way home after the day's work. Directly across from the woman sat a frail, smartly dressed girl, whose face showed that she had lived and felt deeply. Behind her sat two prosperous looking business men. One of them, young, pompous, well-groomed, was speaking.

"I tell you this bonus bill for soldiers is all wrong. By the Lord Harry we've done enough, and now they want bonus money for a bunch of grafting soldiers."

The girl in front turned and looked him over scornfully.

"Did you say grafting soldiers?" she asked him with that absolute calm that goes before most human storms.

"Yes, I did, and what's it to you?" the young man of immaculate dress snarled back at her.

"Well, it's just this to me," answered the girl. "It is up to me to tell you that those grafting soldiers made life possible for rotters like you. It is up to me to tell you that those grafting soldiers went hungry while you gorged, they went cold while you were warm, they suffered while you played. Those grafting soldiers left their homes and wives and babies to save the homes and wives and babies of slackers like you. I know, because I went over and I saw. And finally, it's up to me to tell you that it's a good thing for you that I'm only a woman, for if I were a man I'd thrash you within an inch of your worthless life, you draft dodger!"

Just then the conductor yelled "Mamaroneck," and the gentleman of ease got off with little ceremony. No one believed it was his station.—New York Evening Sun.

THE NAVY FESTIVAL which is to be given in aid of the Charlestown Navy Yard Y. M. C. A., on the Haven estate at Beverly Farms, on Saturday, July 3, will be the initial event of any importance in the line of out-door affairs on the North Shore this season. The North Shore society folk are taking a keen interest in the festival, which has promise of exceeding in prominence that of war days for the same charity. The plans as originally outlined have been greatly enlarged and a crowd is expected to attend the festival. There will be a flower show, horse show, thé dansant, cabaret and supper, drilling by the marines and jackies, concert by a naval band, and a number of innovations for the children. Mrs. George von L. Meyer, Jr., is chairman of the booths committee that will offer food, candy, toys, flowers, sporting goods and hats for sale. Mrs. H. P. McKean, Jr., is chairman of the thé dansant committee. Alvin T. Sortwell is chairman of the committee in charge of the festival; Mrs. John S. Parker is chairman of the publicity committee; Bayard Warren, cabaret; Bayard Tuckerman, Jr., whippet races; C. K. Cummings, naval program, and Gordon Means, chairman of the grounds committee.

Mrs. Russell Burrage entertained the ladies of St. John's church at her home on Preston place, Beverly Farms, yesterday afternoon, when plans for the summer were talked over. Afternoon tea was served. Mr. and Mrs. Burrage and family were among those who spent the winter on the North Shore, and endured the many inconveniences incident to the severe winter weather. During the most trying weeks of the snow and ice, Mrs. Burrage and children were sick, and much inconvenience was experienced because of the impassable roads, although Dr. Johnson was able to make the trip by horseback from Beverly several times under most trying conditions.

POLO PRACTICE has commenced on the fields at the Myopia Hunt club, Hamilton, where prospects are regarded as bright for a lively season. Practice play will be staged on Monday, Wednesday and Saturday afternoons. The eight men who have reported at Myopia include H. P. McKean, Jr., who again will captain the Myopia four, Neil W. Rice, Frederick Ayer, Herbert Hostetter, A. C. Burrage, Jr., Dudley P. Rogers, Captain Pentacost, Bayard Tuckerman and Russell Burrage, the last-named a newcomer to Myopia, who plans to play at Hamilton this summer. Several more are expected to be on the field for practice, among them Q. A. Shaw McKean, James Proctor, C. G. Rice, Thomas Proctor and Thomas P. Mandell. The members of last year's club team—Neil W. Rice, No. 1; A. C. Burrage, Jr., No. 2; Q. A. Shaw McKean, No. 3, and Captain H. P. McKean, Jr., back, all will be club candidates this season.

The turf on the practice field is in surprisingly firm condition considering the consistently wet weather and the ball traveled fast and true. The regular field, which has County Treasurer David I. Robinson, of Gloucester, is an officer of a Boston bank, and the presumption is that some day some of the funds of Essex county will be placed on deposit in that or some other Boston bank. That is a matter for Mr. Robinson's decision; he is custodian of the county's funds. However, the Essex County Associated Boards of Trade are not taking any chances; in meeting assembled, at Newburyport, a while ago, a resolution was passed in favor of having all funds of the county deposited in banks or trust companies located in Essex county.

AMERICANS MUST RULE

By Maj.-Gen. Leonard Wood

THIS country is going to be run by Americans, cost what it may. It does not make any difference what the cost is. It is going to be run on a basis of government under the Constitution, with due respect for law and order, with a recognition of the supremacy of the law, the rights of property, the rights of the individual, the rights of mankind. No class legislation, no autocracy, either of wealth, labor or power, but a real democracy and a spirit of co-operation and helpfulness. I have had to bump into some rather ugly strike situations in the middle west, and wherever there has been radicalism and trouble and dangerous situations, I have always found the alien red in control; very seldom an American leader.

WHAT IS A DAY'S WORK?

At seventy-three, Thomas A. Edison said he was glad the eight-hour day had not been invented when he began to work, and that there was no agitator to prevent his putting his best into every day's work. No one would wish to return to the twelve or fourteen-hour day. A reasonably short day has been found to be profitable to employer as well as just to employee. But the day may be made so short as to overstep the bounds of justice and to wipe out profit. That is the situation at present. The demand for higher wages, coupled with the demand for a shorter day (which means lowered production), spells economic disaster.

What the world needs now above everything else is extra production, to feed the starving, clothe the naked and refill the empty storehouses. That can't be done on a short day. British labor leaders, who have been preaching high wages linked with low production, have begun to see their error. James Henry Thomas, secretary of the British Railwaymen's Union, has been telling the workers they must increase their output, that the British workman must work a quarter harder than before the war, the French twice harder and the Germans eighteen times harder. Yet in all those countries, as in the United States, production is lower than it was before the war. The second national industrial conference at Washington regarded favorably the universal eight-hour day. If generally adopted, the eight-hour day, packed full of honest work, will do more than any other single factor to bring down prices by increasing the supply. Watered labor is fully as bad as watered capital.—Leslie's Weekly.

Work for others as you would have them work for you.

DEFINITIONS OF A SUFFRAGETTE

Recently an advertising agency offered cash prizes for the best epigrammatic definitions of a suffragette.

Here are some of the results:

A suffragette is a woman who thinks she has been de-voted long enough.

Not satisfied with the last word, she also wants the first.

She is the corset needed to reduce the government waste.

She is the woman who needs the "poll" for her vaulting ambition.

A suffragette is a sting of beauty and a jawer forever.

A woman who would rather break windows than clean them.

A woman whose troubles are certainly not "little ones."

One who spends more time airing her views than viewing her heirs.

A woman who will spare no panes to get her rights.

A woman who would rather rock the country than the cradle.

Man is a bundle of habits.

A single fact is worth a shipload of argument.

ALONG THE CAPE ANN AND GLOUCESTER SHORE

East Gloucester, Bass Rocks, Rockport and Annisquam Ready for Busy Season

By ALEX. G. TUPPER

EASTERN POINT.—The Eastern Point golf links are being put into condition for the season and the clubhouse and tea room will open in a short time for members of the club and the large number of patrons from the cottages and hotels. The tea garden is in an attractive spot, overshadowed by small trees, at the side of the clubhouse.

Mrs. John Clay, accompanied by her son, Jack Clay, have arrived from Chicago, at "Finisterre," the Clay estate at Eastern Point, near the lighthouse.

Miss M. L. Davison, of New York city, accompanied by Miss T. deR. Hawley, also of New York, arrived this week at Miss Davison's charming estate, "Villa Latomia," of Spanish architecture, situated on the Eastern Point shore, on the lighthouse road.

Stephen Sleeper, of Boston, is located at Beauport Cottage, Eastern Point.

East Gloucester, which is usually thronged with the summer contingent, will be overflowing with people in the early summer. There are yet many places remaining to be taken for the season and every hotel proprietor speaks of the rush for tourists' accommodations. The usual call is "rental for a long season." The artist colony will be especially large this year and many of the most noted painters of the country will be here. Any available spot for a studio has been engaged. The number of studios on the Wonsen property has been enlarged, two additional ones having been made in the wharf building. The building of the Jas.

H. Tarr estate, on Rocky Neck, near the old ferry landing site and used as a copper paint factory for so many years, has been converted into studios by Sherman Tarr, manager of the Rocky Neck railways. The first floor of the building will be used by a school of dramatic training, voice and reading, from Boston.

The death of Augustus W. Buhler, the marine artist, a few weeks ago at his cottage on East Main st., near Rocky Neck ave., has removed one of the pioneers of the artist colony at East Gloucester. Mr. Buhler had been coming to this place for over 30 years. Frank Duveneck, of Cincinnati, Ohio, the late noted painter, had been coming to East Gloucester for over 40 years. He passed away only last year. It is sad to report that his sister, Mary Duveneck, to whom he was so devoted, passed away with the influenza, some months after her brother's death. Miss Duveneck had been a summer resident of this section for a great many years, devoting her time between Bass Rocks and Eastern Point. The body of the late A. W. Buhler was laid at rest in Oak Grove, a Gloucester cemetery, where his wife was also laid at rest a number of years ago.

BASS ROCKS.—The fine weather of the early week brought a great many people to Good Harbor beach, among them being some of the cottagers who are preparing their houses for the season's opening. The beach assumed a summer aspect on Sunday, particularly. The sky was blue and the sea a deeper shade and the atmosphere was warm and delightful.

"Happiness" is really what we have to sell to owners of summer homes on the North Shore. It is more than porch and interior decorations. Miss Emily McGuckin, of New York city, came on to Bass Rocks last week-end to open her cottage near the Haskell st. side of the golf links for the season.

Charles Talbot, of Boston, who has spent a number of seasons at Bass Rocks, has purchased the large and attractive Humphreys cottage on Atlantic rd., near the Dundas estate. Mr. Talbot and family will soon occupy the house for the season. The location is an ideal one facing the ocean front in the section of Bass Rocks so famously known as "Holy Row."

The E. B. Chandlers, of San Antonio, Texas, will come to "Casa Del Mar," their Bass Rocks estate, early the coming month. Mr. Chandler is one of San Antonio's millionaires who is doing much in philanthropic causes. The Chandler estate in this section of the North Shore is one of the artistic and beautiful show places along the coast. A new rose garden is an extensive feature of the estate which will attract a great deal of interest this season.

J. B. Harris, of the Harris-Wheaton Company, of Boston, has taken a lease of the large C. Granville Way house, situated on the height near Good Harbor beach. The family is expected early for the season.

Walter S. Hubbell, of Detroit, vice-president of the Eastman Kodak Company, of Rochester, N. Y., will occupy with his family the Baker cottage, situated near the Moorland hotel.

Mrs. Marion Roberts MacCord, of Atlanta, Ga., will occupy Cottage C of the Souther estate, near Hotel Thorwald.

The marriage of Miss Eleanora M. Carl and John H. Batterman in Brookline, recently, is of interest to Bass Rocks people, as Miss Carl has been a summer resident of the colony for many years and she has numerous relatives also in the colony. The bride is the daughter of Mrs. Alvin Carl, of 231 St. Paul st., Brookline. She is a golf and tennis enthusiast and is a member of the Bass Rocks club.

Mr. Batterman is also of the Bass Rocks colony and he is a brother of Mrs. Ralph H. Booth, of Detroit and Bass Rocks.

The Thoms, of Roland park, Baltimore, Md., will occupy the cottage on the Dr. Jarvie estate, corner of Souther and Atlantic roads, Bass Rocks.

Rev. E. W. Smith, and family of Francis ave., Cambridge, will occupy the cottage of Mrs. Ellis Mendell on Atlantic rd., Bass Rocks.

Seth Mendell, director of the Perry Mason Company, publishers of the Youths' Companion, has sold his cottage on Atlantic rd., Bass Rocks, to Mrs. George Harrison, of Cincinnati, Ohio. A large garage has just been erected on the property. Mr. Mendell and family have been summer residents of Bass Rocks for a great many years.

Mr. and Mrs. Howard Wicks Brown, of Brookline, will occupy a cottage on Page st., Bass Rocks, the coming season.

Mrs. Frank Humphrey has taken a lease of the Yahtman cottage on Atlantic rd., Bass Rocks, for the summer.

Social life at the Rockport Country club this season will be extensive and at a meeting of the directors held recently a schedule of events was considered and committees were appointed, including local and summer residents. The house committee includes: Charles H. Cutting, chairman; Eugene A. F. Burnett, Fred L. Morgan, F. H. Tarr, Chas. Tresnon, Harry West and Alfred Cast. Edward H. Clarkson is chairman of the golf committee; S. B. Hotchkiss, of the membership committee, Chas. F. Adams, of the finance committee, and Leighton H. York, of the greens committee. The latter committee is busy arranging improvements to the course. The links are among the best nine-hole courses in the state. From the clubhouse verandas, spectators may sit and view every hole and every tee on the course. The club expects to make the unusual announcement of the appearance of two of the best lady golfers in the country to play a four-ball exhibition match with Francis Ouimet and partner. This will undoubtedly be a big drawing card when it takes place, as the golfing fraternity in these parts have never been favored with a four-ball match in which champions of the fair sex have participated. Much attention will be given to tennis and the committee in charge will include George H. Corey, chairman; G. E. Cameron, C. A. Peters, Lewis Rogers, Francis E. Smith and Joseph R. Worcester.

ANNISQUAM.—The engagement recently announced of Miss Priscilla Gale, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lyman W. Gale, of Weston, to Samuel Abbott Smith, of Arlington, is of interest to the Annisquam colony. The Gales are prominent in the social life of Annisquam, where they have occupied their cottage for a number of years.

Mr. and Mrs. J. Rush Green, of Boston, have been occupying their cottage on Barberry Heights, Annisquam, for several days, previous to their coming later for the season.

Mr. and Mrs. John C. Spring, of Boston, who have been spending the winter at Pinehurst, N. C., have returned home from a visit to their summer home on Cole's island, on the Annisquam river.

Miss Margaret Fobes, of 130 Belmont st., Malden, a summer resident of Annisquam, where she is secretary of the Diamond Cove Improvement association, has been chosen valedictorian of the Senior class at Malden High school. She expects to enter Radcliffe. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Fobes.

Harry W. Wiggin and family come to their Norwood Heights cottage, Annisquam, for the week-ends until June, when the family arrives permanently for the season.

Clifford P. Grayson, of Lakewood, N. J., has leased the Ames estate at Bay View for the summer.

Frederick M. Ives and family, of Winchester, will occupy the Bott cottage at Norwood Heights, Annisquam, again this season.

Schuyler B. Eddy, of Springfield, has leased the "Strater Red cottage" on Cambridge ave., Annisquam, for the season.

Arthur A. Kidder, of Winchester, has taken a lease of the Adams homestead at Annisquam, for the season.

Oliver E. Williams and family, come to "The Hermitage," the Williams cottage on Adams ave., Annisquam, for the week-ends until June.

A. C. Brown and family, of Clayton, Mo., will occupy the "Crown" cottage on Annisquam Heights, this season.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Camp, of New Haven, Conn., the former the well-known Yale football coach, have engaged a cottage at Annisquam for the summer.

Wonasquam lodge is being prepared for an early opening and Manager Frank H. Shute has secured a fine booking of guests for the season.

By-Water Inn has been enlarged by the addition of an annex on the grounds.

Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Howlitt, of Cambridge, have been occupying their cottage on Leonard street, Annisquam.

THAT'S THE MYSTERY

WHAT A LITTLE AD WILL DO

Advertisements take the "chase" out of purchase, and you can go directly to the place where your bargain is advertised and make the purchase without wearing out good shoe leather.

Yes, and by the same token, it puts the "go" in negotiate, the "action" in transaction, the "busy" in business, the "prize" in enterprise, the "gain" in bargain, and when all is done it takes the "ought" out of bought, making the purchaser feel that he has spent his money on a holiday rather than for articles demanded by stern necessity

THE UPPER NORTH SHORE SHOWING SIGNS OF EARLY SEASON

The Marbleheads and Nahant, Swampscott and Picturesque Shore Line Already Alive with Visitors

Mrs. Frank S. Price, of Atlantic ave., Swampscott, has been in California this winter, but will return for the summer at the North Shore.

Mr. and Mrs. George A. Brown and family who wintered at the Copley-Plaza, Boston, have opened their summer place on Atlantic ave., Clifton.

Mrs. Hannaford Crawford, of St. Louis, who has a pretty little summer home at Marblehead Neck, has been in France the past winter.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Howland, of West Newton, Mrs. Horatio Newhall and family, of Boston, and Mrs. Webster Wells, of the Hotel Victoria, Boston, are to be summer guests of the Sea Gull, Marblehead Neck.

Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin Owen, of Brookline, are coming the last of the month to the Ward cottage at Marblehead Neck.

Mr. and Mrs. W. M. Weston and family, of Winchester, have arrived at Marblehead Neck for the summer. Several changes have been made on their property, the house repainted, the outside stairway removed and an artistic rustic entrance over the rocks having been effected.

Miss Julia T. Sherman, of Buffalo, N. Y., is at the Sea Gull, Marblehead Neck, while awaiting the completion of work on the Mullin cottage which has been entirely rebuilt this winter. It is a most artistic white cottage with green trimmings and few will recognize the house, which is the oldest on the island.

Mr. and Mrs. Richard J. Salter, of Boston, have opened their cottage on the harbor side of Marblehead Neck, and Mrs. Salter is busy superintending the planting of the garden which is her special delight.

Mrs. Chester L. Dane, of Marblehead, is chairman of that district in planning summer clubs, which are to help the Children's hospital, under the auspices of the Women's Welfare committee. These clubs are to be composed of 10 children, who are expected to earn a $100 quota during the summer months.

The Simon Vorenburg home at Swampscott has been put in order and is ready for the family, who will arrive early in June.

The handsome grounds of the Ludwig Eisemann place at Swampscott were never so pretty as at this time, when the beds of tulips, jonquils and hyacinths are in full flower. The truck garden has been planted and already early peas are showing green above the ground.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles B. Price, of Atlantic ave., Phillips Beach, have been entertaining friends from Italy.

Mrs. Frederick McQuesten was down at her summer home, Marblehead Neck, on Tuesday, to direct the work of opening the great house. The gardens have been planted for the summer and the farm, across the road, has in its crops. The fruit trees are in full bloom.

A group of Mary C. Wheeler school pupils, headed by Miss Polly A. White, came up from Providence, R. I. today, to spend the week-end at the Oceanside, Marblehead Neck.

Mr. and Mrs. D. C. Percival will come to Marblehead Neck after school closes. Madame Percival will occupy the Bidwell cottage, which is but a few doors beyond that of her son.

The land on which the Richmond cottage stood at Lighthouse Point, Marblehead Neck, and which was burned last summer, has been cleared and a fine open space gives added water view to the other cottages.

Dorothy Waldo and a group of Dana Hall girls will arrive at Marblehead Neck, tomorrow for a week-end house party.

Mr. and Mrs. Leopold Peavey, of Brookline, will occupy as usual the Walker cottage at Marblehead Neck, arriving the last of the month.

Mr. and Mrs. William H. Dane, of West Orange, N. J., are coming to the Shore as usual and will be a distinct addition to the summer colony, in the Marblehead section.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur H. Vinal, of Brookline, will open "Vinalhaven," Marblehead, the latter part of the month.

Mr. and Mrs. Frederick P. Valentine will come on from Montclair, N. J., when hot weather arrives and will occupy their Marblehead Neck house. Miss Agnes W. Valentine will also join the summer colony.

The Oceanside hotel, at Marblehead Neck, under the management of A. H. Lane, opened for business May 1 and already many interesting house parties have been held. Over last week a group of young people from Harvard, Smith and Wellesley colleges were guests and they enjoyed a lively time. Among those registered at the hotel for May are Mr. and Mrs. John W. Gould, Worcester; Miss Mary Earle Gould, Worcester; W. F. Halstead and Kenneth H. Smith, of Lee, Higginson Co.; George F. Waters, Springfield; George Tenney, Richmond, Va.; Mrs. Minna Lodge, Washington, D. C. A. H. Lane spent the winter at Pinehurst and Florida, later going west to join his mother, who has been ill.

Mrs. Graydon Stetson, who is summering, together with Mr. Stetson at the Sea Gull, Marblehead Neck, will spend next week with her sister in Newport.

Mrs. Joseph S. Burton and Miss Harriet Biddle, of Boston, are spending the summer months at the Sea Gull, Marblehead Neck.

Mr. and Mrs. William Nichols Mears, of Commonwealth ave., Boston, will arrive at the Sea Gull, Marblehead Neck, in June, for the summer.

Paul Crocker has opened his attractive brick summer home on Ocean ave., Marblehead Neck, and is already receiving many visitors who motor to the Shore to see him. He spent much of the winter in the south.

Ernest Nelson, of Winchester, is opening the Habich house on Clifton ave., Clifton, for the summer months.

Albert M. Munroe and family have opened their house on Cliff st., Marblehead, for the summer.

Mr. and Mrs. King Upton will not be at the Marblehead shore this summer, having departed early in April for Europe.

A group of young women from Dana Hall, Wellesley, including Miss Barbara Denholm, Worcester; Miss Dorothy Currier, Newburyport; Miss Martha Fraser, Port Washington; Miss Dorothy Fairchild, New York; Miss

"When
We gloriously forget ourselves and plunge,
Soul-forward, headlong, into a book's profound,"
—Eliz. B. Browning.

BOYS, what are you reading? How many books a month do you read? Outside of school work how much reading do you do for pleasure or recreation?

Will you write us briefly of your favorite book, telling its name, author, what it is about and why you like it?

Do you know the following books?

"The Cruise of the Ghost," by W. L. Alden, sequel to "The Moral Pirates," and a story of a cruise along Long Island; the "Cruise of the Cachalot," by F. T. Bullen; "Adventures of Billy Topsail," by N. Duncan; "The Young Alaskans," by Emerson Hough; "Dorymates," by Kirk Monroe; "Wrecking Master," by R. D. Paine; "The Voyage of the Hoppergrass," by E. L. Pearson; "Treasure Island," by R. L. Stevenson; "Buccaneers and Pirates of Our Coast," by F. R. Stockton; "The Wilderness Castaways," by Dillon Wallace, and "Two Years Before the Mast," by R. H. Dana, make up a list of fine sea stories to read this summer. The last-named book, it is said, "leads all others as the book best descriptive of the life of the American sailor, and has, deservedly, become a sea classic."

Among the sea stories which have daring heroes may be classed "Beach Patrol," by W. Drysdale, "Adrift on an Ice-Pan," by W. T. Grenfell; "Life Savers," by

A New Department Devoted to the Younger Members of the Breeze Family

Conducted by Lillian McCann

James Otis, also his "Lighthouse Keepers," and "Jack Ballister's Fortunes," by Howard Pyle.

Then there is "The Story of Our Navy for Young Americans," by Willis J. Abbott; "The Hero of Erie (Commodore Perry)," by James Barnes, also his "Midshipman Farragut" and "Yankee Ships and Yankee Sailors," "Around the World with the Battleships," by Roman J. Miller; "Paul Jones," by Molly Elliot Seawell, and "The Story of Our Navy," by Wm. O. Stevens.

Other historical stories include "A Midshipman in the Pacific," by C. T. Brady; "The Pilot," one of Cooper's "Leatherstocking Tales;" "Man Without a Country," by E. E. Hale; "Roger Paulding, Apprentice Seaman," by Captain E. L. Beach, U. S.N.; "Three Years Behind the Guns," by L. G. Tisdale, and "The Boy Sailors of 1812," by E. T. Tomlinson.

Then there are others among which are "Canoemates," by Kirk Monroe; "The Boy Scouts of Birch-Bark Island," by R. S. Holland; "Captains Courageous," by R. Kipling, and "Cadet of the Black Star Line," by R. D. Paine.

"Boat-Building and Boating," by Dan Beard, may also be of interest in the "what and how to do books" of the summer.

Have we left out any sea stories of wonderful adventure? If we have tell us.

Would you like to read these sea "thrillers" while on the North Shore this summer? Your stories of inland adventure, of heroes of chivalry, and other historical and out-door life features could then wait for the winter and school season.

Does it appeal to you boys? Would you like to read some of these sea stories and write us briefly about them stating which ones you prefer and why you like them?

The aristocracy of the future will not be the aristocracy of birth or wealth, but of men who serve, who do things for their country and their fellowmen. The great prize to be won by men of ambition today is not money but recognition as members of the aristocracy of service; this aristocracy that is open to every man instead of the old dead and gone aristocracy that was open to those of particular birth or great wealth. — CHARLES M. SCHWAB.

Let us beware of losing our enthusiasm. Let us ever glory in something, and strive to retain our admiration for all that would ennoble, and our interest in all that would enrich and beautify our life. — PHILLIPS BROOKS.

The true man is, yet, the thing most prized by the great world. True manhood is the wisest, sharpest, strongest, most clear-sighted, far-sighted contestant in the battlefield of life. — GEO. K. MORRIS.

There's no way to get right things done but to simply do them. — S. O. JEWETT.

GOLDEN KEYS

A bunch of golden keys is mine,
To make each day with gladness shine.

"Good morning"—that's the golden key
That unlocks every day for me.

When evening comes, "Good night" I say,
And close the door of each glad day.

When at the table, "If you please"
I take from off my bunch of keys.

When friends give anything to me,
I use the little "Thank you" key;

"Excuse me," "Beg your pardon," too,
When by mistake some harm I do;

Or, if unkindly harm I've given,
With "Forgive me," I shall be forgiven.

On a golden ring these keys I'll bind,
This is its motto, "Be ye kind."

CROSS PURPOSES

A Man, a Girl, and the Old, Old Story—With a Difference

By GWENDOLYN RALEIGH

(Concluded)

(The Breeze will print as often as practicable, this season, a fiction article. Manuscripts solicited for acceptance.—Ed.)

"WHAT a quaint, beautiful garden you have here, Mrs. Longwood. It is enchanting."

"Yes, Miss Lawrence, the idea was entirely my husband's. He was very fond of his garden, and spent a great deal of his time there. He used to say that he never had a worry or care that some one of his flowers could not heal. And, of course, I love it, too, though I am afraid I do not appreciate it as he did. To him there was a new and beautiful thought in every bud. A story for each day—almost each hour."

The brown eyes opposite were dewy:

"I think I have discovered his own particular little retreat. The most beautiful spot in all the garden. A little knoll that looks over the river. It is secluded and the view from there is too wonderful for words."

Then after a short silence:

"I have read every one of Mr. Longwood's books," June said, "and I love all of them."

"I was very proud of my husband, Miss Lawrence. Though he has been dead ten years, his memory lingers with me as freshly as ever. Somehow, though, he seems nearer to me now than he did when he lived. I was rather frivolous, I fear, and did not enter as deeply into his enthusiasm of the better things in life as I could now. My mind did not then seem capable of reaching the heights his had attained. Then, too, I have his books—they are an expression of his thoughts—his very life."

June had been in the Longwood home two weeks, and she and Beth were fast becoming friends. She loved the beautiful old house with its extensive lawns and gardens, and its giant, friendly trees.

Upon her arrival Mrs. Longwood had mapped out a rather uncertain line of work, and they had labored for a few hours each day. Both enjoyed the companionship it afforded. The day previous to June's arrival, Robert Harriman had outlined the work, which his sister had afterward outlined to June.

Beth had at first feared that an expert, such as June was, would surely see through their little plot. She really thought that June was efficient, but her brother knew that, though she was everything—that was lovable, she was not efficient, and Bobbie was glad of it, too.

And so the happy days had sped.

Bobbie saw a good deal of June — though he still found it rather hard to coax a smile, at times. There were times though when both forgot themselves, and both knew that those were the happiest times of all.

At other times when they were on the qui vive, each afraid to allow the other to discover how much they cared, they were not quite so happy.

Bobbie firmly believed that should he betray himself, he would surely frighten June away — and June — well, June wouldn't let him see, anyway.

Things had gone very smoothly between June and Bobbie for some time. There had been no little thrusts and no cutting remarks—until one day something happened that threatened to mar the well-laid (?) plans of three people.

It was a beautifully clear day, and all nature seemed full of the joy of living. June had gone to the library for a book, and then had started for the garden.

She was dressed in a simple little white frock—that is, it looked simple; but then, things are not always what they seem—and Beth, watching from the terrace, thought she looked dangerously attractive.

June walked along slowly until she came to her favorite little nook, and there she sat reading for some time.

Suddenly she heard Bob Harriman's voice:

"Why, no, Beth, you know I am not interested in her especially. She is a nice little kid, I suppose, and I should like her to land a good position—but I cannot do everything."

"Don't be such a bear, Bobbie! You simply must do this for me. You know, I dislike to remind you of it now, but—"

Their voices were lost in the distance.

If June had heard what had come before, she would have known that the girl referred to was one that Beth had met on one of her slumming trips. Beth had explained to her brother that she was not a bad girl—much too good for her surroundings, in fact. She had an irresponsible mother, a drunken father, etc., etc., and Bobbie had said that he was not interested.

Of course, in the end he helped Beth, as he always did, and they found a position for the girl—but that's another story.

June had jumped to the conclusion that they had been talking about her. Her face had flashed crimson. How she hated Bobbie Harriman!

She was going away now, and they should never see her again. They wouldn't care, she thought bitterly. She was just a "poor little thing" to them. How dare they talk about her in that way! She would show them!

All sorts of impossible revenges flashed across her mind—and then she did what she had wanted to do all along—she threw herself on the ground sobbing.

Bobbie had missed June when he had gone to the house, and Beth had interrupted his search, which had made him very cross. Now he found June a crumpled little heap, crying.

"June! Why, June, dear, what is the trouble? June, listen to me! Are you hurt? What is the matter?"

June scrambled to her feet, and when he would have assisted her, shook him off angrily:

"You—you," she tried desperately to keep her voice calm. "I—I am going away—I-I-I have received a letter from my aunt, asking me to go—and, oh, I never want to see your face again!"

Horrors! She had not meant to say that! She was glad she had now, when she saw the expression in Bobbie's eyes.

And then a sudden fury possessed her.

"Oh, I admired your capability and determination. I thought nice things about you; but now I know that you are nothing but a business machine! You have no personality outside your business—you are selfish, indifferent, inhuman—"

"June! Stop!" A steely expression replaced the hurt in Bobbie's eyes.

"I don't understand what you are talking about—no, please listen—but I am going to tell you all there is to tell. I have done nothing that I know of to deserve such an onslaught. I had thought you would be a little angry, perhaps, when you found what I had done.

"After all I have committed no crime—unless you would call loving you a crime. I wanted you near me, where I could talk to you as one human being to another. I wanted you to know me outside of the office, and I wanted to know you. I knew you could smile and be nice if you wanted to—but I could never get you to do it in the office; so I suggested to Beth that she have you here. I thought I could make you care—but I'm afraid I—June, have I made a failure of it?"

"But—but you said to Beth, a few minutes ago, that you were not interested—and that I was a nice little kid, you supposed—but that you couldn't do everything," June said desperately.

"I said that? Nice little kid—mmm-mm-m. By Jove! Was that what you were crying over?"

Suddenly he took her in his arms:

"Why, June, what made you think I meant you? We were talking about a little girl from the slums, in which Beth is very much interested. I'll tell you about her later. Just now I want you to tell me a great many things. No, I sha'n't let you go until you take back all the mean things you said about me!"

"Then I sha'n't take them back!" June giggled into his shoulder.

THE END.

THE HOME PATH

By ALEX. G. TUPPER

WHEN I pause at the edge of the scented wood
Where the pines stand straight and tall
In their changeless garb of richest green,
Through the winter, spring or fall,
It makes me feel I could depend
On these uniformed sentinels
To direct my feet to the happy path,
To the home where the loved one dwells.

I have read where the gates were made of pearl
And the streets were paved with gold;
But a vision comes to me more fair,
Where the forest-paths unfold,
O'erarched with green 'neath a clear blue sky,
'Mid a blossom-scented air;
And the path is gold with the sunlight rays—
Yes, I feel that there's heaven there!

There seems but a mist to hold from view
The forms of the happy throng
Whose joy can penetrate so deep
In the realm of eternal song;
And I turn my ear to a cheerful voice
And my gaze to a pleasant smile;
For 'tis that of a noble life that passed
From this world of a little while.

The Creator's voice speaks in the wind,
In the stir of the silken leaves;
And the harp-like notes that sweetly drift
Through the pines and the rustling trees
Are touched by the fingers of happy souls
And my heart leaps at the sound;
For the Spirit of God has entered in
And He points to the path I've found!

Ah, we can picture the view of the Promised Land
With its gold and its jeweled gate!
But I fain would hear the Master's voice
At the path where loved ones wait—
At the portals where life is in the green,
In the cheer of sun and bird!
In the Spirit-Land that can be seen
And the voice of the loved-one heard!

THRILLING ENCOUNTERS WITH CANNIBALS

Dr. Alexander Hamilton Rice, of Boston and Newport Back from Trip to Upper Amazon

AFTER thrilling encounters with cannibals on their expedition up the River Amazon, South America, Dr. and Mrs. Alexander Hamilton Rice, of Boston, have returned to this country. They arrived in New York last week, and after a short stay in New York and Boston they will go to their summer home, "Miramar," at Newport. Mrs. Rice was Eleanor Elkins (Widener).

The encounter with the cannibals was among the most interesting episodes of the expedition up the big waterway, and was participated in by Dr. Rice and Chester H. Ober, of Newport, R. I., of the U. S. Coast and Geodetic Survey. Dr. Rice had left his wife and other members of the expedition at Esmeralda, its base, and, with Mr. Ober, several natives and a Venezuelan, started up the river to map out a small island seven days from the base. They reached the island without misadventure and finished their work.

One of the Indian guides chanced to look across the river, 90 feet wide at this point, and was scared almost as white as the big white Indians, to see one of them, stark naked, scuttling into the jungle undergrowth. Several shots were fired in the direction of the disappearing savage. A moment later the jungle was alive with yells and more than 200 fellows, all big and some pretty close to seven feet in height, rushed from the bushes. They were armed with bows and arrows, spears and blowguns. The Doctor recognized them as the very fellows he had planned to discover, "cannibals of a mountain region and considered the most ferocious of all the savages in Venezuela, Columbia or Brazil."

The doctor decided that if it was possible he would parley with the big "almost white" ones. All the Indian dialects known to the exploring party were used vainly on them. They apparently did not belong to any Orinoco literary society and responded to the attempts to get them to talk by yelling and rushing into the river, holding their weapons above their heads. The explorers were unequipped for battle, having only one revolver, one rifle and one shotgun.

The savages came on impetuously and the three modern weapons popped and popped and, after several of the giants had fallen dead in the stream and more had been wounded, they lost their valor. The white man's method of killing at a distance awed them. Their own arrows could not do damage at the long distance. They retreated to the shore, and twenty minutes later the explorers had packed their camp equipment and instruments into their canoe and started on the trip to Esmeralda.

The cannibals would not let the explorers out of their sight and kept pace with them on the river bank. Dr. Rice said: "For four days and nights sleep was impossible. The savages apparently had no canoes, being a mountain tribe, and they ran along the bank shooting arrows in our direction. It seemed miraculous that none of us were hurt. After the fourth day they became disheartened at their inability to capture us or even to inflict casualties and gave up the pursuit. In three more days we were safe at Esmeralda."

The Doctor is confident that he re-discovered the legendary white, or near white, cannibals. He believes they were seen only once before and then by Ensign Bobadilla in 1763, during his explorations made under the Spanish government. They are, Dr. Rice said, neighbors of the Marqui Ritaires tribe, who hold them in deadly terror.

Mrs. Rice, in accompanying her husband on this expedition, the seventh he has made in nineteen years, has achieved the distinction of penetrating further into the Amazon wilderness than any other white woman, breaking the record previously made by Mrs. Louis Agassiz in 1869, when she was a member of a party headed by her husband and sent out by the Spanish government.

LOBSTERS DISAPPEARING

Mistake to Kill off Big Ones—Enemies are Given Advantage in Struggle for Existence

IN the early days of the lobster industry only the large ones were caught. These were so abundant that the young ones were ignored. A single lobster would often fill two or three cans. Today it takes several of the average size to fill a can.

Even in the British Provinces, where the canning industry thrives the best, most of the large lobsters have been killed. One rarely sees or hears of a big lobster now, and a 15-pounder would be a curiosity. There is a lobster preserved in the collection of crustacea at the Smithsonian Institution which weighed 18 pounds at the time of its capture.

Reliable records show that specimens weighing from 30 to 35 pounds have been captured. Such a monster would measure nearly five feet in length, including the claws, and prove a pretty formidable antagonist for one in the water.

The work of hatching the young at the different stations is now in full progress. The female breeds only once in two years, but she makes up for this seeming loss of time by producing a great number of eggs. It is estimated by the fish experts at the hatcheries that a 10-inch lobster will produce in one season about 10,000 eggs and a 19-inch nearly 75,000 eggs.

It does not require at this rate a great number of female lobsters to yield several million eggs a year.

The female attaches these eggs to her until they have hatched out, and she is known in local parlance as a "berried hen" lobster. It was not many years ago that these female lobsters were caught and sold as much for their eggs as for their meat. The eggs were considered as great luxuries as the roe of a shad is today.

This greatly helped to decrease the supply. As sauces for salads the eggs of the lobsters were of great value, and expert cooks eagerly sought them. The passage of laws both in New England states and Canada making it punishable to capture or sell egg decorated lobsters has made it impossible to obtain these delicacies in this country.

In the lobster hatcheries the eggs are put in hatching jars, where they are kept in water heated to the proper temperature until they hatch out. The young creatures, when first hatched are only from a third of an inch to an inch long, and for a time they swim about as ordinary fish. They are turned loose when an inch or two in length and then they begin their perilous career in the waters of the coast, where innumerable dangers beset them.

A large percentage of them never pass beyond the stages of infancy, and the few which survive this period are then compelled to face the new dangers incident to the shedding process. Every now and then the crustacean finds that it is outgrowing its shell, and it proceeds to shed it, as a crab, and take on another one. This process is a long and dangerous one, and for a considerable period the creature is weak and helpless.

Every part of the armor must be removed, and in the process the creature becomes thin and emaciated, and fishermen do not consider them fit to eat. Before the old shell has been discarded a new thin one has been provided, but it requires time to make it of much protective use.

But if the young lobsters are destroyed by enemies in the water during the helpless periods of their lives they return the compliment with full interest when they reach maturity. There are very few things in the water that can overcome a full fledged lobster, and he knows it, apparently, for he does not hesitate to attack any of his old-time enemies, which he squeezes and cracks with malicious pleasure.

He will hunt for fish and clams all day long, digging up the latter from the mud and cracking the shells. When clams are scarce the lobsters will lie in wait for fish. Flounders are particularly welcome, and they will fish for them at every opportunity. They are so expert in fishing that young minnows are captured in great numbers.

Thus left to themselves, the lobsters are fully as able as any fish to take care of themselves, but it is the intervention of man that has destroyed the balance of nature. By killing off all the big lobsters the enemies of these crustaceans have been given an advantage in the struggle for existence for which a quarter of a century of artificial propagation will not entirely compensate.—New York Sun.

WHERE POLICEMAN'S LOT WAS HAPPY

On my way home I had to cross a street through the crowds. I reached the center of the street safely, but when, looking around, I saw a car coming from one direction and horses from the opposite direction, I did not know where to turn or what to do. My eye caught sight of the policeman, so I ran over to him and threw both arms around him, thinking I was safe. He looked down at me and said: "Well, lady, I see that you don't want to die alone."—San Francisco Chronicle.

IN NORTH SHORE YACHTING CIRCLES

Much Activity at Calderwood's Yard in Manchester—Yachts Being Overhauled and Fitted

THE BOAT YARD of W. B. Calderwood, at Manchester-by-the-Sea, is the scene of much activity this season. A large number of yachts are being overhauled, repaired, altered and painted. Mr. Calderwood is building several new boats and all indications point to a busy season this year. It is planned to have the work on many of the larger boats completed by June 1.

The schooner "Simitar" has been purchased by Frederick F. Carey, of Tuxedo, N. Y. It is being thoroughly overhauled and a 35-h.p. Latham engine installed.

The schooner "Tecumseh," owned by George Tiffany, of St. Louis, is being put into condition for use this summer. Mr. Tiffany will spend the season at Islesboro, Me.

John Hays Hammond, Jr.'s, power boat, the "Natalia," which was used by the U. S. government during the war, has been returned to Mr. Hammond. Mr. Calderwood's workmen are giving the boat a new coat of paint, and making some alterations and repairs on it.

The sloop "Vega," purchased by Robert Saltonstall, of Boston, will have its rig changed into a yawl. The plans were furnished by John G. Alden. This sloop will spend much of the summer at Buzzards Bay.

Two engines of 55-h.p. each are being put into the large power boat "Nancy," owned by P. W. Whittemore, who summers at Cole's island, West Gloucester.

A new cat boat is being built for Augustus Hemingway, of Boston. It will be equipped with a Marconi rig, which is being used considerably this season. This sort of rig gives more space for sail and provides a better method of handling.

Two launches owned by Henry Wisewood, of New York, a summer resident of Annisquam, are being overhauled and fitted anew.

The pretty 30-ft. Bar Harbor racer "Leenane" has been purchased by Arthur L. Barr, of Boston. The "Idler," owned by W. G. Brown, of Gloucester, is also in the Calderwood yard.

There is considerable interest in the Manchester one-design class and several orders have been placed to have boats of this kind built. Yachtsmen from Marblehead, Manchester, Gloucester and other points along the Cape are making arrangements to have boats built for the coming season.

Work is steadily going forward on the 120-ft. house boat for Allison V. Armour, which was commenced last fall. There is quite a bit to be done on this before it can be launched as there have been delays in arrivals of materials. It will be equipped with three 45-h.p. engines and will be furnished luxuriously.

DEMAND TENDS TO PROVOKE SUPPLY

Brains, Intelligence, Science and Invention vs. Monopolies, Corners, Shortages and Profiteering

IN A TIME of rapid price changes, depreciated money and hysterical make-believe thinking, it is no labor at all to throw over old beliefs. Men doubt whether the so-called laws of economics have any force or whether any natural laws exist. Even in less heretical times the sacredness and indeed the reality of such laws were open to question, and it was pointed out that the laws of Nature are only such to our poor, limited powers of observation. Grant the point and let all varieties of hairsplitters argue the subject to shreds. Excited persons may deny the existence of this and that. But in regard to at least one tendency which has been called an economic law we are faced with considerable historical evidence which points rather plainly to the conclusion that demand tends to provoke supply.

Just as long as brains, intelligence, science and invention are free, monopolies, corners, shortages and abnormal profits are bound, over a sufficient period of time, to destroy themselves. "Tend" is an irritating, comfortless word. If milk sells at several hundred dollars a quart in Vienna thousands of babies are likely to starve before high prices actually stimulate enough additional cattle raising to feed the hungry mouths. But cause and effect, demand and supply, are not always so slow in their action. Many have been the corners in wheat and cotton which brought a flood of offers down upon the heads of their ill-fated perpetrators. Already the high price of collars and the high cost of laundering have increased enormously the wearing of soft shirts and collars, and the washing of these articles of clothing at home. Already a better class of women is being attracted to domestic service because of the high wages paid. These are illustrations of a sufficiently homely nature to be understood by anyone. But it is just as true that the capacity of almost every industry in the country has been rapidly enlarged in the last year or two by the high profits prevailing.

In the agricultural country surrounding one of the large automobile cities of the Middle West complaint is made that young men are leaving the farm for the city, where they get eight dollars a day in the motor or rubber plants. But the city worker must have the farmers' product and he will have to pay for it. Temporarily the farmer is hard pressed for help and production perhaps is falling off. But the cities must have food and they will have to pay for it. If necessary farmers will have to pay ten dollars or fifteen dollars a day for farm helpers. When that time comes the balance will be restored, or at least the process of restoration will have been started. If the young man goes to the city because hours are shorter the farmer will have to reduce his hours and make the city people pay for it.

We hear much of the shortage of teachers, of the rush of professors and schoolma'ams into more lucrative work. But already the corrective forces are in operation. Everywhere salaries are being raised. Meanwhile principals and superintendents tear their hair in a vain search for suitable young men and women to instruct the young immediately. The corrective process works slowly and far from perfectly. But it does work, a fact which should reassure those of us who have been converted hastily and hysterically into a complete despair for the universe.

If men of any class, whether of employers or of employed, are enjoying monopoly profits or monopoly wages, they are riding for a fall. The Standard Oil Company once had a monopoly, but now one finds almost impossible the job of following the growth of its big independent competitors. Artificial arrangements often keep a monopoly alive for a long time, but history has few examples of anything like a permanent corner. The medieval guild of bow-and-arrow makers looked like a tight enough monopoly, but what did it amount to after firearms came along? Let us imagine an absurdly impossible case—that the window cleaners in office buildings form a powerful enough union to exact wages of one hundred dollars a day. But then along will come a window-cleaning machine, and these imaginary extortioners will be eliminated altogether. Coal and even oil have become very scarce and high. But let them keep on jumping in price, and soon we shall have alcohol manufactured on a commercial scale sufficient to meet the need.—Saturday Evening Post.

SUGGESTIONS ABOUT WILD FLOWERS

Protect the Laurel

OUR mountain laurel, Kalmia latifolia, is one of our most beautiful native shrubs, both when covered with its wonderful masses of pink and white flowers in early summer and during the rest of the year on account of its rich foliage. Being an evergreen, which very few of our native shrubs are, it makes a striking feature in a winter landscape.

Laurel is distributed from Canada to Florida, and is a typical feature of our New England woods and pastures. Not occurring in other countries, it is an essentially American plant, and it should be our pleasure and duty to protect it from destruction; but its very beauty and charm induce cutting to an alarming extent. It is gathered extensively twice a year. In summer the flowers are taken for church and house decoration. In winter the inroads are much more extensive and dangerous. Enormous quantities are then used for festoons, wreaths, etc., in the Christmas dressing of churches and the decoration of ballrooms. As it is then cold weather, the foliage keeps well, and bears transportation to a distance, so that the quantity collected is only limited by the demand and the available material. It is to be noted that this cutting is all from wild laurel growth, not from plants which are grown for this purpose, although it is a shrub easily cultivated.

The flowers are borne only upon the shoots of the previous year's growth, so that, if these are cut, a year's flowering is lost; and, when looking at long festoons of laurel leaves, it is saddening to think of the great quantity of blooms that has been destroyed for the next summer in this truly extravagant winter decoration.

Care for the future often involves sacrifice in the present. Are we not willing to forego some decoration of ballrooms and churches for the sake of preserving for the enjoyment of future generations the beauty of our woods, swamps, and pastures where the laurel now grows?

When laurel is to be gathered at all, it should be cut with a sharp knife, not hacked or torn off; cut in moderation, not in excess; cut at a distance from the roadsides, thus leaving uninjured those plants which from their very position give pleasure to the greatest number of people. Above all, everything possible should be done to check its use as a winter decoration.

EDITORIAL

THE NORTH SHORE SEASON has fully begun. The golden robins have arrived on time. The cherry trees are in blossom and long rows of garden peas have broken ground. The grass has covered the hillsides with a carpet of green and the trees are showing tender green shoots so that while most trees are not in full leavage the woodlands are beautiful, especially in the light of a rising or setting sun. There is a charm about the glory of the autumn leaves with their brilliant colors; but can such compare with the greater glory of the spring? A little thought gives spring the advantage, for the beautiful varying tints of the wooded hills in the opening days of the season mean hope and the flamboyant colorings of autumn mean decay and death. The more beautiful days of the year are upon us, and happy is the man who has ears to hear and eyes to see. The city dwellers are awakened by the shrill cry of the monger or the mechanical grumblings of the milkman's motor and the hurrying footsteps of early workers seeking their tasks for the day, but on the Shore the break of day begins with an undistinguishable chirp, first soft and low, that becomes a perfect din as the sun rises. The chorus of the birds in the morning with the cool air of the spring days are a relief from the monotonous noises of a city street. The long season of the North Shore has always been an attraction to those who have established homes. So the busy man may know the charms of the country at early morn and at late afternoon, for since the daylight savings law, there is a longer period of light and sunshine after the usual work hours. The hotels will open later, but the fortunate owners of estates have the greater pleasures in the enjoyment of the spring and the autumn. No wonder the district allures with its good roads and advantages of the sea. There are watering places the world over which have merits, but the resident of the North Shore learns not only to enjoy the pleasures of the district, but to love it with a passion like that of patriotism.

WITH SIX LONG MONTHS of nature's pleasure ahead any one can afford to be optimistic.

THE SIGNS OF THE TIMES are ominous; they may be seen in every industry. He who cannot read them is indeed deceived; how great the crash will be remains for the future. As conditions are now shaping themselves, a reaction from the present falsely prosperous times is inevitable. No one could quite foresee what the reaction would be in America after peace came and the armistice had been signed. Hard times were possible and some prophets so spake, but the shrewder men foretold a period of labor scarcity with increased prices for materials, production and wages. The increased costs increased the wages and the increased wages again increased the costs of the products manufactured. The vicious circle has been in evidence for the last two years and the larger incomes of men do not equal the standards of the pre-war days. What of the future? There is but one answer,—a crisis. A crisis is impending not because there is a lack of opportunity for capable men, but because the every-day virtues of honesty, fidelity, loyalty and industry appear at a discount. A business that is operated on the policy of schemes to defeat efficiency and to decrease production is certain to end in the bankruptcy courts.

The laws of economics cannot be violated. No matter how successful men may be in obtaining their demands for shorter hours and more pay, the time will inevitably come when the increased charges against a business will make its profitable conduct impossible. When such a situation develops in a business it is a failure; the organization is broken up and the workmen are engaged in other lines of work soon and the loss is temporary. When such a crisis comes in all the industries of one small town it means hard times to every worker and business man in the district. If such crises come simultaneously the nation over it means not a local tragedy, but a national crisis. No one fails to see the unfavorable clouds upon the horizon. Fortunately there are ways by which the impending difficulties may be avoided. The exercise of the old-fashioned virtues of straightforwardness, moral integrity, faithful, loyal service by every worker in the nation will serve to postpone the evil day. If there are enough honorable, loyal men who do their day's work with a desire to do their duty faithfully and well, there will be food, shelter, clothing and work enough for all.

Let the mad race for wealth, the stubborn fights for unearned increments, the excessive costs for materials, the delays in transportation and the moral apathy of men continue, and destruction marks the end of the path. Fortunately the vision is before America. May the people the nation over turn to the sober, industrious and careful ways of the pre-war period. America can weather this gale, but the storm that is gathering is threatening. May it pass over!

THE MEMORIAL DAY SERVICES this year will be impressive as all remember the losses of the last war. Plan to aid the Legion and Grand Army of your home town by your attendance at the services of the day to be held.

THE UNITED STATES OF AMERICA and the United Kingdoms of Great Britain and Ireland must understand each other. Every effort must and will be made to avoid wars, to prevent misunderstandings, to allay business or territorial jealousies and to arrange for such considerations of all future possible difficulties by arbitration and conciliation as shall make a hasty war impossible. A policy that provides for direct investigation of all misunderstandings will minimize the dangers of serious trouble by adjusting difficulties early and thus prevent the development of ill will by either nation in the other country. The late war demonstrated to the leaders of both countries the folly of either nation endeavoring to maintain a policy of isolation. It is impossible as well as impracticable for either America or Great Britain to be so self-centered as to believe it possible for the two nations to maintain their governmental organizations apart from the problems of the world. The two Anglo-Saxon nations must unite their interests in order that their ideals of law, order, justice and national integrity may be maintained. America now understands this. Great Britain also indicates by her attitude toward America that her policy will be amiable. The renewal of the Treaty of 1911 with Japan clearly indicates the British policy, for in the text provision is made for a reference to a commission of any difficulties which may involve relations with America. Great Britain distinctly aims at being free from any entangling alliances which may involve war without carefully weighing all of the grievances. Japan clearly understands the policy of Great Britain, and that again ought to show the world that the peril of a war with Japan is not so serious as some careless journalists would think. America has known the attitude of Great Britain toward her, but the new arrangements in the Anglo-Japanese pact reveal the policy of Great Britain in a great state paper.

THE GREATEST MONUMENTS are those which serve the people. Monuments in stone have their place, for the skill of sculptors has created many aesthetic masterpieces which have been a delight to the eye and worthy memorials of the persons honored. As valuable as the genius and art of sculptors may be, true memorials are those which serve the people. Nor must one surrender aesthetic skill to mere utility. When such rugged characters as Lincoln and Roosevelt are to be honored, who could conceive of greater memorials than two great roads, one running from Washington to the Pacific ocean in honor of Abraham Lincoln, a distance of three thousand miles, and the other in honor of Theodore Roosevelt extending from Washington to the Mexican border, a distance of two thousand miles. The construction of the Lincoln and Roosevelt highways would require engineering skill of a marked quality, and link with the achievement the names of two great Americans. The Appian Way of the Roman Empire and the tree bordered roads of modern France are inspirations. The value of two such arteries, one running north and south and the other east and west cannot be overestimated. The large initial expense would eventually prove to be a good investment. Roads would be built connecting the main highways with other local roads. The achievements will be as advantageous to the nation's overland commerce as the Panama Canal is to our seafaring interests. A more fitting memorial to these great Americans cannot be conceived.

THE ASSESSORS of the North Shore towns are busily arranging for the valuations of the year. Their task is a difficult one with every detail that is required. Everyone should assist in making the work lighter by filing the required statements.

AMERICA NOW ENJOYS a precedence in the world that has been won by the application of brains and will to the economic problems of the nation. While the nation owns but a small percentage of the world's land and has less than six percent of the world's population, it owns the larger amount of copper, silver, gold, oil, cotton, coal, iron, steel and wool, and manufactures increasingly large ships, not to mention the manufacture of many necessary implements used in doing the work of the world. Yankee genius has been harnessed to the problems of the mechanical world and the results of the mechanical skill of master workmen has made America the leading manufacturing nation in the world. The material ascendancy of the United States of America is assured and unchallenged. The nations of the world seek here funds to float their loans required for reconstruction purposes. The philanthropic spirit of the people has been known the world over, and from the nation's wealth great gifts have been freely made to the suffering people of the world. The material supremacy of America is assured. Shall this be all? There are principles of leadership that are humane and moral. These, too, may be seen here. While America has money and goods, brain power and marvelous will, it has also a moral consciousness and a heart. The inheritances of the nation are not those which mean financial aggrandizement at the expense of moral worth, despite the many unseemly things which no one will attempt to deny the existence of in our republic. America will maintain the material supremacy which has been attained, but the purpose of the brain and will of the nation is to assert the nation's will in the name of righteousness, law, fair play and justice. The heart of America is right. The education of our people has led to material wealth and the underlying motives of justice, sobriety and good will must inevitably surpass the lesser virtue of material success. The spirit of America must and will not die, despite the unfavorable and deplorable evidences which may appear. America aspires to moral supremacy.

THE LEAGUE OF NATIONS has been on trial the world over. The decision has not yet been made in America, but Switzerland has decided to throw in her lot with the newly formed association of nations. The people of Switzerland are near the seat of warfare and the cantons of the nation border on Germany and France, so that the advantages or disadvantages of the plan would be well known and the dangers appreciated. The neutrality of the Swiss people during the war increases the meaning of their recent decision, for Switzerland must feel that the integrity and influence of their state must be increased by the associations which will be established. The neutrality of Switzerland taught the nation many things. The vote in favor of the new alliance was not large—only one vote by cantons—and yet by votes this one canton's majority registered about one hundred thousand. The League of Nations was thoroughly discussed. An energetic campaign was conducted and every effort was made to win the contest by the opponents and the proponents. The socialists used the argument that the United States had not yet entered the League of Nations with effect, for it is known to have influenced a great many votes. Withal, the discussions pro and con and the advantages which Switzerland enjoyed during the war, the nation has decided to make the effort to bring in a new era of peace. This decision will be profitable for Switzerland and for the League of Nations. It means that the people of Europe with all their old-time animosities and fears are determined to begin anew and attempt to establish a reign of order, tranquility and peace. The millenium has not yet come, but the nations are seeing the folly of mutual jealousies and are eager to try the more comely ways of jurisprudence and arbitration. Switzerland now becomes a power with a vote in the League of Nations.

THE NEW BEDFORD OPERATORS have again denied the advice of friends and declined a 15% increase. Everyone wishes operators to enjoy a good wage and to live under favorable conditions. The workmen pay the price later in the cloth that is sold.

THE AMERICAN LEGION is succeeding in America. Its public pronouncements have been of a high order. Its determination to measure up to 100% Americanism is an ideal that will provide the support and endorsement of the press of the nation. The organization is democratic and its ideals true to our American conceptions of liberty and fair play. No one is eligible for membership unless he or she has served in a military or naval capacity in the service of the United States during the World war. The Legion is a worthy successor of that honorable and loyal body of men who served in the Civil war and who associated themselves under the good name of the Grand Army of the Republic. The Legion is still in the formative period. The many changes which were inevitable after the war have made it necessary for young men to change their places of residence and consequently they have not connected themselves with any organization of the Legion. The Legion is conducting this week a campaign for members in order that every man who served in the World war may be reached. Every man who served overseas should take pleasure in associating with his fellowmen in the home organization. Legion membership is not limited to the man who went overseas, but democratically welcomes every man who was called into the service no matter where the fortunes of war may have placed him. Every army and navy man should join the Legion. The Legion has a large work to do. It has already taken a noble stand in refusing to take a partisan position upon a great economic question on the grounds that it is not a province of the organization. The Legion in the years to come must continue the work of the Grand Army of the Republic and this year it will be in line and assist in the conduct of the sacred offices of Memorial Day. When the week is over the reports must inevitably show a large increase in the membership of the Legion. adproremoamou

THE RACE FOR DELEGATES for the national Republican convention which nominates the Presidential candidate continues. The Wood supporters are sanguine of the future despite the counter attacks which are launched by the publicity bureaus of other organizations. Johnson has gained some votes and his bureaus claim a slight lead. It is certain that he has made some gains, although the Wood lead has been correspondingly cut. It remains one of the certainties of the hour that Johnson cannot gain the support of the convention. He is not popular in the east and has been a marked man for eight years, and he hardly mer-

According to the decree of the style committee in session the past week at Cleveland "skirts will be higher." That is, higher in price.

Memorial Sunday in the United States will be observed next Sunday, May 23. All the services should be well attended. Let us honor our soldier dead.

Hi Johnson vs. Hi Cost would be an interesting contest if Johnson was wielding the "big stick" as President.

Now is a good time to buy Liberty Bonds. The price is low, but the worth of the securities is high. With the U. S. government behind these bonds they are the safest investment on the market today.

The budget of expenses of the League of Nations up to July 1 will be approximately $1,250,000, of which $485,000 is for salaries.

The old saying that "two can live as cheaply as one" has now been changed to "It takes two livings for one person."

The Minneapolis Journal recently published the following poetic gem:

"The night hath a thousand eyes,
The spud but ten, by heck,
But the joy of a whole life dies
If you buy a peck."

"The man who has the moral courage to wear old clothes these days is setting an example of independent manhood to the whole world," says governor-elect Parker, of Louisiana. Isn't it easy to picture Governor Parker wearing overalls and an old tattered coat at his inauguration!

Just for curiosity we would like to know how many strikes are in progress now in the United States. The number would be an astonishing one. Our civilization cannot indefinitely stand the losses caused by strikes.

The Philadelphia lady who rewarded the finder of $6000 by giving him $1000 really showed her gratitude. "Virtue is its own reward," but nevertheless we think the thousand-dollar gift was appreciated.

Just as the season for wearing low shoes is coming on the fair-price authorities are inquiring why they are so high.

Announcement is made by Director R. G. Cholmeley-Jones, of the War Risk Insurance bureau, that improved methods and equipment just adopted will save the bureau $8,500,000 annually. This is an encouraging report. Could the same principle of economy be applied to other governmental activities?

The per capita cost of government in Boston is slightly over $50, as against $31 in St. Louis, $38 in Chicago, $38 in Philadelphia and $41 in New York. The intellectual atmosphere of Boston accounts for the additional cost in the Hub, we presume.

In an address before the Home Market club, of Boston, last Friday, Senator Lenroot, of Wisconsin, said: "We have been assured that the President will veto the Knox resolutions declaring that a state of war with Germany no longer exists. So be it. But, if he thinks he can impose his autocratic power and imperial will upon its as a reward for his poor management of the party's policies the nomination for President in a "sure" year. Lowden seems to be a growing candidate, who will be supported by many delegates when released after several ballots. The "dark horses" are all being discussed freely, and while Governor Coolidge's name is still presented from time to time, his friends are taking him at his word and remaining loyal to Wood. Whether the time will arrive when the Governor will become a formidable rival of the leading aspirants remains to be seen. Whatever may be said to the contrary Governor Coolidge acted wisely in refusing permission to his enthusiastic supporters to conduct a campaign in his behalf. Nothing has been lost by the attitude he has taken. It does not make him any the less popular in his home state or embarrass his opportunity. His most enthusiastic supporters cannot but see that only a turn of events which cannot now be foreseen will make him available as a candidate. To marshal all the votes necessary for the nomination will mean a turn-over in votes that will be phenomenal. Meanwhile the fight goes on, growing more interesting every day. Massachusetts is favorable to her son, Leonard Wood, but cannot be blind to the fact that to win the contest there must be great gains made.

the overwhelming sentiment of this country, I pity the party to which he belongs. It means that on the fourth of March next there will be restored a government of the people, by the people and for the people of the United States."

Congress restores free seeds to the appropriation bill. The Rivers and Harbors bill also carries its usual millions. "Pork" is still attractive to the Congressmen, although they preach economy and urge their constituents to practice it.

The charge made before a Senate committee on newsprint, that American newspapers are censored by the typographical union, is absurd. It has about as much foundation as the charge that the press is muzzled by organized capitalists. Neither one thing nor the other is true.

A New York merchant, convicted of profiteering, blames the public for many of the high prices. "It's so easy to get what you ask for," the merchant said. "Few business men can resist the temptation to raise prices. If I put two garments in my store window of exactly the same cut and materials, but with a $50 tag on one and a $55 tag on the other, most persons would buy the higher-priced one. It's a strange freak of human nature."

A national railroad car shortage exists to the detriment of business. The railroads keep the public worried most of the time by means of strikes or otherwise.

"I can't imagine why Bertie is so brainless; can you?"

"Why, of course. There's a theory that he was brought up on a vacuum-bottle."—Boston Transcript.

MANCHESTER

The Story High school baseball team will play at Ipswich Saturday.

Sidney Marshall has accepted a position as tennis instructor at the Essex County club and will begin his work at the courts of the club about June 1.

Frank B. Amaral post, A. L., has received seven grave markers for use on graves of veterans of the World war. The marker bears the emblem of the Legion in bronze and has a holder for a flag.

At the regular meeting of Liberty lodge of Rebekahs to be held this Friday evening Mrs. Jeffries, of Salem, district deputy president, will make the lodge an official visit. Mrs. Jeffries will be accompanied by her marshal.

John Lawrence McKinnon, son of Mr. and Mrs. Samuel McKinnon, has received his discharge from the U. S. forces this week and is visiting with his parents at their Bridge st. home. Mr. McKinnon has been in the service three years, having been attached to the 52d Company of the 3d Provisional Regiment of Marines, which has been on duty most of the time at San Domingo.

The Baseball association meeting of last Monday evening was rather slimly attended, but those present, for the most part, were enthusiastic about the team for this season and instructed Manager MacCallum to proceed with his plans for the forming of a good club with instructions to have the first game played at the playgrounds on Saturday afternoon, May 29.

"TURN TO THE RIGHT" IS PLEASINGLY GIVEN AT TOWN HALL

William M. Whitney's recital of the play, "Turn to the Right," was given at Town hall, Manchester, last Friday evening, and attended by a large audience. The entertainment was under the auspices of Magnolia lodge, I. O. O. F.

Mr. Whitney presented his monolog in a pleasing manner. He has a forceful delivery, pleasant voice and manner, and has had years of stage experience, all of which account for the brilliant interpretation of the play. In listening to Mr. Whitney's impersonation of the several characters in this well-known play, one almost forgets that he is watching a monolog and not the full delineation of the drama.

Arthur Bayley, of Danvers, a bass soloist, furnished a portion of the program. His selections were thoroughly appreciated by everyone.

Work called for and delivered

Next Sunday will be observed in town as Memorial Sunday with a service in the Congl. church at 10.45 o'clock in the forenoon.

A contract has been given for the demolition of the Masconomo hotel. The hotel has not been open the past few years. After D. A. Sullivan became its owner he remodelled the cottage connected with the main building and he has just given out the contract to raze the rest of it. When the work is completed Mr. Sullivan will have one of the most attractive estates on the Shore.

MANCHESTER

Chester Dodge, an employee at the Bullock Bros. grocery store, has been enjoying a vacation this week.

The local post, A. L., will hold its next dance on Monday evening, June 7, also one on Friday evening, June 25.

Miss Gladys Tibbetts, of Albion, Me., will assume her duties as teacher of the fifth grade at the George A. Priest school, Manchester, next Monday. She is replacing Miss Ackeman, who was forced to resign because of ill health. Miss Tibbetts is the sister of Fred A. Tibbetts, treasurer of the Manchester Trust Co.

Tomorrow will be Tag Day for the Baseball association, when a number of young ladies will carefully watch the streets to see that nobody escapes without a baseball tag attached to his person. It is hoped the response will be most liberal as the expense of putting on a good team this season is going to be greater than ever before. The season will start Saturday, May 29.

Cards are out for the wedding and wedding reception on Wednesday evening, June 2, of Miss Abbie P. Floyd, only daughter of Town Clerk and Mrs. Lyman W. Floyd, and Dr. Frank A. Willis. The wedding, at 7 o'clock, will be attended by the immediate family connections and a few intimate friends, and the marriage reception will be from 7.30 until 9. The young couple will live this summer in the Swett apartment on Friend st., occupied now by Mr. and Mrs. Franklin.

PARSONS—NESTER

The wedding of Charles Parsons, of Pleasant st., Manchester, and Miss Sarah E. Nester, of 11 Rust st., Salem, was held at the rectory of St. Mary's church, Salem, the first of this week, the double ring service being used.

The bride was charmingly gowned in gray georgette, and she carried carnations. The bridesmaid, Katherine Nester, sister of the bride, was gowned in white and carried sweet peas. Frank Wood was best man.

The bride's gift to the bridesmaid was a string of pearls, and the groom's gift to the best man was a pair of cuff links.

Following the ceremony, a reception was held at the home of the bride's parents. After a short honeymoon trip in New York and Providence, Mr. and Mrs. Parsons will reside on Pleasant st., Manchester.

YOUR LIBERTY BOND!

Liberty Bonds are bound to go to par, that is, they will be redeemable for 100 cents on the dollar within a very few years, according to Charles A. Morss, governor of the Federal Reserve Bank, of Boston.

Mr. Morss points out that it was not expected when the bonds were issued that there would be so heavy a decline in their market price. He also emphasizes the fact that no one could have anticipated investors would ever have such an opportunity as exists today to purchase them at low prices affording high interest yields. The governor feels that large employers should offer opportunities to such purchases on the partial payment plan, similar to the plans employed during the war.

LIBRARY NOTES

New Books in Manchester Public Library

Margaret Widdemer, author of the "Rose-Garden Husband," has brought out an anthology of poems having to do with the return of spirits to earth. It is called "The Haunted Hour." Here you will find "The Phantom Ship," "Haunted Houses," "The Be-leaguered City" and "The Mother's Ghost," by Henry Wadsworth Longfellow. Thomas Hood is represented by "The Supper Superstition," "Pompey's Ghost," "The Ghost" and "Mary's Ghost," all cheerful phantoms, and all worth knowing.

Bret Harte's "Newport Romance" is another good one; also Katherine Tynan's beautiful lyric, "The Old House." Other good ones are "Cape Horn Gospel," by John Masefield; "The Three Ghosts," by Theodosia Garrison; "Haunted," by Louis Untermeyer and "Ghost," by Madison Cawein.

It is interesting as well as instructive to look at the slip in the back of the different volumes of an author's work to see what ones are called for most. Recently I was looking over a set of Mark Twain's works and was surprised to find one volume that had not been taken out. It was "Life on the Mississippi." This is a very entertaining book. The first chapter is devoted to an historical sketch of the river, and the next chapter tells you about its many explorers. His experiences are related in that bright humorous way known only to this author.

In the "Harvard Classics" you have a great variety of choice. "I Promessi Sposi (The Betrothed)," by Count Alessandro Manzoni, is one volume of the "Harvard Classics" that has not been taken out for many years. It is one of the greatest of historical novels, in fact one of the great novels of the world. It gives a vivid description of the plague in Milan in the year 1620. It is the story of the separation of two lovers by a tyrant. The customs and manners of the times are well portrayed.

There are two books by H. Addington Bruce having to do with the bringing up of children. They are "Psychology of Parenthood" and "Handicaps of Childhood," both full of good things for the conscientious parent.

Many changes have taken place in the island continent of Japan since its ports were opened to commerce in 1852 by Commodore Perry. "Japan at First Hand" is a good book to read if you wish to increase your knowledge about a country whose importance is bound to increase.

We are looking for warmer weather and if it ever comes such books as "Every Woman's Flower Garden," by Mary Hampden, and "The Amateur Garden," by George W. Cable, will be in demand.

"American Poetry," edited by Percy H. Boynton, is a good anthology. In it you will find many old friends and you may make new acquaintances that may add much to the richness of your life.

"Common Sense and Labor," by Samuel Crowther, is a good book, both for the employer and the employee. It throws some light on this important subject.

"The Dark Mirror," by Louis Joseph Vance, author of "The Band Box," "The Brass Bowl," "The Black Bag," "The Bronze Bell" and "False Faces," is rather an unusual mystery story.

Carolyn Wells always writes an ingenious story. Her latest, "Raspberry Jam," is no exception.

Next week there will be a note on some of the good things to be found in some of the recent magazines.

—R. T. G.

POLITICAL STRAWS

Leonard Wood continues to be the leader in the Literary Digest's poll of the Presidential sentiment of the country. More than 700,000 ballots have been cast and Wood has a total of 202,039 to 187,140 for Johnson and 169,552 for Hoover. Of Wood's total, 159,010 came from Republicans while Johnson and Hoover had 120,744 and 74,863 respectively from members of the same party.

A cable dispatch from Paris to the Boston Transcript says: "It is no secret that General Wood is popular in France, and that the general staff of the army was disappointed that he was not chosen commander-in-chief of the American Expeditionary Force." Evidently the French experts had a higher regard for Wood than did our own War Department which refused to give him a chance to display his talents on the battlefield.

PERPETUAL PRESIDENT ATHERTON ELECTED WITHOUT OPPOSITION
FOR ANOTHER TERM

Members of Essex County Press club threw dull care to the winds Monday evening, forgetting for a time the high price of printing ink and paper, and assembled at the Relay House, Nahant, for an evening's enjoyment.

A choice banquet, which included clam chowder, steamed clams, baked lobster, and broiled chicken was served under the direction of Mine Host Brann. The iridescent, effervescent and ubiquitous perpetual president, Horace H. Atherton, Jr., of Saugus, kept things humming all the time.

On the tables were genuine cocktail glasses, of the old time color and consistency, apparently; with the olive idling at the bottom, but one taste brought to the face of the tastee an expression not altogether of pleasure, and in a few instances it was thought a few short words were said sotto voce!

The postprandial exercises included, in addition to a variety of pleasing musical selections, remarks by former Atty.-Gen. Atwell, Mayor Creamer, of Lynn, and others, and a wonderful exhibition of rapid picture drawing, with electrical effects by Mr. Barnes, the Essex County Devenport. There were brief reports by the officers and tributes paid to members who have gone over the Great Divide during the past year.

Much amusement was occasioned by the arrival of "Carranza," who was elected perpetual president. Fears were at first entertained that he was a Bolshevik, but after his address delivered from beneath his ambuscade of whiskers, it was decided that he was perfectly harmless. He presided for some time and then fled on the announcement that "Obregon" was approaching.

The reading by Mr. Atherton of an alleged poem from the "Three Partners" closed the program and after "good-nights" were said the merry makers sped home, with remembrances which will brighten the memory many a day.

The Relay House made a hit with all the visitors, which left them with a fixed determination to go back with their friends to this delightful resort whenever the opportunity offers during the summer. The hotel was opened for the season Saturday, so that this visit was in the nature of a rousing house warming.

PARENT-TEACHERS IN ANNUAL MEETING

Manchester Association Elects Officers—Hear Address on "The New Outlook for Education"

THE final meeting of the year of the Manchester Parent-Teacher association was held Wednesday evening in Price school hall, Manchester, and was largely attended. Mrs. Frank L. Floyd, president, called the meeting to order, the first number on the program being a solo by Miss Emily Ferreira. Miss Ferreira sang twice during the evening and her selections were rendered in a very fine manner.

As this was the annual meeting there was considerable business, including reports from various departments and committees.

The secretary's report covering the meetings since last October was read and accepted. The report contained a brief resume of each meeting and showed that the association had held meetings at which splendid programs had been presented.

Treasurer's Report

John O. Matthews, treasurer, presented his second annual report. Cash on hand May, 1919, $160.17; collections during the year, $45.47; interest, $2.67; Pollyanna entertainment, $34.98; total of $243.29. Expenditures for the year amounted to $179.60, leaving a balance on hand May, 1920, $63.69.

The report of the child welfare committee was submitted by Mrs. Grace Beaton, chairman. Mrs. Beaton spoke of the activities of the committee during the past year relating to the health and development of children.

New Officers Elected

Miss Nellie Leonard, chairman of the nominating committee read the following report and it was voted to elect the officers as nominated: Mrs. Arthur Olson, president; Mrs. Waldo Peart, vice-president; Miss Olive Jenness, secretary; Mrs. John O. Matthews, treasurer; Mrs. Grace K. Beaton, chairman, Mrs. Edna Peabody, Dr. R. T. Glendenning, Miss Ellen Long, Mrs. Frank Rowe, Mrs. John Connors, Mrs. Lewis Hooper, child welfare committee; Mrs. Hattie Damon Baker, chairman, Mrs. Wm. Follett, Mrs. Whitmarsh, Miss Lena Jones, Miss Nellie Leonard, visiting and membership committee; Mrs. Edna Floyd, chairman, Mrs. Grace Beaton, John C. Mackin, Mrs. Wm. Hooper, Miss Etta Rabardy, Mrs. Arthur Olson, program committee; Mrs. Edmund Semons, chairman, Mrs. Alexander Cruickshank, Mrs. Allan P. Dennis, Mrs. Lyman W. Floyd, Mrs. Charles Fritz, Mrs. J. Martin Eyberse, Mrs. Elias Burgess, Mrs. Hugh Burke, Mrs. George Cleveland, Mrs. Joseph Kaczmark, Mrs. Patrick Cleary, social committee.

Mrs. Frank Floyd, the retiring president, thanked her associate officers for their coöperation during the past two years she has so ably served the association as its chief executive. She then called Mrs. Arthur Olson, the newly elected president, to the chair, and Mrs. Olson took charge of the meeting. She introduced Burr F. Jones, of the Massachusetts Department of Education, as the speaker of the evening. Mr. Jones' topic was "The New Outlook for Education."

Mr. Jones spoke for an hour on educational matters, with which he is thoroughly familiar. He dwelt for a little time on the present conditions of unrest, stating that "the stage is well set for the educational pessimist and the educational alarmist. The teacher shortage is acute and there is a danger of filling the minds of parents and children with gloom unless someone presents the opposite side of the picture."

Plenty of "Home Training"

"It is easy to find plenty of home training," he said, "but the trouble is to find the home where the children are trained by the parents. I want to challenge your opinion by stating that the conditions of the past two years will prove the greatest boon education has had since the days of Horace Mann."

The speaker reviewed educational conditions in England where public schools were never so free as in the United States. The Fisher act, recently passed in that country, will be very beneficial, he thought.

tion in France, Mr. Jones told of the "cellar schools" which were held in Rheims during the war. For a year the postal authorities considered this district too dangerous for delivery of mails, and yet school sessions were held daily. This shows a little of the tremendous difficulties under which France labored.

Schools a National Institution

"What are some of the benefits which have come to us as a result of the experiences of the last two years? Isn't it true that we now regard schools as a national institution and not as being confined to any one locality? I believe Americans have come to regard education as a great national responsibility.

"When we gathered our army of 4,000,000 men we discovered that 700,000 of them were illiterate, they could not understand the commands given them and could not read the Constitution which they were to protect. We found, much to our satisfaction, that those men did their part quite as well as native-born Americans; but the proportion of illiteracy was alarming."

Another matter brought to our attention by the war was that many school children in America are allowed to grow up with many physical defects which should be corrected during childhood days. One of the glar-

HOW TO DYE

Miss Ripley, of Boston, Gives Valuable Information on This Timely Household Art, in Talk at Manchester

"YOU can commit some 'awful crimes' the minute you begin to dabble in dyeing," said Miss Grace Ripley, of Boston, in her talk before the ladies of Manchester at a dyeing demonstration held in Town hall, Manchester, Wednesday afternoon, under the auspices of the Food Centre. "If you ladies wish to earn some 'pin money,'" she continued, "study the coloring process which is so popular now. Perhaps you have a dress and wish to have a hat to match it, it is a very simple matter to dye an old hat and have just the shade you desire."

Miss Ripley was introduced by Mrs. Wm. Hooper, who spoke somewhat of the activities of the Food Centre during the past three years. Mrs. Hooper commented on the fitness of the Food Centre's swan song being a "dyeing" exhibition.

Oriental Knows His Colors

In her opening remarks Miss Ripley spoke of the close attention paid to coloring in the Orient, stating that one man will dye one color all his life, he will know everything about that color, its various tints and gradations. We, in America, treat the subject in a merely trivial way.

"The equipment necessary to have before one can begin to dye is three large enamelled kettles, six jelly tumblers, a piece of gauze and a tablespoon. Diamond dyes are the best on the market today and I believe they are as represented by the manufacturers. First, mix your three primary colors of red, yellow and blue, and then as many of the secondary colors as you may wish. Use samples of cloth before you attempt to color entire garments."

Miss Ripley's assistant showed how to prepare dyes, and gave practical demonstrations of coloring silks, cloths, artificial flowers, slippers, etc. Silks, georgette, crepe de chine, charmeuse, and china silk are easy to dye, it was explained.

Remove the "Sizing"

Many ladies complain that dyes ruin the fabric of the cloth, but Miss Ripley explained this by saying that most people do not understand the prime necessity of properly preparing the article before they attempt to color it. She spoke of the "sizing" which is present in many silks and cloths. This can be detected by rubbing the cloth with the thumb, and a thin powder will be seen on the thumb nail if the sizing is present. Another way to detect its presence is by soaking it in water and noticing the scum which rises to the surface.

To prepare adulterated silk, or that containing substances other than pure silk, put into cold water, add two tablespoons of cooking soda, and bring water to a boil. Chiffon also has to be treated in the same manner.

Cloth Must be Clean

"Prussian dyes are the best in the world," the speaker declared. "We have not yet been able to equal the purity of their colors. However, I wish to impress on the minds of every person present, the necessity for thoroughly cleaning every piece of cloth which you wish to dye. It is impossible to properly color any piece of cloth which is dirty."

"If you spoil a piece of work, do not throw it away. Use P. & G. soap, make a strong solution, and it will boil out almost white."

Samples of various kinds of dress goods, in a number of colors, were worn by one of Miss Ripley's assistants, and an opportunity was given the ladies to examine the colorings and designs.

How to Freshen Evening Gowns

"A discouraged, weary-looking, green, party dress can be de-colored, then dyed and a little later appear as a fresh, pink, new-appearing evening gown. Use cotton dyes for cotton goods, silk dyes for silks and the so-called 'radium' or wood fibre cloths. Artificial flowers, old straw hats, etc., can be made fresh and serviceable. Melt the dye in wood alcohol and spray from an atomizer." Miss Ripley demonstrated how this was done.

She cautioned her hearers about using gasoline in the house for any purpose whatever, telling them it was far safer to keep the gas out-of-doors where there was plenty of room for it to roam, should it so desire!

"It is impossible to cover certain stains, such as fruit stains. Georgette blouses can be re-dyed very easily, it is important that the goods be thoroughly cleaned before you start the process, however. If the blouses are stitched with a cheap, cotton thread, that will cause trouble as the dye will not cling to the threads. You will have to re-stitch, using silk thread."

"I use Lux for washing feathers or plumes. Taffeta can be colored if care is used. To dye velvet treat it the same as silk, and then press it on a velvet pressing board which can be purchased from any large dressmaking establishment."

A Valuable Hint

"I am going to tell you ladies a valuable trick to remember while dyeing satin. Keep the satin in motion while it is drying, do not allow it to rest until well dried. Never dry it in the sun as it might become streaked. Many times the amateur can do better work than the professional because the former takes more time and pays more attention to little details."

In closing, Miss Ripley said: "One of the deplorable things about Americans is that they dislike taking time enough to think things out for themselves. Our grandmothers had plenty of initiative, but we seem to have lost that attribute, due perhaps to being able to purchase so many articles ready-made and not being obliged to make them for ourselves. This is a distinct loss, I believe. I hope the ladies in Manchester will have confidence enough to start dyeing, and in a short time I am sure you will notice very appreciable progress."

Many questions were asked of Miss Ripley, at the conclusion of her talk. The attendance was good and every person seemed greatly interested in the lecture and the demonstrations which accompanied it.

MAGNOLIA

(Up to the time of going to press with this page at 2 o'clock Thursday, the Magnolia correspondence had not reached the editor's desk. The Magnolia notes may be found on another page this week.—Ed.)

IS NOT DANGEROUS

LICKING POSTAGE STAMPS DOES BUT LITTLE HARM

"Are postage stamps dangerous?" asks American Medicine, and comes to the reassuring conclusion:

"The hygienic lesson that people should not lick postage stamps is certainly sound. Nevertheless this practice is scarcely to be construed as a potential danger compared with the eating and drinking which are so essential for sustenance, but are responsible for a large measure of bacteriological contamination of the oral cavity."

Simple Acts Are Hazardous

In reaching its conclusion, American Medicine says in part:

"From time to time attention is drawn to many of the simple acts of life which contain a slight hazard to health and, unfortunately, such items are too frequently overstressed. In the complexity of modern social intercourse, the growth of transportation, the increased contacts of human beings, it is impossible to live without some degree of exposure to a vast variety of incidents which might be productive of bacterial contamination.

"It is unfortunate, however, to have life consist of a series of fears. There are sufficient real dangers from bacterial carriers to appreciate the minimum dangers which may be said to lurk in various routine performances of daily life.

No Stamp Free From Germs

"J. Diner and G. Horstman secured postage stamps from 50 different places and note was made whether they were kept exposed on the desk or were held for sale in a drawer or cash register. Laboratory tests were then made to determine the bacterial content of the stamps. No stamp was free from germs. Twenty contained colonies too numerous to count. There appears to be very little difference in the growth secured from stamps which were exposed on the desk and those held in the drawer.

"It must not be forgotten that most mouths will reveal the existence of most of these organisms without making use of a postage stamp. Were stamps a grave source of infection, a very large percentage of the population would undoubtedly be suffering from some infection due to this cause because of the commonness of the method of licking postage stamps.

Sterile Mouth Does Not Exist

"The sterile mouth probably does not exist, and a certain degree of protection has been developed by the mucous membrane so that there is more or less general success in overcoming the large proportion of the supposedly infective bacteria. Under these circumstances the mere demonstration of the bacterial content of postage stamps does not serve as an indictment against them from the standpoint of public health."

ONE OF THE PRESIDENT'S FAVORITE STORIES

While at the Peace Conference, Pres. Wilson told the following anecdote:

"There was a Chinaman who, when taking water out of a well and seeing the reflection of the moon, said to himself, 'Oh, this is very serious, indeed. The moon has fallen into the well and it is my duty to try to take it out.' Then he dropped his bucket and pulled as hard as he could—so hard that he fell on his back—and on looking up saw the moon in the sky. To himself he then said, 'Well, that is good work!'"

IT WAS COMING TO HIM

"Hi!" yelled the loud mouthed person at the man chasing his hat down the street. "Why don't you nail it on?"

"That's what I'd do," remarked the hatless, "if my head was made of the same material yours is."

Goodwin, commander of the 101st Field Artillery, and a friend of the late Capt. N. S. Simpkins, Jr., will deliver the address.

The ladies of St. John's church were entertained yesterday afternoon by Mrs. Russell Burrage, at her home on Preston pl. Mrs. Burrage has lived at Beverly Farms all winter, and has taken an active interest in the work at St. John's. It was to talk over plans for the summer that the meeting was held yesterday. Afternoon tea was served. The ladies from the village and from Manchester were conveyed to Mrs. Burrage's by ten automobiles.

GENERAL EDWARDS TO BE IN BEVERLY FARMS MEMORIAL DAY

General Edwards will be the guest of Beverly Farms people on Memorial Day in the afternoon. He will arrive in time to take part and give an address at 3 o'clock at the unveiling of the honor tablet at the Beverly Farms public library. In order that the tablet exercises may start as near 3 o'clock as possible the usual Memorial Day program will commence at 1 p. m. The route of march will be somewhat shorter than usual, but the decorating of the graves of the soldier and sailor dead and the conducting of the ritual service will be the same as in former years.

LEGION TEAM OPENS SEASON WITH 9 TO 8 VICTORY

The newly formed Beverly Farms A. L. ball team commenced the season last Saturday afternoon at the playgrounds in a proper manner by defeating the Centerville A. C. in a close and well played game, 9 to 8. Parkinson, who was on the mound for Centerville sent 12 Legionnaires over the strikeout route. For the Beverly Farms team the battery for the first four innings was Murphy and McDonnell, and the rest of the game, Gillis and Lawlor. Considering this was the first game of the season both batteries did good work. Another feature was the home run made by Nolan of the Farms team.

PASSES THE 70TH MILESTONE IN LIFE'S JOURNEY

Lewis A. Voorhees, of 32 West st., Beverly Farms, celebrated the 70th anniversary of his birth, on Monday last, receiving calls from relatives and friends to congratulate him on the event. He was born in Salem, May 17, 1850, and educated in the Salem public schools. After leaving school he satisfied a longing to go to sea and made a number of voyages to Australia, Hong Kong, Singapore, Manila, and points important in the East India trade, sailing out of Salem on some of the fine ships of those days. Completing his seafaring life he entered the employ of the Old Eastern Railroad as a fireman and later be-

His services with the railroad continued until a few months ago and covered a period of more than 47 years with the Eastern and its successor, the Boston & Maine. Mr. Voorhees and his wife make their home with their daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. James E. McDonnell.

SUNDAY AT ST. JOHN'S

Whitsunday will be observed at St. John's church Sunday, with Holy Communion at 8 a. m., morning prayer, Holy Communion and sermon at 11 a. m. Memorial services, with the patriotic orders, will be held at 4 p. m. Col. Robert E. Goodwin, of Boston, will deliver the address.

Commencing May 1, the closing time of Peter Gaudreault's barber shop, opposite postoffice, on Saturday evenings, will be at 9 instead of 9.30, this change being in accordance with the rules of the Salem local, No. 385, Barbers' Union. On other days the closing hour will be 8 p. m., Mondays at 12 noon.

BEVERLY FARMS

Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence W. Holman, of Gorham, Me., have spent the past week at Beverly Farms visiting friends.

J. S. Raymond, who occupied the Amory cottage all winter, moved to the Pollard estate in East Gloucester on Saturday last.

Allen Townsend, of Brighton, who was at Sheldon's Market, Manchester, last year, is employed at Lally's Market, Beverly Farms, this season, coming here when the market opened several weeks ago.

At last Monday evening's meeting of the Beverly Board of Aldermen the order was adopted which called for an appropriation of $2300 for repairs at the West st. engine house and G. A. R. hall at Beverly Farms and the Centerville fire station.

The local ball team has arranged a game with the strong Beverly Y. M. C. A. team to be played at the Beverly Farms playgrounds on the forenoon of Memorial Day.

J. Sewall Day has purchased the Clark cottage house at Montserrat. He is to be married in June to Miss Mollie Davis and the above-named place will be their future home.

George Gardner, who was for five years the meat-cutter at Brewer's Market, and also at Sheldon's Market, Manchester, will fill the position as meat-cutter at Lally's this summer, coming from Boston June 1.

The Beverly Board of Aldermen have passed an order appropriating $1798 for the installing this year of curbstones at Beverly Farms. This is carrying out the policy of the past few years of installing a certain amount of curb annually.

The Beverly police have drawn for their vacations and the members who live at Beverly Farms secured the following dates: Calvin L. Williams, June 1 to 15; Thomas J. McDonnell, August 24 to Sept. 7; Daniel J. Murphy, October 19 to November 2.

MEMORIAL DAY PROGRAM

After the regular Memorial Day program of decorating the graves and conducting the ritual service at the cemetery, appropriate exercises will be held at the Beverly Farms public library. The exercises will commence shortly after 3 o'clock by unveiling the tablet erected in honor of the Beverly Farms boys who gave their services in the great world war. The tablet has inscribed upon it more than 130 names, is of bronze and is very beautiful.

The program in part consists as follows: The organizations will march to the library, where General Edwards will be received. Senator Augustus P. Loring will be the presiding officer and make an address. Prayer will be offered, followed by selections by the band. The tablet will then be unveiled by members of Preston post, 188, G. A. R., and an address given by General Edwards, who will present the three French war certificates to members of the families of the boys who made the supreme sacrifice. The exercises will take place in front of the library, where the tablet will temporarily be placed.

MANCHESTER

Green & Swett Co. have opened their Manchester branch store for the sale of automobile accessories and supplies, and as last year the store is in charge of Frank J. Reid. The building has been improved this spring.

Holders of 1st 4s, 2d 4s and 3d 4½ Liberty Bonds are urged to leave same with the Manchester Trust Co. for exchange into permanent bonds. The bank is now ready to make delivery of 2d 4s and 3d 4½ bonds left with them for exchange prior to May 7. Due to the crowded condition of the vaults, it is requested that parties holding receipts for such bonds, present the receipts for delivery of bonds as soon as is convenient.

ments of the past few years. Two thousand teachers in Massachusetts' schools now average $850. Elementary school teachers have received an increase of 98 percent in pay. Governor Coolidge has well said: 'No price is too great to pay for education.'

"We have come to realize more fully that our teachers do not instruct the pupils in book learning only, but that they are really developing the right style of future citizens. Pupils should be trained along lines for which they have a special adaptability.

Higher Ideals of Living

"I plead for the type of intelligent education so well exemplified by one of our great Americans, Henry James. Let us train our boys and girls to have higher ideals of living. One of the great tasks confronting public society today is to perpetuate the fine ideals we had during the months of the war."

Mr. Jones summed up his message thus: "The task is clearly defined, the teachers will have the benefit of more favorable financial conditions, and the people of the United States are backing them up in their endeavors. We must push for better schools which will be a credit to our fair land."

Refreshments of ice cream and cake were served at the close of the meeting and a social hour enjoyed. This is the last meeting of the present school year.

ing defects was the lack of proper dental attention.

Chewing Gum vs. Education

"In the north we spend from $40 to $50 per child for schooling, in the south the amount is down to $10 or less. Secretary Lane recently inquired: 'What should be said for democracy where twice as much is spent annually for chewing gum than is spent for text books?'

"However, in the past two years we have diagnosed the case, discovered both our strong and weak points. There are 21 states which have already passed continuous education acts and

BUILD FOR THE FUTURE

YOUNG MEN OF TODAY HAVE MANY EXCEPTIONAL OPPORTUNITIES

"Were it not for a few loyal employees who have been with us practically since boyhood, we do not see how we could have made our business function during the past four years. The new people we have been able to secure show a spirit of independence and indifference: a lack of ambition and a total barrenness of thrift. They watch the clock and sigh for pay day, and about once a month they think a raise in pay is due them. They are of little assistance to the organization and no help to themselves. They are building no future."

Excellent Positions Go Begging

The above remark was made the other day by a well-known Hartford business man, employing about sixty persons, and for every member of his working force who shows interest and ambition there is an assured future. Ten years ago, well-to-do men would have paid a bonus for the privilege of securing for their sons a position in this establishment, but now positions in this preferred line of business go begging.

Aim to "Own the Concern"

Young men today—not all of them, but a majority of them—have little or no thought of building a future. They are spoiled by money they do not begin to earn and by the evil of too much time for loafing. They do not learn to economize their time or save their money. They have no ambition "to own the concern." And that is what every young man should aim to do, sooner or later to own the business for which he works, or a better one.

The average young man doesn't know it, but if he were to begin tomorrow morning to give his best to the business for which he is working he actually would be making his first payment on the business and just as sure as the sun rises in the east he would one day own the equivalent of the business to which he resolved to give all he had to give—his study, thought and energy.

Buck up, young man!

Sluggards Will Walk the Plank

Never were there so many sluggards as there are today, and never were there so many golden opportunities. When the mad rush is over—and it will be over one of these days—the sluggards, the ornaments, the non-producers, will go. They'll walk the plank, you bet, and the old-fashioned fellow, the worried-looking-chap with the round shoulders from carrying more than his share of the load, will be made an executive or more likely

CUSTOM OF GIVING FLOWERS DIFFERS IN VARIOUS COUNTRIES

"When Jenny Lind was in Vienna, years ago, a lover learned millinery and floristry so that he might sew in her hat daily three red roses as a tribute to her art. He might have sent huge baskets to her over the footlights. But this method was more delicate. And Jenny Lind was pleased. Princess Metternich, too, used to wear flowers in her hat, according to a prominent florist, who trimmed exotic millinery for her daily."

Muri Silba, the pianist, who sends her flowers to a hospital, declares that Americans are far behind most European countries in the art of presenting flowers to musicians and actresses across the footlights.

"American men order flowers in large quantities, to be passed over the footlights ostentatiously by indifferent ushers," she says. "In Europe flowers are thrown on the stage, and are immediately acknowledged by the smile of the artist. Or they are presented in some other way which shows personal thought and effort on the part of the giver."

"In France, as in Germany, flowers are given not for their size and conspicuousness, but always with some potent meaning. They are given personally; they are selected with thought. Charlotte Wolder, the singer, expressed a preference for fresh-picked violets. An admirer went off to the Riviera and arranged to have fresh-picked violets sent to the singer by courier every day. Fiuri was an Italian singer. A lover of hers sent down into Italy so that she might have the small white daisies she was so fond of.

"In Italy they are impulsive flower givers. Here, as in Spain, they were wont to decorate the carriages and horses that draw the artist; to throw flowers on the ground before the horses, or even to unhitch the horses and draw the carriage with ropes of flowers. In Rumania, too, they were exuberant and extravagant in their gifts. They threw flowers from the windows so that they fell upon the head and all around the artist. The gift was impersonal. It was not made with the hope of reward, but as a tribute to the artist."

"In Russia, in the old days of aristocracy, there was something besides mere disinterestedness in the passage of a few posies over the footlights. Flowers, seemingly innocent, were often merely used as a camouflage for more costly gifts. Sometimes a pair of slippers with ruby buckles or a pearl necklace was concealed among the flowers which the singer received in full view of the audience. Russians were very lavish in their gifts of flowers.

"In Russia the industry of flower cultivation was in advance of most other countries. Russia, for example, was the first country to develop the forcing of lilacs in winter. But candies, too, were used as a camouflage for less innocent gifts. Candies to ladies were often wrapped in hundred ruble notes."

"There are two countries which have not the custom of giving flowers to artists," added Muri Silba laughingly. "One is Iceland, where they have almost no flowers; the other is Japan. And in Japan, the giving of flowers is considered to be too personal to be made personally; flower gifts are made in privacy."—New York Evening Sun.

SOCIETY NOTES

MR. AND MRS. GODFREY LOWELL CABOT, of Cambridge, will be among the early June arrivals at Beverly Farms. While the family is now grown up and married—all but the youngest son—John Moors Cabot—and are settled in homes of their own, they will all spend much of their time this summer at “The Oakes,” in Beverly Farms. Mr. and Mrs. James J. Cabot make their home in Charleston, W. Va.; Thomas D. Cabot and his bride live in Spencer, W. Va., and Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Bradley make their home at 845 Boylston st., Boston.

Miss Mary C. Thornton and Mrs. T. M. Elwell arrived at their summer home in Magnolia last Friday for the season. They have passed most of the winter in Lexington.

Mrs. W. Scott Fitz, of Boston, arrived at “The Narrows,” her summer home near Singing Beach, Manchester, this week. She will remain all summer, going to the White Mountains in early September, as usual, for an autumn visit.

Chas. W. Smith and family, of Germantown, Pa., are among the week's arrivals at Magnolia, where they own a cottage.

Walter L. Hobbs and family, of Brookline, will occupy Miss Rodman's house at Nahant this summer. The lease was made through the office of Meredith & Grew, of Boston.

Mr. and Mrs. Frederic R. Galacar and family, of 74 Mt. Vernon st., Boston, have arrived at Beverly Farms for the season.

Charles H. Hood and family, of Somerville, have arrived at “Cherry Hill Farm,” at North Beverly, for the summer.

Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Wyman, of 260 Clarendon st., Boston, plan to come to the cottage at 53 Lothrop st., Beverly, where they spend their summers, on June 2.

Misses Abbie W. and Helen Covell, of Bay State rd., Boston, will not come to Magnolia this summer, but will go to Harvard, Mass. Their house on Magnolia Point will be rented for the season.

Women's Educational and Industrial Union cake may be had fresh from day to day at the Page & Shaw Tea Room, Pride's Crossing. adv.

SOCIETY NOTES

COOLEDGE'S POINT colony, at Manchester, will be augmented the coming week by the arrival of Hon. T. Jefferson Coolidge, of Boston, who will move down on Wednesday. Hon. and Mrs. Edward M. House plan to come on from New York next Friday and Dr. Anderson and daughter, of 1085 Beacon st., Brookline, will open the “Lily Pond Cottage” on the 10th.

F. H. Allyn and family, of Pelham Manor, N. Y., who spent last summer at the Coolidge Farm House, so-called, will return to Coolidge's Point this season, but they will occupy the Aspinwall house.

Miss Elaine Dénegre has been at the Essex County club, Manchester, the past week awaiting the arrival of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Walter D. Dénegre. The latter will come on very shortly and will go to “Villa Crest,” their West Manchester home, which is being opened.

“The Gables” is the name that has been given to the newly remodelled house on Proctor st., Manchester, where Mr. and Mrs. Chas. P. Curtis, Jr., of Boston, are to spend the summer. This was formerly used as a studio by Mrs. Maynard Ladd, but during the past winter and spring it has been rebuilt and made into a most attractive residence, looking over the Manchester inner harbor. They expect to occupy the place about the 15th of June.

Miss Mary Haven, of Boston, has arrived at her cottage on the Haven estate, Beverly Farms, for the season.

Mrs. N. S. Simpkins, Jr., and children, have moved from Boston to their cottage in Beverly Farms for the summer.

Mr. and Mrs. Matthew Bartlett (Serita Lincoln), of 15 Gloucester st., Boston, with their two children, will be among the early June arrivals at Beverly Farms, where they will occupy a cottage on Grove st., as last year.

Mr. and Mrs. Valentine Hollingsworth (Ruby McCormack) have returned from their honeymoon trip and are at Beverly Farms, where they are occupying the Littleton cottage, not far from where Mrs. Hollingsworth's sister, Mrs. Marshal Fabyan, and family, are also settled for the season.

DR. J. HENRY LANCASHIRE and family have closed their New York residence at 7 East 75th st., and are at "Graftonwood," their delightful estate at Dana's beach, Manchester, for a long season, as usual.

Dr. and Mrs. Maynard Ladd, of Boston, long summer residents of Manchester, have occupied this week their new home, "Arden," on Preston pl., at Beverly Farms. The cottage, recently purchased from Russell C. Burrage, has been remodelled by Thomas C. Kerens, of Salem, and the barn transformed into a large studio for Mrs. Ladd.

♦ ♦ ♦

Mr. and Mrs. Louis Bacon (Mary Southerland), of 15 Marlboro st., Boston, who have spent the last two months abroad, returned a few days ago on the Adriatic and went directly to their summer place at Nahant. Save for a short stay in Paris, they were the guests of Mrs. Bacon's brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. Butler Wright (Harriet Southerland) at their home in London, where Mr. Wright is attached to the American embassy as councillor.

♦ ♦ ♦

Mr. and Mrs. William R. Castle, Jr., who have been making their home in Washington for the past few years, will spend the summer at the Oceanside hotel, Magnolia.

♦ ♦ ♦

Mrs. Geo. M. Studebaker, of Tippecanoe pl., South Bend, Ind., who is well known along the North Shore, will come on to her estate at Little Boar's Head, N. H., next week.

♦ ♦ ♦

The Porter Pollocks, of Youngstown, Ohio, have arrived at Magnolia for the summer. They are occupying the Hayden house in Magnolia village.

A special thermotak container for ice cream at Page & Shaw's Tea Room, Pride's Crossing, will keep contents hot or cold. Good for auto parties and will last for years.

MR. AND MRS. J. A. LOWELL BLAKE and two children, Francis S. Blake, 2d, and Anne Blake, of 37 Beacon st., Boston, will spend the summer at Beverly Farms, as usual. They have been having some improvements made to their cottage, at Malt Hill, all spring, but it is expected everything will soon be in shape for early occupancy.

◆◆◆

Mrs. John R. Williams plans to come on to Beverly Farms early in June to occupy "Edgewater," the Leiter estate, so picturesquely located on West Beach. Col. Williams died a year ago, but Mrs. Williams will come on from Washington for a quiet summer, and her daughter, Mrs. Joseph Leiter and family will join her in mid-summer for an extended visit.

◆◆◆

Bernard C. Weld and family, of 70 Marlboro st., Boston, will come to Beverly Farms toward the middle of June, and will again occupy the George Lee small cottage, near West Beach. Their son, George S., and 15-year-old daughter, Frances S., will be with them, as usual; also Mrs. Weld's sister, Miss Susanna L. Stephenson.

◆◆◆

Theodore C. Hollander will spend the summer at "Craigston," Dodge row, Wenham Neck, and will not open his house on Mystery Island this year. Usually Mr. Hollander opens his Wenham Neck place for the spring and autumn, going to the Island for the midsummer, but this year he will not open the bungalow on the Island at all.

◆◆◆

Mr. and Mrs. Edward S. Foster, of Winchester, who usually come to their cottage on Shore rd., Magnolia, for the season, will go abroad this summer.

◆◆◆

Among the newcomers to the cottage colony at West Manchester this season will be Mr. and Mrs. Frederick F. Rhodes, of St. Paul st., Brookline, who usually go to the Oceanside hotel at Magnolia. They will occupy the small Abbott cottage on Harbor st.

CHILDREN'S HAIRCUTTING A SPECIALTY

PROPERTY known as Grasshead, at Little's Point, Swampscott, has been sold by the trustees of the Phillips Beach Trust to Mrs. Margaret L. Mitton, wife of Richard Mitton, of the Jordan Marsh Company, Boston. This estate consists of about one and one-half acres, forming the most prominent point in that section of Swampscott, with an ocean frontage of three hundred and twenty feet. With the Park Reservation adjoining this property on the easterly side, where a private boat landing and two swimming pools are constructed, there is an unobstructed ocean view from Nahant to Marblehead and the Manchester shore. After alterations, to be completed early next spring, the place will be occupied by the new owner.

In connection with this sale a lot of land is conveyed by the same grantors to the said grantee. It is located on a private way off Phillips Beach ave., containing about five-eighths of an acre with two barns and a dwelling house. These buildings will be removed and a garage with chauffeur's quarters will be built. The remainder of the land will be used for garden purposes. This transaction was negotiated by George A. Dill.

Pauline Frederick in "The Palsier Case" at the Larcom theatre, Beverly, June 9 and 10. adv.

THE GOSPEL OF LABOR

This is the gospel of labor, ring it, ye bells of the kirk!
The Lord of Love came down from above, to live with the men who work.

This is the rose that He planted, there in the thorn-curst soil:

Heaven is blest with perfect rest, but the blessing of Earth is toil.

MR. AND MRS. JOHN R. MCGINLEY have arrived at Manchester, after spending the winter in New York. They are at the Churchman cottage on Proctor st. for a few weeks while they await the completion of the extensive construction work on their house on Smith's Point, which has been in progress since last fall. Their son, Thomas Atterbury McGinley and family, of Sewickley, Pa., will occupy the Churchman cottage again this summer.

Edward Hussey Alsop and family, of Pace's Ferry rd., Atlanta, Ga., are among the week's arrivals at Manchester. They are again occupying one of the Harris houses on Smith's Point.

"It seems impossible to think that the same nation that sent its sons to sacrifice themselves in the World war is now quite impervious to the appeals of Europe. The general slackening and reaction from the activities of 18 months ago must not infect our juniors. The situation is getting worse and worse. No one is willing to give even five minutes to reconstruction work for Europe. Our juniors must lead the way toward a less selfish attitude for the sufferings of Europe." Thus spoke Miss Frances G. Curtis, of Boston and Manchester, one day recently at a meeting of the Junior Red Cross in Boston.

Mr. and Mrs. Chas. A. Read, of "Read's Island," Manchester, expect a visit this summer from their daughter-in-law, Mrs. Chas. A. Read, Jr., and little child, who make their home in Lima, Peru, S. A. Mrs. Read was Helen L. Appleton. Mr. and Mrs. Read have made their home in South America since their marriage two years ago. Norman H. Read, who is now in Texas, will also be on to Manchester for a visit during the mid-summer.

The Marbleheads and Nahant, Swampscott and Picturesque Shore Line Already Alive with Visitors

ORLANDO ROULAND, the celebrated New York portrait painter, is planning to spend his second summer at Marblehead, together with Mrs. Rouland. He will have a studio this year where he will carry on his work.

Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Eliot Guild, of Nahant, are spending some time this spring at Lenox.

Mr. and Mrs. Edgar N. Wrightington, of Longwood, whose summer home at Marblehead Neck was completed last fall, have been spending the spring months at Hot Springs, Va.

Mrs. Lawrence V. Bartlett, of Lynn, who is active in the drive for Smith college endowment fund, will hold a bridge party at the Phillips Beach Neighborhood club, June 8, at which it is expected there will be a large attendance.

Walter Clark, of the Eastern Yacht club, has been at Bristol the past week looking over the work being done on his craft, the Irolita, one of the large schooners to make Marblehead harbor its home port this summer.

Mrs. Ellis Hollingsworth, of Marblehead Neck, spent the winter in New York and after spending the spring in South Braintree will come to the Neck. The house is being put in order, the paint being renewed and the window boxes and garden plots being filled for the summer. Mrs. Hollingsworth's gardens are very lovely each year and the gardener takes great pride in his display. The truck garden, which supplies fresh vegetables for the house, has also been planted.

John J. Martin, of the Boston Yacht club, intends to race for the Manhasset Bay cup with his class P sloop, Wsaka II, which is well-known to Marblehead waters.

John G. Alden, representing the Corinthian Yacht club, has entered his yawl Senta in the 285-mile ocean race of the Brooklyn Yacht club to be sailed next July.

W. Starling Burgess, of Marblehead, who is sailing on the Vanitie, has been elected to a membership in the New York Yacht club.

Miss Sarah Turner, who has been spending the winter in California, has arrived in Marblehead for the summer.

MRS. ALEXANDER MCGREGOR, of Clifton, who is one of the active women of the Tedesco Country club, is playing in the Women's Golf association, of Boston, championship at Belmont Springs this week.

Mrs. R. F. Kimball, of Clifton, and Mrs. P. M. Keene, of Swampscott, prominent Tedesco Country club players, in the golfing section, are interested in the spring tournaments which are being held at the various clubs throughout the state by the Women's Golf association, of Boston.

Arthur Marlowe, the British vice-consul at Boston, and his family, will spend their second season at the Clifton shore, being located on Winthrop ave.

Mrs. Clara M. Ackerman has bought the handsome Gale property at 202 Atlantic ave., Phillips beach, and will make her home there this summer.

The Yale clubs, of New England, were entertained at the Tedesco Country club, May 22, as the guests of the Yale club, of Boston, at which more than 100 members were present. Brewer Eddy, of Boston, made the address following the dinner.

Miss Frances Kemble, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. Parker Kemble, of Marblehead, is one of the young ladies interested in Girl Scouting and is serving as captain in one of the Marblehead troops.

William T. McLaughlin, of Belmont, will occupy his new property on Ticehurst lane, Clifton, this year, having bought it recently from the estate of the late Enmons R. Ellis.

Miss Mary Grabow, of the New Ocean House, Swampscott, will be one of the popular members of the younger set at this big hotel during the season.

Mrs. Emma E. Spinney, of Melrose Highlands, is a newcomer to the Swampscott colony, having purchased property on Aspen rd.

Frank H. Russell, manager of the Curtis Engineering Works, who now lives in Garden City, N. Y., has been visiting in Marblehead the past week.

DEEP DILEMMA

Visitor: "Whatever is the matter?"

The Other: "I don't know what to do! If I buy new things, I sha'n't have any money left to go away with, and if I don't buy new things, what's the good of going away?"
—London Bystander.

ONE ADVANTAGE

"Why do you feed every tramp who comes along? They never do any work for you."

"No," said his wife, "but it is quite a satisfaction to see a man eat a meal without finding fault with the cooking."—Philadelphia Watchman-Examiner.

EASTERN POINT.—The first hotel to open for the season is the Delphine, situated near Hawthorne rd. and under the usual management of A. Simpson Lyle. The Harbor View, nearer Rocky Neck's picturesque cove, is also opening under the management of John W. Sheedy, who had a successful season last year. The other houses, Merrill Hall, Beachcroft, Fairview and Rockaway, are preparing for an early opening. The Hawthorne Inn will not open until the middle of June.

Henry Plympton Spaulding and daughter, of Brookline, were at the Spaulding cottage on Grape Vine rd. for last week-end. The house will be occupied again this season by Mrs. Charles W. Kettell.

Mrs. Robert C. Rathbone, of New York, has arrived at her summer home, "Hycienda," Eastern Point, for the season. Mrs. Rathbone is one of the residents of the colony coming very early and remaining late in this lovely section of the North Shore.

Louise Allen Hobbs, the sculptor, expects to arrive this week at her studio cottage on Grape Vine rd., in the pretty orchard colony.

Albert H. Atkins, the Boston sculptor, expects to spend his summers again in East Gloucester and he will arrive in a short time.

Walter J. Fenn, the artist, who has been spending the winter in various places, has opened his studio on Rocky Neck ave., a part of which he will again devote to furnishing artists' materials.

BASS ROCKS.—Owing to the highway repairs being made on the Atlantic rd., or shore boulevard, from Bass Rocks to Eastern Point, the road has been closed to travel until the surface has been completed. Although this is a disappointment to autoists taking this beautiful drive along the Shore, yet the road when finished will be greatly appreciated. The workmen are now coming close to the part of the boulevard which is thoroughly in need of repairs. Automobiles may go as far as Hotel Moorland. If it is desired to continue to the Eastern Point shore road a turn can be taken up around the Moorland to Mr. Pleasant ave. and thence to the end of the avenue to Ledge rd., leading to the Gallery-on-the-Moors, adjoining finally to Grape Vine Cove rd.

Mrs. Ellis Mendell is one of the first cottage residents in Holy Row, Atlantic rd., Bass Rocks, to open their houses for the season.

The Thorwald hotel is receiving some extensive repairs prior to an early opening for the summer season.

Another week will bring a number of the Bass Rocks cottagers to the seashore for the season.

Mrs. J. F. Smithwick, of Memphis, Tenn., is expected the coming week to prepare "Seaways," the Farnsworth cottage on Nautilus rd., Bass Rocks, for occupancy. The

Selling Happiness Instead of Furniture

"Happiness" is really what we have to sell to owners of summer homes on the North Shore. It is more than porch and interior decorations. It is the happiness that only a background of artistic and comfortable furnishings can give to summertime. No home is too large—none too small—for our kind of happiness.

ROCKPORT.—Cottages along the Rockport shore, especially Land's End, have rented well for the season. The two hotels in this section—Turk's Head and Straitsmouth Inns—will open as usual this season, the latter house within two weeks, when a number of guests will arrive.

J. Nelson Manning, of Brookline, will occupy the cottage of Dr. Gage, Flat Point, Land's End, for the season.

The Whitman cottage at Flat Point has been rented to Walter Whitehead, of Medford, for the summer.

J. W. Buzzell, of Washington, D. C., will occupy the Dr. C. B. Hall cottage at Flat Point, Rockport, this season.

The T. H. Garrett cottage at Land's End, Rockport, has been leased for the season by Leonard Graham, of Camden, S. C.

Russell K. Pratt, of Boston, will occupy with his family the C. A. Brown cottage at Land's End, Rockport.

Ruel Beach, of Cambridge, has taken the Lane cottage at Land's End, Rockport, for the season.

The Babson cottage at Flat Point, Land's End, Rockport, will be taken this season by Henry Guild, of Cambridge.

Twinlight cottage at Flat Point, Land's End, Rockport, will be occupied by Charles H. Hodgkinson and family, of Boston.

Benjamin F. White, of Newton Centre, has taken a lease of the Fracker cottage on Rockport Headlands, for the summer.

The Clifford House, at Pigeon Cove, entertained a number of college student guests this month.

The two C. B. Martin cottages at Land's End, on Tre-gony Bow, near Turk's Head Inn, have been rented for this season. Cottage No. 2 will be taken by Robert M. Dewey, of Northampton, and cottage No. 4, to C. Blackwell, of Boston.

The Edward hotel at Pigeon Cove will open the middle of June, as usual, under the management of Ella T. Maguire, of Pittsburg, Pa.

The Ocean View will be opened this season about the middle of June, under the management, as usual, of Mr. and Mrs. George P. Chick.

ANNISQUAM.—Owing to the lateness of the season the Annisquam colony has not as many early arrivals as usual, but on the holiday and steadily afterwards the people will come to their cottages.

Mrs. M. C. Cann, who conducts the "Beach cottage," Annisquam, has arrived for the season.

The Village Hall library, which has been open every Monday afternoon during the winter, began the summer schedule on Thursday evening. The rooms will be open every Monday afternoon and Thursday evening.

Mrs. Mary Nash and son, Oliver, of Cambridge, were at their cottage in Chester square for the first of the week.

Miss Marion Graves, of Cambridge, has been spending a few days at her cottage on Annisquam heights. She will occupy it later for the season.

"A woman came into the office the other day and she was so cross-eyed that the tears ran down her back."

"You couldn't do anything for her, could you?"

"Yes, indeed. We treated her for bacteria."

DISCRETION, THE BETTER PART OF VERACITY

THE BIRDS OF CAPE ANN

By A. G. TUPPER

WHAT is more beautiful than the song of the bird? Nature is crowned with the glory of fresh green, now in the youth of the summer season. Tender and green are the budding trees and soft and velvety are the coverings over the landscape—the fields and the slopes, where the dandelions glow yellow and the bluets reflect the smile of the spring sky. The whole earth may be beautiful with leaf and blossom, but what if the little feathered life, with its gay color and the songs from the little happy throats were left out, how would we feel? We do not care to think that such a calamity would reach our hearts! We want to sing with the Psalmist—"Make a joyful noise unto the Lord, all the earth: Make a loud noise and rejoice and sing praise; let the sea-roar and the fullness thereof; the world and they that dwell therein; let the hills be joyful together before God!" These feathered beauties that flit from branch to branch in the sunshine carry the message of song to the hills and the world, the heart of man, that he might fully glorify the Creator and His wonderful creation and goodness.

The woods and the land about us would be very quiet; the pool, placid and blue lying softly on the green fern breast of Mother Forest would draw our soulful gaze deep into the beauty and mysteries of nature, but the dash of a robin as its beak and wing kisses and ripples the silvery surface, and the stir and song of the canary and oriole in the green branches overhead give a real life! The eye may see and the ear hear of the glorious works of God; for Saens, the poet has sung of the bird and he has sung other beautiful things into the heart of man, but the bird sang it first. Notes sweet and glorious penetrated the soul and being of the man.

Cape Ann has been blest with a wealth of song-birds. Over seventy species have been found by noted naturalists who have come here to this section. While all over the hills, the moors and the wooded roadways the songs of the birds are particularly beautiful, yet in one section the birds linger. In the words of the psalmist, "Let the sea roar and the fullness thereof," we realize the wonderful beauty of the "South Woods," so-called, bordering Gloucester and Rockport.

A most attractive entrance to these woods may be made through "Joppa," that peaceful little valley lying towards the sea and Good Harbor beach. The entrance is by Witham st., beginning on the trolley line on Eastern ave. or Rockport rd. By automobile the road may be taken to a point beyond the old Parsons homestead. The walk then, through wooded path, where the sunlight falls golden on patches of pine needles and on ferns that wreath the moss-covered rocks, may touch the soul of all lovers of nature. The continuous cadence of the sea will drift through the stately trees and numerous decayed trunks whose broken branches yet have the close and sweet companionship of green vines that hang and trail from the gray limbs as if trying to give to them a cloak of new life. The brook runs sweet-voiced and playfully, circling, dipping and eddying around the rocks and through patches of ferns and cowslips. A warm breath comes up from the sod, perfumed with swamp violets and in branches overhead, the song and vesper sparrows, golden orioles and myriads of other varieties of songsters fill the air with music and at the same time direct our gaze to the lovely blue sky from which God smiles down upon us.

This delightful trip through the open woods is not too familiarly known to the tourist on Cape Ann. The privilege should be spread broadcast.

One day, recently, a bird class that has been formed in Rockport went over Cape Ann and through this section with C. J. Maynard, the noted naturalist, of West Newton. At this season the party found the following species: Flicker, barn swallow, tree, eaves, kingbird, chebec, phoebe, starling, cowbird, oriole, bronzed grackle, crow, bulfinch, goldfinch, vesper sparrow, chipping sparrow, song sparrow, English sparrow, spotted sandpiper, ruby-crowned kinglet, towhee, chickadee, black and white warbler, Nashville white warbler, myrtle white warbler, black-throated green warbler, oven bird, northern yellow throat, redstart, golden-winged warbler, red-shouldered hawk, cooper's hawk, marsh hawk, catbird, brown thrasher, robin, bluebird, herring gull, kingfisher, indigo bird.

It is interesting, also, to learn that besides these species identified, the following have also been seen in April and the first two weeks in May: Canada goose, golden-crowned kinglet, yellow-palm warbler, brown creeper, Savannah sparrow, chimney swift, parula warbler, Magnolia warbler, blue-headed Vireo, swamp sparrow, purple martin, white-throated sparrow, field sparrow, black-throated blue warbler, white-crowned sparrow, rusty blackbird, meadow lark, Henslow's sparrow, sharp shinned hawk, green heron, Lincoln sparrow, bittern and blue-gray gnatcatcher.

ORIGIN OF THE WORD "BRIDEGROOM"

Did you know that in primitive days a newly married man had to wait upon his bride and serve at her table on his wedding day? Thus, the word "bridegroom" came into the language.

Fields are won by those who believe in the winning.—

SOME FINE SPECIMENS AT ROCKMARGE DRIVING PARK

Horses from Judge Moore's Stables, Pride's Crossing are being Shown at Devon (Pa.) Horse Show This Week

SOME fine specimens of horse flesh from Judge Wm. H. Moore's driving park, "Rockmarge," at Pride's Crossing, were sent on to Devon, Pa., this week, for participation in the Devon Horse Show, just outside of Philadelphia, May 26 to 31. This event marked the coming-out party of four foals of 1918, a quartet of two-year-old beauties. Just a score of the best-conditioned animals were selected for shipment to Devon, and that the Moore entries will return with a sheaf of ribbons goes almost without saying. From another publication we reprint the following:

Judge Moore's admiration for the hackney type led to his purchase in 1914 of the famous old racetrack at Morristown, N. J., and it can safely be said that no individual breeder ever has produced more winners from one stallion than the master of Rockmarge. Standing at the head of the stud at the 160-acre Seaton Hackney Farm in Morristown is Marlboro, king of the hackney stallions, that was imported from Yorkshire, England, nearly a decade ago, and is by Mathias, out of Dairy Maid. Judge Moore's ideal was to produce a hackney type of show horse, good roadsters with nice conformation, a rhythmic swing of the body and high springy hock action, in short a real harness horse. And Marlboro has proved an able "getter" of this ideal in type.

Lady Seaton never was beaten in competition until four years ago when one of Marlboro's first foals—Moncreiff, out of Lively Beeswing—won the championship at the Madison Square Garden, for horses under 15-2 hands high. Lady Seaton always has been a favorite with Judge Moore, who considered her the greatest living harness mare of the hackney breed. He named his stud after the noted prize-winner and shortly after her defeat at the Garden Lady Seaton went to New Jersey to join the select group of imported brood mares. In 1918 she produced her first foal and the little seal brown colt, with four white pasterns like his sire, Marlboro, was named Seaton Seaton. And now Lady Seaton's first-born is about to make his first appearance in competition and one can imagine with what pride and interest Judge Moore will follow the youngster's fortunes at Devon.

The year that Seaton Seaton was foaled George Chipchase, veteran and efficient manager of Judge Moore's Rockmarge stables, discussed the Morristown crop as follows: "There occasionally comes a year when a group of foals displays exceptional promise and this is one of those years. All the mares have foals that are classy and well developed, the kind that makes you feel sure that more than one will become a champion." It would require only a few minutes' inspection of these 1918 foals to convince the most critical observer that these present-day two-year-olds have championship possibilities. Besides Seaton Seaton three other sprightly youngsters that will make the trip to Devon are Seaton Poncho, another seal brown stallion; Seaton Florio, a bay stallion, and Seaton Harmony, a bay filly. Except for their markings a stranger would have difficulty in telling these youngsters apart, so true are they to type. One other two-year-old, Seaton Bandanna, will not make the trip to Devon, but this bay filly out of Lively Beeswing may be a blue-ribboner a year hence.

So far as conformation is concerned one description of the two-year-old entrants for the Devon show would suffice. But Seaton Seaton has so much romance woven about him that he needs a word all for himself. This beautiful stallion gives every indication of developing into a tip-topper. He is airy and lofty with extreme action at both ends; he flexes his hocks and gets them well under him where they belong; he has a pretty head, is well cut out in the jaw, with nice eyes and short, pricked ears; he has beautiful sloping shoulders, a straight back, and a general appearance that quickly makes it evident that he is one of the best bred colts in America. There is a length of neck that gives Seaton Seaton a beautiful outlook, and when he starts moving the young stallion goes as straight as a bullet. He now stands 14.3 hands high, and probably will be 15.3 when full grown in two or three years. To quote Manager Chipchase regarding Seaton Seaton: "He is a better looking animal right now than Marlboro, and has more quality than a thoroughbred. I believe that Seaton Seaton would make the best stallion in the world for getting riding horses if he was bred to thoroughbred mares. His beautiful front, high-set tail, sloping shoulders and general conformation would make him ideal, I believe, for such a purpose."

With his milky-white nose stuck out of his princely stall into the courtyard of the Rockmarge stables, Seaton Poncho looks for all the world like a Boston terrier. Such an intelligent looking animal, with beautiful flesh markings, and what flexibility of action! Poncho, Garden yearling, champion of 1919, is by Marlboro out of Phosphat. Then there is Seaton Florio, made just like Seaton Seaton and the others, a bay that is pleasant to look upon. This two-year-old son of Flora May covers lots of ground and goes on "like a train." Next comes another bay, this time a filly—Seaton Harmony, out of Halcyon. She is a beautiful mover, not so thick through the body as the young stallions, but well ribbed withal and an animal that may well become a sensational harness horse some day. Seaton Harmony is strong across the loins, has sound feet and like her brothers her tail is well set up. Of course, the competition is limited for two-year-olds, but doubtless the class will be split for stallions and fillies, if the entry is large enough.

This young stock in the Rockmarge stables is still merely partially broken, but it has received such good treatment that there is a tendency toward docility in spite of the nervous energy and high courage that stands out in every action. At the Rockmarge Driving Park—a reclaimed town dump—now fringed with stately trees—the handlers daily put the hackneys through their paces. When the horses get to Devon they should not be greatly disturbed by the general commotion, for they are well accustomed to the tooting and scooting of motor cars along the roads bordering the driving park and an occasional screech of a train whistle from the adjoining railroad track no longer interrupts the mechanical precision of their daily jaunts.

One of the most handsome animals in Judge Moore's string is Seaton Victoria, four-year-old black-brown mare by Marlboro out of Terrington Alicia. She will make her first appearance in harness at the Devon show and if she can duplicate in the show ring her actions on the Pride's Crossing tanbark, it will require a wonderful animal to take her measure. Seaton Victoria will be shown in the four-year-old class in hand and in the novice singles and open classes. Last year, in the Garden, this brilliant mare won the reserve championship shown in hand; the championship going to Seaton Barbara. Surely there can be few mares in the world with a front like Seaton Victoria and her up-headedness is picturesque.

Other products of Marlboro that will be shown at Devon are Seaton Barbara, four-year-old brown mare out of Lively Beeswing, a full sister to Moncreiff and Seaton Bandanna; Seaton Primrose, three-year-old brown mare out of Phosphate; Seaton Cyrano, five-year-old bay gelding out of Halcyon; Moncreiff, seven-year-old bay gelding out of Lively Beeswing, and Medea, six-year-old bay mare out of Halcyon.

Seaton Barbara and Seaton Primrose go like one horse when driven as a pair; they will be shown in hand, and in novice classes. Seaton Barbara won the three-year-old championship in hand at the Garden last November and has filled out exceedingly well since then, so that she should be in excellent condition if her railroad journey has no bad effects. Seaton Primrose, full sister to the handsome Seaton Poncho, now stands 15.2½ and this brown mare has a beautiful way of going, with lots of front and flat bone that stamps her as a dangerous opponent for any of the three-year-olds, in hand or in single harness. It also is hard to see how Barbara and Primrose will have to lower their colors in the event for novice teams if they are on their good behavior.

Five imported hackneys that will accompany the home-breds are Ruxton, Lord Seaton, Raeburn and Micah, all bay geldings, and Bountiful, a bay mare. This group will compete chiefly as pairs and tandems, the pairs including Lord Seaton and Raeburn, along with Seaton Cyrano and Moncreiff in the class under 15.2 and the Medea-Ruxton and Micah-Bountiful combinations in the class over 15.2. Medea and Ruxton are a hard pair to defeat, in fact, the only ones ever to do it were Bountiful and Micah, a pair that never has encountered defeat. Ruxton never has been beaten in his class in harness and won championships in the Garden for the past two years. Lord Seaton is the one-time mate to Lady Seaton, while Raeburn gained his greatest honors while paired with Whitewall Ariel, now a brood mare at Morristown, so that the first appearance of Lord Seaton and Raeburn will come in for quite a bit of attention. In tandems Seaton Cyrano and Lord Seaton will compete in the class for horses under 15.2 while Ruxton and Bountiful will be shown against the tandems in the class for horses over 15.2.

Judge Moore will have an opportunity to don his gray heaver "topper" to tool his road four at Devon if the class fills. The Rockmarge Grays are ready for action, Earl Gray and Gray Oak as leaders; Toronto and General as wheelers. These four gray geldings are remarkable animals, the leaders standing 16.1 hands high and the wheelers 16.2½.

"For my part, I believe that the love and study of works of the imagination is of practical utility in a country so profoundly material (or, as we like to call it, practical) in its leading tendencies as ours. . . . I, for one, shall never be persuaded that Shakespeare left a less useful legacy to his country than Watts. We hold all the deepest, all the highest satisfaction of life as tenants of imagination." — James Russell Lowell in "Books and Libraries."

"No college English, no finishing school course in art and literature, will ever give men and women what they might have had if books had been as much their friends in childhood as the children next door."—Caroline M. Hewins.

THE North Shore is really the home of good things from rocks and sea to the finest creations in homes for man. You will find everything as it should be in these well appointed homes.

If you are new upon the North Shore you will, no doubt, hear for the first time, probably, of the Women's Educational and Industrial Union in Boston. You will hear, now and then, of its activities through the BREEZE pages. You will hear of its unique "Bookshop for Boys and Girls" through the BREEZE. Nearly every Boston woman on the Shore is interested in this little shop.

This is not exactly advertising we hope. Books are of such universal interest that the shops where they are bought and sold, the pen-pushers who created them, and their readers all are bound up in one whole that seems impossible to break apart.

When you go a-hunting for book friends on the North Shore you will find them standing on library shelves in every village, for sale at regular stores, in the Magnolia shops and in the Union's summer branch or at exhibits of the "Bookshop for Boys and Girls."

The Seattle public library bulletin has this to say on books:

"Have you ever stopped to think how much time we spend in planning what we shall put on and in our children's bodies and how little in planning what we shall put in their minds? They go to school, to be sure, but that is for only five hours a day approximately 185 days in the year. What of the years before they begin to go to school, what of the hours and days each year in which they are not under instruction? Have we any deliberate plan to care for the mind's growth as we care for the body's?"

"It is just as important that children shall read good books as it is that they shall learn to read at all. It would be hard to find anyone who would declare that it is unnecessary for children to learn to read. Yet reading in itself is not the end we seek, but only a means to that end. The goal of all education is the enrichment of life, and a child's reading carefully guided will deepen and strengthen his future ability to make the most of himself and his opportunities.

"To really love books so that they may be woven into the warp and woof of his life, a child should have his own library, which grows year by year with his growth, yet which contains friends to whom he will return time and time again, secure in the knowledge of a happy companionship full of pleasant association. A large number of books is not essential to have, but a few should be added each year and the standard of choice should be kept high."

Life's best prizes are won, not by adroitness, nor sharpness, not by skill or strength, but by that grandest thing known on earth, Manhood. Honorable, educated, active, cultivated manhood is to rule this world.—GEO. K. MORRIS.

And God's grace fructify through thee to all."

"NO one is greater than the service he renders the world" is the motto of the Service club in Chicago. Twenty-seven years ago a group of little girls in Christ church formed a club for unselfish service. Their Sunday school class was made the club with Ginevra Fuller (Mrs. Chas. Garfield King) as the first president. Mrs. King has often visited the Shore.

Their first undertaking for charitable service was a bazaar for which the little girls made the articles. From that first entertainment the activities have broadened from year to year until now forty or fifty charities benefit from the annual entertainment of the club and the proceeds run far into the thousands.

If you would climb to the richest prizes, get the most enjoyment out of life, and have the sublimest old age, you must conquer the base elements of nature; you must have every atom of the dross of dishonesty squeezed, hammered, burned out, if necessary; you must become as sound as twenty-four karat gold, as true as best steel. You must prove yourself as reliable as the course of nature, as incorruptible as sunlight, as pure and sweet in your personality as the breezes of Heaven. You must scorn all meanness, loathe all false pretense, be afraid of every kind of dishonesty, and hate a lie as you would hate the devil himself. You must determine stoutly to be what you would appear.

WILL DEDICATE HONOR ROLL TABLET

Impressive Services at Beverly Farms Memorial Day in Honor of Men Who Served in World War

THE principal feature of the Memorial Day observance to be held at Beverly Farms will be the dedication of a handsome honor roll tablet. This portion of the day's program will take place at the public library at 3 o'clock Monday afternoon, immediately following the usual exercises at the Beverly Farms cemetery.

The honored guest of the occasion will be Gen. Clarence R. Edwards, commander of the department of the northeast. Gen. Edwards will deliver an address and will personally present the French war certificates to members of the families of the boys who made the supreme sacrifice.

Senator Augustus P. Loring will preside at the afternoon exercises and will also deliver an address. The program will include special musical selections by the band, and vocal solos.

The honor roll tablet is a fitting tribute to the men from Beverly Farms who served during the World war.

The names of 129 are inscribed on this memorial. It is indeed a handsome and attractive bronze tablet, and will be given a place of prominence in the public library.

United States statuary bronze is the material from which this honor roll is made. It is said to be one of the best materials for this sort of work and will be a permanent record of which Beverly Farms people may well be proud.

The tablet is a panel 68 inches long by 40 inches high. The border is of a perfectly plain design with an ogee moulding, conforming to other similar mouldings in the public library, where it will be placed. It is a tablet of simple dignity, the only ornamentation being laurel wreaths surrounding the war dates.

The memorial tablet was executed by the firm of T. F. McGann & Sons Co., of Boston, to whom we are indebted for the reproduction printed on this page.

OUR HOLIDAYS

Their Significance

By GWENDOLYN RALEIGH

MEMORIAL DAY

MAY 30

(Observed Monday, May 31)

WE find ourselves turning back to ancient history, to the time of the Greeks, for the origin of the custom of decorating graves. There we find recorded the impressive rites which were made at each new grave, and which they termed "Zoai." The head of the departed was crowned with a floral wreath, and a luxuriance of bloom springing from the grave of the dead one was considered a token of his happiness.

The Romans honored their ancestors in a festival called the Parentalia, celebrated from February 13 to 21. The last day was called the "Feralia." Then wine and milk, honey and oil, fruit, bread, salt, eggs, and the blood of cattle, pigs and black sheep were brought to the tombs and offered up to the shades of the departed. The tomb was decorated with wreaths and flowers, especially roses and violets, as the later Latin poets recorded.

The Druids were believers in the transmigration of souls and celebrated their Memorial Day about the first of November.

Even in China and Japan there exists an ancient festival in honor of the dead, known as the Feast of the Lanterns.

To us, out of the conflict of the Civil war, when the men of the South were arrayed against their brothers of the North, has come one of our most beautiful holidays—Memorial Day.

"FIGHT THE GOOD FIGHT OF FAITH"

Annual Memorial Sunday Service is Held in Manchester—Rev. F. W. Manning Delivers Address

(Extracts from Memorial Sunday Sermon Delivered at Manchester, Sunday, May 23, 1920)

THE Christian life is a glorious warfare. The Apostle Paul, who wrote the letter from which our text is taken, was a soldier of the Lord Jesus Christ. He bore on his body the marks of the Lord Jesus—the scars of a veteran. His courage has never been excelled on any battlefield. Paul wrote to Timothy, who was a recruit in the service, exhorting him to "fight the good fight of faith."

Life is a warfare for every man. Wherever there is life on the earth, in the sea or in the air, that life is maintained by fighting against the forces that unite to destroy it. Man is not an exception to this rule.

Every man's life is a battle. Be he rich or poor, learned or ignorant every man has his own battle to wage. It is not always or often a fight against flesh and blood, with a soldier's weapons. It is usually a fight which goes on in the invisible realm of thought, in times of peace, and expresses itself in conduct. It is a fight between right on the one hand and wrong on the other, between truth and error, between unselfish service and selfishness. It is the irrepressible conflict of the ages, the warfare between good and evil.

What a battleground this old world is, and no man can live anywhere on earth without having his warfare to accomplish. No man can live a good life who does not "fight the good fight of faith."

As the volcano may be a local, temporary suggestion of the fierce fires that are supposed to rage in the center of the earth, so sanguinary conflicts between armed men may be local, temporary expressions of that uncompromising warfare between good and evil that goes on in the world. Sev-

In many places it became the local custom, soon after the war, to decorate the graves of the soldier dead with flowers, in the spring and early summer when blossoms were plentiful. From this custom arose the idea that a day be set aside especially for this purpose. The plan was suggested to General John A. Logan, commander of the Grand Army of the Republic, who approved the proposal, and issued an order in which he named May 30, 1868, our first Memorial Day.

eral times in our own history this warfare has taken on a military aspect, and our men have risen to arms to "fight the good fight of faith."

Such was the case in the War of the Revolution in which we established our national independence. But later our country became like "a house divided against itself;" it could not stand half slave and half free, and once more we had an armed conflict. The Civil war saved the Union and set free the slaves. What a good fight of faith it was on the part of the North. How the noble Lincoln prayed with all the faith he had in God and in the common people!

Recently the members of the American Legion and others went forth to fight against the militarism that was crushing Europe and endangering the world. Our young men by the millions went on a crusade for righteousness. They went to fight for truth and right, to set the whole world free. What a "good fight of faith" it was on our part, and how our faith in God and man should be strengthened because of it!

American soldiers have not been mercenary troops, fighting merely for pay. Their glory has been in redressing human wrongs. They have fought as men having faith that they are on the right side. All honor, then, to our soldiers who, at the time when it costs so much to be loyal to the truth, have taken the field and been found fighting on the side of right.

This is the glory of the true child of God, that his life is a glorious warfare for truth and right, that he "fights the good fight of faith"—faith in God, faith in man, and faith in a better world.

LOVE'S REASON

By ALEX. G. TUPPER

I PAUSE near a bend in a roadway fair
Just for a reason!
For I overheard words from a columbine rare,
Who blushed in the sunshine that lay softly there;
And I brazenly say that I paused with a stare—
Just for a reason!

This morning I speak of was fairer, I say
Just for a reason!
I confess it was because it was early in May,
When green changed the field floors from colors of gray
And the flowers were donning in festal array—
Just for a reason!

A tulip had journeyed in costume of white,
Just for a reason!
From his formal big castle in hasty, wild flight,
He had stopped near an open wood during the night
And in the morn he decided to stay on this site—
Just for a reason!

Now it happened a columbine dropped from the sky,
Just for a reason!
For she seemed quite content to have tulip close by
And when dandelion saw this he grew rather shy
As a suitor, and she? Ah, never asked why—
Just for a reason!

So poor "Dandy" just grieved and faded away—
Just for a reason!
For his columbine found a rare treasure they say,
Who thrilled the soul's love in a fond tulip way
So no wonder this knight sought his freedom to stray
Just for a reason!

Ah, love seeks to wander o'er nature's fair field
Just for a reason!
For in confines and dungeons it never can yield
To its mate—nor express when closely concealed
In hard, crusted hearts and all tenderness shield—
Just for a reason!

THE MAN WITH THE SCAR

By HELEN CHRISTINE HOERLE

(The Breeze will print as often as practicable, this season, a fiction article. Manuscripts solicited for acceptance.—Ed.)

YOUNG TONY TABOR idly fingered the menu as he gazed eagerly around the fashionable dining room, and feeling, at the same time, though he tried to appear at ease, that a hundred eyes were turned on him, seeking out defects. Unfortunately Tony didn't know that a hundred eyes were fastened on him, admiring the breadth of back, the proud sensitive face, and the apparent ease with which he wore his clothes.

Perhaps Tony would have felt less uncomfortable and much happier if he had known, but he didn't, so he longed for his soft flannel shirt, and old boots instead of his new Tuxedo, and patent leather pumps.

But despite his discomfort and loneliness a strange feeling of exaltation and excitement crept through him, with much the same effect of rare old wine, as his black eyes darted hither and thither through the brilliant crowd, noting the magnificence of the women's jewels and gowns, and the lavish ordering of the men; but dwelling oftenest and longest on a man and woman some few tables away. Each seemed oblivious of the crowd and intent only on what the other was saying.

She was the most beautiful woman he had ever seen, Tony thought, then decided it wasn't entirely beauty that attracted him to her face, but that something which is seen less and less every day in his great country of ours—the light of happiness shining from within, that lit up her great blue eyes and gave to them a look of infinite tenderness.

Hers was a young face, seemingly made old by some sorrow, while a broad streak of silver through the front of her luxuriant glossy brown hair bore testimony to the same fact. She was gowned less ostentatiously than many of the other women in the room, in a simple robe of old blue velvet, the same color as the starry eyes that steadily regarded the man opposite with a look of perfect love and faith.

The man was, without doubt, the Westerner decided, the ugliest looking customer he had come across in many a day. The right side of his face was handsome, but, Tony shuddered, the whole left side was scarred, disfigured for life with a horrible burn. The eye lashes were scorched away, and the lid distorted, while his mouth was drawn down on that side out of all semblance to its natural shape.

Tony was wondering how such a thing could have happened and what relation the man and woman bore to each other, when he heard a deep melodious voice inquiring,

"Is this seat reserved?"

Tony looked up with a bright smile, revealing two rows of shining white teeth. "No, I—I expected a friend to dine with me, but he was called out of town and I shall be alone, quite alone for three whole days."

The man bowed and seated himself. "Then you are a stranger in our great city?"

Tony nodded. "Yes, I'm from Montana. I came on for a month to stay with a friend, but Jack had to go away for a few days on business and I shall have to amuse myself till Friday."

The other smiled, "I don't think you will find that very difficult."

Tony laughed, "You bet I won't. Why it's amusement enough just to sit here and watch the people."

"Then you are a student of human nature?"

Tony Tabor flushed. "No, but out west you sort of get into the habit of studying people. You have to size them up, or your neighbors will size you for a tenderfoot, and then good-night!"

The stranger laughed, "Yet human nature interests you."

"Immensely. At college Jack and I used to predict the future of the boys and it has nearly always turned out as we said. Now that couple to your left—"

The man turned and uttered a low exclamation of surprise.

"You know them?" Tony questioned eagerly. The other nodded slowly, and gave his order to the attentive waiter.

"You know them?" said Tony. "Who are they?"

"Mr. and Mrs. Travers Erickson," the man replied quietly.

"Husband and wife," the westerner gasped. "She married to that—"

"He is rather unattractive to say the least, but theirs is quite a romance. I thought everybody knew about it."

Tony blushing confessed his ignorance. "You see," he explained with a frank smile, "Prize fights, horse and automobile races, murders, and such things are more in demand in the west than romances."

"Would you care to hear it then?"

Tony nodded eagerly, "Shoot."

The stranger frowned, "Beg pardon?"

Tony laughed, "Excuse me. I forgot where I was. In the vernacular of the west 'shoot' means begin."

The man joined in the westerner's laugh. "It's quite a story. About five years ago, Barbara Drayton was the prettiest, most popular debutante in Washington, D. C. Pretty as a picture with her wonderful eyes and hair. Popular with young and old, rich and poor, men and women, and that is saying a good deal. Her first season was a pretty lively one, so her mother wisely decided to spend a month in a quiet little country town on the Delaware before going to a more fashionable resort in New England. Miss Barbara hailed the idea with delight, for much as she loved society, the thought of a few quiet weeks appealed to her almost as much. The first few weeks she simply lounged around recuperating after her strenuous season, but then a fit of activity overcame her unaccustomed idleness and she spent hours every day on the river in a tiny motor boat she ran herself. Then one day it happened."

He paused, his long sensitive fingers crumbling a roll into bits.

"Well," Tony prompted.

The man looked up wonderingly. "Oh, yes. Excuse me. One day during the last week of their stay she was out alone, as usual, when suddenly there was a terrific explosion, and before the girl realized what had happened the boat was in flames."

Tony's eyes glittered brightly as they rested on the woman's face and his thin brown fingers played nervously with his fob.

"There happened to be a man only a few hundred feet away in a canoe, and hearing the noise and the girl's screams, he paddled quickly to the burning boat. He has never been able to tell how he did it, but he managed to drag the girl into the canoe and reach the opposite shore. Half the town was there, attracted by the unusual disturbance, and a doctor was at hand. For weeks both their lives hung in a balance, for both had sustained terrible burns. When finally they did recover, the man's face was as you see it now, and Miss Barbara, Miss Barbara," he repeated with a catch in his voice which was barely audible, "was blind."

Tony swore softly under his breath and darted a quick glance at the woman. "Horrible!"

"Horrible isn't the word. For weeks the man tended her like a faithful slave; was her eyes for her till she was able to go about a little, and as was only natural under the circumstances, he fell in love with her. One day he told her of his love and though she confessed she loved him, it was with difficulty he persuaded her to marry him, because of her affliction. His mutilated face was a constant source of humiliation to Travers, and so he pleaded with Barbara's relatives not to tell her about it. When she passed her super-sensitive fingers, like those of all the blind, over his face he would manage to elude her before she reached the scarred side. Her pride in her handsome husband, as she called him, for the right side of his face is handsome, caused him more pain than joy, and every day the weight of his duplicity grew heavier and heavier."

He ceased talking, his fingers playing nervously with the ends of his tiny black mustache. For the first time Tony noticed that his companion was older than he had imagined; he noted the minute lines around the keen gray eyes, the tired droop of the mouth and the sprinkling of white in the straight black hair.

"A year ago, about this time Erickson was called to Europe on business and his wife decided that she would accompany him to New York and remain with a married sister till his return. Her sister, Mrs. Cleaves, had never quite given up hope and finally persuaded Barbara to consult an old friend of the family, a specialist on the eyes, who had been very successful in many such cases. Although she had been to a hundred physicians in the four years since her accident, Barbara grasped at the faint ray of hope, and submitted to an examination. Dr. Barclay, the specialist, saw a slight chance of restoring the sight, so that very week Mrs. Erickson entered his private sanatorium, her one thought how happy Travers would be."

Tony drew a long breath and leaned forward. Their dinner grew cold, untasted.

"The night before the bandages were to be removed,"—the man took up the thread of the story where he had dropped it a minute before—"the doctor was returning home rather late when he was met at the door by a tall, wild looking man of disheveled appearance, and whose face was badly scarred. Partly screaming, sometimes crying, even laughing, he begged the doctor to tell him if his wife would regain her sight or not. At being assured that the specialist had greatest confidence that she would, and her sight would be as strong as before the accident, Erickson fell into a fit of torrential weeping. At last he calmed down enough to tell Dr. Barclay how he had deceived his wife, and—"he moistened his dry lips—"and had almost prayed that she wouldn't regain her sight, for he feared with her inborn love of the beautiful, she would loathe the man who had deceived her both for his deception, and his frightful face. Little he knew his wife."

Tony was wondering at his companion's evident agitation and his intimate knowledge of their affairs. The man's eyes gleamed strangely and he spoke in a quick disjointed manner.

"Well, to shorten a long story, Erickson refused to be in the room when his wife first opened her eyes, and in spite of everyone's pleading he remained firm, and waited in an adjoining room, his hungry eyes fixed on the door, and half-crazed with anxiety. When the bandages were removed Mrs. Erickson asked if Travers was there, and being told he wasn't refused to open her eyes till he was. She called softly to him, and when he had come and knelt beside her chair, she took his poor scarred face between her hands, opened her eyes, that were blind no more, smiled at him, whispering, 'My poor brave hubby. You thought I didn't know, and tried to save me the pain of knowing. Why I love you all the more for trying to keep it from me.' Then half crying, half laughing, she kissed him right on that awful scar. Would you believe it, that great strong man broke down and cried like a baby, while she petted and fussed over him like a mother bird over her injured young. Since then they've been on a trip around the world, their honeymoon, for when they were married they didn't have one. They are as happy as two mortals can be and she's as proud of him as if he were as handsome as Adonis. She's a wonderful woman."

He sighed deeply as Tony Tabor drew a long breath. His first night in New York hadn't been as lonesome as he had expected. He had had a glimpse into what might have been a tragedy of two lives, but by the magic of woman's love and nobility of her soul had been turned into a beautiful reality. Love was her king for she realized that beauty is only skin deep and it's what lies behind the face that counts. The man rose and smiled. Tony looked up, suddenly realizing his dinner companion was leaving and he wanted to ask him one question.

"But how," Tony quizzed, "how do you know all this?"

"How?" the man with the black mustache smiled a little sadly, "how? Why I was the specialist."

THE END.

WHY GASOLINE HAS INCREASED IN PRICE

Many People have Wondered Why Gasoline has Advanced so Rapidly — Some Reasons

THERE has been some natural grumbling among motorists over the latest rise in "gas," admits one financial authority, "although much less nowadays over two-cent advances than used to be manifested at cent advances when the price was half as high." A good many people must have wondered why the price should go up during the winter, when motor travel was minimized by the inclement weather. The cause is more fundamental than climatic vagaries, says the Boston News Bureau, and there is some slight compensation, of which the average car-owner is ignorant. According to this authority:

It is not generally known that the so-called low-grade gasoline now on the market has more fuel-value than the high-gravity gasoline. The factor which determines the power produced from gasoline is the number of calories or heat-units which it contains. It is a scientific fact that low-grade, low-gravity gasoline contains more heat-units than high-grade, high-gravity gasoline; and kerosene contains more heat-units than low-grade gasoline.

More Power in Present-Day Gasoline

So that there is more actual power in present-day gasoline than in the more volatile gasoline of, say, ten years ago. Any difficulty with the modern fuel is not due to its lower power content, but to the mechanical difficulties of carburetion and combustion—it is more difficult to vaporize and to burn up completely than the more volatile gasoline we used to have. As the mechanical design of motor-cars improves, we should see better mileage on the present fuel.

When this is borne in mind, the rise in gasoline prices is even less on an absolute basis than on a straight-price comparison. Gasoline which sold around twenty-one cents a gallon, tank-wagon basis, in New England when the war began is now at the twenty-nine and one-half cents, an increase of 40 percent. In the same period, according to ECONOMIC PROBLEMS cannot be settled by political strategy. The government ownership of any industry will not assure its success. The government ownership of railroads demonstrated that operations of the transportation companies by the nation were subject to the normal laws of finance, the deterioration of property and the efficiency of the personnel of the organizations. The railroads are now in the hands of the owners, with many responsibilities. The future success of the railroads is doubtful. If the railroads are to be operated successfully the managers must receive adequate returns for the service rendered. To render service well there must be an increase of equipment. It is important that railroads be well equipped in order that manufacturing organizations be adequately provided with raw materials and opportunities for shipping their products, that farms be supplied with materials, that the products of the farms be forwarded carefully and expeditiously at as low a rate as possible. Everybody is dependent upon the railroads. If the railroads fail the effects are far-reaching. So businessmen demand that the railroads be conducted efficiently. To this end every aid should be given.

The owners of railroad securities have been unfortunate in their holdings. They have not enjoyed an economic return on the investments carried. The property has depreciated, as far as the values of securities have been involved. The low returns which the railroads have been able to earn have made it impossible for them to attract funds in competition with other business enterprises. The anomaly is, that the success of these competing organizations are dependent entirely or in part upon the railroads in some part of their operations to make the business they maintain a success.

To afford larger returns to the railroads it is suggested that an increase be made in either passenger or freight rates, or both. The increase can be levied more justly and easily if it be laid upon the freight business. It is altogether probable that the railroads will seek increases in this way. Money-making enterprises should share the profits of their industries by maintaining the railroads which make their economic prosperity and business success possible. The low rate of interest returns is deplorable. Some roads return as little as less than one fifth of one percent profit on the capital invested. The income in the south is less than three-fourths of one percent. In the west the returns are about two percent. When these low interest earnings are compared with the excessive dividends which are paid by many mercantile enterprises and the surplus funds that are being accumulated by other organizations the injustice is undeniable. It is suicidal for any business organization to sustain any policy that will inevitably mean the ruin of the railroads. The failure of the railroads eventually means the ruin of every business and private interest dependent upon the roads for their success.

The problem is now being considered by the National General Rate committee. It should be discussed until some working plan has been agreed upon, in order that the American industries may not be handicapped by the deterioration and the consequent inefficiency of the railroads. The railroad problem is the crux of the great reconstruction problem. If the task is attacked bravely, without flinching and in the interests of justice, the tonic effect of right action, efficiently taken will be felt all along the line. If the problem is avoided for political or economical reasons the evil day is merely postponed. Howard Elliot presented the case fairly and effectively before the committee. It is hoped that the advice of competent, practical railroad men will be heeded and such action taken as will assure sufficient capital to operate the roads, to pay reasonable salaries, to meet reasonable dividend charges, to develop the equipment of the transportation companies and to build up a working reserve in capital to care for the development of the companies. It is the great problem of the hour.

THE STREET CAR LINES of Gloucester are not paying. It may be necessary for the people of Gloucester to forego the presence of the street car convenience. Or does Gloucester proudly own so many motor cars that the street car lines are no longer necessary.

MONDAY WILL BE A SACRED DAY along the North Shore. The day originally set apart by the veterans to honor the memory of the soldiers and sailors who gave their lives for the preservation of the Union has become a national Memorial Day for the commemoration of the memory of the soldiers and sailors of all the wars of our great republic. This year the American Legion will be in line as an organization for the first time. In the years to come the sacred service which has been conducted so reverently by the men in blue will be passed on to the men of the olive drab. In every hamlet there will be heard the sound of music and the tramping of feet as old men, men in their strength and young men hardly past their youth, march to the cemeteries to lay wreaths and flowers upon the graves of the heroes of the wars. The cemeteries of the North Shore are well kept; the municipal authorities pride themselves upon the clean walks, the well set and cared-for stones, the greensward and carefully kept enclosing walls or fences. When Monday evening has come the flags will have been placed in position and the flowers distributed and the ceremonies completed. The veterans will have returned to their homes after a day of loving loyal service to the hero dead. Let all the people reverently unite in helping these warriors in their devotion to the memories of the men laid at rest. At Beverly Farms the post is to have Major-General Edwards, and there will be dedicated a roll of honor of the boys who went from that district into the war with Germany. At three o'clock veterans of the old war will unveil a bronze tablet in memory of the veterans of the late war. So the old honor the young. Everywhere on the Shore there will be suitable memorial exercises held with appropriate addresses. The people will gather this year to honor the dead with the spirit of the war still inspiring.

WHATEVER THE RUMORS in Chicago may be about former Senator Albert J. Beveridge and his attitude toward Germany before and during the war, everyone who knew his loyalty during his stay at his home on the North Shore and remember that eloquent memorial address given here, knows where his heart is—loyal and true to the nation he served. Political mud-slinging is reprehensible, but it avails but little when thrown at a man who stands four square to every wind, a loyal American.

HERBERT HOOVER has acquired a reputation for careful thinking, skillful administration and painstaking diligence in solving economic problems. He has been applying his mind to the present high cost of living; he suggests eight predominant causes for the recent inflation of prices—1, shortage in the commodities of the country due to under-production in Europe and our participation therein through the drain by exports; 2, the inflation, especially in its expansion of our credit facilities, for purposes or uses of speculation and non-essential industry; 3, profiteering and speculating, arising from the combined opportunities afforded in the two previous items; 4, mal-adjustment of taxation, particularly the excess profits tax; 5, decrease in our own productivity, due to the relaxation of effort since the war, to strikes and other causes; 6, increase in our own consumption, waste of commodities and the increase of extravagance; 7, deterioration of our transportation system during the war; 8, an expensive and wasteful distribution system and other causes of less importance.

All of these causes are surely predominant and operating. No one will challenge the veracity of the statements made by so careful a man as Mr. Hoover; but has all been said? Are these the only causes which are operating? Without in any way challenging the suggestions made by Hoover, are there not other reasons at work which are "predominant," also?

Let us consider the underlying principle of the eight causes. Every one of them has for a background the post-war conditions. Not a single cause goes back of the war period for support. Yet the fact remains that the upward movement of prices may be traced to the years before the war. War broke out in August, 1914. It broke as a bolt that is shot from a clear sky. There were causes of war that dated back for forty, yes, one hundred years, but the event itself was unheralded and unexpected by the masses of the people of the world. The year 1900 may be set as an arbitrary date for the beginning of the upward swing of prices. After ten years of agitation, in 1910 the state of Massachusetts appointed a commission on the Cost of Living and issued a volume of nearly eight hundred pages. According to a chart of that volume, the peak of high prices was registered in 1870 with a steady decline to a low point in 1896, since which date there has been a steady and unbroken upward movement of the line which registers the increasing costs for foodstuffs. It is certain then that the rising prices, date to that turn in 1896. The war has accentuated a condition which has existed for a long while.

No list of causes can be adequate that considers only the war-background causes, as important as they are. What is to be said of the increased attractions of the manufacturing enterprises and the steady trend of labor from field and timberland to the office and industrial plant? What has been said about the increased demands made by people because of their progress? Does the problem of immigration have any bearing upon the problem?

All of Hoover's causes are operating, but there are more causes. The truth is that the problem is based upon so many conflicting causes that a simplification of the problem into eight leading causes is absolutely impossible. There is a basal element of cupidity and avarice that has a larger place than Mr. Hoover's third reason would involve. Many quick solutions and economic cures will be suggested, but all of the cross currents will be operating and must until they have spent their force. If anyone were to venture a prophecy it would be that the peak of the line was registered in January of 1920 and when the decreasing prices cause a fall in the line on the chart that point will be the "high water mark" of the high price movement.

In an article in Monday's Boston Post, Chas. W. Barron, of the Boston News Bureau, contended that we had already passed through the crisis—the panic, as far as a panic is to exist. He meant just that thing. Slowly the level has been lifted and slowly the price levels will lower, because of the operation of many, not a few, limited causes.

THE DECISION MADE by the Supreme Court of Massachusetts relative to the rearranged constitution for the state may have been warranted after a careful consideration of all the legal questions involved, but the result of the decision is confusing. There can, of course, be but one inference from the decision, that the old constitution still remains the constitution of the state. This is the instrument which the people sought to recodify and rearrange. So far there is no confusion. The state cannot avail itself of the labors of the constitutional convention. The people of the state, however, are not disturbed by the situation for the constitution has been carefully considered, rearranged, and is in a new form that will prove valuable. There remains only the arrangement of the legal details that will make it possible for the people of the state to substitute in a legal way the newly arranged constitution for the old form.

This is the plan back of the order presented by Senator Augustus Peabody Loring, of Pride's Crossing, calling for a convention of the state Senate and the House of Representatives to consider the question of repealing the original state constitution and the adoption of the newly arranged constitution. The present situation is unfortunate and is due to the interpretation of one article of the constitution. Senator Loring served in the constitutional convention and on the important committee on its rearrangement, so that he has a first-hand knowledge of the problem. The plan presented is the only way out of the dilemma. The Senate and House should submit the rearrangement again to the people so that the adoption of the Constitution may be legally done. Meanwhile, it would appear, from the inferences of the decision of the Supreme Court, the old constitution remains in force. The House and Senate should care for the order expeditiously and it will follow without a doubt that the people will formally and legally make the newly arranged constitution the legal instrument of the state.

THE GRAND ARMY and American Legion posts of every North Shore town will appreciate the flowers which you are able to gather from your gardens or your green-houses on Monday forenoon.

THE AMERICAN UNITARIAN ASSOCIATION has been in convention during the week in the city of Boston. The various organizations of the association have held their annual meetings and the usual routine business of the ecclesiastical organizations has been cared for. There were platform meetings which afforded the constituency of the organization an opportunity to hear their leading men on the problems of the day. The program of the week shows the varied interests and wide influence of the organization. Problems of public welfare and community improvement held a large place in the meetings of the week with strong addresses by such leaders as Dr. Charles W. Eliot and Dr. William W. Fenn, of Harvard university. The Laymen's league on Monday presented a new statement of faith, which by its simplicity and depth of meaning adequately expresses the ideals of the branch of the Christian church which the organization represents:—"We worship the living God, our Father and our Friend. We are disciples of Jesus of Nazareth, Teacher of the Love of God and The Way of Life. We believe in the infinite worth of man and his power of unending growth. We believe in Liberty, Democracy and Law, as essential to human progress. We pray for help to worship God sincerely and to serve our brothers faithfully. We seek ever for more Truth and Light." The organization is to launch a great financial drive soon for four million dollars for their extension and philanthropic work. The movement is not corollary to the New World Movement of the other allied Protestant bodies. The Unitarian organization was not a coöperating society in the New World Movement. Leaders of the latter movement, especially in New England, consider that the failure to invite that coöperation was a great mistake. However, when the religious history of the present era is written there must inevitably be great emphasis laid upon the great financial operations of the Christian Protestant organizations. The Unitarian church has a large influence, especially in New England. The deliberations and addresses of the convention this week were of the usual high order and indicate the progressive spirit of that liberal Christian society.

THE PROPOSITION HAS BEEN advanced to the city government of Boston that a committee be appointed of public-spirited citizens to raise funds for the erection of a memorial monument in honor of Major Henry L. Higginson.

THE NORTH SHORE SEASON has been backward in beginning, but it has progressed during the last two weeks beyond the thoughts of the most optimistic. The warm days have brought the seed into larger life, and green rows are marked in garden plots along the Shore. Many of the trees are in full leavage and fruit trees are in flower. Usually the lilac bushes are in full flower before Memorial Day, but this year the blooms will be delayed.

The Crop That Never Fails

THERE is one crop that never fails. That is the crop of daily mistakes. Everybody makes mistakes. Mistake making is one of the most universal indoor, outdoor and between-time sports known to the human race. In this complicated old world it is easier to become a first-class, fully equipped manufacturer of mistakes than it is to engage in any other of the known industries, however alluring they may be. Truly 'tis human to err. Now, a mistake is nothing to be ashamed of. They occur in the best of regulated families. But one of the chief differences between the chap who succeeds and the chap who fails, is that the failure keeps right on making the same mistakes to the end of the chapter. It's a whole lot better to make a few mistakes trying to do something than to hang up a mistakeless record by doing nothing. Mistakes are our best teachers. A mistake, however, like a postage stamp, can be used once only with profit, and without danger.—George Brinton Beal.

The Indianapolis 500-mile sweepstakes race to be held on Memorial Day carries with it $85,000 in prize money, also fame—and perhaps death for some unlucky participant.

New York Sun: "If some of us would take inventory of our expenditures we may find that it is the high cost of fool-stuffs rather than food-stuffs which keeps both ends from meeting gracefully."

Pres. Deschanel, of the French Republic, had the misfortune to fall out of a train window Monday night. The train was in motion. Wouldn't it be well for France to protect the windows with mosquito netting or something of that sort?

Marshal Foch, in an address to the engineers of the French army, recently said that it is the duty of France to prepare for war. The marshal evidently believes that Germany would willingly stage a comeback at the first opportunity.

The U. S. postal service which was formerly so attractive, is now having a difficult task in holding its present employees, and it is almost impossible to get recruits to join, as the pay is so low. Uncle Sam is not a generous paymaster in this department.

Senator Smoot, of Utah, has put a stop to the promiscuous insertion of articles and documents into the Congressional Record. The Senator realizes the shortage of white paper and is endeavoring to save as much of it as possible. Everybody knows there is urgent need of paper economy so far as the Record is concerned. For four consecutive days last week it was printed on four different kinds of paper.

The Russell Sage foundation has made public a study of the school systems in the United States, District of Columbia, and the three territorial possessions. In this list of 52, Massachusetts stands 9th, which is the highest of the New England states.

A distinct loss is felt in the death of Mrs. Eleanor Hodgman Porter, author of the "Pollyanna" stories. Mrs. Porter was a New England woman, born at Littleton, N. H., and she gave to the world the "glad" stories, spreading abroad the gospel of sunshine and good cheer.

When it comes to the matter of a bonus for the veterans of the World war, Congress suddenly waxes economical, and while both parties would fain have the soldier-vote, it is plainly evident that the matter is being treated from a political standpoint rather than from the highest of motives.

Grover Cleveland Bergdoll, millionaire convicted draft dodger, escaped last week from army officers and is now at large with a five-year sentence hanging over him. If Bergdoll is as successful now in eluding his pursuers as he was in dodging the draft boards he has quite a period of liberty ahead of him.

Thirty-five states will elect governors next fall, to succeed 22 Republicans and 13 Democrats. Gov. Lowden, of Illinois, draws $12,000 a year for four years, which is the highest salary. The next highest salaries are those of the governors of Ohio and Massachusetts, $10,000 a year.

With the Republican convention only a short time away it is interesting to note that in adding up the delegates claimed by the managers of the Johnson, Wood and Lowden forces, respectively, a total is obtained that is larger by considerable than the number of delegates elected. The "also ran" class of candidates will be a large one this year.

After dinner sit awhile, after supper walk a mile.

Frank A. Vanderlip, commodity prices have risen on an average of 148 percent.

The Standard Oil Company (New Jersey) explains that this rise is due to increased operating costs, an increasing demand, and a supply which has failed to keep step. Wells are now drilled to an average depth of 2,400 feet, or 700 feet deeper than the average a few years ago. Some Texas, Wyoming, and Oklahoma wells go to 3,300 feet or deeper, and it must be recalled that drilling rigs cost $180 a day to operate. In addition, longer strings of expensive casing, drills, etc., must be furnished.

All stimulation to oil-production has failed to create any substantial surplus of crude above requirements. The Texas fields which promised this last year have proved disappointing; and salt water has shown in the newer Homer pool. Oil-wells exhaust rapidly; over 213,000 new wells have been drilled in the past ten years in the United States. In the same period, 120,000 wells have ceased to produce, and there are but 240,000 wells in operation now. Increased Prices, Decreased Production

American supply last year was 376,000,000 barrels; this, with 55,000,000 barrels of imported crude, was consumed, leaving our reserves at 130,000,000 barrels, or a five-months' supply for American refiners. The September production, last year, was at the rate of 1,122,000 barrels a day, and this had fallen by the end of the year to a rate of 1,060,000 barrels a day, despite rising prices.

While oil-producers have managed to double their production in the last ten years, the number of oil-burning vehicles has increased fifteen times; the use of fuel-oil has developed enormously; the demand for lubricants has increased heavily, and new uses for petroleum products are found daily.

The Standard Oil Company concludes that gasoline is thus relatively one of the cheapest things the public may buy.—Literary Digest.

Walter Smith was home over the week-end.

Mrs. Cheever Hersey and child are visiting at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Alfred E. Hersey, Lincoln st.

Members of the Arbella club are invited to join the Woman's Relief corps in its memorial services at the waterfront next Monday. Meet in front of the G. A. R. hall at 2.30 p. m., Monday.

Abbott Foster and Stanley Beaton are new members of the Bentley association, of Boston. This association is one formed by the Bentley School of Accounting and Finance, of which both young men are graduates, and to which only members of the school who have maintained a certain percent of efficiency are eligible.

Mrs. Frank P. Bullock arrived home last Saturday from Madison, N. J., where she was called by the serious condition of her brother, George E. Scott. Reports this week indicate Mr. Scott as being much improved and it is hoped he is now on the high road to recovery.

Julius F. Rabardy observed his 87th birthday anniversary last Saturday. Owing to a severe attack of neuralgia, the venerable gentleman was not able to have the usual family party. The occasion was pleasantly observed, however, and the presence of Joseph Rabardy Floyd, of Cambridge, the five-year-old great-grandson of Mr. Rabardy, whose birthdays are on the same date, and who with his father, Joseph Floyd, came down for the afternoon, was a pleasing feature of the occasion.

Lewis Smith, grandson of Mrs. Ellen Sanborn, met with a severe accident last Friday afternoon. The young boy was riding his bicycle when he struck some obstacle in the road with sufficient force to turn the front wheel so that he fell heavily in the street. He was picked up by passers-by and taken home. A physician was summoned, and it was found the lad had fractured his leg. He was at once taken to the Beverly hospital. The boy is particularly unfortunate, as the broken limb is the same member that was so badly injured a number of years ago when he was a small child.

IT'S UP TO YOU

You can take advice while the taking's good,
As to things you shouldn't do, things you should,
But this must always be understood
(It's knowledge from wisdom's shelf)
That the final word as to what you do
And whether you choose the false or true
Is quite exclusively up to you—
You've got to decide yourself!

In luck or trouble that fortune sends,
You may have plenty of loyal friends
Who boost you on in your aims and ends,
And help you to fame and pelf;
But when you come down to the old bed rock,
Your friends may cheer and your foes may mock,
It is you alone that will bear the shock,—
You must stand the gaff yourself!

The world may smile or the world may frown,
May strive to lift you or keep you down,
But whether you climb to high renown
Or stay on the bottom shelf,
The crucial battles you cannot share;
Alone you do, and alone you dare;
Each mortal's cross is his own to bear,
And it's up to you—Yourself!

There appears to be some sentiment among patrons of the motion picture entertainments held at Horticultural hall, Manchester, against placards and other matter advertising features to be shown in nearby towns, being placed on exhibition in the show windows of Manchester merchants. In some instances Mgr. Sanborn has booked these attractions for exhibition in Manchester, in accordance with his policy of giving his patrons the best possible in the line of motion picture features. It has happened, in a number of instances, that certain productions have been shown here previous to showing in adjoining towns or cities, but in other cases, as is to be expected, the pictures here are advertised for exhibition just after they have been at these larger theatres.

There is need of parents urging their children to exercise more care when playing near the streets in town. With the coming of warmer weather there is an ever increasing number of auto vehicles traveling hither and thither along the highways. It is not an unusual sight to see a few children tossing a ball back and forth, one of them fails to catch the ball and runs out into the street after it. Possibly one or more autos come along at the same time and a fatal accident is narrowly averted. Why wait until some life is lost before taking action in this matter? Children, enjoy your fun, but always be careful when playing on the sidewalks or near the streets.

LIBRARY NOTES

New Books in Manchester Public Library

The magazine has certainly come into its own during the last twenty-five years. A quarter of a century ago we had Harper's, Century, Scribner's, North American, Atlantic Monthly, The Forum, and a few others; now their name is legion. Every phase of literature, science and industry has a magazine devoted to it.

There is no doubt the magazine has an educational value. Much useful information is served to us in a very palatable form. The magazines have suffered from the commercialism of the age in which we live, having become very bulky, due to the many pages of advertising matter they carry. A good many people who do not have the time or inclination to read much find the magazine a perennial source of knowledge and enjoyment.

The Manchester public library takes some forty periodicals. In the reading room may be found The Ladies' Home Journal, Woman's Home Companion, Harper's Bazar, The Pictorial Review, Current Opinion, Literary Digest, Vogue, Life, Illustrated London News, The Scientific American, and others. Those not found in the reading room may be seen on the shelf—first aisle to the right, just inside where the books are.

I wish to call your attention to a few articles that may be found in some recent numbers.

The Outlook is one of the best of the American weeklies taken at the library. In the issue of May 5 there are two short articles you should read: "Governor Lowden as a Presidential Candidate," by Elbert Francis Baldwin, and "Labor and the Open Shop," by Senator Miles Poindexter.

Each month you will find a good "review of the world" in Current Opinion. In the May number you learn "What the Pilgrim Fathers Mean in the Life of Today" and how "Prohibition Booms the California Grape Industry."

The Review of Reviews is one of the best of the monthly magazines for the busy man. In its "Progress of the World" you may get the information you need to know—in a form that is easily assimilated—about what is going on in the world. In the Review for May, "Leonard Wood as Candidate" is worth reading; also "On the Trail of the Yellow-Fever Germ." Under "Leading Articles of the Month" you have a choice of many good things.

In Munsey for April is "What We Laugh at in the Theatre," by Brander Matthews. In the April Century there is a very interesting travelog, "Sketches of Cuba, West to East," by Harry A. Franck, author of "Zone Policeman 88," "Vagabonding Down the Andes" and "Vagabonding Around the World." Other good articles are "Roosevelt and Our Coin Designs," "Our Country Town" and "Constantinople, Our Greatest Problem."

April Scribner's has "Roosevelt and Royalties," also "A Philippine Republic," by Charles H. Sherrill, a very informing essay. In the May Scribner's, Dean Quinn, of the University of Pennsylvania, writes about the literature produced by the Pilgrims.

In the North American Review for May John Burroughs tells us about "Men and Trees." Prof. Wm. Roscoe Thayer has a very instructive paper on "Biography in the XIX Century."

In Harper's for March you will find "War, Best Friend of Disease," by Homer Folks. Hon. Joseph Cannon writes entertainingly of his career in Congress.

If you are fond of mushrooms and want to know more about them, read "Common Mushrooms of the United States" in the National Geographic Magazine for May.

One of the most popular magazines taken at the library is Good Housekeeping. I have given only a few titles of articles to be found in the magazines.

If you like fiction, but do not have time to read a novel, good short stories may be found in many of the magazines. Come in and look over what the library has to offer you. Next week a list of new books will be given.
—R. T. G.

WHAT ALL PROSPECTIVE BRIDEGROOMS KNOW

That he won't be able to find the wedding ring at the fatal moment.

That his hands will look as big as the broadsides of a barn during the ceremony, and that it is a confounded shame that it isn't permissible to hide them in his trousers' pockets.

That it would be an immense relief to elope instead of going through the fuss and flurry of the church wedding.

That his pal has too much of a smile on his face and is sure to play some sort of a trick before the ceremony is over with.

That all the women in the congregation will wonder what on earth it is that the bride sees in him.

That all his bachelor friends are sadly shaking their heads and saying, "Another good man gone."

That though the bride's father has protested vehemently that he doesn't want to give up his little girl, he still seems remarkably happy over the fact that she is getting married.

STORY HIGH WINS FIRST HOME GAME OF SEASON

Story High school, of Manchester, played its first home game of the season on the Brook st. playgrounds, Wednesday, and defeated the Rockport team by a score of 16-2. It was an exceptionally fine spring day and the local boys were full of pep and on their toes all the time.

Roland Butler started things going in the first inning with a pretty single which brought in Needham with the first run. Peabody, Needham and Nelson Butler each got two-base hits. There were some changes in the infield for this game. Peabody played first, Murray second and Till third. This seems to be a good combination with good teamwork. The local team was especially strong on stealing bases, getting 25 to their credit.

Pierce pitched a good game for Rockport, but he was not well backed up by his team. In the first of the fifth inning Mattson, Rockport's catcher, injured his hand and was forced to retire. Dolloff caught for the rest of the game and Critchett played center field. Butler struck out seven men and Pierce twelve.

"Do go to sleep, Willie!" urged the exasperated nurse. "Remember there's an angel watching over you."

"Don't be so conceited!" answered the hopeless child.

A Few Answers to the Question:

"Why Does Printing Cost More Now Than Formerly?"

Not very often, but occasionally, the question is asked, "Why does printing cost so much more than it did four years ago?" For the benefit of those who honestly ask the question we will say that four years ago news paper could be bought for about two dollars a hundred pounds. Today it sells in Boston for $16. Four years ago the printer could buy good writing paper for six cents a pound. Today it is eighteen and a half cents for the same paper. Four years ago book paper could be had for four dollars a hundred and today it is sixteen. Four years ago the printer worked 59 hours a week, now 48. Four years ago a good printer could be hired for $10 to $12 a week, now it is $20 to $30 and in some instances more than that. Four years ago the printer would make you four or five hundred circulars for $1.50 to $2. Today he is obliged to charge $5 or $7 or lose money. Other costs have advanced, but paper keeps well in the front of the procession.

The Memorial Sunday service was held last Sunday morning in the Congl. church, Manchester, and was largely attended. The Baptist and Congl. societies united in this service.

Members of the following patriotic organizations, attended in a body: Allen post, 67, G. A. R.; F. B. Amaral post, A. L.; Camp 149, S. of V.; Allen Relief corps; Manchester Troop Boy Scouts.

The program included special music by the choir, solos by Francis Andrews and Abbott H. Hoare. Rev. F. W. Manning, pastor of the Congl. church, delivered the memorial address, which is published on another page of today's BREEZE. He emphasized the need of every person "fighting the good fight of faith." Rev. H. E. Levoy, pastor of the Baptist church, assisted in the service.

QUARTER OF CENTURY

Memorial Day, 1920, will round out the 25th consecutive year in which Jeffrey S. Reed, of Beach st., has conducted a restaurant business in Manchester.

May 30, 1895, was a Sunday, and Mr. Reed opened his place of business the day before—Saturday. He well remembers what a stormy, rainy day it was. To start the business with a rush he had arranged for a complimentary banquet to be given the Town Fathers and other representative citizens. However, so severe was the storm, only a very few attended.

A quarter century is quite a long while to be engaged in business in one place. Many changes occur during that cycle of time, and Mr. Reed has been privileged to see Manchester grow from a small town to the position it now occupies of being one of the most popular and fashionable summer resorts of America.

Mr. Reed was born in Manchester on Swamp Angel hill, so-called. His father was employed in a mill then standing on what is now part of Masconomo Park. He later worked on the railroad, after the branch had been extended from Manchester to Gloucester.

In those days Beach st. terminated at the railroad crossing. It was not until the summer residents commenced to build their homes near the shore that the street was extended to the beach. The house on Sea st., now occupied by James Cooney and family, was the railroad station.

Twenty-five years ago, Beach st. presented a far different appearance than it does today. The building now occupied by the NORTH SHORE BREEZE, Dow's block, and a portion of Perkins & Corliss' buildings (then Frank W. Bell's barber shop and express office), were all that were on one side of the street. The Kinsman house was on the corner of Beach and Union sts. where the postoffice is now. The postoffice was at that time in the Rowe block on School st., now occupied by the Manchester Electric Co.

The Summer st. extension from the cemetery down to Beach st. was marsh land. The railroad station was located much nearer Beach st. than it is now. Brook st., Desmond ave., most of Norwood ave., and Lincoln st., and a large part of Vine st., have been built within the past quarter century. The new Catholic church has been erected, and many other changes have taken place.

While tree warden in 1901 Mr. Reed had a large number of shade trees set out along Lincoln st., thereby adding much to the beauty of that thorough-

Mr. Reed has served the town of Manchester for 12 years as park commissioner. He has been instrumental in making many changes and improvements in what is now Masconomo Park, Manchester.

For a few years Mr. Reed lived in Providence, R. I., at which place he joined the Knights of Pythias. He is also captain of the Uniform Rank, Co. 6, at Essex, and has taken part in several observances of Memorial Day in that town when the members served as escort to the Grand Army veterans.

At first Mr. and Mrs. Reed kept a few roomers, but the business gradually grew more and more into the restaurant line. During the time of the big building boom in Manchester some years ago Reed's House served over 300 meals daily.

It is interesting to note some of the prices in effect then, as compared with now:

MEMORIAL DAY PROGRAM FOR MANCHESTER

Memorial Day will be appropriately observed in Manchester next Monday, May 31, by the various patriotic organizations assisted by the townspeople. The usual exercises will be held in afternoon, followed by a program in the Town hall, at 7.30 o'clock in the evening.

The schedule of events is as follows:

Assemble at G. A. R. post hall, 1 o'clock. Line of march formed 1.45, Willard L. Rust, marshal; Clark's band, of Gloucester; F. B. Amaral post, A. L.; Boy Scouts troop, of Manchester; Camp 149, S. of V., escort to Post 67, G. A. R.; members of post in carriages. March to old cemetery, Summer st., thence to Union cemetery, then to Rosedale. Decorate graves at each. Services at monument; march to Town wharf, W. R. C. service, return to hall, dismissed. Concert by band on Common, weather permitting.

In the Town hall at 7.30 in the evening the customary exercises will be held, with the Schubert quartet furnishing the musical selections, as in the

The many friends of Frank Robbins are pleased to greet him again after being away all winter. He is with Mrs. W. Scott Fitz, as chauffeur. His family will not move to Manchester until the schools close.

The following real estate transfer has been recorded: Sarah McKinnon, of Boston, conveys to Bessie W., wife of Ernest C. Lucas, of Magnolia, 6350 sq. ft. of land with buildings on Lincoln st., Manchester.

Dr. G. Ekelund has returned to Manchester this week after spending the winter in Florida. He is at present living at 17 Union st. Dr. Ekelund will continue the practice of remedial gymnastics and massage on the North Shore this summer.

Surels Express, running between Essex, Manchester, Beverly and Salem, is the latest venture in this line of business. Mr. Surel has call boxes at the various places along the line, and also telephone arrangements. See his advertisement in another column.

The Hobby Shop is the newest addition to the summer shops in Manchester. George Cleveland and his wife have opened this place of business—a sort of gift shop, with toys for the kiddies, boats, dolls, etc., in what was better known in former days as the doughnut house, on Bridge st.

BASEBALL TOMORROW

WITH ESSEX

Play ball! All up tomorrow, Saturday, for the first baseball game of the season in Manchester. This will be good news for the fans who somehow have held on to life through an unusually long winter of several months and a backward spring, etc., but, oh, boy, "the happy days" are here when you can get out on the field and thoroughly enjoy the national pastime.

Mgr. MacCallum has succeeded in getting a strong team for the opening game. Such favorites as Warner, the grand old man of the Shoe team, will be seen on second, and before many games are past it is expected that Frankie O'Leary may be seen in the outfield. Wallace, who played with the A. C. Lawrence team last season, will be in the Manchester line-up. Wallace will play third base in tomorrow's game, taking the place of Fallon, who was here last year. The battery will draw the attention of the fans who will want to see whether Sullivan, the pitcher, and Swaffield, the catcher, can compare with Kendricks and Dee of last year. This battery comes well recommended, also; both men formerly played with Brown university, later playing with a strong team through the state of Connecticut. The outfield for tomorrow will be Abbott, Harrison and Lothrop.

Joyce will again be seen in action at short and is in great shape to start the season. Twiss, recommended by Skip Wogan, will be given a chance in the box. Last year he pitched for the Maine Trolley league.

Here's how they will line 'em up tomorrow: Andrews, 1b; Warner, 2b; Joyce, ss; Wallace, 3b; Abbott, Harrison, Lothrop, outfielders; Sullivan, Twiss, p; Swaffield, c.

MANCHESTER GIRL HAS AN UNPLEASANT EXPERIENCE

Thursday forenoon while picking flowers in the woods between Manchester and Essex, Miss Esther Olsen, of Norwood ave., the 17-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Nils M. Olsen, met with a very unpleasant experience. Miss Olsen was accosted by a woman who stopped her car on the road and, getting out, engaged the girl in conversation. After a few moments the stranger assaulted Miss Olsen, endeavoring to strike her on the head with a stick of wood, at the same time drawing forth a pair of shears and, with a quick motion, cut Miss Olsen's hair and attempted to escape with it. So plucky was the girl, however, in resisting the female ruffian, that she compelled the latter to drop the beautiful tresses and flee in her car to escape detection. Miss Olsen noticed that the number plate on the auto was turned upside down, making it impossible to read the numbers.

Tracy Hoysradt is working in Foster's drug store.

Mr. and Mrs. Bill, who have spent the winter in New York and Hartford, are recent arrivals in this village.

Mrs. Allen A. Tanner and son, Urban, of Ontario, are visiting at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Robert McCaughey.

At this writing (Wednesday) the fence in front of the Village cemetery is being painted. This will be good news to many.

The usual services will be held in the Village church Sunday at 10.45 a. m. with sermon by the pastor. Sunday school meets at 11.45 a. m.

We are sorry to learn that Mrs. James Wolfe is ill at her home and under a physician's care and we hope for her speedy recovery to health.

Monroe Sampson, of 27 Magnolia ave., is in a hospital at Newport, R. I. The nature of his illness we do not now know. Mr. Sampson is well and favorably known here and we trust his illness is not of a serious nature and that he may soon return to home and loved-ones.

Among the members of the Bethlehem Commandery, K. T., of Gloucester, who went to Providence Wednesday for an outing, were Frank H. Davis, Jonathan May, Leon T. Foster, Thomas Harvey, Lafayette Hunt. The prelate, Rev. Walter S. Eaton, and Gorham Davis went as guests of the commandery.

(The following items were written for last week's Breeze, but did not reach this office until Friday morning, despite the fact the letter was mailed Wednesday at 1 p. m.—Ed.)

Oland Anderson, of Halifax, N. S., is now living with Mr. and Mrs. Frank H. Davis, and is working for the former.

Mrs. Sidney Gardner and little daughter, Thelma, of Brooklyn, N. S., are visiting Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Gardner at the "Seahurst."

Mrs. Sadie C. Anderson, of Halifax, N. S., was a recent guest at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Frank H. Davis. Mrs. Anderson will live in Boston this summer.

Eleanor Ballou, the eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. D. C. Ballou, arrived here Monday morning from California where she spent the winter with her aunt, Miss Catherine Ballou, of Boston.

villa. Mr. Dunbar plans to put the house in good condition for rental for another season.

Repairs are being made this week on the fence in front of our village cemetery. What a beautiful little cemetery this would be if every lot in it was looked after as carefully as is the one in which lies the remains of Carl Lawrence Seaburg!

Ernest Lucas, a senior in the Manchester High school, went to Amherst last Friday to make arrangements for entering the Amherst Agricultural college next September. Ernest is one of our most promising young men, ambitious, not afraid of work, however hard, and we are confident that he will continue to make good. During the coming season he will work for Frank H. Davis as a chauffeur.

A little portable cottage has recently been put up on the Butler field and nearly opposite the Mrs. F. F. Story place. Quite a large piece of land near the cottage has been ploughed and it looks as though someone plans on raising his own vegetables this summer—a wise plan, for vegetables will doubtless continue to be high and scarce. Even our one farmer in this village will not cultivate as much of his land as in other years.

James G. Voutiritsa has very recently opened a fruit store in Hunt's market. That this new venture of "Jimmie, the fruit man," will be a financial success there is little doubt, for his unfailing courtesy and agreeable manner, that have brought him many good customers in other days, will doubtless attract other prospective buyers of fruit. It is as trite as it is true, and never more true than now, that one can "catch more flies with molasses than he can with vinegar."

WHAT WAS HER ANSWER?

The Detroit Athletic Club News is responsible for the story on one of its members of the sudden homecoming of an absent wife.

"And who did you have out in the Edith: "Miss Bute thinks you are a clever fellow."

Ferdie: "Does she? I guess I'll call."

Edith: "No; you'd better stay away."—Boston Transcript.

"Say, Pop, what is gravity?"

"Gravity, my boy, is a force which brings down everything in this world—except prices."—New York Evening Post.

DOUBLE RATIONS

"The fellow in the cot next to you has been pretty sick. Hasn't been able to eat."

"Yes."

"You'll be glad to know he is getting stronger."

"Yes. But—"

"But what?"

"The nurse has been giving me his supper every night."—Louisville Courier-Journal.

AFTER THE WEDDING

After the fashionable wedding in Philadelphia two girls were heard discussing the features of the event. Said one:

"How did you think the bride looked?"

The other girl smiled and answered, "O, remarkably well-groomed."—Seattle Times.

MEMORIAL DAY PROGRAM

The program for Memorial Day at Beverly Farms is as follows: The various organizations consisting of Preston post, 188, G. A. R., Andrew Standley camp, S. of V., Spanish War Veterans, M. J. Cadigan post, A. L., and invited guests will form at 1.30 o'clock and, headed by the Beverly Farms firemen, police and band, will march to the Beverly Farms cemetery. Here they will be joined by members of Preston W. R. corps and the school children. The graves of the soldier and sailor dead will be decorated and the ritual service held at the G. A. R. lot.

At the completion of the usual services at the cemetery the line will be formed and march to the Beverly Farms public library, where General Clarence R. Edwards will be received. There will be carried out the program of dedicating the honor tablet erected in memory of the Beverly Farms boys who gave their services in the World war. The bronze tablet, which is very beautiful and has on it over 130 names, will be set up in the space in front of the library. Senator Augustus P. Loring will preside and make an address. Singing, selections by the band, address by General Edwards, who will present the French war certificates to members of the families of the boys who made the supreme sacrifice, will complete the afternoon program.

In the evening services will be held at the Beverly Farms Baptist church, where a patriotic program will be given including an address by Rev. Mr. Blackburne, a G. A. R. veteran. All are cordially invited to take part in carrying out and making a success of the observance of the day.

KEPT THEIR MARRIAGE A SECRET FOR SEVEN MONTHS

On Tuesday of this week it was learned that Marie Linehan, a popular Beverly Farms young lady, daughter of John H. Linchan, the contractor, was married last November to James F. Ingraham, Jr., of Peabody, son of James F. Ingraham, of the Governor's council.

The couple were married Nov. 15, in Portsmouth, N. H., and since that time have been living at their respective homes, she with her parents at Pride's Crossing, and he at the Ingraham residence at 2 Forrest st., Peabody. Recently they started on a trip to Montreal together, from which they have not yet returned.

Members of the Ingraham family have admitted they knew of the marriage and declared there was no reason the fact should not be published. It is said that few, if any, of the friends of the pair knew of the wedding until Tuesday.

Mr. Ingraham, Jr., is a former captain of the Andover school hockey team and served in the marine corps during the war.

Mrs. Ingraham was recently graduated from the Salem Commercial school and has been employed as a stenographer in Boston.

JOBE—ERICKSON

Miss Edith J. Erickson, youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Eric W. Erickson, now living in North Easton, was united in marriage on March 27, to Ross Jobe, a native of France. The wedding took place at the home of her brother, Swan Julius Erickson in South Braintree.

Mr. and Mrs. Jobe went to Kansas City for their honeymoon, but they will make their home in Dawson, Ill., where Mr. Jobe has a position in the engineering department of the coal mines.

HEAVY RAIN CAUSES POSTPONEMENT OF BASEBALL TAG DAY

On account of the constant down-pour of rain last Saturday the tag day scheduled for the benefit of the Manchester Baseball association was postponed. It was entirely out of the question to attempt to sell tags on that day, although some of the girls who were to participate in the sale were willing to brave the elements. It is planned to have this event at a later date; the exact time has not been set as yet. Better luck is hoped for in the line of weather when the association next tries to stage this event.

DEATH OF WILLIAM E. THOMAS IN WATERTOWN

William E. Thomas, who was well-known in Manchester, which place he loved and always delighted to visit, died Tuesday at Watertown. Mr. Thomas married Lida W., a sister of the late John W. Campbell, of Manchester. His daughter, Grace Thomas—now Mrs. Paul—was also a frequent visitor here, especially during the life of her uncle. Funeral services will be held at 2 p. m. today, from the First Baptist church, Commonwealth ave., Boston. From the Boston Transcript we reprint the following concerning Mr. Thomas:

"William E. Thomas, who had been grand chief templar of the Massachusetts Grand Lodge of Knight Templars, died on Tuesday afternoon at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Grace H. Paul, 43 Spruce st., Watertown, at the age of sixty-eight years. Mr. Thomas was born in Holland, Me. On coming to Boston more than fifty years ago, he established the Atlantic Machine Screw Company on Binferd st., South Boston, which he continued to operate until his death. He served through the various offices of the S. A. Wilbur lodge, Knight Templars, Boston, and two years ago was elected head of the state branch of the order. His term expired in April, and a successor is yet to be elected. He was a 32d degree Mason and was affiliated with Pequossette lodge of Watertown.

WHO LOSES THE $10?

BILL WHICH PAID $100 IN DEBTS WAS COUNTERFEIT

Puzzle fans, who like problems of the sort that made the deductions of Sherlock Holmes famous, will be interested in the following:

Jones is a reputable business man with a friend, Brown, in the wholesale meat trade. One day Jones found a brand-new $10 bill in the street and made a note of the number, intending to return it to the owner, if possible. The owner, by the way, was never heard from.

Jones added the $10 bill to the roll of bills in his pocket and inadvertently spent it the same afternoon for a box of cigars. Mr. Weed, the tobacconist, bought four theatre tickets with it. The theatre manager paid the bill to one of his actors, Mr. Ham, who gave it to his wife to pay her dressmaker, Mme. Mode.

The dressmaker paid the $10 to Mr. Green, her grocer, and he, in turn, handed it to Mr. Flat, the landlord, in part payment of his rent. Mr. Flat paid it to Mr. Suet, his butcher, who paid it to the wholesale man, Brown, the friend of Mr. Jones.

That night Brown handed the $10 bill to Jones in settlement of a wager. So, for the second time, Jones added that particular bill to the roll of bills in his pocket and the next morning it was included among other bills and checks which he handed in at his bank in making a deposit.

The bank teller refused to accept the $10 bill. He said it was a counterfeit. Jones looked at it and was astonished to find that it was the very bill he had found on the street.

He knew he had spent the bill since finding it, but where he did not know. Now it had come back to him, but he had no idea who, during the day's business transactions, had handed him this particular bill.

"I guess you're out $10," said his bookkeeper. "It's your loss."

"Not at all," replied Jones. "I don't lose a cent. I found that bill in the first place and evidently handed it to somebody who mistook it for a good $10 bill."

"Then who is out $10?" inquired the bookkeeper.

"Search me," replied Jones. "I don't know."

Can anybody answer the bookkeeper's question?

You must take into consideration the presumption that the man who originally lost the counterfeit bill in the street may have been the counterfeiter himself. He simply lost a worthless piece of paper.

Jones, who found it, got $10 worth of cigars for it and smoked them. And before the bill got back into his hands it paid probably $100 worth of honest debts contracted by honest people, who never suspected, while the bill was in their possession, that it was spurious.

So, getting back to the puzzled bookkeeper's question: Who is out $10?—Boston Globe.

PROVING THE POINT
 "Which is the most delicate of the senses?" asked the teacher.

"The touch," said young Jones.

"How's that?" asked the teacher, and Jones explained: "Well, when you sit on a pin, you can't see it, you can't hear it, you can't taste it, but it's there."—Edinburgh Scotsman.

A LISTENER GIVES HIS VIEWS ON PRESIDENTIAL CANDIDATES

I have been "listening in" regarding Presidential candidates as I have been going about over my district in this Congregational World Campaign. I have been listening in to the conversation of traveling men in the lounging rooms of sleeping cars, in hotel lobbies, of men and women at church suppers and wherever I have found them engaged in free-for-all conversation.

My "listening in" has confirmed me in my belief that the "Old Guard" in both parties had better beware of trying to boss things; the people are in no mood for dictation from this group in either party. They are ready for progress and they are going to have it. There is very little concern manifested about the Democratic nomination or what the Democrats will do; it is taken for granted that the Republicans are to be victorious this year. If the "Old Guard" in the Republican party nominates a reactionary at Chicago and then conducts affairs as it did eight years ago, the party will be wrecked beyond repair. The people are inclined to give it one more chance to come back and it had better watch its step. This does not mean that the people, so far as I have heard them talk, want radicalism; there was never a time in our history when we had so little patience with the things that the "Reds" stand for. This is the tragedy of the Nonpartisan League situation in North Dakota and Minnesota. It tried to meet a bad condition with a radicalism that has gone to seed. Politics and big business had so manipulated affairs that the farmers of North Dakota were ground between the upper and nether millstones. I met in a hotel the other day a North Dakota farmer, a college graduate, one who had specialized in economics. He said, "When the Nonpartisan League appeared its theories seemed to me to be ideal and I felt that we had at last found an organization that would deliver us from our oppressors. I was soon disillusioned, for the organization went mad in its radicalism and I found that the antidote for reaction is not radicalism but sanity." The American people are in exactly the mood of this farmer, if the conversations which I have heard furnish a basis for judgment. They want a sane, level-headed, progressive leader; reactionaries, professional politicians and a man who would be dominated by class consciousness or by big business need not apply.—From Chicago Correspondence in The Congregationalist and Advocate.

A great man's foolish sayings pass for wise ones.

MAY HAVE BEEN THE TRUTH

"Look here," yelled the bridegroom dashing wildly into the editor's room, "what do you mean by such an infernal libel on me in your account of our wedding?"

"What's the matter?" asked the editor calmly.

"Didn't I say that, after our wedding tour, we should make our home at the old manse?" howled the newly made benedict. "And just see how you've spelled it!"

And the editor looked and read:

"After their wedding tour the newly married couple will make their home at the old man's."—Pittsburg Chronicle-Telegraph.

AND THEN THE JUDGE KNEW

"Describe the man you saw talking to the prisoner," said the judge to the witness.

"I don't know how to, sir."

"Did he look like any of these lawyers?" inquired the judge. "Did he look like me?"

"O, no, sir," said the witness. "He looked like an intelligent gentleman."
